Jump Rope For Heart Event Slated Feb. 7th

The students of Maxfield Elementary are jumping at the chance to help fight heart disease and stroke, our nation's No. 1 and No. 3 killers. On February 7, 2001 at 9:30 a.m., the school will hold its 6th annual Jump Rope For Heart event. Students will jump rope to raise funds for the American Heart Association's cardiovascular research and educational programs. Jump Rope For Heart is co-sponsored by the American Heart Association and the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance.

Jump Rope For Heart teaches participants about the importance of a healthy lifestyle. The event empowers children as they provide vital community service and discover that they can make a difference. At the same time, students enjoy being part of a team while jumping into the spirit of this fun-filled event.

Please help our children help others. When a student asks you to be a sponsor, support Jump Rope For Heart with whatever you can afford to give. If you would like to help more, call your nearest American Heart Association office or 1-800-AHA-USA1.

For more information about the event, contact Jean Lasater or Kim Curlee at 734-2617.

Any child in our school whom you believe is an intellectually gifted learner is eligible to be nominated. The program will specifically be for those students who score extremely high on Achievement Tests, Intelligence Tests, and Creativity Tests.

If you wish to nominate your child, please do so by going to the counselor's office or the appropriate school office and complete the proper forms. Any nominations should be made before January 19, 2001.

PET TALK

Just like humans, your pet needs a fire protection plan. You can "fireproof" your pets and other animals in a variety of ways, says Dr. Dawn Boothe of Texas A&M University's College of Veterinary Medicine. Here are some tips to safeguard your pet against injury.

Make sure appliances are unplugged if not being used. "Many dogs like to chew on electrical cords, and this can either short out and start a fire or injure the dog," says Boothe. "Rabbits are also fond of chewing on cords. If you have a pet that likes to chew, it's a good idea to store appliances in a safe place when not in use."

Make sure your pet cannot reach appliances, such as irons or hair dryers when in use. "Cats sometimes like to jump on top of ironing boards and if the iron is on, it can be tipped over and may start a fire," says Boothe. "Always unplug appliances that produce heat - such as irons or hair dryers - if a pet is in the house."

Never leave a burning candle unattended in a house with a pet. "This is asking for trouble," Boothe believes. "Always extinguish a candle if you leave your house with your pet is inside."

Watch those barbecue grills. "When finished grilling food outside, people will often leave the grill unattended with the coals still very hot, capable of starting a fire quickly. Either make sure that pets cannot get near the grill or make sure all coals have cooled down," Boothe notes.

It's a myth that animals don't like fire. "You cannot assume animals don't like fire," Boothe adds. "In fact, many animals like the warmth, and many domesticated animals such as dogs and cats like to be near heat."
