Old-Time Bargains For Shoppers

Muleshoe City Councilmen met in regular session Tuesday morning with a short agenda to handle.

After reading and approving the minutes of the last meeting a discussion was held on the new type of furniture to be purchased for the new city hall.

Approval was given the Square Thru's, a local square dance organization to hold a dance at the Mule Memorial site on July 4th following the fireworks display.

Preceding the big July 4th Celebration, yet serving as openers for the big day will be the Sidewalk Sale which will be held on Thursday, July 3, from noon to 6 p.m.

Merchants are busy preparing tables of merchandise to be sold from the sidewalk in front of their respective business during the afternoon. Special prices are being arranged for many items during the sale, and some of the merchants will feature part of their merchandise at 'old-time' prices.

Earl Harris, who is chairman of the event, said he expects to participate in the highly popular yearly event. He said early indications are for a top sale, even more so than in past years.

Sponsoring the sale will be the Businessmen Activities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce with Harris spearheading the planning.

Sales personnel, managers and store owners will be appropriately attired for the occasion, with most of them wearing either pioneer or western clothing.

Harris said plaques will be awarded to the store with the best participation in the sale and to the best dressed individual for the afternoon.

Thursday's edition of the Muleshoe Journal will be full of advertisements from participating merchants and will feature some of the low prices which will be offered during the sale.

Lubbock Arrests Of Two Men Clears Cases

The arrest in Lubbock of two men recently cleared two burglary cases in Muleshoe.

Gary Dale Earnest and William Deubler, both of Lubbock, were indicted by the grand jury which met in Muleshoe Thursday on burglary. Their recent arrest in Lubbock brought a rash of holds of the two men from numerous counties surrounding Lubbock County.

Sheriff Dee Clements got a statement from each of the men on the burglary of Piggly Wiggly on April 14, 1968 and Western Drug on July 6, 1968.

Bond was set for the men at $2,000 on each of the two cases filed.

Western Wear Encouraged June 29-July 5

Pull grandma's dress out of the closet... get out those western boots and bonnets.

The week of June 29 - July 5 is being proclaimed 'Western Week' in the area and each and every person is encouraged to wear western attire all week.

It is relatively simple and inexpensive to make a pioneer dress. Calico is not expensive and easy to handle and care for say those who have made such dresses in the past.

One suggested idea has been for husband and wives to have dresses and shirts of the same type of material for the big celebrations coming up early in July, beginning with the Sidewalk Sale on July 3 and finishing with the big annual celebration on July 4.

Ties and bonnets boosting the celebration are available from the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Chamber Manager Jerry Hutton urges everyone to get in on the fun.

Police activity in recent days have included one arrest by Bailey County Sheriff's officers for traffic and drunk; an AWOL, theft and fugitive, using the driver's licence of another and permitting a driver's license to be used by the Texas Highway Patrol logged in the books and a charge of assault, simple assault, two drunk and one AWOL by the Muleshoe City Police.

Hollie and Kathleen Francis and Mart are spending a couple of months at Tacoma, Washington with their son and daughter-in-law, Jim and Lynn Francis. They are enjoying trips to British Columbia, to Mt. Ranier and into the Olympic rain forest.

Mrs. Johnnie Westbrook traveled to Colorado Spring, Colorado with Mrs. Black to visit her sick brother. June 20 Jack Schuster flew to Denver to visit Brenda Black. He returned to Muleshoe with Mrs. Black Tuesday.

In spite of rain and hail, they reported a good time in Colorado.

Williams & Merriman Add New Equipment

The office of Williams & Merriman, Certified Public Accountants, has added a fantastic new piece of equipment to their office. The new equipment is an IBM 360 Model 20 Computer. Placed in a U-shape in one of the offices, the computer sorts and feeds 500-600 cards a minute into the computer for information to be digested, sorted, memorized and printed out at the rate of 289 lines a minute. These lines are more than 14 inches long, too.

Showing much enthusiasm about the new computer, Alex Williams explained the functions and workings of the machine.

Emphasizing that the fantastic computer can be programmed to do so much more than just use in the office at Williams & Merriman, Williams said it will be used to accumulate information for the purposes of record keeping for businessmen and individuals.

It will keep and record general ledgers and journals; budgeted financial statements; payroll records, including writing of payroll checks, accounts receivable records and monthly statements; record inventory records; keep accounts payable; prepare tax rolls and statements without the use of computations by individuals and keep farm records, utilizing crop cost, etc.

He explained that the computer will take information from records and recapitulate it in a way that is almost impossible to be done by hand.

When asked the reason for acquiring such a machine for his office, he stated that the main reasons were for speed, accuracy, detail and expanded records which were heretofore unable to be kept.

Williams said, "A program can be written for an individual, business or other purposes and when fed into the machine it gives the machine instructions as to the actions it should take on the transactions that will be found in following the program.

"All this is done through a system of punched cards. When the cards are properly punched the machine reads, stores and acts on information as instructed or performs an operation on the information that it reads from the card."

Norma Bruce and Kay Mardis are the machine operators and Alex Williams, Dave Suduth and Creston Faver also attended school to learn the operation of the new computer.

Rainbow Girls Dispense Hospitality, Lemonade

As a service to the community, the Rainbow Girls are 'keeping house' at the Muleshoe Memorial, dressed in pinafore and wide smiles, and greeting travelers who stop at the Memorial. They pass out brochures prepared by the Muleshoe Industrial Foundation, Harmon Elliott, Chairman, and serve old fashioned lemonade from a keg. Using the opportunity to talk to anyone who stops, they dispense information about Muleshoe and the surrounding territory and find, in return, they are having many delightful experiences. Some of the tourists make movies of the girls and others record conversations on tape recorders.

The Rainbow Girls find the tourists are enjoying the genuine chuck wagon loaned for the memorial site by John Fried. It is becoming a common sight to see small boys perched in the driver's seat, pretending to be driving a team of mules, with an expression of pure pleasure to delight the heart.

Schedules have been made by Miss Charlotte Davis, Worthy Advisor, for the summer, from June 15 to August 15. Girls who will be working one of the shifts from ten to twelve or from two to five in the afternoon, are: Charlotte Davis, Annette Williams, Kathy Williams, Sue Pylant, Prisca Young, Debbie Kerr, Christi Ford, Tracy Cowan, Kim Cowan, Debra Rudd, Debbie Burrows, Darla Kendall, Kathy Seymour, Kathleen Jennings, Cynthia Puckett, Treana Bryant, Debbie McDaniel, Delinda Heary, Martha Jane Chapman, Jan Jinks, Gayla Hooten, Faith Free, Rhonda Stevenson, Jana Oyler, Debra Lynn Dunbar, Cindy Cason, Linda Lambert, Melita King, and Beverly McCamish.

The program was instigated by Mrs. Wayne Williams and Mrs. Melvin Seymour, said Mrs. Kerr, the Mother Advisor.

The girls are enjoying their work at the project, it is reported, and in addition to the service they render the community, they are learning the proper way to erect and lower the American flag, and, indeed, are learning about their own community.

The hospitality dispensed by the Rainbow Girls at the Muleshoe Memorial is a separate service; than that of the Muleshoe Ambassador-ettes. The Ambassador-ettes greet tourists who are stopped by local police and given surprise courtesies during their stay in Muleshoe.

The Rainbow Girls have been selling gourd drinking cups which they have made and would appreciate any gourds which persons might wish to donate to them.

Weird Visitors At Gatewoods

From time immemorial, bats have been subject of 'old wives' tales, surrounded by deep mystery, some fear and a lot of loathing.....

Strange noises just outside the window at night are not exactly pleasant, either.....combining the two, it becomes downright repellent.

The J.C. Gatewood had three unwelcome visitors the other night. Hearing a noise at the bathroom window, Zona raised the curtain to peer into the darkness and came face to face with three outspread bats clinging between the window and screen.

Gatewood released the little mammals and then later tried to find where they had gone, but nothing more has been seen of them since.

Zona said she had seen some at the home of her parents, the W.T. Millens, ten or fifteen years ago, but none since and does not know where these came from.

A riot of color and fabrics make a new fashion for summer in fisheswishes skirts. Most of them are voluminous garments, long and bouffant--although some designs are quite short but also sporting layers of skirts.

Are you out of time and out of energy and out of goodies to serve your friends and family? Muleshoe Study Club proposes to end your dilemma? As one of their money raising projects for the year, the Club will hold a Bake Sale on the sidewalk in front of Cobb's Department store July 3, from ten in the morning until.....

Mrs. J.C. Arnin is finance chairman of the Club and her committee assumes the responsibility for securing funds to support the Muleshoe area Public Library and for giving an annual scholarship to some graduating senior girl as they have done the past several years. Last year the scholarship was won by Miss Beth Black, who is now an honor student at Eastern New Mexico University. Because of the loyal support given to the Library and because club members were the first to push for the establishment of a modern library, Muleshoe Study Club is considered the 'mother club' of the Library.

Special orders for baked goods may be called in to Mrs. Arnin or any member of the club before July 3. The club also provides this service throughout the year for special occasions and hopes it will be remembered when baked goods are needed.

"I DO" MAKES IT RIGHT

Dear Amy: I am writing because I disagree with the answer you gave 'D. E.' who asked where she could get the 'pill' because she is having an affair and is not married. You said that the pill was not created for the single girl.

The only reason that I can think of against sex outside of marriage is the possibility of pregnancy which would bring into the world a person without purpose.

By all means, the pill should be for everyone. Sex is here for us all to take part in, not just certain people who have had a few words mumbled over them by a preacher.

Naomi (Roselle, N. J.)

Dear Naomi: If every single girl thought like you, we would have a generation of immoral girls who would have traded the purity they should bring their future husbands for the unsatisfying experience of promiscuity.

I'm sorry, dear, but the 'pill' was created for married couples to enable them to practice Planned Parenthood. Call me puritanical, narrow-minded or whatever you wish, but sex outside of marriage is unacceptable in our society. It isn't worth the risks when you consider what you stand to gain against what you stand to lose.

There is no 100 percent fool-proof way to avoid pregnancy. And anyone who thinks so is mistaken!

Dear Amy: Referring to a recent letter from "Melissa," I would like to pass on a message as to where to get help.

She should immediately contact her nearest Alateen group and her mother should contact her nearest Alateen group. It is usually hard for a troubled wife to get up the courage to go anywhere new, same for the teenagers, so members call for those needing their help.

"Melissa's" father is showing the usual mental deterioration which starts after about 3-4 years of hard drinking and gets worse faster from now on, with the usual increase in car and other accidents, worse mental and physical cruelty to the family, eventual police trouble, etc. Alcoholics cannot be helped by anyone, particularly family, no matter how loving and well meaning. Patience only prolongs the drinking.

Alateen and Alateen provides expert advice and information. (The result of many years statistics and medical studies.) Members are the ONLY people who understand what alcoholics' families are going through because they have all been down the same path themselves, the whole nasty mess. New members usually come as shaking, scared, untidy messes, but even after one meeting when they suddenly learn real help and understanding is there immediately, they begin to find their way back to their own common sense and balance and can see what they have to do for what is best for THEMSELVES and their CHILDREN.

Alanon and Alateen, not knowing where to turn for help, you could do much good by visiting your own nearest Alcoholics Anonymous group and Alanon and Alateen, and keeping on hand some of the many pamphlets available from them to send to people.

It is surprising, if one has not been through it, that most people suffer, sometimes years, without finding out that concrete, immediate relief is right at hand when you know where to look.

The mental suffering of wives and children of alcoholics is very damaging but if Alanon is found in time it can be kept from being either permanent or needing psychiatric help to correct.

I am just beginning such help myself, having stayed far too long connected with my husband. It could have been avoided if I had been better informed sooner.

I've Been There

Dear Bebe There: Some years ago, for my tireless efforts in helping alcoholics, I was made an honorary member of A.A.

You and I know that help is readily available to those who want help and it's free for the asking simply by contacting Alcoholics Anonymous. They are listed in every phone directory.

Editorial Nixon's Attack

The attack President Richard Nixon launched on Vietnam war critics (and ABM system critics) in a recent speech at Colorado Springs is the first utterance from the new President which has stirred deep and widespread resentment on Capitol Hill.

War critics say the President, in warning of a new wave of isolationism, is setting up straw men to knock off in a campaign to win approval for the anti-missile rocket defense system and present Vietnam war policies. They deny there is a single isolationist in the Senate.

Some claim that what is sweeping the country is not a new wave of isolationism but a demand that the nation's priorities be changed from massive investment in Vietnam, with a loss of American lives, to massive investment in the United States, and a consequent saving of lives.

Considering the fact that about half the membership of the Senate is concerned over the ABM controversy, and also the fact that a majority of both houses is Democratic, Mr. Nixon has risked ending a period of tolerance or waiting which has thus far protected him from bitter, personal attacks.

It remains to be seen whether Nixon's Air Force Academy speech was the beginning of a bolder, tougher line from the President, in behalf of foreign and defense proposals. If it is, coming months will become more stormy and controversial and in the immediate future, at least, the President will probably lose more than he gains.

From Congressman
BOB PRICE

As one of his last official opinions as Chief Justice, before retirement, Earl Warren's decision on the Adam Clayton Powell case was characteristic: he ignored the Constitution which it was his job to interpret. In a 62-page opinion written by Warren, the Court ruled that the House exceeded its authority in refusing to seat the Harlem Congressman whose repeated violations of court orders and erratic behavior in office are public knowledge.

I say the Court ignored the Constitution for this reason: Article I, Section 5 states that "each House may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior and, with the concurrence of two thirds, expel a member." I do not see how it could be stated any more clearly. But the Court resorted to a strange reading of its own that the above section applied only in cases of dispute over age, residency, and citizenship. In both spirit and exact wording, it seems to me, the Constitution is very specific on this point.

In a few days the present Chief Justice will retire and Judge Warren Burger will assume office. I have great confidence in the past record of Judge Burger. He comes to this great office at a time of loss of public confidence in the Court, but he has a great opportunity to invest the court with the impartial and objective majesty upon which rule by law depends. I have confidence he can accomplish this.

THE MAJOR LEGISLATION considered by the House this week was the Public Health Cigarette Smoking Act. It was passed on Wednesday by a voice vote after defeat of an attempt to recommit the bill to committee. This was what I could call "iceberg" legislation in that the issue was bigger than what appeared on the surface. Looking at the bill itself it appeared merely to extend present requirements that cigarette packages contain a warning to the effect that cigarette smoking may be dangerous to one's health. There were no violent objections to this on the part of the cigarette industry. What was important, however, was a section of the bill which warned the Federal regulatory agencies that Congress intended to hold sole prerogative to decision making with regard to the advertising of cigarettes. The Federal Communications Commission had indicated earlier that it intended to ban all advertising of cigarettes on radio and television stations, and the Federal Trade Commission had publicly announced its intent to require its own health warning of cigarette packages. So what Congress' action this week amounted to was a warning to the FTC and the FCC that it intended to write public policy on the cigarette controversy and it didn't need the regulatory agencies to get into the act.

We don't grow tobacco in the Panhandle, of course. But this issue is of great importance to the agricultural industry. Once the regulatory agencies have had their fun with cigarettes, will other agricultural products be next: high-cholesterol products for instance? I think it is extremely dangerous to establish a precedent whereby a Federal regulatory agency can dictate which law-abiding businessmen may advertise their products and which may not. If cigarette smoking is dangerous there are other ways of taking care of it without relegating such life-and-death economic power to the Federal bureaucracy.

Earlier this week the House Agriculture Committee met to consider legislation designed to help more rural communities finance water and sewage disposal projects. During the course of testimony by Jim Smith, the new Administrator of the Farmers Home Administration, the subject of H.R. 11547 and H.R. 11604 came up. These are bills I introduced this session to improve the FHA loan program. The first bill would increase from $60,000 to $100,000 the principal indebtedness limitation for farm ownership loans; and increase from $35,000 to $50,000 the limitation for operating loans. In view of changed economic agricultural conditions, I believe the proposed new ceiling would be more realistic. H.R. 11604 provides that FHA operating loans will be insured in the same manner as other FHA programs. I was glad to have the chance to discuss this legislation with Mr. Smith and to call it to the attention of the committee.

Revenue Bond Voting Law Incalidated

Texas Secretary of State Martin Dies, Jr., said today that the United States Supreme Court's decision in a Louisiana case last week has invalidated a Texas law which restricts voting in revenue bond elections to property owners.

By statute of the Secretary of State is the chief election officer of Texas and is responsible for obtaining and maintaining uniformity in the application, operation and interpretation of the state's election laws.

On Monday of last week the United States Supreme Court struck down a Louisiana law which gave only property taxpayers the right to vote in elections called to approve the issuance of revenue bonds by a municipal utility, on the ground that it violated the equal protection clause of the Federal Constitution because it excluded otherwise qualified voters who were as substantially affected and directly interested in the matter voted upon as those who were permitted to vote.

The Texas Constitution contains a provision that only qualified electors who own property which has been duly rendered for taxation are eligible to vote in an election for the purpose of issuing bonds. The Supreme Court of Texas has interpreted this provision as applying to elections for issuing public utility bonds which are to be retired from revenues produced by the utility, as well as to elections for issuing bonds to be retired by levy of a property tax.

Secretary Dies said that the property ownership requirement could no longer be imposed in future elections for issuance of revenue bonds. He pointed out that the United States Supreme Court's decision applies only to revenue bond elections and that the court has not ruled on the validity of a property ownership requirement in a tax bond election.

At the end of this happy life, the man with the most money will find it means very little.

Military-Industrial a Friendly Goblin

BY PAUL HARVEY

Avowed enemies of our American institutions are always seeking to discredit them with raving or ridicule or by innuendo. Recently they have dug their teeth into the trousers of the so-called "military-industrial complex."

Some liberal members of Congress have aided and abetted their cause. Some Americans, frustrated by the dead-end war in Vietnam, have been willing to renounce anything military.

With most explanations for our continuing intervention in Vietnam tenuous, to say the least, it has been easy for some Americans to accept the idea that we persist in fighting wars because the Pentagon is in cahoots with rich industrialists who want to produce an endless stream of military hardware for purely mercenary reasons.

Thus the "complex" which has thus far protected us from our enemies is itself denounced as an enemy. Some critics jump to their own defense with: "Eisenhower said it..."

Then they quote, out of context, a remark by the late President in his farewell address in which he had sought to caution Congress not to abandon its watchdog responsibility on military spending.

The Senate-House economy-in-government subcommittee is presently considering the President's request for another $80 billion for "defense."

That sounds like a lot of money when he asks only $110 billion for all other government programs.

Yet the military share of our total budget is virtually unchanged over the past 10 years. Further, the House Armed Service Committee staff has surveyed voting records during the past fiscal year and finds no evidence of any relationship between the way a congressman voted and the defense complexion of his district.

So any sinister alliance of military and industry to perpetuate military spending is a hobgoblin created by persons either malicious or uninformed.

Dean Acheson, secretary of state under President Truman, called the present assault on the "military-industrial complex" a "witch hunt which could lead to a dangerous weakening of our national defense."

"The cliché about a military-industrial complex, moreover, is invidious to an honorable profession. To portray such individuals, by innuendo, as schemers against the national interest is misleading and unjust. I urge abandoning the foolish phrase once and for all."

There is an unmistakable wave of antimilitarism in the United States. It derives from high casualties, high taxes and low morale. Americans generally are suffering understandably from varying degrees of battle fatigue.

But about that, House Armed Service Committee Chairman L. Mendel Rivers (D.-S.C.) said this: "If the United States is overcommitted in the world, and made a mistake by getting involved in Vietnam, it was because of decisions by civilians, not military men." End quote and amen.

MUSKIE & NIXON
Senator Edmund S. Muskie has stated that he supported President Nixon's response to the downing of an U.S. intelligence plane by North Korea. However, he criticized Nixon's decision to go ahead with deployment of an antiballistic missile system.

INCOME EXPERIMENT SET
The Nixon Administration is making plans to go ahead with its guaranteed annual income experiment. It is reported the Department of Health, Education and Welfare wants to know how the families spend the money they receive.

WASHINGTON NOTES

S. KOREANS & M16 RIFLES

The Pentagon announced it is drawing up a plan to let South Korea produce the American M16 rifle. South Korea had asked permission to manufacture M16s to speed modernization of its homeland military forces facing an increasingly hostile North Korea.

WELFARE AND RESIDENCY

New regulations are being published in the Federal Register which entitle welfare recipients to immediate welfare in a state without established residency. States are required to give written notice to anyone denied welfare during the past year because of the old rule.

JOBS AND MILITARY CUT

Leonard A. Lecht, director of the national planning association's Priority Analysis, reports the nation's civilian goals could easily take up the unemployed of defense plants if defense spending is cut. A $1 billion cut in military spending may eliminate some 70,000 jobs but money shifted to civilian life could create more than 85,000 jobs.

POSTAL INCREASE?

President Nixon has asked Congress for a $635-million increase in postal rates and has proposed a one-cent boost in the cost of mailing a first-class letter. At the same time he promised a plan to reform the postal system which should be "an example of sound business practices."

COST STUDY GROUP

A Pentagon official has announced the Defense Department has organized a 100-man study group led by General Frank S. Besson Jr., head of the Army Materiel Command. The study is geared to make recommendations for improving efficiency and reducing costs in a major build-up in any future emergency.

ANTIDRUG DRIVE

The National Institute of Mental Health is conducting a nationwide information program during April. Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, director, said the program was designed to answer questions "with the facts as we know them." It will not be used as a threat or scare program.

New Planting Process To Reduce Costs

Early visual results of a planting process that could reduce the cost of annual seedbed preparation and substantially reduce the number of manhours required for establishing a crop looks encouraging at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway. Dennis Mooney, assistant agronomist, explained that the study involves planting cotton and grain sorghum in crop stubble that remain from last season's crop with no seedbed preparation.

In two separate studies underway at the Foundation, cotton has been planted single-row between two rows of grain sorghum stubble shredded to about 4 inches in height. Double-row sorghum has also been planted on cotton stubble with no seedbed preparation.

Mooney reports that the cotton in the study, planted May 19, looks as good as Foundation cotton planted a week earlier. One and one-half pints of Paraquat combined with 1.5 pounds of Caporal in 30 gallons of water were sprayed on the cotton immediately after planting to control weeds. Mooney said the contact herbicide provided 100 percent initial control, but that some regrowth has occurred recently.

The only problem encountered in planting in the sorghum stubble seedbed was trash preventing penetration of the double disk planter. Mooney solved this problem by putting a 6 inch sweep ahead of the planter to move this trash out of the way. In the sorghum study, 1.5 pounds of Propazine plus 1.5 pints of Paraquat in 30 gallons of water per acre were applied immediately after planting to control weeds. "For some unknown reason, the weed kill was not as effective in the cotton stubble as in the sorghum stubble", Mooney said. He pointed out that the herbicides effectively controlled small weeds, but the control of some larger weeds was not total in the sorghum study.

Wind and sand protection provided for the seedling cotton by the 4 inch grain sorghum stubble is expected to be the most important part of the entire study. Damage to seedling cotton by sand and wind is one of the greatest hazards faced by cotton producers and the sorghum stubble has so far provided complete protection. One explanation to the encouraging results is offered by Dr. Tom Longnecker, Foundation Director. He said that grain sorghum roots equal in weight the above ground part of the plant and these roots in the soil provide a better seedbed than can be produced by mechanical means.

"We are encouraged that this can become a practical way of planting cotton and sorghum in this area, thereby saving farmers the usual $15 to $18 per acre seedbed preparation cost", Longnecker said.

It is never a bad day that hath a good night. -John Ray.

Lubbock C of C To Sponsor An Open House

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce will sponsor an open house at the Lubbock State School for the Mentally Retarded today (Sunday, June 29) from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

The new state school, located on 220 acres of land in northern Lubbock, is a multi-million dollar complex with sixteen buildings completed. The new school is the answer to the great need for a school of this type in the West Texas area.

Lubbock was selected by a site selection committee, appointed by the State Board of State Hospitals and Special Schools, from eighteen West Texas cities. Beginning this year, the school will employ 235 persons or almost one employee for each full time patient. The figure will grow to 414 full time employees by 1971. The Lubbock state school will serve the entire West Texas region.

for a Better Tomorrow

Working, learning to sew... Now, something simple is being prepared and soon her own dresses, and in the future, clothing for her own family. Training is important in the lives of our children.

Spiritual training is a must in the lives of our young ones.

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Perry Threadgill, Medlock's pastor at University Baptist Church, Lubbock.

Shoes for spring are showing a great deal of open work. Some of the sandals are only kept on the foot by a few straps.

Other shoes are featured with openings on the side. These open spaces may be piped with a different leather or different colored leather.

But the pump is always the old standby and is still good. They may have bows, buckles or be plain. Heels seem slightly higher but continue to be sturdy.

Prayer Retreat Held At Muleshoe Ranch

Historic Muleshoe Ranch was the scene of a prayer retreat for forty Baptist ministers of the Lubbock Baptist Association Friday night, June 27, and Saturday morning.

Hosted by Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Medlock of Lubbock, owners of the ranch, the visitors were served huge barbecued steaks from wherever they could find seating—inside the ranch house, on the long screened porch or under the shade of the towering old trees, while four tall-wagging dogs looked longingly on.

Medlock, a Lubbock builder and former city councilman, is active in University Baptist Church, Lubbock.

On hand to greet the visitors were Muleshoe Ambassador-ettes Devona Bradley and Kathy McCormick; Chamber of Commerce Manager Jerry Hutton; R.A. Bradley, representing the Businessman's Activity Committee of the Chamber; and a representative of the Journal, Rev. Doyle Holmes, area superintendent of Missions of the Lubbock Baptist Association, was in charge of planning the retreat.

Rev. Hank Scott, chairman of Evangelism, is in charge of the spiritual preparation for the Central Crusade. He is pastor of Bacon Heights Baptist Church, Lubbock. Rev. Luther Mann, pastor of Applewood Baptist Church, Denver, Colorado, directed the prayer retreat, which was a part of the spiritual preparation for the final major emphasis, the Central Crusade to be held in Lubbock Coliseum September 23- October 5 at which time Baptist churches from all over the area will convene. The Crusade is a part of the emphasis Baptist Churches are engaging in this year called "Crusade of the Americas (South, Central, and North America, and Canada).

James Roberson of the James Roberson Evangelistic Association will be the evangelist, John McKay, also of the James Roberson Evangelistic Association, will be in charge of the music.

The next emphasis planned by the Association is for July 16 when a giant evangelistic rally will be held, with Dr. S.M. Lockridge, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church of San Diego, Calif. as preacher. This will

Condition Your Hair For Better Handling

HOW NOW

To color or not to color? That is the question.

And right now, you may be one of those women who is asking herself whether 'tis better to cover up the gray, become a blonde, or opt for a smashing auburn color.

If you stop hesitating and take the plunge. For one out of four American women regularly use haircoloring products, so why not join them and give yourself a new look?

Today it's both easy and inexpensive to haircolor right in your own home. And most importantly, it's safe.

Manufacturers have taken most of the risk and guesswork out of home hair coloring products. If you follow instructions exactly, you'll be delighted with your new hair shade.

Some women still have a few doubts about home hair coloring, here are some of the questions commonly asked.

Q. I've seen a number of brassy-looking dyed blondes. Will this happen to me?

A. Not if you use a coloring product with "quieter" ingredients. This special formula recreates the pure, natural, innocent color found in children's hair, and tones away that harsh look.

Q. My hair is very dry. Won't coloring make it even drier?

A. Just the opposite. Home hair coloring products contain conditioners to give hair extra body and manageability. If some dryness develops after repeated use, give yourself a conditioning cream treatment after your regular shampoo.

Q. How often must I repeat my hair coloring to maintain the color?

A. This depends on how fast your hair grows. For most women, hair coloring applications should be repeated about once every six weeks.

Q. My hair is presently color-treated. Can I shampoo color over it?

A. To eliminate the guesswork, take the strand test as described in manufacturer's instructions. Apply color to several strands of hair, then wait 24 hours. If there are no adverse effects, it is safe to proceed with overall coloring.

Wedding Gown Sewn By Six Angels

SOUTH DARTMOUTH, Mass. —Betsy Powell has a wedding dress she'll treasure more than most brides do.

Betsy and her new husband, John, met in Ecuador where both were Peace Corps Volunteers in a program helping local craftsmen find markets for their work. As she tells it:

"I worked in the town of Esperanza with an embroidery group, a jolly, industrious sixsome who became very good friends of mine. When John and I decided to get married, I wrote to them bemoaning the fact that we hadn't thought of it in time to have them make my dress.

"They got the letter on a Saturday, bought the material, made a dress and the six of them embroidered the rest of the day, all Sunday, and on Monday they mailed it off 'Urgent'. It arrived in time for the wedding, elaborately embroidered, unwashed, unhemmed and magnificent—a real gift of love."

The Powells were married in Maine and are now living in South Dartmouth, where John has his sculpting studio.

Among youngsters from Sudan taking swimming lessons at Crecent Pool, Littlefield, are Jeff Manning, Roy Don and Ray Dudgeon, Ron Amos, Joey Bellar, Randy Scott, John Chester, Jodies and Shawnda Vernon, Kimberley and Christie Humphreys, Cindy and Kimberley Powell, Debbie Hill.

Mrs. Lois White was hired high school math teacher at a recent meeting of the Sudan School Board of Trustees. Mrs. White is the wife of the Sudan Methodist minister, the Rev. Aubrey White.

W.E. Hancock, school superintendent stated that the increased enrollment of the elementary school will require the hiring of two additional teachers for the lower grades.

It was also announced sealed bids will be accepted at the next board meeting for the purchase and removal of the old bus barn and the west stands of the old football stadium. Further information can be obtained by contacting the school office during business hours.

The City of Sudan is sponsoring an all-out clean-up campaign beginning June 17 and continuing through the 30th.

According to Mayor Arnold Reed a specially developed fogging machine which is mounted on a pick-up and operated by one man has been purchased by the city.

He also stated that the same city ordinance that was enforced last year concerning vacant lots, will apply this year and is being put in motion. Property owners who do not clean up these lots will be charged for these services by the city.

The Rev. and Mrs. Aubrey White recently moved from Idalou to Sudan and he has assumed duties as pastor of the United First Methodist Church.

Rev. White, a graduate of McMurry College and the SMU Theological Institute, has been in the ministry for 29 years.
