BEAUTY SHOW WILL BE STAGED BY P.-T.A. AND BUSINESS HOUSES

"Miss Santa Anna" and Maids of Honor to Be Chosen in Gala Event Featuring Beauties of Santa Anna Tonight in Queen Theatre

A Beauty Show will be given at the Queen Theatre Friday night of this week by local talent. The show is being sponsored by Mrs. Frances Adams, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association. The P.-T.A. is sponsoring music in the Santa public schools, and has underwritten the expense. Their efforts to furnish wholesome amusement and entertainment should be appreciated and is generally accepted by most of the business interests in Santa Anna and patrons of the school throughout the district.

Each business house participating in the show Friday night will have a representative—some girl—who will display a banner bearing the name of the firm she represents. From among the representatives, a "Miss Santa Anna" will be chosen and two maids of honor.

Entries will be accepted until noon Friday. Drilling and other preparatory work will be done Friday afternoon. If you are interested and have not made arrangements, call Mrs. Adams or Mrs. C. P. Petty for further information and final arrangements.

The admission Friday night will be 10c and 15c. The proceeds will all be kept in town and used for a good cause.

H. M. Brown Is Candidate for Tax Assessor

Formerly Weigher of Precinct No. 1, 'Shorty' Brown Seeks Promotion

In the announcement column this week will be found the name of Mr. H. M. (Shorty) Brown of Coleman as a candidate for the office of Tax Assessor for Coleman county.

Mr. Brown has resided in Coleman county since 1909 and during these years has won the friendship and confidence of many of the leading citizens. His moral standing in the communities where he has resided is above reproach, his past life is an open book and he invites the closest scrutiny into his record.

He served the citizenship of Precinct No. 1 in a very efficient way as their Public Weigher and wants an opportunity to render like service as Tax Assessor for the county.

Mr. Brown needs no introduction to a very large per cent of the voters, however, he expects to make a personal campaign and present his request face to face with the voters and tell them of his appreciation of their support.

WE WERE BORN 30 YEARS TOO SOON

(Apologies to J. R. Williams)

Among the other freakish things to happen under the present "freakish" administration, is a freak cow that belongs to E. M. Vinson of the Rockwood community.

The cow, a young Jersey, recently came fresh, and Mr. Vinson tells us that along about milking time, when he turns the cow into the calf and puts out feed, the milk begins to flow from every teat and continues to flow until the udder is empty. Mr. Vinson states that the milk flows in such profusion that it is impossible to save it with only one container.

Now if that is not going some I'll take out and call it square.—Ed.

Lions Plan Home Beautification In Tues. Meeting

Miss Louise Gray Elected As Pianist and 'Sweetheart' Of Santa Anna Club

At the regular weekly luncheon Tuesday, the Lions Club elected Miss Louise Gray as the pianist and adopted her as the official "sweetheart" of the club. Miss Gray, being especially talented for music and attractive in appearance, now has more "sweethearts" than any girl in town.

The Santa Anna News of last week, in making mention of those who participated on the program, overlooked the name of Robert Stewardson, who helped to furnish the music for the club. We beg your pardon, Bob, and promise a free chew of wax you to choose the flavor, the next time we find you in town.

The club went on record as being favorable to a proposition submitted by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to send a landscape demonstrator and yard expert here some time in the near future for the purpose of giving a lecture and demonstration to the public. You will be notified through these columns the date he is to appear, and we hope to have a good hearing for him when he comes. Look for the announcement to appear later.

Another new member, Altus Bowden, was initiated into the club Tuesday.

Miss Ve Maddox, recently of Menard, bookkeeper and assistant cashier for the West Texas Utilities Company, was the guest of the club, and we gladly extend to her a welcome to Santa Anna.

Whether You Believe It or Not, These Hens Observe the Sabbath

In scanning the news columns of various weekly papers here of late we have found several freak news items of interest, but we think this one here in Santa Anna caps the climax and takes the cake over them all.

Robert Matigan, guard in charge of the warehouse for the Murray Tool Company, located in the old Adams Mercantile Co. warehouse, has two fine game hens. One is a brown and the other a dark color. Matigan preserves the eggs from each hen for setting purposes, and keeps records on the dates the eggs were laid. Up to date, the hens have laid an egg each day this month except on Sundays, and neither of them have been guilty of laying an egg on the Sabbath day.

Now, if any of you typewriter thumpers from Brady, Coleman, San Saba, Stephenville or other places, where things of an unusual nature sometimes happen, can crack a better one than that, cut 'er loose.

SECOND SANTA ANNA POULTRY SHOW TO BE FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Ribbons to Be Awarded Prize Winning Fowls In Show to Be Held in Melton Building by Santa Anna Future Farmers of America

The second annual poultry and egg show, sponsored by the Santa Anna chapter of the Future Farmers of America, which is composed of members of the agriculture class of the Santa Anna High School, will be held Friday and Saturday of this week in the Melton building, just west of the Queen Theatre.

J. M. Binion, instructor of the local chapter F. F. A. and vocational agriculture teacher in the Santa Anna High School, makes the following announcements and urges the cooperation of all to help make the show a success.

All entries must be in by 2:00 o'clock Friday and remain until Saturday evening. The entrance fees are 15c for single entries and 25c for trios or pens.

All preparations have been made and a large number of entries are expected.

The Santa Anna News would like to urge that as many as possible take part in the exhibits and those who do not participate in the exhibits are invited to visit the show during Friday and Saturday.

While this show is only a local affair, it has some real educational values. The more you see the more you know, and seeing makes twenty times greater impression than hearing, so to be really benefited by the show you must see it. We urge that you take advantage of this opportunity.

Baxter, Stafford, Jobe Will Serve On Annual Senior Day

Class Plans Prompt Action On Gift; Evans Appoints Committee

(Simmons Brand)
Three seniors who will fill the traditional offices of class Historian, Poet and Orator were chosen by the Class of '32 which met at Mary Frances hall Tuesday night.

Miss Dorothy Baxter is Historian, Vernon Stafford the Poet, and Lewis Jobe the Orator. All three will appear on the Senior Day program of February 22nd. Cal Whatley will head the committee composed of Reba Crowley, Huie Hartley, Estelle Britt, and Clara Nell McAdams which will select a gift for the approval of the class.

Some discussion of the gift proposition was heard, and several suggestions were made but no action will be taken until all ideas have been submitted, and passed upon by the committee.

Gifts already up for consideration will be discussed by the committee next Tuesday when they are scheduled to meet at the home of Prof. and Mrs. J. E. Burnam, sponsors.

(Note—Miss Baxter graduated from Santa Anna High School with the class of 1928. Santa Anna follows her college career with interest.)

CERTIFIED COTTON SEED MEETING IS HELD AT COLEMAN

Last Friday afternoon the writer together with several others from over the county, attended a meeting of the representatives of the State Certified Cotton Seed Dealers in Coleman. Fred McCormick and Culver Lowry of the Trickham-Cross Roads communities were also present.

The meeting was called largely for the purpose of acquainting the salesmen with the new credit system recently arranged by the general association.

Anyone interested in State Certified Cotton Seed for planting this year, if you will call at this office we will do our best to explain the proposition to you. The seed will cost $1.25 per bushel, and if you want as many as 12 bushels or more arrangements can be made whereby you can buy them on fall time.

Curtis Collins to Make Race for Commissioner

Prominent Resident of Coleman County for Forty Years Seeks Office

In our announcement column this week appears the name of Curtis Collins, who announces his candidacy for the office of Commissioner, Precinct No. 2, Coleman county.

Mr. Collins is one of our substantial citizens, living on his farm in the Liveoak community, where he had lived the past forty years, and is well and favorably known throughout the eastern part of the county. If elected, Mr. Collins will give his time and energies diligently to the office, and his work will in every way be honorably discharged.

He will appreciate your favorable consideration and your vote at the polls next July.

In making his announcement, Mr. Collins states:

"In making this announcement to the voters of this precinct, I wish to say that I have made special study of the duties incident to this office, and have given the problems of road construction in this precinct considerable thought and study.

"I wish also to mention that I have made this part of Coleman County my home since 1891 and during this time I have made effort to acquaint myself with the problems that are necessary to the up-keep and re-construction of our network of highways and lateral roads at this time.

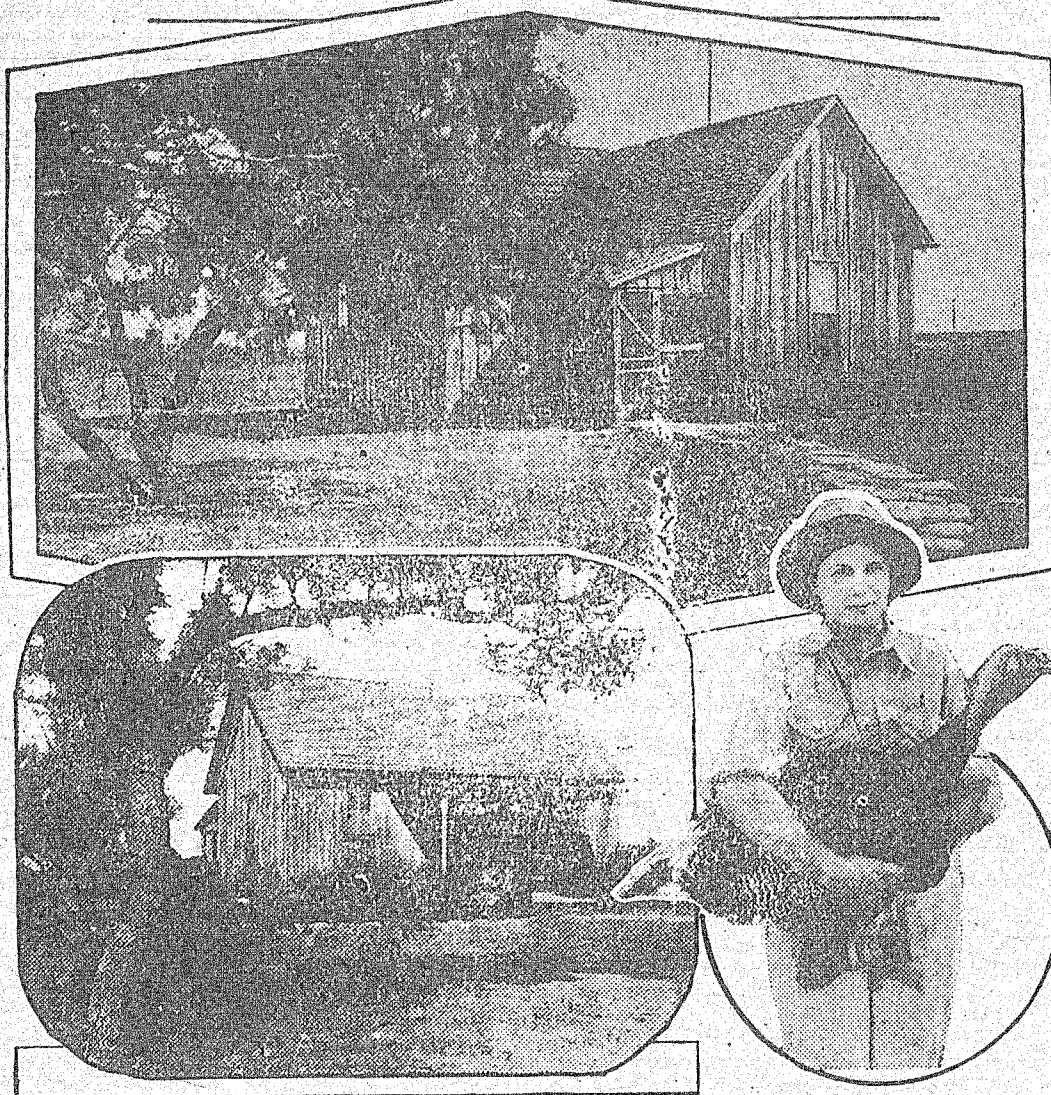

"Soliciting your support and promising you my very best efforts if elected, I am

Yours very truly,
CURTIS COLLINS"

Home-Town Paper Offers Cash for Garner Slogan

What is believed to be the first slogan contest inaugurated for the 1932 national political campaign, is the offer of the Uvalde Leader-News of $25 for the best slogan on Garner for President. Uvalde is the home town of John N. Garner, speaker of the national house of representatives. The slogan offer is open to the entire nation.—(Publishers' Aux.)

Girl Wins Fight for Beautiful Surroundings

Without funds but with a determination to make the old farm home look "more like pretty places in town," Jewel Smith, who is a 4-H club girl at Ingleside in Young county, invested in a hair cut and tackled an Olney banker for a loan of $10 with which to buy shrubs. She got it, and to provide for its repayment started raising turkeys. That was three years ago. The severe freezes of 1930 killed the shrubbery but the loan was paid off because Jewel made $93.47 from 42 turkeys. She re-invested in more shrubbery and after two seasons of drouth during which she had to haul water to keep the plants alive she has developed farm surroundings so attractive that her methods have been copied by neighbors. Unsightly fences have been removed, flagstone walks laid, the yard levelled and cleared for a lawn, and foundation plantings of privet developed. To her turkey venture she had added a white Wyandotte flock. Her earnings have not only enabled her to improve the home but last year she helped put a brother through a year in Texas Technological College. At present she is a student in the Olney High School where she is making her own way.

How One Man Lost 22 Pounds

Mr. Herman Runkis of Detroit writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—my first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all the aches and swellings out of my joints—with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now I feel like a new man."

To lose fat SAFELY and quickly take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle at any drug store in the world and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back. All good druggists will be glad to supply you.

Coleman Gas Co. Files Suit to Set Aside Judgment

Injunction Filed in Federal Court to Set Aside Order Of District Court

Last week the Coleman Gas and Oil Company filed an injunction suit in the Federal Court at Dallas, through the western branch in San Angelo, to set aside the injunction suit filed by the Santa Anna Gas Company January 9th in the District Court at Coleman and, also, to enjoin the Santa Anna Gas Company and the City of Santa Anna from interfering with them in the sale of natural gas to consumers at a rate different to that fixed by the City Commission of Santa Anna. The case was set for hearing Feb. 1st.

The injunction suit filed in the District Court by the Santa Anna Gas Company, January 9, to prohibit the Coleman Gas and Oil Company from selling gas at any rate different from the rate fixed by the City Commission of Santa Anna is still pending, and will probably come up for hearing in the spring term of court.

January 15th, two cases were tried in City Court here, one prosecuting Ira Young, as manager of the Coleman Gas and Oil Company, for selling natural gas to consumers in Santa Anna at a rate different to that fixed by the City Commission. The Coleman Gas and Oil Company waived the right of a trial by a jury, was fined ten dollars and costs in each case and filed a motion for an appeal to the County Court in Coleman. The outcome of these cases will be watched with interest. Tom Sealy, Santa Anna's young attorney, who has been appointed City Attorney for Santa Anna, is representing the city in her legal entanglements.

A SACK OF SUGAR

Once I was a tiny seed in a store. A farmer came and bought me. He took me way out in the country. He planted me. One day a big rain came, it rained and rained. I thought I was going to be drowned. But in the morning I saw I was bigger. Then the sun came out, I grew and grew. One day I found out that I was about twenty feet tall. One day I heard a noise and there was a big thresher before me I was thrashed, and tied up in a bundle. I was sent to the refinery. They crushed me and made me into sugar. One day a man bought me. I was a great little plant. Guess what I was? I was a sack of sugar cane.

THE LIFE OF A CAN OF SYRUP

I was a little seed with many friends like me. I was bought by a farmer. I went three miles before I stopped. He put me in the barn for the night. Early in the morning he put me in the planter and planted me. I was covered up, and it was very dark for a few days. I wanted sun and fresh air. I began to push upward. I was no longer under the ground but was in the sunshine. When I was about ten feet tall a noise was coming toward me. My friends began to fall. We were tied into bundles and taken to the mill. The rollers mashed the juice out of me. Then I was boiled into syrup. Then I was put into a can and shipped to the store. A man bought me. His wife put me in a small pitcher. Then I was eaten for their breakfast. That was the end of me.

Santa Fe Bridge Over Rio Grande Lost In Flames

PRESIDIO, Jan. 24 (AP)—Fire early today virtually destroyed the Santa Fe railroad's international bridge over the Rio Grande here. Authorities on both sides of the river believed the blaze was of incendiary origin. Twelve beams of the bridge on the Mexican side and twenty on the American side were burned. The eight untouched were near the center of the structure. The span was built in 1930 at a cost of approximately $250,000. It closed the gap between the Santa Fe lines in Mexico and Texas. When the bridge was opened the event was celebrated with a joint barbecue for the towns of Presidio and Ojinaga, Mex., and an excursion from San Angelo to Chihuahua City. The structure was considered an almost total loss as the steel and iron work over the burned bents will have to be replaced.

Elmer Blackwell was in Santa Anna Tuesday.

Garbo Image of 'Mata Hari' Says George Davis Who Knew Famous Spy

Greta Garbo's characterization of Mata Hari, famous World War spy, is startling in life-like quality, according to George Davis, veteran Continental player, who recalled the Japanese dancer's performance in Paris. Davis, who plays a comedy role with Miss Garbo and Ramon Novarro in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's picturization of the life and loves of the exotic siren, showing at the Howell Theatre in Coleman, Sunday and Monday, not only appeared on the same programs with Mata Hari but also was acquainted with her personally before her espionage activities brought her before military court martial. She later paid with her life for her adventuresome career.

FEBRUARY

Next month, February, is a very noted month. Groundhog Day, Washington's birthday, St. Valentine's day, and, also, one day that is very sacred to the writer. February 6, 1881, the writer discovered America in an humble little farm home planted among the hills, rivers and the creeks of northeastern Alabama.

Among the several callers at this sanctum sanctorum last Saturday afternoon who made our hearts rejoice were Carroll Kingsbery and J. M. Stewardson, both substantial young farmers who were reared in Coleman county.

H. O. Norris, one of our treasured subscribers from out east of town, ordinarily a prosperous farmer under normal conditions, paid this office a business call Saturday.

Fred McCormick, substantial citizen of the Cleveland community, who gets his mail out on Trickham route, a valued subscriber and used-to-be prosperous farmer, was among the business callers at this office Friday.

M. D. Eubank, one of our suburban farmers living just west of town, was a business caller at this office one day last week. Mr. Eubank was looking for the owner of a mule and found him through our want-ad column.

Joe Haynes, the smiling manager of the Robertson farms in the Trickham community was among the pleasant business callers at this office Tuesday.

Hon. Tom F. Hunter, attorney and oil operator of Wichita Falls has announced for the office of governor, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries in July. Mr. Hunter has furnished the press with an interesting formal announcement, but it would require more space than we feel like using just at this time.

A lot of American politicians are always harping about European entanglements. The truth is that these same people are long on European financial entanglements. The same fellows who shot the life out of the League of Nations have entangled American money in Europe to their own profit.

I'm in favor of Europe paying the American war debt, but cancelling every foreign bond owned by an American millionaire. That kind of a moratorium would do the people some good.

You're right, Sun-of-a-gun and we believe ninety per cent of the American people agree with you in these strong statements. It's a dirty shame for our government to grant a moratorium to Germany when so many of our own people are sorely depressed.

REAL THRIFT (The Baird Star)

Every year at this time, the week which begins on Benjamin Franklin's birthday, January 17, is celebrated as National Thrift Week. We think this is a pretty good idea, and that this year, 1932, is a particularly good year in which to do a little thinking about thrift.

An immense amount of the trouble which this country experienced in 1931 and to a lesser degree in 1930, came about because a large number of people forgot all about thrift in the boom years from 1923 to 1929. There was always a chance to get a better job at more money, so why worry about laying anything aside for a rainy day?

Thrift does not mean hoarding money away where it does nobody any good. It is thrift to buy or build a home, or to put a little money away every pay day for a life insurance or old age fund. Running into debt is not always thriftless, provided the debt is for something of actual value and the regular payments on principal and interest are not too heavy to be borne out of fixed incomes.

Benjamin Franklin was right when he said: "A penny saved is a penny earned."

RESOLUTIONS FOR 1932

- 1. I will not go "hog wild" over politics.
2. I will not waste time in wishing for something to turn up that might or might not.
3. I will raise all the food and the future references.
4. I will co-operate with my neighbors in every way possible toward the development of the community in which I live.
5. I will give Texas-made and produce articles the preference when I am at the market to buy.
6. I will take the home paper and gently but kindly suggest to my neighbor that he do likewise.
7. I will patronize the merchant who is public spirited and advertises his wares in the home paper.
8. I will enroll myself as a booster.

The new calendar, as proposed, will skip one day each year. All of us hope that that will be the day our taxes come due.—Denison Herald.

THE ONE WHO WINS ALL THE MARBLES MUST DIVIDE AGAIN OR QUIT PLAYING.

H. G. Wells attributes much of the world's present woe to the fact that the newly-invented machines are doing the work of men.

That is superficially true, but it doesn't get at the root of the matter.

The building of machines to replace men was not the work of a day. The world didn't go to bed without knowledge of machinery and awake next morning and find millions of workmen disposed of their jobs.

Electric lights and automobiles deprived many men of their jobs but they developed new demands that gave employment to millions.

Labor-saving machines are a blessing, not an evil. They add to the world's wealth and thus make life easier and more abundant for all.

The fault is not in the machines, but in the way man has used them or permitted them to be used.

Machines make it easier for a few men to get great wealth. If a machine does the work of a thousand men, the owner of the machine has the income of a thousand men.

That is the problem of the machine age—the problem that must be solved if this civilization is to survive.

Prosperity depends on consumption, for without it there will be no production. Men and machine can find work to do only so long as their product is consumed.

There is now no overproduction, but only underconsumption. The owner of the machine though he has the income of a thousand men, can not consume as much as a thousand.

Demand must equal supply. That is men must consume as much as machines, can produce. And the man who can't consume in proportion to his income destroys the balance of the whole economic machine.

If one man has the income of a thousand, and buys supplies for only one, he not only makes the thousand unable to consume anything, but in so doing, halts production of everything that the thousand might consume.

MARSE ROBERT'S DAY

Valentine's sculptured Lee has slept two-thirds of a century now in marble undismayed. But to this day young men of the South cannot think upon Marse Robert without leaping hearts nor old men without trickling tears.

Go with him from the field of Gettysburg, as he rode away in retreat. He passed not far from Cemetery Ridge, accompanied by his officers. A lad in blue lay hard by, wounded where he had fallen in the fight, his leg shattered, faint with exhaustion and bleeding.

Marse Robert got off his horse, came over to the boy and eyed him where he lay. Fear came upon the youngster and he thought the General would kill him. But Marse Robert grasped the wounded Yankee soldier by the hand and, looking into his eyes, said, "My son, I hope you will soon be well."

"TO A KID WHO DIDN'T GET AN EVEN BREAK"

By Paul S. Jackson, Editor of Gulf Coast Review

(Each year the editors of "Editorials of the Month", which is published at Houston, select what is, in their opinion, the best editorial appearing in Texas newspapers. In 1931 the decision went to Paul S. Jackson, editor of the Gulf Coast Review. The News is re-printing the editorial herewith in full.—Editor.)

Easter Sunday was a beautiful day; the churches were jammed with fashionable new costumes; the highways lined with pleasure seekers. Each paraded his or her new finery, auto or other evidence of well being with his or her own particular brand of thoughtless, careless or reckless nonchalance—all different, but each characteristically American.

To most of them, Easter Sunday meant a gay holiday or a festive occasion—large crowds at churches—dinner guests—endless opportunities to parade new finery among congenial friends—laughter—music—but somehow we didn't enter into the spirit of the thing this year.

In a little unpainted shack near the turn in the Galveston road, Easter morning dawned upon an entirely different scene.

In its rear room huddled a sorely-stricken family of humble Mexicans. In its bare parlor lay the poor, wasted body of Jesse Barajas, who earned, but did not get, "the breaks" given less deserving boy heroes in stories every day.

Instead, Fate decreed that Jesse should battle his way over almost insurmountable obstacles to a point within sight of success, and then slowly wither away, month by month—that he should surmount the inequalities of birth and environment; learn—almost unassisted—a well-paying trade amid alien surroundings, mastering the intricacies of a strange language in order to do so; and that he should die within sight of his goal, the victim of the same inequalities of birth and environment.

Such are the inscrutable decrees of Fate. And such were our reflections Easter morning, as we watched the festive air of passing church-goers, and thought of the contrasting scene to be enacted at the Catholic Church that afternoon.

It would be difficult to avoid superlatives in recording what we know of the life of Jesse Barajas, 19, second son of Antonio Barajas and wife. He was a game kid, white clear through, as delicate and gentle as a girl, straightforward, honest, industrious, and withal, an idealistic dreamer of ambitious dreams.

If Jesse had been reared in the land of his fathers, he would have become a poet or a priest—and a good one. As it was, he became a better American citizen than most of us—and was allowed by his fellow citizens to die a slow, horrible death, as a reward for his fervent patriotism.

We have progressed a long way toward the principles laid down by Him who rose on Easter morning—but we have a considerable distance yet to go; particularly in the matter of widening the scope of our national vision and learning to consider and reward merit before—instead of after—the funeral.

We are proud to have known little Jesse Barajas, who practically converted himself from an illiterate office boy into one of the most promising young printers we have ever known. We are proud to have done our limited best to help him as he literally "wore a trail" to the big dictionary in the Alvin Sun office and mastered one by one the spelling and definitions of the strange words he encountered—learning in the process to love and admire this new country as few of its native sons do.

But most of all, we are glad to have known the gentle, idealistic character of the boy himself, and to have learned from four years of his life a rather harsh, cynical lesson which may soften into something useful as the years pass—or perhaps give us an understanding of the treatment we receive if we are ever forced to take up life in a strange, foreign land.

Whatever reward awaits the end of a well lived life, "behind the veil," Jesse has collected by now. We do not attempt to analyze or assay Divine rewards beyond the grave. We are rather sold on the theory that the well-lived life usually furnishes its own reward.

But in the case of Jesse Barajas, we sincerely hope some especially nice future existence awaits. For he certainly did not get an even break on this particular planet.

Col. Thompson, Amarillo Mayor, Gives Platform

Militant Amarillo Mayor Is Candidate for Office of Congressman-at-large

Last week a number of papers carried the announcement of Col. Ernest O. Thompson, mayor of Amarillo, for Congressman-at-large. In the formal announcement, Col. Thompson offers the following platform:

"I offer myself as candidate for congressman-at-large from Texas. If elected to Congress, it will be my aim and purpose to do what I can—

To help those who produce something to earn a living, whether it be wheat, cotton, cattle or oil.

To assist in working out a better distribution of our farm products, to the end that we may never again have the pitiable condition where farm products are plentiful and cheap, and millions of our people hungry and in want of bare necessities.

To fight the cruel concentration of the wealth of our nation in New York City where it has been used for wild and reckless gambling and speculation.

What we need in America is a fair price for what we produce—not gamblers who bet on the want and misery and suffering that comes from such depressed prices.

I will stand unalterably against any further meddling in European affairs; I am opposed to any further reduction or moratorium on foreign debts. We have been the sucker long enough.

Instead of sending money to Europe we had better do some constructive work at home. Our government should give no aid whatever to the International Bankers who have bled our country dry to make fabulous commissions in working off doubtful bonds on a trusting public.

I would work for a more liberal policy in the issue of our currency. The withdrawal of some $20 per capita from circulation by the present Treasury Department has cost our people untold billions.

I believe it is time our Congress should again begin to look after the interests of the common working people. The rich and powerful people of America have received more than their just due at the hand of Congress.

The prosperity of our country depends upon the well-being and contentment of the great mass of our working people. They do not want charity, but they have the right to expect a chance to work for a decent living.

If elected, I shall bend my efforts to the end of giving relief to this class of our people thru a study of corrective legislation to take privilege from the few and restore our democracy."

THAT SILVER LINING

"Hey, folks, why worry?"

There are only two reasons for worrying. Either you are successful or you are not. If you are successful, there is nothing to worry about.

"If you are not successful, there are only two things to worry about. Your health is either good, or you are sick. If your health is good, there is nothing to worry about.

"If you are sick there are only two things to worry about. You are either going to get well or die. If you are going to get well, there is nothing to worry about.

"If you are going to die, there are only two things to worry about. You are either going to heaven or you are not going to heaven. If you are going to heaven, there is nothing to worry about.

"And if you are going to the other place, you will be so busy shaking hands with your old friends that you will not have time to worry.

"So, why worry?"

Miss Iva Smith saw the basketball games played at Shields Wednesday night. It has been about two years since she has seen Rockwood play, but she says their team is as good as when she used to yell for them.

The games were as follows: Rockwood and Buffalo, Rockwood and Shields, Buffalo and Shields. The scores of Rockwood and Buffalo were 27 and 20 in favor of Rockwood. This was the best game played.

Misses Atha and Era Cry of Red Bank spent Wednesday night of last week with Miss Myrtle Brown.

We have a new family who has moved into our community. But have not had an opportunity to get acquainted with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Vinson who lived the last four or five months of last year in Santa Anna, have moved back where they lived the first part of last year. We are glad to have them back.

Misses Bessie and Iva Smith say it is lots of fun to ride horseback even when it takes two or three days (maybe longer) to be able to move naturally.

Mr. T. M. Brown was in Santa Anna on business Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John West attended the funeral service of Dr. T. M. Hays Tuesday afternoon.

Jim Brown tied his bridle reins to his saddle stirrup, but his pony knew that the stirrup was not a post. So Jim walked to the house.

Yes it still rains! It took Mr. Bud Brown and Fred West from sun set until ten o'clock to get a car from Mr. West's house to the Santa Anna and Rockwood highway the other night.

Mr. Melvin Brandond of Red Bank has moved to Fisher County. We are sorry that he has moved away.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Weston attended Sunday School at Red Bank Sunday and reported that about half of the regular attendance was there on account of the mud and rain.

Mr. John A. Smith listened to Rev. Frank Norris' great sermon over E. D. Weston's radio Sunday afternoon. He said that it was so complete that there did not seem to be anything else to be said.

NEWSPAPER ADS BEST

Addressing delegates at the convention of the Financial Advertisers' Association the other day in New York, the president of the American Association of Advertisers gave newspapers first rank among various advertising mediums. The papers, he said are the plain highways to the markets of the world and, in practice, reach more people than the radio.

Another speaker called newspapers "the greatest educational force in the world."

A thoughtful scrutiny of the advertising matter in your newspaper should confirm the claims of the first speaker. There's little question of the truth of the second.

National Advertisers are making increasing use of newspapers realizing that they get into more homes and are read by more members of the family than magazines. Local merchants who haven't learned that it pays to advertise would do well to follow the example of the big concerns now conducting national advertising campaigns through hundreds of local newspapers.

Seed Test Indicate Less Cotton and More Feed in 1932

A substantial increase in the number of tests made on various sorghum seeds and a material decrease in the number of cotton seed tests this season indicating that Texas farmers will plant less cotton and more feed crops, J. B. McClung, chief of the seed laboratory division of the Texas Department of Agriculture, said today.

Test of seed that will be used for planting in cotton this year are about one-third of that of last year at this period, while the sorghum seed tests have increased sharply. Another indication as to this year's cotton planting is that farmers will plant more home-grown seed than in the past. This attributed to the lack of profit realized from the last crop, necessitating a smaller outlay of money in the cultivation of the 1932 crop.

Growers were cautioned by McClung to plant only tested seed which show a very low percentage of noxious weed seeds. He pointed out that the presence of weed seed in planting seed caused a double increase in the cost of cultivating a crop, for it increases the cost of cleaning the field and also decreases the ultimate yield.

McClung called attention of the growers to the fact that the testing division of the department is different from the seed certification division. The seed laboratory division has to do only with the mechanical purity of the seed, while the certification division deals with the varietal purity of the seed, he explained.

The tests of seed are made by the Department of Agriculture free for all citizens of the state.

Gonzales Pays Final Tribute to Oldest Resident

Mrs. M. B. Hampton, Former Santa Anna Resident Laid to Rest

Gonzales paid its last tribute, and a most beautiful one, to her oldest resident when on Wednesday afternoon the remains of Mrs. M. B. Hampton, revered and beloved here and throughout this section, were committed to their final resting place with fitting ceremonies.

In the brief talk on her life, made by Rev. Mr. King, he pronounced a beautiful eulogy to her memory, the long life fragrant with devoted Christian service to her Master, her loved ones and all with whom she came in contact.

The scripture lesson was read by Rev. D. L. Griffith and prayer was offered by Rev. J. J. Wester, who offered fervent thanksgiving for the long and beautiful life that had come to a close, leaving a wonderful example, a precious heritage to her loved ones.

Two of the dear familiar hymns were rendered by the choir, who sang, "Rock of Ages" and "Asleep in Jesus."

The handsome casket was embowered in beautiful floral tributes that filled the rooms with their beauty and fragrance.

It was a long procession that wended its way to the Masonic Cemetery, where the remains were laid to rest with a brief service marking the last rites. There another of the old familiar hymns was rendered, the choir singing "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

Her last resting place was mantled in a wealth of beautiful floral offerings.

A number of handsome tributes came from friends and relatives over the state—from Quanah, Lampasas, Santa Anna, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Houston and Austin, all bearing messages of love and sympathy.

There were numbers of beautiful special tributes among them a handsome offering from the Gonzales Chapter U. D. C., Mrs. Hampton having been the oldest member of the chapter. Others included beautiful offerings from the Women's Study Club, the Hamon Sunday School Class, and the Men's Bible Class at Quanah.

Numerous telegrams of condolence were also received from friends and relatives over Texas and elsewhere.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hampton was born in Carroll county, Mississippi, May 22, 1840 and was 91 years, 7 months and 7 days of age. She was the daughter of John E. and Ruth Hamon, who came to Gonzales county from their plantation home in Mississippi, settling here in 1854, when Mrs. Hampton was only a young girl.

The family became comfortably established on a plantation six miles east of Gonzales in the Guadalupe community, Mr. Hamon owning a large place adjoining what was formerly known as the Evans place now the Rafter farm.

There in a commodious old Southern home built largely with slave labor, Mrs. Hampton grew to handsome young womanhood, surrounded by all the traditions of the old south, an environment that has produced the noblest womanhood of the nation. Part of the old Hampton residence still stands.

Mrs. Hampton was graduated from the Female College at Granada, Miss., receiving the best education in literary subjects, music and the accomplishments of an educated young womanhood that the period afforded.

A daughter of the old South, exemplifying all its refinements and culture, Mrs. Hampton treasured its traditions and was never happier than when relating experiences of her girlhood in ante bellum days.

Her marriage to Manore B. Hampton marked the union of two prominent pioneer families of the county. For years Mr. Hampton was tax assessor and collector of Gonzales county, the two offices then being combined. He preceded her in death years ago.

Her passing marks the passing of her generation, as she was the last of eight children born to John E. and Ruth Hamon.

Surviving are two sons, W. B. Hampton of Quanah, and Frank Hampton of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. S. H. Phillips and Miss Lenore Hampton of this city, besides several grandchildren and a number of other relatives.

It was in her early young womanhood that she made a profession of religion and united with the Methodist church, and her long and beautiful Christian service has been an inspiration to all with whom she came in contact.

Hers was a wonderfully gracious and lovely personality that rendered her very much beloved, a gracious hostess in her home where she dispensed the hospitality for which the old south was famous until declining years forbade. Even in the infirmities of age, her brave spirit went marching on, the frail body radiant with the beauty of her soul, ever present over the loving and devoted mother to the end, until her spirit winged its way to the eternal abiding place of the Father's glory.

No more beautiful tribute to her could be penned than a verse from the song "Memories of Mother," composed some time ago by her gifted daughter, Miss Lenore Hampton, and dedicated to her.

"Oft at even tide when glimmering lights are low
I love to sit and dream of long ago,
And the dearest scene of all,
haunting now on memory's wall,
Is of childhood home and one dear face I know;
I can see the radiant charm of snow-white hair,
I can see the silver sheen that lingers there;
How my mother's hands caressed as she held me to her breast,
When she calmed my fears or soothed my childish woe."
Oh, the twilight brings me dreams of home and Mother,
Like a benediction sent at close of day;
All these memories, fond and sweet drift like roses at my feet,
And Heav'n and Home seem not so far away."

—(Gonzales Inquirer)
(Mrs. Hampton formerly lived in Santa Anna, and her daughter, Mrs. Phillips, still has her home here.)

MISS CLARIENE BALCH AND W. R. HARVEY ARE MARRIED SATURDAY

W. R. Harvey, of Alpine, and Miss Clariene Balch, of Trickham, were married last Saturday by Rev. H. C. Wingo at the Baptist parsonage.

The wedding dress was of navy blue chiffon, trimmed with ecru lace. Her slippers and hose harmonized. Her going away dress was of brown flat crepe.

Those present for the wedding were the bride's brother, Clec Balch, and aunt, Miss Mollie B. Franks, of Phoenix, Arizona, and Mrs. Etoile Cozart, a sister of the groom.

Mr. Harvey is the son of Mrs. C. A. Fuller, of Alpine. Mrs. Harvey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Balch, of Trickham.

Though the Balch family has lived in Trickham only since last March, coming here from Houston, they have many friends who wish the bride happiness. Mr. Harvey is quite prominent and has many friends.

Mrs. Walter Stacy honored the bride with a linen shower two weeks ago. Many beautiful gifts were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey wish to thank their friends for the gifts and Mrs. Stacy for the shower.

We will start our hatchery Monday. Hatching this year for only $2.00 a tray.

the governor: E. V. Allen serving a life sentence for the robbery of the Carbon Bank and the Danny Leach case in which the defendant was convicted of the "Gravel Pit Murder."

"The farmers of America by hard work and the blessing of Providence have produced bountiful crops and are unable to sell them, while millions of men are walking the streets without employment and unable to purchase food and the other necessities of life." Jones declared. "The livestock man finds his product selling at the lowest price in history. The oil man can sell only a small fraction of his output and that fraction at a ridiculously low price, while he sees daily, thousands of barrels of crude oil produced by pauper labor in foreign countries brought into this country by the billionaire Secretary of the Treasury, Andy Mellon, and other plutocrats, in unfair competition with the American oil man and American Labor.

"Business men have lost their holdings, thousands have had their home taken from them, the savings of many have been swept away and this government grants a moratorium to foreign countries on the money they owe Uncle Sam, while there is no moratorium for the suffering taxpayer who has seen his burden increase year by year. Millions of young men my age answered the call of their country when Europe was ablaze with war; they faced shot and shell and even death to defend the flag of this country. Now thousands of these men, broken in body and shaken in mind, are jobless and are fighting a battle to survive. This government owes a sacred duty to these men who left their homes, their families, and their job to defend OLD GLORY, at least to see, while issuing moratoriums, that no veteran, no veteran's widow, wife or children suffer for the want of food as long as the flag which they defended floats on the breezes of Heaven."

"With these conditions confronting us and the battle for existence being waged throughout this District, to send a fresh soldier to the forum at Washington, with new ideas and a chance for greater influence, might do some real good at this time. At any rate with all the empty purses and hungry stomachs in this District a change in Washington won't hurt."

HONESTY

In life's small things be resolute and great
To keep thy muscle trained: know'st thou when Fate Thy measure takes, or when she'll say to thee

Students are prone to laugh to each other regarding their so-called cleverness in being able to cheat without being detected by the teacher. True, these students may be able to "put it over" the teacher at times, but such a student must not forget that he has not "put it over" himself.

Cheating! Is it honest? Is it honorable? Is it stealing? Can one argue that copying on a test or a notebook is honesty, is honorable, or is not identified with stealing? Certainly not!

Can one follow the unhappy picture of a high school boy or a high school girl who started the disastrous course by sliding his eyes to get the answer to a question on a test from the classmate beside him? That student may complete his high school course but not his high school education.

Yes, honesty is such a small thing.

Yet, after all, the small things of life are the great things.

DISTINGUISHED DOCTOR FORMER S.A.H.S. STUDENT

Dr. Max Woodward, noted pediatricist of Sherman, son of Mrs. W. B. Woodward of our city, was an honored visitor here the past week.

Dr. Woodward and his wife have just returned from a sojourn in Europe, where he was a student in universities of Rome and Vienna.

Dr. Woodward, after graduating from S.A.H.S., completed courses in the University of Texas and the University of Texas Medical College at Galveston, and Harvard.

Dr. Woodward has become known as a distinguished physician and our school, as well as our city, are extremely proud of his success.

AGRICULTURAL SHORT COURSE

An Agricultural Short Course, promoted by the McCormick-Deering Co., will be held at Coleman, February 8th and 9th. This short course was held here last year.

The night of February 8 has been designated as Santa Anna night. Supt. Scarborough has been planning the program, and so far, he has asked the Girls' Chorus and the Men's Quartet to sing.

A POET

Harry Oder, a poet, has taken up his school work again as a Junior, and the school is glad to have him back again.

As the school has no other poet, it is a good thing that Harry is back. Although he writes good poems, he is reserved and modest. He has written several, but one of his latest is "Western Sunset". Just read it!

WESTERN SUNSET

The day is dying in the West; This day will soon be gone. Earth, with light, is now fully blest. But, alas, twill soon be gone.

The day is dying in the West. The sky is bleeding, and red. The sun is now out on earth's crest. The day's last hour is dead.

Now we are gathered in deepening dusk. Night is just ahead. Tomorrow our corn we'll husk, And soon we shall greet the bed.

RENEWED EFFORTS

After the most trying ordeal of the whole semester—mid-term exams—the students are back at school with renewed efforts. Those who have put off making their honorable New Year resolutions until after mid-term should begin at once, resolving to make that honor roll! Everyone is starting anew, with an equal chance, upon the next semester.

"Grow in knowledge; therein lies That which yet may make us wise;

Wise to see that heaven can be Opened but with wisdom's key, Whilst mere knowledge, naught beside, Turns to arrogance and pride."

SENIOR CORNER

The Seniors are, of course, glad to be through the ordeal of mid-term exams. They are simply living in hopes until Wednesday afternoon, when they will receive the fatal documents (report cards) which will tell them whether they "are or aren't". Wednesday will decide whether many have "made" the first semester. Of course, there won't be many (if any) Senior failures, because the Seniors have the "real stuff".

"SPORTING AROUND" WITH THE BASKET-BALL TEAM

Santa Anna cagers journeyed to Brownwood last Friday to take part in the Daniel Baker Invitation Tournament.

The Mountaineers carried on the usual spirit and defeated Bangs 33-28 Friday night. It might be mentioned here that the Mountain Boys football team downed the Bangs football team 6-0, a conference game, here on November 13th.

Saturday afternoon, the boys were not quite so successful, and let Brownwood High Lions march away with a 35-14 victory. However, this is easily accounted for in that the Brownwood team is much more experienced.

The Mountaineer team had the privilege of witnessing Daniel Baker defeat Sul Ross Friday night.

In all, 32 teams were competing in the tournament. Finals were played Tuesday night. As this goes to press, results have not been learned.

The Mountaineers are scheduled to play Buffalo here Friday. All you sportsmen and Mountaineer supporters come out and see our "Fight! Fight!" boys "hand it to Buffalo!"

HOME ECONOMICS II.

Home Economics II. girls are taking up new subjects this last semester. They are now studying the "Characteristics of An Ideal American Girl". They studied score cards from the state and the outstanding characteristics are: scholarship, sportsmanship, honesty, fellowship, followship, pride, courtesy, loyalty and leadership.

After studying personal relationship, abilities, appreciation, they will begin studying clothing and making dresses.

There are four new students which the class welcomed. They are: Maurice Kirkpatrick, Rebecca Turner, Catherine Rollins, and Helen Turner.

CHORAL CLUB

Ability to sing has proved to be worthwhile. Members of the Monday and Thursday girls choral club who have shown exceptional ability to sing have been placed in one club together and meet on Monday. The other members are to meet on Thursday for a while until they have improved enough to be placed in the Monday club.

The following, who have shown their exceptional ability, are members of the Monday Choral Club: Rheba Boardman, Frances Jones, Evelyn Kirkpatrick, Aline Burden, Bess Inez Shield, Maurice Kirkpatrick, Mary Alice Mitchell, Annie Louise Watkins, Ruby Davies, Bettie Mae Hines, Kathryn R. Pinney, Louise Zenor, Mildred Boardman, Carmilla Flores, Rebecca Turner, Francine Merritt, Beth Barnes, Elizabeth Fletcher, Sylvia Ann Everett, Muriel Hefner and Mary Bradford.

PLANE GEOMETRY

Plane Geometry students are studying circles now. They are finding circles to be much easier than polygons, for most anything can be proved about one. They are discovering that a circle has lots of things that they had never before imagined one could have. Beware of Plane Geometry students now, for their thoughts are in circles.

POULTRY SHOW

The F. F. A.s intend to put on another poultry show this year. As the one they had last year was a great success, they have decided to make the one this year still greater. The date set for the show is Friday and Saturday, January 29th and 30th, in the building next door to the Queen Theatre.

YES OR NO

DO YOU KNOW:

That English I. students are studying oral composition, much to the dread of many?

That the Choral Clubs have been divided again?

That the Dramatic Club gave a very successful play to their own members several weeks ago?

That the Scribblers successfully answered all Current Event questions that were given them Tuesday?

That the new honor roll will be smaller than the last?

That several gloomy faces were seen about the examination grade lists posted in the various rooms?

That the Monday Choral Club is going to sing over the radio at Dublin soon?

SOPHOMORE NEWS

Efforts in raising class funds have been very well rewarded. Last week we sold chicken sandwiches and pie. Although we are not selling anything this week, we will not discontinue the project.

During the month of March we are to serve the Lions Club for which opportunity we are grateful.

Peggy Doyle withdrew from school last Friday and returned to her home in Parsons, Kansas. We regretted to lose her and also Nandelle Taylor, who withdrew more than a week ago.

FLAG UP AGAIN

We are happy to see our flag waving again. During dismal weather we do not raise the flag, but when the sun comes around the mountain, the furls of Old Glory proclaim a message of peace, and fair weather. "Long may it wave!"

ENTERTAIN ROCKWOOD CHURCH YOUNG PEOPLE

On Friday night of last week Mrs. J. H. Bostick, assisted by Miss Eris Gregg, entertained the Rockwood B.T.S. (B.Y.P.U.) and the Rockwood Methodist Young People's Division with a well-planned and executed social at the home of Mrs. Bostick.

Various games, such as "confidence," "guess the animals," "state abbreviations" and "laughing handkerchief," were played throughout the evening. At about ten-thirty, delicious refreshments, consisting of cake and hot chocolate, were served to forty-five guests.

Everyone reported a most delightful time.—(Written for last week)

FEDERATED CLUBS

The Federated Clubs had a very interesting meeting at the City Hall Tuesday afternoon. There was a very good attendance. Some good reports were made by the cooperating clubs. It was decided to suspend for this year the annual payment of dues from each club and federation with the state body was discontinued. Some plans for more local work are being made. It was decided to observe Washington's birthday in an appropriate manner.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY DINNER

Last Monday was Mrs. H. W. Kingsbery's birthday, but a few of her friends helped her celebrate it Sunday.

Mrs. Kingsbery attended Sunday School and Church as usual and planned to accept an invitation from a friend for dinner. But there was a car in front of her house when she went by, so she investigated. Her living room had been appropriated by quite a group of her friends, who were in the receiving line. She was made to feel the guest of honor, though she was in her own home.

The rooms were decorated with American Beauty Roses, and presented a very cheerful appearance. The friends had prepared, as Mrs. Kingsbery told the reporter, "everything it takes to make a perfect birthday dinner." They spent the afternoon in conversation.

Throughout the afternoon Mrs. Kingsbery received Special Delivery letters and telephone calls, which added a great deal to her pleasure.

Those present for the day were Mesdames W. R. Kelley, J. R. Gipson, W. B. Harper, J. J. Kirkpatrick, J. W. Kirkpatrick, J. R. Bannister, Fred Turner, and B. F. Rothermel.

A few years ago the whole world was yelling "H. C. of I." Today half is howling "S. O. S." and the other half, "C. O. D." —The Brownsville Herald.
