TWELVE ARTICLES ON CHURCH ETIQUETTE

While driving home from a hospital visit in Temple a few days ago, I noticed a little country church not far from the highway. The welcome sign, the well-kept road, and the beauty of the building caught my attention. Being road-weary, and having a nostalgia for little country churches, I turned and went back for a closer look. This little house of worship, set back under a grove of large oak trees, was clean and snow-white with recent paint. To my amazement, there were no locked doors. This, I told myself, was not an ordinary church. I stepped inside and found myself standing in a sanctuary that is old, yet modern, and very worshipful. It took me back, way back, to other country churches, other days. The record board told me that about thirty people worship there regularly. The offering report said they are progressive and that they love the Lord. The furnishings spoke of the pride they must have in caring for God's house. The simplicity of it all whispered that these are just plain folks: ranchers, farmers, working people. They are folks who probably live at a quieter, slower pace that most of us. I found myself wishing it was Sunday, eleven o'clock, and that I was there worshipping with them. Perhaps some Sunday, some day, when I get time, I will go back.

On the wall in the foyer of the church, there was a little tract that had been there for a long time. The title of the tract read: Twelve Articles on Church Etiquette. The words on the tract seemed to reveal the testimony of this little band of people. I copied down the words because we in the church at Gorman seem to have forgotten some of our church etiquette.

1. Come. Never miss church unless it is absolutely necessary. George Washington's pastor said of him: "No company ever kept him away from church."

2. Come early. Rushing into Church the last minute is not conducive to true worship.

3. Come with your whole family. The church service is not a convention, that a family should merely send a delegate.

4. Take a place toward the front of the church. Leave the rear seats for those who may come late, and for the backsliders, and for mothers with small children. Please.

5. Be devout. The church is not a theater or place of amusement. You come to worship God, not to whisper, lounge, or sleep. God's house deserves out utmost reverence.

6. Be thoughtful of the comfort of others. Never make a haystack of yourself at the end of the row and expect others to crawl over you to reach a seat.

7. Help strangers to find and follow the service. If they have no song book, share yours with them. Sing! Join in the worship! Don't just sit!

8. Always remember that strangers are the guests of the church member. Treat them with the same courtesy as you would if they should visit in your own home.

9. Give a good offering to God. "God loveth a cheerful giver." Freely ye have received.

10. Never rush for the door after the benediction as though the church was on

REFINERY STOCK INVENTORIES - WHERE ARE THEY?

The following article was taken from Philnews a magazine published by Phillips Petroleum Company. Mr. Otis Thompson of Lawndale Home, a former employee of the company and friend of Mr. C.W. Forman, Borger Refinery, manager, and he confirms what Forman says about the oil industry.

The articles reads in part; Phillips refinery at Borger has 289 tanks with capacities from 1,000 barrel to 150,000 barrels. Each is connected by a maze of underground pipes to the refinery's pipelines terminal and to the distribution center where tanker trucks and railroad tanker cars are filled.

Until last year, the huge tanks with small metal ladders winding to their tops stood full of blended gasoline and gasoline blending stocks and home heating fuel, aviation fuel and chemical products. All were called inventories.

People driving by the refinery now assume most of the tanks are full. But refinery workers have a different story.

Oil companies are being accused of hoarding gasoline in tank farms to raise prices. The accusations come from personalities and the general public.

C.W. Forman, Borger Refinery manager, says the idea of oil companies hoarding back fuels -- is absurd. Inventories -- what inventories? We haven't been able to build inventories for the past year because demand is greater than our supply. He says he will be "delighted to invite those who think the plant is hoarding gas to come by the plant and take a good long look at our storage tanks."

Outlined on a map in his office is planned storage underground cavern prepared last year and today that storage cavern has not seen on single drop of gasoline. "All we are trying to do is keep up with the demand." Forman stated.

SENIOR CITIZENS NEWS

My! What wonderful showers keep on visiting us. We are so thankful for them. We just hope they keep on visiting us. As we certainly do appreciate them.

The gardens and orchards have such a bountiful yield and it is really a blessing to all. As it will alleviate the high cost of living to a certain extent. The Old Folks can even handle some of those ripe peaches with their wobbly dentures and some can even gum them. UM!!

Our office gang is going strong. Tho about the same routine. It seems that some one is objecting to our playing there. We do not try to bother any one and only need a place to play and pass away the time. If we are bothering or hurting any one I am sure it is unintentional and we apologize to you. The other day they were eating a watermelon and Mel used some of his Copenhagen. (He uses it to charm the girls) on his melon and it made him foam at the mouth just like he had Hydrobia. A man drove up and said for every body to run as Mel was bound to be Mad as he was slobbering so much. He jumped in his car and left in a hurry.

He came back the next day and wated to know where the mad man had gone. Doc told him that he left for Arlington. The man smiled and said "I remember seeing him in a Cage at Six Flags". Doc told him he thought he was mistaken. The man backed up to his car and said "I believe this whole gang is crazy. He left in high gear. I wonder if he was partly right? Do you?"

I want to congratulate Gene Baker. He has done so much for the people of Gorman and the surrounding communities, for the young people, the school and in their games, etc. If any one deserves Stars in his crown for these efforts, he does. So may you have the very bet of everything in your retirement years.

The Summer Revival Services at the Carbon Baptist Church closed Sunday morning. Randy McDonald was the evangelist. Kirby Sutterville of Eastland had charge of the music. Good crowds attended many from neighboring towns. Decisions were made.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sea, Russian planes made a simulated attack on two U.S. War Ships. They would dive down on them very close. I am sure Carter just smiled and thought it was ok.

Why not take a few billion from the "Food Stamp Program and put it in Missiles and Defense. Instead of turning tail and have to run. Give us the neutron bomb. Give the Fliers men plans to help defend themselves and our Country.

I wish I was not so raical in my writing. Tho I hate to see our people sold down the stairway. Please read, read and let your people in Washington know how you think.

You know when I was young I learned that it was a hard job to pass up a melon patch. To I was careful to never leave any busted melons in the patch. I remember that when I began to grow melons. I expected the young set to do the same and never fuss at them for borrowing some of them.

Look up and smile. Remember that the only thing a smile will back is a frown. Try it? Walk tall and straight at all times.

Eastland bar opposes federal legal aid clinic

EASTLAND — Eastland County Bar Association members unanimously opposed the establishment and further funding of a legal aid clinic by the West Texas Legal Services Corp. of Fort Worth.

The Fort Worth corporation was recently awarded a $321,849 federal grant to establish a legal aid clinic in Eastland to serve surrounding counties, but because no notice was given as to the "intention or feasibility or need" of a legal aid clinic, the bar association adopted a resolution this week opposing it.

The resolution was signed by Eastland lawyer Bill Hart, president; and lawyer Jack Frost, secretary-treasurer.

The resolution stated that the West Texas corporation will "promote and induce discord," leaving a "deteriorating effect on the moral climate of this county."

Copies of the resolution, stating the clinic will "necessitate an unnecessary expense" to Eastland County residents, were sent to Sens. John Tower, R-Texas, and Lloyd Bensten, D-Texas, and 17th District Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas.

They were asked to appear before the appropriate committees of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives to "oppose the creation and continued operation or further funding of any federally funded legal aid clinic or similar organization in Eastland County."

The pecans are developing well throughout the County. There are several insects that we need to be watching for at this time. Most important are the hickory shuckworms and the pecan weevils. Each can destroy what you have been working for all year - quality pecans.

First, let us consider the shuckworms. They are white worms with dark brown heads and feed in shucks of developing pecans during soft and hard drought stages. Tunneling by worms destroys tissue and pecans from filling out properly. If damage occurs late in the season, shuck will not open properly and nut meat becomes discolored and unfit for food.

To plan chemical treatment for controlling hickory shuckworms, first cut into a few developing pecans to determine the maturity stage. Cut into the pecan one-third of the distance from the tip. If you feel resistance, or when you feel the shell beginning to harden, it's time for the first chemical treatment. This application will be during the month of August.

Chemical suggested for hickory shuckworm control in commercial orchards are Zolone, EPN, Guthion, and Torak. Homeowners can use Zolone or Malathion. Check the label on the container for instruction on dosage rates and on mixing of applying the chemical.

Treat pecan trees again about two weeks after the first application to control later shuckworm infestations. The more damaging insect is the pecan weevil. This is a brownish colored weevil about three-eighths of an inch in length. They come from the ground when moisture is available in August through October.

If you are in an area that has had rain you need to apply an insecticide about the middle of August and again the First of September. If you have not had rain there is no need to spray until you have moisture. Sevin is recommended for the control of weevils.

The pecan weevil has a beak about as long as its body. Adult feeding is done prior to hardening of the nut shell. After nut kernels have hardened, the female chews a hole in the shell and deposits her eggs in little pockets of the nut. The legless grub reaches maturity, they chew a hole about one-eighth inch in diameter in the shell and emerge from the nut and overwinter in the ground.

Crude Oil And Natural Gas Are Key Ingredients of Eastland Economy

The Sale of Crude Oil and Natural Gas from Eastland County wells in 1978 boosted the county economy and accounted for $21.5-million of the $17.1-billion valued placed on Texas production last year, according to Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

In a report on the economic impact of oil gas industry operations in the top producing counties of Texas, the Dallas-based Association said the county ranked 123rd among the 202 counties having marketed production valued at $100,000 or more, not including the sale of natural gas liquids.

The county's wells produced 881,000 barrels of crude oil, valued at $8.2-million, and 13.2-million Mcfs of natural gas, valued at $13.3-million. Owners of royalty in the county received $2.7-million as their share of the output, the Association said.

"Considering the shortfall in total U.S. petroleum production relative to our nation's energy needs, production from every Texas county is more vitally important today than ever before," said the Association's president, H.B. (Hank) Harkins of Alice, an independent producer and drilling contractor.

In addition to paying local, county, and state property taxes, producers in the county also supported state government through production tax payments estimated at $1.4-million, according to the Association. Crude oil taxes amounted to $377,000, while natural gas levies totalled $1-million.

Based on Texas Employment Commission figures, some 423 oil and gas industry employees in the county received wages of about $4.2-million in 1978.

In the search for new petroleum reserves in the county, oil and gas operators spent a reported $22.1-million in the drilling of 310 wells, including 20 wildcat, or exploratory, wells. This effort resulted in the completion of 182 oil wells and 49 gas well, although some $3.5-million was lost in the drilling of 79 dry holes.

Petroleum processing also contributed to the county economy, with five natural gasoline plants, having a total daily capacity of 30.3-million cubic feet of natural gas, in operation.

Couple Repeats Vows In Garden

Kim Lea Andress and Bobby Glyn Newton of Abilene repeated wedding vows in a garden ceremony, Aug. 3, at the home of the bride in Abilene, with John Allen Chalk, Church of Christ minister, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Thurmon Andress of Houston and Ann Holt of Abilene and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Andress of Breckenridge and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey O'Neal of Gorman.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Newton of Abilene.

A white lattice screen provided a background for the exchange of vows. White gladiolus and yellow spider mums with cascading tendrils of English ivy in a white alabaster pedestal centered the space and was flanked by standing candelabra entwined with English ivy and topped with an arrangement of white mums.

Recorded wedding music floated down from the balcony of the home for the bride's processional and the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white eyelet with a rounded sheer yoke outlined with a wide self ruffle to form cap sleeves, and a wedding ring neckline defined by a band of ribbon finished with a narrow lace ruffle. The waistline was defined by a sash tied in back with long, flowing streamers. The full skirt swirled into a chapel train and was finished at the hemline with eyelet ruffle.

She wore a cascade of baby's breath, held to a yellow satin bow, in her hair and carried a cascade arrangement of yellow rosebuds, white daisy mums, baby's breath and English ivy.

Karen Shields of Lubbock was the bride's matron of honor. Her gown was of pastel yellow eyelet embroidered batiste. The opera length, softly gathered skirt was finished with a scalloped border of eyelet embroidered fabric. Her short bolero jacket of white eyelet embroidered fabric was designed with short sleeves. She carried a nosegay of yellow rosebuds and white daisy mums with English ivy.

Tracy Hassenmiller of Houston and Jill Andress of Austin, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. Their costumes and flowers were identical to those of the honor attendant.

The groom was attired in an all-white tuxedo and wore a yellow rosebud boutonniere.

Mark Byrom of Denton served as the groom's best man. He wore a white tuxedo with a yellow ruffled shirt and a yellow rosebud boutonniere.

Eddie Mitchell of Abilene and Kerry Deal of Weatherford were groomsmen.

Ad Stephens of Dallas, Steve Treadgill of Abilene and Tony Standard of Lubbock were ushers. They were dressed like the best man.

The bride's mother hosted the reception at her home.

The bride's table was covered in white satin with a net overlay with pastel yellow ribbon banding the perimeter of the table. An arrangement of yellow rosebuds and white daisy mums with English ivy centered the table. The three-tiered wedding cake was encircled with garlands of yellow rosebuds and white daisy mums and was topped with an arrangement of the chosen flowers. Punch was served from a silver punch bowl. Other appointments were of crystal.

The groom's table was covered with a yellow cloth. Chocolate cake and champagne were served from crystal appointments. The table was centered with yellow rosebuds and white daisy mums.

Following a wedding trip to San Francisco, Calif., the couple will be at home at 2841 South 22nd Street in Abilene.

The bride was graduated from Abilene High School and received a bachelor of science degree in education from North Texas State University. She is employed by Abilene Independent School District.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Cooper High School and is employed by Jeff Luther General Contractor.

REHEARSAL DINNER

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Perini Ranch.

Members of the wedding party were guests.

DRIVELINE

Think energy conservation is hard? That we'll all be living in caves? We Americans don't always realize just how much of our energy waste, either gasoline or electricity, is just a matter of bad habits. America now uses twice as much energy as we did in 1960. Are we twice as well off? Here's another interesting example: Americans could save 112 million gallons of gasoline a week if the average driver simply used one less gallon every seven days. Is that really so hard for us to do?

Dangerous Drugs . . . As far as traffic accidents go, the two most dangerous drugs are still good old alcohol and — though most folks don't realize it — tranquilizers. We all know what booze can do to a driver, but the general public is unaware of the hazards of prescription "downers." One recent British medical study revealed that drivers on valium or any other mild tranquilizer are five times more likely to become involved in car crashes than people not taking the drugs.

The Ten Most Important Car Maintenance Jobs Basic maintenance isn't expensive or complicated. In fact, according to a booklet printed by the Shell Oil Company, experts say that the ten most important maintenance jobs are also the simplest. Any average motorist can learn to: 1. Check all fluid levels — radiator, crankcase, transmission, brakes, power steering, battery. 2. Change oil and oil filter. 3. Check drive belts. 4. Check water hoses. 5. Check battery charge. 6. Flush and refill radiator. 7. Lubricate. 8. Check brake linings. 9. Inspect tires and check pressure. 10. Change automatic transmission fluid.

Simple directions on how to do these things are printed in most owner's manuals. Highest official mileage ever recorded on a car is 789,000 miles in a period of 23 years. The car was a 1953 Mercedes 170SD driven by Warren Angstadt of Wernersville, Pennsylvania . . . In 1956 books first took to the road when federal funds were designated for library development in rural areas, giving us the Bookmobile, a somewhat nobler invention than the automobile age's other great contribution to culture, the drive-in movie.

Announcing a new interest rate for U.S. Savings Bonds:

Here's some great news for all Americans. On June 1, 1979, the interest rate on United States Savings Bonds, Series E and H, was increased to 6 1/2%.

The 6 1/2% rate will apply to new Bonds and to all outstanding ones, too. For Series E Bonds that have not reached original maturity of 5 years, the improved yield will be received as a bonus when the Bonds mature. For older Bonds and Notes, and for Series H Bonds, the increase takes effect with their next semiannual interest period, beginning on or after June 1, 1979.

So you see, Bonds are getting better all the time. And when you buy Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan at work, or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank, Bonds are still the most convenient, easiest, safest way to save.

Bonds are a better buy than ever before.

Take stock in America.

Hungry 'Hoppers' in Texas Panhandle Are Being Battled by TDA, USDA Forces

AUSTIN—There is a range war going on in the Texas Panhandle, but it looks more like a bombing raid than a shootout. The targets are tiny, although numbering in the millions.

The enemy is grasshoppers. Millions of grasshoppers are threatening thousands of acres of rangeland in 13 Panhandle counties and are being sprayed around the clock by personnel of the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) and the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

By the time the spraying ends this month, more than 1.4 million acres of range will have been treated at a cost of around $1.5 million in state, federal and private funds to control the voracious insects that have invaded Texas and 13 other states in the greatest number since 1958. According to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, the cost-sharing aerial application program has been a "war on grasshoppers" that present "a very real threat to High Plains' agriculture and to food production in that area."

Brown added that the program is proving successful. "It looks like we are going to win the war," he said. Preliminary reports indicate 95-99 percent control, about the same level that was achieved last year.

Spraying has been taking place in Childress, Roberts, Carson, Hutchinson, Dallam, Lipscomb, Moore, Armstrong, Sherman, Potter, Hall, Collingsworth and Gray counties. Only rangeland meets federal guidelines which do not cover control on cropland.

Acreage is being sprayed in blocks to prevent skipping heavily infested areas. "If land is skipped, grasshoppers will reinfest acreage that has been treated," Brown said.

The grasshopper control program divides costs among TDA, USDA and the ranchers whose land is being sprayed. TDA's one-third share is expected to reach $500,000, exhausting the program's funds for the fiscal year.

The program will end naturally by the end of July when grasshoppers reach maturity and begin laying eggs. "Federal guidelines call for making the treatment before the eggs are laid," Brown said. "This procedure provides control for this year and also reduces the size of the hatch for next year, possibly eliminating the need for treatment."

This year's infestation has covered four times as many acres as last year's, but infestation rates have been about the same, between 10-80 per square yard. Eight grasshoppers a square yard qualified range for spraying.

TDA personnel have been sharing duties with the USDA in surveying, flagging aircraft and supervising pesticide application.

"Some of these men and women will have worked four and five weeks away from home straight through the weekends by the time the program ends," he said. "We appreciate their dedication in taking care of the needs of ranchers."

County Brands A&M

The search is on throughout Texas for outstanding cattle brands to include on county panels at the Kleberg Center's "branded stairway" at Texas A&M University. L.A. Maddox, chairman of the unique branding project, said that some 3,500 brands, or more, are expected to be imprinted on the 254 county oak panels in the University's new $9.5 million Robert J. Kleberg Animal and Food Sciences Center. "County Extension agents are working with their local beef cattle committees to select eight brands per county, and with historical societies to select other brands for the panels," Maddox, Texas Agricultural Extension Service beef cattle specialist, said. Recently, a delegation from Eastland County added local brands to the County's oak panel. Participating were: The late Edward Harrison

(who died less than two weeks after the branding ceremony), Mrs. Harrison and son Joe Harrison who applied the Blackwell Ranch brand. Mrs. John Clark, Son Fraiser Clark and his wife applied the John "Skeet" Clark brand. Mrs. T.C. Fambro and son Luther applied the T.C. Fambro and son's brand. Witnessing the branding of Mrs. J.A. Hart's brand was Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Hart and Truet, Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Ragsdale and Kim, and Mrs. James A. Hart. Jim Wells, manager of the Terrell Ranch applied that ranch's brand. Mr. and Mrs. John Kidd branded the C.M. "Clint" McCain brand. Later this summer Robert Donovan will apply the Donovan brand on the Eastland County panel.

Texas," Butler said. Maddox said that branding ceremonies will be conducted by Extension district groups until "all panels are branded."

Notice

The Eastland County Young Farmers will sponsor the Hay Show at the Eastland Co. Fair again this year. The hay show will be Friday, Sept. 28. Dr. George Alstan will be the judge and hay must be interred by August 17.

The fastest speed at which a giant tortoise can crawl is about five yards a minute. If it could travel five times as fast, it would be going at almost one mile per hour.

Livestock producers from Eastland County paid a visit to Texas A&M University recently to burn their brands in the county's oak panel at Texas A&M's "branded stairway" at the Kleberg Animal and Food Sciences Center. Participating were (l to r) Eastland County Extension Agent DeMarquis Gordon, the late Ed Harrison, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Fraiser Clark, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. T.C. Fambro, Luther Fambro, Mrs. J.E. Ragsdale, R.D. Hart, Mr. J.E. Ragsdale, Mrs. R.D. Hart, Mrs. James A. Hart, Jim Wells, John Kidd, Mrs. John Kidd, Joe Harrison, Fraiser Clark. In front are Truet Hart and Kim Ragsdale.

There are some 200,000 brands recorded in Texas and on file with the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in Fort Worth. This is the state's most complete record.

The "branding" was an idea of Dr. O.D. Butler, for many years head of Texas A&M's Animal Science Department and now associate vice president for agriculture and renewable resources. He said that not only are cattle brands a rich part of Texas livestock history but a prized possession of ranchers in identification of their cattle.

"We felt that the branding ceremonies would bring about a closer tie-in between cattlemen and our animal science facilities on campus as well as with research and educational work throughout
