QUOTES FROM AN AMATEUR
PUBLISHER-EDITOR - Gene

If I don't have plenty of school news this year it will be my fault because the school officials and teachers are giving the Progress their fullest cooperation. In fact, I understand the new Band Director Mr. Nicholls is a former printer and newspaperman so maybe in his spare time he can come down and do my work while I go fishing. - As if teachers ever have any spare time.

Have been watching the Panthers work out this past week and naturally they rate tops in my book. We'll get a chance to see how they look at Baird Friday night.

Volunteer Firemen had planned to mark the streets Monday night but postponed the work on account of the rain, according to Quail Thompson. I counted six drops of rain in front of my office and while we are on the subject of street marking - why is it people in Gorman will double park when there is plenty of parking space available. Couldn't help but notice a car the other day double parked, and at an angle so traffic was blocked both ways. He was a prominent citizen too. Out of curiosity I timed him and his car was there for five minutes. This was not only hogging the street but set up a traffic hazard which could easily have caused an accident or injury. Wonder if these drivers who double park do the same when they visit other towns. The Firemen are donating their time and labor to mark our streets - surely we can cooperate with them by observing a few simple traffic rules which are beneficial to all.

Mr. Gibbs said so far this year we have 35 members in the Panther Band. The Band is short several instruments and if anyone has an instrument they would loan to the school it certainly would be appreciated and would be well cared for. The Band Uniforms are paid for. The Lions Club is planning a project to help raise funds to buy more instruments but this is going to take time. Therefore if you do have an instrument you could let the Band use please contact Mr. Gibbs or the Band Director Mr. Nicholls.

Members of the Quarterback Club are selling season tickets to all of the home games (5) at Brogdon Field.

Luther Cunningham from atop a scaffold on the Gorman Hotel Wednesday said they were putting the finishing touches to the wall damaged by fire a few months ago. The interior of the hotel and coffee shop have been renovated.

And Love and Rider have finished their job of painting the front of the Corner Drug Store Building. It all adds up to making our town more attractive.

New Teachers Presented At Assembly

At the school assembly Wednesday morning, where many parents were in attendance, new teachers Mrs. Lois Sparks, Band Director Nicholls, Assistant Coach Michaels and Coach David Goodwin and piano teacher Mrs. Edna Nunnally were presented.

Rev. J. L. Ray gave the invocation and several appropriate selections were sung by those present with Mrs. O. R. Buchanan at the piano.

Superintendent Charles Gibbs spoke briefly. He presented a plan of insurance against injury of the child during school hours. The premium is one dollar per child. The insurance is not compulsory. Parents who have had their children in schools where the insurance was in force and Mr. Gibbs believe the insurance to be a good investment.

Mention was made regarding the organization of a Parent-Teachers Club. Mr. Gibbs in speaking to the Press said very emphatically that the decision to organize same would depend entirely upon the interest manifested by the parents wanting a P. T. A.

SHOW DATES LISTED FOR BEEF AND DAIRY CATTLE AT DALLAS FAIR, OCT. 6 - 19

Show herds of all beef and dairy cattle breeds shown at the 1951 State Fair of Texas will be on exhibit through the opening 14 days of the fair, Oct. 6-19, Live stock Manager Ray Wilson has announced.

Because the fair has such a lengthy run, many fairgoers have missed seeing their favorite breed because its show was over or had not begun on the day they visited the fair.

Beef and dairy cattle shows are held separately -- beef cattle being shown Oct. 6-12, and dairy cattle Oct. 12-19 this year.

Show herds of Guernseys, Holstein-Friesians, Jerseys and Milk- ing Shorthorns will be on exhibit during the beef cattle shows, and top herds of Herefords, Aberdeen-Angus, Shorthorns and Brah- mans will remain in the cattle barns during the dairy show. This is made possible through cooperation of breed associations and prominent breeders, Wilson said.

In addition there will be exhibition herds of Santa Gertrudis, Charbray and Charolais cattle on hand during the opening 14 days of the fair.

Crime in America

By ESTES KEFAUVER

United States Senator

One of a Series

Birth of the Crime Committee

Ordinarily, Americans don't think much about the existence and influence of organized crime. They know vaguely that it is there, and they let it go at that. For some years, however—since the days when I was a young lawyer in Tennessee—I had been troubled by the unpleasant realization that there was a tie-up between crime and politics.

The idea stayed with me when I became a member of the senate in January, 1949. More and more I was concerned with the phenomenon of politico-criminal corruption.

Early in 1950, an accumulation of events high-lighted the desperate need for learning the real facts about crime in America.

The American Municipal association, alarmed by the effects of interstate crime operations on local governments, called for federal consideration of the problem. Newspapers—and the free press is one of our democracy's most potent weapons—were making startling disclosures about the power of modern crimesters, the white-collar successors to the Al Capones of an earlier era.

I felt the time had come to demonstrate that there is nothing the American people cannot overcome if they know the facts. So I took the issue to the senate floor by introducing a bill calling for a full-scale senate investigation of crime in interstate commerce.

As chairman, I was extremely fortunate in having the backing of four able colleagues. These were Sen. Robert R. O'Connor, Democrat, of Maryland, to whom I turned over chairmanship of the committee last May when I felt the time had come for me to step down; Sen. Lester C. Hunt, Democrat, of Wyoming, whose great gift for common sense and arriving at sound decisions contributed much stability to our deliberations; Sen. Alexander Wiley, Republican, of Wisconsin, and that remarkable moral battler, Sen. Charles W. Tobey, Republican, of New Hampshire.

Serving on the crime committee was a tremendous emotional experience for all of us. For me, it became more than merely a committee appointment; it became a way of life. Almost everything conceivable happened; in San Francisco, someone stole my hat in the federal courthouse; in Los Angeles, a youngster grabbed me in the courthouse corridor as I walked past a telephone booth and asked me to say a word to "Mom."

Our first hearing was conducted in Miami, Fla., on May 26, 1950. Between that date and the time my term as chairman ended, I traveled approximately 52,380 miles from coast to coast. Hearings were conducted in Miami, Tampa, New Orleans, Kansas City, Cleveland, St. Louis, Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Las Vegas, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, and New York. They brought in evidence of widespread crime in other cities and states, and our investigators diligently pursued these leads. We questioned witnesses from nearly every state in the union.

Through it all, I listened with mounting indignation and revulsion to the shocking story of our national disgrace. When it was over, we had established that a nationwide crime syndicate does exist in the United States, despite the protestations of a strangely assorted company of criminals, self-serving politicians, plain blind fools and others who may be honestly misguided, that there is no such combine. This nationwide syndicate is a loosely-organized but cohesive coalition of autonomous crime "locals" which work together for mutual profit. Its activities are controlled by a foul and cynical partnership of mobsters, venal politicians and conscienceless business and professional men—including accountants and lawyers—who travel under the false mask of "respectability."

The Mafia and Lucky Luciano The Mafia is the shadowy international organization that lurks behind much of America's organized crime. It is a network about which no member, on fear of death, will talk. In fact, some of the witnesses whom we had good reason to believe could tell the Senate Crime Committee about the Mafia, sought to shrug it off as a sort of fairy tale or legend that children hear in Sicily where the Mafia originated. The Mafia, however, is no fairy tale. It is ominously real, and it has scarred the face of America with murder, traffic in narcotics, smuggling, extortion, white slavery kidnapping and labor-racketeering. La Mafia even has its secret— and, of course, unwritten—code called "Omerta," a derivation of the Italian word for "man." The code is simple and brutal: death to those who resist or inform on the Mafia. Usually, a member of the offender's family is killed as additional warning.

Narcotics Agent Claude A. Follmer testified that there is "some contention" as to the identity of the New York head of the Mafia. He revealed that "it has always been my understanding that it is either Vincent Mangano or Joseph Profaci."

Mangano is said by New York police to be active in Brooklyn waterfront rackets. We had planned to question him, but our hearing time was consumed by other developments. His brother Philip Mangano, also active on the waterfront and publicly identified as prominent in the Mafia, was questioned by the committee in executive closed session. A month after our New York hearings, Philip Mangano was found dead in a Brooklyn swamp, shot three times in the head.

Agent Follmer told how the Narcotic Bureau in the early 1940s broke up a vicious Mafia-backed Kansas City narcotics ring. "All of these persons," he related, "were members of the Mafia, or Black Hand, and were financed in the narcotics traffic as a group by the Mafia. This Mafia subsidiary placed the illicit drug traffic on a business-like basis and hired a legal advisor, supervisor, general manager, traveling representative, a bookkeeper, and an extensive retail sales force."

At St. Louis, a branch office operated under John Vitale, who was in turn under the domination of Thomas Buffa and Tony Lopiparo, chiefs of the St. Louis Mafia."

In St. Louis, some months later, the committee summoned gangster Lopiparo, alias "Lopip," to ask him about his presence with a group of Sicilian gangsters in Tia Juana, Mexico, about the time Binaggio and Gargotta were murdered in Kansas City. Lopiparo at first was a sullen, snarling witness. He crouched in the witness chair and refused even to admit he had been in Tia Juana. When I asked him on what legal ground he could justify his refusal, he snapped back: "Haven't I got a Constitution?"

In 1942, Follmer went on, "it was determined that one of the sources of supply for the Kansas City group was a Mafia organization in Tampa, Fla., which in turn received smuggled drugs from Marseille, France, via Havana, Cuba. It was also indicated that Sebastiano Nani, one-time Brooklyn Mafia hoodlum, now established in California, had furnished several large shipments of drugs to the Kansas City syndicate from New York."

When the committee said that Lucky Luciano, now in exile in Italy after his deportation from the United States, was operating as the international arbiter of crime, an associate of Luciano's in Italy protested that once again poor Mr. Luciano was being maligned. We do not think so. There was too much solid evidence showing that Luciano, though exiled, still maintained his contacts with overlords of U.S. crime. Luciano—born Salvatore Lucania—was a fabulous gang figure of the lurid 1920s and early 1930s. He lived in kingly fashion in one of New York's finest hotels and he traveled constantly to America's finest resorts, accompanied by ornamental women. His illegal activities allegedly included prostitution, alcohol, narcotics, bookmaking and even a hand in the infamous Murder, Inc. Then Dewey sent him to jail.

During World War II, there was a lot of hocus-pocus about supposedly valuable services that Luciano, then a convict, was supposed to have furnished the military authorities in connection with plans for the invasion of his native Sicily. We dug into this and obtained a number of conflicting stories. This is one of the points about which the committee would have questioned Governor Dewey, who commuted Luciano's sentence, if the governor had not declined our invitation to come to New York city to testify.

One story which we heard from Attorney Moses Palakoff was that naval intelligence had sought out Luciano's aid and had asked Palakoff to be the intermediary. Palakoff, who had represented Luciano, said, "The theory behind it was that the government had the Germans pretty well spotted, but they were afraid that if any sabotage might be done it would be done through Italians, who weren't well spotted." He was referring to sabotage along the New York waterfront. From a retired naval commander, who had a hand in the affair, we received inconclusive testimony as to the substance and value of the information obtained from Luciano.

H. D. Club Celebrates 25th Anniversary at College Station

Here we are back home again, from attending the 25th Anniversary and Annual Meeting of Texas Home Demonstration, at College Station on the campus of Texas A&M College, where the organization was first chartered in 1926.

During the past 25 years, the association has grown from 390 charter members until now the enrollment is more than 42,000.

The history and progress of this organization was depicted in story and song in a pageant, "The Wheel of Progress," on last Thursday night at Kyle Field, with something like 400 women participating.

Each of the 170 counties of T.H.D.A. had their two ladies present to take part in the pageant, besides the Hill County and the Smith County Choruses and the 4-H girls, and others in the cast. The presentation was beautiful, so they said. Mrs. John Love and I represented Eastland County, so of course, being in the pageant we could not see, as did the audience.

Eleven hundred women from Texas and four from the state of Louisiana were registered.

The work of T. H. D. A. and Home Demonstration are so correlated that we as H. D. Club members carry out recommendations in Legislation, Recreation, Education, Marketing and 4-H programs of work as suggested by the association and the Extension Service.

Many good things were learned from the various sessions and work shops and will be given as reports by the three delegates, Mrs. G. G. Crowell, Mrs. Marshall Berry and Mrs. D. W. Rodgers.

The theme of this year's Convention—"United, We Stand"—was highlighted by Director Gibson. "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" was the topic by Dr. T. O. Walton, past official of the college.

John Ben Shepard represented Governor Allan Shivers and spoke on "Citizenship."

The N. H. D. C. report was given by seven ladies who attended the National Meeting at East Lansing, Michigan State College—and Yours Truly gave the Summary of our T. H. D. A. Anniversary Meeting, at the closing session Friday morning.

Some of the out of town visitors who attended during the gospel meeting at Alameda were Mr. and Mrs. Walton Minchew and son, of Breckenridge; Mrs. Julia Blackwell, Mrs. Sallie Bishop of Eastland and their house guest, Mrs. Ruth Rabey of Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. George Devall and all their children and their families from San Saba; Bro. Herman

Echols and wife, whose home is their house trailer and many from Gorman, Desdemona, some from Eastland, also Staff and other communities. Bro. J. Frank Lilly presented the three concluding sermons, because of the illness of G. Stanley Devall, who was hospitalized following the Friday night service. He was reported out of danger Sunday morning.

A large representation was present for the noon luncheon and the singing which followed in the afternoon.

Visitors in the John Tucker home these past few days have been Mr. Oscar Melton of Sweetwater, Mrs. Maud Dean, Mrs. Sophie Freeman, Mrs. Ann Love, Mr. and Mrs. John Love, Lorestia Lillie Wallace and us—of course! Wallace and her mother, Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Potet attended a sort of family reunion at Sipe Springs Sunday, where they visited her grandmother, Mrs. J. Z. May. Also with two of her aunts, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Click of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Patterson and son from Santa Anna, Texas and an uncle, Luther May of New Jersey whom she had not seen since she was a little girl.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Duncan of College Station have been guests in the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Blackwell quite recently.

Mrs. A. H. Dean and Mrs. B. Freeman visited in Gordon Friday with their aunt, Mrs. Emma Weekes and then on Saturday in Cisco they visited their sister-in-law, Mrs. Nona (Frank) Weekes.

Charles Neger is home from Sweetwater where he has been working for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perrin visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Lonzo Melton. A brother, Oscar Melton, of Sweetwater, has also been their guest.

Little Dwain Brown continues to be a patient at West Texas Clinic, at Ranger.

Mrs. Emma Green is improved since being hospitalized at Cisco for the past several weeks, where she will stay indefinitely.

Mrs. D. W. Rodgers identified herself in a group picture of 4-H girls, dating back to 1928, while at College Station last week. She had been a county dress revue winner and attended what was then known as the Farmers Short Course. Mrs. John Love was listed as the Vice President of District 7 1946-48, under the administration of Mrs. Gus A. Rogas, Mano, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Simpson were callers in the Sanford Lemley home Sunday afternoon.

A small nephew of the Lemley's Franklin D. Smick, is visiting them indefinitely.

BILL BROGDON RETURNS FROM OBSERVATION TOUR

Bill Brogdon with two fellow students and buddies have returned from a hospital observation tour which took them through the hospitals of several Lake Cities of the Central States.

BASCOM HIGGINBOTTOMS HAVE NEW DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Bascom Higginbottom, Spofford, Texas are announcing the birth of a daughter born August 24th. The new baby has been christened Cynthia Marie. Her mother is the former Betty Marie Beard and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Higginbottom, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Beard.

OFF TO COLLEGE GROUP AND KOREAN VETERAN ENJOY FELLOWSHIP

Wednesday evening the Adult Department of the Methodist Church sponsored a play party for the Off-to-College group of boys and girls and soldiers home on leave.

Festivities opened with a singing. Refreshments of home-made ice cream and cake were then in order. Honorees were named and the students gave their choice of college with the course each had selected. Tarleton State at Stephenville was the unanimous choice of those present. Going to Tarleton on June 10th will be Joy Hampton, Martin Bailey, Joe Mauney, June Eldridge, Gary Rhymes, Cecil Robertson and Nick Eaker.

Dale Brightwell, familiarly known as Bear, who recently arrived at home after spending the greater part of the past year in Korea, told the group that he had received his discharge and that his present plans included operating the projection machine at the King Theatre.

Circle games, relays, and charades were enjoyed until 10 P. M. when everyone sang, "Good Nite Ladies".

College Student Day will be observed at the Methodist Church Sunday September 9. Rev. J. L. Ray will deliver his message with the theme, Christian Education.

Experience is what you get when you're expecting something else.

The Time Between You --

... and financial loss may be years away depending on circumstances, but if you are living in a home without knowing anything about the title it may be sooner than you realize. Consider the couple who lost their all by buying without an abstract. It's better to be safe than sorry and a thousand times cheaper. Be wise and follow the course of successful business men who always insist on an abstract before buying any kind of real estate.
