It seems that there are legal complications with the hospital situation as far as going forward with the details of securing the doctors who are interested in coming to Gorman. There has to be some legal decisions secured before continuing with the deal. Sometimes it seems that legal "Mumbo-Jumbo" is always in the way when something is being done with the hospital situation. Maybe it can be straightened out real soon and then things can progress as to securing these doctors for Gorman. Lets all hope so, because something must be done and it must be done soon.

I think that most of the holdup seems to be with the sale or lease of the hospital and an interpretation of the by-laws of the hospital district is being secured so that the Board can go forward with the details. Lets all give the board all the help and encouragement that we can in hopes of getting things settled because they have a real tough task in front of them in getting the necessary things done to proceed with the plans.

I think that the ice age is returning to our part of the country, because every few days there seems to be another batch of bad weather come our way. Every time you turn around it seems we are in the grip of ice, sleet or snow, or all three. That old ground hog must have seen himself two or three times the way the weather is looking. But maybe better weather is on the way and we can enjoy some good weather for a change. At least for a few days.

The oil activity continues at a fast clip in the area with a good number of wells being drilled. There have been several fairly good wells brought in recently in the area and, therefore, drilling activity is brisk. This is a boon to our community and will continue to be as long as good results from drilling is sustained. This surely helps the economy of our community and area and that's what keeps our area on the map. I understand that some of the holdup of drilling in the area had been due to not having a way of getting the gas and oil to major pipelines, but that some line is being laid to help remedy this situation. We hope that the activity holds up for our area. The most brisk areas seem to be to the southwest, southeast and south of Gorman. However, there has been activity also in all the surrounding area of Gorman.

CITY CHAT

By Charlie L. Garrett.
Due to a conflict, the City Commission met on Tuesday, January 30, at 6:30 p.m. with the mayor and all commissioners present. Other employees present were Edna Brinegar, Robert Ervin, and Pat Ingram. Others were Nat Gleaton, Brent Lasater, and Mrs. Lois Buchanan.

Mr. Gleaton met with us to propose group insurance plans. He presented two plans and explained the difference in the two. The Commission is making a study of some other plans and comparing them to our present one. After some study, we will decide on what we feel to be the best coverage for the least amount of money.

Bills for the month of January were approved as presented.

Edna reported that we had collected about 94% of current taxes and had collected almost $4,000 in delinquent taxes. We would like to thank all who have responded in paying both current and delinquent taxes. She reported that revenue for January was $19,428 with expenditures of $11,540. Since taxes are about all collected, this will possibly be the last month that revenues will be greater than expenditures. She gave a financial statement through January that reflected a balance of $6,115 in the Revenue Sharing Account, $17,500 in pass book savings, and $17,643 in the cash operating account. These figures look good now, but remember that tax money is in and from now through May these amounts will be depleted very rapidly since our major source of revenue now will only be from city services charges, on which we must operate until taxes start to come in next November. We hope to be able to make a substantial payment on the water tower repair job, if we get it done this year.

Pat reported that there had been 33 cases filed in Municipal Court, with 13 disposed of and 20 still pending. Three warrants have been issued for persons who failed to appear in court.

We had asked the steering committee that was appointed earlier this year to meet with us and give some input about current and future needs within the city. Only two of them appeared. I presented them with some things that were needed now or would need to be done within the next few years. The Commission had met and discussed these items at an earlier meeting. Things that we discussed were: the water tower repair that was being required by the Texas Health Department which may cost as much as $16,000, the need of a dump truck whose cost will depend on what we can find, street repairs as well as street paving, the paving can be very costly, sewer improvements in many parts of town, a new police car in the not too distant future, salary adjustment, and money for our project for the Aging American Program. We are considering the possibility of purchasing a building and making it into a center for this program as well as a larger library. The building could be used for public meetings as needed. We are looking at the theater building next door to the City Hall and have already received estimates on a floor and roof. If this can be done we can get some help through WTCOG to redo the building, once we own it. We would like to have reaction from the citizens on this project. I will give some more ideas that we discussed in a later time, one of which was how to secure money to pay for these needs.

Monday was our news day, with the morning filled with visiting our residents. Visiting our friends in our home is the best part of my job and I love it.

Bingo Day is always on Tuesday afternoon. We did play at 1:30 but it made it hard on our folks. They always like to rest a few minutes after lunch so now we play at 2:00 p.m. It is better.

Last weeks winners were: Game 1 Dan Boatwright; Game 2 Edna Kirk; Game 3 Susie Buckley; Game 4 Beulah DeGuire; Our Blackout winner was Mr. Eulon Perry. I was so proud he felt like playing and he won blackout. My helpers were: Jettie Daniels, Bonnie Watkins and Mae Jones. Thanks ladies!

Wednesday afternoon Brother Joe O'Neal gave our Bible Lesson. His subject was on Numbers - Chapter 11, Verse 29; And Moses said unto him, Enviest thou for my sake, would God that all of the Lord's people were Prophets; And that the Lord would put his spirit upon them. The events that occurred causing discontent as Moses led the children of Israel on their way to the Promised Land were discussed. Many of the Israelites did not reach the Promised Land. The Christian's viewpoint should be that in Heaven his journey is complete. Thank you Brother Joe. We love you.

Thursday night we had a very good singing. We had a good crowd. We had some new people and a lot of our regulars. Some of those attending were: Leland Warren, Pat Cornwell, Juanita Fuller, Enice Stehle of Belton, Texas, Mary Revels, Marion and Annie Dennis, W.C. Browning, Blanche Browning, Lisa Cornwell, Graydon Baze, Bea O'Neal, Archie and Georgie Fae Skaggs. Thanks to all of you for coming. We are looking forward to seeing you this Thursday night if the weather isn't too bad.

Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. Rev. B.G. Thomas from the First Baptist Church substituted for Rev. Darrell Dossey. His subject was on Revelations - Chapter 1 - Verse 5; The Love of Jesus for us; And from Jesus who is the faithful witness and the first begotten of the dead, and the Prince of the Kings of the earth - unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood. He loves us; He died for us; He rose from the grave for us; He will return and take the saved home to heaven; We are justified by him - his blood saves us; We have hope in Him; While we were yet sinners Christ died for us; The Holy Spirit abides with and in us; Our bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit.

On Sunday Evening at 5 p.m. Reverend David Coffey brought the Church Service for the Church of Christ. His subject was - Matthew 6 - Verse 28; The Lord cares for us. And why take ye thought for rainment? Consider the lillies of the field how they grow; They toil not, neither do they spin, and yet I say unto you; That even Solomon in all of his glory was not arrayed like one of these. He cares for the fowels of the air. Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness; We may have difficult times but remember the Lord cares.

Thanks to both churches

GORDON SPOT

After receiving the agriculture award at the Commerce banquet January 29, Leo Williams made an appropriate statement. The dairyman said everyone appreciates a word of encouragement, a pat on the back, and after milking 65 head of cows twice a day during the very disagreeable weather of January, this award could not have come at a more opportune time.

There are certain jobs that must go on even in cold winter days. And then there are some jobs that should only be done during winter months. One of these jobs is pruning of dormant shade trees. However, before you start whacking away at your favorite tree or shrub, make sure you have justifiable reason for pruning.

There are a number of reasons for pruning. First and foremost is to maintain a strong framework for the future development of the tree. Other reasons are to reduce the size or to keep the tree within specific bounds and to remove dead, diseased or weak growth as well as broken limbs and rubbing branches. Another reason for pruning is to improve the size and quality of flowers and fruit. A final reason is to balance the top growth with the root system at transplanting time.

Unless pruning can be justified for one of these reasons, it is better to place the shears and saw in the shed and obtain the desired exercise by spading the garden.

Some of the general principles that will apply when pruning shade trees include the removal of all dead or diseased wood, broken limbs and weak growth. Also, long unsightly branches should be shortened or removed as they offer too much resistance to the wind and are frequently subject to storm damage.

Never stub back limbs or branches. Rather, cut back to a main branch or trunk so that there will be no stubs remaining. The so-called stubbing back or topping large branches will result in a proliferation or sucker growth and will leave a wound that is impossible to heal.

Recent research indicates that the use of tree wound paint on wounds is not essential. Woody plants have the ability to wall off the wounded area and will heal over just as effectively without the dressing. However, there is no harm in using a wound paint. Use a saw or chisel to smooth broken stubs and torn bark to promote healing.

While the homeowner can handle most pruning operations, it may be best to hire a professional arborist or tree surgeon if trees are large or need extensive work.

If the tree or shrub being pruned is diseased, it is important to dip pruning equipment in a disinfectant after cut to kill disease organisms so as to prevent their spread to other portions of the tree or even to other trees. A 10 percent household bleach solution makes a satisfactory disinfectant. This can be prepared by mixing one part of bleach to nine parts of water.

Have you mailed your 1978 Census of Agriculture report? They are due by February 15. Response to the census is required by law. But the same law information furnished on reports forms is kept confidential and even other government agencies cannot obtain or use the report made by any farmer or rancher. The law also provides that copies retained by the operator are immune from legal process.

TARLETON ALLUMI ASSN. TO HOST RECEPTION FOR STENHOLM

STEPHENVILLE — Congressman Charles Stenholm of Stamford will make his first visit to the Stephenville area since assuming a seat in the house of Representatives at a reception February 11 on the Tarleton State University campus.

The reception will be given by the Tarleton Alumni Association in the Tarleton Center from 3:30 until 5 p.m. At 4:45, the Congressmen from the 17th District will discuss his first weeks in Congress and welcome questions and suggestions concerning the current session of Congress.

In announcing the reception, Alumni Association president Jim Chambers said, "we hope that a large number of people from Stephenville and the surrounding towns will take this opportunity to visit with Congressman Stenholm and assist him with the tremend-

Congressional Comment

by Charles W. Stenholm

The ethical conduct of our public officials has always been an issue of concern to the people whom they serve and rightfully so. An eighteenth century philosopher stated the issue well when he said that those who treat politics and ethics apart will never understand either one. Recent political scandals have proved this maxim true. Watergate, Koreagate, and recently the troubles of several of my colleagues, give evidence to the fact that it is not in the institutional interest of Congress for our legislators to make our laws and then, at the same time, violate them. Political corruption degrades the public perception of Congress and contributes greatly to government inefficiency and waste.

The issue of remaining in a position of power in the House of Representatives, while at the same time being implicated in unethical or illegal practices, has been a key item in the House Democratic Caucus, which has been meeting recently. The very fact that we are required to "legislate" ethics is a sad commentary, and particularly in a body such as the Congress, where it should be expected that our elected officials would maintain the highest possible integrity. While in the Caucus I have consistently supported proposed rules changes, within Constitutional limits, which would prohibit those convicted of crimes from serving in positions of leadership in the House. Surely we must face certain inherent rights such as a person being presumed innocent until proved guilty. Ultimately this is what the voters must decide for they are the arbitrators of the public morality and must determine what they are willing to tolerate. But if the public decides they want a representative who has been convicted in a court of law or in the Congress of illegal conduct, the Congress must look after the national interest and deny the leadership position within the House to those who have reached the public trust.

It should be the aim of the political process to obtain leaders who work for the common good of society and take the necessary precautions to make sure the public trust is not violated. The selection of leaders is the responsibility of the voters. The responsibility of the legislator is to work for laws that will maintain the integrity of the institution in which he serves and to uphold the public trust. History has taught us that respect must be earned and only through wise leadership and honest administration can this be accomplished. As your representative I accept this trust that has been placed in me and will work to enforce the rules of ethical practices in the Congress.

ous responsibility he has assumed as the representative from our district.

In the opening weeks of the 96th Congress, Stenholm was named to the House agriculture committee, a position he had actually sought since his election. He has recently been selected to the Post Office and Civil Service Committee and has been elected secretary-treasurer of the freshman group of congressmen.

Stenholm Selected To Serve On Subcommittee

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm was today selected to serve on the Investigations Subcommittee of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee in the House of Representatives. This Subcommittee has the responsibility for oversight of the civilian agencies of government.

One of Congressman Stenholm's primary interest is to assure greater productivity on the part of the Federal Government. In this connection, he plans to gear his work on this Subcommittee towards proposals designed to streamline Federal Departments and to make them more receptive to the citizens they are intended to serve.

In line with this philosophy of greater Government efficiency, Stenholm has also introduced legislation, referred to as "sunset" legislation. This proposal would require, among other things, that most Federal programs be reviewed and reauthorized once every ten years. Those programs not receiving reauthorization, would be terminated.

was named to the A honor roll and the Distinguished Student List for the second consecutive semester. Jimmie L. Fonville and Gary D. Jackson were named to the B honor roll for the second consecutive semester and Jimmie C. Burleson was named to the B honor roll for the fall semester.

Donna L. Lewis of Desdemona, also made the B honor roll for the second consecutive semester.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Charles W. Stenholm has been appointed to the following Subcommittees of the Agriculture Committee: Livestock and Grains; Cotton; Oilseeds and Rice; and Dairy and Poultry. The Congressman sought membership on these Subcommittees as he feels these assignments will be particularly important to his representation of the diverse interests of the 17th District of Texas.

The Congressman noted that the 17th District includes twelve of the top seventy cotton-producing counties of Texas, three of the top five peanut counties, two of the three leading milk-producing counties, in addition to the extensive livestock and grain production in all counties throughout the District.

Mr. Stenholm went on to say "the 17th District of Texas is one of only twenty four agricultural districts in the Congress today. I feel most fortunate to have this opportunity to work on the problems in agriculture and to speak out on the needs of not only the farmers and ranchers but the entire economy of the 17th District of Texas."

NEWS OF HEALTH

Allergies: Things You Should Know. Although some 17 per cent of the people in America suffer from one or more major allergies, there are a lot of facts many may not know.

An allergy is a reaction by the body to substances it recognizes as foreign. The reaction triggers the formation of antibodies and the release of certain chemicals. It's these chemicals that cause the symptoms of allergy.

The most common causes of allergies are pollens, molds, dust, feathers, hair and chemicals. Sometimes an allergy can almost be predicted. For instance, studies have shown that if both parents have hay fever, a child has a three out of four chance of having an allergy, too, and a 50 per cent chance of getting it in his early years.

Anyone with these allergy symptoms would do well to consult with their pharmacist who now is in a position to recommend a number of products which were formerly available only on prescription.

One recognized for its prompt, effective relief of hay fever and other respiratory allergy symptoms is Chlor-Trimeton tablets from Schering Corporation, and available without prescription in tablet or syrup form.

MANY PEOPLE WOULD BREATHE EASIER if they knew more about their allergies.

It contains the most widely used antihistamine ingredient, which is an original Schering discovery. All told, it would seem an allergy is nothing to sneeze at.

Most baby birds have a hard little knob at the end of their beaks called an egg tooth, according to The World Book Encyclopedia. They use the knob to crack the shell of the egg so they can wriggle out.

Energy Management

is a Family Affair — It Saves Money On Heating And Cooling

Facts from a pro on driving to survive.

Q. If you have a car wreck on an interstate highway in a city, which police would investigate the accident?—B. L., San Antonio

A. In most instances municipal police handle investigations on interstates within city limits. However, you may notify any police agency and give the location of the accident. The responsible agency will be dispatched to the scene.

Q. Is a flashing red light at night the same as a 4-way stop on a regular stop sign?—N. B., Austin

A. Yes. A flashing red light, day or night, means that you must make a complete stop until it is safe to continue. Yield the right of way to vehicles on your right.

Q. Daily I meet drivers who make left turns by first stopping in the intersection, then signaling me to make my left turn on his right. Isn't turning in this manner dangerous? Neither of us can see oncoming traffic through the other car.—G. R., Houston

A. The safest way to make a left turn is to imagine an X in the middle of the intersection. Each driver then turns to the left of this mark. By making tangent turns, drivers can avoid forcing others to maneuver around them, thus tying up traffic.

Q. Is it courtesy or law to stop for a funeral procession?—T. K., Midland

A. Texas law does not require motorists to stop for funeral processions; however, some other states have laws granting funerals the right of way. Allowing members of a funeral procession to pass uninterrupted is considered a gesture of courtesy.

If you have a question on driving, send it to:

- Keep your fireplace damper closed unless you have fire going. An open damper in a fireplace can let up to 8 percent of your heat out the chimney.

- Insulate your attic access door. Don't let cold air seep into your home through the attic access door. Check the door to make sure it is well insulated and weatherstripped.

- Insulate hot water pipes and ducts in unheated areas.

- Repair leaky faucets promptly. One drop a second can waste as much as 60 gallons of hot or cold water in a week.

- Insulate your water heater if it's warm or hot to touch. Be sure not to block off needed air vents, especially with oil and gas water heaters. Insulation kits are available and should save about $15 a year in energy costs.

- Check the water temperature on your hot water heater. Many water heaters are set around 160° or 180°. A setting of 120 degrees F. will provide adequate hot water for most families. If you have a dishwasher, you may want to increase the temperature to 140°.

- Put in low-flow shower heads and faucet aerators to reduce the volume of water used. The amount of water can be reduced from 7 to 10 gallons per minute to 3 gallons per minute with no change in water pressure.

- Set your thermostat at the minimum comfort setting in winter and add a Fuel Sentry for overnight control.

- Open registers fully, and close them in unused rooms. Make sure registers and returns are unobstructed for proper circulation of air.

- Insulate ductwork in unheated spaces. Humidify for comfort in winter; ventilate excess moisture in summer to reduce the cooling load. Whole house forced ventilation adds comfort and saves energy.

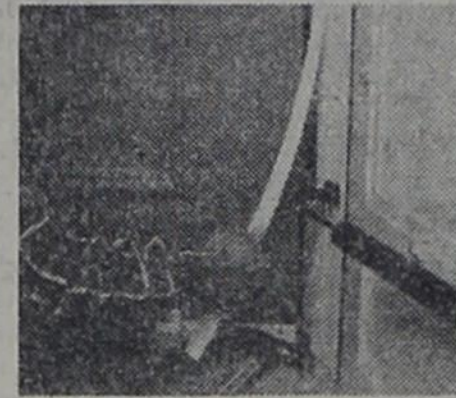

1. INSULATE — A minimum of 6" thick R-19 fiber glass insulation in the attic can reduce fuel consumption up to 30%.

2. STORM DOORS & WINDOWS — Storm doors and windows can help reduce total heat loss by as much as 10%. Insulating glass and insulated doors help, too.

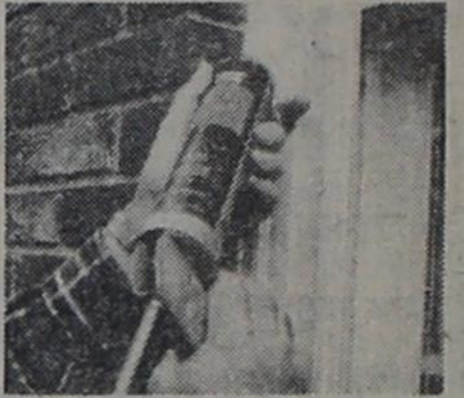

3. VAPOR BARRIERS — Beat the heat and the cold as well, with Foil-Back Gypsum Panels. The aluminum surface reflects heat rays, lowering indoor temperatures.

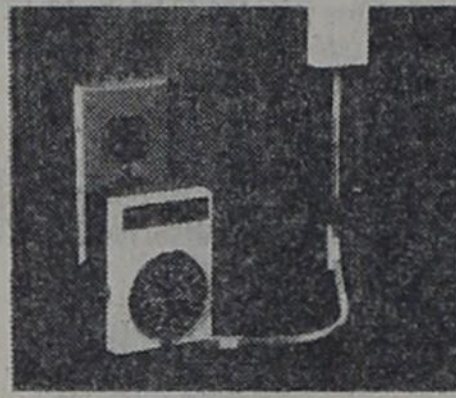

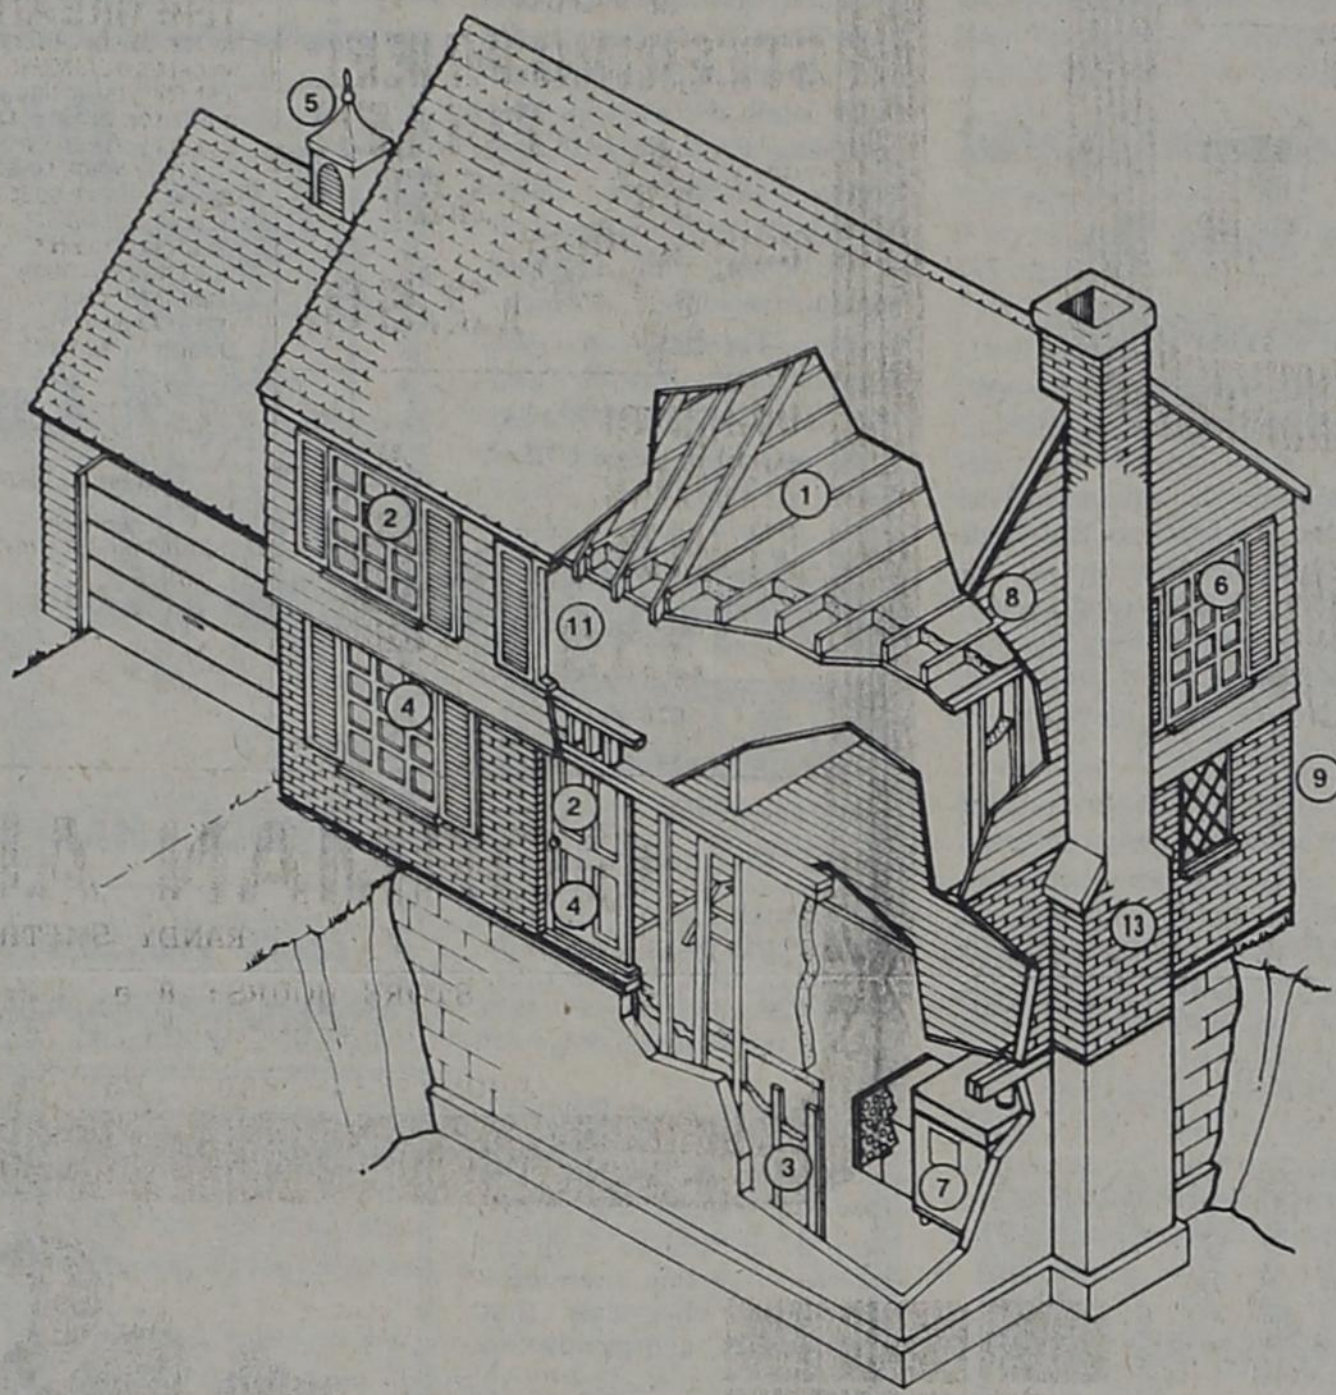

4. WEATHERSTRIP — Weatherstripping around all door and window openings can help reduce heat loss, cut fuel costs and eliminate drafts.

5. VENTILATION — To prevent condensation, a positive movement of air out of the attic is essential. Power vents and humidity control are efficient aids.

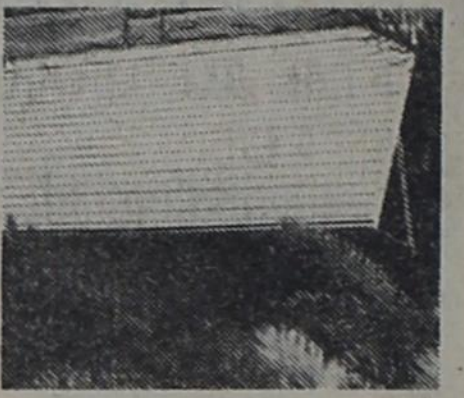

6. CAULKING — All cracks around window frames, door frames, along foundations, etc., should be carefully caulked to help reduce air infiltration and heat loss.

7. THERMOSTAT CONTROL — The Fuel Sentry changes temperature at pre-selected times. The savings can run as high as 16% for heating and 20% for cooling.

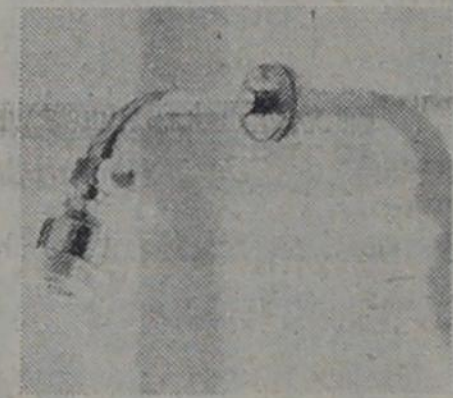

8. INSULATION BOARD — The lightweight insulating panels are nailed over the old exterior, providing a solid backing for the new siding.

9. ALUMINUM AWNINGS — A practical inexpensive energy saving assist. They increase window air conditioner efficiency up to 25%.

10. CIRCULATING FIREPLACE — This fireplace offers the advantages of heating and circulating warm air through individually controllable vent and ducts.

11. LOW-FLOW FIXTURES — Low flow shower heads and faucets can reduce hot water flow from 7 to 10 gallons per minute to 3 gallons to conserve fuel.

Longhorns still are being raised in Texas

By Gordon M. Quarnstrom
Travel News Service

In the early days of Texas the longhorn cow was the predominant breed.

The longhorn remains an honored animal. The word is heard throughout the Lone Star State, including at the University of Texas, where the teams are called the Longhorns and where a fine specimen of the breed is the mascot.

Longhorns are still grown on a number of Texas ranches, but for show, not beef.

The Texas State Tourist Council says the graceful animals with their spreading horns are a top attraction wherever shown. They may be seen in a number of places, including the ranch at Johnson City and the pioneer village at Abilene, known as Old Abilene.

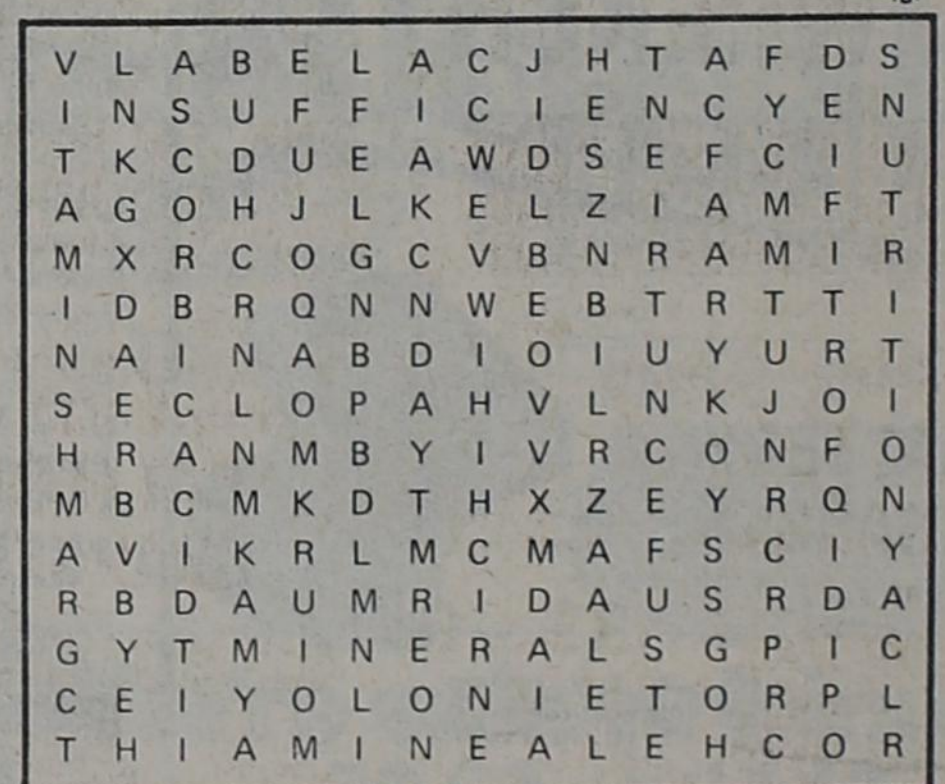

The Fort Worth people honor the longhorn each year during the Chisholm Trail Roundup, when many of the animals are herded as they were in pioneer days.

And the Fandangle, held in Albany, Tx., has an electrifying roundup scene, with 25 or more of the longhorned cattle being driven into the amphitheater by skilled cowboys. It is one of the outstanding sequences of any Texas outdoor drama. The Fandangle is a completely local production, held on three weekends each June. Information is available from Fandangle, Albany, Tx.

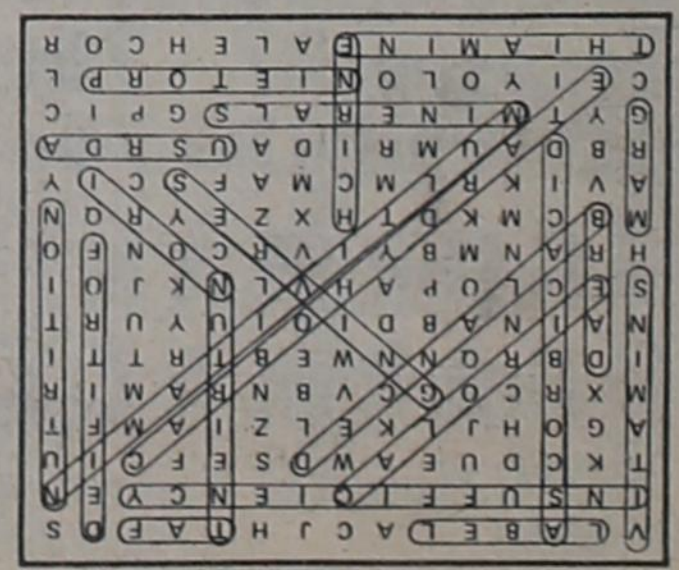

You also can write to the Texas Tourist Divpt. Agency, Box 12008, Cap. Station, Austin, 78711.

PLANNING FOR EMERGENCIES

What would your family do about money in an emergency? They might be more comfortable if you follow these ideas...

1. Organize your finances with the help of a professional. A financial adviser can evaluate family financial goals. Maybe he'll recommend more savings, or more insurance, or investing in stocks, bonds or mutual funds.

Proper financial planning can help your family in an emergency.

2. Keep a separate cash account for your spouse. If anything happens to you, a separate account will help your family pay daily expenses if insurance and other benefits are delayed.

3. Prepare a will. This goes for both wives and husbands. A will can help you make sure your property goes to the people you want to receive it.

4. Prepare a Location List. Tell your spouse where your household records, insurance policies, bank books, tax returns, etc., can be found.

5. Review your financial goals and investments at regular intervals. Has your job or family size changed? How does that affect your finances? If you own mutual funds, do your financial goals still coincide with the financial aims of the fund? If not, consider converting to another fund with a different objective in the same "family"—it costs only about $5.

Sensible financial plans can help give your family a more secure future. See a stockbroker, mutual fund representative or insurance agent for advice. They advise many families...

If you want to know more about mutual funds, the Investment Company Institute, Dept. D, 1775 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006 will send you a free booklet called "How Can I Have More Money In The Future Than I Have Today" and a directory of mutual funds.

The Grapevine

by Albert B. Cribari

FACTS ABOUT WINES

Put Some Varietal In Your Life

As more and more people begin to develop their wine tastes, they are exploring the subtle pleasures of varietal wines.

Varietal wines are named after the grape from which the majority of the wine is made. For instance, to be called Zinfandel, the content must be at least 51 percent from the Zinfandel grape. At the Cribari Winery, we try to maintain a standard of at least 75 percent in our Cribari Barbera, Grenache Rose and Zinfandel varietal wines.

Federal and state laws also say that the varietal wine must have the aroma and taste associated with the grape from which it is made.

That's where my job as the winemaker at Cribari Winery becomes important. I'm the one who has to decide which grapes we will use to blend the other 25 percent or so of our varietals.

Some people say that the winemaker's skills are the most important ingredient in the wine, even more so than the grapes. I suppose that's because almost any grape variety will make a drinkable wine, if grown, harvested and vinted correctly by a skilled winemaker.

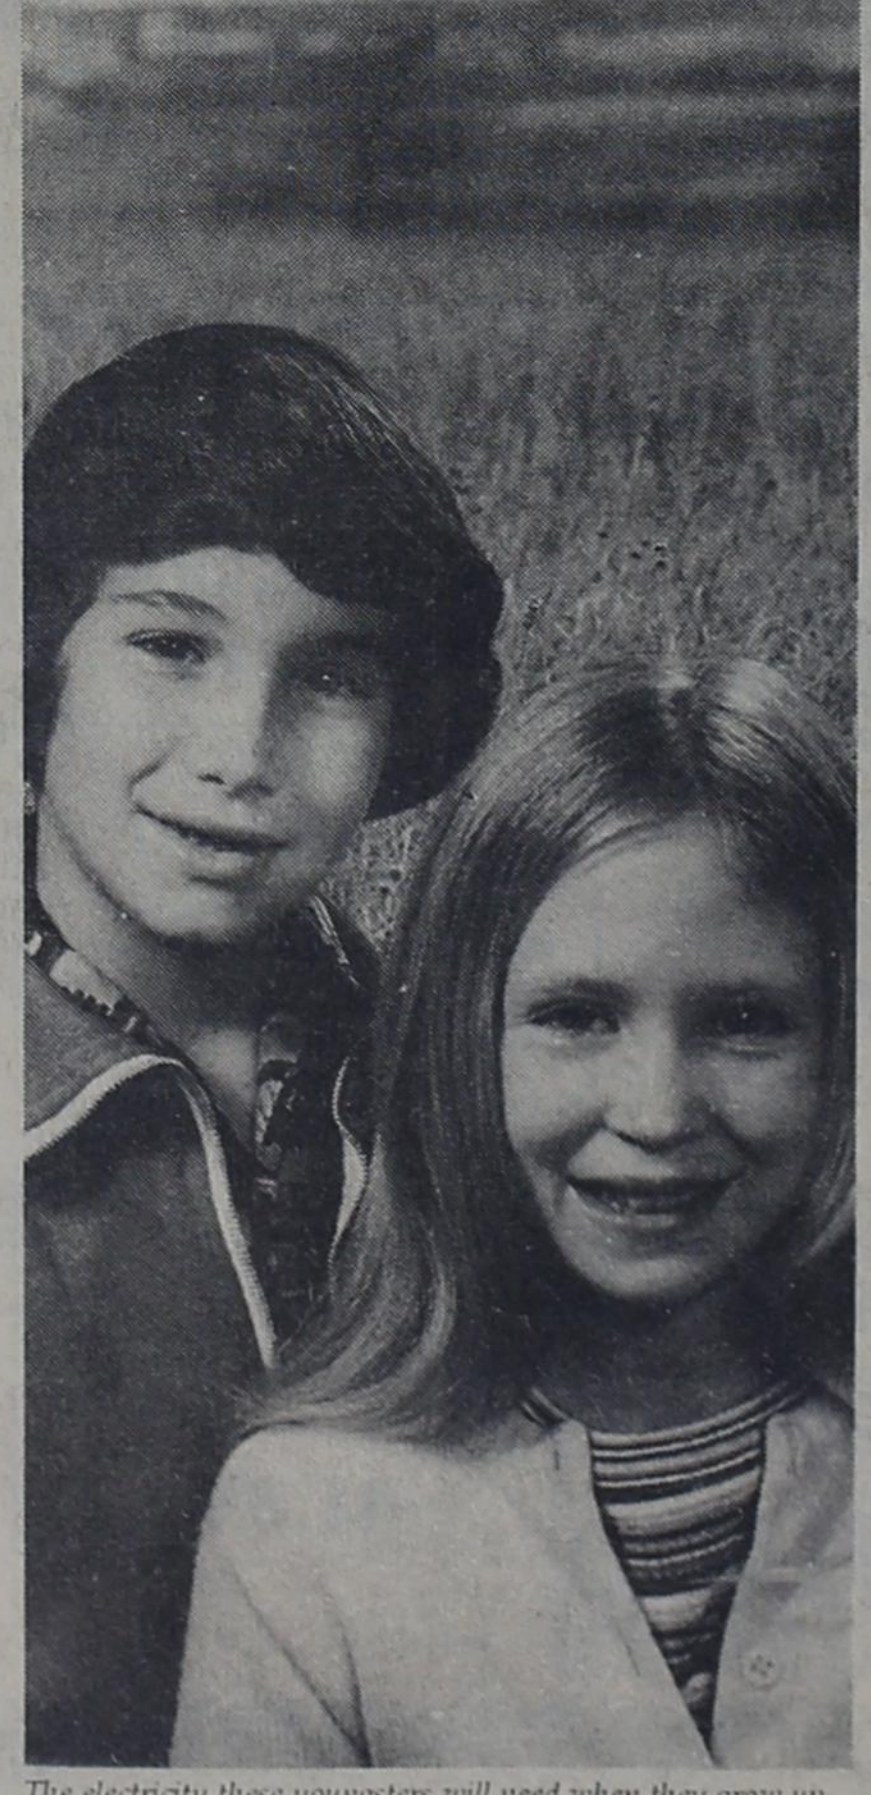

Because of the growing demand in the retail stores for varietal wines, the California winemakers have increased their production.

That means that your selection of varietals at your store has never been greater. Go ahead and try one. Put some varietal in your life.

If you have any questions about varietal wines, write to me at B. Cribari & Sons, Suite 610, 500 Sansome St., San Francisco, California 94111.

"If we decided today we needed another power plant, these kids would be in college before it could be ready."

"Most people are surprised to learn how long it takes to build an electric generating plant. It takes about eight years to locate and purchase the right site, order equipment, plan and build a lignite-fueled power plant, obtain approvals from all regulatory agencies, and then test the plant's operation carefully. It takes even longer for a nuclear-fueled plant — 10 to 12 years.

Right now, because of the shortage and high cost of natural gas, Texas Electric is building new plants that run on lignite coal and one which will use nuclear fuel.

These plants are very expensive. But we must build them so that when the need is there tomorrow, the electricity will be there too."
