

LARGE CROWDS EXPECTED AT SHORT COURSE

MOTION PICTURES WILL INTEREST EVERYONE

Instructive Reels Depicting Various Subjects to be Big Feature of Short Course

This is the age of motion pictures. If they are clean and interesting we all like them. In addition, they are helpful to us we like them still more.

Most movies are made simply to amuse or entertain people, but the Agricultural Extension Department of the International Harvester Department has taken advantage of the great possibilities of motion pictures, and is using them, not only to entertain, but to educate and instruct.

The department has prepared 20 reels illustrating important subjects touching upon town and country problems. Judges of movies have declared they are the best reels on these subjects ever prepared.

Many of the reels will be shown during the agricultural short course to be held in the high school here on Feb. 16 and 17th. Two of the reels, entitled "Farm Inconveniences," illustrate the foolishness of doing some things and the carelessness of not doing other things.

"Cherryland" graphically pictures the world's greatest orchard and vividly demonstrates the good use of knowledge.

"Power in the Farm Home" illustrates how to do away with the drudgery of many of the housewives everyday tasks, and Household Conveniences" shows how in other ways we can make mother's work easier.

"Home Canning" illustrates the various steps in canning the fruits and vegetables and two reels show how to make money from poultry. One of these reels "Producing Poultry," shows the modern methods of hatching brooding, growing and culling chicks, and the other reel, Business Management of Business Hens," depicts culling, housing and managing the layers.

"Milk, Nature's Perfect Food" demonstrates the value of milk as food and how to produce it profitably. A companion reel, "Greater Profits from Milk," shows how to get the most value out of milk, after it is produced, while still another reel, "The Making of a Good Cow," most interestingly illustrates the value of good breeding and good feeding.

"Hog Health Makes Hog Wealth" shows how to prevent hog worms and diseases, and four reels deal with corn. These reels are "Gather Seed Corn Early," "Test Every Ear of Seed Corn," "Growing the Corn Crop," and "Harvesting the Corn Crop." The subject matter covered by each reel is described by its title.

"Sheep for Mutton, Wool and Money" pictures the raising, and shearing and care of sheep. One reel, "Alfalfa," shows how to grow America's greatest hay crop, and another reel, "Soybeans," has to do with that valuable legume crop.

Another interesting reel, "The Power Behind the Orange," illustrates the growing harvesting and shipping of oranges. It is hoped that every citizen in Coleman County will try to attend these lectures. They are not offered as a cure all for these dull times but we cannot help gaining some knowledge which will benefit us and the county from the course.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Boardman, went to San Angelo, on Tuesday Misses Aletha Blewett and Velma Oder went as far as Ballinger, stopping off for a visit with friends.

Young Farmer at Gouldbusk Fatally Shot Wednesday

Henry Underwood is dead and C. W. Lawrence is in jail at Coleman as a result of a shooting at Gouldbusk, late Wednesday evening. Underwood was shot one time with a 32 automatic, the bullet entering his stomach. Lawrence surrendered to officers here.

Family trouble is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Lawrence began making a statement to District Attorney C. L. South this morning and was still closeted with the officer in the early afternoon.

Underwood and Lawrence were both young men around 19 years of age. Both were married and living on adjoining farms near Gouldbusk. Underwood worked for Sam Gray, vice president of the Coleman National Bank.

Thirty Farmers at Evening School

Thirty farmers were at the Agricultural evening school last Monday evening. C. F. McCormick, gave a very interesting report of what was said and happened at the recent State Co-op Meeting which he attended. He indicated that the back to a safe live-at-home program of farming. Raise everything that it is possible to raise on the farm to eat and sell the surplus the few cash crops, poultry and livestock is the general program.

The topic for discussion during the meeting was how to keep a cash account on the farm and most of the farmers went away from the meeting feeling that they knew how to keep a cash account.

There will be no meeting next Monday night due to the Agricultural Short Course, which will be held at the High School next Monday and Tuesday. The next meeting will be on the night of the 23rd at 7:30 p. m. at the High School and the topic will be "A General Review of What Has Been Covered." Other things of interest to those in attendance will likely be mentioned.

Three Brown County Poison Victims Dead

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU INAUGURATED

PHYSICIANS SAY DUE TO ARSENIC LADEN BISCUITS

Brownwood, Texas, Feb. 3.—Mrs. H. A. Jones and three children, Lonie, a daughter, Hubert and Jack, two sons were resting well this morning in the Stumps Sanitarium following their removal here last night in three McInnis Funeral Home ambulances. Attending physicians, Drs. C. W. Gray and T. B. Bailey held hope for the recovery of the four at noon.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the condition of the four at the hospital was still unchanged and hope was still entertained for their recovery, reports from their bedside stated.

The physicians said that all were showing a better pulse action this morning and that all were improving with the exception of Hubert who was in the most critical condition of any of the family. He was complaining of his legs and arms hurting this morning which the physicians said was an almost sure sign of paralysis which follows arsenic poisoning in many cases. This is brought on by the insolubility of the poison which settles in the pedal extremities, stopping circulation into the legs and arms the doctors said. Both the physicians stated however that there might be a bare chance for complete recovery.

Arsenic filled biscuits were blamed this morning by physicians who attended the patients for the death of H. A. "Lonnie" Jones, about 45, his two sons, Continued on page four

Santa Anna to Have Poultry Show Feb. 27th and 28

Santa Anna's first Community Poultry Show will be held on the 27 and 28 of this month. The Show is being sponsored by the Vocational Agricultural department and the Future Farmers of America Chapter of Santa Anna High School under the direction of J. M. Binion Teacher of Vocational Agriculture.

The show will be open to all classes of poultry, turkeys, ducks pigeons and rabbits. No money prizes will be offered but ribbons will be given. The reason for not offering money prizes is that only prizes of very little value could be offered and ribbons will be just as effective. A charge of only 10c per entry for both single entries and entries of pens will be made. This will be to take care of the feeding, in part and the buying of the ribbons.

If you care to exhibit some of your poultry and etc. at the show begin now to prepare for the show. Do not wait until the last few days and then try to get your entries ready.

Further information concerning the Show as to classes, entries and other things that you probably want to know will appear in this paper next week.

CHANGES AND IMPROVEMENTS IN SANTA ANNA

February has seen a number of changes and improvements in business affairs of the town. J. L. Boggus and Company are making perhaps the most radical of changes. They are moving across the street from the old location to the corner building Santa Anna Furniture and Undertaking Co. New fixtures are being installed and Mr. Boggus expects to have one of the most attractive stores in our little city. The Santa Anna Furniture and Undertaking Company have moved the furniture one door West of their former location and have greatly improved the display advantages. Their Undertaking establishment is in a separate building in which they have arranged a comfortable parlor, a display room in which a beautiful array of caskets, robes and accessories are kept ready for inspection. An operating room and a stock room complete this department. Mr. Joe Rumble of Bremond has purchased the Mike Johnson Furniture and Undertaking Company stock and is moving out the undertaking equipment. A local firm has bought the furniture from him and will close it out at bargain prices.

The Santa Anna Motor Company is under the management of Mr. Preston Couch who has been with the M. K. Witt Motor Company at Coleman for the past seven years. He comes here highly recommended as a business man and as a citizen. We are glad for him to call Santa Anna, home.

Hugh Blair formerly employed with the Piggly-Wiggly, has recently become manager of the Magnoli Petroleum Company Agency here. The office is located in the Stafford Baxter building.

W. R. Kelley & Co., have been very busy this week and last renovating. We thought it a little bit early for Spring house cleaning but they are making some splendid improvements.

The two Humble Refining Co. Stations are getting new electric pumps, additional service space and a lot of nice new paint. Mr. Shield and Mr. Richardson are getting fixed up for the Spring and summer rush.

The first little chicks will be off Tuesday at the Robertson's Service Hatchery, on the next week both Hatcheries will have more and after that there will everybody.

The Banner Creamery, is co-operating with the Agricultural Classes and the County Agent in testing whole milk free for the farmers so that every farmer can find out just how much butter fat every cow produces. Mr. Bell is making his flower beds and plans to have a show place during the summer months.

Garms Tailor Shop has lately installed some new equipment for efficiency cleaning and pressing.

The Santa Anna Telephone Co is working on a new directory to be published next month.

Ragsdale Bakery has several new recipes that are delicious. Mr. Ragsdale also states that all butter, eggs and milk that go into these high class confections are home produced.

Mrs. G. A. Shockley spent last week in Dallas attending the Spring Fashion Shows. She brought back some beautiful Spring models in hats and dresses.

J. A. Post has moved his quick lunch business to the Harlee stand and Mr. Jess Whitaker of Brownwood occupies his former place of business.

EMPLOYED ARE TO HELP THOSE LESS FORTUNATE

Good business judgement has caused the business men of the town to seek a remedy for the lack of employment of numbers of men here. A committee from the Lions' Club has revised a plan used in Cleburne, to fit the local needs and it looks as if a bit of the famous "drouth relief" was being worked out here at home.

This plan does not call for sacrifice or charity on the part of a single citizen. No man in town will receive a nickel in the name of charity and the only donation will be the time spent by the committee in getting the scheme organized and in operation.

It is asked that every unemployed man within the city limits register at the city hall with the city secretary.

Every wage earning citizen of the town will be called upon to deposit one day's wages a month with the committee and any odd jobs about the place, such as gardening, trimming trees, or cleaning yards, that need attention, will be done in return. You are asked to invest in Santa Anna Futures. The kind of a future that is guaranteed to be a benefit to you and your neighbors.

For example if you deposit $10 in this fund. You are entitled to $10 worth of labor and all you have to do to get it is phone the city hall and ask for a man to be sent out. Then when the work is accomplished, you sign the card that the laborer brings with him and he gets his pay at $2.00 per day or 25 cents an hour at the employment bureau. If the individual employer should pay the employee the prestige of the bureau is destroyed. So the money must be turned into the fund in order to keep check on the number of days the men work and to avoid confusion.

The plan is to be tried out for three months and it is hoped every one in the town will be greatly benefited.

Every cent that these men earn will be spent right here in the town with the men who are making this effort in the behalf of those who will benefit most.

A general clean-up campaign will also be inaugurated and this town is facing the most thorough cleaning in its history.

Every citizen will be given the opportunity to co-operate. Don't fail to do your part, this applies to those who are working now and also to those who expect to work in this plan during the next 3 months. Make your deposits or register today!

OUR PENCIL SHARPENERS

Students, one of your greatest assets, and indeed a necessity is the pencil sharpener. Our school is well supplied with pencil sharpeners, but they are not receiving the care that they deserve and must have if they continue to be of any great value. Everyone of you should take it upon yourself to see that our pencil sharpeners are properly attended to and see that no one treats them in any unnecessarily rough manner for you all know that they are made of very fragile material. So with just one moment of insight and thought you can give the pencil sharpeners the care that they require, and you shall have them, when you need them. Think of having to hunt all over school for a knife to sharpen your pencil, then you will be more considerate to your self and your fellow students.

Eddie Paul Voss has received an appointment to Chanutte Field in Rantoul, Ill. a government school where he will study aerial photography and general mechanics.

This is a rare opportunity and we rejoice in Eddie Paul's success, yet we shall keenly feel our loss. He is one of the most cooperative seniors and has always shown a great interest in all helpful activities. He played football in the fall, and has been drilling in Interscholastic spelling, besides aiding in numerous other events.

Eddie Paul expressed a desire to get his diploma from Santa Anna high school and is going to take correspondence work and be listed with "Our Gang" in May—whose motto is, "Dependability and Service".

The new Ford is an economical car to own and drive

Low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation mean a distinct saving to every purchaser

THE NEW FORD is a splendid car to own and drive because of its attractive lines and colors; safety, comfort, speed, reliability and long life.

There are, in addition, three other features of importance to every far-seeing automobile owner . . . low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation.

During the life of the car, the day-by-day economy of owning a Ford will amount to considerably more than the saving on the first cost. You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

The reasons for this economy are simplicity of design, high quality of materials and care in manufacturing and assembling. Many vital parts are made to limits of one one-thousandth of an inch. Some to three ten-thousandths of an inch. Throughout, the new Ford is an outstanding example of fine craftsmanship in automobile engineering.

The more you see of the new Ford—the more you talk to Ford owners and experienced mechanics—the more certain you become of this fact. . . . It brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

VALENTINES YOU CAN EAT PROVE YOUR HEART'S IN THE RIGHT PLACE

Of course you are "his Valentine," but a dainty dish which announces the fact should be appreciated by that life-partner of yours. Samuel Pepys once announced in his famous diary, "I am today my wife's valentine and it cost me five pounds." But cooking a valentine requires no such taxing of your purse, nor much of your ingenuity, either.

Making the milestones, the little holidays of life, is a task allotted by right to the homemaker. And a joyful task it may be, if the brainracking process of "what to serve" and "how to make it" are already worked out for you. The cake or salad of other dish you are planning anyway, may be easily transformed into a holiday dish by the simple addition of a bit of hearty decoration or by using the Valentine colors—"red and white, for loving hearts and blushing maidens—in the menu.

If it's a party you're planning for February 14th, edible valentines are especially appropriate if your sole interest lies in making glad the children's day you can find no better way to do it. If there's a friend whose past courtesies you wish to acknowledge or one whose birthday falls upon the same day what better way to commemorate it than with a valentine you can eat? Here are simple recipes for valentine viands, some of heart shapes, others in the traditional colors all of them simple and wholesome dishes.

Lace Paper Valentine Salad
Use chicory or curly endive to represent the white paper lace of the old fashioned valentine. On this place an individual salad which has been molded and frozen in a heart shaped mould. Run mayonnaise through a pastry tube in the shape of an arrow, on top the salad heart. The moulded salad is made as follows:

1 No. 2 can grape fruit, 1 cup of canned apricots, 1-2 pkg pasteurized dates, sliced, 2-3 cup of mayonnaise, 1 cup heavy cream, 1-4 cup diced celery.

Drain canned fruits from syrup, cut in small pieces and combine with celery. Whip cream and add it to mayonnaise. Add cream and mayonnaise to fruits. Pack in trays of a mechanical refrigerator or in lightly covered molds in a mixture of ice and salt until frozen (three fourths of an hour). Unmould. Yield: 1-2 quarts or 12-14 servings.

Queen O'Hearts Tarts

1 recipe pie crust in tart shells, 3-4 cup sugar, 2 tbsps cornstarch, 1-8 tsp salt, 2 egg yolks, 1 tsp vanilla, 2 cups scalded milk, 1-2 to 1 cup preserved strawberries, 1 cup cream.

Mix dry ingredients add eggs slightly beaten, and pour on gradually the scalded milk. Cook fifteen minutes in double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened, afterward occasionally. Cool and flavor. Pour into tart shells. Arrange preserved strawberries on top and cover with whipped cream. Garnish with a berry or candy heart. Meringue made from egg whites beaten with one-third cup powdered sugar may be used.

Pink Pudding

4 1-2 tbsps. corn starch, 3 1-2 cups milk, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 tsp vanilla, 1 cup pink cocoanut frostettes, 2 egg whites, 1-4 tsp salt.

Mix cornstarch to smooth past with one-half cup milk. Scald rest of milk; add sugar, salt, and cornstarch, stirring constantly. Cover and cook in top of double boiler for twenty minutes until thick and smooth. Remove from fire and fold in two beaten egg whites and frostettes. Chill and serve very cold, topped with whipped cream and sprinkle with frostettes.

Cupid's Cookies

3 eggs, 1 cup corn oil, 1 1-2 cups brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, 1 1-2 tpsps salt, 4 cups pastry flour, 3 tpsps baking powder, candied cherries.

Beat eggs slightly and stir in oil. Add sugar. Sift together and add rest of dry ingredients. Roll dough thin and cut into heart shapes with cookie cutter. Bake on cookie sheet in moderate oven (385 degrees F.) eight to ten minutes. Place a candied cherry on each cookie just before taking from oven. The cookies may be glazed with white of an egg and sprinkled with colored sugar. The tiny candy hearts which may be bought at any grocery make clever decorations for Valentine dishes. For the party menu, hearts cut from the canned cranberry sauce are appropriate.

A "NATIVE" RECIPE FOR LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Since "Honest Abe" was a man of the soil, plain foods are most suitable to serve on his birthday. What more appropriate than a dish composed of a native Illinois product, the state where Lincoln spent much of his life, made with a recipe from his native state Kentucky?

Corn Bread Kentucky

1 cup of flour, 1 cup cornmeal, 4 tpsps baking powder, 1 cup milk, 2 tpsps shortening, 1 tpsps salt, 3 tpsps dark corn syrup, 1 egg, 1-2 cup shredded cocoanut.

Mix dry ingredients, blend in shortening, add egg, milk and syrup. Add cocoanut. Beat thoroughly and bake in shallow pan in hot oven about 25 minutes (425 degrees F.) When done remove from pan, cut in squares, sprinkle a bit of toasted cocoanut on top each section and serve quite hot. The corn bread may also be baked in "logs" to represent the rails split in the early days of the President's career.

PROGRESS OF INTER-SCHOLASTIC LEAGUE WORK

Much progress is being made in interscholastic league work. Those participating are working hard in order to make a good showing in the county meet which will be held March 27 and 28.

Those interested in debate are working hard. Under the supervision of Miss Olivia Land, Santa Anna is planning on sending two good teams. The boys team will be composed of John Franklin Turner and Wilburn DuBois, the debaters of last year. The girls team will consist of Rebecca Turner and Irene McCreary, a member of last years team.

The essay writing is under the supervision of Mrs. J. C. Scarborough. Several students are writing essays but at the present no definite name may be reported as the entry.

Senior spelling is also under the direction of Mrs. Scarborough. Those who have entered to-date are Kathryn Creamer, Lola Pritchard, Ruby Williams, William Earl Ragsdale, Fred Gouldsen and A. G. Weaver. The majority of the entries have either been to county in junior or senior spelling.

Junior spelling is under the supervision of Mrs. Dewey Pieratt. However no report has been made as to the interest but we are sure that they are working hard.

Extempore speaking and declamation will be supervised by Mrs. Ed Bartlett. Those entering extempore speaking are Bessie Evans, Seth Ford and Jesse Lee Sparkman, two of these have participated in this phase before at Coleman. The declamers are also showing their talent but no names are available as final entries.

Work in track and tennis, is being developed under the leadership of Mr. J. R. Locke, Mr. Milton Binion and Miss Agnes Hayes. There have been no try outs in these events to-date.

HERE'S TO THE FRESHIES

Here's to the Freshies, as they enter the High. With their meek little faces, so timid and shy; For the Freshies it's a rugged old road. But just keep jumping like a little toad.

Jump every chance 'till you hit the spot. Just think of it—get to sit where the Sophies sit. The ones who held their noses and giggled. At the Freshies when they even wiggled.

Speaking of the Juniors, so dumb and silly. Who upon the Freshies they have no pity; If we knew the truths and the evils. They look at us as little devils.

Oh, my! and the proud, dignified Seniors won't speak; Oh, my! the little-things are so very weak! When you meet a Senior face to face. He'll look out the window or some other place; But the truth, or at least what I think. It's because we're in the water and they're on the brink. Freshman Reporter

THE POETS NIGHTMARE

The curfew tolls the knell of parting day
On thy cold grey stones, O sea!
And I would that my heart could utter
A poem lovely as a tree.

I have a rendezvous with death
By the shores of Gilchie Gumee
Listen my children and you shall hear
The thoughts that arise in me

Ye crags and peaks, I'm with you once again!
Have you heard of the wonderful one-hoss shay?
She was a phantom of delight
Out of China, 'cross the bay.

The little toy dog is covered with dust
At the foot of thy crags, O sea!
And the dawn comes up like thunder,
To be or not to be

O Captain! my Captain!
Grow old along with me,
Laugh and the world laughs with you—
When I put out to sea.

BOOKS

Good books are the most educational and worthwhile proposition in one's life. They are both entertaining and helpful. With out books there could be no schools, nor learning, and the ancient classics of literature could not have been preserved as they are to-day, although one may not realize it, books play an important part and are a vital factor in his life, for he—
Who hath a book
Has friends at hand
And gold and gear
At his command.

And rich estates,
If he but look,
Are held by him,
Who hath a book.

Who hath a book
Has but to read
And he may be
A king indeed.

His Kingdom is
His inglenook
All this is his
Who hath a book.

WHO WONDER WHY?????

Irene McCreary studies so much?

Billy Barnes does the same?
Audis is so gloomy lately?

Neal Oakes is "looking at the world through rose colored glasses?"

Mrs. Scarborough is asking for so many debates?

Annie Wilson likes candy?

Mr. Lock wrote the following criticism on the edge of a certain high school boy's report card:

Home Going of Mrs. Jones

Mrs. Jones was born October 31, 1869 in Bastrop Co. Went Home on Feb. 1, 1931. Mrs. Jones united with the Christian Church of Green Chapel, Brown Co. in 1909.

Her wedded life with Mr. W. A. Jones continued through a period of 47 years.

Through the years we have known Mrs. Jones, she has reminded us many times of the ideal woman, in Proverbs 13.

"The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her."

"She will do him good and not evil, all the days of her life."

"She seeketh wool and flax, and maketh willingly with her hands."

"She stretcheth out her hands to the poor, yea she reacheth forth her hands to the poor and needy."

"She looketh well to the joys of her household and eateth not the bread of idleness."

"Her children rise up and call her blessed, her husband also praiseth her."

"Give her of the fruit of her hands, and let her own works praise her in the gates."

All that loved ones, Drs. Nurses and friends could do, could not keep her. Her homegoing was sweet, as she was ready and knew she was going. While we sorrow it is not as those who have no hope, "For if we believe that Jesus, died and rose again, even so, them also which sleep in Jesus, will God, bring with Him."

The earthly home has ceased to be, and awaits the reunion of the Heavenly One. She is there to abide and await the coming of her dear ones in their turn. Her deeply grieved husband and companion (Who was so kind and Faithful) Two daughters, Mrs. Grover Leach of Brownwood, Mrs. Elmer Mullis of Trickha m.a sister Mrs. T. C. Johnston of May, Texas. THREE BROWN COUNTY POISON VICTIMS DEAD

Hillery, 10 and E. V. 8, also the critical condition of the remainder of the family. Mrs. Jones and two sons Hubert 10, and Jack 3, and a daughter, Lonnie 17 who are in a hospital here. Mr. Jones died at about 3:30 this morning. The two sons died yesterday afternoon, Hillery at about 2 o'clock and E. V. at about 6 o'clock.

The other members of the Jones family and the bodies of the two boys who had died were removed from their home near Indian Creek, 15 miles south of Brownwood by three ambulances from the McInnis Funeral Home.

Stricken Monday Morning

The family first began to show symptoms of the poison shortly after breakfast Monday morning and Mr. Jones went to a neighbor near by to summon aid and call a physician. Shortly after he returned to the bedside of his stricken wife and children he became ill himself.

Members of the sheriff's department made an investigation Monday afternoon as did Dr. C. N. Gray county health officer and one of the attending physicians. Sheriff M. H. Denman, went to the scene of the death breakfast and questioned members of the family.

Not Told of Deaths

The death of the husband and two children had not been revealed to Mrs. Jones or the remainder of the family at noon today and she lay suffering in the hospital ignorant of the fact that three of her loved ones were in an undertaking establishment.

Several of the biscuits were being held by the sheriff for a final analysis today and following this more definite information will be obtainable.

The date of the inquest into the three deaths was not set this morning as Justice of the Peace E. T. Perkenson and County Attorney A. E. Nabors wished to await development in the condition of the remainder of the family.

Judge Perkinson intimated that the inquest would be an extended affair and that a large number of the witnesses would be questioned during the proceedings to determine the origin of the poison in the bread and if not accidental any motive for its use.

Arrangements for the funeral of Mr. Jones and the two sons who succumbed to the poison had not been made this afternoon. —Brownwood Bulletin.

Seventh Installment

Maggie Johnson, whose father is a letter carrier, her mother a lazy woman who has seen better days, and her sister a bootlegger's sweetheart who works in a beauty parlor, is stock girl in the "Mack" stores, the Five and Ten of San Francisco. A boy whom she knows only as "Joe Grant," but who is really Joseph Grant MacKenzie Merrill, son of the owner of the "Mack," is learning the business by starting at the bottom. He doesn't like the job until he meets Maggie. And neither of them realize that they are falling in love with each other, at first Joe is impressed, however by Maggie's intelligence and goodheartedness, and gives her advice on the subject nearest her heart, how to live the ideal life. She makes a suggestion for a better way of selling certain lines. He tells his father, as if it were his own idea, greatly pleasing the old man. He finds that the girls he used to know don't interest him as much as Maggie does, and when Maggie discloses her love in a burst of jealousy, he realizes that he loves her, too.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Her face burned her hands were icy, her confused mind was only a blur, and her heart one heavy, unendurable ache.

It had been pretty bold of her to question him, to rebuke him about Paula Younger. After all, it was Joe's affair.

Her thoughts burned, stung, writhed together. The one unbearable thought was that the half-past five o'clock whistle would sound and Murphy begin to close the big jointed iron grills against the world, and that she would have to go home—what else could she do?—heartbroken and alone and bear the weekend with Joe "mad" at her.

He had already been elevated to the offices, which were placed in a position of some dignity and seclusion, on a mezzanine deck at the far rear of the store.

Sometimes, when a customer brought in a defective article, Maggie had to guide her upstairs to the window, marked "Complaints" and once or twice other errands had taken her to the office. But she had no excuse to-day.

She turned the knob of the glass door rather timidly and saw Joe standing at the window in the back of the room, with Simmonds, a buyer both intent upon the inspection of some sort of material.

"What is it?" Simmonds asked sharply.

"Excuse me," Maggie faltered, "but is Miss Pope up here?"
Simmonds came toward her. And Joe—as she saw with a sinking heart—casually turned away and began to study a bloated, bursting book of "swatches."
"Was Miss Pope up here?" Simmonds asked.

"Miss Pope," Joe said, in a quiet voice, "is downstairs in the music department."

Maggie's face was very red, she looked only at the older man.

"I didn't see her there, she said thickly.
"And somehow she got herself out of the glass door again, and somehow flew down the stairs and was feverishly busy instantly with a large cardboard box of lockets and chains, in the jewelry department.

And all the while her heart pounded as if it would hammer her to pieces and her shamed thoughts almost suffocated her.
"He knew I went up there to talk to him—what'll he think I am! He didn't want to speak to me at all—and I bluffed that Miss Pope was up there—he seen right through me! He sat right through me. Oh I wish I was dead. What'll I do? I can't ever look him in the face again."

She was standing at an angle of the jewellery counter that was placed in a sort of niche between columns.

Suddenly she knew that a tall lean man was lounging on the counter beside her, his shoulder almost touching her own.

"Still mad at me?" It was Joe's voice.

"Joe—" Her voice wouldn't come. "Joe, don't be mean to me she said" in a low voice, holding her words steady, not raising her eyes.

"Was I mean to you Maggie?" "Of course—of course you're not, Joe! It's just that I'm—I'm an idiot! It's none of my business who you lunch with—and I'm sorry I—blew up."

"It is your business, if you care Maggie," he said, nicely, kindly, even a little gruffly.

"But I am going not to care." Joe experienced a queer little twinge of pain. She looked so small, so weary, so exquisitely pretty in this soft light, and she was such a loving little thing!

"I'm glad we're friends again," Joe said awkwardly.

"Yes I am too."
"I couldn't have stood it," she confessed.

The other employees of the Mack were streaming through the side door when Maggie came flying up from the locker room. Joe was lingering at the top of the stairs.

"I thought I'd walk with you to the corner."

"Oh that's grand! which way do you go, Joe?"

"Down past the city—out on the Elmingdale road."

"Then you want the Ten car?" His arm was under her elbow, and she gave him once more the delicious sensation of nearness, confidence, and sweet smallness and youth.

He had never seen her so deliciously pretty, so small and loving and enchanting. She could hardly keep her little feet on the ground. Tired? Depressed? Hungry? Not when Joe Grant, tall and lean and protective and most appreciative, was beside her, was guiding her along the lighted street.

Her walk was a combination of jump, bounce, and dance step. Joe had to laugh sympathetically at the laughing face, the eager eyes that demanded his sympathy.

"This is my corner, Joe."

His steps had been quite automatically turned toward that particular quiet block where he had parked his roadster. They were close to the handsome, low slung car now.

"You'd wonder he'd have any business in this neighborhood," the girl innocently commented.

walk it every morning, 'Bout—I think it's thirteen blocks.

Joe had palmed his key.

"Want me to run you home in this car?"

"I get so sick of my automobile it's a treat to me to walk!" Maggie assured him. She was horrified when he slipped into the machine and challenged her cheerfully.

"Joe Grant, get out of that car! D'you want to be sent to jail?"

"Oh come on, get in, Maggie—don't be so scary."

"But Joe, isn't it locked?"

"Nope. Key right here! Get in, Maggie, and listen! I'll bring it back to the other end of the block and let him hunt for it awhile, to teach him a lesson about forgetting to lock it."

"Joe, you could be sent to jail for that!"

"Oh, come on—it won't take five minutes!"

In the end, she yielded.

"Maggie, how'd you like to own a car like this, and have a big, fluffy white fur coat, and be riding along here this way—down to Elmingdale, or the Westbeach Arms, or one of those fashionable places?"

"Joe, b'lieve me, I've seen girls do both ways, and there's nothing in letting fellers buy you coats and take you out riding. You don't mind being poor do you, Joe?" she asked anxiously.

"Don't you?"

"I? Why, but what else would I be?" she demanded blankly.
"Don't you ever think of yourself as rich, with beautiful clothes and a maid, and a big, comfortable room?" He glanced sideways.
"I think of myself as straight."

These Girls Sure Can Beat Time

Here are two of the numerous women drum-majors who would rather play on a brass band than on a piano. Left is Miss Margaret Handley of Ponchatoula, La., leader of the drum and bugle corps of American Legion Post No. 156, at Hammond, La. The boys call her "Peggy" Right is Mrs. Dixie Thompson, drum-major of the Brainerd Ladies Band of Brainerd, Minnesota.

Mrs. N. D. Van Dolson, Has 30 Year Old Copy of The News

Mrs. N. D. Van Dolsem of Voss sent us a part of a Santa Anna News several days ago, which she says is about thirty years of age.

"Oldtimers" here remember well the names and incidents mentioned in this edition of the News.

We find that Newt Long was then the leading physician of our city. Bro. M. H. Major was pastor at the Methodist church, Bro. A. R. Watson at the Baptist, Elder W. M. Stanley the Christian church and Rev. R. W. Oakes at the Cumberland Presbyterian.

T. H. Robertson was Santa Fe agent, L. O. Rendleman was agent for seed sweet potatoes, W. D. Wade solicited the confectionary trade, checker playing was reported to be the chief amusement, the thermometer registered 13 degrees below zero on Sunday night before publication, which was the second week in February, the home dramatic club was planning a play at the Opra house; Miss Minnie Eggle of Coleman was a guest in the L. W. Hunter home, S. H. Phillips was the local druggist, Crockett Boone, the editor, Tom Campbell the barber and Deputy Sheriff White of Coleman had paid the Mountain City a visit.

"Portia" was the correspondent from Liberty community, where a Mr. Thompson was the "Professor." H. H. Brown was a resident of the neighborhood, Pettas Byrd and his charming sister, Dora, attended a social at the Farris home and Misses Ida McLeod and Maud Phillips from Cleveland community visited with one Mrs. Will French.

Zero of the Niwot community reported J. D. Wilkerson selling his pasture south of Niwot to Messrs Phillips and Cupps. Two Cupps brothers were running a show. G. T. Allison was breaking land in spite of the bad weather, Mr. Visor went rabbit hunting, Sam Glascock planned to move south if the weather didn't improve. W. L. Allison and J. A. Phillips entertained their brother-in-laws from Dublin and San Angelo.

Old papers like this one are wonderfully interesting reading especially to people who were here at the time of publication. We wish to thank Mrs. Van Dolsem for sending in this interesting item.

On Monday evening Feb. 2 Mrs. Pauline Harper honored Mrs. Curtis Collins with a birthday party.

An elaborate six o'clock turkey dinner was then served. Mrs. Collins was then presented with a surprise package which contained beautiful and useful gifts. Progressive 42 was enjoyed until a late hour when the guests were invited into the dining room where a lovely Birthday cake was aglow with tiny candles.

Refreshments were served and the guests departed for home, thanking the hostess for such a delightful evening and wishing the honoree many happy returns of the day.

Those present enjoying this hospitality were: Messers and Mesdames Curtis Collins, Harry T. Caton, W. R. McMinn, Will Ferguson, Misses Grace McMinn, Aline Harper and Josie McMinn. Messers Elton, W. T. and Sealy Ferguson, W. R. McMinn and John David Harper and the hostess, Mrs. Pauline Harper.

WHON NEWS

It surely must be recorded as past history to complain of the drought, because if 1931 continues, its rains, it will certainly be a prosperous year.

The Howard Payne Volunteer Band spent the Sabbath day in Whon community. The program rendered Sunday morning was: "Seeing Jesus Face to Face." Sunday night the topic for discussion was: "When We Shall Meet Jesus." Both programs were skillfully given.

New clubs and chapters which want to try co-operative work or community service this month may find a suggestion in the following list:

Test Seed Corn
Treat Small Grain for Seed Borne Diseases, Such as Smut.
Hold School for Overhauling and Repair of farm Machinery Tractors.

Prune Grape and Fruit Trees
Build Brooder Houses for Chicks

Make Self-feeders for Pigs.
Pool Fertilizer Orders
Order Shrubs and Trees for Farm Beautification
Dock and Casterate early Lambs

Sell Cord Wood and Logs
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bengel were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fowler of Coleman, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. U. R. Stewart and Mrs. Tommy Holmes and little daughter, Tommy Sue spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Alma Forehand.

Mr. Billie Holmes has returned from a business trip to San Angelo.

(Intended for last week.)

Candidates for the presidency next year are already being discussed, but most of here in Santa Anna have decided not to run.

RUPTURE

EXPERT HERE

C. F. Redlich, Minneapolis, Minn., will demonstrate without charge his unequalled method in Brownwood Tuesday Feb 17th at the Southern Hotel from 10:00 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Mr. C. F. Redlich says: The "Perfect Retention Shields" hold the rupture perfectly, no matter what position the body assumes or how heavy a weight you lift. They give instant relief and contract the opening in a remarkably short time.

The secret of their success is in their simplicity. An expertly adjusted device seals the opening without discomfort or detention from work. It is practically everlasting, sanitary comfortable and actually holds ruptures which heretofore were considered uncontrollable.

Stomach troubles, backache and constipation, nearly always a consequence of rupture, promptly disappear.

Bring your children. According to statistics 95 per cent recover by our method.

NOTICE: All whom we have treated during the past ten years are invited to come in for a free inspection.

MY BEST GIRL

she said briefly.

"Anyway, we're pretty near living the ideal life now, and my father says that all day long he thinks about our house and how nice and shady and quiet the kitchen is, and all the new dish towels."

"We're getting out of debt, and even Liz said it was some comfort to come home to our house now—and she said—Liz said—that s-s—she—"

"Maggie! for heavens sake! What are you crying about?"

"Be—because—because they say I did it, Joe! Even Ma said that I made them all uncomfortable—and happier—and it—it makes me cry to have them love me so!"

He abruptly ran the car into the curb, and stopped it there and put his arms about her, and tipped up her face.

"Now, look here, stop it. Stop this bawling right away, or you'll have me crying too."

His big arm held her tightly, jammed against him, and her bewildered, ecstatic, tear-stained little rosy face was close to his own.

"J—Joe Grant!" she said breathlessly.

"Maggie Johnson! You've known this was coming, haven't you?"

"J—Joe Grant!"

"Surprised?"

"No—but—but—I guess—maybe I thought—"

"Go on Don't stop Maybe you thought what?"

"I thought you were kinder—" kidding me along."

It was at this juncture that for a terrible moment Joe Grant disappeared from his own consciousness for a few seconds and the Joseph Merrill who was a truant from college, who belonged to the same world as this smart roadster took his place.

To play a part was all very well inasmuch as it concerned only himself. But here was this bewildering little madcap armful of passionate earnest femininity in his arms, her tear soaked lashes almost touching his cheek, her whole being only too obviously ready to yield itself to his guardianship for ever.

How on earth was he going to get out of this with Maggie Johnson?

When he spoke, his tone and manner had subtly altered.

"Why shouldn't I kid you a—long?" he said. "You're too much of a kid, your self, to get mixed up in love affairs!"

She drew her self up, fumbled in her bag for a handkerchief, wiped her eyes quite openly, and said, in a composed cold voice: "You must drive me home, Joe. My father and mother'll be wild if I'm late."

"Maggie—listen. Don't take that tone! You know how much I like you—I've got to stop this, I've got to stop this, I'm a fool if I don't stop this," he added, in his heart. "Why, you're not eighteen—you're a little girl!"

"I'm eighteen to-morrow, and I'm not a little girl at all," she said, with swift dignity.

"Eighteen! Why, what would your father think if you married at eighteen!" Joe protested "Damn it—and damn me for a fool!" he ejaculated. "Now I've said it! This is the first time that word has come into our conversations and I'm the one that introduced it."

Maggie cleared her throat.

"I've had a great deal or responsibility in my life, and there's nothing so developing to the character as responsibility," she began. "Since I was ten years old, I've been trying to earn a little an' spend a little less, to bear wrongs patiently. Pop says he's always been anxious to live the ideal life, too, but he never thought it could be done on a postman's salary."

"Listen, Maggie. Listen, darling—"

"Since Christmas," she went on, "it's been you Joe. Everything I done—everything I've done because I was ahinkin' of you."

He caught her small agitated hands and held them tightly.

"Maggie, just be quiet, dear. There's no need for you to get so excited and upset. Listen, dear. I like you immensely. I think you have more character than any girl I ever knew. I wouldn't give up your friendship for anything in the world. But you're only a little girl, Maggie, you're going to have a dozen beaux before you pick out the man you want to marry." He winced interiorly. "I hope our friendship—"

"I know, Joe. I know. That's you That's your side of it. But I was talkin' about me."

She caught at his lapel with a small bare hand, and he raised her beautiful, wistful, childish eyes.

He laughed suddenly, boyishly. "Ah Maggie! You little idiot!"

And this kiss was a different kiss. The little figure rested against his breast, the little hand was crushed against his heart and the fragrant soul of her seemed to be drawn through her fresh, half opened lips.

Then they talked, Maggie's hand locked in his, her head resting luxuriously against his shoulder.

"I'm getting thirty-five a week Mary Margaret. And I'm not going to have my wife work!"

Many Farm Families

Have the Woman of the house to thank for not going hungry or cold during this past winter. The women in this country have been studying modern methods and ideas of living at home and it has been the food they have canned, the cream, butter, chickens and eggs they have sold that has kept some of their families from suffering. We are expecting every woman in Coleman County to attend the Short Course, here on February 16th and 17th.
