The Lady Panthers opened their 2001 softball season by jumping on Hamilton in the 1st inning, for a 2 to 0 lead. Eva Rodriguez led off the game with a triple and scored on a past ball. Emerald Guthery walked and scored on a hit by Melinda Leal.

In the top of the 3rd inning, Hamilton scores 12 unearned runs on 5 hits, 5 errors, and 5 walks. Emerald Guthery came on in relief of Rachel Rainey and pitched the final 2 2/3 innings and gave up 1 run and two hits.

The Lady Panthers scored one more run in the bottom of the 5th, as Rodriguez and Guthery both walked and Rachel Rainey singled home Rodriguez to make the final score 13-3.

The score was ugly but we played excellent at times. The girls did a good job for the first game.

Ranger College Beats Grayson County College

On a very lively evening, February 14, Ranger College played Grayson County College. The game was fast paced between two teams that were determined to take the win.

The Ranger Rangers played hard and were effective in maintaining a close run with the Vikings. The success the Rangers had was nailed in the last minute of the game. With several turnovers and then a foul on the side of the Vikings, the Rangers were able to clench the game when Charles Smith went for this 2 for 2 free throw. Smith was successful in making both baskets with 5 seconds left in the game. The Vikings made a last ditch effort to make a three point shot but were unsuccessful.

In the end, the Ranger Rangers walked away with an exciting 93-92 win. The next Ranger Rangers game will be Saturday, February 24.

Pause To Think

In II Corinthians 12:1-6, Paul speaks of a man who entered the third Heaven and heard and saw things that are unlawful to utter. What do we know of the third Heaven? We know very little about it. This was a phenomenon that was unheard of in that day, and something that no one else had ever experienced.

How do we discover new frontiers? What was the essential element that caused Paul to experience this phenomenon mentioned in II Corinthians 12:1-6? Contrary to the way some feel, frontiers are not discovered accidentally. One must first have a strong desire for an experience or place beyond their present position. Most discoveries are made because someone is dissatisfied with conditions as they are. The medical field is constantly discovering new and improved ways to administer medicine. This is all because someone somewhere has an intense drive to find and know the best cures for human ailments. Therefore, they are determined to find new treatments and combinations of medicines to optimize treatments in the field of medicine. Solomon observed that there is nothing new under the sun. This is a true and correct statement. However, the potentials of how those things are used to an optimum performance are constantly being discovered by mankind.

If this is true in the physical world, it is also true in the spiritual. Each of us that profess Christianity should be constantly searching for ways to draw nearer to the Lord, and ways to share the Gospel of Jesus Christ more effectively.

However, first things first. We as Christians must allow the fullness of what God planned work within us. We must not restrict God to our understanding. Life teaches us that there is no end to knowledge. The same is true of spiritual things. Therefore, how do we continue to grow in spiritual knowledge and truths? We must first possess an intense desire to know more of God. In order for that to occur, we must become dissatisfied with things that are carnal and worldly. In the scripture, Jesus informs us that if we hunger and thirst after righteousness that we shall be filled. It is important to remember that the process of being filled is not an occasion that occurs only once in our lifetime. We are filled every day, at least twice and sometimes three. There are even those who partake of natural foods six times a day. I speak here of the physical. What about the spiritual man. Is twice on Sunday and once on Wednesday enough nurture that we can grow spiritually to become what Christ desires of us. The answer to that question is obvious, certainly not.

Choosing the High School Classes that Lead To Success

Education News By Kristin Crouse, ACT Media Relations

It's that time of year again. High School students are lining up to talk to their counselor's about next fall's classes.

If you want to make sure your student is ready for education beyond high school, here a recommendation's from ACT, makers of the College Entrance Exam, the ACT Assessment.

It's never too early to think about college preparation. Choices made as freshman and sophomore could affect choices for the rest of the student's life. by selecting a strong academic program in high school, the student is preparing well for college. In fact, the ACT, used for college admission by almost all U. S. Colleges and Universities, measures what the student has learned in high school to estimate how well he or she is expected to do in college.

Most college admissions professionals say the courses a student takes in high school and his or her grades are the most important pieces of information in considering college admission. Grades and courses show the student's potential and work ethic.

ACT has a recommended list of high school courses that students can use as a guide for planning their choices. Be sure to check with the colleges and universities of interest to compare the requirements. The ACT minimum recommendations are:

- English - Four Years
- Mathematics - Three Years (Algebra, and High Level Math)
- Natural Sciences - Three Years, with Lab Experience
- Social Studies - Three Years
- Foreign Languages - Two Units in the same language
- Additional Courses - Visual Arts, Music, Theatre, Drama, Dance, Computer Science.

A student's chance of success in college is greatly enhanced by taking rigorous courses in all subjects, especially in Math. Research from ACT shows that students who take more Math classes are better prepared for college than other students and score higher on the ACT overall.

USDA ANNOUNCES 2001-CROP PEANUT SUPPORT LEVELS

WASHINGTON, February 15, 2001 The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced today that the national average price support level for 2001 quota peanuts will be $610.00 per short ton, the same as last year. That level is mandated for marketing years 1996 through 2002 by the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996.

The national average support level for additional peanuts will be $132 per short ton, the same as the 2000 level. Additional peanuts are those marketed in a quantity greater than a farm's quota. The price support level for additional peanuts must be set at a level designed to ensure that no loss to USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation results from the sale or disposal of additional peanuts. In deciding upon the announced level, CCC considered the demand for peanut oil and peanut meal, the expected price for other vegetable oils and protein meals, and the demand for peanuts in foreign markets.

2001-crop additional peanuts owned or controlled by USDA's CCC will be sold for export edible use at no less than $400 per ton, the same minimum price that has prevailed since 1986.

For individual lots of quota and additional peanuts alike, the annual price support levels are subject to quality and other adjustments.

Further program information is available from Dan Stevens, (202) 720-5291; E-mail address, Daniel_Stevens@wdc.fsa.usda.gov

My Love-My Valentine

The very thought of Valentines
Brings up the thought of Love;
Of kids and cards and memories,
Of those we're fondest of.

Sometimes we think it's just the young,
That celebrate this day;
But true love is an ageless thing,
That's with us all the way.

From youth, then on through middle age,
It grows to fill our souls;
Like liquid sunshine flowing out,
To brighten those we know.

Love is the thread that binds our hearts,
Through laughter, toil and tears.
And holds us close to kith and kin,
Throughout the Golden Years.

AG TALK

By Charlie Stenholm

Agriculture Committee Holds Two Hearings

The House Agriculture Committee held two hearings this week: one took a look at the current state of the farm economy, and the other began the process of reviewing the future of farm programs. On Wednesday, several economists from USDA testified before the Committee. Unfortunately, they predicted hard times in the short term for crop producers.

Several points were made that are obvious but need to be kept in mind as Congress prepares to write the next farm bill. Agriculture is currently suffering from a problem of excess supply. The primary reason small family farms are able to survive economically is off-farm income.

The average farm household income in 1998 was $8,000 higher than non-farm households. Farmers produce as much as they can because there is no incentive to reduce their own production, since their individual actions have no affect on the market.

Each producer relies on increased sales volume to turn a profit. Crop farmers are caught in the middle of this situation. Hard work and technological improvements have caused supply to grow quickly, however demand is not keeping up. The result of excess supply is to drive down prices.

Adding further to the difficulties is an export market in which farmers have to compete with a strong dollar. This can give foreign producers a significant advantage through exchange rates.

The National Cotton Council testified before the House Agriculture Committee on Thursday to present its recommendations for the new farm bill. Cotton was the first commodity group to report to the Agriculture Committee this session. Among the recommendations made for a new upland cotton program were (1) a continuation of the marketing loan program and base acreage provisions, and (2) allowing farmers to either keep their current payment base or update to a new payment base. The Cotton Council also asked that the new farm bill eliminate payment limits which they claim hurt large, efficient farmers.

The Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Annual Meeting will be held next Tuesday, February 20 in Abilene at the Taylor County Expo Center Big Country Hall. John Maguire of the National Cotton Council Office in Washington, DC will speak at 11:00 a.m., followed by Billy Duvivant at 12:00 noon. These are both excellent speakers and I plan to be there to hear what they have to say.
