JOE BENNETT, Publisher

We are setting type for the paper this week on our new typesetting machine which was purchased recently. I have been setting type so long on the linotype, that this new keyboard is sure hard to get acquainted with. It has a regular typewriter keyboard and that's tough for me after set ing type on the old linotype for so long. However, Joetta has taken over most of the typesetting and what she doesn't set Lonnie generally does. So, as you see, I am about out of a job. But, I bet if I look hard enough I can find some work around here to do.

Have you noticed the construction project across from the First Baptist Church? The A. D. Pittmans are in the process of building a new home on the site. The mobile home of Katherine Ragan has been moved to the former property of Gary Rasco just south of the Johnny Ingram home. The Pittmans have recently sold their farm property on Route 3 to the Bud Petersons, Construction is expected to take a few months. Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Brown have moved their mobile home onto their lot across from J. S. Ripley, the former property of Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Hirst. B. E. Recently retired from the MK&T Railroad. The Browns lived in Gorman for several years when the Katy Railroad was still operating here. We welcome this fine family back to our town.

Most farmers are ewaiting some much needed rain for the peanut crop which is getting very dry. Some farmers are already irrigating and most all will begin irrigating soon if we don't get some rain. So let's all seek the help of the Good Lord in sending us some much needed rain-

"All of us at Texas Electric get electric bills too, and they're up. That's why I'm trying to use less."

"My electric bills have gone up like everyone's.

Of course, working for Texas Electric, I'm more aware of how expensive new plants are and how high fuel is. But that won't solve my problem at home.

That's why I'm checking the weatherstripping around all my doors and the caulking around the windows.

I mean I could feel air under the door and I'm paying for it. So I put storm doors on and that really made a difference.

Gives me four inches of dead air. And that's Electric a lot better than Service nothing."

TESCO Manager Gives Tips On Lowering Electric Bills

The air conditioning season is upon us again, and that means higher electric bills. But Texas Electric Service Co., says costs can be held down with a little

"The easiest way to lower bills is to raise thermostats,' according to Texas Electric Manager Ben Lancaster. The company recommends a setting of 78 degrees as the best balance between economy and

People with window air conditioners should use an indoor thermometer to set their temperature control rather than relying on "what feels right".

If the house is to be empty all day, raise the thermostat setting five degrees. If the house will be empty for several days, turn the air conditioner off unless something inside would be damaged by the heat.

The weather may send electric bills higher this summer than in recent years. "We've enjoyed two cooler -thannormal summers. If this turns out to be a hot summer, air conditioners will be working harder and using more electricity" he said.

The area that offers the greatest potential for saving money is insulation. "Properly insulating a house that had no insulation can lower cooling costs 40 percent," Lancaster

Insulation is measured in terms of its resistance to heat flow--called its "R value" Texas Electric recommends ceiling insulation of at least

The amount of insulation required to reach a certain R value depends upon the type of insulation used. For instance, R26 insulation in the ceiling requires about 12 inches of the blown-in liberglass or nine inches of blown rock wool.

"Most insulation contractors are happy to give you a free estimate on insulating your attic to a specified level," Lancaster

"Attic insulation can cost as much as several hundred dollars, but with today's higher energy prices it can pay for itself in only a few seasons," he

Another way to cut cooling costs is with weatherstripping and caulking. This is inexpensive and easy to do, but can lower costs noticeably if a house has many air leaks.

The usual culprits are around doors and windows, but other trouble spots can be around wall electrical outlets, attic doors and through-the-door mail -

"Of course all the weatherstripping in the world won't help if outside doors are being opened repeatedly. Hot air rushes in every time a door is opened," Lancaster said.

An "open door" that people often forget about is the fireplace damper. A fireplace draws air whether there is a fire in it or not. If the damper is left open all summer, a lot of cool air and money will be going up the chimney.

Another way to save air conditioning costs is to operate the air conditioning equipment properly. That includes cleaning or replacing air conditioning filters regularly.

Outside, air conditioning equipment should be given room to blow off its hot air. Shrubs or grass too close to the compressor unit will restrict air circulation and cut efficiency.

Landscaping can be used to the homeowner's advantage, however. Trees and shrubs should be planted so that they shade the house as much as ipossible.

Extra effort should be made to shade east and west windows, which receive direct sunlight. In addition to trees and shrubs, awnings or outdoor blinds should be used to block the sun's rays.

Inside, drapes and blinds should be kept closed to keep heat out and cool in. Installing storm windows or double-pane windows is another good way to conserve energy.

Other summer saving tips

-- Keep lamps and other heatproducing appliances away from thermostats.

-- Use kitchen and bathroom exhaust fans to remove excess humidity, but not for so long that they begin pulling out cooled air. -- When possible, wait until evening to do ironing, cooking, washing, clothes drying, bathing, and other heat-producing

Anyone buying a new air conditioner should check the unit's Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER) rating. The higher the number, the more efficient the air conditioner. Texas Electric recommends units with an EER rating of seven or higher. "The units with a higher EER rating are going to cost a little more, but they'll use less energy and end up saving you money in the long run,'

Lancaster said. Texas Electric's "Tips" booklet suggests dozens of ways for conserving energy in the home. The booklet is available at any Texas Electric office or can be requested on the comment portion of the electric

"Another good way to smooth out high summer bills is with our average billing plan,' Lancaster said. The plan does not lower costs, but spreads the cost of high summer usage out over lower winter bills.

"The local Texas Electric office would be happy to give anyone details on the average billing plan." he said.

joined to the command, 'be baptized,' by the co-ordinate conjunction, 'and.' Thus they are both equal and essential to our salvation. According to the words of Peter, no man wil be cleansed from his sins and until he willingly submits himself to baptism 'For the remission of sin' To advocate the doctrine that one commandment is essential to salvation while the other commandment is not essential is to espouse a doctrine that is neither taught no promoted by our Lord and his apostles. In regards to the subject of baptism, we need to be very careful to speak and follow only 'the things which become sound doctrine.' (Titus 2';1) Peter has warned 'If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God...that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and fominion for ever and ever.' ## Texas Electric Service Co. Opens Third Lignite-Fired Power Plant

Texas Electric Service Co. reached another milestone in its fuel changin program last week when a third lignite-fired power plant began commercial opera-

After several weeks of successful test operations, Unit 1 of the Martin Lake Steam Electric Station began generating up to 750,000 kilowatts of electricity on a fulltime basis.

Eventually there will be four identical generating units at Martin Lake, making it the largest power plant in the state. The plant's total cost will be almost $1 billion.

Martin Lake is part of Texas Electric's program to reduce its use of high-priced natural gas in favor of less-expensive lignite and nuclear fuels.

"Building these new plants costs a lot of money, but to keep using natural gas would cost our customers a whole lot more," Texas Electric President Bill Marquardt said.

It would take 126 million cubic feet of natural gas everyday to generate as much electricity as the new Martin Lake unit will put out. "This lignite unit saves a lot of gas for the country and a lot of money for our customers," Marquardt said. Martin Lake is owned jointly by Texas Electric, Texas Power & Light and Dallas Power & Light--all subsidiaries of Texas Utilities Co. Martin Lake Unit 1 rises some 24 stories above the East Texas piney woods near Henderson. Its giant stack towers more than 40 stories. Stretched out beside Unit 1 in descending stages of completion are units 2.3 and 4.

Surrounding the units on truck-like "Haulers." The haul three sides is the 5,000-acre lake which provides cooling water for the plant (and the site of the new state park). To the east of the plant stretch 20,000 acres of land owned or leased by Texas Electric and its sister companies. Beneath that land-30 to 160 feet deep--is the fuel that will be producing electricity well into the next century. That fuel is lignite--a soft, brownish-black

The power plant's appetite for the lignite is ravenous. When all four of Martin Lake's generating units begin operating at full load, they will burn more than a ton of lignite every two seconds That's four tons of lignite in the time it takes to read this paragraph.)

The mining operation necessary to feed that appetite is a fascinating combination of engineering and brute strength. An enormous dragline with a boom the length of a football field and a housing the size of a gymnasium removes the dirt above the lignite in 130-ton

For obvious transportation reasons, that 6,000-ton dragline isdelivered from the manufacturer as an enormous "Kit" anf is assembled on-site. The overgrown erector set sells for $8.7

A brigade of comparatively small machines works quickly around the giant dragline like pilot fish around a whale. But even these machines are hardly

Livestock Producers are Reminded To Register

All eligible livestock producers in Eastland County are reminded that they will need to register before June 17 if they are to vote in the forthcoming producer referendum on the Beef Research and Information | islative authority, and accomprogram July 5-15, says Coun- plishes the goals of the proty Extension Agent DeMarquis

County ASCS offices will conduct the registration and ref-

The law requires that beef producers register at least two weeks before the referendum in order to vote.

Producers eligible to register and vote are those who owned cattle during 1976, including 4-H and FFA members, men and women.

If the vote is favorable, a Beef Board will be appointed This board is to consist of not more than 68 members, selected from the Beef producer ranks by the Secretary of Agriculture as nominated by their producer organizations. Representation on the board would be proportional to cattle production in each state or geographic area.

If the program becomes operational, the Agricultural Marketing Service of the US-DA would monitor it, or serve in effect as a referee, to assure that it stays within the Leggram as voted on by producers in the referendum:

Should producers approve the late fall of 1977.

Thus, it likely would be 1978 before a research and information program for cattle and beef could be fully developed and first assessments begin on sales of cattle.

Illegal Aliens Problem Grows

WASHINGTON - The following is a re-run of our release of October 23, 1975. The problem of illegal aliens has increased since that time and a solution is no nearer. "The U.S. government has a multitude of dilemmas of one kind or another and near the top of them is illegal aliens. No one can accurately estimate the number of illegal aliens in the country at the present time. Retired General Leonard F. Chapman who heads the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimates the number of about ten million and says the problem is 'totally out of con-

"Each year for the last several, something on the order of one million foreigners enter and remain in this country. The great majority are from Latin America but they come from all over the world in search of jobs and better life. They are found in the cities working on construction sites and among the ranks of professionals. It is estimated that the payroll for working aliens runs to around $10.5 billion each year.

"During 1974 General Chapman reports that over 800 thousand aliens were apprehended but he doubts the surface has been scratched to deal with the problem.

"Soon to be considered in the Congress is a bill which attempts to treat this situation but it has many objections. The bill would impose penalties on employers who knowingly employ illegal aliens. At first there would be a $500 fine as a warning and then a $1,000 fine with an option for the judge to impose a one-year prison sentence. The Attorney General would be empowered under this legislation to seek restraining orders against employers he believes are engaged in the practice of hiring such workers.

"As critics of this proposed legislation point out, other prob-lems would be created. To begin with, the burden of enforcement to a large extent is put on employers. Law enforcement is a governmental function but this bill would require employers to find out whether those they expect to hire are citizens or illegal aliens. Every person of Latin American descent would be subject to scrutiny and questioning. It would place our own Latin American citizens under suspicion that they may be illegal immigrants. With the ease of forged papers an employer could be constantly under investigation.

"The influx of aliens to this country has for many years been a problem but the present flood of entries grows by the day. In recent years, many immigrants have been exploited by organized efforts to get them into the country and get them a job. It is reported that Chicago is brimming with people paying a part of their earnings to the underworld which smuggles them in. They are furnished with fake passports and identification papers but have to pay constantly for their protection in fear of being reported to the immigration officials.

"In the days of the old bracero program entrants from Latin America and, particularly Mexico, were given legal op-portunity to work, which ben-efited both them and the employer. Then and now, farmers and ranchers in the agricultural area need this kind of labor and it could even be extended to apply to the industrial areas but there is no indication that the Congress would be willing to take this practical ap-

"Even if the immigration service was beefed up many times beyond what they now have. it is doubtful this situation could be remedied to any great degree. A much better track of illegal entries in this country could be kept if there was a provision for legal entry and departure. Of course, many would remain illegally but many would return to their native land, knowing they could return as seasonable work was pro-

I forgot to tell a funny story that happened at my farm in 1964. My terrier began barking at the barn one morning. I had two steel bats that I had bought at the ice house in Ranger. 6 x 8 x 20 ft. I used for grain. Under one of these bins were some baby skunks. I could not get to them. I had a spray pump that I had been using to spray mesquitoes. There were a few fleas under the barn. So I used ten gallons of kerosene spraying grainery and barn. (They were together) about that time Spot treed the mad skink in a small pile of rocks about 30 yards from the barn. I went there and could see the skunk. She went three gallons of kerosene in the rocks and set if afire. It burned

I notices in the paper where H.E.W. Secretary Califano criticized Ford for not trying to do something to help the S.S. Fund. His hand was called on it. Mr. Ford recommended it in his budget for three times. I wonder if anyone can tell the truth. He is also wanting to put V.A. and H.E.W. together. Turn V.A. Hospitals over to old age people. Here is hoping that we have a few in Congress that will remember and give just to the under a rock. So I just put about ones that suffered and sacrificed for"Freedom and Liberty" for American Justice. Not and burned. I decided she was the Dodger Deserters and the
