Local Group To Support Desert Storm Personnel

A few of us have been talking about doing something for our service people in War. We would like to post pictures and names in a business so that we can remember them in our prayers. If you would like to have the name and address and picture of your loved one or your friend on this poster contact Donnie Rodgers at 734-2948 or Darlene Hampton at 734-2983. We will be happy to put them on. They do not have to be from Gorman, we will be happy to put out of town names too.

Homemakers Class Host Valentine Party At Hotel Apartments

No better way to spend an afternoon than to be with our Senior Citizens of the Hotel Apartments. Valentine Day was a soecial day for the visit. The Homemakers Class of the First Baptist Church do this once a month. Some of our guests were sick with colds, a couple were in the hospital. Seven came down for our program. Those attending were Mattie Thorpe Inez Rogers, Garland Perry, Clarence Ragland, Lily McCloud, Vicie Collins and Ina Mae Tarrance. Our devotional was given by Ann Maxfield from I Corinthians 13. This is a favorite reading from the Bible. Ann brought so many thoughts of Love for God, home and for each other.

As part of the program, our guests were asked to tell something special they could remember that had happened in their lives. This was a time of sharing. The dining room was decorated carrying out the Valentine theme. Refreshments of punch, pimiento cheese finger sandwiches, heart-shaped cakes, chocolate Valentines, and red suckers were served. Valentines were passed out. We are planning a musical for next month.

Gorman FFA claims top two hogs

By J.T. SMITH
Farm Editor

EASTLAND — It was almost midnight Thursday when the huge market swine competition finally came to an end at the Eastland County Livestock Show.

But after hundreds of entries had been judged in this year's swine show, Gorman FFA members took both grand and reserve grand trophies for market hogs.

Jason Rich, 13, a seventh-grader at Gorman, showed the grand champion market hog with his 230-pound Hampshire gilt.

It had earlier been champion Hampshire.

For the night, Rich exhibited four hogs. He was surprised his gilt won over the many top notch barrow entries.

J.T. Smith/Reporter-News

Jason Rich ... Grand champion

Rich plans on competing in the Houston Livestock Show — the world's largest — but since gilts aren't allowed in Houston's market pigs, he will take a Hampshire barrow.

Meanwhile, Shane Caraway, a Gorman High freshman, showed the reserve grand of the market swine with a 248-pound crossbred pig. It had been breed champion of the crossbreds. Caraway also had the champion Poland China market hog. He also plans to leave next Thursday for the Houston show.

Rocky Ingram, 14, a Cisco FFA member, earned the coveted Market Swine Showmanship trophy. The Cisco freshman showed two Hampshire hogs. He's headed for Houston, too. Although he has shown livestock for three years, this will be his first trip to Houston.

When the county show resumed here on Friday, Caraway proved he was multi-talented as he showed the grand champion broilers as well as the reserve broilers to sweep the poultry show. John Mart Stephens put the icing on it for Gorman FFA, taking the Broiler Showmanship trophy.

But if Gorman could lay claim to dominating both the market hogs and broilers, then Cisco youths certainly had a firm hold on the trophies for the Angora goat judging. They took it all in goats Friday.

Timothy Thompson, 13, a Nimrod

4-H'er and Cisco eighth-grader, exhibited the grand champion Angora buck. He also had the reserve Angora doe.

In fact, Thompson showed eight goats — going away with a grand champion, reserve grand, two first and three second placings among this wins.

Meanwhile, Kelli Crozier, 17, a Cisco High junior, was a double winner.

Kelli, also a Nimrod 4-H member, took two big trophies for Grand Champion Angora Doe as well as the Angora Goat Showmanship win.

Billy Crozier, 12, Kelli's brother, made it a clean sweep for Cisco as the Nimrod 4-H'er showed the reserve Angora buck.

Cisco, Ranger and Gorman all shined in Friday's dairy show. Camille Pharr of Cisco 4-H showed the champion dairy female with a Holstein.

The reserve champion of the dairy was another Holstein shown by Elizabeth Jackson, a Ranger 4-H'er. Finally, Ron Majors of Gorman FFA earned the Dairy Cattle Showmanship trophy.

In Friday's late-night sheep action, Ricky Agnew of Cisco FFA exhibited the grand champion market lamb with a medium wool that entered as a mediumweight.

Agnew had a tremendous night, also taking the Breeding Sheep Showmanship trophy in that show earlier in the evening.

Tommy Thompson Jr., of Cisco FFA, took a whole armful full of wins in breeding sheep.

Meanwhile, in other market lamb judging, Annetta Love of Gorman FFA had the reserve grand — also a mediumweight medium wool.

Ginger Cantwell of Ranger FFA accepted the hard-earned Market Lamb Showmanship award to close out the evening.

The show will resume here at 8 a.m. Saturday with the final day's action to include dairy goats and market wethers at that time, followed by beef cattle at 10 a.m., including steers at 11 a.m. as the finale of the judging.

The big premium sale is expected to attract a capacity crowd Saturday night.

EASTLAND — Some 10 hours of swine judging kicked off the first day of competition in the Eastland County Livestock Show here Thursday in picture-perfect weather.

When all the noise in the breeding swine division had settled in the ultra-modern Eastland County Show Arena, Jeremy Orsagh laid claim to the Grand Champion Breeding Swine award with his Hampshire gilt. The gilt also had been the champion Hampshire female earlier.

The fourth-grader at Siebert Elementary in Eastland also had champion Yorkshire with another of his breeding hogs.

Meanwhile, Samantha Stephens, 11, a Gorman Junior FFA member, showed the reserve grand champion breeding swine with her crossbred gilt. It also was the breed champion of the crossbred females.

A Gorman classmate of Samantha's — Reece Clark — took the Breeding Swine Showmanship award for his skills in the arena. Clark, 10, showed two hogs in the breeding swine show and one pig in the market swine show.

In the sizeable rabbit judging, Joanna Wallace, 15, a Ranger 4-H'er, was a double winner. Joanna showed the Best of Show in the breeding rabbit competition with her Californian senior doe. Her other wins also included the Best Opposite of Show, a junior Californian buck.

Michael Rabb, 12, a Nimrod 4-H'er, excelled in the meat rabbit show. Rabb, a Cisco Junior High seventh-grader, showed the grand champion market rabbits with his pen of three Californians. Kalli Rae Arther, an Eastland 4-H'er, had the reserve grand of the market rabbits, also with a pen of Californians.

The county show resumes on Friday with judging of dairy cattle at 9 a.m.; broilers, 10 a.m.; Angora goats, 3 p.m.; breeding sheep, 6 p.m.; and market lambs, 7 p.m.

Saturday's final day of action will feature dairy goats and market wethers at 8 a.m.; judging of beef cattle starting at 10 a.m. — with steers at 11 a.m.; and a 7 p.m. auction to top off the annual show.

The final outcome of the late Thursday night market swine competition will be listed in the Saturday Reporter-News with Friday's results from the Eastland County show.
