

This and That

Another Gorman boy who received his wings several months ago, and after graduation exercises at Barksdale Field, near Shreveport, La., this week, will receive his commission as an instructor in the air corps. He is Nathan Mehaffey and is scheduled for graduation tomorrow. He does not know as yet where he will be stationed but is ready and prepared to go where Uncle Sam calls.

What Am I Paid

Does a time ever come to you when you feel that you will not give another measure of service because you are not paid enough for that service? If so, remember that George Washington was given only his expenses when he was general in command of an army which was filled with selfish ambitions and heartaches, and besides spent almost $20,000 of his own money. That satisfaction must come to each when he realizes he has been of service—though unpaid. If you haven't known that realization in a long time—do something without thought of compensation and sense the sheer joy and satisfaction which will come to you.

Relief from the excessive heat came Tuesday afternoon when the long overdue rain began to fall which was welcomed by everyone. Nearly an inch fell in less than an hour with sprinklings of rain falling intermittently through the night. It was not enough for many, but it is said it will be of much benefit to the farmers, and will help save gardens which still have tomatoes, peas and melons, also flowers and shrubs. It was the first moisture Gorman had had in several weeks, and it is hoped more will follow soon.

Do you feel a sense of pride when you visit our City of the Dead? Are you proud of the fact you are one of the citizens who helps to keep the cemetery in its present condition? Do you feel that you could do more for the appearance of that little city that sleeps and are resolved many times to do something about it? We all must feel the same way, and are anxious to help in improving its appearance and maintaining better condition of the graves... but we just wait. Isn't the present a good time to do something—would you be willing to help if called upon. Of course you would!

There is evidence of good faith shown towards making one of the city streets passable again, as work

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

At the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Shelley last Thursday evening Miss Robbie Gene Moseley was given a shower which was a lovely compliment to the bride-elect of Nathan Mehaffey. White dahlias and marigolds were massed about the living and dining rooms with bachelor buttons and zinnias used in profusion about the other rooms of the home.

Mrs. George Blackwell at the living room entrance greeted the guests, with Mrs. Junie Leazer making introductions, assisted by Mrs. Don Sparks, of Coleman. Juanita McGaha registered the guests in the bride's book, and Mrs. Edward Blackwell and Mrs. Lob Burton pinned on the favors which were tiny planes containing the scroll with the announcement of the approaching marriage of the honoree to Nathan Mehaffey on August 19.

In the dining room delicious cookies and fruited punch were served from the attractively arranged table, centered with an airport in miniature. A realistic formation of the tiny planes of red and blue was novel and especially appropriate for the occasion, since the intended groom is in the air corps of the U. S. Mrs. Glenn Mehaffey and Anna Lou Finley served.

In the bedroom the many beautiful gifts were on display for which the honoree graciously expressed her appreciation. A set of silver from Mr. and Mrs. Shelley, where for three years she has been an efficient member of the sales force of their store, and from Juanita McGaha and Fay Jones; three large wool blankets, lovely spreads, quilts, pictures, glassware and beautiful linens along with household novelties and necessities were on the long gift list.

Border Patrolmen Are Needed

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Border Patrolman, $2,000 a year, for employment in the Border Patrol, Department of Justice. The salary is subject to retirement deduction of 3 1/2 per cent. Registers will be established for the following Border Patrol Districts: (1) Southwest A including the States of California, Nevada, Utah and the Territory of Hawaii; (2) Southwest B, including the States of Arizona, Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma. Vacancies to be filled from eligible registers established from this examination will be on or near the Mexican Border. Applications must be on file with the Commission's Washington office not later than September 11, 1941.

Applicants must show that they have had certain experience requiring a regular program of arduous physical activity or training, as that required of park rangers, forest rangers, members of survey parties, lifeguards, and linemen for utility companies.

The United States Immigration Border Patrol is a uniformed police organization and its primary function is to detect and prevent the smuggling and the illegal entry of aliens into the United States. The duties of this position are arduous and the physical and other standards that must be met are necessarily rigid. The age limits are 21 to 35 and will not be waived in any case. Eligibles selected for appointment will be required to take an extremely intensive course of training usually at the border patrol training school at El Paso, Texas. Failure to pass this course will be sufficient cause to separate appointees from the service.

Full information as to the requirements for the examination, and application forms, may be obtained from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at the post office or customhouse in any city in the States named above which has a post office of the first or second class, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

The Gorman Progress

Devoted To The Interest of Gorman and Gorman Trade Territory

Entered at the Postoffice at Gorman, Texas, as Second Class Mail Matter Under the act of Congress of March 3, 1897.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given the editor personally at the office at Gorman, Texas.

NUTRITION INFORMATION

A little after five one afternoon, on our picnic grounds at Hyde Park, representatives of various organizations in the county gathered to discuss with state representatives what had been accomplished in spreading nutrition information. Miss Ruth Wheeler of Vassar college, who had been made chairman by the Cornell university group, which is in charge of this work in the state, has been ill, and so the work is not completely organized.

I felt a good deal was accomplished for they named a radio and publicity chairman and talked over methods of getting information to the people of our county. A home demonstration agent is being sent by the Emergency Home Demonstration committee to a group of counties, including Dutchess, and our county agent, Mr. Shepherd, called a meeting at which women were named to take charge of the arrangements for the agent's work.

This seems to me very important, because she can help us to accomplish things which are now being asked of the women of the United States of America. First we may see that our schools are used as demonstration centers for child feeding. That means that every available source of supply must be tapped for food to be used daily.

BACK IN WASHINGTON

We reached Washington, D. C. from Hyde Park in time for lunch the next day and the visitors began to arrive at once. I'd had a little time to talk over one or two important family things with the President before he was again engulfed in government affairs.

At 4:40, I went to the airport with Jimmie and Rommie, who were starting for the West coast and waited to meet my daughter, who was coming in from Seattle, Wash., to attend Mayor LaGuardia's meeting on civilian volunteer participation in defense.

Anna was about twenty minutes late, which meant that a gentleman who was waiting to hand me a gift for the president sent by the mayor of an English city, had to wait for nearly twenty minutes. However, he was very kind about it. Afterwards, Dr. Frederick Douglas Patterson, president of Tuskegee institute, came to tell me how well the training of the flying cadets is progressing there, and that Tuskegee is being named as a recreational area for Negro men on leave from Fort Benning.

PRESIDENT'S MEMORY

Four of us sat on the south portico of the White House one night having dinner; the President, our daughter, Anna; our cousin, Monroe D. Robinson; and I. Mr. Robinson had just returned from Peru and was telling the President of his impressions. He thinks Peru is one of the most interesting countries he has ever visited and cannot wait to return. Mr. Robinson has made some real friends and feels that they like him just as much as he likes them.

In the midst of his talk, my husband, in a very quiet way, said: "Have you ever happened to see an old book which has an illustration of a Peruvian Indian playing golf? They played golf in Peru years before they played it in Scotland. To all intents and purposes it was the same game except that instead of having to end up in a little tin cup, they had to hit a very small stick."

Monroe's face was a study. He had hardly expected to be told something about Peru, especially something which he felt might even be news to some of his Peruvian friends! Then my husband went to explain that in college, he had bought the books every year for the Fly Club and Pudding Club libraries. For the Fly club, he had concentrated on books of old travel, and among them had found this particular book, which he considered the most interesting and which furnished the basis of some of his knowledge of Peru.

What wouldn't I give to have as retentive a memory as the President has, and at the same time, always to be able to react back into my mind and pick out the particular thing applicable to the conversation of the moment. Hours afterwards I can sometimes remember something which would have been very valuable, if it had only come to me when I was actually talking.

LA GUARDIA GROUP

The next day was given up entirely to the meeting held in the White House by Mayor LaGuardia's committee. Five members have been named from every corps area and represent all the different interests in our national life.

After lunch, the details were taken up and I hope that every member of the committee will go home knowing what the first steps in this program actually mean in the way of work. The future alone can tell how it will develop.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rodgers and daughter, Mary Lucille; Mr. and Mrs. Nile Freeman all of Fort Worth were guests of his brother, H. H. Rodgers, of Kokomo over the week-end.

TSCW Teaches Spanish in Mexico

Lessons in Spanish are removed from the classroom as these girls, students in the Texas State College for Women summer school in Saltillo, Mexico, visit the city's shopping district where few salesmen speak English. In a typical Mexican market Gerrie Yocum of Dallas, assisted by Bertie Naylor of Waco, tries on a big hat. The girls agree it's a grand way to learn conversational Spanish, and college authorities say that TSCW's experiment in education has developed unexpected proportions as an experiment in promoting Pan-American friendship.

round the man or woman in industry. Accident prevention campaigns which have been directed toward making factories and plants safer places in which to operate, have given rise to this popular notion. Nevertheless, the fact remains that these offices also are confronted with hazards which are no less real simply because they are somewhat intangible and often insidious in their effects," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"A prominent health educator recently topped his list of office hazards with the swivel chair. He indicated that in its virtue lies its vice. Being comfortable, the office worker either by choice or a measure of necessity remains in it. Thus its harm is not of itself, but in the physical inaction for which it is responsible, coupled with bad posture due to undisciplined sitting.

"Again the male office worker, despite his comparative physical inactivity is prone to consume more food than is good for him. Excess weight in many cases results. And excess weight can be a health liability. On the other hand, a limited number of the female contingent are likely to be too streamlined-conscious. Over-emphasizing this idea frequently results in breakfastless days, light lunches, and insufficient dinners. Malnourishment with its untoward effect upon well-being, as well as a consequent lack of resistance to disease, is neither conducive to

A Frozen Pie Garnished With Strawberries

By Verna L. Miller, Frigidaire's Director of Home Economics

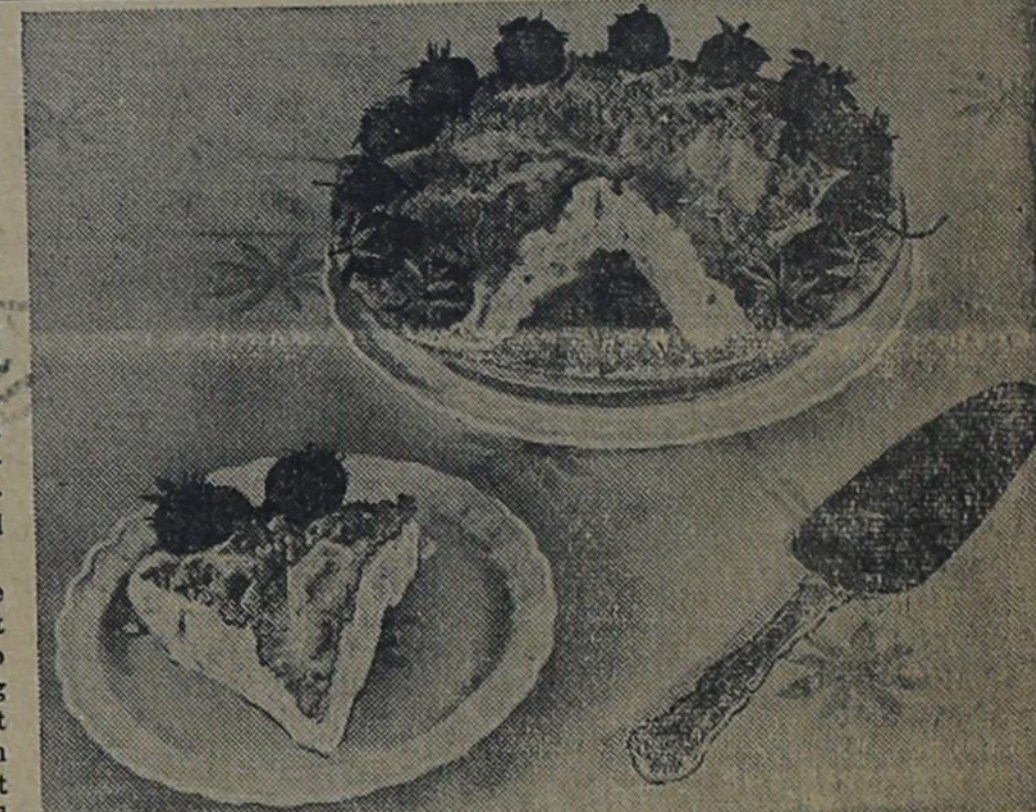

The British are mighty proud of the way the herons in the London zoo have carried on during bombardments. There were as many little herons around this spring as there ever were, and the Mama herons are being dubbed "heroes."

Of course that hasn't got much to do with cooking or eating—but it does remind us that our own feathered friends have just been put to the test, what with the sound of firecrackers going off in tin cans down the alley or around the corner. Apparently they've come through all right with only the loss of a little sleep as the big fellows climaxed the "Fourth" or Independence Day.

Incidentally, July is a good month for outdoor meals—on the porch or lawn. In addition to salads and sandwiches and cool drinks you will want a dessert that is refreshing. Nothing fills the bill better than a frozen lime pie, garnished with strawberries. It's fragile and had better be whisked from the Frigidaire at the last moment before serving—but it will surely add a luscious finale to any warm weather meal.

It is made in two parts. Here's how: Part 1: 2 eggs beaten until lemon colored, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 cup light corn syrup, 1 cup coffee cream, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon grated lime peel, 1/2 cup lime juice. Part 2: 1 1/2 cup graham cracker crumbs, 1/4 cup powdered sugar, 1/4 cup butter. Blend the graham cracker crumbs with the sugar and butter. Line small pie tin with half the crumb mixture. Pour in the lime mixture after it has been beaten. Cover the top with the remaining crumb mixture. Chop edges with silver fork. Continue freezing until firm with Cold Control still on No. 7. When ready to serve, remove and slice (Serve 8). Leftover portions may be stored in the Super Freezer with the Cold Control on No. 3.

Just as the tree grows from the small twig to one of extensive limbs and branches, so does a successful financial CAREER develop.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK
"The Oldest Bank in Eastland County"

for MODERN living

In the early days, medicine show quacks sold crude oil for a dollar a bottle as a cure for all human ills. Today hundreds of essentials for modern living are made from oil. It supplies heat for the home. It provides power for the Nation's machinery and transportation. It lubricates the gears of industry. It furnishes fuel for your car. It has shortened distances to make our Nation one big community.

America is safer today because of petroleum. The oilman's initiative and enterprise have made available to the United States the world's largest supply of petroleum.

In all this, Texas plays a leading part. Last year we supplied 36 per cent of all the Nation's oil, and now have over half of the Nation's oil reserves.

You and every American live more comfortably and safely today because of Texas petroleum.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce Hines

I was more fortunate than many boys—my father was a "drummer." That's what a traveling salesman was called in those days. And he used to take me along much of the time, when I was quite small.

There was the thrill of riding on the train (this being before the era of the "horseless carriage"), and of looking over the wonderful wares of the "news-butcher", including glass pistols and glass telephones, filled with small, round, red bits of peppermint; California oranges, California grapes and California figs—it seems that all the fruit was from California in those days—even the chewing gum was called "California Juicy Fruit," and such classics of literature as "Slow Train through Arkansas" and "I'm from Texas—You Can't Steer Me."

The conductor was an awesome individual in regal blue uniform with fifty or maybe more, gold buttons; the brakeman was nearly as important as he hurried down the aisle at night with a lantern on his arm or stood in the door and called out sounds that were supposed to be the name of the town we were approaching. Even the porter, in his white coat, played an important part as he purveyed sandwiches—two thick, thirst-provoking slices of white bread with a tissue of cold boiled ham in between, and the porter again came into prominence as darkness set in, with a flame at the end of a long steel rod, he lit the lamps.

Sometimes my father would hire a horse and buggy at the livery stable and we would visit inland towns, stopped now and then along the country lane while he tacked up a few signs, using a marvelous hammer that had a magnetic tip which would hold a tack.

But it was the travel by train that was the most exciting part. There was a method of counting the clicks of the wheels for a minute and then figuring out how fast the train was traveling—sometimes it got up to 30 miles an hour; that, however, was for only a short stretch and usually down a grade.

One Christmas Eve, I spent on the train and—would you believe it!—when I awoke next morning, there was a stocking full of presents. A few nights later, we arrived in Graham, Texas and I had barely fallen asleep when there was an outburst of shooting. Maybe Indians were on the war-path was my first thought from having seen the pictures on the covers of "Buffalo Bill", "Diamond Dick" and "Young Wild West"—but, no, it was New Year's.

Though too young to pay a fare, I was often given a hat check, punched with mysterious holes, and once the conductor allowed me to keep it, so I alighted from the train in my home town and marched proudly up the street, still wearing the check, the envy of all my playmates—unlucky lads whose fathers were not drummers!

Some weeks ago, your columnist reported that the most brazen act in connection with the entire session of the legislature was the forging of a legislator's name to a note calling off a committee meeting scheduled to consider an anti-loan shark bill. The stakes must be pretty big—I reasoned—for one to make as daring a play as this: to forge a note, smuggle it on to the floor of the House and, in some pre-arranged way, get it to the clerk's desk. And curiosity aroused, your columnist began to dig a little into the loan shark situation in our State. Some of the facts are astounding—but more on the subject a little later.

Can you remember back to the time when a radio band leader gave you music instead of asking you questions? And away back yonder when the stage villains always smoked cigarettes? Now you hear the women tell who they are going to vote for and the men say, 'I take three cakes of yeast and -----'."

Here's How To Eat During Hot Weather

Red Cross Advises Simple Meals Devoid of Rich Foods

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Simple moderate meals—devoid of rich foods—can be the solution of taking hot weather with a smile, the American Red Cross points out in a statement listing "Dietary Don'ts for Summer."

Prepared by Melva Bakkie, national nutrition consultant of the Red Cross, the statement urges housewives to plan at least one warm dish for every meal as a necessary digestive aid. Important, too, Miss Bakkie advises, are six to eight glasses of beverage daily. She warns, however, that soft drinks and other beverages of high sugar or of alcoholic content are overheating.

- To combat "over-ninety" temperatures Miss Bakkie sets down the following rules:
1. Don't overeat—especially after an exhausting day's work or play.
 2. Don't eat large portions of meat or other protein-containing foods.
 3. Don't eat excessive portions of foods containing fats, such as cream sauces, fried foods, bacon, etc.
 4. Don't fail to plan your diet around low heat producing foods, as fresh vegetables, fruit and milk.
 5. Don't neglect to use salt liberally during hot weather. It is necessary to make up for losses through perspiration.

6. Don't drink too many iced drinks. They should be taken moderately and drunk slowly to prevent chilling.

This and That

progresses on the filling of holes which had been made deeper with each rain. The commission got busy last Monday and began making the going easier for those living in the east end of town and those who have business which carries them over the abandoned highway. For several years the street had had so little attention that there had been much complaint from car owners and visitors to our city.

The commission reports it intends to see that the road to the county line is improved, and with some help from Comanche county, may be able to repair a large portion of the road near the home of Charlie Simmons which is nearly impassable. Other street work about town includes some concrete work on gutters in front and on the south side of Jay's Grocery.

Zeke Sez

By Nugent Ezekiel Brown

Washington, D. C.—(Special)—The latest news in Washington last week was, naturally, extension of the service for draftees, national guardsmen and reserve officers, the Senate voting to extend their time 18 months, making a total of 2 1/2 years. Of interest to Texas, was the fight made by the new Texas senator, W. Lee O'Daniel, to send the draftees home at the end of their first year in training, as was promised them a year ago. But the senator was hopelessly outvoted on every move. O'Daniel's aggression in the matter put him in the forefront here immediately. He made his first speech on Tuesday after taking his oath on Monday. O'Daniel then introduced his anti-strike bill which he had gotten made into law in Texas a few months ago. Next, he introduced an amendment to the members of the Texas Highway draft resolution which would outlaw strikes on national defense projects but this was voted down overwhelmingly.

However, the senate did vote to pay the boys an extra ten dollars pay for each month they serve after the first 12 months. This will certainly be good news to the boys in khaki. It is interesting to note that, while Texas' new junior senator, O'Daniel, voted for the increase in pay, Texas' senior senator, Tom Connally, was among those voting against it. In fact, a check on the week's record shows the two Texas senators pretty well lined up against each other. The record will certainly get more interesting as the weeks go by, no matter which side you may take. In the meantime, here in Washington, there is concrete evidence that Congressman Lyndon Bayne Johnson of Austin, recent runner-up in the special election, is leaving no stone unturned in his plans to make the race again in 1942. One evidence of this is the flood of letters which Johnson has just sent to thousands of Texans thanking them for their support on June 28th. Too, Johnson reportedly talked with President Roosevelt one day last week on the matter. The story here, though, is that the President had cautioned the young Congressman and his friends to go slow because they realize the strong possibility of suffering a worse defeat in the summer of 1942.

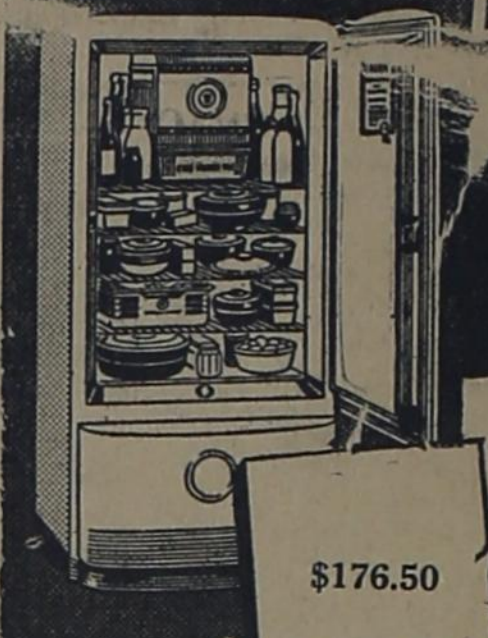

Farm Lobby Strong Here

What is called the "farm lobby" seems to be pretty strong around congressional halls, judging by the way opponents to increased prices for farm products are howling. Senator Albert Thomas of Oklahoma voiced the sentiment of many congressmen when he declared: "The new parity on cotton, as announced by the Department of Agriculture, is a disgrace. Why did the department set parity even lower than it did in 1937, while farmers are out from 30 to 50 percent more in costs now than in 1937? So maybe the farm lobby is a good thing for the cotton farmers. They need help from somewhere."

Veto of Road Bill Loses By Small Margin

While sentiment in Washington seems still to be strong for the President and the defense program (it is not as strong as it was 90 days ago), the Senate last week voted three to one to override the President's veto of the $320,000,000 defense highway bill. And Congress lacked only two vetoes of over-riding it the following day. The vote in the House stood: 128 against over-riding; 251 for over-riding. Roosevelt charged pork-barrel politics in the bill. Following a visit here last week of two members of the Texas Highway

Many Texans were Here for Oath-Taking Ceremony

When W. Lee O'Daniel took the oath of office as Texas' new junior senator, being escorted to the speaker's stand by Senator Tom Connally, some three hundred or more Texans were in the galleries. Mrs. O'Daniel, Mike and Molly and Molly's husband, Jack Wrather, all were in the gallery. Those from Austin included: Judge and Mrs. Tom Beauchamp, General and Mrs. Harry Knox, Claude Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Williams, Mr. and Mrs. George Nalle and others.

One Man's Way

Thomas Drier, remembered by those advertising men of Texas who attended the famous Boston convention many years ago, has a formula for the advancing years. It should be taken each day. He says:

"To awaken each morning with a smile brightening my face, to greet the day with reverence, for the opportunities it contains; to approach my work with a clean mind; to hold ever before me, even in the doing of little things, the Ultimate Purpose toward which I am working; to meet men and women with laughter on my lips and love in my heart; to be gentle, kind and courteous through all the hours; to approach the night with weariness that ever woos sleep and the joy that comes from work well done—this is how I desire to waste wisely my days."

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McJong of Sipe Springs were visitors in Gorman Tuesday.

Sam Richey, Tarleton student, spent Saturday visiting his parents.

Mrs. J. O. Butler and Randolph Walker of Seymour were visitors here Saturday.

Modern Policeman, 'Wired for Sound,' Makes Atlantic City Bad Town for Crooks

Lawrence H. Smith, (left), Atlantic City patrolman, who has devised new police radio system. Center, tiny radio set which fits inside case and weighs less than two pounds. Right, police officer with case clipped to his belt and earphone (arrows) which comprise entire equipment.

A MOTORIST parks his car by the curb, returns to discover it is stolen. He telephones the police. Within two minutes—and five miles away—his car is recovered.

A pickpocket, busy in a group waiting at a bus stop, is spotted by a storekeeper who telephones Police Headquarters. The nearest policeman is six blocks distant at the moment, but he races up and nabs the thief within a minute.

The Mayor and some official guests are making a tour of the city, preceded by a motorcycle escort. With no advance knowledge of the route to be taken, the motorcycle squad turns to right or left, in one street and out another, in perfect response to the wishes of the official party.

Radio? Yes, but a new kind. Not automobile radio, or motorcycle radio. It is personal radio—and really personal. Policemen in Atlantic City, N. J., are wired for sound. And they are setting a record for efficiency that is being getting to attract attention throughout the country.

Police communication in the famous New Jersey resort is so personalized that practically the only way one of the "human radio stations" can be recognized is by the fact that he wears tiny head phones, sometimes only one. Attached to the officer's belt is a small black leather case, so small it could not contain a radio set. Yet that is just what it does contain. A concealed wire connects the Lilliputian set with the head phones.

This personalized system is the product of the genius of a radio-minded Atlantic City patrolman, Lawrence H. Smith. As a wireless enthusiast, he had a vision of a policeman who would be worth ten officers because he would be constantly in contact with headquarters, whether afoot, in a car, or on a motorcycle.

Smith went to work on the problem and the present system is the result. The set consists of a compact "B" battery, a small flashlight battery, and a tiny 3-tube radio amplifier. Its total weight is less than two pounds.

The sets are worn at present only by motorcycle officers. The next step will be the extension of the system to include patrolmen. If the scheme works half as well as it has to date, Atlantic City is going to be a very tough Summer—or Winter—resort for crooks.

Smith is now sitting up nights trying to figure out ways to make the set still smaller, lighter, more powerful. As to power, the present range is pretty good. Occasional signals have come from all parts of the United States, even as far away as California
