Lady Panthers Volleyball

The Lady Panthers visited De Leon on Saturday morning the 9th of September for a dual match with Mullin and De Leon.

The Lady Bearcats whipped up on the Lady Panthers 15-6 and 15 to 10. The Lady Panthers showed some really fine Volleyball action at times, but were inconsistent in their play overall.

In the next match against Mullen the Lady Panthers were victorious in two games by scores of 15-7 and 15-10.

Beatriz Ramirez got the Lady Panthers started with a three service points, followed by Mandy Warren's two points, and Amanda Janecek scored points 6 - 9. In the 2nd game, Rachel Rainey got service points 1, and 6-8, and 11-15. Serving aces during the two games were Warren (2), Janecek (2), Maupin (2) and Rainey (1).

The Lady Panthers went on the road to Millsap, September 12th for the J.V and Varsity games.

The JV lost a couple of close games. They jumped out ahead in the 1st game but could not hold on and lost 15-10. In the 2nd game they came back from 11-3 deficit to eventually lose 15-11. Kristina Everton, Shari Marlow and Kristen Turner had service scoring runs of 3 or more points.

The Varsity Lady Panthers got off to a quick start against the Millsap Lady Bulldogs winning 6 of the first 12 points. The Lady Panthers stretched this lead 13-8 but failed to finish off the next four scores losing by 15-13 score.

The Lady Panthers never recovered and lost the 2nd game 15-6. Service points of six straight by Beatriz Ramirez was a real highlight. Another real highlight the ball setting of Eva Rodriguez and the spiking of Amanda Janecek.

The Gorman Lady Panthers record is now at 6 wins and 8 losses. The Lady Panthers are on the verge of reaching another level of play. Improved team play of setting and spiking the ball along with continued serving improvement will get the Lady Panthers over the hump of finishing close games.

Junior Hi Football

The Gorman Cubs played their first game of the 2000 Thursday night against the Perrin-Whitt Pirates. Gorman came out on the losing end of the score, 8-16.

The Cubs were led defensively by Adam Spivey and Blake Turner, who each had a pass interception. Also Gil Cochran and Scott Lewis recovered fumbles.

Offensively, Juan Martinez and Ryan Wright looked good running the ball. Wright scored on a 22 yard run in the 4th quarter. Martinez ran for the 2 extra points.

The Cubs next game is at Throckmorton next Thursday at 5:30 p.m.

The Gorman Panthers traveled to Perrin-Whitt on Friday night to take on the Pirates and came out on the short end of a 28-7 score. The Panthers took the opening kickoff and moved the ball steadily down the field but the drive stalled at the Pirate 10. They had four opportunities to score but managed on one score. The Pirates scored on four of five opportunities.

The teams played on even terms until the first part of the second quarter when the Pirates got the ball on their own 43 and scored on just 3 plays. Following two runs of four yards each Robert Hernandez took the handoff on a third down and 2 and stepped through the Big Red defense for a 49 yard scamper to make the score 6-0 with 9:43 left in the second. The kick for point failed and the Pirates we up 6-0.

The Panthers got another drive started late in the second period but the drive died and the score remained at 6-0 at the halftime mark.

Both the Pirates and Panthers Marching Bands performed very good routines at intermission that received big applause from the fans.

Following the intermission the Pirates took the kickoff on their own 19 and scored in 7 plays with Hernandez getting the honors from 12 yards out with 7:43 left in the third. The drive was set up by 25 yard run by Hernandez and 2 pass plays to Don Lane of 10 and 25. Hernandez then added the 2 pointer on a run to make the score 14-0.

Then after holding the Panthers on their next possession and getting the ball via the fumble route at their own 12 after a long Panther drive, the Pirates moved 88 yards in 13 plays with Hernandez getting the score on a 1 yard run with 10:30 left in the game. Dustin Culver booted the point after and the Pirates led 21-0.

Following the Pirate score the Panthers came right back, moving 63 yards in 11 plays with Ben Longoria getting the final yard on a keeper play with 4:55 left on the clock. Adrian Sichau kicked the point after and the score was 21-7.

However the Pirates answered right back, going 51 yards in just 4 plays with the help of a 15 yard penalty on the Panthers. Hernandez scored on a 5 yard run with 3:11 left. The drive featured a 36 yard pass to Culver. Culver added the point after and the final score was 28-7.

Jacob McCullough led the Panthers with 58 yards on 12 carries. Ben Longoria had 40 on 8 keepers. David Seaton got 37 on 11 tries and Josh Longoria had 18 yards on 3 tries.

The Panthers will host the Throckmorton Greyhounds in the Homecoming Game on Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. The Greyhounds have a fine team and should give the Panthers a good game for the exes returning home for the 2000 Homecoming tilt. So come on out and back the Big Red to Victory.

Go Get 'Em Big Red!!!!

Pause To Think

The following is the third and final edition of my response to the recent letter received and published containing questions with regard to Pause To Think edition 8.

Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light: Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son: In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins. Colossians 1:13-14

In the type and shadow of Israel, just prior to deliverance from Egypt, they were instructed to apply the blood of the lamb to the doorpost of their home, and then to partake of the lamb, in other words eat it. When we are baptized, the blood of Jesus is applied to our lives. When we receive the Holy Ghost, we are partakers of his divine nature. Both must occur. Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you. John 6:53 There are other intricate details of this type and shadow of things to come that I would like to share with you sometime. I believe the things that you believe, but feel that God wants us to go further. I am not of the nature to say that you are wrong in what you believe, but I will say that God wants us to go farther and walk in the fullness of the faith that was once delivered unto the saints. I most certainly do not presume to know everything there is to know about the scripture, (we see through a glass darkly), I am certainly open to all that God has for me. For me to back up, would be for me to deny the power of God that he has administered through his Spirit in my life. In so doing, I would become an apostate. This is what Paul was warning them against in Hebrews 6:1-6. Apparently, the dedication of sepeparation from the world to God was more strenous than their flesh enjoyed, or they simply could not trust what Christ had done for them through the cross.

I am with you, I want to be right about what I believe and teach. When I was 18, my wife and I were preaching a revival in Sweetwater, Texas. One night when I was praying and preparing to preach, it dawned on me that I did not have a revelation from God, but had simply trusted in what I had been taught. That scared me. I immediately began to seek for a personal revelation of truth. Salvation is too important to only embrace what someone has to say about the scripture. We must search the scripture for ourselves. We must also remember that the flesh can not discern the scriptures. But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. 1 Corinthians 2:14

The five-fold ministry's purpose is to motivate saints to a deeper relationship with the Lord, informing them that they can walk so close to the Lord that he will reveal himself to them. Then, they in turn will be able to lead others to a true relationship with Christ. Our responsibility as ministers of God to the people is ongoing because as long as we are still in this body, we are subject to its desires unless we keep those things under subjection to the Spirit. And, that is just one more reason why we must allow God to fill us with his Spirit, seeing as how we can not accomplish this through the flesh. And if a person tends to believe that he can, or has, said accomplishments will only be judged by God as self-righteousness, which profits nothing.

I will close for now. Thanks for writing. I pray that what I have had to say will motivate you to accept that God desires our complete surrender to him so that he can fill our lives with his Spirit. May God's blessings rest upon you and your family,

CAPITOL COMMENT

U.S. SENATOR
KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON

STRENGTHENING VETERANS' BENEFITS

Everyone who lives in the country and enjoys the freedom and prosperity it offers owes a tremendous debt to our military veterans. They are the people who made and kept America the strongest nation in the world.

By their service and sacrifice, they earned the benefits they were promised years ago.

But many of our 65-and-over military retirees and their families are concerned, understandably, that America is not living up to the promise of quality, lifetime health care that was made to them when they first enlisted. As the military has been downsized, and bases and their hospitals were closed across the country, it has become harder for retirees to find the kind of health care they want and need. Many retirees have found themselves completely closed out of their local base hospitals after 20 years or more of military service.

Many of these same veterans are having a hard time getting the prescription drugs they need because they live far from a military facility, where they otherwise could get their prescriptions filled. All military retirees under 65 already have access to a prescription drug program with special co-pay and cost rules, either through military bases or from a national mail-order pharmacy and retail drugstores. But retirees lose their eligibility for drug coverage when they qualify for Medicare at age 65.

Prescription drug costs are the fastest-growing segment of military health care spending, according to the Department of Defense, increasing at a rate of about 13 percent per year. (In comparison, drug costs are increasing by 15 percent per year in the private sector.)

Military retirees without access to a military facility pharmacy must pay market rates for the medicine. And we all know the cost of paying for medicines out of pocket is skyrocketing, especially for individuals with the chronic diseases that often arrive with age.

Congress is now in the process of trying to fix this problem in a way that will return quality health care to retired veterans.

I am supporting a proposal by the Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Senator John Warner, that would extend the prescription drug benefit program now provided for those under 65 to the 1.3 million Medicare-eligible military retirees over 65, as well as provide them a 20 percent discount at pharmacies. Last month Congress also took an important step to ensure that those over 65 continue to have access to the same military medical programs available to all retirees under age 65. I voted to support Senator Warner's amendment to the FY 2001 defense bill because it would remove the barriers to military medical care for those over 65.

I am hopeful Congress will give its full approval to the measure this year and send it to the President for his signature.

An alternative proposal, by Senator Tim Johnson (D-South Dakota), would have put military retirees who qualify for Medicare under the Federal Employees Health Benefit (FEHB) program. This is the program government employees use, which provides a high degree of choice, letting people decide which care provider can best meet their individual needs. This approach has a great deal of merit, but it would establish two different programs, one for those under 65 and one for those over age 65.

I am far from satisfied with the current state of the medical care available to military personnel — be they active duty or retired. I have worked consistently in the Senate to strengthen the TRICARE military health care program by reducing the administrative and bureaucratic obstacles to care, and by increasing its funding to attract more medical providers.

I want to ensure that TRICARE is the best program available to federal employees. But unless TRICARE can deliver the very highest standard of care, Congress may need to re-examine the idea of military enrollment in the FEHB program for everyone.

Whatever the program we adopt, fairness and equity demand that there be one program for all, regardless of age or eligibility for Medicare benefits. Congress knows what needs to be done, and we need to make sure we do it right.

JUDGES, THE BORDER, AND TAXES

Recent initiatives in Congress will benefit both the Texas Border — our first line of defense against drug smuggling and illegal immigration — and Texans, who are one step closer to seeing the death tax repealed.

MORE JUDGES FOR TEXAS

I have long championed greater prosperity and safety along our border with Mexico and believe that increased federal attention is required to aid in the capture of drug criminals, from the moment they cross the Border to their conviction and incarceration.

The Southwest Border Judgeship Act of 2000 will put 13 new judges in the trenches of America's war on drugs. It will create eight additional permanent U.S. district judgeships and five temporary judgeships. Texas will receive four of these permanent judgeships: two in the southern district, which includes Houston, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, McAllen and Laredo, and two in the western district, which includes Waco, Austin, San Antonio, Midland and El Paso.

With added Border Patrol agents equipped with dramatically improved detection technology, we are stemming the tide of drugs from Mexico and Central and South America that is heading for our neighborhoods and schoolyards. Since 1994, arrests for drug smuggling, illegal immigration and other crimes have jumped 125 percent. But the result of these successes is that our judges along the U.S.-Mexican border are being inundated with criminal cases. The average caseload for these judges is four times the national average.

The five judicial districts along the U.S.-Mexican Border have amassed an amazing 26 percent of the criminal caseload filed in the United States, while the 89 other judicial districts in America oversee the remainder. The resulting backlog is straining our judges and law enforcement officials and limiting their effectiveness in our fight against crime and drugs. The increase in judges which this bill provides is critical to the safety of our communities.

AID FOR BORDER STATES

Similarly, the federal government should work hand-in-hand with Texas and other states in stopping illegal immigration. The states have been carrying the load for far too long and the State Criminal Alien Assistance Program II Act will help lessen the burden that Border states have been carrying on behalf of our nation.

Under this legislation, the federal government will reimburse states for costs relating to the incarceration of illegal aliens and for emergency health services furnished to undocumented aliens. It will give $200 million per year to states and localities for incarceration-related costs, plus an additional $200 million per year to help absorb the costs of providing medical treatment to illegal aliens in a medical emergency, which is required by federal law.

While states already are reimbursed for incarceration of illegal immigrants, currently they are picking up the tab for all other costs, ranging from apprehension to prosecution. This bill will rectify that.

Even as we have emphasized the security of our borders, we have burdened our Border localities and states by adding to their prison numbers but not adding to their budgets. I have worked closely with federal and state law enforcement officials to identify and secure the necessary resources to halt the influx of illegal aliens. The least the federal government can do for Texas and the other states is to help cover their costs of apprehension and prosecution. The federal government owes it to our Border regions to step up to the plate.

ANOTHER CHANCE TO REPEAL THE DEATH TAX

Someone once said that death should not be a taxable event. I couldn't agree more, so I am happy to report that the House passed the new Death Tax Elimination Act by a vote of 279-136, and the Senate will vote on it later this year. I can only hope that this time, the President changes his mind. If not, we will repeal it next year under a new president.

When the IRS can levy a claim to more than half the value of a deceased person's farm or small business, something is wrong. People who have worked a lifetime to build a family business or sustain a family farm ought not to lose their life's work to the tax collector when they die. That's more like grave robbery than tax collection.

Unfortunately, President Clinton believes that even in a time of unprecedented surpluses, our government needs this money, and he has opposed our effort to repeal the death tax with two vetoes and the threat of a third.

The tax raises only about 1 percent of all federal revenue, but according to the Center for the Study of Taxation, it costs 65 cents for every dollar collected. In 1997, it cost the government $12 billion to raise $20 billion. That's $20 billion that should have been left to families, plus $12 billion wasted.

Benjamin Franklin said that the two things inevitable in life are death and taxes, but at least our Founding Fathers didn't have to deal with them at the same time.

Family-Friendly Meals:
Add A Can

(NAPS)—"Cooking and entertaining doesn't have to be difficult or time consuming," says culinary and life-style expert B. Smith. "My favorite meals are quick and easy to prepare, use a limited amount of ingredients, look and taste terrific and allow me to spend plenty of time with the friends and family gathered around the table."

A can of tomatoes and chiles can add zest to almost any dish.

Smith suggests adding a can of Ro*tel Diced Tomatoes and Green Chiles to hamburgers, macaroni and cheese and scrambled eggs for fast and flavorful meals. When mixed with melted and processed cheese, it can make for a marvelous dip.

"I love the fresh zesty taste, the natural spices and the ease of simply adding a can to whatever I make," she explains. "The flavor is as fresh as the tomatoes from my garden—with no chopping and nothing to clean up."

Campaign Urges Families To Seek Support For Alzheimer's

(NAPS)—Princess Yasmin Aga Khan, daughter of the late 1940s movie star Rita Hayworth, is talking openly about a side of her mother's life that was anything but glamorous: her battle with Alzheimer's disease.

"When my mother was diagnosed with Alzheimer's, few people recognized the disease, and little could be done for my mom or our family," said Princess Yasmin, honorary vice chair of the Alzheimer's Association. "But things are different now. Today there's no reason for anyone to suffer in silence, as my mother did. Prescription medications to manage symptoms and support programs to improve quality of life are available for both the person with Alzheimer's and caregiver."

As a result of her mother's experience, Princess Yasmin has been devoted to increasing recognition of Alzheimer's disease including volunteering for the Alzheimer's Association and founding the Association's Rita Hayworth Galas in New York and Chicago. Since 1984, the Galas have raised more than $28 million for research.

Currently, she is appearing in a new public service announcement (PSA), in connection with the Alzheimer's Association, urging people to recognize the symptoms of Alzheimer's disease and see a doctor if they are concerned about a family member.

"Unlike in Rita Hayworth's time, treatment is now available for Alzheimer's disease," said Jeffrey Cummings, MD, director, Alzheimer's Disease Center, UCLA School of Medicine. "Early diagnosis is extremely important because it offers people with Alzheimer's a greater chance of benefiting from early medical intervention and gives them more time to plan for the future. The earlier treatment begins, the greater the impact of therapy may be in maintaining patients at a higher level of functioning. Although there is no cure for Alzheimer's disease, treatments for the symptoms of mild to moderate Alzheimer's disease are available, so early detection and immediate treatment are crucial."

Medical treatments have been shown to improve cognitive function (such as thinking, reasoning and memory) and to manage symptoms associated with Alzheimer's disease. Currently, there are three prescription drugs available to treat the symptoms of mild to moderate Alzheimer's. Although there have been recent breakthroughs in Alzheimer's research, a cure or prevention may be years away. New medications are under development, and several clinical trials are under way to study whether estrogen, nonsteroidal anti-inflammatories and vitamin E help prevent the disease.

Unfortunately, long delays—up to three years—are common between the onset of symptoms and the time a person seeks a diagnosis, because people often confuse the warning signs of Alzheimer's disease with memory problems associated with normal aging. But despite the absence of a single diagnostic test, physicians can diagnose Alzheimer's disease with 90 percent accuracy through tests that can be administered and interpreted in the office.

The Alzheimer's Association developed a brochure, Understanding Memory Loss, Aging and Alzheimer's Disease, to help families better recognize the symptoms of Alzheimer's disease and know where to turn for help and support.

In general, the following are signs and symptoms of Alzheimer's disease when they increasingly affect everyday life:

- Recent memory loss that affects job skills
- Difficulty performing familiar tasks
- Problems with finding the right words
- Disorientation
- Poor or decreased judgment
- Problems with abstract thinking
- Misplacing things
- Changes in mood or behavior
- Changes in personality
- Loss of initiative

To learn more or to get a copy of the brochure Understanding Memory Loss, Aging and Alzheimer's Disease, call the Association at (800) 272-3900, visit www.alz.org or contact your local Alzheimer's Association chapter.

The PSA and the Alzheimer's disease educational campaign are provided with support from Eisai Inc. and Pfizer Inc. Eisai Inc. and Pfizer Inc are committed to a collaboration dedicated to advances in Alzheimer's therapy.

Ask the AG:

Enforcing Out-of-state Child Support Cases

By John Cornyn, Attorney General of Texas

Q: I have custody of my two children and live in Texas. My ex-wife now lives out of state. How will you handle my child support case now that it involves two states?

A: The Office of the Attorney General is responsible for collecting court-ordered child support in Texas. When one of the parents in a child support case lives in another state, we work with that state to collect child support.

In the past, collecting child support orders across state lines was difficult. Laws varied from state to state. A federal law called the Uniform Interstate Family Support Act (UIFSA) now ensures that state lines do not interfere with collecting child support.

Court Orders

If you do not have a court order for child support, the Office of the Attorney General can help you establish one. Because you live in Texas, we can establish this order without the help of your ex-wife's state of residence. However, if we do need assistance from that state, UIFSA enables us to work with that state to establish the order.

UIFSA allows there to be only one active child support order per case. If court orders have been established in more than one state, UIFSA has rules to determine which order will be the controlling order that governs the case.

Enforcement

States now have more power to collect payments from non-custodial parents who live in other states. States can now enforce court orders without the assistance of the non-custodial parent's state of residence.

Often, child support can be collected through a withholding order. The withholding order can require that child support payments be deducted directly from the non-custodial parent's paycheck by his or her employer.

In some cases, it is better to work with the authorities in the state where the non-custodial parent lives. That state can register the court order for enforcement, but cannot make any changes to the terms of the order. The authorities from that state do, however, have the right to pursue collection of child support through enforcement hearings, license suspension, and incarceration of the non-custodial parent, if necessary.

Modifications

Often, changes in a non-custodial parent's circumstances, such as job promotions, unemployment, or disability, can affect that parent's ability to meet his or her child support obligations. These changes may require a modification of the child support order.

UIFSA sets the ground rules for modification based on the state that issued the order, the states where the parties reside, and the controlling court order.

If either of the parents or the children still live in the state that issued the controlling order, that state may order the modifications. However, if none of the parties live in the state where the controlling order was issued, the court order must be registered in the state where the parent who is not seeking modification lives.

In addition, both parents can agree in writing to allow one of the states involved to modify the order and take control of the case.

Once a modification has been approved, the new amount of support must be collected by all states involved in the case.

HERITAGE MANOR NEWS

By Nancy Hendricks

September 25, 2000 Hi Folks,

I am happy to report that we continue to receive more and more donations of books for our facility library. Thanks to all who have donated these books and their efforts in helping to make our facility library a reality. We also want to thank Richard Watson and his family. They generously donated several sets of shelves for the library and these have worked very well. Ray Blevins, our maintenance man, set the shelves up and Derrik Adams, a community scout member, cleaned and stocked the shelves with our donated books. Thanks to all involved for helping us with this project. Please come by and see our new library as we are very proud to add it to our nursing home. See you soon!

Sincerely, s/ Brent
