WALK ACROSS TEXAS

On any given day in Eastland County, you are probably seeing more and more people walking. They may be part of the "Walk Across Texas" program initiated by the Texas AgriLife Extension Service. Walk Across Texas is a fun way to become more active. Local groups in Eastland County have formed teams. The teams began walking and logging their miles on May 4th. Each team has set a goal to Walk Across Texas in eight (8) weeks, which is about 830 miles total. First Place Team is The Fellowship of Traveling Feet with an outstanding 743.36 miles. Second Place Team is Soup-R-Stars with an impressive 533.4 miles. In third place is the Sole Stompers with 411.5 miles. There will be a Walk Across Texas Celebration on July 22nd with a Lunch N' Learn at the Eastland County Courthouse beginning at 12:00 Noon. Prizes will be awarded to the top teams. If you have any questions about Walk Across Texas, please contact Ha-lee Mitchell at (254) 629-2222.

FREEDOM FEST - RISING STAR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Rising Star Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the annual FREEDOM FESTIVAL on July 4th at the city park beginning at 4pm. There will be three days of community-wide garage sales beginning on Thursday. There is a $3.00 registration fee to be on a map of all the sales. Registration and the maps will be available to all shoppers at City Hall.

There will be a parade at 6PM starting at the high school and festivities at the park will begin at the same time. The GRAND FINALE will be the fireworks display beginning at dark. Remember what a huge success this program was last year! Events at the park prior to the fireworks include music, Freedom Train for children's rides, display by the Sons of the Confederacy, ice cream freeze-off and inflatable games for the kids. In addition to the aircastle, a water game will be added this year which should be great fun for the youngsters. The local Fire Department plans to be on hand with games and demonstrations. Hot dogs and all the trimmings will be available so bring the family out for a fun time!

The Fireworks show last year was one of the best in this part of the state and we appreciate the people made donations to make this happen. The Chamber welcomes businesses and individuals who would like to help again this year. Donations can be made at several local businesses, First Financial Bank, and Judy Green at City Hall.

7th Annual Eastland County G. E. D. Graduation

The seventh (7) annual G.E.D. Graduation Ceremony was held on Tuesday evening, May 27, 2008 at Siebert Elementary School Cafeteria in Eastland. Adults going through the graduation ceremony passed their G.E.D. at Cisco Junior College during the last twelve (12) months. This ceremony was sponsored by Texas AgriLife Extension Service, Eastland County in conjunction with the Eastland County G.E.D. Task Force.

Program introduction was given by Halee Mitchell, County Extension Agent-Family and Consumer Sciences. She told the history of the Eastland County Study classes and thanked volunteer tutors and agencies who helped make this opportunity available to adults in the area. Special thanks was given to the First Baptist Church of Eastland for allowing the G.E.D. study classes to use their facilities and for providing child care. The invocation was given by Mike Parsons, G.E.D. tutor. An inspirational and motivational commencement address was given by Guy Earle, Associate Pastor at First Baptist Church of Eastland. County Judge Rex Fields and State Representative Jim Keffer presented the Certificates of Completion from State Representative Jim Keffer to the graduates. Link Harris, Counselor at Cisco Junior College, presented each graduate with a letter from the Cisco Junior College President and a $250.00 scholarship.

Approximately 33 adults in Eastland County passed the G.E.D. (General Educational Development) Test within the last year at Cisco Junior College. The following eleven adults participated in the graduation ceremony: Cathy Craig, Tamra Drake, Dolores Eutimio, Jessica Funderburg, Jessie Joyner, Leslie Lewis, Candace McCullough, Trina O'Neal, Flor Oxford, Billie Noble and Chrystal Taylor. Congratulations to all the graduates and best wishes for a bright and successful future. For more information about upcoming Fall G.E.D. Study sessions, please contact Halee Mitchell, Texas AgriLife Extension Service Office at 254/629-2222. For more information about taking the G.E.D. Deadline for Livestock Compensation Program and Livestock Indemnity Programs

Livestock producers have until July 18, 2008, to enroll in the 2005 - 2007 Livestock Compensation Program and Livestock Indemnity Program. Signup began on September 10, 2007, for the two programs which provide aid to livestock producers who suffered eligible livestock or livestock feed losses between Jan. 1, 2005, and Dec. 31, 2007.

LIP provides payments to eligible livestock owners and contract growers who incurred the death of livestock because of a natural disaster. LCP provides payments to eligible livestock owners and producers who had feed losses or increased feed costs because of a natural disaster.

More information about LCP and LIP is available online at: <http://disaster.fsa.usda.gov>. For more information on FSA programs, visit your local USDA Service Center or the agency's Web site <http://www.fsa.usda.gov>.

ACREAGE REPORTING

Acreage reporting time will soon be here. Filing an accurate acreage report for all crops and land uses, including failed acreage and prevented planting acreage, can prevent the loss of benefits for a variety of programs.

Failed acreage must be reported within 15 days of the disaster event and before disposition of the crop. Prevented planting must be reported no later than 15 days after the final planting date.

Acreage reports are required for many Farm Service Agency programs. For crops other than NAP (Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program) crops, acreage reports must be certified by the May 1 deadline on small grains and a July 15 deadline on all other crops.

Last week we talked about the importance of setting goals; success and achievement depend on clearly stated goals and subsequent follow-through. No one, regardless of status in life or degree of difficulties is incapable of achieving success in their lifetime. However, it is important how we measure success! What standard do we use? To whom or what do we compare the accomplishments of our lives? It is essential that one has a clear understanding of what success is.

Perhaps the first step in understanding success is to know what success is not. "In 1923, a group of the world's most successful financiers met at a Chicago hotel. Among those present were the president of the largest independent steel company in the world, the president of the New York Stock Exchange, the president of the Bank of International Settlements, and the head of the world's greatest monopoly at that time. Together these tycoons of the business world controlled more wealth than the treasure of the United States, which at the time was based on the gold standard. For years the media had been printing and talking about the success stories of these wealthy men." (Strand, "Moments for Graduates")

These men were admired, loved, and I'm sure envied by all who did not perceive themselves as having obtained success of their caliber. No doubt there were many enterprising hopefuls that longed to be in their shoes. However, as we look at these men years later, we realize a very sobering truth. Treasures that are laid up here are susceptible to corruption and loss and fail miserably in bringing true happiness to one's existence.

Charles Schwab was the president of the largest independent steel company in the world. Twenty-five years after the meeting in Chicago, he lived on borrowed money for the last five years of his life and died penniless. "Incidentally, he was the first man in American history to draw an annual salary of $1 million. Arthur Cutten, the greatest and most successful of commodity speculators, died abroad in dire poverty. Richard Whitney, the president of the New York Stock Exchange, was sentenced to serve a term in Sing Sing Prison. Albert Fall, who was a member of the president's Cabinet, was pardoned from prison so he could die at home. Leon Fraser, president of the Bank of International Settlement, ended his life by committing suicide. Ivar Kreuger, the head of the world's then greatest monopoly, put an end to the misery of his life by committing suicide." (Strand)

So, what went wrong? How could these men, who had no doubt set many goals, worked long hours, saved, disciplined themselves for success, meet the particular ends listed here? Perhaps in all of their acquisitions they somehow overlooked that life is much more than the accumulation of wealth and fame and other accomplishments, which appear to be so gratifying. What exactly are you looking at today? What is the one thing that you think would make you so happy if you could just have it?

Our goals will only bring happiness and success if they are founded upon the principles of God's Word. Jesus still has the right perspective on life.

Today's Quote: Some men think they have made a success of life when all they have made is money! - Anonymous

Today's Verse: And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth. Luke 12:15 basically says, Beware! Don't always be wishing for what you don't have. Because real life and real living are not related to what we possess. Jthjr77

Pig Tales From Hogtown

Thank you to all who attended our usual first Saturday 'Breakfast at the DAC.' The accompanying picture shows 2 gentlemen who came to eat with us. Let me tell you a little about them.

On the left is Dannis Lozano from Dublin. Dannis came to our craft show in April as a vendor - he does beautiful wood turning and etching. Just over a year ago, he started going to area nursing homes to teach the folks there how to make ink pens. This activity he enjoyed so much that he has now expanded to 14 homes in the area. This spring, Dannis was awarded the Jefferson Award, which is given to folks who volunteer their time to help others. There were 7 of these awards given in Texas this year and others given across the country. On June 16, Dannis and his family fly to Washington D.C. where he will be in the running for the Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis award. Good luck, Dannis! Woodcraft Magazine is going to feature Dannis in its Oct/Nov issue as a follow-up to an earlier story. Please watch for that.

The gentleman on the right in the picture is Don Hurley from London, England. Don made his living as a journalist and traveled all over the world in that capacity. He is a very interesting man to talk to and a true Texan at heart! He told of his family and neighbors sleeping in the subways of London during World War II to escape the German bombs that rained down on the city every night. On Saturdays the movie theater would open and show westerns for the children. He and his buddies always yearned to come to Texas because of the blue skies and the good guys in white hats shown in the movies. Those Saturday movies helped them get through the awful days of the war. A chance meeting in Spain 10 years ago brought him in contact with David Williams of Ranger. They became friends and Don has visited David and his father, Leo each year since. We are looking forward to Don's next visit to Desdemona, which will be in July.

And speaking of July, the DAC old-fashioned ice cream social will be held July 12 from 5:30 P.M. until 9:00 P.M. We will serve homemade ice cream and cookies at about 7:00 P.M. Come and play games with our new sports equipment and listen to some music. Our favorite band, Dr. Dan and the Band-Aids, will be here as will a wonderful gospel group from Eastland by the name of Redeemed. The Band-Aids may have a little English flavor if Don makes it back in time - he plays guitar also.

While you are at the DAC, take a look at the Tree of Life, which was presented, to us in remembrance of Bob & Merlene Wisdom. For a donation of $100 you may have one of the leaves engraved and added to the tree.

This little piggy has a very red face - I must apologize to the Tucker family. I inadvertently gave credit for beautiful little Zoe to Steve & Michele Tucker. It should have been SCOTT & Michele Tucker. The Tuckers are a great family and have assured me that I didn't cause a riot in the family. I am sorry for the mix-up.

See you in Desdemona!

Senior Citizens News By Carol Ward

We Enjoyed a great group of 32 people at our weekly lunch on Wednesday the 4th. Jud Maxfield honored us by giving the blessing of our food. Our Meal consisted of Meat Loaf, Pork Chops, 2 kinds of potatoes, Macaroni and Cheese, 3 kinds of beans, succatash, salad, etc. We had too many carbs and not enough Veggies. Our Desserts were low also. Ann Maxfield did make a delicious banana pudding!! We all enjoyed so, thanks Ann. Estelle Lindley brought her wonderful pie, a pecan and raisen. We also had a couple of cakes. Betty Regian made hot rolls and cornbread.

The Medway Home Health people were here from De Leon to check our BP and BS. They come on 1st Wednesday of the month. We certainly appreciate their service to us. I do hope the majority of you will let them check your vitals.

We were saddened by the passing of Opal Burton on June 3rd. The Lord knew it was time, and now she is not in pain any more. She passed away on her Wedding Anniversary. I'm sure her husband Arlen was happy to have her back with him. The lunch meal was hosted by Billy and Betty Dennis in their lovely home.

Daisy Slaton and I attended the Breakfast in Desdemona on Saturday the 7th. They do serve a great breakfast, the sausage, gravy and biscuits especially good. Also good to visit with old friends and new. We then traveled to Stephenville to do some shopping. I needed a new dress for my Granddaughters Wedding in September. There were no dresses to be had at Penny's in my size. So on to Beall's, where I found two on the Sale Rack!! So glad to have that over with. I do hate to shop in the heat. After the Wal-Mart experience, we could hardly wait to be home.

I called Barbara, Wynogene Smith's daughter, to find out how she is doing. Wynogene is having many problems and has not been able to be with us on Wednesday dinner. We miss her being with us and do hope she can return some day. This coming week-end she will go to spend some time with her daughter Debra in Georgetown. Hopefully her Dr. down there can help her to improve.

I also talked with Anne Fay Foster. She sounded good and getting around the house more. She also attended Church this last Sunday the 8th. Wonderful! Such a blessing for her. Her family are so good to look after her and carry her places when needed. I do hope and pray she can come back some day on Wednesday.

Ann Laminack and Ellen Parker were here with us. So good to see them, had been awhile. We enjoy these new people and hope they can be here every week. Ellen has been coming on game night, enjoy her. We missed Ann Warren and Jo Holdman on the 5th as they were under the weather. We did have 11 attend game night, all had a good time.

Hope all is well and see you next time -- Carol.

UNITED STATES SENATOR, TEXAS

Removing VA Debt from our Fallen Heroes

President Abraham Lincoln best described our enduring commitment to soldiers when, on behalf of a grateful nation, he promised "to care for him who shall have borne the battle." Caring for the health and well-being of those who fought to defend freedom continues to be one of the federal government's most solemn responsibilities. The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) was created in 1930 to coordinate federal efforts to provide veterans the very best in health care, to make a quality education available to service members, and to help our heroes return to civilian life.

As Ranking Member of the committee that provides funding for veterans programs, I am proud that we have increased the current VA budget to a record-level $87.6 billion, up 28 percent from $68.2 billion in FY2006. This is mostly focused on improving our health care system and addressing the needs of today's soldier returning from Iraq and Afghanistan.

There are also policy changes that must be made to address the needs of our veterans who are returning from the War on Terror.

One is the forgiveness of VA debts that are owed by the courageous service men and women who lost their lives in combat. Currently, the VA Secretary is required by law to notify the family of the deceased of the outstanding debt and attempt to collect it. In January, I introduced legislation to remove this debt collection. After all, the families who have lost loved ones in combat have surely paid enough and are owed our deepest gratitude for their sacrifice.

But to date, of the thousands of families whose child, parent or spouse was killed fighting for our freedom in Iraq or Afghanistan, there are 22 whose grief has been compounded by this insensitive requirement. Together, the federal debts owed by the 22 fallen service members totaled a mere $56,366. In most of these cases, the debt came in the form of education benefit payments being used for college, when they were called to active duty.

Three instances of this debt collection occurred in Texas. One fallen hero was a brave soldier from Raymondville, who was a star athlete and an exemplary student in high school. Even though he had already been accepted to a prestigious university, this young man deferred college to serve his country in the U.S. Army. While serving on his third tour of duty in Iraq, his life was cut short by a sniper's bullet. Though I have no doubt his family received an outpouring of love, support, and gratitude, they also received a $389 bill for education assistance the fallen soldier had incurred prior to his death.

A second case in Texas involved an Army Sergeant from Missouri City. After contributing several years of service in the U.S. Marine Corps, this young man again felt the call of duty and enlisted in the Army. He balanced his service with efforts to further his education, and attended two different colleges with the help of VA education benefits. He interrupted his education when he was deployed to help fight the War on Terror. After serving one tour in Afghanistan, he was on a second tour in Iraq when he was killed by a bomb. Because he took a leave from school to fulfill his military service, he had $2,282 in outstanding VA education assistance payments. This financial burden fell on the shoulders of the wife and four children he left behind.

Another Texas hero was a Marine reservist and graduate of Texas A&M University. He, too, financed his education with VA assistance and aspired to become a cardiovascular surgeon. While fighting bravely in Iraq, he was killed in a violent blast. A letter attempting to collect $845 in education assistance payments arrived shortly before his wife, raising their two small children, was notified of his death.

There are families who have been similarly encumbered in Wisconsin, North Carolina, Illinois, Iowa, Connecticut, Nebraska, Colorado, Michigan, Washington, California, New York, Kentucky, Georgia and South Carolina. In nearly all instances, the families paid these debts. The widow from Missouri City, Texas bravely stated, "It was the right thing to do." Now, Congress must do the right thing by lifting this unfair burden from the families who have already paid so much, and ensuring no family is asked to pay a VA debt in the future.

On May 22, the Senate passed my VA Debt Elimination Act, which, if passed by the House and signed by the President, will stop this unconscionable practice by changing the provision in law that requires the VA to seek the collection of eligible debts from grieving military families. It is retroactive to September 11, 2001, so not a single fallen hero in the War on Terror or any future conflict suffers this inequity. To his credit, the Secretary of Veterans Affairs, Dr. James Peake, personally requested the law be changed. I had the bill ready within one week of his request.

We must constantly seek to improve the way our government honors those service members who made the ultimate sacrifice, as well as the families they left behind who have made silent sacrifices to safeguard liberty at home and throughout the world.

Kay Bailey Hutchison is the senior Senator from Texas and the Ranking Member on the Senate Military Construction and Veterans Affairs Appropriations Subcommittee.
