HULLS

"SHE LIVED!" — and helped others live — and her death was such that now she will live through eternity. It was always a pleasure to visit and talk, or rather listen, to Mrs. May Dunn. Her philosophy of life was such that each day was a new beginning, and there was something new and beautiful to discover.

Today, I am certain, Mrs. Dunn is discovering a new and beautiful world in the hereafter.

Mr. Baker:

I just want to tell you how happy I am because you had the picture and article in your Progress about Mrs. Laura South of San Angelo. She was my first teacher when I started to school. I was six or seven years old and my father had to pay the large sum of $1.00 a month as I was not old enough to go free. My sister and I went to the Grandview School about five miles from Gorman.

I wrote a letter to Mrs. South and she wrote that she remembered me very well. That was before she married Mr. A. Howell. I had often thought of her but supposed she had passed away. Two others of her pupils at that time are all I can think of. One lives in Abilene and the other one was in Weatherford the last time I heard from her.

Thanks again for the picture and article about her.

Farmer Finds New Rainbow

(From the Dallas Times Herald, Ot Hampton, Staff Writer.)

E. L. Autry looks like any other farmer.

His face is weathered and worn by years in the sun and his khaki britches are faded and torn.

He's seen green years and lean years and a lot of in-between years since he first put his hands to a plow 40 years ago out on the Texas plains.

But that's not what this story is about.

The unusual thing about Autry is the down-to-earth way he pursues happiness.

It's his thing and he goes after it with gusto.

Ever since he sold his cotton and grain farm at Tahoka, 29 miles south of Lubbock, he's been chasing a new rainbow. And he's pretty sure he's latched on to one that's big enough, and bright enough, to last him the rest of his days.

"I think I've found what I've been looking for," he drawled, gazing out over a patch of green corn at Coe Memorial Home for Children on old Highway 77 south of Dallas. "In a couple of years,

I think we'll be able to grow enough food here to feed all these little kids."

Autry, who took the job as "resident farmer" at the orphanage early this spring, has turned a barren field around the back of the orphanage into a productive, fertile farm.

"It's miraculous what he's done to this land," said Sister Juanita Hope, administrator at the privately supported orphanage. "When he came here and volunteered for this job, we didn't even have a garden, much less a corn and grain crop, a flock of chickens and a herd of cattle.

"But look at us now. We're surrounded by growing things. The Lord is answering another one of our prayers."

Asked why he would sell a successful farm of his own to take over a practically gratuitous job at the orphanage, Autry pushed his faded summer hat back and said, "I felt this was the work of the Lord. The Bible says take care of the poor and the orphans. That's what my wife (Mrs. Autry cooks for the kids) and I are trying to do."

As he talked about his hopes for making the acreage around the home productive enough to feed his new-found family, wide-eyed kids who've never had the pleasure of pulling a plump radish out of the ground, or of watching a baby chick wiggle out of its shell, hung on to him and wondered at his words.

He was teaching and they were learning. It was plain to see they needed each other.

In the short time he's been at the home, he's planted 4 acres of sweet corn, 50 acres of milo grain, 3 acres of vegetables and 50 acres of mixed forage hay. He's also brought in a flock of laying hens and a small herd of beef and dairy cattle.

The well-managed little orphanage is beginning to look like the Swiss Family Robinson's place, where everybody helps everybody else.

"The older boys are already volunteering to drive the tractor, and the small ones want to gather the eggs," Autry said, proud as any father. "I guess I'll let them."

No one doubts he will, either. This is just one of the hundred or so ways he pursues happiness.

Know Your School

G. W. MAXFIELD, Supt.

According to the state laws set forth, all parents or guardians are to receive a letter from the school acknowledging the lunch program in

Some families find it difficult to pay for these lunches. If you can't afford to pay for the lunches and feel that your child should have free lunches, fill out an application and file it with the school. Before filling out the application, check the income scale below which shows how much money you can earn according to the size of the family and still be eligible for free lunches. If you make more money than is shown on the scale and have been sick, have big doctor bills, or anything else that would make it difficult to pay for lunches, go ahead and make application and indicate the hardship on the form. Some help may be given in these cases.

If your child receives free lunches, he or she will be treated in such a manner that other students will not know they are on free lunches.

Labor Day September 3, 1973

Labor Day is a unique holiday, observed as a national holiday only in the United States. The day was established by national law as a salute to the working person, and to Americans the holiday heralds a change in life style as it usually marks the end of vacation season, the start of another school year, and a seasonal change. These words from The Living Bible refer to work.

"What does one really get from hard work? I have thought about this in connection with all the various kinds of work God has given to mankind. Everything is appropriate in its own time. But though God has planted eternity in the hearts of men, even so, man cannot see the whole scope of God's work from beginning to end. So I conclude that, first, there is nothing better for a man than to be happy and to enjoy himself as long as he can; and second, that he should eat and drink and enjoy the fruits of his labors, for these are gifts from God. . . .

The man who works hard sleeps well whether he eats little or much, but the rich must worry and suffer insomnia. . . .

A lazy man is brother to the saboteur. . . . Remember to observe the Sabbath as a holy day. Six days a week are for your daily duties and your regular work, but the seventh day is a day of Sabbath rest before the Lord your God."

USER FEE BILL FOR LAKES AND PARKS PASSED

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Omar Burleson calls attention to the fact that the President has just signed a bill clarifying the collection of user fees by the Army Corps of Engineers at lakes and reservoirs.

Last February the Corps of Engineers announced its intention to charge fees at undeveloped projects within its control which had not previously been designated as fee areas. This would have included several lakes and recreation areas within the 17th Congressional District. As expected, public reaction was unfavorable. Burleson and 22 other Congressmen co-sponsored legislation designed to end the controversy and prohibit the collection of fees at these undeveloped areas.

 The new law, P. L. 93-81, establishes requirements at projects in order for fees to be collected. User fees may not be charged for access to or use of any campground which does not include the following: showers, flush restrooms, paved or dustproofed access, visitor protection controls, picnic tables and fireplaces, designated tent or trailer spaces, refuse containers and sanitary disposal stations, and potable water.

 User fees will be permitted at highly developed facilities which require the continuous presence of personnel for maintenance and supervision.

A lighting specialist tells what to look for when you're buying light bulbs.

Here are some suggestions that may help you in the wise selection of light bulbs for your home.

1. All general service incandescent bulbs now have three ratings on their packaging. (A) Lumens tell you about the light output or performance of the bulb. (B) Watts tell you how much electricity is needed to produce that light. (C) Bulb life is stated as an average, and is an indication of the hours of use you may expect before the bulb burns out.

2. When the amount of light is more important than bulb life — for reading, studying or working — choose a standard bulb that provides the most lumens for its wattage.

3. Where bulbs are difficult to change and when the amount of light needed is not so important, choose an extended life bulb. You'll get longer bulb life, but you'll give up some light. Considering two bulbs of the same wattage, longer life means less light. You give up one for the other.

4. In some cases you can take advantage of the fact that one large bulb may give more light at lower cost than a group of smaller bulbs. For instance, one 100-watt bulb gives more light than three 40-watt bulbs; it uses less energy and costs less to buy, too. Be sure to check the fixture for its maximum bulb wattage rating.

5. Use fluorescent lamps where you can. They give more lumens per watt and have longer life. They can also produce a color of light comparable to incandescent bulbs.

If you're building or remodeling, we'll be glad to help with your plans and show you how to get efficient use of electricity for lighting. There is no charge for this help, and you can arrange it by calling our office. It's our job at Texas Electric to help you get the most value from your electric service.

Ask for our free booklet, "Tips to help you use electricity more efficiently throughout your home."

Hearing Tests Are Important

If you have a hearing problem of any kind you owe it to yourself to have an Electronic Hearing test made to find why and what can be done to help you before it is too late. The tests are free and will only take about 20 minutes of your time. We check your ears for packed wax, the tubes that let your ears breathe, then with the machine we check your hearing nerve, (bone reading) a r conduction, (outside sounds) then measure how much sound the ear will take. We can pinpoint your problem and explain in plain English what can be done to help you, then you make your own decision. We never try to high-pressure you into buying anything. There are thousands of people today suffering from hard of hearingness, (even some that wear Hearing Aids) just because they waited too late to do something about it . . . don't let this happen to you.

Mr. Joe Treadway will hold his regular Hearing Aid Workshop at the City Library at City Hall in De Leon on Monday, August 20th from 10:30 A.M. til noon. We invite you to come in for your free test.

We do repair service on most makes of Aids, and have a full service on cleaning, tubes, batteries for your Aid, and can always save Mr. Treadway you money. We are Licensed by the State of Texas to fit and Dispensing of Hearing Aids. We are always close by when you need us. We are in the Stephenville office, (Skipper Real Estate Bldg.) every Thursday, and in the Hamilton office every Friday to run special tests and assist you in every way.

tion increases and with individual incomes up, consumption has soared. This does not mean, of course, that everyone can afford it and is going to pay any price demanded, but it is the average and the average has to be depended upon.

SOME MEAT WHOLESALERS ARE CALLING THE MEAT SALES in some places as coming from the "black market." Others prefer to say it is only, as yet, a "gray market" but predict that transactions in this area will become more numerous. Other ways are being found in the trade to compensate for what they can sell a steak for and what it would bring without a ceiling price by simply letting the steak carry a tale that somehow appears on the scales.

BY WHATEVER NAME, REPORS OF ILLEGAL BEEF SALES and purchasers are numerous and are predicted to increase as cattle slaughterers and meat supplies shrink under the Administration's continuing beef price freeze.

ONE GIMMICK BEING WORKED IS THE PRACTICE of buying cattle in the United States, shipping them to Canada for processing, then selling dressed carcasses in the United States as "imported" meat which is uncontrolled by Phase IV ceilings. The legality of such transactions is under discussion at the moment. The chief legal advisor of the Cost of Living Council is reported to consider the finished beef brought back from Canada as illegal and not "imported" if it originates in the United States livestock markets.

THERE ARE OTHER

"GRAY" MARKET TRANSACTIONS, some of which appear to be legal, others questionable and some apparently illegal. When no objection is raised by either the purchaser or the seller, it is pretty difficult to get a enforcement. It becomes sort of a "hear no evil and see no evil" approach. If the purchaser of a steak wants it enough and has the money, he is not likely to pester the retailer to bring the price down. Like some other unpopular laws, most everyone involved quietly avoids discussing the legality of the transaction and, in instances, does not really want to know.

OTHER METHODS OF AVOIDANCE ARE REPORTED such as ordering 1,000 pounds of choice beef cuts at ceiling prices but being billed for additional poundage to make up for costs not allowed by the ceiling.

THE PRACTICALITIES OF THE SITUATION must cope with ways to circumvent the price ceiling. Meat wholesalers are telling the Cost of Living Council numerous ways to get around their regulations. One, for instance, says that he can order choice, well trimmed brisket at a certain price. He will be told that they are out of it but that they have some "special brisket" available at 20c over the ceiling price for well trimmed meat. So, the purchaser gets the brisket but it is the same well trimmed quality available before.

THE SERIOUS PART OF THE WHOLE BUSINESS is that cattle will be held off the market, beef processors will curtail plant operations to wait to see what happens. Shortages follow and the

18 YEAR OLDS MUST STILL REGISTER

Selective Service Director Byron C. Pepitone today reminded the nation's young men that even though there is no draft, they still are required to register with Selective Service at the time of their 18th birthday.

"I am concerned that many of our young men may fail to register when they reach 18 years of age because they are unaware of their responsibility to Selective Service," Mr. Pepitone said. It would be unfortunate if a young man should break the law because the proper information has not been made available to him," he added.

Failure to register is a violation of the law, Mr. Pepitone emphasized, and could result in prosecution by the Department of Justice.

The President's authority to induct men into the service expired on July 1. The Administration does not plan to seek an extension of this authority, and the Defense Department is relying on volunteer enlistments to supply military manpower.

"A very important point that has been missed in most reporting on the cessation of inductions is the fact that the Military Selective Service Act scarcity runs up prices. Controls can not go on forever but when they are lifted a short supply will run prices still higher."

THIS LETTER (COLUMN) WILL BE SUSPENDED UNTIL SEPTEMBER when Congress reconvenes after recess.

remains in force," Mr. Pepitone said. "The Act states that all young men have a continuing legal obligation to register with Selective Service at age 18. They have 60 days to do this, beginning 30 days before their 18th birthday. Men not registering within that period may be considered as violators."

"I would urge the parents and friends of all young men who reach 18 to remind them of their legal responsibility to register with Selective Service," Mr. Pepitone said. "They should register at the nearest local board or with a registrar for the Selective Service System who resides in the young man's community."

The Selective Service System currently is undergoing a reorganization as it moves into a standby system of operation. The number of local board administrative sites is being reduced to 925 nationwide from a total of 2,700 which were in existence in December, 1972. Widespread appointments of volunteer registrars and advisors to registrants are being made in most communities throughout the country so that young men may obtain guidance and be able to register without the need for traveling to the local board administrative sites. With no inductions, few problems are expected to arise for registrants which would require visits to the local board administrative sites.

Mr. Pepitone explained that young men have three legal responsibilities: (1) they must register at age 18, (2) they must notify their local Selective Service boards when they change addresses, and (3) they must carry their draft cards with them until their liability expires, which for most men today is age 26. Selective Service must maintain an available manpower pool in the event a national emergency prompts Congress to authorize the resumption of inductions into the armed forces.

"Registration with Selective Service takes less than five minutes," Pepitone remarked.

"The penalties under the law for failure to register are such that to avoid registration is a risk which all parents and young men alike should think about," he stated. Approximately two million young men reach age 18 each year.

Registrar for the Gorman area is Graydon W. Baze at the Gorman Post Office.

"KNOW WHAT TO LOOK FOR WHEN YOU BUY TEXAS EGGS," Agriculture Commissioner John C. White says. With egg prices on the rise, the more a consumer knows about purchasing eggs the better buy she will make. Because size and grade or quality are not related, a Jumbo or a Medium egg may be Grade AA, A or B. According to information from the Texas Department of Agriculture, Grade AA eggs cover a small area with a thick, high white and a firm, high yolk. Grade A covers a moderate area. It has a reasonably high, thick white and firm, high yolk. Grade B covers a wide area with a small amount of thick white and a flattened, enlarged yolk. Grade B eggs are better for scrambling, baking and combining with other foods than for poaching, frying and cooking in the shell. Egg sizes include Jumbo, which weighs a minimum of 30 ounces a dozen; Extra Large, 27 ounces; Large, 24 ounces; Medium, 21 ounces, and Small, 18 ounces.
