FOURTH OF JULY

If you perchance, shall deem it fit,
This little verse to use,
I pray it might cheer up a bit
Some reader of the News.
'Tis plain our hearts are troubled
By war-clouds hovering near,
But never shall our freedom bow
To tyrant's rule of fear.
Though by a ruthless ruler's hand,
The world with war is torn,
Remember in our own good land,
Through war was freedom born.
And as we think of July fourth,
Think how our fathers fought
Against great odds they sallied
By such was freedom bought.
Our fathers fought for liberty,
Against that mighty odd.
'Twas courage won them victory
They fought and trusted God.
For years we've lived upon this land,
Of happiness and peace,
Now like our fathers let us stand,
Nor tremble in the least.
So let us not be shaken now,
By weakness, fear nor fight,
But with a solemn sacred vow,
Stand up for what is right.

Brady July Jubilee

Texas' largest race meet, a night rodeo program that will feature the wildest broncs and steers in the Southwest, speaking by leading political figures, carnival attractions, Queen's Coronation and Ball, and a county-wide religious service, should be enough entertainment crowded into the first week of July to satisfy everyone.

The round of festivities will open solemnly Sunday night, June 30th at 8:00 o'clock when Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston will deliver the sermon at Richards' Park. The program has already been arranged, with most of the churches of the county to co-operate, and hundreds of persons from over this section to attend.

The fifteenth annual celebration will actually get under way Tuesday night, July 2, at 8:00 o'clock, when the Queen of the Jubilee will be crowned at Richards' Park. Duchesses will attend from all neighboring towns and the Queen will remain a mystery until the coronation. Music by Jack Ambling's (Mineral Wells) orchestra and a floor show will be featured during the ceremony.

A colorful parade will open the celebration the morning of July 3, and at 10 o'clock the procession of seven beautiful floats, bearing the Queen and her royal court cowboys and decorated automobiles will parade about the Brady plaza and business district.

Various forms of entertainment will intersperse the races each afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock as well as the rodeo events commencing at 8 p. m. Among the features is a matched roping contest between Amy Gamblin, Oklahoma, and Royce Sewall of Brooksmith, two of the top-notchers of the country; the McLaughlin boys, Don and Gene, acclaimed the juvenile ropers of the Southwest; a dancing quadrille on horseback; Curley Seales and her jumping horses, and various other performers of note.

Sanatorium is Third Largest State Hospital

SANATORIUM, June 25.—The state Tuberculosis Sanatorium of Texas, with 958 beds, is now the third largest state sanatorium of its kind in the United States, according to a national survey completed last month among 11 large state sanatoria. The Texas Sanatorium, which last year ranked second in capacity, is now exceeded in size by the Arkansas Tuberculosis Sanatorium and the Mont Alto State Tuberculosis Sanatorium of Pennsylvania. These two hospitals now have 1,150 and 1,040 beds, respectively.

The State Sanatorium of Arkansas has just completed a vast building program to bring its capacity to the present size, and the Mont Alto, sanatorium is to be increased to 1,710 beds about Oct. 1. At that time Pennsylvania will have not only the largest state sanatorium in the nation, but also two other state tuberculosis hospitals which are among the largest in the United States. They are the Cersson State Sanatorium with 840 beds and the Hamburg Sanatorium with 776 beds.

The per capita cost at the Texas sanatorium of $1.38 per patient day, is the lowest among those institutions included in the survey. The 510-bed Maryland Tuberculosis Sanatorium was second with a daily per capita cost of $1.45.

class and the best horse of the show will be shown. The show will be at Hufford Field on July 12. The rodeo dates are July 10 to 13 inclusive.

Charges of murder were filed last week in the Coleman JP court against C. W. Barclay, 50, tenant farmer residing north of Coleman in connection with the shooting of a negro, Quincy Hill, near the Davis home. Davis made bond of $2500. Trouble reportedly arose when Davis was forced off the highway by Hill on the 19th.

Mrs. W. P. Burris Breaks Arm in Fall

When attending a meeting of the Missionary Society at Watts Creek the first of the week, Mrs. W. P. Burris caught her heel on a low platform and fell, breaking her left wrist in the fall. She was reported doing nicely Wednesday.

Texas Cowboy Reunion

With the addition of new entertainment features during the past few days, the stage is set for Stamford's yearly cavalcade of the West, the eleventh annual Texas Cowboy Reunion. Already the town is in holiday attire, with streets and buildings bedecked with bunting and cowboy banners, the community bus has a bee-hive and tennallon hats and high-heeled boots increasingly numerous in town.

Real cowhands with chuck wagons and roping horses will be arriving by Sunday just to be on hand in plenty of time for the opening Tuesday morning, July 2, and they'll be around until the new amateur rodeo champions are crowned at the final contest Thursday night.

Late additions to the program include a girls' calf-roping contest for each afternoon and night rodeo performance. Entries will be by invitation and cash purses will be awarded for the lowest average time. Another new feature is a square dance on horseback to be staged by a team from Throckmorton on the night of July 4.

Lending a new aspect to the Texas Cowboy Reunion this year is the first official show of the American Quarter Association to be held during the celebration, with $1,000 in cash prizes offered in four classes. Another new departure is the gaited horse show with $480 in prizes.

The Reunion will open officially with the grand parade at 11 a. m. Tuesday, though at that hour the first rodeo performance, starting at 8 a. m., will have been completed. The first meeting of the oldtime cowboys' association will be held at 1 p. m. The daily schedule includes rodeo performances at 8 a. m., 2 p. m., and 8 p. m.; square dances at the Coombes Roundup hall and modern dances at the Sponsors' pavilion each night at 10 o'clock and chuck wagon dinner for oldtime cowboys at the Will Rogers Bunkhouse at noon.

The old timers' contest, biggest free attraction, will be held at the Coombes Roundup hall at 8:30 a. m. July 4.

Enlistments in Army Are Now Rolling In

Fourteen applications for enlistment in the United States Army were taken June 10 and 11 by Sergeant William J. Hess, army recruiting officer now stationed in Brownwood. The recruiting office opened Tuesday to serve Central West Texas and the 14 applications had come in up to noon Tuesday.

Many young men were visiting the recruiting office, located in the foyer of the Brownwood Memorial hall on Baker street.

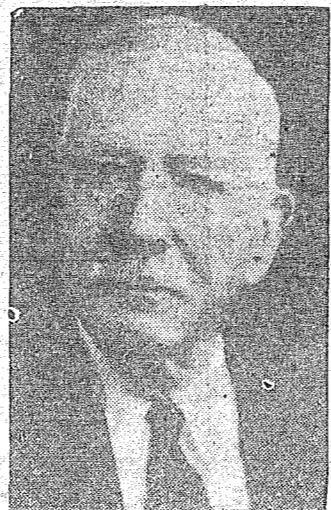

Those who filled out applications took them home to be signed or to obtain proof of age.

Youths under 21 must obtain the signature of their parent or guardian to the applications, while those 21 or over are required to produce some proof of age. A poll tax receipt, National Guard discharge or similar certificate showing age of applicant should be presented by those over 21.

Enlistments are now being taken for the artillery at Fort Sill, Okla., but many of those now enlisting for that branch of the service will probably transfer to other branches as openings occur.

Those enlisting in any branch of the army are eligible for transfer to other branches as openings occur.

Ten days after the debut of nylon hose for women on the nation's market, a leading trade journal declared the new product "an unqualified success."

Soil District To Elect

Leaders in the Central Colorado Soil Conservation District are anxious to secure a full vote in Saturday's election for supervisors. Since there is no contest indicated in the election, many people may overlook voting.

Leaders in the movement point out that the State Board will judge the interest in the district as shown by the votes cast. Hence they are desirous of securing as large a vote as possible.

The Soil Conservation Service and the State Soil Conservation Board will give first consideration to those districts which indicate that the people are desirous of having the work started. No community is forced to do soil conservation work. If they want help they will ask for it.

As most people understand, no money is available for holding elections, and all election officers have to serve without pay. Voting places in Coleman County will be located at the following places: Coleman, county court house; Santa Anna, City Hall; Glen Cove; Novice, high school gymnasium; Burkett, W. O. W. building; Muzelle, high school gymnasium; Talpa, First State Bank.

Three election officers are disqualified to serve in Saturday's election for supervisors of the Central Colorado Soil Conservation District. Y. B. Johnson has accepted federal employment, and Andy Broyles of Talpa and Sam DeBusk of Burkett are both candidates for supervisors in the election. Carey Jameson will take Mr. Johnson's place. No information has been received as to who will serve in the places of Mr. DeBusk and Mr. Broyles.

SIXTEEN COLEMAN COUNTY SCHOOLS STANDARDIZED

The office of the County Superintendent this week received from State Supt. L. A. Woods certificates of standardization for sixteen rural schools of Coleman County. This brings the schools of the county to a high standard, with three fully accredited high schools, six fully accredited rural high schools, and sixteen standardized elementary schools. This leaves only three schools taking care of a total of less than sixty-five pupils, not accredited or standardized, whereas nearly six thousand other boys and girls have the privilege of attending accredited schools or standardized schools.

In order to become standardized a school must meet a high standard in many ways. Each school is checked on more than thirty-five points, must employ teachers with three or more years of college training, must maintain a school of not less than eight months, and at the close of the school the pupils must pass a standard test on their academic work. On an average the boys and girls in Coleman County were given eight months and three weeks of school this year. After a school has been standardized for three consecutive years it is granted a certificate of permanent standardization. However, if at any time the standard of such a school fall below the requirements, the certificate of approval may be withdrawn from the school. A standardized school is approved on the State budget for one month more time than a school not having standardization.

The following schools are permanently standardized: Liberty, Mrs. S. H. Duggins Jr., Teacher; Cleveland John David Harper and Lonella Taylor; Indian Creek, Mrs. Ruth Linsey; Cross Roads, T. R. Damron, Mrs. J. H. Greenway, Aline Harper, Esther Sides and Mrs. A. G. Edgerton;

Finish 126 Mattresses

In Coleman County 129 mattresses have been made and the community mattress centers are closed until more cotton is received from the F. S. C. C.

Applications to receive cotton mattress making materials has passed the 100,000 mark with 119,079 filed in 203 Texas counties which are participating in the Department of Agriculture's program for aiding low income farm families. Of this number 95,363 have already been certified by county agriculture conservation committees as eligible to receive cotton and ticking. Of 1050 applications received in Coleman County, 960 have been certified by the county AAA committee.

To date 10,069 mattresses have been made in the 46 counties to which cotton and ticking have been delivered. These materials are furnished by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation.

To facilitate the program, 1,421 community centers have been set up in Texas where applicants may gather to work cooperatively on mattresses for themselves and their neighbors. Six mattress centers have been opened in Coleman County. Other centers will be opened as soon as the cotton arrives in Burkett, Valera, Shields and Talpa.

In each mattress center in Coleman County home demonstration club women are serving as community chairmen. They are receiving no pay for their services, but are everywhere being recognized as good neighbors in their communities.

MORE ABOUT LIGHT PLANTS

A news story of interest to all Santa Anna this week was the account of a municipal light plant election at Wellington, a town twice the size of Santa Anna. Voters there rejected the proposed plant and its promoters by a vote of 252 against and 198 for. The significant fact is this:

If Wellington, with twice the population and therefore twice the revenue, considered such a plant impractical and inadvisable, wouldn't the same be true in Santa Anna?

The election was held in Wellington on Tuesday to vote on a $175,000 bond issue which they proposed to spend for a light plant which would have competition and could expect no more than half the total business in Wellington. Tax-paying citizens opposed the plant on the ground that, in spite of all the promises made by the promoters, it eventually would become a tax burden. Experience in other towns, they pointed out, showed that payments on such plants are met by transfer of funds from the water department, high rates for street lights, water pumping and other city work, which are paid from city tax money and by replacing worn-out machinery by direct tax levies on the people.

In spite of the fact Wellington has around 4,000 population, the 1940 report of the Federal Power Commission shows that we enjoy the identical electric rates and even a smaller minimum charge $1 in Santa Anna as compared to $1.50 in Wellington.

The records also show that we actually pay less to the light company than the citizens of Wellington. The average home in Santa Anna pays 8 1-2 cents a day, compared to 11 cents in Wellington. This is because we use less since the rates are the same.

We call attention to the Wellington election because it is food for thought. The election was called hastily and without time for sober reflection by the people. The promoters, oil engine people who profit from the sale of such plants, poles, lines, meters and other equipment, tried to stampede the people into voting for their proposition. The people of Wellington had had experience with a municipal light plant. They sold it in 1926. But they remembered the poor service and the breakdowns. They remembered too that the $200,000 they got for the city plant in 1926 was used for other purposes and that the city still owes $29,000 on a plant that doesn't exist and that tax payers today are paying interest on this debt.

Our city commission wisely has given more time to investigating all the various angles. They have allowed the people time to "think it over" before calling an election—which we believe is the proper way to go about helping our town. If it is a good thing for Santa Anna, then we should vote on it. But even before an expensive election is called, we should know that it will benefit our town instead of becoming a tax burden and a political football for future city officials.

SEVERAL COMMUNITIES IN Tennessee that suffered millions in tax losses by kicking out highly taxed electric companies and replacing them with largely tax-exempt TVA power have been asking Congress for federal aid to offset their tax losses. Why should the federal government recompense local communities when they deliberately destroy their tax-paying industries. The obvious answer is, it shouldn't—either make up the deficits by raising the rates of public power plants to pay the taxes, or raise the tax rate on remaining property. This would also raise a howl.

"Why don't you do like some of the others?" enquired a gentleman holding down the side walk Monday afternoon when we were caught by a traffic light. A left turn on a red light is an invitation to disaster. Our pet peeve is that coming into Wallis Avenue from the north the last 40 times we were faced with a green light only three times. Normally it should be an even break, but we had almost a 13 to 1 against us. That's not proper.

National Economic Highlights

The surrender of Paris, which was followed almost at once by the collapse of French military resistance, was more than a military disaster for the French Republic, more than a great victory for Hitler's incredible war machine. It was a symbol of cataclysmic changes that are taking place in the world as we live in. For Paris, with London, has long been associated in men's minds with freedom—with all that democracy means. And democracy is what Hitler, as he said and wrote time and again, is out to destroy. Paris is—or used to be—a living example of all that Nazism abhors.

Little by little we are coming to realize that this is not a war in the traditional sense. It is, instead, a revolution with the most far-reaching purposes imaginable. There have always been victors and vanquished in war. But once the peace treaties were drawn, the world went on much as it did before. The victorious powers did not attempt to force a government, a philosophy of life of their own choosing, on the conquered. Few are able to believe that if Hitler wins he will be satisfied with such rewards as financial reparations, the restoration of the pre-war German colonies and similar material gains. For Hitler, as Mein Kampf vividly indicates, is consumed by two ambitions. One is to make the German race master of all Europe and perhaps, in the fullness of time, the world. The other is to destroy the capitalist system, liberalism in government, and the democratic process. We have many an object lesson in the countries he has so far taken. In every instance freedom of press and speech and all rights of protest, have been abrogated 100 per cent. While the forms of local government are permitted to exist, all important decisions and policies are made in Berlin. Revolt of any kind against Nazi orders is punished with the utmost severity. And racial minorities, especially the Jews, are ruthlessly oppressed.

Men who have had contact with high German circles have lately been describing what they believe a Hitler victory would mean to Europe, and to the balance of the world. They say that the Fuehrer envisions a Germanic Europe in which only the German, the master race, would be permitted to bear arms. A European customs union, completely German controlled would be established. The smaller nations would disappear, or would exist as mere geographical entities, without power or real meaning. Currencies would be dominated by Germany, and Germany would establish terms on which the trade between peoples could be carried on. The gold standard, of course, would cease to exist. It would be replaced by some sort of barter system. The "superior" peoples of Europe—the British, the French, the Scandinavians, etc.—would command a high standard of living, while the "inferior" peoples, such as the Slavs would be much in the position of slaves, performing the hard labor and receiving in return just enough food and clothing and lodging and medical attention to keep them alive and able to work.

So far as this hemisphere is concerned, there are two theories. One is that, after Hitler had consolidated Europe, he would attack the Americans with military force. The other is that he has no such plans—which is what he said in his recent interview with an American news correspondent. The second theory has many authoritative adherents. Hitler, they say, feels that the Americans would have to come to terms with him whether they wished to or not, in order to dispose of their surplus commodities and manufactures abroad. The Americas, he reasons, must have foreign trade—and that necessity would drive them to join in whatever system of commerce he establishes. Our gold—and at the moment we have some 60 per cent of all the world's gold—would be useful for filling teeth and manufacturing jewelry.

One note of optimism is occasionally sounded. Even if Hitler wins an overwhelming victory in Europe, some hopefuls say he will not be able to put his plans into effect. This is based on the fact that all the empires won by conquest in the past have invariably collapsed sooner or later of their own weight. Conquered people are not co-operative—a tremendous part of the conqueror's energies and resources and man power must be given to the policing them. And in time, the conqueror grows rich and soft.

So much for speculation. This seems sure—tomorrow's world, no matter who wins this war, will be a vastly different place than the world of today. There will be the authorities, be famines, depressions, constant social and economic upheavels. The future for all nations is far from bright.

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sport articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles. Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best. THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 20c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

THE BOY who "HAS NO FUTURE"

He is an American boy. There are fifteen million like him in America; as young, as eager, as promising. Yet some people feel sorry for these boys. They tell us American frontiers are gone. They say there is no future for youth in this country. Do you believe such statements? We people of your electric company don't believe them, and we'll tell you why: Fifty years ago the electric industry had barely begun its existence. There were no automobile, radio and aviation industries. Coming right up to date, here are a few of the things we didn't have as recently as 1930: Streamline trains. Transoceanic air service. New plastics and resins. Synthetic rubber. Synthetic vitamins. Sulfanilamide and sulfapyridine, drugs that are revolutionizing medicine. There are always new frontiers and new futures in America. In good times and bad, Americans work to make the good things of life better and cheaper. The employees of your electric company are typical: their efforts have helped make it possible for this company to give far better service than it could give twelve or fifteen years ago, and to charge about half what was charged then. The men of your electric company were once American boys. They believed in their own futures and the future of their country. They worked to make the future better for themselves and their fellow citizens. They hope today's young Americans will not listen to pessimism, because they know that every American has a future if he sincerely believes he has.

Try Your Home Town First

Your Money Pays Taxes in Other Towns When You Trade Elsewhere

Get Some Benefits From Your Tax Money

It is estimated that when you spend $100 away from your own home town that approximately $8 goes to the upkeep of the other town's schools in tax money. Why not pay your own school taxes—improve your own municipality by trading at home with your local firms? Your money spent away from home only helps the other town to build and maintain improvements that do not benefit you or your children. When you help the other town progress it is an evident fact that you are giving the other town a splendid opportunity to boast of its progressiveness over your town at your expense and disadvantage. It is only natural for any civic minded citizen to be proud of his home town. To have a progressive, live town you must have good business. To have good business you must support your local business firms. The business and professional men of Santa Anna are anxious to cooperate at your suggestion of better service and a more adequate supply of merchandise for your convenience. Large stocks and more service require greater investments and the local merchant must have your support to maintain a volume that will justify larger investments.

WASHINGTON SNAPSHOTS

A Weekly News Letter From James Preston, of Washington.

More and more Washingtonians are being impressed by the experiences of France and England which show so graphically the dire results of following idealistic policies too long.

Americans, say Washingtonians, are getting realistic about national defense. They want, and intend to get, airplanes and ships and guns and trained men to make the country invulnerable to attack by a foreign aggressor.

But the thing that worries some Washingtonians is this: France and England have known since about 1935, if not earlier, that they should be preparing for a supreme effort to defend life and liberty. Had they gone to work full speed then, with all groups cooperating to the fullest extent, they would have been well prepared when the test came.

Yet, these commentators add, France and England had to preserve their "social gains"—to the last ditch. France, for example, under a socialistic leadership thought that Frenchmen were good enough to work only 30 hours a week yet still produce the tanks and armored cars and munitions then needed.

So a 30-hour-week was the French legal standard. They stuck to it until it became evident that idealism must be replaced by realism. Then it was too late. They could not, in the short time remaining, build the machinery necessary to defend their nation.

It isn't that these Washington commentators want to "sacrifice" all social gains by wiping them off the statute books. They believe America can still meet its demands without that kind of "sacrifice." But they believe that some of them could be eased a bit under the circumstances.

What good are these gains, these commentators ask when a man's home is destroyed by a bomb, when he is shot down by a cannon fired from a tank, and when his wife and children flee down a highway inferno to an unknown future?

What good does it do a dying man to remember that he once got double pay for working over 40 hours a week? And what comfort, they continue, is it to a former leader of the French nation who sees his people ground under mechanical superiority to remember that he maintained all "social gains" to the end?

There are many reasons for discussions of these questions. One, which brings the point home to Washington, is the fact that despite a demand from the public, from the House of Representatives, and from one important labor organization, a few Senators are still trying to block Wagner Act amendments.

The Wagner Act has been on the books about five years. It hasn't restored industrial peace as it was supposed to do. The latest official report shows that in a single week the Labor Department's conciliation service was called on in labor disputes involving 7,918 workers in key defense industries.

As these Washingtonians put it the establishment of legal protection for collective bargaining was a social gain which should not be wiped out. But should collective bargaining be encouraged to the point that a few agitators, and perhaps even aliens, can make continually increasing demands for higher wages and shorter hours until rearmament is crippled?

Another factor is that Congress is now becoming conscious of the cost of things. It is working on a billion dollar tax bill. It is getting afraid that next March when the time comes to pay the heavier income taxes, people won't even like the phrase "super-tax" as much as they do now.

Consequently, they wonder if steps shouldn't be taken to hold down the cost of the defense by far the greater portion of the cost of airplanes and tanks and the like is for labor. They hope that the present flurry of strikes is no indication of what will follow. If it is, they say, then something drastic might have to be done.

In the meanwhile, many insist that such an eventuality might be forestalled if the Smith bill amending the Wagner Act which passed the House by a two-to-one majority, is promptly passed by the Senate.

Santa Anna H. D. Club Host to Area I Meeting

"Storage space in the kitchen" was stressed by Miss Christene Trowbridge, county agent, in a meeting of Area I, Friday, June 21, at the city hall with the Santa Anna club serving as host.

The chief points in building storage spaces are: "A place for everything, and everything in its place." Cabinet height should be within your own reach, and plenty of working surface for easy accessibility. Doors adequately hung are essential and removable, adjustable and narrow shelves are more convenient. Paraffin or wax rubbed on slide or roller of cabinet drawers make them slide in and out more easily.

Bins in a cabinet are useless unless made from metal with a lid attached to door of cabinet. The slide in bread board is unsanitary and collects dust; space for bread boards and trays should be included in the vertical dimension of a cabinet. For health's sake, build your cabinets and storage facilities mouse proof, continued Miss Trowbridge, in the discussion.

Mrs. G. R. Bivens, Buffalo, Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Mrs. C. A. Curry, Liberty, 10 Santa Anna members and two visitors, Mrs. A. L. Oder and Mrs. J. B. Biggs of Austin, were present for the meeting.

Church Societies

Woman's Council

The Woman's Council of the Christian Church is moving forward with its work. Our Bible book reviews are creating quite a bit of interest. Mrs. L. O. Garrett will review the book of Judges for us next Monday afternoon at 3:30 at the church. Visitors are always welcome.

On Monday afternoon of last week Mrs. E. H. Wylie gave us a most interesting review of the book of Joshua. We felt we had really crossed the Jordan, stormed the walls of Jericho, and entered the promised land with Joshua. The singing of Jordan's Stormy Banks at the beginning and Beulah Land at the close added to the effectiveness of the reviews we are studying Revelation and have the best help obtainable for the work.

In between these studies our women are busy canning fruits the Juliette Fowler Orphans and vegetables, and sewing for home. Sun suits and other garments for the tots are being made.
