HOUSTON, Sept. 29.—Possible outbreak of the foot and mouth dis-case in the vicinity of Algoa, near here, in a territory not heretoford affected, was reported today. Dr. Marion Imes, federal expert in charge of the work, said the new out-break presents many difficulties and will be the hardest to control. The new outbreak is in quarantine terri-tory, although heretofore though Rotarians and Lions Joint free from the disease.

Dr. Frank Gerald, a member of the livestock sanitary commission, announced the state is still without funds to pay its half of the cost of eradication work, and Monday was also threatened with new damage suits. The commission already is

Ferguson. Mayfield Is Eloquent. Taking as his subject a theme of which he is fond. "The Glory of the South," Senator Mayfield waxed elo-quent. He said an "off year in poli-tics" was no time to discuss politics. Besides which, he preferred to dwell on what the south had done and present opportunities for further development of her resources and industries. He gave some valuable information relating to southern achievement, and made some inter-esting similes. Referring to Texas, he said:

"Texas—a plain country girl, modest and beautiful, grew to be a queenly woman and was married to Uncle Sam in 1845. She lived hap-pily with him until 1861, when he violated his marriege contrast by ig. violated his marriage contract by ignoring her rights as a sovereign state and by conspiring to discharge the servants of her household without her consent. She abandoned him. She objected, however, to the sep-aration and she sued him for divorce in the court of arms. While the law and the evidence were both on her side, the arbitrary action of the court made it impossible for her to obtain the relief prayed for, and she abandoned the suit at Appomatox, April 9. 1865. A reconciliation was had. They wept at the grave of buried live and blighted hopes and mingled their tears in a common sorrow over the wreck of the unhappy past. Uncle Sam, smiling through his tears, placed his long arms around the queenly form of Texas and soft-ly said: 'Who's sweet?' And this ly said: 'Who's sweet?' And this fair daughter of the south, leaning her head against his shoulder said, 'Bofe of us.' She had no apology to make and he had none to ask, and so they lived happily together ever afterwards

Urges Manufactures. Mr. Mayfield spoke briefly of a few of the great orators and statesmen who were of the south. He spoke of the achievements of southerners in fields of commerce, indusry ,invention; education and science. He gave figures to show how the south has long excelled and excels to-day in mineral wealth, agriculture and industry. Yet he looks for much greater things to be accomplished in the years ahead. He made one sig-nificant statement:

THE STORY SO FAR:

Gloria Gordon, beautiful flapper marries Dick Gregory, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes, but no work or children.

She refuses to do her own work, and hires a housemaid. But Dick has to let the maid go, for Gloria has swamped him with her debts. She becomes infatuated with an out-of-work actor, Stanley Wayburn, and follows hi mto New York. But he scorns her. Then she tries to get a job as a chorus girl and fails. Dis-couraged, she comes home to Dick. He takes her back, but not as his

Gloria begins to suspect that he is Gloria begins to suspect that he is in love with his secretary, Miss Briggs. At last she wrings from Miss Briggs a confession that she is in love with Dick, and insists that Dick discharge her. When he re-fuses, she goes home to her mother. Dick, upon the advice of Mother Gregory, puts his own house up for sale and goes home to live with her end his father. He sends Gloria $50 and his father. He sends Gloria $50 weekly, but she returns it and goes to work. Her employer makes love to her and she resigns her position. She can't screw up her courage to go out after another job.

Finally she makes up her mind to go home. Not to her mother's house, hut to her own—the house that Dick wants to sell!

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY: NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY: She pressed Gloria's hand when she left her. 'Now, do come to see me," she said warmly, "won't you?" "It's a cinch she doesn't know I've left Dick, or she wouldn't be so cordial," Gloria told herself. "Little hypocrite!" she added to herself. She tood there in the sun-shine. thinking.
