

School Opens With Good Enrollment

With the opening of school last Monday Gorman seemed to take on new life. To see the young folks scurrying to and from school, somehow seems to kindle a spark of enthusiasm in the business world—anyway, some of their interest and vigor, together with the cool weather we are experiencing has added something to the business tempo, and all will no doubt profit from them.

While the enrollment is not as large as it will be a little later, reports are that prospects for the best year's work ever seems assured. Some of the pupils from the rural sections are busy now as in some localities the peanut crop is being harvested. However, in a short time work will begin in earnest and all look forward to a year of real accomplishment.

Red Cross To Begin Work Here

The building which has been used for the Sewing Project will be used now for work done here by the local Red Cross. Mrs. E. W. Kimble, appointed by Mrs. Kimbrell of Eastland, county chairman of this work, will be assisted by Mrs. Gates, and the room will be open every Wednesday from two to four p. m. There is a call for more sweaters for those in the service of Uncle Sam, and those who can knit and would like to have a part in that work are urged to meet at the old sewing room. Those who do not know how to knit, but who wish to learn will be given instructions by Mrs. Kimble or Mrs. Gates.

There may be some who would rather sew; if so there are sport shirts for boys to be made. Thread for knitting and the material for shirts are on hand. The room will be open Wednesdays of each week from two to four o'clock.

Mrs. Stevens Continues to Improve

Mrs. Stevens is reported to be improving. Her recovery has been very slow, but her daughter, Mrs. Greer, of Lockney, who has been with her the past week, states her condition has been as good as could have been expected. She and her little daughter, Sarah Beth, are here for an indefinite stay with her mother.

American Legions to Meet

A business meeting of Eastland county's American Legion will be held Friday night in their hall in Eastland. A large attendance is expected.

Cotton Growers Receive Trade-In Stamps

About one-half million Texas cotton growers will exchange an estimated $8,000,000 of cotton stamps this year if they use all for which they qualify, according to B. F. Vance, administrative officer of the state AAA.

Cotton growers who reduce below the smaller of their 1940 planted acres or 1941 cotton allotment are eligible to receive stamps at 10 cents per pound times the normal yield on the acres voluntarily reduced. The stamps may be exchanged for cotton goods at cooperating stores. This supplementary program, for which $25,000,000 was allotted, is designed to reduce cotton acreage still further than provided under the 1941 agricultural program.

Due to excessive rains at planting time and floods over the state after cotton had been planted, a larger percentage of Texas cotton growers are qualified for stamps than had been anticipated, Vance said.

The Principles Of Peace

By Rev. Will H. Muston
Fruita, Colorado

The following article was mailed us this week from Rev. Will Muston of Fruita, Colorado, where he holds a pastorate. He will be remembered by residents living here some thirty years ago as he was a student of H. N. C., active in all phases of school life. It has a note of interest which should have an appeal for all.

Desire for peace: No individual or nation will have peace unless peace is desired.

Regeneration: Work of the divine spirit which changes evil desires of individuals, and the heart of nations to righteousness.

Education: If more money were spent on peace education the world over and less on war, we would in time have peace.

Prayer: Prayer for peace may be a most effective weapon in the hands of God-fearing and peace-loving people.

Love (of neighbor): Anyone who loves God supremely will love his neighbor as himself, and so have peace.

Deeds (of kindness): The Golden Rule consists not simply in negative goodness, but in deeds of positive kindness which are bound to produce peace.

Federation (cooperation, reciprocity): If nations were "laborers together with God," working for the highest good of all concerned, universal peace would be the inevitable result.

As a practical example of two countries working together, think of Canada and the United States. Of course they join each other on the same continent. But if two or three nations can live at peace with each other—even though they are close together—a half-dozen, or even 100 nations in our small world could form a federation of nations, as Lord Lothian advocated. And this will be done when nations desire peace by determining to practice the Golden Rule.

Right now nothing is left but to support our nation's program for defense. But in doing this let us not do any less for moral and spiritual defense. "You can Defend America" has some wonderful suggestions and practical plans for total defense; but after all practical Christianity, put into operation, is what the world needs today. The principles of peace are based on Christianity.

When the present war is over nations will be willing and ready for peace. And, while the U. S. of America is only half Christian—nevertheless Christianity is ab-

Hands Across The Pacific

America's sympathy to war torn China in her struggle for democracy was symbolized in Dallas by the handclasp of Nathan Adams, chairman of the Texas campaign for United China Relief, and little Maria Yium, 3, youngest member of Dallas' Chinese colony. The state drive for funds to provide medical aid, food and other needs of China's desperate war victims is being launched with a goal of $200,000 toward the national fund of $5,000,000. Contributions should be sent to Mr. Adams, care of the First National Bank, Dallas.

Fort Worth Doctor Turns Author

(Written by C. L. Douglas)

Dr. Charles H. McCollum, prominent Fort Worth surgeon and one of the best known men of medicine of the Southwest, has turned author.

He has written a book titled "Pills and Proverbs" (announced by the Meador Publishing Co., of Boston) and it is filled with humorous, tragic and unusual anecdotes gleaned from half a century's rich experiences as farmer boy, drug store clerk, country practitioner, army medic, surgeon, professor and world traveler.

"Pills and Proverbs," as the title might imply, is not just a story of what a doctor sees, and hears, and does; it is also a story of self-reliance and courage—the account of how a lad of few ordinary privileges, son of a poor farmer, overcame all handicaps to become a noted surgeon. One of Alger's own heroes couldn't have done a better job.

It is the doctor's first adventure in writing, but there's nothing dull about his product. He shows from the very first pages that he is expert at turning clever phrases, and even in some of the more serious discourses he seems unable to prevent a sense of puckish humor from slipping in here and there.

Especially humorous and filled with human interest are accounts of his experiences in the army during the Spanish American War and anecdotes concerning some of the patients he encountered as a country doctor. Don't imagine that this book's appeal is directed solely toward the medical profession. There's nothing scientific or technical about it in the least. It's just the story of a man's life written in a language that the layman can understand and thoroughly enjoy.

But, although Dr. McCollum has from time to time practiced in various branches of the specialists, he leaves no doubts that he has clung faithfully to the medicine kit of the general practitioner and that he still believes that the good diagnostician is the most important of doctors.

The book, which already has won enthusiastic approval from various teachers, lawyers, surgeons and theologians, runs to 225 pages and includes 11 illustrations. It sells for $2.00.

DEFENSE BOND Quiz

Q. Can Defense Saving Stamps be redeemed?

A. Yes; they can be redeemed for cash at face value or exchanged for Defense Savings Bonds. For example, 75 of the 25-cent Stamps—total cash value $18.75—may be exchanged for a Defense Savings Bond, which in 10 years will be worth $25.

Q. How long have Defense Savings Stamps been on sale at retail stores?

A. Sale of Stamps at retail stores originated in the State of Michigan on July 10. The idea met with such success that it is spreading rapidly, and soon Stamps will be sold in most retail stores on a Nation-wide basis.

NOTE.—To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

New Deal Theatre Celebrates Seventh Anniversary Wed.

Yesterday was the seventh anniversary of the New Deal Theatre and the invitations extended to the many friends and patrons of the theatre were widely accepted. Mr. Capers and Frank Gray were highly pleased that so many availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing Biscuit Eater as their guests. About twelve hundred passed through their doors between 4 p. m. and 12:00.

Mr. Capers and Frank have availed themselves of anything modern that would add to the pleasure and comfort of their patrons. The sound equipment is much superior to that found in theatres of larger cities. The seats are cushioned and comfortable. It is one of the few air-conditioned buildings of Gorman, and last but not least, the management is courteous to all their patrons and endeavors to secure pictures which please the greatest number of people. Gorman has a theatre which draws its patrons not only from our city and surrounding trade territory but from cities several miles distant—and the reason is: good clean entertainment in a comfortable building at small cost.

May we again extend our congratulations to the New Deal Theatre management and wish them continued success.

A Salute To Spindletop

Forty years ago a gusher roared in on a south Texas county near Beaumont, Texas. And it has turned out to be one of the most important events in Texas history.

In those days of the early 1900's it supported only a small number of men, but today, nearly a million people. As a result of this discovery many manufacturing enterprises were created, due to one thing at least—cheap fuel.

Today from the 500 oil fields of Texas, nearly 200,000 wells have been drilled and as a result supply about one-third of the Nation's oil not to mention the by-products.

On Oct. 9, 10 and 11, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association will dedicate a monument to Spindletop made of Texas granite. It will be a tribute to an enterprise which has built a great industry in which every Texan has a share.

TEACHERS ARRIVE

Gorman was glad to welcome the various teachers back to her midst for another year. Most of them have done some school work during the summer months, and appeared anxious for school work to begin.

Physical Education was added this year, and there is yet a possibility that vocational agriculture may be added.

Here's to another successful school year for Gorman!

CARD OF THANKS

We are urged by a sad event to take this method of expressing our sincerest thanks to each and everyone for the many deeds of kindness and sympathy shown us in the recent illness and death of P. H. Files, our father and grandfather.

May God be with each of you. Children and grandchildren.

Mrs. Tom Bennett continues to improve and she is expected to be released from the hospital today. Mr. Bennett and Aubrey left this morning for Dallas and will return with her today.

The Round-Up Club, a social organization of the K. of P. Lodge will be held next Monday night in Brownwood.

Warm Springs To Be Opened Sept. 14

GONZALES, Texas, September 8.—The first building of the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation for Crippled Children, now completely equipped and ready for operation, will be opened to the public for inspection at a silver tea and open house to be held there Sunday, September 14.

Soon after the open house, the foundation will begin operation with the admittance of the first little cripples to receive treatment at this institution.

Directors and officials of the foundation have been extended special invitations to be present for the open house, and to bring their friends and families. Ross Boothe, president, stated Wednesday. They will be there throughout the day to welcome guests and to explain the foundation and its operation.

The open house will begin at 10 o'clock Sunday morning and will continue through 9 o'clock Sunday evening. The general public of all Texas and the nation is invited and urged to visit the foundation on that day, to see what has been done, and how the money which has been donated has been invested.

The first building, completed about January 1 at a cost of $28,000, comprises two dormitories, nurses quarters, nurses and doctors offices, reception room, physiotherapy room housing two indoor pools, dining room and kitchen. It has been completely furnished with the most modern equipment, all purchased according to recommendations of Miss Annie Laurie Little, superintendent of the Scottish Rite crippled children's hospital at Dallas.

The Warm Springs Foundation is located on a forty acre tract adjacent to the Gonzales Palmetto State Park, which was purchased by a bond issue voted by the citizens of the city of Gonzales. The first unit, which will be opened shortly after the silver tea, was constructed through the National Youth Administration, and practically all the material which was not donated was purchased at actual cost.

"The National Youth Administration considers this one of its number one projects in Texas," Mr. Boothe declared, pointing out that the N.Y.A. has moved its Gonzales resident project to Ottine, where the girls in the project will receive training in work at the foundation.

The foundation was approved last week by the advisory board of the crippled children's division of the department of education, when President Ross Boothe, treasurer Harold Michelson, and director and local physician Dr. George Holmes appeared before the board in Dallas to secure their approval.

The first children to be admitted into the foundation will be sent through the crippled children's division of the state department of education, Mr. Boothe explained.

Miss Aline Thomas of Dallas, a trained nurse and physiotherapist, has been employed as superintendent of the foundation, and is expected to arrive in Gonzales September 12.

As a convenience for persons visiting the foundation, the foundation has just completed pavement leading from the first unit building to the system of roads, recently paved through Gonzales Palmetto State Park.

The executive committee of the foundation plans to hold the regular annual directors meeting at an early date, after the institution is in operation, Mr. Boothe stated.

Mrs. Junie Leazer in Sanitarium

Mrs. Junie Leazer is resting well following her appendectomy last Thursday at the Blackwell Sanitarium. She was brought over from Dallas Wednesday for an examination by the local doctors and her condition was such that an operation was considered necessary.

County Agent Tells How To Control Leaf Worms

The only poison recommended for control of leaf worms in cotton is calcium arsenate, according to information received by the county agent from the A. and M. Extension Entomologist. It is practical to dust the material on the cotton if dusting machinery is available but since such machinery is scarce in Eastland county it is recommended that calcium arsenate be mixed with water at the rate of three pounds per fifty gallons of water and the mixture sprayed on the plants. Calcium arsenate is less dangerous and less expensive than other poison materials. It does not dissolve in the water and it is necessary to keep it agitated by stirring.

The usual equipment for spraying cotton is a barrel sprayer with plumbing pipe used to form a boom, supplied with tees and nozzles to direct a spray downward over each of three or five rows at a time.

Farm Real Estate Market Improves

The farm real estate market has shown such an improvement during the past year that for the first time since 1934 the Federal land banks are holding less than one hundred million dollars worth of farms—most of which they have had to take over during the last seven years, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported recently.

Approximately one-fourth of all properties the banks had for sale during the first half of this year were sold, compared with 21 per cent for the corresponding period in 1940. Real estate sales have shown particularly marked increases in those areas where the holdings have been largest for the past several years. "This," said A. G. Black, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, "reflects the improvement which has taken place in general agricultural conditions in many parts of the Great Plains."

An increase in farm sales also was reported by the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation for which the Federal land banks have handled first and second mortgages during the past eight years.

Friends of Mrs. W. O. Brown regret to learn she is confined again to her bed and is not showing the improvement that had been expected for her.

GIRL SCOUT ENCAMPMENT

We had a lovely drive one day. The roads through the Berkshires are always pleasant, and not too frequented. The Western Hemisphere Girl Scout Encampment, near Otis, Mass., is situated on a lake, with plenty of trees to shade the tents and cabins. When we arrived, the girls, representing 24 states and 16 countries, greeted us through three of their representatives and then everyone passed by and shook hands.

After this, we started an inspection of the whole camp, which meant walking for nearly an hour and a half, a pleasant activity after the long drive.

My cousin, Mrs. Lyman Delano, went with me, which made the whole day especially enjoyable. She recently resigned as chairman of the committee which arranges for these international encampments, but she is still vice chairman and has a keen interest in scouting. My friends, Mrs. Arthur Choate and Mrs. Frederick Brooke, were both there and I saw many other familiar faces.

PLENTY OF ACTIVITY

Craft work is carried on in all the tents and the girls do a great deal of swimming, boating and hiking. I thought it particularly good that each unit cooked at least one meal a day and ate it in their own open air dining room, for this gives a chance for familiarity with outdoor cooking conditions. The girls who live in what they call the enchanted forest, which is a lovely grove of hemlock trees some distance from the main building, cook their own breakfast and supper.

Camp Bonnie Brae has a stable and a number of horses with a very able teacher in attendance. I think this is the only Girl Scout camp I have ever visited where the girls could learn to ride. It has proved so popular that nearly a hundred girls signed up for this particular activity.

None of them have had as many hours on horseback as would be required for really adequate training, but most of them have learned something about the handling and care of horses, a very good foundation on which to build for future horsemanship.

We all lunched together in the main building and I was glad to see again Mrs. Leigh-White from England, who has visited many of the other countries in this hemisphere since we met last year. Mayor Putnam of Springfield, Mass., was very kind and drove Mrs. Delano and me to the city, while a state trooper drove my car. At the broadcasting lation, I was presented with a beautiful wooden key to the city. I took part in the broadcast which went out to the other groups of Girl Scouts throughout the country, and which I think was later repeated to South and Central American countries.

The drive home into a most beautiful sunset sky, was unforgettable. I arrived a little after eight, somewhat weary, but very happy to have taken part in this celebration.

PLEASANT VISIT

When I reached Hyde Park one evening, I found Mrs. Dorothy Roosevelt and her youngest daughter, Janet, had driven from Vermont to spend the night with us. They had visited the library and had a swim, in spite of the chilly weather which persisted through this week.

We talked all evening. Next morning, in spite of the rain, I sent my little niece over to the stables to try to get a ride, for she is very fond of horses. They left us at noon to take a plane back to Detroit, Mich.

Again we had to shift a party over to the big house, which I had planned to have out of doors at the cottage. The rainy weather is making this a habit with us. This party was given by a group of Democratic workers in honor of Mrs. Edward Conger, who has been vice president of our Democratic county committee for a long while.

She has given active and devoted service, not only doing work here in this county, but being called upon often to speak in nearby counties and to help with organization. Mrs. Conger has many loyal friends and, since she feels she must resign because of ill health, we felt we wanted to do something to show our appreciation of her services.

The party was a great success and I hope she enjoyed it as much as we enjoyed having an opportunity to see her and thank her for the inspiration she has given us over a long period.

BACK TO WASHINGTON

A little after five, Miss Thompson and I were on our way to New York city. We had dinner at our little apartment and then drove out to La Guardia field to take the 10 o'clock plane to Washington. The difference between standard time and daylight time makes it very pleasant when one is going southward. I reached the White House a little before 11 o'clock and was able to have a real chat with the President.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

Fleeing from the most severe blizzard that Minnesota had known in years, Sam Buron, highly successful young St. Paul business man, came to Fort Worth last February. When he saw the magnificent Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum, he exclaimed, "What a beautiful building." And when he looked inside, he added, "And what a place for an ice hockey rink!"

And there you have the story of how Texas is to have a new sport this coming winter, ice hockey, said to be the fastest game known. For Buron took a 10-year lease on the Coliseum and is spending thousands of dollars to install the machinery for an ice rink—60,000 feet or almost 12 miles of pipe, and other equipment in proportion.

The story of Sam Buron's career to date—his only 31—is a Horatio Alger success story. Born in St. Paul, he sold papers on the street after school; then worked his way through high school by getting up at 3:30 a. m. to carry a newspaper route. When he married at 21, he was a grain accountant at a salary of $90 a month and at night after work he built a home with his own hands. Then he started to build a four-family flat and before he knew it almost, he was in the construction business. And, of course, if you're going to build, it's nice to have a lumber yard, so he acquired one. Then he went into the storage business, too, and not long ago he became also the owner of the South St. Paul Terminal warehouse buildings, which have even more floor space than the huge Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum.

And with all those business activities, Sam Buron has had time for civic work too. He is the major factor behind the unique Hook 'Em Cows, a fun organization of the men of the South St. Paul stockyards, which has a uniformed drum and bugle corps and a troop of 40 horsemen, both units being much in evidence in all parades. Then Buron had charge of the banquet that was given honoring Governor Stassen when the Minnesota chief executive was acclaimed the outstanding young man of the nation. And only a week or so ago, Buron retired as president of the Minnesota Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He has a ready smile, a pleasant voice, a hearty laugh, tells a story well, is in demand as a speaker and has moved to Texas. That he is a real Southwesterner already is shown by the fact that he says, "You all." And that's Sam Buron, who is going to give the Lone Star State a new and exciting sport, ice hockey.

Here and there: Sign in a crossroads store, "If you must spit, be original; spit on the ceiling." Menu writers are "going Hollywood," as witness: "Prawns with crisp croutons swimming in piquant penguin sauce." General Pinky Francis, one of the best story-tellers in the Capitol City, makes this comment when someone relates an especially ancient joke, "Columbus told that one to the Indians."

If you do go to Mexico and if you go by automobile (as this columnist suggests), when you arrive in Mexico City, put the car in a garage and leave it there. The many one-way streets and the swift current of traffic are likely to prove bewildering and, though you probably won't have a collision, you will not enjoy driving in the business district.

Taxicabs are innumerable—and the fare is very low. All you have to do is look as though you want a cab and one will pull up to the curb. But if not, then when you spot a car approaching with a sign, "Libre," signal to the driver. Most of the taxis are new cars and some are of the higher price makes, too. For a short trip, six or eight blocks, the charge is only one peso (about 20 cents) and three persons pay no more than one. Longer trips are in proportion. How a man can drive a fine car, buy gasoline enough at such a rate to pay for the auto and his own living expenses—well, you figure it out.

Conversational English in one easy lesson: The first hundred years are the hardest. Is it hot enough for you? Don't take any wooden nickles.

On Tuesday night at the High School Auditorium, the Chuck Wagon Gang, now known as the Carter Family, gave a splendid program under the sponsorship of the P.T.A. There had been heavy rains the night before that made the roads to the rural communities almost impassable but in spite of the roads several hundred people came from towns and country places many miles away. Every one was delighted with the program and all were pleased to see in person: Dad, Rose, Anna, and Jim, whom they had been hearing for a long time over the radio.

The sincere sympathy of the community is being extended to Mrs. Bill Warren and family on account of the death of her father, Mr. Cozart, which occurred at Magallon, New Mexico, where he had worked in a mine for a long time. Burial was in the Alameda cemetery.

Reports from county tax collectors-assessors indicate an income of $607,992 for the first two months, on the sale or transfer of 96,113 vehicles.

When you buy insurance because it's cheap, it's like buying a cheap pistol for self protection. If you have to hold off a bandit, you want a weapon that will do the business. If you aren't going to be held up, why spend any money at all to protect yourself? The answer is, you don't know.

Texas Still Publishing Best Sellers

Announcement was made a few days ago by Joe Naylor, president of the Naylor Company, San Antonio, of a new book just off the press—"The Bad Man of the West" by George D. Hendricks. Here is truly a new book, new and singular in approach, new in breadth of scope, and new in that it tells the whole truth about the Western bad man. It is a genuine contribution on one of the most fascinating and most thrilling phases of pioneer life in the Old West. In "The Bad Man of the West," Mr. Hendricks has assimilated the high lights from countless sources of information on more than 250 of the bad men of the Old West and has woven the lurid careers of these most picturesque figures into a story that every reader will appreciate. Every American boy should read this new book. If John Dillinger or Pretty Boy Floyd or any other of their ilk had read, "The Bad Man of the West," they might have directed their skill and cunning into more useful channels. This is only the latest in a long list of fine books which have been turned out by the Naylor Company. This company gives the same careful consideration to new and would-be writers as to famous writers of the Southwest.

THE ENGLISHMAN HEDGED

A snobbish young Englishman visiting Washington's home at Mount Vernon was so patronizing as to arouse the wrath of guards and caretakers; but it remained for "Shep" Wright, an aged gardener and one of the first scouts of the Confederate army, to settle the gentleman. Approaching "Shep," the Englishman said: "Ah—er—my man, the hedge! Yes, I see, George got this hedge from dear old England." "Reckon he did," replied "Shep." "He got this whole blooming country from England."

IN LUCK'S WAY

"Look here," stormed Brown to the estate agent, "about that riverside bungalow you sold me." "Anything wrong, sir?" asked the agent. "Wrong! Wrong!" exclaimed Brown. "The other morning we woke up and found that the beastly place had floated two miles down the river." "H'm," said the agent blandly enough, "that's a good stroke of luck. The taxes are much lower down there."

SPOT CASH

The tramp entered the doctor's office. There was a worried look on his face. "Doctor," he said, "you've got to help me. I swallowed a quarter twenty-five years ago." "Good heavens, man!" ejaculated the doctor. "Why have you waited all those years? Why didn't you go to a doctor the day you swallowed it?" "To tell the truth," replied the tramp, "I didn't need the money at the time!"

Large animals that lived in Texas during the later periods of prehistoric time included elephants, mastodons, horses, camels, bison, ground sloth, giant wolf, giant armadillo and saber-toothed tiger. In earlier geologic time, there were many other animals, including the dinosaurs.

ACT OF RAIDED LINER'S CAPTAIN PREVENTS MAJOR SEA DISASTER

PROMPT action by Captain W. G. Smith, of the Egyptian liner Zam Zam, shelled and sunk by a German raider in the South Atlantic, prevented one of the heaviest losses of life yet threatened in the current ocean warfare, according to Charles A. McCarthy, one of the American survivors.

Charles A. McCarthy

McCarthy, a member of the British American Ambulance Corps, has arrived in the United States in advance of other members of his group held prisoner in France. "We were four days from Cape-town," McCarthy says, "when in the darkness just before sunrise the raider attacked us. Without warning, shells fell about the ship. Passengers awakened by the explosions were running about below and on the decks. Then the shells began crashing into the ZamZam, racking her from stem to stern. "Captain Smith tried to work the Morse blinker but a shell had cut the cable. He ordered the Egyptian flag unfurled. He also swung the liner broadside to show that she had stopped, and directed that lifeboats be put over the side. But the shells kept coming. A German gunner told us later that fifty-five were fired. Nine of them hit the ZamZam. "Still under shellfire, Captain Smith sent a crew member below for a flashlight that he had bought in New York. Standing in the wreckage of the bridge, the skipper signaled in Morse code, Egyptian ship."

Spindletop

STARTED IT!

Forty years ago an oil gusher roared in on a low hill south of Beaumont to open a new industrial era for Texas.

That discovery at Spindletop started our modern Texas petroleum industry and made Texas the nation's leading oil state.

In the forty years since Spindletop blew in, nearly 200,000 wells have been drilled throughout Texas. Over 500 separate fields are now producing in all parts of the State. Today Texas supplies over one-third of the Nation's oil and has over half of its petroleum reserves.

Our industry, by refining almost all of this oil in Texas, has created our largest manufacturing enterprise. By furnishing cheap fuel it has laid the foundation for many other Texas industries.

From a handful of Texans forty years ago, this industry has grown until now, directly or indirectly, it supports almost one million of our people. Its expenditures reach into every section of the State and benefit every Texan.

The discovery of America's first gusher oil field at Spindletop has turned out to be one of the most important events in the history of our state.

Today all of Texas salutes Spindletop!

On October 9, 10 and 11, during its annual convention at Beaumont, the Texas-Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association will dedicate a monument to Spindletop.

Inscribed in ageless Texas granite will be the story of oil.

This is more than a monument to petroleum. It is a tribute to Texas enterprise and initiative which in forty years have built a great industry in our State—an industry in which you and every other Texan share.
