HAPPINESS-MY CREED

It is not wealth, nor fame, nor power, That gives me happiness this hour; But service rendered my fellow-man, Without stint, the best I can; Without regard of reward or fee, That brings happiness to me.

To heal the sick, relieve their pain, Repair the crippled and the maimed; Console the anxious, comfort the distressed, Present the infant to its mother's breast: Restore reason and help make the blind see, That brings happiness to me.

"This is futile," some would say; For there will come a rainy day; You'll have neither money nor property But be deep in the vale of poverty.' No mercenary critic would ever see t What brings happiness to me.

It is true, tho' by action denied Death stalks closely by our side, Striking often, where we least expect, Regardless whom it may affect So I live for service, not for fee And shall have happiness to eternity.

FURNISHINGS ASKED FOR RANGER BUILDING

The Ex-Rangers of Texas have been invited to hold their annual meeting at the Ranger Memorial Building here next week with only a bare structure to accommodate them.

We believe there are many people in town who have an old chair, a table or other pieces of furniture that they would be willing to donate as permanent fixtures in the building.

During the association show cases will house old relics for the enjoyment of the Ex-Rangers. These relics will be guarded and returned at the close of 6-16-39. the meeting.

If you have articles of furniture to donate to the building born 6-17-39. please call Mrs. R. C. Gay.

Sometimes, to your regret, you bought the "just as good" item but sometimes you walked out of the store and searched until you found the merchandise you had asked for in the first place. When you got it you were satisfied. You had confidence in the advertised goods, because you read in the honest pronouncements of the advertiser what you might expect his product to do for you. This Charles Roth gave you assurance. You bought because you had confidence. But when that clerk palmed off something different on you, you had misgivings, you had doubts, you had fears, you had lack of confidence.

It is much better for you as a consumer to put your reliance absolutely in advertised goods and in stores which advertise, and to pa- 🐗 tronize both exclusively.

When a man advertises his goods and tells frankly and publicly what they will do for you, he seeks your patronage on the basis of actual value.

It may be that some manufacturers or merchants can offer just as good value in unknown or unadvertised goods. But the chances are ten to one that they can't-because advertising not only increases the distribution of goods, but at the same time increases the production, so that advertised goods cost less to make; hence, gives more to the
