Excelsior Club Meets With Mrs. Carl Sims

The members of the Excelsior Club gathered for the first meeting of their club year on Tuesday night, September 22nd in the home of Mrs. Carl Sims.

There were "Happy Hellos" as we greeted each other on our assembly day for some had been gone at one time or another on vacation during the summer months. So the meeting was begun with a happy note.

Mrs. Fairbetter presented the new yearbooks, taking us thru step by step. We do have an interesting project for the year - "Promoting a Spirit of Americanism". It is a challenge for each of us and we should look forward to carrying out our program.

Mrs. Townsend read our constitution and by-laws and completing the program for the evening was our President's Address by Mrs. Fanny Burkett. She began by saying that there is something exciting about the opening of club season. The General Federation with its great and widespread programs offers to each club woman an opportunity to find some activity in which she can interest herself and make a contribution to her community. It is astounding to hear a woman bemoan that she is bored and finds life dull and unrewarding. One needs only to be alive to the things that are going on and take an active part in them. What a life it would be if we lived only for ourselves. It is truly living with deep sympathy and understanding for others that actually develops character in us all and gives us that inner glow of beauty that shines through and makes a more attractive person.

In her closing remarks, our president said, "May this club year be a successful one that we can look upon with pride."

All the members were present and we had two visitors, our recent ex-president, Mrs. N. C. Crawley of Arlington, and Mrs. Sims' sister from Eastland, Mrs. Homer White.

The Desdemona Study Club extended an invitation to us to meet with them on October 9th.

After a delicious refreshment plate was served, tasty sandwiches, cookies and spiced hot punch, we bade our hostess good night.

Outstanding Coach And Teacher

Mr. David Goodwin has been a teacher in the Gorman Public School since 1951. He, too, came to us from Carbon (as did Supt. Browder and Ass't Coach Rice) where he taught for one year. He graduated from NTSC at Denton in 1950 and in 1956 he obtained his Masters degree in Education from Howard Payne at Brownwood.

Mr. Goodwin is Gorman High School Principal, high school math teacher and High School girls basketball coach. He has coached the Pantherettes to

For the second straight year the Panthers have tied Tolar. Last year they played to a scoreless deadlock. Last Friday the score was 14-14 and the statistics were even also. Gorman made eleven first downs and Tolar made twelve.

Kokomo Baptist To Dedicate New Church Sunday

The Kokomo Baptist Church will have a dedication service on Sunday, September 27 at 2:30, dedicating their recently constructed church building to the honor and glory of God.

The pastor, Rev. Jackie Heath, stated that the building program which was begun in December of 1958 was a success through the leadership of the Spirit and the willingness and cooperation of the people.

Until recently the Kokomo Baptist Church was known as the Mt. Olive Baptist Church, but because of the confusion of identity and locality, the name was changed to Kokomo Baptist Church.

Rev. Don Turner will deliver the Dedicatory Sermon, and Floyd Fisher of Comanche, will be in charge of the music.

The church has not only extended a cordial invitation to everyone to attend the Dedication Service, but also extends an invitation to attend the Morning Service - Sunday School beginning at 10 - and the Morning Worship at 11 - and the Evening Worship Service at 7:30.

After a delicious refreshment plate was served, tasty sandwiches, cookies and spiced hot punch, we bade our hostess good night.

The Panthers showed marked improvement in their tackling but need to improve on blocking. They also showed improvement in moving the ball on offense more freely with Joe Harrison at Quarterback. The boys in Red and Blue looked better on offense after they loosened up in offensive play.

The Panthers will travel to Dublin Friday night to engage the Licks. Dublin has dropped two games already. They lost to Cisco and Glen Rose, and, of course, Gorman has lost 2 and tied 1, which makes the two clubs appear to be about even.

A large crowd is expected at the Panther-Lion game is a climax of Dublin Free Fall Fair.

J & S SPORTS

Joe Bennett & Speedy Clark J & S

The Chicago White Sox have clinched the American League Penant. And most baseball fans are happy because this is the first time in forty years for the White Sox to win a penant.

The Milwaukee Braves now lead the nip-and-tuck National League by one game over the L. A. Dodgers with four games left to play. The San Francisco Giants are two games out in third place.

Warren Spahn, ace left-handed pitcher of the Braves, joined a select few Monday night by winning his 20th game for the 1959 season. This makes ten seasons in which he has won twenty or more games. Only two other pitchers have accomplished this feat.

J & S NOW ITS NINETEEN! Yes, the Gorman Cubs have now won 19 consecutive football games. They defeated Eastland on Thursday afternoon 16-0 for their 18th win in a row and then on Tuesday night of this week whipped Granbury 24-0 to make it 19 in a row.

From the looks of things now the Cubs have a good chance to go undefeated this year and make their record read 26 straight. However they are meeting a big De Leon team Tuesday night at Gorman which will be big and tough. However, if the Cubs continue to play their top-notch brand of football they should go all the way. That's what we are predicting they will do.

The first week of pigskin predictions Joe and I both came up with 8 out of 10 correct for an average of 80%. So we have put on our turbans and gazed deep into the crystal ball and come up with the winners this week. And here they are:

- SPEEDY PICKS
- Michigan St. over A&M
 - Arkansas over Okla. State
 - Colorado over Baylor
 - SMU over Ga. Tech
 - LSU over TCU
 - Oklahoma over Northwestern (TV Game of the Week)

 - Ohio State over Duke

Cubs Beat Eastland And Granbury; To Host De Leon

The Gorman Cubs defeated Granbury Tuesday night at Granbury by a score of 24-0 in their first district game of the year. The win was not as easy as the score would indicate largely because of the huge weight advantage of the Granbury team.

Gorman To Have New Phone System

Mr. Walter Speck, owner and manager of the Gorman Telephone Co., announces that in the very near future a new building will be constructed to house the new dial equipment that will change our telephone system.

Engineers are now busy working on the plan of how many switches and terminals that will be needed to give everyone service who is desiring it.

In order to have enough equipment to serve you the telephone company must know at once whether you desire service or not.

Mr. Speck stated that he had only a couple of weeks to get this information and urged all who want this service to come in an sign an application at the telephone office.

We will miss the voice of the "Hello Girls" but the new system will serve more customers with better service. Soon we will not be able to blame the operator for a wrong number.

To Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weaver of Carbon will hold open house on Sunday, October 4, 1959 in observance of their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

They were married on October 2, 1909 in a beautiful outdoor setting in Carlton, Texas at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Gallager who was pastor of the Methodist Church and performed the ceremony witnessed by a host of friends and relatives.

Soon after his marriage they moved to Eastland County where they have lived and reared their children.

Mr. Weaver is a retired farmer and after selling their farm

The Granbury team fumbled on the first series of downs and the Cubs hit a touchdown pass from Halfback Gary Overstreet to End Bobby Rodgers covering 14 yards. In the second quarter Overstreet raced 79 yards to the 1 yard line and scored on the next play to lead at halftime 12-0. Fullback Don Wallace ran 35 yards and 21 yards in the second half to finish scoring for the night. Gorman had one touchdown nullified because of a penalty.

Study Of U. N. Reveals Program Non-Political

Women attending the sessions of the study "The Role of the United Nations in Foreign Affairs" of the Woman's Society of Christian Service are finding that many accomplishments of the combined efforts of the more than 80 member nations have been achieved from a non-political viewpoint.

The education, agricultural, scientific, and social programs steer away from the political if possible, having as their aims the meeting of physical, mental, economic needs, which in turn gives the much needed spiritual uplift to many poverty stricken people.

Mrs. Donald Bolt made the statement that any person from any country of the world may appear and make his appeal to the United Nations for redress against oppression.

Mrs. William Brogdon in interpreting for people of today the sacrificial offering of Abraham stated that the offering showing the patriarch's faith and being a type of the Crucifixion marked the step in civilization when man began to realize that human sacrifice must not be. And that God does not want the sacrifice of young men offered on the altar of WAR in present times.

Mrs. Melvin Shell will host the September 29th session of the WSCS in her home. Members are urged to come and bring a non-member.

JUDY LEE BURNS GOES TO FT WORTH

It has been learned that Miss Judy Lee Burns is to enter St. Joseph's Hospital in Fort Worth on Monday, September 28th.

She is to undergo plastic surgery to remove scars she suffered when she was badly burned several years ago.

Good Luck, Judy.

A TRIP TO EAST TEXAS

Last weekend Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Duke and Mrs. Floy Morrison motored to Quitman, Texas to the Vickery Family Reunion. It was held in the Jim Hogg Memorial Park. Gov. Hogg was the first native Texan to become governor.

The house in which he reared his family is still standing and his children refurbished it with the antique furniture that originally belonged there, including a very rare old piano.

The split rail fence has been preserved and the old dinner bell is still hanging majestically in its place.

In order to originate football games this season, The Humble Company will contract the services of 103 broadcast crew members - exclusive of the services of TV technicians who become so numerous you can't count 'em. Included in the crews are 23 announcers, 17 radio engineers, 12 supervisors and at least 51 spotters.

The defensive play of Guard David Harrison was outstanding with strong support from Jim Rodgers, Larry Newton, Billy Welch, Larry Kirk, Richard Watson, Tommy Broom, Don Wallace, Bobby Rodgers, William Jay, and Gary Overstreet.

Thursday afternoon the Cubs won over Eastland at Eastland by a score of 16-0. After a pass from Overstreet to Erby Rodgers put the ball close to the goal on Wallace fumbled from 6 yards out with Overstreet adding the extra 2 points.

In the third quarter William Jay carried 58 yards to paydirt with Overstreet again carrying for the extra points.

The quarterbacking of Terry Clark was very efficient in both games in keeping the offense moving with backs Jay, Wallace and Overstreet doing the ball carrying.

In addition to the above mentioned players others seeing action in both games were guards Terry Joiner and David Kirk; backs Doyle Welch, Michael Foster and Jerry Ormsby; tackles Mike Rodgers and Mack Sutton; center Robert Whitt; and ends Ronnie Smith and Gregory Pennington.

Next Tuesday night the Cubs will be hosts to De Leon in a game that could have a great deal to do with the outcome of the district. The De Leon crew is led by Chipper Lee, a 195 pound fullback, and Sid Christopher, a 75 pound halfback. Except for the fullback they are not too large, but fast, hard hitting and well coached. They lost to Ranger 8-6 and have won their first district game over Comanche 30-6.

Game time will be at 7:30 p. m.

New Suspension System For '60 Chevrolet Trucks

Impressive gains in cushioning cargo and passengers from road shock, plus much greater stability and safety result from a revolutionary suspension system designed for 1960 Chevrolet trucks.

The totally redesigned truck suspension provides the nearest approach to passenger car ride and handling yet achieved, along with vastly improved durability. It has been under development for six years.

"Aside from the obvious advantage of passenger comfort, this new suspension offers an economic bonus to truck buyers," E. N. Cade, Chevrolet's general manager, commented. "Because road shock is largely absorbed by rugged suspension members instead of being driven into the frame, chances for damage to fragile cargoes are reduced and life of cabs, metal panels, and other chassis components is prolonged, leading to lower maintenance costs."

In a clean break with the past, Chevrolet has replaced the hard-riding I-beam axle with independent front wheel suspension with ball joints and torsion bar springs on all but two models. Rear suspensions also are drastically changed, with coil springs on some light duty models. Heavier series use a new split-riding leaf spring with automatic adjustment of spring stiffness as the load increases.

In keeping with the "total redesign" theme, frames and other chassis elements also are redesigned and styling is changed along functional lines. Fenders, hood, and other panels are integrated with the new chassis for a more rigid, lower, roomier, more accessible cab and sturdier front end assembly.

An important feature of Chevrolet's new suspensions is that springs no longer are called upon to keep wheels and axles aligned and to take driving and braking forces, as in conventional systems.

Since those functions are performed by durable control arms, springs need only to cushion the vehicle. It also makes possible the use of friction-free torsion bars in front, and coil springs at the rear in light models.

These two types of spring respond to small road shocks that would not flex conventional leaf springs because of inter-leaf friction, thus affording a smoother ride. On heavier duty rear leaf spring suspensions, design is such that only the proper spring length to give load support is in play at all times, giving a softer ride.

In addition to its superior ride, the new independent front suspension has many advantages. Unsprung weight is lower and wheel fight and shimmy are greatly reduced. "Wheel hop" is minimized on rough roads, giving better tire wear and prolonged suspension parts life. Ball joints simplify lubrication and afford constant friction for excellent ride, good wheel return, and automatic take-up of wear.

An important factor is that rugged control arms will keep front members in position in event of spring failure, unlike I-beam systems in which such a failure may seriously affect steering control. Also a safety consideration is the greater resistance to roll or way on turns.

With the new rear suspensions, unloaded ride is much softer and fore-and-aft pitch greatly reduced. The assembly weighs less than conventional springs and affords impressive improvement in rear end stability, particularly on turns under load. Roll and sway also are markedly reduced.

Advances in strength and durability have kept pace with gains in ride and handling. Torsion bars, basically the same in design as those used successfully in heavy military tanks, have been thoroughly tested in laboratory and proving ground trials. Brutal test schedules have shown the new suspensions to go through two torturing 3500 miles run over jolting cobblestones without failure, compared with conventional suspensions which failed halfway through the first run.

Frames also have been redesigned and strengthened. Laboratory tests show some frames to be 1100 percent stiffer and to have 21 per cent more beam strength. New designs reduce cab heights, with some up to seven inches lower. On light-duty models seat level is at step-in height from the ground.

Cabs are roomier, with improved sealing against water and dust. Inside stepwells are eliminated, affording full width floors. All cabs are rubber-mounted, have more windshield area, and are 67 per cent stronger torsionally. Hoods are integrated with fenders for full-width accessibility to the engine compartment.

Re-proportioning of chassis, body, and sheet metal gives more favorable weight distribution, better maneuverability, and greater stability. Positioning the cab of light-duty models farther forward increases front suspension load by up to 8 per cent.

Many other improvements are offered in the 1960 Chevrolet truck line. Powerglide automatic transmission will be available for the first time on light-duty models. Both 6 and 8 cylinder engines will be available in some models not previously so equipped. Brake sizes on most models have been increased, with lining life prolonged by up to 40 percent, and cooling has been improved. A new hydraulic clutch control system for smoother action and increased clutch life is standard on all but one model.

Numerous engine refinements also are offered, including improved oil control, new manifold for the largest engine, three point mounting, and optional front-end power take-off for heavy-duty engines.

SENIOR NEWS

By Clyda Rankin

Howdy neighbors: What was it? I don't know, but it sure was a mess. I'll ask it what it is. "Say cat, what are you?" At last the great question as to what was running loose all over the school Monday is answered. It was a bunch of newly initiated freshmen. Honestly, if you have never seen flour, water, syrup, eggs, shoe polish, and more flour mixed all over a human being, or should I have said a people-person, then you've never lived. The seniors were running madly about screaming orders and feeling important. The freshmen were running around sucking their bottles and pointedly disobeying their masters. You never heard the like of "Praise the Seniors" given either by a rough and ready senior or a very begrudging freshman. After lunch the seniors and freshmen were turned loose in the football field. Yes, you would say, those poor freshmen were put into the unmerciful hands of those horrible seniors. Ha Ha. It turned out to be just about even tho. The seniors were just as beaten and tired and wet as the freshmen were. All in all it was a deliciously tiring day.

Our football boys are doing better. We came out even last week. That is better than usual. These boys will soon be on the winning side if they keep it up. More power to you boys! Go Panthers!

It's been a mighty nice visit. I really enjoy our weekly get-together. I've got to mosey on for this week. Yea, Panthers! over and out.

Be Safe, Sane—and ACCEPTED!

Ever hear about the gal on her first hunting trip who tried to climb a fence with her gun ready to fire and blew a hole in her husband's hat? Pretty funny, maybe, but not if the gun had been aimed just a bit lower. A hunter should always hand his or her gun to a companion, if possible, before crossing over or through a fence. In any case, the gun should be on "safety", with the action open. Learn gun safety, and resolve to practice it faithfully. The men in your party will be watching you carefully at first for signs of the scatterbrained actions that all men seem to attribute (mistakenly, of course!) to all women. Prove they're wrong, and when they realize you know and obey the rules, they'll relax and treat you as a bona fide hunting companion. Why we built two cars for 1960 . . . as different as night and day

On October 2—for the first time in Chevrolet's 49-year history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. ■ One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. ■ The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. ■ We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.

Why two kinds of cars? Because America itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium.

And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is new leisure time—but more things to do. There's a new standard of living—and more need for two cars in the family garage.

In short, America's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at Chevrolet, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years.

Thus, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a sawed-off version of a conventional car.

That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2 will be two entirely different kinds of cars. One is the conventional '60 Chevrolet—brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power linked with new thrift, plus Chevrolet's superb 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection—in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride—than any other car we have ever made.

The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be—because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance . . . a car designed specifically to American standards of comfort, to American traffic needs.

The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheelbase and a practically flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra light and ultra short. So Corvair's engine is totally new—mostly aluminum and air cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed six—so it is only three cylinders long . . . and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.

Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies it great structural strength . . . it's a welded unit that is virtually rattle-free.

The ride is fantastic. But to get it we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; conventional springing would give a compact car a choppy ride. Right now we'll make one prediction: no other U.S. compact car will ride so comfortably, hold the road so firmly and handle so beautifully.

Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet—because it takes two kinds of cars to serve America's needs today. If you love luxury—the utmost in luxury—and if you want generous interior space, breath-taking performance, automatic drives and power assists—then the conventional '60 Chevrolet may be your choice.

If easy parking, traffic agility and utmost economy are high on your list—then you should seriously consider the Corvair. But the best thing to do is to look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's . . . take them out for a drive. It may be that the only logical choice for your family between two cars like this is—both. They make a perfect pair.

NOW... '60 CHEVROLET TRUCKS

WITH REVOLUTIONARY TORSION-SPRING SUSPENSION THAT GIVES ASTONISHING NEW SHOCKPROOF ACTION !!!!!

Chevy's done the next best thing to paving every road in America!

First they threw out the front axle and put in torsion-spring independent suspension. Then they built wide-base coil rear springs into most light-duty models, variable-rate leaf springs into heavies. That made it—a ride you have to feel to believe. A ride that lets you move faster to get more work done in a day's time.

Brawnier bulldozer build!

Frames are stronger, cabs 67% more rigid. Front wheels and tires are precision-balanced. And that new suspension cushions jars and road shock that used to spell slow death for the truck's body and sheet metal.

More comfortable cabs!

Easier to hop in and out of too. Many models are a whole 7 inches lower outside. Yet there's more head room inside, plus more width for shoulders and hips. More real comfort!

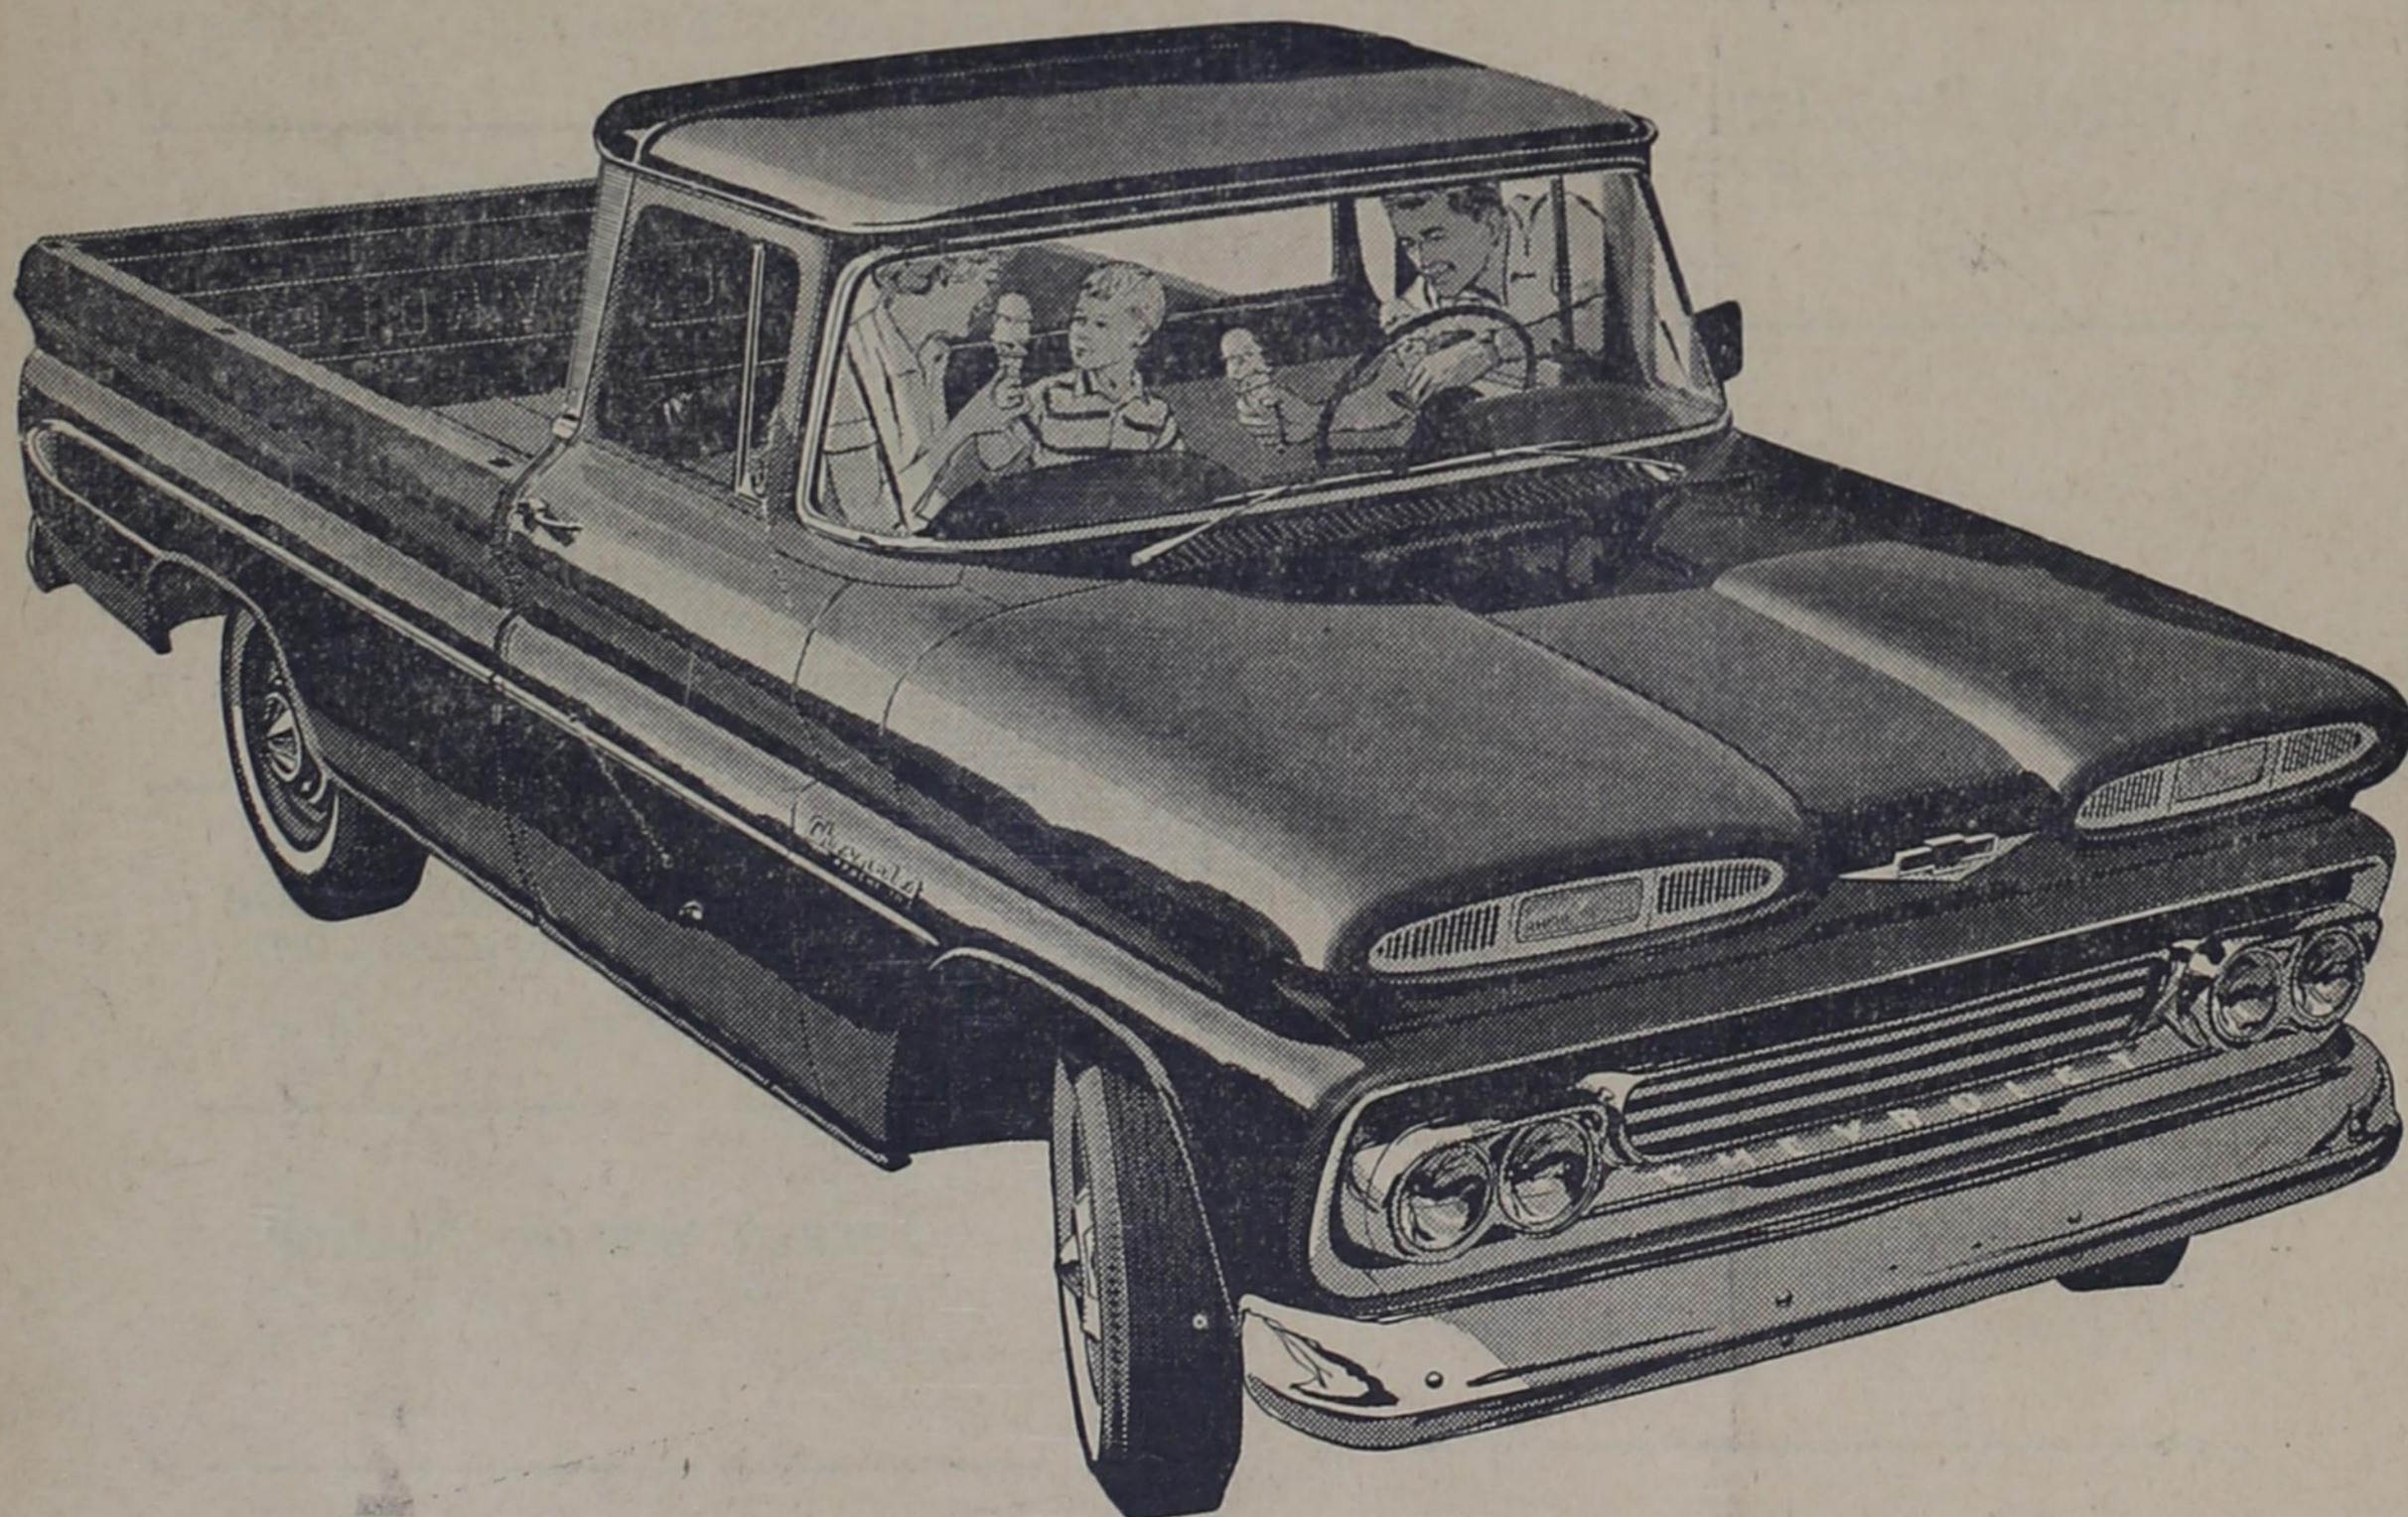

Big in the power department!

With the industry's most advanced gas-saving 6's. With high-torque Workmaster V8 performance in heavyweights. With new 6-cylinder or V8 power available in L.C.F.'s.

More models than ever!

New 4-wheel-drive models and tandems and high-styled Suburban Carryalls. It's the handsomest, hardest working Chevy fleet ever to report for duty. See your dealer soon for a ride!

Anything less is an old-fashioned truck!

When You Buy Real Estate -

... you not only buy the land and all that's attached to it above and below, but some kind of a title, good or bad. The abstract is a written history of the title and is the evidence of your security or insecurity. Since security is the basis and measure of all values, the abstract becomes the most important factor in every real estate transaction. That may be the reason why most careful buyers require an abstract.

SHORT STORY

A Lady's Secret

By William L. Roper

"BRUCE," said Jake Wingate, managing editor of The Sun, "I want you to take a run down to Covington and interview a little old lady. She's got a secret."

"Murder somebody?" Jake grinned. "Not recently. Her name's Sara Bingham. Does that ring a bell?"

"Bingham?" Bruce frowned, tapped his head thoughtfully. "No, I'm afraid not."

"You're too young to remember."

Jake said. It was a long time ago. Besides she was better known as Sara Hegel. That was her stage name. She was a glamorous witch in the gay nineties, the toast of two continents. One millionaire playboy, who fell in love with her, was murdered. The case was never solved. So—"

Bruce nodded knowingly. "So you want me to get her to talk?"

"Yeah." Jake handed Bruce a sheet of paper. "Here's her address and a memo on the case."

Bruce nodded. "So you want me to get her to talk?"

Three hours later, Bruce Rodell was ringing a doorbell in Covington. The door opened and Bruce felt his heart do a quick flip-flop. There facing him in the doorway was a lovely red-head, not the aged ex-chorus girl he was seeking.

"I was looking for a Mrs. Sara Bingham," he said. "But what a pleasant surprise."

"Won't you come in, please?" The girl's voice was pleasingly vibrant.

The living room was small, neatly furnished. A spinet piano stood against the inner wall, a canary cage in one corner.

"Please be seated," the girl said. "I'll tell her you're here."

Bruce could hear the old lady's cane tapping along the hall, and as she came in, leaning on the girl, he could see that she was nearly blind. He got to his feet.

"Mrs. Bingham," he said, "I'm Bruce Rodell of The Sun." The old lady bowed. "Permit me to introduce my grand-daughter, Patricia Mayberry."

"Delighted," Bruce said. "Be seated, Mr. Rodell." The old lady turned to her grand-daughter. "Pat, dear, would you mind running down to the corner grocery and getting some lemons. It's such a hot day I'm sure Mr. Rodell would like a glass of lemonade."

Bruce's eyes followed the trim figure of Patricia to the door. Already he was beginning to feel like a heel. From the moment he had seen the girl, he had been trying to think of some way to keep from hurting her—and the publication of the grandmother's secret might hurt terribly.

Suddenly he became conscious that the old lady was speaking. "I know why you've come to see me, Mr. Rodell," she said. "You've discovered I am the former Sara Hegel, the chorus girl on the flying trapeze. You want to know who murdered Boyd Sanford."

Bruce nodded. "I was the girl in the case," the old lady continued. "I won't try to deny anything. One man killed another over me. It was a horrible mistake. I was in love with Boyd."

Bruce studied her sympathetically. "But why didn't you cooperate with the police in solving the mystery? You must have known—"

"Of course, I knew." The old lady began to sob. She rocked gently in her chair. "I was afraid of Gambrell, the murderer. He was one of the most powerful men in the country at the time."

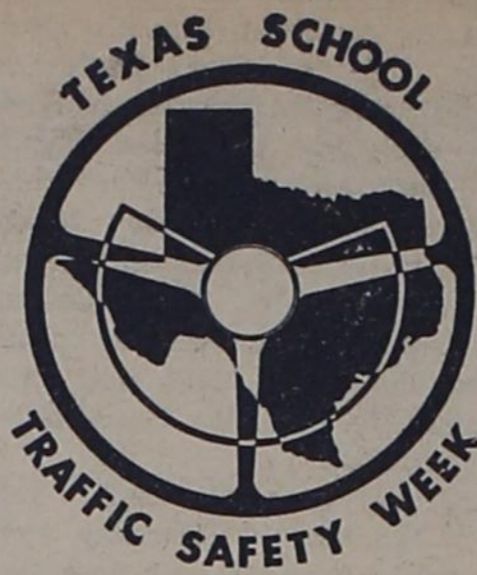

"Gambrell?" Bruce said. "You mean Stanley Gambrell, the publisher of The Sun!"

"Yes." The old lady sighed. "I think he was the grandfather of Mr. Wingate, your managing editor. You know Mr. Wingate, of course?"

"Your grandma and I have been having a pleasant talk over old times," he said. "Would you two ladies care to take a little ride in the country in my new convertible. It's so beautiful and serene out here in Covington in the spring-time."
