"Daddy's Bible"

Daddy's Bible never collected dust like some folks you hear about. He read it every day. Yes, It was a masterpiece around our house. He valued it more than any possession he ever owned. He kept it on his table, He built it for his very own. Daddy was a Carpenter, Blacksmith, and a Farmer. When mother's faith grew weak, daddy's faith grew stronger. He would talk about the Saviour in his quiet and gentle way. Mother would listen eagerly to what he had to say. A fire in the fireplace glowing bright on long cold winter night, daddy sat at his table with a coal oil light. Studying his bible till break of morn, his family tucked in from winter's storm Yes, Daddy's bible was his hymn book, his book for every need, He kept it on his table for everyone to read. The days we'd have a rainbow, he would gaze up in the sky. That's a token of God's Love, a re-
