

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY.
If some folks would remember that it is easier to destroy character and reputation than it is to build one, there would be less gossiping.

Guilty Man Will Go To Prison For Five Years In Arkansas

By United Press.
WALNUT RIDGE, Ark., March 18.—Convicted today of the murder of Tom Scott here a year ago, Seymour Christie arose protesting his innocence to hear a 10-year prison sentence pronounced.
But the conscience of Tom Adkins, 25, would not be stilled. Rising to his feet in the rear of the courtroom, Adkins dramatically confessed that it was he who killed Scott, mistaking him for a man whom he thought too attentive to his wife.
Justice moved quickly to right the injustice that had almost been done to an innocent man. Court reopened and Adkins, who is an ex-service man, was sentenced to five years in prison on his confession while Christie, a few minutes before under a 10-year sentence, went free.
Adkins will be taken to Little Rock Friday to the penitentiary.

It is generally reported that the strikers and employers will come together soon and that the demands of the strikers will be partially met. It will be a give and take proposition with both sides.

DOCTOR HOLDS OUT NO HOPES FOR AGED MAN

By United Press.
PLYMOUTH, Vt., March 18.—Colonel John C. Coolidge may die before his son, president of the United States, can arrive from Washington, Dr. Albert A. Cram, physician to the president, told newspaper men here this afternoon. TNEHEMSOEW BIG MEANING DECIPHER IT

"TNEHEMSOEW" has a deep meaning. Decipher it and bring your answer to the Times and Telegram offices. When you decipher it you will find out the true intent of the message these cabalistic letters contain.
"I have been able to make out several combinations of letters giving me the word 'wee,'" remarked Eastland and Ranger women. But this combination is a hard one. "I know of no relative or friend in trouble. I have tried to read the message backward, but that spells 'woosee.' It's the most puzzling thing that I have run across in years."
Can't some reader help those two women of Ranger and Eastland solve the problem. It means a lot.
This paper would greatly appreciate any solution to the problem. Indeed, the management of the paper would be happy to see that a true interpretation of the message is suitably rewarded.
Get busy everybody and try your hand at the problem.

HEALTH NURSE KEPT ON JUMP PAST MONTH

Eight hundred first aid cases, 80 home calls, 30 pupils sent to doctor or dentist, five business calls, seven children taken to the doctor, 22 talks to room groups, and children weighed and measured in all schools, were some of the things enumerated in a report given by Miss Joyce Connally, Ranger's health nurse, to the Child Welfare club Tuesday.
Miss Connally reported that on account of the great number of cases of flu among the children, which had left most of them very debilitated, she had had to increase the milk list almost 50 per cent. In her talks to the different groups she has stressed the point of proper elimination, good, nourishing food at regular intervals, long hours of sleep and outdoor exercise, as the main factors in controlling the epidemic.
Miss Connally reported that during the month, examination in one room at Young school, she found 25 per cent of the children with defective eyes. Most of them showed infected tonsils or teeth. The teacher reported that half of these children were not making their grades. In another room of 22 children present, she found several cases of advance pyorrhea.
She also reported that in one or two cases where families were suffering from flu she had had to call on the club for financial assistance.

'MUCH ALIVE' IS MESSAGE OF SWEENEY

"Very much alive" was the report from Bob Sweeney's bedside, at his home in Panhandle, when George Armer of Ranger called up to verify a report circulated on the streets of Ranger today that Sweeney was dead.
Mr. Armer telephoned to the Times office immediately after talking to Mrs. Sweeney, who said that while Mr. Sweeney had been very low with flu he was better and "very much alive" and wanted his friends to know it.

LIGHT WINES CONSIDERED BY SENATE

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, March 18.—A special senate committee met today to decide whether a special hearing on the modification of the Volstead act to permit the manufacture of light wines and beer shall be held.
Chairman Means of the special committee designated by the senate for this purpose, has summoned the meeting.
Considerable interest is being taken by members of both houses in the bill that is being made by the papers of the country. It is suggested by a member of the lower house that each senator and representative send out letters for a straw vote in their respective districts and states. One congressman favors a straw vote on a modification of the act to allow the manufacture of light wines and beer.

Leeman Talks On Co-operation At Rotary Feast

Ray Leeman, who is doing missionary work for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was one of the speakers at the Rotary club luncheon yesterday noon. Mr. Leeman spoke of co-operation. He went back to the time when people first learned to make fires and to keep them burning. He said the cherishing of the fire was the first community interest and since that time it had grown until it had reached its present perfection. Mr. Leeman said that no town could prosper and grow without co-operation. He also talked briefly on the coming meeting at Cross Plains, of the District West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting.
Albert Joseph was greeted warmly by his fellow Rotarians, and he did his part of the program by displaying his red and blue canaries, the birds in the gilded cage.
Other visitors were Ed W. Boyd of Augusta, Kansas, E. C. Brook of Abilene, and Robert J. Stewart of Freeport, Ill.
Rotarians C. E. May, J. C. Smith, and C. C. Patterson were the program committee for the day.

UNITED STATES TO BE INVITED NEXT MEETING

Council Convoked To Meet In Geneva May 17; Called Session

By United Press.
GENEVA, March 18.—The League of Nations council today decided to invite the United States and the nations adhering to the permanent court of international justice, to meet in conference at Geneva, September first, for the purpose of drafting an agreement, which would permit acceptance of the United States Senate reservation relative to the American adherence to the court.
The council also convoked the League of Nations preliminary disarmament conference to meet in Geneva, May 17.

The League of Nations council is preparing today to examine the American adherence to the permanent court of international justice at the Hague.
Sir Austin Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, moved that the reservations be taken up this afternoon. League members are convinced that Sir Austin would not have asked the council to consider the reservations unless the British representatives in Washington had assured him that the State Department would not object.
The postponement of the election of Germany into the permanent council will delay putting into force and effect the Locarno agreement. The treaty agreed upon last October was that Germany's entrance into the league and her membership into the permanent council should be effective at once at a special called meeting, which has just closed. It was at Locarno that the final provisions were made.
It is understood that a special commission was named at the secret meeting of the council and the league assembly for a change of procedure in selecting members. The commission will be composed of the states now members of the council and also of Germany, Argentina, Poland, China and Switzerland.
Opposition by Brazil was the real cause of Germany's not getting elected into membership. Brazil stood pat on her stand and based it on national honor.

 God that He will be gracious unto us; this hath been by your means;
 will he regard your persons? saith
 the Lord of hosts.—Malachi 1-9.

WHY WASTE MONEY?
 Resurfacing highways with bitulithic, amesite and other such materials is just a waste of taxpayers' money. Why not repair or rebuild the roads and highways with brick or concrete? Brick and concrete are permanent and when put down once are good for years to come. Material that is being used in the construction and surfacing of highways is not worth hauling and yet taxpayers pay from 12 cents a square yard to 30 cents a square yard for it. Generally by the time a highway that is surfaced with this amesite and bitulithic stuff is completed, the repair gang has to follow up and fix the holes where they have worked through.

When the Bankhead highway was finished between Eastland county and Fort Worth, repair forces had to be sent out to repair the first strip of road put down, where amesite and bitulithic was used. The 20 miles of brick highway, between Ranger and Cisco, part of the Bankhead highway, has not cost the taxpayers a penny for upkeep. The original cost of using brick and concrete is higher than the other stuff, but the upkeep is practically nothing. The brick laid section of the Bankhead highway stands up. The cost of repairing the sections that were surfaced with bitulithic and amesite has made the cost of that section of the highway more than brick and concrete.

On the Dallas and Fort Worth like a gang of hands is always at work repairing the section that has an as-phaltum surface, whereas, the section where concrete was used for construction has cost practically nothing to maintain. All leading highways should be constructed of either brick or cement, and the feeding roads with a bitulithic or amesite surface.
 There would be less cause for talk of graft if leading state highways would be constructed of brick or cement. The new work that is being put down between Fort Worth and Dallas where the pike is being widened and straightened out is being done with concrete.

Build roads like the ancient Romans of a material that will last and not with a poultice substance. Taxpayers are getting tired of having to dig down in their pockets for upkeep when material can be used that will save that expense. The money wasted on repairing poultice bitulithic and amesite roads will go a long ways toward solving the educational problem. That money could be put to good use in building up the free public school system of Texas.

Lubbock County And City Officers Are in Price War

LUBBOCK, Texas, March 18.—Increased cost of a trial in county court as compared to the same cost in city court has caused the "price cutting war" between the city and county of Lubbock.

A person under the influence of liquor and found to be drunk if convicted in county court is fined $16.50
 while for the same offense in city court the cost is only $15.

The sheriff of the county reports, however, that there are a number of such clientele that are willing to pay for the better product.

 of 10 years' absence of fire in the German Cruiser Touring World, Peace Mission

BERLIN, March 17.—The German cruiser "Hamburg," now on the high seas and expected to arrive in Colon, Panama, on April 16, will pain-takingly avoid the former German colonies on its cruise around the world.

In order to prevent any political misunderstanding, the "Hamburg" will describe a circle around Germany's former possession in the South Seas. Similarly, in the Orient
 it will skirt the coast and avoid Tsingtau.

Germany's second man-of-war to float through the locks of the canal, the "Hamburg" is the Benjamin of the German navy. Built in 1903, the cruiser is old, as warships go; its displacement is only 3,250 tons.

Commanded by Captain Dr. Cross, famed alike as navigator and publicist, the "Hamburg" carries a total crew of 368 men. Of these, 100 are cadets, budding hopes of the German fleet, to whose training the trip is largely devoted.

There are, of course, other motives. Among these is the desire to document Germany's returning strength by again carrying the German naval ensign over the seven seas, after a lapse of twelve years.
 Another motive is the wish to stimulate trade relations, the cruise of the "Berlin" in South American waters having proved very beneficial to German exports.

After navigating the Canal the "Hamburg" will turn towards the north, calling, first, at Los Angeles and then at San Francisco. From the Golden Gate, the cruiser heads for the Hawaiian Islands where it will call at Honolulu. From there the "Hamburg" will cross the Pacific to Japan and China.

Wooden Leg Saves Man From Paying Police Court Fine

DALLAS, March 17.—Because the leg with which he touched her with was a wooden one saved a young man in police court here from a fine for alleged "indecent conduct."

The young woman filed charges against a young man who she testified touched her with his leg "almost pushed her out of the seat in a picture show, in fact."

The defendant told the judge that he may have touched the young woman
 but he did not know it.
 "I have a wooden leg, your honor,
 a reminder of the world war,"
 Judge Graves dismissed the case.

GRAND JURY RECONVENED AT AUSTIN

AUSTIN, March 18.—Judge James R. Hamilton this morning reconvened the Travis county grand jury and ordered an investigation of all phases of reported bribery negotiations.

He said he knew only from newspaper captions anything about the matter but pointed out that an Austin citizen had been charged with bribery and an attempt to bribe and the citizen had failed counter charges against a grand juror.

"It strikes at the very foundation of government," the judge declared.
 "Grand jury investigation should take place in the grand jury room
 and nowhere else."

George W. Boring, grand juror, was held under $500 bond on a charge of agreeing to accept a bribe after his charge against Harris Bell, city judge, had collapsed.

ON THE RANGE
By the Fence Rider

In and around Ranger, Eastland, Olden, Gorman, Carbon, Cisco, Desdemona, Rising Star, Mangum, Nimrod, Staff, Pioneer, Dothan, Serrano, Sabanno, Okra, Hilbert, Lakeland, Edhobby, Gunglight, Strawn, Frankell—all twenty of the towns in Eastland, Wonder County of Texas, and the Communities in between and just over the border.

"The man who had plenty of good peanuts
And giveth his neighbor none—
He can't have any of my peanuts,
When his peanuts are gone."

But their peanuts are never gone in the lands lying between Carbon and Rising Star via Okra. In the right lands, they don't grow so many. But everywhere else, it's peanuts to the right of us, peanuts to the left of us, peanuts in front of us—but they don't stay in front of us long. For, with apologies to the pigs (to which they ought to be fed and thereby bring in more money, perhaps) me and the old brone are some pigs ourselves, when you put those good, sweet, little Spanish peanuts in front of us.

The farmers in Eastland county are saving good things about those civic institutions—four chambers of commerce and six Lions and Rotary clubs who are getting ready to give those big cash prizes to farm boys and girls who do something—make something—raise something better than anybody else. Me and the old brone are preaching your gospel for you, and Eastland county's big newspapers are doing their bit to help impress on the people how the business men are recognizing the business of farming as the biggest business in the country, except the oil business and working hand in hand with that. It sort of dazes them though. They can't bring themselves to believe that they are actually included in the big business programs of the county. They are looking for those prize offers though. Don't forget that. And don't lie down on the job, you big men behind these movements.

Two-thirds of the farms lying along the Carbon-Rising Star road via Oak Grove, Long Branch, Hallmarc, etc., are cultivated by the owners. And the few tenants me and the old brone saw, are doing the trick about as well as the owners. You don't find many people in these neighborhoods that are not feeding themselves. And such food! Cantaloups! Watermelons! Ripe fruit! Ripe tomatoes! Potatoes! Ripe chickens! Ripe (no not ripe) fresh eggs! And ripe opportunities to do and raise more!

The Baptist Church at Long Branch, headed by Rev. S. R. Tennyson, is one of the finest churches in Eastland county. The cemetery (a real "church yard") is a thing of beauty. Monthly box suppers weekly sing songs and other activities make the community outstanding to say nothing of its pig, peanut and melon crops, and its good two-room school, in charge of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jarvis, Jr., covering all grades including the eighth.

Mrs. Roy E. Ackers, teacher at Hallmarc keeps in very close touch with community activities. She stands ready to collaborate with those civic bodies in their prize giving contests and it would be very well if they kept in touch with her and her pupils.

New Strength for Tired Women

Do you feel tired out, run-down and exhausted long before the day's work is finished? Why is it that women will permit repeated attacks of dizziness, headache, backache, nervous exhaustion, indigestion and constipation, when perhaps all they need is a good general tonic? No woman can feel her best troubled with these ailments. To let them run on uncorrected is the greatest mistake in the world.

Thousands of ailing men and women have been made strong, well and happy with Lyko. The secret of this remedy's wonderful success is the combination of medicinal ingredients it contains. One aids digestion; another is a laxative that keeps the bowels open; another acts on the kidneys, and a fourth aids the liver. With these vital organs working in proper harmony, the health-destroying poisons are driven or carried out of the system.

No matter what you have tried before, go to your druggist today and ask for a bottle of Lyko, the great general tonic. Find out for yourself how simple and easy it is to keep well with the aid of this marvelous remedy.

Lyko Helped His Wife

An Oklahoma man, Mr. Gallion, tells about the help Lyko gave his wife after other remedies had failed. His letter says: "The wonderful relief Lyko has given my wife. She has been taking all kinds of medicine which did no good. I saw Lyko advertised and got it and it is doing her lots of good."

Relief at Once

"I was subject to constipation, my kidneys were out of order and I was run-down and so nervous I could hardly get along. I was advised by my physician to try Lyko. I got relief at once."—is what R. Sledge of Mississippi reports.

Could Not Eat—Now Well

Walter Schultz of San Francisco says: "For many years I tried everything to build me up. I was run-down in health, could not eat, my condition was very bad. A friend recommended Lyko. Today I am a happy man. I have got my health back."

Parade Precedes Field Day Meet And Art Program

Every school child in the Ranger independent school district will march in the monster field day parade, that will form at the High school at 8:45 in the morning. The parade, barring all accidents and delays, will start at 9:30, move down Pine street to the depot, thence to Main street, thence to Nitro park, for the field meet.

Wade Swift, mounted, will lead the parade. Next will come the High school band, then the members of the school board, and then the various wards, followed by the High school. Track and field meet for juniors feature the morning's events. Lunch will be served at noon by the Parent-Teacher associations of the town.

From 1 to 3 o'clock the seniors' track and field events.

From 3 to 5:30 "fun" under the direction of R. D. Evans of Fort Worth recreational department.

At the High school from 3 to 8 o'clock there will be held one of the largest art exhibits ever attempted in Ranger. This exhibit included the best work from every ward in the district, as well as High school work.

One has to see an exhibit like this to realize just what the art departments in the schools are accomplishing.

The day will conclude with an evening program of music, stunts, and readings by pupils of the various schools, at the High school, from 8 to 9:30.

It promises to be a gala day in the history of Ranger schools. In fact, it is the biggest thing of the kind ever attempted and every citizen in town is invited to participate in all the events from the time the parade starts in the morning until "Home, Sweet Home" is sung at 9:30 tomorrow night.

YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Henry Rand, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

Janet Rand, his daughter, breaks her engagement with Barry Colvin, because of the "disgrace." Jimmy Rand, his son, goes to Waterton, where the theater is. The stub is traced to Olga Maynard, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with Mary Lowell. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing she is wanted for murder. Mary, out with Samuel Church, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Waterton and later is attacked by two men but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police photo as Ike Jensen.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs of a dog. His heartlessness causes her to break their engagement. Mary writes a letter, explaining, but the office boy forgets to mail it.

Jimmy gets a phone call from Olga, saying she has found Ike Jensen. Her voice ends in a gasping cry and he rushes to her apartment to find she is gone. He thinks she has been kidnaped or murdered—which he doesn't know. While he and police are in the apartment, a mysterious phone call comes for him, threatening his life.

Despairingly, he asks, "My God, have they killed her?"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLIV

The newspapers were still in full hue and cry over the mysterious disappearance of Olga Maynard. Unlike most "stories" that are allowed to die out after a few days of sensational play, there was an element of the sinister, a touch of the mysterious, in this one that kept the city keyed up to a pitch of high excitement.

It struck at a time when local news was dead, and for that reason the city editors welcomed it.

And sensation followed sensation. O'Day had hinted vaguely to Jimmy of having something else up his sleeve to "give to the papers." And Jimmy was not kept long in ignorance.

When it did break, it swept him off his feet and sent him down to see O'Day with blood in his eye, raging and full of fight.

O'Day had told the reporters about the yellow stub and the handkerchief that had been found in the room with Henry Rand's body. Furthermore, he had told them that they had been traced to Olga Maynard and that, although her explanation had been satisfactory enough, still she had figured theretofore as an important cog in the chain of evidence that had lengthened since Henry Rand's murder.

He felt sure, he told them, that Olga Maynard's strange disappearance was somehow linked up with the murder.

And the whole city buzzed and gossiped over the strange mystery of the yellow stub. The murder of Henry Rand, although it had happened in a distant town, was suddenly brought home to Waterton. Street corner idlers hazarded strange guesses as to the motive that prompted Henry Rand's murder. Busy captains of industry summoned office boys to run out and grab the latest editions. Stenographers discussed it over their lunch, and housewives over the back fence. It supplied trolley car conversation for homegoing bookkeepers and mechanics.

"You shouldn't have done it," Jimmy stormed at O'Day. "It wasn't right. It wasn't fair to her. It's not fair to me to drag this out again."

O'Day tried to be patient. "You don't understand, my boy. If you think this is going to turn the town against Olga Maynard, you are mistaken. They sympathize with her. Everyone does. They think she's the victim of some mysterious plot."

"Your ideas about the right thing to do certainly don't coincide with mine," said Jimmy bitterly. "Be patient, Rand. I've got something in the back of my old head. When you're as old as I am you may realize that a man doesn't lose any of his brains when he passes forty."

"I want this thing to fill the papers. The wires are carrying it all over. I want Marie Real, if she's alive, to step out and supply some information that I think we can use."

"And another thing," his jaw set grimly as he walked to his desk and opened a drawer. "I'm going to show you something, Rand. You've been climbin' all over my frame every time I opened my mouth and said something you didn't like about Olga Maynard. My boy, I'm not in this business for sentiment. I'm looking for facts. Do you see this picture?"

He held it out in front of Jimmy's eyes. "Look at it and tell me whether you recognize it."

Jimmy's forehead, as he studied the picture, puckered in a worried frown. Vague premonition held him again.

"I—my God, O'Day, it can't be—"

"It is, lad, it is. It's a picture of your father, Henry Rand, taken when he was a boy of about fifteen. At least, that's the way I remember him."

"Where—where did you get this?" Jimmy asked feebly.

"I'll tell you where I got it. I found it the other night in Olga Maynard's apartment." He paused to watch the effect of his words.

Jimmy was shocked speechless. He managed to gulp. "In Olga Maynard's apartment? This?" Feebly, he pointed at it with his finger.

"That's what I said. I was browsin' through the place and found this on the mantel ledge. I didn't recognize it at first, but some thing was familiar about it and I'll never have a bit of faith left in human nature."

"What do you think now of my theory—the theory I explained the other night, about that kidnapin' stunt bein' nothin' but a frame-up? Do you still think I'm crazy?"

And Jimmy, utterly weary, and feeling friendless and alone in a mad world, answered, "No."

He had learned from O'Day that the effort to check back on the phone call to Olga's apartment had led them to a both in a busy drug store. "Just as I expected," commented O'Day when he told Jimmy about it. Jimmy thought several times of calling up Mary Lowell and explaining the whole mad business to her. But a certain stiff-backed attitude about making what might be construed as advances restrained him.

Besides, he told himself, he had not all such ideas out of his head. He was here for a purpose. . . . But he wondered if Mary would give him her sympathy. He felt very much in need of sympathy. It seemed that no one understood him. His time could hardly be called his own. Reporters were in almost constant attendance and Mrs. King, his landlady, had told them that her roomer, Mr. Rand, "and a gentleman if ever there was one," had been shot at one night. "Right in his room, mind you."

This made him something of a hero. He was conscious of stares as he walked through the streets and he overheard people point him out as he passed. . . . He even began to get mad notes, on scented paper of varied hues.

But O'Day apparently had been right about one thing. There was no further attempt to molest him, and there were no more mysterious telephone calls or warning letters.

"I told you so," O'Day said. "The publicity's driven them to cover."

Barry Colvin arrived the next day, resolved, he told Jimmy, to stick the thing out with him.

"And what's this about Olga Maynard being kidnaped?" he asked.

"The papers back home have been full of it. My boy, you're famous. Your mug has been splashed all over the papers, and your face is better known than Rudy Valentino's."

He grinned. "If I had all that publicity I'd certainly make the law business pay and pay heavy."

He told Jimmy, "Mooney's in New York. He's found out this much, at least—that Marie Real's stage name was Marie Reilane. Of course, everybody's heard of Marie Reilane. I'd no idea the lady was such a star."

"Lord! She was the toast of the country when I was a little kid," said Jimmy.

"But Mooney says she's dropped out of sight, at least temporarily. He's hopeful, though, of locating her soon."

O'Day thought of it. "You were a fool, Jim, for trusting that woman."

He turned savagely on Barry, but the words that were in his mind never escaped his lips. Instead he bowed his head. "Maybe I am. It would have been better, for her at least, had they kept her in jail. She'd have been safe, if not comfortable."

They sat up and talked, of Grafton and Janet and Jimmy's mother, until Barry yawned sleepily and went to bed.

But there was no sleep for Jimmy. He sat and gazed enviously at Barry's comfortable, resting figure, heard with irritation his slight snore. . . .

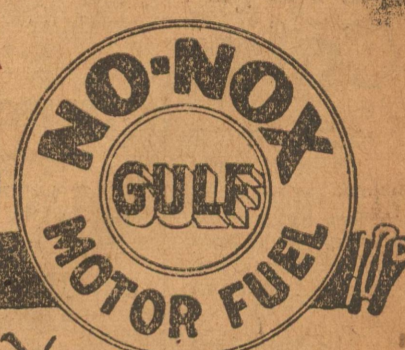

And the thought of the picture they had found in Olga's room rose to torture him through half the night. . . . (To Be Continued)

Bostonians Buy Bankhead Eggs; Chicago Chicks

Hatcheries in Eastland county are taking off every three weeks, something like 103,700 baby chickens. On last Monday a car load of Eastland county eggs were shipped to Boston, three fourths of these were furnished by the Bankhead poultry association.

Wednesday a car load of chickens went to Chicago. The poultry business is not the only thing in Eastland county that is growing. In 1917 to 1923 there was no cotton gin in Ranger at all. In 1923 there were 500 bales; in 1924 there were 1,056 and in 1925 there were 1634. In 1926 it is estimated that there will be ginned between 2200 and 2500 bales.

These figures and facts are furnished by C. C. Patterson of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, in an effort to make folks know their home county and their home town. All of these things are things that keep a town or a county solvent.

Vapors stop Colds

VAPORS reach a cold directly because they are breathed right into the air passages and lungs. It is for this reason that Vicks Vapor-Rub brings such quick relief. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime:

It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled, while you sleep, right to the affected parts, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing.

At the same time it acts through the skin (like a poultice or plaster) "drawing out" the pain and soreness.

Most colds yield by morning to this double action of Vicks.

Annuals Give Flower Garden Swell Appearance

Seemingly Endless Search By Women Here Is Rewarded

you neglected it last fall. The earliest annuals to come into bloom are those from fall or winter-sown seed which come up with the first warm days of early spring, defy frosts and keep right on growing.

Of these annuals, cornflowers, annual larkspurs, and poppies may be scattered over the beds now and rains and snow will take care of getting the seed into contact with the earth and about the first of June they will begin blooming. All three plants mentioned are difficult to transplant and sowing now is the best way to handle them, thinking them as soon as the weather permits working outside.

In planning the annual garden there should be a selection of the earliest blooming, those for mid-season, and then the late bloomers. Phlox Drummondii and French marigolds are early bloomers from seed. The marigolds bloom continuously till cut down by frost while the phlox is of shorter season. Both should be planted liberally for early bloom.

Asters are late bloomers for the most part. The early flowering types will be at their best in early August and then with a selection continue the aster pageant until October. Zinnias get going in August. The glowing scarlet of the salvia does not manifest its full glory until late summer.

Verbenas and ten weeks' stocks will begin to make a fine display by mid-July and continue the rest of THOUSANDS of mothers for over three generations have praised Mother's Friend for relieving them of unnecessary pains during expectancy.

"Everyone was surprised how well I got along," writes Mrs. Alfred E. Ammon, Muncie, Ind. "My pains disappeared after using Mother's Friend and I was sick only an hour and a half at baby's birth."

Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician. It is made from a combination of highly refined oils and other wonderful ingredients and is for outward application. Mother's Friend aids the skin and muscles to expand more easily during the constant readjustment of expectancy, month after month, right up to childbirth.

Mother! insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight—and meanwhile write Bradford Regulator Co., Dept. 23, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

It has been proven beyond a doubt that the use of St. Joseph's G. F. P., faithfully as directed on each bottle, quickly overcomes the irregularity, nervousness, irritability, cramps, pains in the sides and back, loss of weight, no appetite, easy to catch colds, and that run-down, don't-care, languid feeling all the time. Many hundreds of girls and women are making public statements every day telling of their happiness and robust health, with plenty of energy and vitality, since they are able to get G. F. P., on account of it being introduced here.

the year. Snapdragons should be sown early outdoors or in a cool place indoors. They like a slow cool start to make the best progress.

Potunias started early will be ready to spread a cloud of bloom over their beds by mid-June.
