Australians Continue Advance In New Guinea

A new struggle for the prize Guadalcanal air base in the Solomon islands was apparently developing today, with U. S. Marines battling freshly landed Japanese forces, while on the New Guinea front Australian troops pressed their 10-day-old pursuit of the retreating Japanese.

Tax Measure Is Protested By LaFollette

Says New Revenue Bill Unfair To Lower Incomes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—The senate rejected today a proposal by Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis) to boost corporation taxes $219,000,000 yearly by increasing normal and surtax rates to a combined total of 50 per cent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis) protested in a report filed today that the revenue bill now before the senate "places an unfair and dangerous share of the increased tax burden upon lower income groups."

In a minority report submitted as the senate began its second day of debate on the record breaking measure, La Follette urged adoption of amendments which he said would jack up corporation taxes and close loopholes of the present law to obtain an additional $1,000,000,000 over the $7,900,000,000 in new revenues sponsors say the bill will raise.

La Follette charged that the measure, as approved by the committee, failed to raise "a reasonable maximum of revenue which is available without undue sacrifice," failed to plug loopholes of the present law and failed to tax large incomes and inheritances heavily enough.

In the second place, he said the high individual income tax rates in the lower brackets threatened to encroach upon subsistence standards of living, "in effect taxing bread out of people's mouths."

La Follette proposed to raise an additional $219,000,000 annually by increasing surtaxes on corporations with yearly income of $25,000 or more, so that they would pay a combined normal and surtax rate of 50 per cent.

Other increases he proposed included: Compulsory joint individual income tax returns, $300,000,000; taxation of income from existing and future issues of state and local securities, $225,000,000; elimination of percentage depletion now allowed mines and oil wells, $124,000,000; increased individual income surtax rates, $209,000,000, and increased estate and gift taxes, $193,000,000.

With the normal rate unchanged at 24 per cent, the house proposed a 21 per cent surtax on net incomes above $50,000, or a total of 45 per cent. The senate finance committee reduced the surtax rate to 15 per cent, for a total of 40 per cent.

Under this amendment, La Follette said, the surtax would be 26 per cent on net incomes over $20,000.

To ease the effect of that change on small corporations, La Follette said he would propose a $10,000 exemption for excess profits tax purposes, as contained in the house bill, which the senate reduced to $5,000.

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the finance committee was expected to oppose the 50 per cent combined rate, since he reported to the senate the committee considered even the 45 per cent in the house bill too high and thought it "would result in severe hardship on many corporations crippled by priorities and other effects of our war economy."

The senate operated in high gear yesterday in approving non-conformity committee amendments to the bill. Within slightly more than four hours after Chairman George began his opening statement, the senators had run through all 877 pages of the measure, reserving decisions only on disputed paragraphs.

Red Onslaught Digs Deeper Into Germans' North Flank

Post-War Commission Would Punish Ringleaders Of War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today the United States was prepared to cooperate in establishing a United Nations commission, after the war, for the investigation of war crimes of the axis and said it was the intention to mete out just and sure punishment to "ringleaders responsible for the organized murder of thousands of innocent persons and the commission of atrocities."

It is the intention of the United States, he said in a formal statement, that "the successful close of the war shall include provision for the surrender to the United Nations of war criminals."

With a view to establishing the responsibility of the guilty individuals through the collection and assessment of all available evidence, Mr. Roosevelt said, this government is prepared to cooperate with the British and other governments in establishing a United Nations investigating committee.

Declaring that it was not the intention to resort to mass reprisals, the chief executive predicted the number of persons eventually found guilty undoubtedly would be extremely small compared to the total enemy populations.

President Secretary Stephen Early, who distributed Mr. Roosevelt's statement, failed to answer a question as to whether Hitler and Mussolini were two of the ringleaders whose surrender would be required.

New Divisions Are Hurlled At Stalingrad

Attackers Hastily Go Into Trenches To Stem Russian Push

MOSCOW, Oct. 7 (AP)—Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's counterdrive between the Don and Volga bit deeper today into the north flank of the German wedge into Stalingrad and Russian dispatches said the Germans were falling back desperately upon trench warfare in an attempt to halt the onslaught and save their positions.

At Stalingrad, whose fate hung in the balance, the Germans hurled whole new divisions, fresh from the march, into the bitter street fighting against outnumbered defenders who sagged back and held through the 4th day of stage.

Dispatches from the battlefield said that across the steppes northwest of Stalingrad the offensive was firmly in Russian hands in a relief attack of increasing scope against hastily dug German trench lines studded with half-sunken tanks as strong points.

At one point along the line the Russians reported killing 1,200 Rumanian troops and capturing others who tried to hold a small village, and in other sectors the counter-thrust was declared to be gaining ground and improving the Russian position.

The army newspaper Red Star said a dangerous situation developed as the Germans reached the depth of an industrial settlement, but heavy Soviet counterattacks cleared much of the area. The red army men were reinforced by night and new fighter planes flew to their aid.

The Germans were declared hurled from the streets, houses, gardens and orchards by garrison forces led by elite guards. Explosive and incendiary bombs caused considerable damage to houses of the settlement and many civilians were among the casualties.

Location of the settlement was not announced, but many of the Soviet factories in that area are several miles from the city. It is obvious that it was not any of the workers' communities along the Volga, because no dispatches mentioned the river.

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's shock divisions maintained ground-gaining pressure against the strongly entrenched Germans northwest of the city, dispatches said. This area likewise has never been specifically defined, other than as embracing a region of the Steppes between the Don and the Volga.

Football Games Being Cancelled

CHEAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 7 (AP)—Athletic officials announced today that the football game with Rice University of Texas, scheduled to be played here October 17, had called off because of the transportation situation.

Director R. A. Fetzler said the athletic council acted after receipt this morning of a telegram from Jess Neely, athletic director at Rice, requesting it.

Neely's request, Fetzler said, was "to postpone the two-game contract for the duration of the war."

TEMPE, Ariz., Oct. 7 (AP)—Dr. Grady Gammage, president of Arizona State Teachers College, said last night a Border conference football game at Abilene, Texas, Oct. 17, between the Tempe, Tempe, and Abilene-Summons University had been cancelled.

Russian-Aid Situation To Be Clarified

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Steps toward clarifying misunderstandings and removing complications that may have arisen in the British-American program of aid to embattled Russia were under way today.

President Roosevelt announced at his press conference yesterday that United States Ambassador William H. Standley was returning from his post in the Soviet Union to report, and Moscow dispatches said the ambassador was bringing with him his military and naval attaches—in other words his experts on questions of lend-lease deliveries to Russia and on all aspects of the critical military situation there.

At the same time the president told reporters he had scanned the headlines reporting Wendell Willkie's recent demand for a second front but had not thought it worthwhile to read the stories.

In addition to Ambassador Standley, Mr. Roosevelt said several other American diplomats, including Laurence A. Steinhardt, the ambassador to Turkey, would return to Washington soon to report. Steinhardt already has reached this country.

Shortly after the president's announcement the state department disclosed the signing of a British-American-Soviet protocol covering the delivery of supplies to Russia and giving formal acceptance to agreements already in effect providing for uninterrupted continuation of the supply program agreed on at the Moscow conference a year ago.

Details of the arrangement were not announced, but it was noted that the signing of the protocol and the announcement that Ambassador Standley was coming home to report followed closely on Premier Stalin's blunt statement of Sunday that Allied aid was relatively ineffective and calling on the Allies to "fulfill their obligations fully and on time."

Compliance With Rubber Rationing Our 'Only Hope'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Faithful compliance with the nationwide gasoline-rubber rationing program says Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers, represents "the only hope of bridging the gap between the present and the time when rubber substitutes will be available."

In his first radio broadcast since his appointment on Sept. 15, the administrator declared last night he was confident rationing and other conservation regulations would win the voluntary support of most citizens.

"For that small segment of our population who will try to beat the game," he admonished, "I have only this to say—look out."

Rent Control Due To Be Delayed

DALLAS, Oct. 7 (AP)—Federal rent control cannot be invoked in the largest portion of the Dallas OPA region until Dec. 5, although the entire region has now been designated a defense-rental area, regional OPA Administrator Max McCullough has announced.

Rent control had been invoked in 36 defense-rental areas in the region but 44 more areas are ready for rent control since the 60-day waiting period provided for them has passed, McCullough said yesterday. He added that final action would be taken in these areas as soon as administratively feasible.

The Dallas OPA region comprises the states of Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas.

Burton Holmes To Lecture Tonight On 'Alaska'

Burton Holmes, dean of lecturers, opens the Civic Entertainment series sponsored by the Lions club at 8:30 p. m. in the city auditorium, giving his colorful talk on "Alaska."

Holmes has been around the world so often that most people have lost count. His travels have taken him almost everywhere—to where no other white man has been. He is the friend of kings, presidents, leaders and even urchins.

Critics declare that his life's story is like re-reading the Arabian Nights.

The noted lecturer is just returned from Alaska where he gathered new material for his current series of lectures. Mr. Holmes accompanies his thrilling addresses with elaborate color film. So engaging is his type of delivery that some have regarded him as the man responsible for the "business of lecturing."

Lions club officials said that the series of eight entertainments would be operated here this season and that season tickets would still be available at the auditorium lobby this evening. Single admissions will be sold but they rank substantially higher in price.

Dan Conley, directing the campaign, said that season tickets could still be had for half price down, the balance to be paid in installments by time for the third program.

Other artists due to appear this season include internationally famed Percy Grainger, pianist and composer; Francis White, lyric soprano of the "Telephone Hour"; Olga and Martin Stevens' Marionettes; the Robert Mitchell Boyshor; Iva Kitchell, acclaimed comic dancer; Mary Hutchinson, dramatic actress; and Virginia Ellis, 15-year-old violin prodigy.

Willkie Calls For Offensive

CHUNGKING, Oct. 7 (AP)—Wendell Willkie called upon the United Nations today for an "all-out armed offensive everywhere" and said he expected to dedicate his life to urging a post-war world "where all men can be free and with governments of their own choosing."

"It is my personal opinion that the time has come for an all-out armed offensive everywhere by all United Nations," Willkie said in a statement on his tour of 13 nations. "We are ready to deliver some knockout punches if I can believe what I have seen with my own eyes."

Shortly after issuing his statement Willkie had an hour's talk with General Chiang Kai-Shek—his fifth conference with the Chinese leader—and then left for an undisclosed destination.

(Previous Chungking said the American envoy would visit the Chinese front but that his itinerary would be kept secret to lessen the danger of Japanese air attack.)

Since arriving in Chungking Willkie has spent a total of ten hours with Chiang, with the generalissimo's American-educated wife doing most of the interpreting.

Ruling Wanted On Bus Hauls

FORT WORTH, Oct. 7 (AP)—State OPA Director Mark McGee has been requested to seek a ruling from regional and national office of price administration officials on four points involved in the conflict between the tire shortage and transportation of athletic teams.

Evolution from a conference yesterday of state and county rationing officials and representatives of schools and transportation companies in the Fort Worth-Dallas area, the questions were:

1. May bus companies sell "party rate" tickets to football teams and similar groups for transportation between cities, if additional equipment is needed to serve them?

2. Does the sale of single tickets to members of athletic teams, knowing they are to be used for inter-city transportation or from a game, constitute evasion by bus companies of the prohibition against operating charter or excursion bus service?

3. May local bus companies operate off-roads and off-schedule buses to handle crowds going to or from a football game?

4. May taxicab companies agree in advance to provide facilities at a given time or place to transport athletic groups, or to station taxicabs at stations to handle after-game passengers?

The group asked McGee to forward the questions to the regional OPA office with a recommendation they be passed on to Washington for an authoritative ruling.

Texas Farm Labor Shortage Growing More Acute Daily

AUSTIN, Oct. 7 (AP)—An increasingly acute farm labor situation in Texas, especially the northwest where harvest of cotton and feed crops accentuated the demand for workers, was reported today by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Texas Extension Service.

For the second consecutive week, conditions were mostly favorable for all harvesting, and good progress was made despite the labor shortage, said the department in its report of conditions for the week ending Oct. 16.

The demand for cotton pickers in areas where the crop was opening fast exceeded the supply, and there was some delay in harvest because of week-end rains in central and northwestern counties.

Soil moisture was ample in nearly all sections. Light frosts occurred in a few counties in the northern and northwestern parts of the state. Seeding of small grains was nearing completion in the main northwest areas under favorable moisture conditions and with good stands for early seeding. Seeding was in progress in other grain areas.

Mostly favorable cotton weather prevailed and picking advanced satisfactorily. Cotton was opening rapidly in the northwestern areas, and picking and pulling became general. Harvest of the South Texas crop was about over, and picking was nearing completion in the southeastern and south central counties.

Corn harvest was in full swing again in north central areas, with storm damage being found to be somewhat less than earlier expectations. Sorghum picking is under way in the heavy producing north-west section. Increased use of combines and more utilization by grain refiners reflect efforts to meet the more stringent labor situation.

Peanuts were ready for harvest in the northern areas, mostly harvested in the south, and in the midst of harvest in south central and eastern areas. Yields were good for the most part.

Rice harvest continued under more favorable conditions.

Commando Raid On Channel Island

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Nazi Commissioner Josef Terboven and new contingents of the German secret police enforced a reign of terror in the Norwegian province of Trondhjem today after executing 10 prominent Norwegians and arresting an estimated 700 more in an effort to stem a rising tide of sabotage, reports to Scandinavians circles here said.

A state of emergency has been proclaimed in Trondhjem and a coastal strip 400 miles long. Terboven announced severe punishment would follow the slightest insubordination. Terboven had been in Trondhjem only a few hours yesterday when a Nazi firing squad claimed the lives of the first ten victims.

Among those executed, Stockholm dispatches said, were Henry Gren-ditch, well known theatre manager; Harald Langhelle, city councilman and social democratic editor; and per Lykke, shipowner.

Norwegian circles here said a bank director, two lawyers, a civil engineer and a building contractor also were among the executed. The property of all the victims was confiscated. All were said to be from Trondhjem, Roeros and Orkanger.

A Stockholm radio report intimated that hostile action had been directed against the German army and that efforts had been made to sabotage the Trondhjem-Moslen railway.

A power station at Tansrum also had been dynamited, shutting off power and forcing the

Scout Drive Opens Tuesday

Annual drive for subscribing Big Spring's part toward the Buffalo Trail Boy Scout council will be launched here next Tuesday with Elmo Wasson, finance chairman, heading the campaign.

Various service clubs have been asked to supply a corps of volunteer workers so that the drive can be cleaned up quickly.

Quota for Big Spring has been placed at $4,000 as its part in the council's $18,305 budget which would provide for the addition of another field executive to be placed at Monahans.

Executives already are stationed at Sweetwater, Big Spring and Odessa. Council officials felt that the imposition of gas and tire rationing would necessitate more professional aid in order to carry out an energized program during the year.

All other districts in the council are conducting finance drives during the month of October and Sweetwater was reported to be over the top on its $3,400 goal.

The campaign here will be opened with a "kick off" breakfast at the Settles hotel. H. D. Norris, recently stationed here as field executive, is assisting Wasson in organization of the drive.

Man's Body Is Identified

Funeral arrangements for Herbert Archibald Jossey, Lamesa, were awaiting word Wednesday from Mrs. J. F. Hawthorne of Atlanta, Texas, relative, after identity of the man was established when his body was found Monday in the T & P (One Mile) lake by railroad man.

Jossey had registered with the Gerald Mora contracting firm at Clovis, N. M., but left without working after securing a job there. He was employed here by Brown-Bellows until September 21st when he suddenly disappeared. Identification of the body which had been in the water for three or four weeks according to Justice of the Peace Walter Grice, was made through a badge of the Gerald Mora Contracting company which was found on the body.

Jossey, who was 44 years old, was a widower. He was born at Bivings, Texas, on November 27th, 1897.

There were no indications of foul play in the death of Jossey, although owing to the state of decomposition, it was difficult to determine if there were signs of violence.

Bears Hot On Heels Of Texas In Gains

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 7 (AP)—Baylor's unpredictable Bears are hot on the heels of that high-powered Texas offense in the Southwest conference football campaign.

The Bruins and Texas are the only teams in the circuit that have played three games and Baylor is within less than 200 yards of the Longhorns in ground gained rushing and passing.

The Baylor-Oklahoma A. & M. game was not officially reported to the conference statistical bureau here in time to go into this week's averages but the unofficial figures added to the two games that had been reported showed the Bears to have rolled up 1,019 yards as compared to 1,190 for Texas.

The Bruins top the conference in air power with 425 yards while Texas is far ahead on the ground with 990.

Jackie Field and Roy McKay of Texas lead the ground-gainers with 290 and 206 yards respectively, with Emery Nix of Texas Christian third with 174.

Punting has been good all along the line with Ed Green, Southern Methodist sophomore, topping the field with 41.3 yards average. Dean Bagley of Texas Christian booted for 49.6 last week against Arkansas to go into a tie for second place with McKay. Each has a 41.7 average.

Leo Daniels, Texas A. & M.'s triple-threat, leads both in punt returns—with 100 yards—and passing—188 yards on 16 completions.

Bruce Alford, TCU's great wingman, tops the pass receivers in yards gained with 102 but old standby Bill Henderson of the Aggies has caught the most passes—seven.

Max Stallings of Arkansas, Emory Nix of TCU and Audrey Gill of Texas are tied in pass interceptions with two each.

Steers Look Better In Practice Tuesday

ICELAND IS CASE IN POINT OF RESULTS OF WILD INFLATION

REYKJAVIK, Iceland. — The soaring cost of living in inflation-struck Iceland today reached a point more than double the pre-war level.

With the cost of living now standing at 207 per cent of the 1939 figure, members of the controlling Independence (conservative) Party predicted it would reach about 232 by the end of October.

(This predicted rise of 25 percentage points during October would compare with a recent cost of living increase of about one per cent a month in the United States.)

Business as well as government circles believed the runaway race between wages and prices would continue. Parliament recently repealed an important part of Iceland's anti-inflation regulations.

U. S. Army Gives Increase

The law had prohibited strikes for pay any higher than that justified by the officially-published cost of living index. Under the law, the present index of 207 would have justified wages slightly more than twice as high as in 1939—and no higher, except for an authorized bonus of 25 or 30 per cent.

Iceland's greatly increased buying power, together with a scarcity of goods, has led to higher prices, which in turn may lead to even bigger wage—the deadly inflation cycle which the United States tried to stop through the fixing of prices.

In this country which produces a considerable amount of dairy products, butter sells wholesale at $1.31 a pound and cheese at 73 cents a pound. Milk is 23 cents a quart, and eggs are 15 cents each. Tomatoes grown in hot houses—the only ones available—are 75 cents a pound. In all, the index of food prices is 248 per cent of the 1939 level.

Prices on imported articles follow the same line. A street dress which would cost about $10 in the United States sells for $40 in Reykjavik. A good American fountain pen brings $21. A can of American asparagus is priced at $1.59. A man's shirt of inferior quality sells for $4.20.

A lightweight American automobile, in fair running condition and not more than five years old, sells for about $5,000. Later and better models sell for about $6,000 each, secondhand.

Laundries charge 30 cents for washing a man's shirt. Having a man's suit pressed costs $1.15; having it cleaned and pressed, $2.77.

Restaurant prices have been stepped up several times in the last year. Twelve months ago, the Hotel Borg charged $1.45 for its large dinner. Now the price is $2.70, plus a 15 per cent service charge. A two-cup pot of coffee at the Borg costs 42 cents.

The increasing prices have been paralleled by increasing wages. A worker who earned about $400 a year before the war now gets about $2,000. Icelandic seamen, who receive war risk allowances, do even better.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—While American soldiers are lend-leasing baseball to the British, and Australians (and causing them no end of confusion) we're getting a taste of Rugby in return. . . . A team of Australian and New Zealand flying cadets will play a Royal Navy outfit as a preliminary to the Columbia-Brown game Saturday and two squads from the RAF flying school at Ponca City, Okla., will put on an exhibition for Oklahoma City fans a week later. . . . From all we hear, it's a rough, fast game. . . . Looks as if the football rules, frozen for the duration, will have to be destroyed. The new shift Dick Harlow uncovered at Harvard makes the current offside ruling look rather silly and Lou Little, head of the coaches' advisory committee, will ask to have it changed. . . . Race-hoss experts point out that the ban on special trains to the tracks is making the hoss players walk both ways—instead of just walking home.

Goody, Goody—Drink Cold Water, Don't Bathe In It

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 7 (AP)—If you want to remain healthy this winter, even though shivering, drink cold water—don't bathe in it.

And if you're inclined to worry over the war, tire and gasoline rationing may help you ward off stomach ulcers.

That's the comment on current problems brought to the Southwest Clinical conference yesterday by Drs. Thomas E. Carmody of Denver and R. L. Saunders of Memphis.

"Never pass up a water fountain," Dr. Carmody said. "Take a drink. The average person should drink at least three quarts of fluid a day."

Dr. Carmody isn't very enthusiastic about cold baths for insuring the body to the 65 degree temperatures recommended for homes this winter. He prefers to bathe tepidly, himself.

And for the fit and gasoline rationing vs. stomach ulcers, here's Dr. Saunders' theory: While civilians may worry more over the war and kindred events, they'll have to spend more time at home where they get proper food and rest.

There'll be less opportunity to get out to cocktail parties and other functions where the guests miss out on sleep and consume large amounts of alcohol, tobacco and highly seasoned foods, all contributing factors to the development of ulcers.

Despite this counterbalancing benefit, he expects a large increase in such ailments in the next five years.

It's a direct result of wartime tension.

Johnny On The Spot

A lot of guys would be willing to give the shirts off their backs to help win the war, but the Reds' Johnny Vander Meer actually did it. . . . After pitching a benefit exhibition game in Jersey the other day, Johnny contributed the shirt of his baseball uniform to be raffled off. . . . It went to the day's biggest war bond buyer.

Series Scrapings

A couple of years ago our old man—a fair country baseball expert, you remember—told us: "These National league clubs can't beat the Yankees by trying to play their game, but if they'll play National league ball, they can win." . . . Isn't that just about what the Cards did? . . . Lieut. Commander Bill Reinhart, former George Washington U. athletic director, once recommended Stan Musial to the Yankees after he failed to get him for the G. W. basketball team, but by the time a Yankee scout arrived the Cards already had signed him. . . . When he spotted Scribe Herb Goren, who had been traveling with the Giants, Coach Earle Combs of the Yanks suggested, "Maybe you could tell us how to pitch to Kurovski." . . . After that last inning Goren could have—four straight balls.

Week's Best Crack

After viewing that nudist infield at Sportsman Park, Goofy Gomez (who isn't) came up with this one: "A rolling ball on this diamond will gather no grass."

NEWPORT NEWS, VA.—When a cargo ship docked at Newport News recently, after a six-month trip to Murmansk, Russia, carrying War supplies, almost all crew members bought War Bonds from a Newport News Banker who went aboard for the purpose of selling the bonds when the seamen indicated a desire to buy them. Here, in the cabin of the vessel, with their bonds are, left to right: Nestor H. Malm, of Philadelphia, Pa., who bought $1,000 worth of Bonds; Homer L. Ferguson, Jr., the banker; Oscar V. Brown, of Tulsa, Okla., $200 worth; Samuel Perlestein, of Philadelphia, Pa., $500 worth; Joseph Brown, of Munising, Mich., $750 worth; and Arthur Kelly, of Hoboken, N. J., also $750 worth. Men said that, during their twenty-day stay in Murmansk, they underwent an air raid every day it didn't snow.

Pass Defense Improved For Odessa Test

Still seriously embracing the idea of scoring an upset victory, the Big Spring Steers Tuesday went through a tough rehearsal and looked better than ever on pass defense—a department in which they have had trouble all season.

They may need it, too, for Odessa, the Friday night and first conference opponent, is reputed to have a clicking aerial offense featuring the catches by ham-handed Keith Evans, a 205-pound youngster who plays a crashing game from an end position.

Tuesday's practice also showed better blocking all the way around, and there was some improvement in the manner in which the line was checking these rushing passers.

Karnest Bostick, who does most of the passing, was being groomed a little more in staying inside the pocket or some of protection, and in whipping the ball at the appointed time. Bobby Barron, who fits into the passing game nicely, was given some grooming here, but Barron's trouble is not waiting too long as does Bostick, but in whipping the ball a little too quickly.

There was no dummy scrimmage to the going-on at Steer stadium Tuesday, for youngsters rushing the passer were plowing in at full speed and bear-smacking blockers and passers. Tackling, when there was an occasion for it, was a little on the vicious side.

Billy Mims is still due to be out of play Friday night due to a bad charley horse, but Hugh Cochron is ready to step into that halfback slot. Either Cochron or Barron will start.

Coach John Dibrill admitted that he and the boys had been cooking up a few surprises for the Odessa game. Just what the nature of these will be was not divulged, but Dibrill indicated fans could look for some attempted razzle-dazzle. That forward-lateral stuff a fumble on the play against Lubbock may be brushed off again.

Game time will be 8:30 p. m. and this time four sections will be kept in the reserve column on the west side. That means there will be only two sections—one each on the extreme south and north ends of the west stand—for general admissions.

Rotarians Have Fire Prevention Program

Rotarians found out Tuesday noon how much they knew (or did not know) about fire and fire prevention.

In a program under the direction of J. B. Collins, Bill Tate read a series of questions on fire losses and fire prevention. When Rotarians could not answer, they contributed to a fund which will go toward providing prize money for children in a school poster contest.

Guests for the day included Roy Reeder and Robert Stripling.

White Sox Win City Series As Usual

CHICAGO, Oct. 7 (AP)—Winning the Chicago City series is still strictly a White Sox habit.

The American leaguers did it again last night at Comiskey park, defeating the National league Cubs, 4 to 1, to score their eighth straight city championship.

In Japan warriors formerly used shark hides as sword hilts.

Shapiro Shades Bob Montgomery

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7 (AP)—The myth of Bobcat Bob Montgomery's greatness was exploded last night, and today, in a tough game little Maxie Shapiro, a tough guy from New York's East Side, the fight world hails a new ranking contender for the throne of lightweight Champion Sammy Angott.

The flashy negro bobcat, who whipped Lew Jenkins in a non-title bout when Jenkins wore the crown, was battered to unexpected defeat by Milling Maxie, a 5 to 1 underdog, in 10 riotous rounds that kept the crowd of 6,730 on its feet almost constantly.

Shapiro won by a split decision, Referee Benny Leonard casting the deciding vote. He weighed in at 132 1/4, a quarter pound more than the Philadelphia.

Montgomery held a slight edge until the third round, when Shapiro landed a right to the chin that virtually decided the fight. Montgomery staggered, Shapiro went in flailing and the bobcat went down for one count. Montgomery went half way through the ropes, came back, went down again for one, bobbed up, and was floored a third time for three.

Then for two minutes, while the once-mighty bobcat sagged against the ropes helpless, not landing a blow, Shapiro pummeled him at full strength. He stopped from sheer exhaustion—and with the bobcat still standing.

Montgomery revived in the fourth and fifth, but his punches lacked steam.

Former Appellate Judge Succumbs

HILLSBORO, Oct. 7 (AP)—Judge Wright C. Morrow, who served 22 years as a judge of the Texas criminal court of appeals and who would have been 84 next Monday, died last night at his home here.

He was elected to the Texas senate from Ellis, Hill and Johnson counties, serving from 1913 to 1917, when he became judge of the Texas court of criminal appeals. Four years later he became presiding judge.

Judge Morrow occupied the presiding judgeship until ill health caused him to resign on Oct. 15, 1930, at the age of 51.

Champs Are Different From Team That Started Season

Red Birds Undergo "Revitalization" By Southworth

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—One of the reasons why the St. Louis Cardinals were able to spring a surprise on the New York Yankees in the world series, and on a lot of other people including the Brooklyn Dodgers, was that they finished with a different team from the flustering Redbirds who started last spring.

It took the world series to prove that winning 43 of their last 52 scheduled games was nearer the natural gait of the Cards than their performance in the first half of the season when they reached the all-star game intermission with a record of 43 won and 29 lost.

At the start of the season the St. Louis infield had rookie Ray Sanders on first, Frank Crespi on second, Martin Marion at short and Jimmy Brown at third. The ex-other way around. From the day the Cards made this misunderstood deal they won 63 games and lost just 19.

As one fan said after the series, "Now the Yanks know what the Dodgers were up against!"

parts were saying the Cardinals had sold away their pennant chance by letting big John Mize go to the New York Giants.

George (Whitey) Kurovski, whose homer in the fifth game of the world series clinched the championship for the Cards, was considered likely timber for Rochester or Columbus, or some other Redbird farm.

Kurovski rode the bench for weeks and it was not until his closest friend, Crespi, failed to hit that the Reading, Pa., rookie received his chance.

The Cards dropped a double-header on May 24 and at that point had won only 19 games to 17 lost. Manager Billy Southworth decided the time was ripe to start masterminding.

The next day Brown moved to second and Kurovski became the regular custodian of the hot corner. The team won four straight.

Then came the next step in the revitalization of the Redbirds. On May 27 Johnny Hopp was installed permanently at first base. The change would have been made sooner except that Hopp had injured a thumb soon after the season started.

However, right along about here the Cards received a rude setback because their two southpaw stars, Ernie White and Howie Pollock, developed arm trouble. A lump as big as a chestnut swelled up on White's left arm and he could not raise his hand to throw the ball.

This pitching problem helped lead to the discovery of Johnny Beasley. He was going into games as a relief pitcher, holding the foe scoreless for four or five innings and he finally convinced Southworth it was a mistake to spot the other teams three or four runs before putting in Beasley.

So the manager made up his mind to make the lanky rookie a starting pitcher and a week later sold Lon Warneke to the Chicago Cubs for waiver money $7,500 in a deal that shocked the baseball front. Some folks thought the Cards were conceding the pennant to the Dodgers. It was just the

Downtown Stroller

One of the best yet the weather man got off the other day when he reported a low of 46 degrees of weather in St. Louis. "However," he commented, "it'll be a lot warmer than that when the Cardinals come back from New York. And we'll bet that's a fact too."

Doing all right for a freshman is CORNELIA FRAZIER, now at N.T.S.T.C. at Denton. She has just been selected as a member of the A Capella choir, no mean feat for a first year student, and is also working as a professional accompanist in the town. CORNELIA is studying piano and voice at the school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. BRUCE FRAZIER.

Convalescing at the home of her grandmother is Mrs. H. B. ARNOLD, who recently underwent an appendectomy at a hospital here.

Imagine buying Christmas cards at this time of year. But we did. Seems sort of far off but did you know it's only 79 days until Christmas? If you are a doubting Thomas count the days yourself.

Did take one Mrs. NELL HALL out for a cup of the well-known coffee the other morning and along came Mrs. CHESTER MATHENEY for a coke. It was quite a session before we girls decided we ought to go back to work.

Reviewer—Miss Evelyn Oppenheimer of Dallas, above, will review the book about the old town for home town folks Thursday night when she will be here to give Shine Phillips book, "Big Spring Casual Biography of a Prairie Town" at 8:30 o'clock at the city auditorium. Advance ticket sales show that the majority of local people are going to be on hand to hear about their town and rumor has it that even Shine is going to be in the audience too. The book which has won acclaim throughout the southwest and in the east presents Big Spring as it was in the early days of drummers, cowboys, shooting and hazing of easterners who passed through this prairie town. Better still, the book is an amusing biography of any early Texas town.

A War Message on WAR BONDS from the President of the United States

“The American people know that if we would raise the billions which we now need to pay for the war and at the same time prevent a disastrous rise in the cost of living, we shall have to double and more than double the scale of our savings.

“Every dime and dollar not vitally needed for absolute necessities should go into WAR BONDS and STAMPS to add to the striking power of our armed forces.

“If these purchases are to have a material effect in restraining price increases they must be made out of current income.

“In almost every individual case they should be big enough to mean rigid self-denial, a substantial reduction for most of us in the scale of expenditure that is comfortable and easy for us

“We cannot fight this war, we cannot exert our maximum effort, on a spend-as-usual basis.”

“We cannot have all we want if our soldiers and sailors are to have all they need.”

—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Daily Herald

Editorial -- Hard Fact: Tax Bill A Third Of Income

Americans are fast approaching two inevitable conclusions—that we are in for a long, nasty war and that such a war will cost plenty in lives and money.

Just how many will have to lay their lives on the altar of liberty is yet to be established in terrible conflict. But judging from the statement by Sen. George, American people may be pretty sure of what their money obligations to the war will be next year.

In forecasting $36,000,000,000 in taxes, Sen. George quickly added that this constituted one-third of the estimated national income.

Free-spending people of the country, accustomed to an easy-come, easy-go philosophy, are in for a rude awakening. It should be borne in mind that while Sen. George is speculating in such gargantuan figures, the government is taking swift and sharp action to curb the evil of inflation. In other words, those 36 billion will be reasonably sound dollars—not in puffed wheat money.

Perhaps it is better to cease contemplation of our tax bill in terms of money, but figure it largely on the basis of income. How will this affect you? Well, for one thing, you may count out about 33 per cent of your income to begin with. Perhaps you are laying aside another 10 per cent in stamps or bonds. If you are an average case, you have fixed obligations of at least 20 per cent of your income, and your church, lodge and other civic commitments will account for another 10 per cent. That leaves only about 25 per cent for buying food, providing utilities and other necessities. The margin may not be so close as everyone, but these figures won't miss the average case too far (exclusive of the bond and stamp possibility).

Obviously, we must learn to live more economically, to forego some semi-luxuries and practically all pure luxury items. Our standard of living must come down, down, and down.

But that may be all to the good. It may seem painful in the extreme to some to pay so heavily now—but he who pays the fiddler while the dance is going on at least finds it easier to pay. While the war boom is on, the last possible drop of war finances should be wrung from it.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—

Culture (The Same) Is Overwhelming Us

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Culture — same old commodity that used to be spelled with a big C and pronounced Col-chuh,—is overwhelming us. It's not enough in these times for a movie star to sprinkle his conversation with humorous dias to show he's been around. Gay little references to Pa-reo or May-be-co are no longer the stamp of the cosmopolitan.

It's a funny thing, but the folks are saying Paris and Mexico and skipping the phoney folderol and getting down to the business of learning languages. If you scratch around a bit, you'll find movie people studying almost every language there is—except possibly Latin and Sanskrit. "Amo, amas, amat" hasn't yet hit the dialogue writers, desperate as they generally are for new ways to say "I love you."

Spanish, of course, is the favorite. Good neighbor policy, and all that. All that being the fact that Spanish is very popular in South America and movie stars aren't as dumb as some people think they are. Ray Milland mumbled Spanish phrases offstage as often as he practices English dialogue. He even hired a secretary on the linguistic basis—to practice conversation. Alexis Smith, Brenda Joyce, Maureen O'Hara, Roy Rogers, John Garfield, Linda Darnell, Virginia Gilmore, Rita Hayworth, George Brent and Jeanne Crugney all hablan Espanol, or should be if they're persistent enough.

Rita Hayworth (nee Casino) is learning her native tongue all over not from her family but from a teacher. George Brent is interested in self-defense, because Mrs. Ann Sheridan Brent is a persistent habit-er. Roy Rogers took it up because of several offers to take a rodeo troupe to Latin America.

Nelson Eddy, Edward G. Robinson and Gene Tierney are learning more about Russian than the usual words like bortsch, vodka and samovar. Eddy can use it in opera. Gene Tierney as "China Girl" probably felt it only neighborly to cross the linguistic border into Siberia, and Robinson heard about "Mission to Moscow" and other Soviet Union pictures months ago—at least he's been studying the language half a year and is up for a key part.

Jean Leslie and Carole Landis favor French, on which Claudette Colbert, Boyer, Jean Gabin and Michele Morgan could help them out. Glenn Ford is interested in Portuguese—in contrast to most male Hollywoodians whose main interest in the language lies in listening to Brazil's Carmen Miranda.

Harry Lechmann (who has a Chinese wife) and Edward Dmytryk are familiar with Chinese, but Hollywood is short on students of Japanese. We had one in Hugh MacHullen, dialogue director, but he's now a navy lieutenant.

Earrings were formerly worn by men in various European countries.

A Promise for Tomorrow

Chapter 19
CONVERTING PETE

It was an hour before Julie got back to the ridge from which she could watch the battle raging on the mountain just across the narrow valley. She could even feel the heat of the flames as she stood, heart-sick, gnawed by a thousand fears, wondering if Pete and the rest had been trapped somewhere in that seething inferno.

Nearer and nearer crept the hungry red tide flooding up the slope, drowning the heavy shrubbery and the trunks of the pines in billowing smoke. One by one the monarchs of the forest awayed. Then, as if in answer to her chanted prayers, the back-fires burst along the ridge. A leaping wall of flame rushing toward its adversary. Pete was handling the dynamite all right, she rejoiced despite the imminent danger. Flames leapt up lighting the night for miles. And then a new horror smote her. This blazing beacon—on a coast trying to defend itself with darkness against a foe that struck in treachery.

The thought had been prevention of disaster. Like an answer came the dull thump of an explosion. Then another. Sounds borne toward her by wind off the ocean.

On legs that momentarily threatened to give out, she pushed along the narrow trail, beyond it when it dipped back down into the canyon until she crawled out onto a ledge and looked out onto the canyon. The sound of another explosion muted, like an echo.

A moment later a flare of flame—a pin-dot on the expanse of black water. Flaring larger—expanding. A ship burning. Torpedoed. Julie stared, hardly believing her eyes. Now the slim white fingers of searchlights playing on the flames—on the waters above the flames. Then the light blotted out again. Only the leaping fire, the heavy canopy of black smoke.

Julie didn't know how long she knelt there on that projecting rock, hating the enemy that had spread under cover of night. The forest fire had been planned, the realization came clearly, to coincide with the passing of that tanker! Silhouetted against that curtain of fire unfurled along the mountain crest, the target had been easy to hit!

And swiftly, other facts began to add up to a horrible total. Many of the trees on Kelland's property were burning. The fire had started not far from the Kelland cabin. It burned regularly as if trees had been marked for—

She gasped, remembering the gashes she and Pete had noticed on the pines only this morning! And the dark skinned stranger on the trail. What had he to do with all this? Who was he? And where?

Driven to action, Julie backed carefully off her precarious perch, scopped her way back to the trail, started down. She must find Pete—or the ranger—somebody. If it weren't already too late, they must find that tall stranger.

At first, heat from across the valley drove her away from the short, downward trail. Panting, her throat parched, her cheeks hot, she turned left into trails leading away and up. But the heat pursued her. Twice she stopped to hunt for a vantage point from which to judge the course of the fire. But both times she gave up, hurried on.

Finally, she saw fire break out ahead of her on the trail. Turning, she raced back along a path lit by the glow of fire. Again, she met fire.

She stopped, look stock, held back by a light rain. She must think fast now. Losing her head would mean losing her life. The back fires were burning along the crest. She must get over that now to avoid being caught between them.

Her decision made, she plunged into the underbrush, climbed straight up the steep slope of the mountain. Branches clutched at her, tore at her clothes, whacked at her viciously across the face. But she fought on, steadily, ignoring the panic that clamored like a tocsin within her. No time now to listen to fear!

Eternities later she broke through to a trail that led her safely over the crest, into the teeth of the strong wind from the ocean. And, a moment later, she heard Pete shouting commands, heard his steps crashing through the brush.

"Pete!" she called, and staggered toward him. "Pete!"

He opened his arms to her and she flung herself against him, sobbing.

"Good Lord, Julie!" he said, holding her tight. "Where did you come from? I sent you back with the others. I thought..."

When she could control the sobbing, "I had to come back. Glad I did now — though I almost got caught."

His arms tightened, his shoulders hunched as if to shield her further. Then an explosion followed by another. Then another.

Man About Manhattan— Wherein Tucker Sniffs Of Rare Fall Atmosphere

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It will not be giving aid and comfort to the enemy to report that New York's seven millions are mighty happy over this brand-new fall weather we're having. Summer in New York is about as pleasant to anticipate as a non-stop submarine voyage to Cape Horn, and this year's was one of the worst.

Even the artificial flowers in the windows of the five-and-dime palaces seemed less lifelike than usual. What made it worse was that we couldn't boast—through the medium of wired weather stories—of our extremes in heat and humidity. You know how it helps if you can belittle the temperature recorded by the town next door, and sneeringly invite its residents to come and live where it's really hot.

Autumn in New York City, though—it's really something. For six weeks or longer, the made-to-order weather varies little. It's the best time for a visit or a round of playgoing. Your relatives, who a month ago would have asked you how soon you were going home again, will be more inclined to ask how long you can stay. Certainly they'll be more obliging about taking you places and there's much to see.

Fort Tryon, on the northern tip of Manhattan island, is one of my favorite spots this time of year. On high ground, it offers a magnificent view of the Hudson and the Palisades, and the thickly wooded hills are bespattered with reds and browns and yellows. It's a great spot to go any time of the year if you're desperate for a breath of air that isn't contaminated with oil and tar and carbon monoxide, and all it costs is a nickel for the subway.

Central Park is another of these breathing places which is eye-filling in the fall. To me, Central Park deserves mention with the Seven Wonders because it is a wonder the park was left alone. The politicians learned a good many years ago that any suggestion to "improve" Central Park was one good way of getting voted out of office. It was during Grant's term as president, I believe, that there was an effort made to use the site for a world's fair, and the angry bellow from the ordinarily docile natives of Manhattan island never has ceased echoing.

Washington Daybook— Nazis Change His Mind

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The Ospital in War-time:

A few days ago, in the federal prison at Milan, Mich., a fifth columnist got what was coming to him—and he didn't like it.

He was a member of a religious sect opposed to war but this fellow carried things a little too far. He dodged the draft. He was caught, tried and sentenced to a term in the penitentiary. That apparently taught him nothing. He became a trouble-maker—the prison's No. 1 problem child. He rebelled at everything. He tried to incite the other prisoners to violence. He damned the U. S. A.

Milan also is the "domicile" of a group of Nazis. Because of the danger of riots, the Nazis had been isolated from the other prisoners. Prison officials, finally at wit's-end with their fifth columnist came to this conclusion: "All right, if he's such a Nazi lover, we'll just let him live with them."

He had been there some time when James V. Bennett, director of federal bureau of prisons, made a recent inspection tour at Milan. He came into the ward where the Nazis were held. A haggard fellow stepped out of the group.

In pitiful tones, he pleaded with Bennett. His wall went something like this: "Please, sir, get me out of here. I'll be good from now on. I can't stand being in with these dirty Germans."

He's back with the regulars now and at last report was a model prisoner.

Everything happens to Washington in wartime. The latest is "standstill" transportation. These are buses and trolleys with seats only 18 inches apart and at such height from the floor that you only bend your knees to plank down on the narrow ledge that is laughingly referred to as a seat.

The "standstillers" are a brain-child of the War Production Board. They increase the capacity of trolleys and buses by 20 persons.

Washington is taking them with good humor, for the most part. The most serious complaints come from fat people who can't wedge into the seats at all; shorties who can't reach them; and the bean poles who can't stand still without barking their shins.

A visiting Nebraskan tells me that if you really want to find out about William M. Jeffers, the new rubber czar, go to North Platte where he was born.

The town has a Jeffers Street and a Jeffers Park. The little house where "Willie" Jeffers was born is a city shrine. A few years ago when it was threatened with demolition to make way for a new street, the city fathers had it moved and restored.

The only other North Platte hero who can match "Bill" Jeffers in eminence is one "Buffalo Bill" Cody.

Farms Hard Hit By Fire

Every 15 minutes a farm building burns somewhere in the United States.

In Texas alone, according to the A. & M. college extension service, about 200 people lose their lives every year in fires on farms and in rural communities. One-third of these, or about 83, are children under 10 years of age.

The state's annual toll of farm property taken by fires amounts to six and one-half million dollars.

Leading causes of farm fires in Texas listed by Texas A. & M. college are: Open fires under wash kettles, faulty flues and chimneys, misuse of electricity, spontaneous combustion, lightning, matches and smoking, gasoline and kerosene, and combustible roofs.

Time Ripe For Sending Christmas Mail Overseas, Says Postmaster

Christmas parcels and Christmas cards for men in the armed services abroad should be placed in the mails at once, Nat Shick, Big Spring postmaster, said Tuesday. The absolute deadline for mail destined for soldiers, sailors and marines stationed overseas is November 1, Shick said. And, he added, the sooner such mail is deposited for dispatch the more apt it is to reach the addressee by Christmas.

In view of the urgent need for shipping space to transport materials directly essential to the war effort, Christmas parcels shall not exceed the present limits of 11 pounds in weight or 18 inches in length or 42 inches in length and girth combined.

Moreover, the public is urged to cooperate by voluntarily restricting the size of Christmas parcels to that of an ordinary shoebox, and the weight to six pounds.

The war department points out that men in the armed services are well provided with food and clothing and the public is urged not to include such matter in gift parcels.

P. D. Anderson, Quemado, Tex., and J. R. Lincoln, Jr., San Angelo, were here to check with H. A. Emerson, who is to be manager of the new packing house, Lincoln and Emerson inspected 250 head of white faced calves Emerson had optioned from Currie & Currie ranch in Glascock county and accepted the stock at Currie's price.

These calves will be fed out on the site of the packing plant and will be processed there when it is ready for operation. Lincoln said that he believed the animals would pass U. S. inspection when dressed out.

Anderson was interested in the promotional phases of the project, which has been announced as a $750,000 plant with the possibility of federal inspection service. He is developer of the Quemado land now under irrigation in the Del Rio territory and is a long-time feeder, having handled thousands of cattle from Mexico as well as large quantities on this side of the border. Anderson said he believed that a cash market located in the midst of the breeding and feed-raising belt in West Texas would stimulate cattle feeding in the area. This would dispense with much shrinkage and quality losses, he felt.

Lincoln, who may become associated with the new venture, is a native of Grinnell, Iowa, where he learned to feed out stock shipped there from the Marfa and Davis Mountain regions. He is a graduate of Texas University and manager of the West Texas Packing Co.

Posse Hunts Missing Child

BASTROP, Oct. 7 (AP)—A sheriff's posse and detachments of soldiers from Camp Swift searched the countryside all night and intensified their hunt today for Mary Rivers Maynard, eight-year-old daughter of County Judge and Mrs. C. B. Maynard of Bastrop.

Officers expressed fear today that the child, last seen at 2:30 p. m. yesterday walking across a street from the Bastrop school grounds, might have been kidnapped.

She wore a blue and white striped dress with blue jacket, white socks and brown oxfords. Both of her elbows were injured and had been taped. Three feet, eight inches tall, she is blonde with blue eyes and weighed about 50 pounds.

Keeping Secret Is 'Happy Decision'

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 7 (AP)—Jack Spears couldn't decide whether to tell his wife about a telegram from the navy department reporting their son, Donald, killed in action.

Just a few weeks before, shock caused by the death of their 13-year-old daughter, Barbara Jean, had almost cost the life of Mrs. Spears. Her husband feared the new blow might have a disastrous effect.

Finally, he decided to keep Donald's death a secret for a while. Today, another telegram came and he rejoiced over his decision. The telegram read: "Arrived Charlestown Navy Yard okay. All is well. Donald."

Rites Said For Colorado Woman

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 7 — At 3:30 p. m. Tuesday funeral services were held at the Methodist church in Colorado City for Mrs. Mattie Smith Merrill, 81, pioneer Colorado citizen who died early Monday in a Fort Worth hospital after an extended illness. The Rev. C. M. Epps, pastor, officiated.

Surviving her are four daughters, Mrs. J. R. Flaniken of Lamesa, Miss Schell Merrell of Colorado City, Mrs. E. A. Nippold of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Lowell Robinson of Fort Worth; two sisters, Mrs. Allie Murrell and Mrs. Emma Shipman, and a brother, Isaac Smith, all of Gatesville, and three grandchildren. A grandson, Fred Flaniken, is stationed with the army air corps in San Diego.

Why your own car's Zero Hour comes at 00 miles an hour

ON THE OFFENSIVE you've got to be on the instant. Eager fighters, frisky jeeps, and all that's going along, must get going together—exactly at Zero Hour. But on the home front these brisk mornings, will your own precious car and its engine lubrication get going together—without deadly oiling delay? You can be as sure as shootin', with your engine OIL-PLATED for Winter by patented Conoco Nth motor oil... oil that OIL-PLATES!

Even while the speedometer snoozes at 00 miles an hour—and you're still snug in your "kivers"—the chilly insides of your OIL-PLATED engine will already be coated by lubricant. Protective OIL-PLATING is really sort of "magnetized" to piston rings, bearings, and straight up the cylinders, by Conoco Nth oil's strong "power of attraction"—created by an added modern synthetic. This keeps the OIL-PLATING from all draining down to the crankcase overnight—over week-ends—and longer.

No complete lack of lubrication then, at 00 miles an hour—starting up cold. No long needless risk till cold oil comes inching along through passages as slim as spaghetti.

You're off safely, because OIL-PLATING safely stays on—ready to lubricate before any oil can circulate. This season don't merely change oil. It's fully as simple and inexpensive to change to an OIL-PLATED engine. Just change to patented Conoco Nth oil at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

IT'S STILL A GREAT SHOW

Because this mail might have to be transported great distances, Shick explained, parcels should be packed and wrapped sufficiently well. All parcels are, also, subject to censorship, he pointed out, and delay can be minimized by securing the covering of the parcel so as to permit ready inspection of the contents.

Perishable matters are not permitted to be mailed nor are inflammable materials, poisons, or intoxicants. Sharp-pointed articles such as razor blades, etc., must have their points or edges protected so they cannot cut through their coverings or injure postal employees.

Patrons are encouraged to endorse gift parcels "Christmas parcel" and permissible additions to the name and address of the sender, which is required, may include such inscriptions as "Merry Christmas," "Please do not open until Christmas," "Happy New Year," and the like.

Books in Christmas parcels may bear simple inscriptions that are dedicatory but not of a nature of personal correspondence.

Postage must be fully prepaid, the rate on parcels of fourth-class matter being the same rate applicable from the postoffice where mailed to the postoffice in care of which the parcels are addressed.

The postoffice department calls attention to the use of postal money orders to transmit gifts of money.

Postmaster Shick cautions the public to exercise great care in the addressing of Christmas mail for the men in service. Army mail should bear the rank, army serial number, company, and infantry designation; navy mail the rank and naval unit of the addressee, and marine mail the rank and marine corps unit number to facilitate prompt delivery.
