CAPITOL UPDATE

by Jim Parker

Perhaps the second most misunderstood mechanism in state government is the committee process under which both the House and Senate operate. As an example that perhaps could be kept in mind in the course of this discussion when Governor White went on television toward the end of the regular 68th Legislative session and made certain proposals concerning areas of taxation and the application of proposed new tax revenues to teacher pay, AFDC, etc., three or four of my constituents called or wrote and mildly criticized me for not immediately "voting for the Governor's plan."

The fact of the matter is that at the commencement of the Legislature, the Speaker of the House appoints members of standing committees through which all proposed legislation must be sent for consideration, public hearing and, ultimately, a favorable or unfavorable recommendation by that committee. Of course, as a practical matter, this is the only system which would work because the House, as a whole, simply cannot take up and consider four to five thousand individual pieces of legislation regardless of their merits.

Any given committee, after going through the public hearing process, has several options as to what to do with a piece of legislation. It can report a bill favorably back to the full House; it can refer the bill to subcommittee for further study or a quiet demise; or it can simply "sit" on the proposal and do nothing which also insures a quiet demise of the legislation. (A perfect example is the open container bill.)

Assuming a piece of legislation if favorably passed out of a House committee, it is referred to the Calendars Committee where it may be placed on one of several categories of daily House calendars. (The daily House calendar is the order in which bills are considered and acted upon by the full House.) Again, however, a bill may be simply ignored and allowed to die because of the time factor. The individual member's ability to move his bill through this torturous process is usually proportional to his seniority and ability to do grievous damage to the individual legislation of persons whose cooperation he must have. Should a bill come out of Calendars and be acted on favorably by the House, it then goes to the Senate to go through generally the same committee process there; and, if successfully voted out of the Senate, would be referred to the Governor. If changes had been made from the House version, the bill would go to a conference committee made up of representatives and senators, to work out the differences, prior to being sent to the Governor to sign into the law.

It is to the great benefit of the average Texan that there is almost an infinite variety of ways in which legislation can be killed and that the ratio of bills passed to bills introduced is very low. Most proposed legislation is, by broad definition, special interest in nature and is instituted to address some need, real or imagined, and it is good that most of it is "weeded out" in the course of the committee process.

As with any human endeavor the "rules of the game" are critical and while there exists a much

U.S. DEPENDENCE ON CRITICAL MINERALS IS TARGET OF SOVIETS IN NAMIBIA

The Soviets, operating through a "puppet" terrorist group known as SWAPO (South West Africa People's Organization), at trying to seize power in South West Africa/Namibia. Namibia (South West Africa) is a country generally unknown to Americans despite the important U.S. national defense interests involved there.

Namibia is the gateway to ultimate Soviet control of the strategic minerals in southern Africa. Chrome, vanadium, the platinum group and about thirty other minerals are vital to the U.S. industrial base. Without access to these strategic minerals, U.S. electronic, computer, aircraft and defense industries will be hopelessly crippled.

Operating from military bases in the southern part of the Soviet-controlled Angola with the help of 30,000 Cuban soldiers, SWAPO, armed with Soviet military equipment, is conducting a terrorist campaign against the black civilian population of northern Namibia.

Not only does Namibia have the largest uranium mine in the world, and vast resources of copper, diamonds, lead, tungsten, tin, zinc and oil, but its western coast deep-water port can harbor Soviet nuclear submarines in a position to bisect the oil and mineral lifeline from the Persian Gulf to the U. S. and NATO countries of western Europe. More than 28,000 ships a year follow this sea route around the Cape of Good Hope.

If the Soviets and their SWAPO proxies can drag Namibia behind the "iron curtain", the U.S. loses another ally in the mineral "resource war" and Russia makes a huge gain in its campaign to deprive the U.S. of the strategic minerals of southern Africa.

The Soviet-dominated United Nations General Assembly provides SWAPO with about $100 million a year. And the U.N. supplies $ millions to other Soviet-sponsored terrorist groups such as the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), the Cuban guerrillas in Angola, the Carriibbean, and elsewhere in Africa.

The U.S. Congress annually appropriates over $1 billion of hard-earned U.S. taxpayers dollars to the United Nations — 1/4 of the total of U.N. budget.

Few Americans are aware that to the extent they allow the United Nations to use American taxpayer contributions to finance pro-Soviet terrorists, they are helping finance their own destruction. It is now time for U.S. taxpayers to ask their representatives in Congress to stop this flow of U.S. Taxdollars through the U.N. to SWAPO, PLO, Cuban guerrillas and other Soviet-backed terrorists groups? Write U.S. Congressman Edwin V.W. Zschau, House of Foreign Affairs Committee, 429 Cannon House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, and enclose this message. 4-6-23 C.

JUNE 25 DEADLINE FOR PLANTING SPANISH PEANUTS

June 25 is the final planting date for insured peanuts (spring spanish) in Eastland County, Texas, according to Ardell M. Kalmbach, Director for the District 09 of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

"Acres of spring spanish peanuts planted by June 25, insured by FCIC (or by a private company reinsured by FCIC), must be reported by June 30 to receive full crop insurance coverage," says Kalmbach.

Acres planted after June 25 must also be reported on the June 30 acreage report as being planted too late for insurance.

"Farmers unable to plant prior to June 25 because of excess moisture conditions may sign a 20-day late planting agreement, which permits insurance coverage, but provides for a lower guarantee due to the late planting," Kalmbach explained.

Farmers wishing additional information about the new late planting agreement should contact their local, authorized crop insurance agent.

HIGGINBOTHAM'S
Over 100 Years of Quality and Service

734-2227 GORMAN

By Charles W. Stenholm
Ashley Bailey is a 9 1/2-month old baby girl from Clyde, Texas, whose days to live could well be numbered by a faulty bile duct in her liver. She and her parents are currently waiting for a donor liver to be identified, hopefully before the clock runs out.

Interest in Ashley's case has spread throughout the country -- even into the White House -- as first financial assistance for the family was sought, then state legislation was passed to fund a special pilot project that would benefit the infant, and, finally, the long wait for a donor began.

Two months ago, Ashley's family contacted me to try to help facilitate Medicaid funding for the transplant. In the ensuing weeks, my own interest in the case has given me a deep awareness of many of the important issues we now face in regard to transplants, including the questions of the cost of such medical care and how a donor is located.

Amidst the excitement of the medical miracles brought about by today's organ transplants, we often overlook the serious moral and ethical questions involved; questions being confronted on several fronts at this time.

Ashley's case illustrates several of these important issues. Financial problems have now been resolved and Ashley's doctors at the University of Minnesota Hospital have said her condition is as good as it is going to get, before she enters a period of steady decline. Only a donor liver is needed.

At the request of her family, I worked to try to attract national media attention to Ashley's need; attention that had proved successful for other transplant patients. The father of one of those patients-- Jamie Fiske-- made an appeal for Ashley at a recent high level conference on transplants attended by a wide array of medical professionals across the country. Members of my staff questioned the Surgeon General of the United States at the conference, asking what hope could be held out for those patients in immediate need, such as Ashley.

Those efforts have trig-

GORDON SPOT

by DeMarquis Gordon

Eastland County Extension Agent

It seems this is going to be another big year of flea problems for Eastland County homeowners. Over the last 6-7 years fleas seem to have become more and more of a problem. The most common type of flea encountered by homeowners is the cat flea, which infest dogs or cats and will readily attack humans.

Flea bites are extremely annoying, but they may not be felt immediately. They generally become increasingly sore and irritated over a period of up to a week or more. Some relief from the itching can be obtained by applying cooling preparations such as carbolated vaseline, menthol, camphor, calamine lotion, or ice. Severe allergic reactions or infections should be treated promptly by a physician.

Effective flea control must include treatment of the pets and thorough treatment of the entire premises - indoors and outdoors. These three areas should be treated simultaneously in order to break the "flea cycle" and maximize control results.

Insecticides containing carbaryl (sevin), dichlorvos (DDVP), pyrethrin, rotenone, malathion, methoxychlor, or propoxur (Baygon or Sendran) are labeled for use on animals. Dusts or powders are generally preferred over sprays for treating pets, and should be used at 3-4 day intervals when infestations are heavy. Rub the dust into the animals fur by hand. Flea collars which contain propoxur (Sendran) or naled (Dibrom) appear to be superior to those which only contain dichlorvos (DDVP). Read the label before using any of these products and consult a veterinarian if questions arise.

Spray all infested outdoor areas such as the yard, porches, garages, and out-buildings with either chlorpyrifos (Dursban), diazinon, propoxur (Baygon), or carbaryl (Sevin). Be sure to treat areas which are frequented by pets and let the spray dry before pets or children are allowed to use treated areas. Repeat the spray at approximately two week intervals until control is achieved. It is a good idea to mow and water the lawn a day before this spray treatment and avoid mowing or watering for as long as possible after treating.

Inside the home, control measures should begin with thorough cleaning. Vacuum all floors and upholstery. Dispose of the vacuum sweepings immediately to prevent fleas escape and subsequent reinfestation. Launder all pet bedding. Apply an in-20 ways to help hold down your electric bill.

A checklist to help you save energy and money at home.

Energy Conservation Practices

The following low- or no-cost home conservation practices can help you save energy and money.

- Do not use air conditioning until absolutely necessary.
- Keep your thermostat set as high as possible. We recommend 80° in the summer. For added comfort, use ceiling or portable fans to circulate the air.
- Check your air conditioner filters each month to see if they need cleaning or changing. And make sure that the outside unit is free of grass, leaves and trash.
- When leaving home, turn off air conditioning. If away for two days or more, turn off water heater.
- If you use an automatic dishwasher, set water heater to 140°; otherwise, set temperature to 120° or lower.
- Use scrap insulation to plug air leaks from attic and around window air conditioners.
- Repair water leaks in pipes and faucets, and seal air duct leaks.
- Use drapes, blinds, shades, awnings or plants to block sunlight.
- Try to minimize traffic through outside doors.
- Economize in the kitchen. Plan meals so several dishes can be cooked in the oven at the same time.
- Save when you do laundry. Wash and dry only full loads of clothes.

Energy Conservation Measures

These home installations and modifications require an investment, but may return their cost to you in the form of savings on utility bills.

- Caulk and weatherstrip around doors and windows to reduce air leaks.
- Add insulation to ceilings, walls and floors.
- Insulate ducts, especially in the attic.
- Insulate hot water pipes in attic.
- Install insulation blankets on water heaters, especially in garage or basement.
- Investigate cost-effectiveness of storm doors and windows.
- Add solar-reflecting materials to glass doors and windows on east/west exposures.
- As a convenience, install a clock thermostat to automatically set air conditioner and heating unit to desired temperature. Even when you're away from home, the clock thermostat can control your air conditioner for more economical operation.
- If your central air unit is more than five years old, you may want to consider replacing it with one that's more energy-efficient. We recommend new units with a Seasonal Energy Efficiency Rating (SEER) of at least 9. For information on how energy-efficient equipment can save you money, ask your dealer or call Texas Electric.
