PRODUCERS, COMMODITY LEADERS SERVE AS ADVISORS - D. B. Warren, of Gorman, second from left, president of the Southwestern Peanut Growers' Associaion; George Toalson, Pearsall, chairman of the Texas Peanut Producers Board; and Wayne Eaves of Gorman, executive secretary of the TPPB, were among key agricultural producers and commodity leaders who met at Texas A&M University recently. They are serving in an advisory role to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in developing sound educational programs in each of the state's economically important commodities aimed at maximizing agricultural production and income. These leaders provide a source of valuable and timely information to Extension's interdisciplinary committees of specialists for each commodity or group of commodities of economic importance to Texas. Each committee is staffed by Extension specialists whose work has direct bearing on the production, marketing or processing of the commodity. Frequent committee meetings are held to review and update programs and activities as necessary. The advisors assisted the Peanut Committee headed by chairman pro-tem Dr. John Chapin of Stephenville, Extension area agronomist, left.

Tips to help you get more efficiency from your home heating system.

Insulation is important and can pay for itself by lowering your heating (and cooling) costs. You can save as much as 20% or more on energy consumption if your home is insulated to meet FHA standards. Engineers usually recommend a minimum of six inches of insulation for the ceiling, four inches for the outside walls and, if construction is pierand-beam, two inches under the floor. Keep the filters clean. Dirty filters restrict air flow and cause the equipment to work harder and use more electricity.

A lower thermostat setting will result in less energy use. The setting of 65°-68° has been recommended for energy conservation. If you are going to be away, turn your thermostat down to a lower setting or turn it off unless freezing weather could damage plumbing and appliances.

Weatherstrip doors and windows to help seal in the heat you're paying for. Keep the damper tightly closed when the fireplace is not in use to prevent air leakage.
