

Russia To Ask For Reports On All Weapons

That Goes For Atom Bombs And Rockets, Too

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 26. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov gave notice today that Russia would ask members of the United Nations for full information on all types of arms including atomic and rocket-powered weapons when disarmament discussions begin.

Referring to a statement by Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex) that a proposed international troop census should include data on all military-type organizations, Molotov said that if this information is to be supplied it would also be necessary to give facts on all types of armament.

He then specified atomic and all new jet-propelled arms. Molotov told the 54-nation political committee of the United Nations assembly Russia was not against asking for such information. He said, however, "we shall do it when we consider general disarmament" instead of including it in the proposed troop census.

"We are told that troop information is bound up with disarmament," Molotov declared. "In this case we would have to discuss not only troops but all kinds of arms. We then would need information, too, on all kinds of arms in each country. Then we would have to speak of jet-propelled weapons, atomic weapons and all other types of weapons."

He made this declaration in backing up his contention that the submerged in the broader question of general disarmament. He reiterated his previous opposition to US and British demands that the troop census should include figures on troops at home as well as those abroad.

At the same time he pressed for immediate action to get reports on all troops stationed outside their home territory.

The question of a troop inventory is urgent and cannot be put off until the UN members begin a complete discussion of arms limitation, Molotov said.

Referring to demands for data on troops at home he said: "We shall have to consider that with the question of general disarmament."

He made no reference to British proposals that a UN inspection system be set up to verify figures submitted in connection with the troop census.

A formal statement voicing this country's dissatisfaction with the Romanian balloting was issued by the state department. It came on the heels of official expressions of concern over election arrangements in Poland.

Five Injured In Explosion At Muleshoe

MULESHOE, Nov. 26. (AP)—Five persons were injured when an explosion heard four and a half miles away destroyed the one-story brick postoffice here today.

The explosion was believed to have been caused by accumulated gas, and was set off at 7:30 a. m. when Postmaster A. J. Gardner knelt to light a stove.

The blast shattered windows throughout the center of Muleshoe (Pop. 1,327).

Injured were Gardner; his wife, who clerks in the postoffice; Mrs. W. B. McAdams, also a clerk; and Gil Wollard and A. O. Troutman, rural carriers.

All were taken to Green hospital. Most seriously injured was Mrs. McAdams. She had a compound fracture of both legs. Oddly, all injured were hurt below the knees.

They had to be dug from the debris of the building, which houses both the postoffice and the English food market, operated by Gene English.

No fire followed the explosion as a plumber who was in the area promptly turned off the city's gas. The fire department, across the street, immediately laid fire hoses, but they were not needed.

Mail from the shattered building was scattered over the area. W. E. Hays, Jr., an auctioneer who lives four and a half miles from town, said he had heard the explosion clearly.

Officials said it was a miracle that injuries were not more serious. J. M. Forbes, editor of the Muleshoe Journal, said the explosion "rocked the town."

A crowd gathered immediately and began digging into the debris for victims. Lives of those trapped would have been seriously endangered if fire had followed the blast, he said.

The postoffice is located in one side of a 40 by 140 foot building. The food store occupies the other side.

"It looks terrible around here," Forbes said. He said the top of the back wall of the postoffice was blown into the alley, other walls are cracked, furniture and fixtures were torn out of place, and mail and other contents were badly scattered. Plate glass lay in large chunks around the scene. Other buildings suffered broken glass for blocks.

All employees of the postoffice were injured except two clerks and one rural mail carrier. Mail service was disrupted.

Govt. May Use Pipelines For Natural Gas

Step Considered As Way To Meet Coal Shortage

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—The interior department told a congressional committee today it is "actively considering" government operation of the $143,000,000 war-built Big Inch and Little Inch pipelines for transmission of gas to relieve some effects of the coal strike in the east.

However, Assistant Interior Secretary C. Girard Davidson testified the department has not yet reached a final decision. Questions remain, he said, on whether such operation is feasible from an engineering standpoint and whether the operation should be undertaken by the government or private companies.

"If this (coal) strike is a prolonged one," Davidson told the House Surplus Property Investigating committee, "then the department will do everything it can, including the use of these lines, if feasible alleviate the coal shortage."

The 1,500 mile lines, reaching from the Texas oil and gas fields to the eastern seaboard, were built during the war to transport oil when German submarines destroyed many American tank ships.

Chairman Slaughter (D-Mo.) told Davidson when he completed his testimony that "your testimony is so vague and nebulous it is hard of any help," and indicated the committee will call Interior Secretary Krug for more detailed information.

Later Slaughter invited Krug to appear personally this afternoon and say definitely whether gas will be moved through the pipe lines.

Slaughter told newsmen, "It seems the obvious thing" to move gas through the lines on an emergency basis for the duration of the coal strike.

Davidson said the Interior Department already has conferred with Robert M. Littlejohn, War Assets Administrator who now has charge of the surplus lines, and with the Federal Power Commission relative to temporary use of the lines.

He said both agencies were cooperative and the study now is based on such problems as finding gathering lines, dehydration equipment, inspection of the lines, and the distribution problem after the gas is delivered in the east.

Turkeys Plentiful For Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving can really be "turkey day" for Big Spring families who desire the big birds, according to late reports on local supplies.

One dealer said he believed he would be able to fill all orders received up to Thursday, and the price is virtually the same as last year.

As for cranberries, they have been available right along, but the price is admittedly high. This has caused increased popularity for the canned, prepared cranberry sauces, which, according to dealers, actually are considerably more reasonable in price than fresh cranberries this year.

The Big Spring residents appear fortunate in this respect, since some sections of the state have reported shortages of canned cranberry sauces.

Local dealers also believe turkeys they have stocked for the first unrationed Thanksgiving in five years are nicer birds than they were able to supply last year. Increased feeding by turkey raisers during the past few months probably is responsible.

Of course chicken will be available for people who prefer it, and plenty other trimmings, although some may be a bit steep in price.

US Seeking Speedy Decision In Trial

SOME HOPEFUL LEWIS WILL FIND AN 'OUT'

Long Hearing Means Trouble For All Nation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—The government, racing against factory shut-downs and emptying coal bins, aimed today for swift trial of John L. Lewis and clamped down sharp new curbs to save the nation's fast-ebbing supplies of fuel.

Federal attorneys said they will press for speed at every possible point when Lewis' trial on contempt charges begins tomorrow, Thursday — Thanksgiving Day — will be a holiday, but government lawyers said they will ask Judge T. Alan Goldsborough for a Friday session, breaking into the traditional long weekend after a holiday.

A high administration aide, talking with reporters on the understanding that he would not be quoted by name, said the government has pinned all its hopes for an early end to the strike on the legal proceedings. No other action is presently contemplated.

In themselves, the legal moves will get no coal mined. Nor will putting Lewis in jail, as could be done if he is found guilty of contempt. But this official indicated the hope is that the legal tactics will "soften up" Lewis and push him toward making an agreement with the mines' private owners on a working contract for his 400,000 United Mines workers.

That hope is that Lewis—instead of pursuing a strike which the official said might prove disastrous to his miners as well as to the national economy—will seek a face-saving end to the controversy.

By bargaining with the private owners, the official suggested, Lewis could gracefully slide out of the present situation without loss of prestige and without yielding on his demands, since he has never specifically stated his demands.

At the same time, the government could relinquish its unwanted control over the mines which it seized during the last spring's 59-day strike.

Government attorneys conceded that the federal district court trial might last days, perhaps weeks—and longer than the national economy could possibly stand the strangulation of its basic fuel supply.

The contempt issue—which could result in jail for Lewis and stiff fines for him and the union—will be taken up first in the double-action trial.

Then the court will explore the question of permanently restraining UMW's strike action which has halted coal digging in 28 states.

The contempt count is based on Lewis' disregard for Judge Goldsborough's order of last week that he rescind his temptation of the miners' contract with the government. In yesterday's brief hearing, ending with setting of the trial for Wednesday, Lewis' attorneys contended Judge Goldsborough had no authority in law to issue the order.

As the strike went into its sixth day, more than 28,000 workers in other industries already had been thrown off their jobs in direct repercussions.

No Settlement Reached Yet In Teacher Strike

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 26. (AP)—An eight-member negotiating committee adjourned last night without reaching a settlement in the strike of St. Paul teachers which closed 77 schools and left 36,378 pupils classless as the instructors paced picket lines Monday and prepared to resume their work.

George S. Joselius, assistant Minnesota attorney general and spokesman for the negotiators, said Monday's session was "profitable and we hope to make similar progress at a meeting this afternoon."

The group included Dean M. Schweickard, state commissioner of education, and three members each from the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) and from the St. Paul city council which serves as the ex-officio school board.

In Minneapolis, where the men's Local 238 of the AFT had also voted a Monday strike, Charles E. Boyer, president of the union, said the 397 members had not yet accepted a board of education settlement offer made Sunday.

Boyer reported the walkout was "held in abeyance" until the men teachers conferred today with the Central Labor Union on whether that group would continue its support if the settlement were not accepted.

Minneapolis women teachers, who were also to consider the settlement offer today, have not yet taken a strike vote but have gone on record to support the men by not crossing picket lines if they are set up.

Commission Delays Business Until Wednesday

New Funds For Flood Control

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—The government has decided to spend an extra $70,000,000 on flood control and navigation projects.

This will be in addition to the $220,000,000 which President Truman, in an order curtailing government spending, recently had set for the work.

Budget Director James E. Webb advised Senator Cordon (R-Ore) today that the revision had been made as a result of conferences between Webb and Reconversion Director John Steelman.

Several congressmen had protested the ceiling Mr. Truman had placed on the work.

Webb wrote Cordon that $55,000,000 of the additional money will go to flood control and $15,000,000 to development of rivers and harbors. This will raise total expenditures for the programs to $185,000,999 and $105,000,000 respectively.

Webb expressed belief that the revised allowances will permit the war department to carry forward all work now underway and undertake necessary maintenance.

Community Fund Is Over $28,000

Although still in the closing out stages, the Community Fund inched forward Tuesday past the $28,000-mark.

General Chairman Ira L. Thurman looked for still further contributions before the final report is made. Some workers have not completed their reports, and a few important contacts have not been made.

Cash and pledges Tuesday noon stood at $28,100. Gains were registered on the strength of $100 from L. B. Edwards, $75 from the LeSage company, and $50 from Dr. Preston Sanders.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcolonate (formerly called Barcol Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Charley Worleys Celebrate Sixtieth Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Worley were married back in "the good old days," on Nov. 26, 1886 and celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Worley were married in Dallas "when it wasn't but about half the size of Big Spring now," Mr. Worley said. Worley was at first a 50 cents a day farm hand and later entered employment of the T&P railroad. He is now retired. At that time Worley made $1.10 a day for 10 hours work, kept the family and paid rent. He added that his family had as much to eat then as now and reminisced about steak that sold for 10 cents a pound. The Worleys farmed at Vernon, Levelland and in Oklahoma for a number of years, and five years ago they moved here where they live with their daughter, Mrs. Alvin Sipes. The Worleys have four daughters, Mrs. Sipes, Mrs. Virgie Tuttle and Mrs. Minnie Williams of La Cruces, N.M., and Mrs. Ethel Guthrie of Sacramento, Calif.; and three sons, Carl Worley of Oklahoma City, and Dan and Cecil Worley of Sacramento.

 1-8 teaspoon salt
 1-4 cup stock
 Flour
 2 tablespoons drippings

Make Beautiful, Tasty Accompaniment To Holiday Meat Dishes Without Sugar

Glazed or minted apple rings, pear or pineapple slices can all be made without using a single grain of sugar. Instead of the concentrated sugar and water syrup of bygone days, jelly from the grocers is melted into a rich fruit-flavored sauce and the fruit slices are simmered in this until tender.

The fruit comes out with a sparkling glaze and a tangy flavor that makes it just right for serving with meat courses. For instance, glazed pineapple slices make an event of plain, ordinary ham loaf; minted pear slices give small lamb chops a generous air; and glazed apple slices team up with any of the pork cuts.

Branching out from the meat line, these glazed fruits do well for themselves in the salad course, too. Combine them with cream cheese balls that have been rolled in nuts, or fill them with grated American cheese and top with a dab of mayonnaise and a tuft of parsley.

The following suggestions for preparing glazed apple rings may be used for glazing pear and pineapple slices as well.

GLAZED APPLE RINGS
 6 small baking apples.
 1 glass currant, apple or crab-apple jelly.
 1 tablespoon butter.

Melt the jelly in a large skillet over low heat. Add butter and stir until dissolved. Pare and core apples and slice crosswise in 1/2 inch slices. Place in skillet, cover and cook slowly until apples are tender. Remove from skillet and turn upside down since bottom side will be most glazed. Chill and fill with a dab of jelly to serve with meat or use as a salad ingredient.

Emergency Boon Condensed Milk

Thanksgiving holidays are the traditional American season for friendly visiting. A popular way to be prepared for hospitality on short notice is to keep several cans of sweetened condensed milk on the emergency pantry shelf.

In just a few minutes' kitchen duty, you can turn out a batch of crisp, crunchy cookies. This magic recipe has no need for extra sweetening because sweetened condensed milk is a pure blend of whole milk and sugar. There's no need for shortening or flour either. A quick and easy chocolate beverage to serve with the cookies can be made with sweetened condensed milk, too. As these magic tricks are literally failure proof, these re-

When Football Waits, Speeches Are Short

PULLMAN, Wash. (UP) — A world's record for brevity may have been set by Alumni President Fred Talley of Spokane at Washington State College. He presided over a luncheon which featured three speakers and one introduction and yet it was all over in 93 seconds.

There were 450 minds with but a single thought—get to the football game. That accounted for the brevity.

Nutrition Experts Advise Use Of Nuts For High Food Value

Nuts are coming up in the world. No longer are they just something extra to nibble on or to mix in sandwiches and candy — though they're still good that way.

Nutritionists now are recommending them for their food value as well as their delicate, delicious flavor. Most varieties are extremely rich in fat and have good quality protein. Nuts supply some minerals and vitamins, too. Nearly all are rich in phosphorus. Almonds and hazelnuts are outstanding for their calcium and iron, peanuts for their niacin.

This year's overall nut supply is big — it's enough for a nut feast, in fact. Almonds and filberts will be especially plentiful this season. More walnuts than usual are in prospect. The peanut crop is large. Only pecans are expected to be in shorter supply than last year.

Look for imports, too. More Brazil nuts, cashews, and almonds. The modern nut lends itself to quick, easy preparation. It shells quickly, and often reaches the consumer ready to eat. For the homemaker who does her own shelling, here's a buy gauge. Figures show the amount of unshelled nuts which make one pound of kernels:

Kinds	Pounds
Almonds	1 3/4 to 2 1/4
Brazil nuts	2
Chestnuts	1 1/4
Filbert	2 1/4
Peanuts	1 1/2
Pecans	1 3/4 to 2 1/2
English Walnuts	2 to 2 1/2

The black opal was discovered in 1900 in the white cliff region of New South Wales.

Peanut Butter Gives Extra Pep

No youngster can be healthy, well-nourished and vigorous, unless he eats the foods that meet his needs. Food must supply him with energy, maintain his body processes, repair his worn-out tissues, as well as build new tissues as he grows taller and gains weight.

No mother can fulfill the children's needs unless she knows which foods to put into the meals she plans. Proteins, carbohydrates, fats, minerals and vitamins must all be included in every meal.

She should realize that the outset that his lunch is the meal most likely to be slighted. With the morning rush and breakfast preparations snatching away the minutes the lunch box is apt to be hurriedly packed with whatever happens to be on hand.

A little planning the day before can change all this, and eliminate the chance of poor lunches and much of the morning rush and bustle, too. For example, a list of fillings tacked on the inside of a cupboard door will insure speedy answers for hearty, nutritious sandwiches — and variety in the lunchbox will be certain too. Peanut Butter is the delight of youngsters so why not include it often and in many combinations. It's packed with protein, and a good source of phosphorus, calcium and iron. Every crust and crumb will be gobbled up if they're spread with these fillings.

One half cup peanut butter blended with 1-2 cup chili sauce, whole wheat bread.
One half cup peanut butter, 1 cup grated raw carrot, 2 table-spoons mayonnaise.
One half cup peanut butter, 1-2 cup jelly.
One half cup chopped seeded raisins, 1-2 cup peanut butter, 2 teaspoons lemon juice.

Counteract Spinach At Dessert-Time

It's usually winning strategy to offer a glamour dessert to the youngsters as a reward when the main course features spinach or some other less popular vegetable. A quick and easy dessert that's sure to be an inspiration to expeditious eating with all juveniles is chocolate pudding. It's a treat that's achieved in jig time if you use this magic short cut made with sweetened condensed milk.

It's literally failure-proof too — never lumpy or runny. And, made with sweetened condensed milk, a blend of pure whole milk and sugar, there's no drain on the family sugar supply when you serve this popular dessert.

Just melt 2 squares unsweetened chocolate in the top of a double boiler. Add 1-3 cups (15 oz. can) sweetened condensed milk and stir over rapidly boiling water 5 to 10 minutes, or until thick. Remove from heat. Add 1-4 cup water and 1-8 teaspoon salt. Cool 5 minutes. Beat whites of 2 eggs until in soft peaks but not dry. Fold in chocolate mixture. Place in sherbert glasses. Chill. Garnish with salted almonds. Serves 6.

Herd Faces Big Hurdle Thursday

The Big Spring high school football Steers get a chance to pull their won-and-lost record to an even .500 for the season Thursday afternoon when they tangle with Sweetwater in the Mustang corral.

In nine starts to date, the Bovines have succeeded in copping four decisions while losing five. They've won from Cisco, Brownfield, Lamesa and Midland while losing to Lubbock, Odessa, North Side, San Angelo and Abilene.

The Ponies, on the other hand, have lost but one game in their nine starts. In addition to losing a 33-13 decision to Odessa, they were tied by Wichita Falls, 14-all. Big Spring has shown to better advantage on the road than it has at home to date. It is unbeaten in three starts in games away from home but has won only one game in six starts at Steer stadium.

The marine corps hymn is said to have originated soon after the close of the War with Mexico.

He'll Boss Payoff Of TVA's Dam Building

AP Newsfeatures

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—The man designated by President Truman to direct the Tennessee Valley authority into what has been described officially as the "second phase" of its program is a mild-mannered, scholarly individual who says "I get most of my fun out of my job."

Gordon Rufus Clapp literally grew up with the government's power and flood control agency. He joined it fresh out of the University of Chicago where he had just won his master of arts degree in July, 1933. And he has been mastering the art of TVA ever since.

To the TVA official family, who know him as an expert in public administration, Clapp was a logical choice as successor to David E. Lilienthal when the latter was named by Mr. Truman as chairman of the nation's atomic energy commission.

Clapp had been directing the administration of the sprawling agency for the last seven years as general manager and already was minutely acquainted with all its problems and ramifications.

The 41-year-old sandy-haired executive is described by his associates as an individual who never loses his temper.

"He never raises his voice even when he obviously is boiling. He actually talks more precisely when he is mad," one of them declared.

Clapp chose public administration as his career immediately after graduating from Lawrence college at Appleton, Wis., in 1927. He spent five years in administrative capacities there before entering the University of Chicago for post-graduate work.

The opportunity to join TVA came after he had completed the first year of work toward a doctorate. He became an assistant to the personnel director and had much to do with assembling the agency's staff.

Clapp is one of those executives who is never through with his work. Nightly when he leaves his offices here he takes a sheaf of papers to his Norris home.

Although a devoted family man—he is married and has two sons—Clapp says he doesn't have much time to devote to his wife and sons.

Once a year, however, he likes to slip off to Keeneland race track at Lexington, Ky., and try his luck

COMING—Popular Cary Grant teams with the charming Ingrid Bergman in 'Notorious,' the new melodrama directed by Alfred Hitchcock, the thrill-master. 'Notorious' will open on Thanksgiving Day at the Ritz theatre for a five-day run.

Dress Up Family Stand-By With Ripe Pear Halves

A standby salad in practically every household is shredded carrot and raisin slaw. Still, it's hardly a "dressy" salad, served by itself. So here's a way of changing it. Serve the slaw in hollows of fresh ripe pear halves!

For salads and fresh eating, be sure the pears are ripe. They should yield to gentle pressure. If slightly firmer, use them for pies and baking. If quite hard, keep at room temperature until ready-to-eat.

Carrot-Raisin Pear Salad
Allow one fresh ripe pear half per serving and about 1-4 cup shredded carrot and raisin salad (shredded raw carrots and raisins moistened with mayonnaise or salad dressing). Peel, halve and core pears. Sprinkle at once with lemon juice. Fill hollows with carrot mixture and serve well-chilled.

The damage caused by all types of rodents in the United States is estimated at 500 million dollars annually.

Water Valley Cats, Barstow To Tangle Here Wednesday

Bi-District 6-Man Championship Will Go On The Line

WATER VALLEY, Nov. 26. (Spl) — Coach Elvis Mathis of the Water Valley Wildcats announced Monday night that his six-man football team, champions of District Ten, would face Barstow of District Nine in the bi-district game at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in Big Spring.

The District Nine tilt was decided at a conference of that circuit's officials Monday after a protest had been filed against a Barstow player for using what allegedly was an illegal player. The complaint was lodged by Fort Stockton.

Water Valley, boasting one of the great backs of Texas six-man circles in Gene Cope, will carry an unbeaten and untied record into the fray at Big Spring. Cope scored 78 points during the season and was acknowledged to be one of the league's two best all-around performers. The other was Wayne DeVaney, diminutive Coahoma quarterback.

The Wildcats succeeded the Coahomas as district champions this year.

Mathis is in his first coaching year at Water Valley. He succeeded Diddle Young last September.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

The game of polo hasn't become a popular spectator's sport as has football, baseball and other field of athletics but Southwestern enthusiasts, including Our Town's Dr. M. H. Bennett, opine the people will cotton to it if they get proper orientation.

Big time polo returned to the state for the first time in a decade last Sunday at San Antonio when a United States quartet led by Cecil Smith and Stu Iglehart subdued a Mexican foursome, 7-0. Only 4,000 fans turned out, despite the fact that the weather was beautiful and there were enough seats for twice that many.

Considering that the contest was what a World Series game is to baseball, there should have been more, many more, present.

One of the reasons the game hasn't caught on as it should have in this section, which prides itself in its horsemanship, is a lack of good public relations. The average sports fan gets the idea that it is a rich man's game. To a degree, that may be right since it takes some capital to maintain a stable. However, many a rancher of average income as well as cowhands who earn "60 and keep" have caught the romance of the sport and it bids fair to at long last come onto its own in the great Southwest.

The game has all the requisites of a good spectator sport plus a few that the others don't have. It is fully as blood-thirsty and dangerous as is ice hockey — generally considered to be the most dangerous of all sports — and it is an exciting something that demands perfect coordination between man and animal, along with a perfect understanding.

Bennett intends to get the game started anew here in the spring, if he can arrange for a playing field. The local polo team used a spacious site west of town before the war but it was commandeered by the US Army for a bombardier school during the national emergency and the military has been slow to surrender its hold on the plot.

One of the referees at the San Antonio match last Sunday was Don Grossinger of Michigan, who came west to teach a Big Spring class how to play polo back in 1937. Included in that group were Bennett, Lloyd Wasson, Louis Rix and others — most of whom later became adept at the game.

Associates of the great star, Cecil Smith, maintain he will be raised to a ten goal handicap — absolute tops — the next time the game's governing body goes into session. Smith carried a ten goal rating for years, now sports a nine-goal rating.

One of the truly great poloists is Tom Mather, the Lubbock veteran, who carries a five-goal handicap but could do much better if he applied himself to it.

Tom is tremendous and demands an equally big mount but is matchless as a No. 4 (defensive) man.

The world's only ten-goal star at the moment is Stu Iglehart, a

Arkansas Ends Regular Play On Turkey Day

ULSA, Okla., Nov. 26. (P) — Tulsa and Arkansas meet for the twenty-third time here Thanksgiving Day with the big, red-shirted boys from the Ozarks seeking their first win in five years.

It will be a clash between the Missouri Valley Conference champions and the current leaders in the Southwest Conference race.

A crowd of 19,000 is expected for the game.

Tulsa has won eight games and lost one — to Detroit. Arkansas has won six, lost two and tied one.

Picked by Southwest Conference critics to finish last before the season opened, the Razorbacks have surprised everyone by clinching at least a tie for first. So potent have been the Porkers that in their last three Conference clashes they have held Texas A&M, Rice and Southern Methodist scoreless.

To hear Coach John Barnhill talk, his Porkers don't belong on the same field with the Tulsa eleven. The ex-Tennessee mentor, whose volunteers defeated Tulsa 14-7 in the 1943 Sugar Bowl, isn't influencing Hurricane Coach Buddy Brothers, however.

"Arkansas won't need any sympathy," Brothers commented as he prepared his charges for the traditional battle. "The scouting reports of Hugh McCulloch and John Garrison, my assistants, indicate that we're in for our toughest test of the season."

"We know that Arkansas has the toughest line we've faced. They're deep, and can afford to stress defense and play for the breaks. A touchdown goes a mighty long way for Barnhill's teams, because his opponents have a devil of a tough time ever getting it back."

A look at the Porker roster is enough to convince even a casual follower of the game that Barnhill has scoring power. Clyde (Smackover) Scott, the ex-Navy great, and Aubrey Fowler and Ken Holland are three of the nation's top backs.

Pitted against this trio of speed merchants will be Tulsa's great triple-threaters, Clyde LeFlore, and Hardy Brown, Paul Barry and Jimmy Ford. LeFlore engineers Tulsa's strong T attack, with Barry and Ford picking up most of the yardage. Brown is the man who clears the way for the others — and he's rated as one of the greatest blocking backs in TU history.

Tulsa's line, which started the season handicapped by lack of experience, has come along rapidly under the hand of Clyde Lee, and most critics think the TU forwards can meet the Razorback line on never-never terms.

Layne Sews Up Pair Of Titles

By The Associated Press At least four Southwest Conference statistical championships appear to have been decided as the teams play their final games of the season.

Bobby Layne of Texas has bagged two titles — total offense and passing. Carl Russ, Rice fullback, seems safe in the lead in ball-carrying, and the University of Texas is so far in front in team offense one more game can hardly dislodge the Longhorns.

Layne has gained 1278 yards on 196 passing and rushing plays, 1007 of which has come on passing, in which he has completed 72 out of 132 tries. Virgil Eikenberg of Rice is second in passing with 651 yards on 36 connections out of 106. Frank Payne of Southern Methodist is runner-up in total offense with 635 yards on 163 plays.

Russ has pounded out 576 yards on 123 carries — 172 ahead of Ken Holland of Arkansas. Jim Canady of Texas and Gene Wilson of Southern Methodist are in a neck-and-neck race for pass-receiving honors, each having caught 17. Canady has gained 420 yards and Wilson 253.

Frank Guess of Texas leads in punt returns with 216 yards on 12 carries — an average of 18.0. George Walmaley of Rice has averaged 14.7 on 177 yards in 12 runs.

Bill Richards of Southern Methodist is the top punter with a 41.5-yard average on 54 kicks. Stan Holmgren of Texas A&M is second with 40.0 on 27 boots.

Texas has rolled up 1577 yards rushing and 1435 passing for 3012 yards in nine games as the offensive team leader. Rice is second with 2508 yards in the same number of games. Rice leads in defense with 1412 yards allowed — an average of 157 per game.

GAMES TONIGHT The Ladies bowling league will stage its regular weekly games tonight at the West Texas Recreation center instead of Wednesday, it has been announced.

Irish Creep Up On Soldiers In National Football Poll

Arkansas Lone Southwest 11 In First Ten

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (P) — Army comes up to the Navy game in Philadelphia Saturday still the choice of the voters in the Associated Press' weekly football poll as the No. 1 eleven of the country.

Thus the Black Knights offer Tom Hamilton's Middies one more psychological advantage in the all-important service class. Added to the incentive of salvaging a game from a so-far disastrous season by blasting the three-year victory record of the Cadets, the Navy has the chance to topple Earl Blaik's men from first place in the nation's rankings.

Should the Middies accomplish the seemingly impossible, by scoring an upset at Franklin Field, they probably will unseat Army from the position it has held every week but one since the season's poll started. Only other holder of the top spot this year has been ill-starred Texas, now down to No. 20.

The Irish of Notre Dame have been pushing the Cadets for the first-place perch all season and almost got to the top in this week's balloting among the sports writers from coast to coast.

As a result of the Irish's 41-0 thumping of Tulane last Saturday, 32 of the 124 writers voted the Lehighmen No. 1, while 12 more called it a tie between Army and Notre Dame. Sixty-six put Army on top to give the Cadets 1,173 points. The Irish were just 29 points behind with 1,144. On the other hand, the South Benders collected 69 second-place votes to Army's 39.

Other first-place ballots gave unbeaten and untied Georgia and UCLA five each, which put this pair in third and fourth positions, respectively.

Southern California, whipped by UCLA in the Coast Conference clincher, fell from the top ten to 16th. They were replaced by Arkansas' Razorbacks, host team in the Cotton Bowl.

Ranking of the top ten teams (points based on a 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 system of counting):

Team	1st place votes	Points
1—Army	66	1,173
2—Notre Dame	32	1,144
3—Georgia	5	902
4—UCLA	5	838
5—Illinois	5	590

GEORGIA TECH MAY SURPRISE IN SATURDAY TILT AT ATHENS

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 26. (P) — Georgia Tech, the surprise eleven of the Southeastern Conference this year, will try to whip Georgia here Saturday—something nine other teams have failed to do.

It will be the 41st meeting between the arch rivals, as important a game as the series has ever known. The betting boys haven't settled on the final odds, but partisan fans in most cases are about equally divided in predicting the outcome.

Of twenty-two southern sports writers polled on the situation, 11 picked Tech, ten took Georgia and one forecast a tie—a scoreless one at that.

At the moment it appears both will get a bowl bid, the winner to the Sugar Bowl and the loser to the Cotton Bowl. The conference championship also is involved. A victory for Georgia would assure the Bulldogs of at least a tie for the title, while Tech's chances of pulling down the championship also would depend on other results. Tennessee and LSU would both have to lose this week for the Jackets to grab the honor.

While most observers differ on the probable winner, just about all of them agree that Tech has by far the better line and that the Bulldogs are just as superior in the backfield.

A capacity crowd of 52,000, more than twice the population of this city, is assured—rain or shine.

S'west B Teams Wind Up Friday

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference B football league closes the schedule this week with Southern Methodist, undefeated in seven games, contesting Texas Christian's B at Dallas Friday.

The Junior Mustangs beat Baylor 18-7 last week to keep their record clear except for a tie. Texas Christian defeated 13-0, Texas clouted Texas A&M 21-7 and Arkansas beat Tulsa 7-0.

Only two games remain on the schedule. In addition to the TCU-Rice tilt, Arkansas plays College of the Ozarks at Clarksville Thursday.

Smith had high game with a 244. His next best effort — 219 won him runner-up laurels. He also had the top aggregate score with a 635. As a result, the Druggists had the lead in team scoring with a 2560, beating Nathan's Jewelry by 21 points.

The pace-setting Douglas Hotel team lost a decision for the first time in a long while. Texas Electric getting to them for two games in three tries.

As a result, the Druggists and Jewelers sliced the Innkeepers' league lead to five games.

In other results, the Jewelers swept a three game series from Fox's Cafe, which tumbled into fourth place, while Elmo Wasson's Haberdashers were winning two of three from Big Spring Neoa.

Service Available For The People

There is a service here being utilized by a substantial number of residents, but which might find still further popular favor were there a wider understanding of it.

We speak of the adult education program available at the Howard County Junior College in the form of evening classes.

The prerequisite for one of these courses—and the field is as wide as popular demand—is a consuming interest to improvement through study. A high school diploma is not necessary, and, naturally, no previous college work is required.

For example, if a group of local men felt they wanted a course in public relations, they could go to the college and present their desires and needs. If a sufficient number for a class could be arranged, in due season the course likely would be offered.

By due season, we mean that there must be a proper respect for schedules. Such courses properly should be started in keeping with semesters in order that the proper amount of time for credit could be put into the study.

This is something that more and more adults, from housewives to laborers to executives, should be thinking about so that when January rolls around steps might be taken to put the service into operation. Ours is a people's college, and the people are entitled to use it.

County Opening Important Roads

The county is finishing one road project of importance to Big Spring and is to start another of similar import.

Opening of W. 4th street from its termination to US 80 is the first step in the direction of diffusing traffic from Third street, where all the local and through traffic now goes. It has been proposed by the chamber of commerce safety and highway committee that both Third and Second streets be opened through the city to handle much of the local flow of traffic.

Thus, the W. 4th opening is a step in this direction. The effectiveness of this move will be dependent in a large measure on the eventual surfacing of the thoroughfares. If people can be offered a direct and good route in preference to another, they will use it for convenience and safety.

Although not in the same category, the opening of a road from W. 17th to the bombardier school property is important. Not only will this save those who travel to the post area as much as four or five miles a round trip from the south part of town, but it also will make for a much shorter and more convenient, though devious, connection with the west highway from the south part of town.

The Nation Today—James Marlow

Points In The Lewis Contempt Case

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Here are three main points in John L. Lewis' fight with the government.

1) Does Lewis, or anyone, have to obey the federal judge's order? The theory is this: When he thinks it may be important to prevent unlawful injury or damage to some one else, the judge can tell you to do something, or not to do it.

You're supposed to obey, whether you think the judge is right or not in issuing the order. You get a chance to argue about it later. The government told the judge that Lewis had no right to cancel his contract and asked the judge not to let him end it.

On Nov. 18 the judge issued a temporary order to Lewis not to end it. The order was temporary in this way:

He said he'd hear arguments from Lewis and the government Nov. 27 on Lewis' right to tear up his contract.

So between Nov. 18, the date the order was issued, and Nov. 27, when the arguments were to be heard, Lewis wasn't to end his contract.

Lewis ignored the order, let the contract die Nov. 20. So the judge called him to court Monday to explain why he had disobeyed.

2) Did the judge have any right to issue the order at all?

A strike is a union's biggest weapon in trying to make an employer meet its demands. Without freedom to strike, a union is handcuffed.

Federal judges—under the Norris-LaGuardia act of 1932—practically are forbidden to issue an order against a strike in a labor dispute.

So labor leaders say the judge was acting contrary to that act in telling Lewis not to end his contract or, in effect, telling the miners not to walk out.

The government argues the Norris-LaGuardia act applies only to private employers' disputes with unions but nowhere says the government can not get such an order from a judge when it's having a labor dispute.

3) But did Lewis have a right to tear up his contract?

He says he does. He says either side—he or the government—can end it. The government says "No," that Lewis can't end it unless the government agrees. And the government doesn't agree.

The government, to prove that the contract must stand unchanged so long as the government wants it to, points to the first paragraph of its contract with Lewis. That paragraph says:

"This agreement x x x covers for the period of government possession the terms and conditions of employment in respect to all mines in government possession."

But Lewis argues that under the old contracts he used to make do with the mine owners either side—he or the owners—could end a contract after notifying the other of the intention to do so.

And, he argues, his contract

Hal Boyle's Notebook

Everybody's A Sucker

NEW YORK. (AP)—When Bill Mulligan was a rookie cop, a surprised robber pointed a gun squarely in his freckled Irish face.

So Bill did what "New York's finest" are expected to do. He came in swinging with his nightstick and pulped down the man and his gun and hauled in his first arrest.

In the 20 years since, Mulligan, now one of America's finest jewel theft detectives, has brought some 1,000 underworld characters before the bar of justice.

They were "muggers," stick-up artists, car looters, sneak thieves, pickpockets, and—now Bill's special prey—the boys with a fast hand for the glitter: Jewel thieves.

Mulligan, who has recovered several hundred thousand dollars worth of stolen twinklers, often before the owners missed them, has achieved a philosophy that covers people who don't protect their property, and people who reach out to grab it.

"Everybody's a sucker," he says. And he doesn't except cops named Mulligan.

Bill is only 42. The freckles are beginning to dry up from so many years of night work. The hair has taken a short escalator ride up his forehead. But he's still built like a light college quarterback, and the only extra fuel he takes on is fifteen to twenty cups of coffee a day.

"Most of the guys I tail are great coffee drinkers," he said. Bill is one of Manhattan's top "tailers." Dick Feehan, a veteran police reporter, who knows more about the force than the boys in the city hall, says Bill could follow three strange eels through a tank of oil and come out the other side with the government says he can do the same thing now—end it when he wants to—for his contract with the governments says the terms of his old contracts still hold good.

Robert E. Noonan, US collector of customs here, says the "inspector," in operation since July, 1945, has more than paid for itself in collecting fines on objects which otherwise would not have been "declared" to customs inspectors for duty payment.

Located just outside the customs house at San Ysidro, the outfit looks like a couple of telephone booths set about four feet apart.

The "inspector" screen, in one booth, is operated by a foot pedal, which, when pressed, shows first a head and shoulder view, then a midsection picture and finally a view of the lower extremities. As the pedal is pressed, each view lasts only six seconds, to avoid injury from the rays, Noonan says.

If the tourist has a bottle of jewelry or narcotics on his body, it can be seen on the screen and identified as such. In a recent examination, a man was found to be carrying a bottle of liquor up his sleeve, and a woman was her sealing six cans of opium in her girdle.

Keys in a man's pocket may be seen so clearly that they may be counted, and the same with cigarettes in a package, according to Noonan. Pens, pencils and wallets are easily identifiable.

Nearly 30,000 persons have passed this magic eye since its installation, and some 2,000 seizures have been made, Noonan said.

About 300 an hour can be run through the "inspector," as against four per hour by the old method of having a suspect undress, submit to search and don clothing again.

The machine is not run at any set period of the day. At any moment the inspectors may order all persons crossing the border on foot or in autos, to go through the machine.

Noonan says the greatest good comes from the machine's deterrent powers. Knowledge that the machine is there has stopped many a would-be smuggler and the number of declarations has risen "considerably."

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — The "inspector," an X-ray and fluorescent arrangement, is doing more than its share in curbing smuggling at the international border near San Ysidro, 16 miles south of here.

The machine, which detects the presence of contraband goods on persons crossing the line by looking right through their clothes, was invented during the war by Henry Secular, San Francisco scientist.

Robert E. Noonan, US collector of customs here, says the "inspector," in operation since July, 1945, has more than paid for itself in collecting fines on objects which otherwise would not have been "declared" to customs inspectors for duty payment.

Located just outside the customs house at San Ysidro, the outfit looks like a couple of telephone booths set about four feet apart.

The "inspector" screen, in one booth, is operated by a foot pedal, which, when pressed, shows first a head and shoulder view, then a midsection picture and finally a view of the lower extremities. As the pedal is pressed, each view lasts only six seconds, to avoid injury from the rays, Noonan says.

If the tourist has a bottle of jewelry or narcotics on his body, it can be seen on the screen and identified as such. In a recent examination, a man was found to be carrying a bottle of liquor up his sleeve, and a woman was her sealing six cans of opium in her girdle.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

Atomic Energy May Replace Coal

WASHINGTON.—Washington is no town for the naive but well meaning, as Assistant Secretary of State Bill Benton learned the other day.

Benton, recently retired as chairman of the board of Encyclopedia Britannica and now in charge of the State Department's good-will program, has been having his troubles with Congress. Some of the more backwoods congressmen can't understand why it is important to sell America to the rest of the world, especially if it costs money. They haven't learned that selling peace through friendship is lots cheaper than fighting wars with battleships.

One such is bull-voiced Congressman John Taber of New York, soon to become Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, which will give him a death grip on Benton's appropriation. Recently Benton invited Taber to dinner and explained the State Department's cultural relations program to him. The next day Benton told friends he had completely won over Taber's support.

Shortly thereafter, however, Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson got a withering phone call from the New York Congressman.

"What is that fellow Benton trying to do—sending me the Encyclopedia Britannica?" Taber thundered. "Is he trying to bribe me with a set of books, just before his appropriation comes up before my committee?"

"What I want to know," continued Taber, "is were these books sent me with the approval of the State Department?"

Acheson, having no prior knowledge of the incident, said he couldn't answer. What happened was that Benton, as former chairman of Encyclopedia Britannica Co., had sent presents of the books to several congressmen, including Taber. The others took it, as it was meant, as a friendly gesture. But not Mr. Taber. He is now expected to knife the State Department's entire appropriation for good will abroad.

ATOMIC ENERGY

One thing the striking miners don't realize is that they are working for an industry which will soon be as out of date as the old stern-wheeler of Mark Twain's Mississippi River days. Unfortunately, what they especially don't seem to realize is that their present strike is hastening the end of the coal industry.

A brief news item from the little town of Louisville, N. Y., "When I first heard Drew Pearson announce that I was to receive a gift of an automobile."

Down in Georgia it is considered significant that red-galleged Gene Talmadge, the minority-elected new governor, was not present to help present a $1,800 DeSoto automobile to Ku Klux Klan grand dragon, Dr. Samuel Green. Instead Gene's son, Herman, did the honors.

Herman made a powerful, arm-waving speech, just like the "Old Man," in which he damned "Jews, Catholics and Niggers" and in which he also eulogized Dr. Green. Herman said he had known the grand dragons "constructive work" for many years, and he considered him "a splendid, American of spotless character." The opposition, Herman said, had imported detectives to comb Green's record but never had been able to find anything bad about him.

After Klansman Cliff Vittur presented the DeSoto car as a "surprise" to the Grand Dragon, the latter arose and accepted the gift.

First he took out of his pocket a tiny toy automobile which he placed on the table.

"When I first heard Drew Pearson announce that I was to receive a gift of an automobile."

Fair-minded Joe Martin, the prospective new speaker, has promised Mrs. Rogers that she will get the job, but despite this, the sub-rosa wire-pulling against her continues. If she is passed over, however, Capitol Hill is sure to witness a veterans' march of protest.

Basic Ills Of Our Mental Institutions

Editors Note: This is another in the series concerning Texas mental hospitals.

AUSTIN, Nov. 26 — One sure way to draw attention to any situation is to point up its more revolting aspects. So far in this series on Texas mental hospitals, the sensational has been deliberately avoided.

But to underline the point that sensational details could have been included in the discussions:

As heretofore pointed out, a scientific survey by a trained investigator was made of Texas hospitals in 1942, published in 1943. The details in this report which are no credit to Texas resulted from these things: (1) a lack of trained personnel due largely to low pay; (2) over-crowding, due to lack of facilities and antiquated structures; (3) a lack of a real overall program of attempting to cure instead of confine, due to inadequate finances.

Since that time (1) the personnel situation grew worse during the war due to the loss of trained people; and (2) nothing could be built. Some of the overcrowding was relieved by expedients: The conversion of the Confederate home into a home for seniles, the acquisition of some army installations. Otherwise, it isn't far wrong to say that the situation in Texas mental hospitals is about like it was in 1942.

Hall S. Logan, the board of control member for eleemosynary institutions, says he has NOT made any detailed study of the 1943 report (which was made at the instance of Governor Coke Stevenson). Now that any blame attaches to him for that, he has been in charge of the institutions only since last January when he went on the board, and he has been working much harder at the job—which calls for many duties other than that of eleemosynary supervisor—a good many hours more per day than he'd work in private business. He hasn't had time.

As a sampling, Logan was asked, "are most of the institutions still infested by rats, as the report showed?"

"Well, we have made some progress; but in old buildings, and at this season of the year, there are bound to be rats."

The administration itself was one of the criticisms: That the three-member board is subject to change with new governors, and the member for eleemosynary institutions does not have adequate time to prepare himself—and may be replaced before his experience becomes worth while.

In a previous article it was pointed out that the continuing position of Chief of Eleemosynary Institutions, created to meet that problem, is now vacant.

Logan himself says that the remaking it the first completely oil-heated town in the USA, others are bound to follow. Some industries had started converting to oil even before the strike. Natural gas piped east will further cut down consumption—especially as coal becomes more expensive and more uncertain.

However, this only tells part of the story. The rest of the story began on Aug. 5, 1945, when a bomb was dropped on Hiroshima. Scientists have been working ever since on the problem of harnessing atomic energy. Already Poland is constructing an atomic energy power plant. In the United States the first atomic power plants should be completed in two years.

Naturally the coal, steel and oil interests are not anxious to encourage this. Nor are the big power companies, whose water power installations would be scrapped. These incidentally are the same interests which have blocked the use of natural gas in the Big Inch and Little Inch pipelines.

Science, however, can be retarded, but not stopped. And when atomic energy is used on a wide scale, scientists estimate it will be much cheaper than coal or oil. When that happens, coal mining will be just as obsolete as the journeyman wagon builders of 1800. And unfortunately the coal miners, the more uncertain they make the supply of coal, the more they spur the development of atomic energy.

Down in Georgia it is considered significant that red-galleged Gene Talmadge, the minority-elected new governor, was not present to help present a $1,800 DeSoto automobile to Ku Klux Klan grand dragon, Dr. Samuel Green. Instead Gene's son, Herman, did the honors.

In this connection one important backstage battle is aimed at preventing motherly GOP congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts from becoming chairman of the veterans committee. Mrs. Rogers has been a tireless worker for the veteran, and as ranking Republican on the veterans committee, she should automatically become its chairman. However, because of her long, running feud with routine shooting John Rankin of Mississippi, several Republicans and Democrats are conspiring to have her passed over.

Lupino Has Big Ideas

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—If this were a soap opera, it could be called "Ida Lupino Faces the Future," because the gal has more plans than an architect's convention.

First of all, Ida is another of the secessionists from Warners. She is rounding out her last year at the Burbank lot. Her reasons for leaving include selection of roles, but of course the main reason is that folding stuff.

"I want to be able to retire in five years," she claimed, "and I can't do it on my Warner salary." She pointed out that a contract player can't quit away these days. The solution, which, many are seeking, is the free-lance ticket. Her present plans call for a film in England with Rex Harrison. Then she would hook up as partner with Benedict Bogeaus and make a picture with him.

As to Ida's other ideas, "I want to buy a boat."

"I want a boat so I can write on it." And she is no hunt-and-peck doodler, either. She has already sold several stories for good money.

And when in five years she reaches the ripe age of 33, she amassed a comfortable bank account and a yacht, and has time to write, what then, Ida?

The once-married gal smiled knowingly and murmured, "A man, of course."

Letter To Editor

Clear The Way For Hi Playoff This Weekend

Dear Editor: I have written the governor to this effect: "I see by the papers that you want to stop as much drunken driving that is causing the many traffic accidents. I have an idea that if it was possible for you to put plain clothes men around the drinking places, you would not only slow down the many accidents, but would save many lives and cars that are so badly needed today."

drunken drivers and the causes of so many traffic accidents. Drunken drivers cannot see where they are going and the cemeteries are full of innocent people, victims of liquor traffic.

"I have been in this world 81 years and can now say that things are worse now than at any time in my life because anyone who has money can get the poison. I volunteer my services in eliminating the source of trouble, the honky-tonk, legal liquor store, beer joint and other causes of so many accidents."

Refugees Fight British Troops

HAIFA, Palestine, Nov. 26. (AP)—A pitched battle erupted today between illegal immigrants aboard the refugee ship Hameri Havri (Lochita) and British troops attempting to transfer them to three waiting British troopships.

A half hour after the vessel, the biggest immigrant ship yet to attempt the dash to Palestine, entered Haifa harbor, rioting broke out aboard. It was reported that the passengers totaled 3,370. Shouting refugees hurled missiles at troops attempting to board the vessel.

Four gun bursts were fired in the air by the troops, but the soldiers retreated from the first onslaught of the refugees. Shortly afterward the troops began the operation again, this time wearing riot helmets and carrying tear gas.

Accompanied by two British destroyers, the 2,000-ton vessel was sighted by watchers on Mount Carmel, who said she was under her own power.

The passengers were expected to be kept aboard the vessels either in Haifa harbor or cruising in territorial waters pending settlement of a habeas corpus action filed yesterday in the Palestine supreme court at Jerusalem on behalf of the Hameri Havri's passengers.

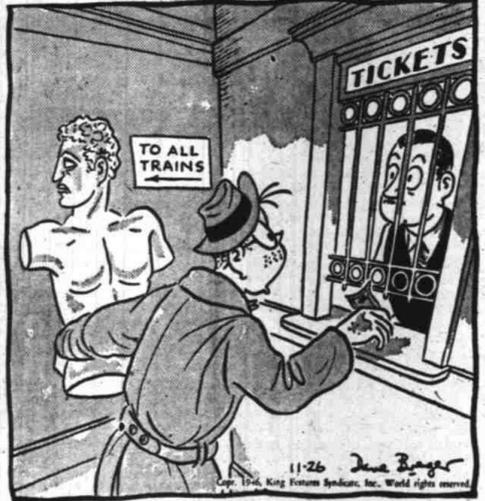

A writ granted Jewish attorneys requires the Palestine government to show cause by tomorrow why the refugees should be deported to detention camps on Cyprus in pursuance of a British policy instituted in mid-summer.

Upset Stomachs Yield Inches Of Gas And Bloat

"I was so full of gas I was afraid I'd burst. Sour, bitter substance rose up in my throat from my upset stomach after meals. I got INNER-AID, and it worked inches of gas and bloat from me. Waistline is way down now. Meals are a pleasure. I praise Inner-Aid to the sky."—This is an actual testimonial and we can verify it.

INNER-AID is the new formula containing medicinal juices from 12 Great Herbs; these herbs cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering—Get Inner-Aid. Sold by all drug stores here in Big Spring. (adv.)

Hubbard Cites Need For More Teacher Pay

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—There's only one real answer to the teachers shortage problem in Texas, says President L. H. Hubbard of Texas College for Women.

That's more pay.

The Denton educator was here for a meeting of the commission on teacher education of the Association of American Colleges. He represented all southwestern colleges of the association on the 12-member commission.

"The public has to be awakened to the grave problem facing the youth of America," Dr. Hubbard said. "The same situation exists in all parts of the country. Right now the pay for teachers is so low, relatively, that almost any able-bodied man can make more working in any of scores of jobs requiring little or no educational background such as that demanded in the teaching profession."

"The responsible citizens of each community must realize the long-run effect this situation is going to have on the youth of the country, and do something about it. Of course, that may mean increased taxation to provide increased pay, but can anyone question whether the men and women of tomorrow are worth it?"

Wolves Better Avoid Co-Eds Like These

CINCINNATI, O. (UP)—Co-eds at the University of Cincinnati are going to be tough to handle from now on.

Jim Baker, an ex-Marine, is teaching the weaker sex the gentle art of bending bones.

Baker, a former Marine judo champ, has classes in judo at U.C. every Monday.

Baker says women are good judo pupils. He explains that hips are important in judo — and he says that most women have them.
