Striving For Class

By AL ARSENAULT

J IM BISHOP flipped the coin at the newsboy and got the same reply he always got.
"Thanks a lot, Mister. You're sure looking good tonight. Must have had a good day at the office."
A good day at the office Jim reflected that it had been a long;

A good day at the office! Jim reflected that it had been a long time since it had been a good day at his office. He knew he was on the ropes, that the boss was only looking for a good excuse to fire him. Then he realized that this newsboy always had given him that same cheerful thank you every time he bought a paper at this spot. "Hey, son. What are you always so cheerful about?"

"Wby not be cheerful, Mister?" the

"Hey, son. What are you always so cheerful about?"

"Why not be cheerful, Mister?" the boy asked seriously. "Seems like things are going all right most of the time, and even when they aren't I know they'll be getting better in a day or so. Ever since I got this corner, I've mostly had good days, so I figure I ought to be nice to the people that make them that way."

"Why is this a good corner, son?"

"Cause all you people coming out of these buildings mostly buy papers, and when you buy papers, I make money. But even if you didn't buy papers, I still like to look at all of you because you look like class. I want to be class some day and come out of a building like that. That's cause enough to be cheerful invit it inst wanting to be that. That's cause enough to be cheerful, isn't it, just wanting to be

THEN he thought of the newsboy on the corner. Wonder if he was ever bitter. He couldn't be, though. Not the way he always acted cheerful towards everybody. What did he have to be cheerful about? Just a youngster and selling papers on a corner. From the looks of his clothes, he wasn't from even a middle class family. What was that he said, all the people that bought his papers look like class. He wants to be class himself someday. 'Just wanting to be class is enough

When he got home, his wife met him at the door.

"Jim, it's good to see you. How did things go at the office today?"

"Just so-so."

"Again? Well, they'll improve.
How did you get along with the "Same as usual."

the coin and the boy snapped out with, "Watch it, Mister. I got an armful of papers here."
" Where's the other boy?" Jim asked.

"Aw, I don't know. He's got himself another job, says he's getting class somewhere. He was a jerk, anyway."
"A jerk," thought Jim, "a boy that got home, he noticed for the first time that his wife had a worried look when she came to greet him. He looked at her anxious face. "Things went fine today, honey, just fine," he said firmly. "You know, I think that new supervisor is all right. Maybe he and I are going to get along. There's a new position coming up in the metropolitan department, and a recommendation from him would help me a lot towards getting it."

"Jim, that's good news. I'm so happy dear. I knew you'd keep trying to get ahead."

"It isn't getting ahead, darling, it's trying to be classy," and he grinned down at the startled eyes of his wife.

Thanks to All of You -

. . . . for your continued patience in co-operating with us almost 100% during the present rush in leasing activities. We have been delayed somewhat in getting out your orders but all abstract, companies now are taxed to their production capacity. As soon as oil leasing is over, and it won't be long, we will be back again begging for business and wondering why the abstract profession has to be such an up and down business anyway.

JUNIOR JOTS

Hi gang! Well, here is the news that I got around to overhearing this week. Marydell, the way you travel around, one night you're in Cisco, the next night in De Leon. Joye, do you really like new cars or could you like the driver. (Maybe we had better ask Jeffs.) Patsy, why didn't you go with a certain boy from Desdemona Saturday (huh?) Verlon, maybe I am a little mixed up on you. (Just maybe!) (huh?) Verlon, maybe I am a little mixed up on you. (Just maybe!) Dorothy, who is that boy. (You know which one.) Most of this has been about the girls but our boys just don't have a chance because we have them outnumbered. Besides all the junior boys are perfect little angels. (Aren't you, boys?) Carolyn, who offered to take you home from the Fellowship meeting Monday night? Was be cute? (He could have been from Eastland.) Which reminds me Betty Sue and E. G. were in Eastland Saturday night taking in the movie.
