STATE SENATORS TREATED TO POISON GAS

REPUBLICANS MAKE A FARCE OF LAWMAKING

Appropriation Bill Unsigned; High Tariff Robs Farmers for Manufacturers.

By WALLACE BASSFORD, WASHINGTON, June 19.—It was fitting that the republican leadership—if such could be called—of a congress which was completely muddled from the very beginning by that leadership, should wind up the work of the session with several signal exhibitions of wretched management. The wretched climax of the blunders of the session was not discovered until most of the members had departed for their homes.

The oldest inhabitants cannot recall a case parallel to this, in which one of the largest appropriation bills was so completely lost sight of that it was signed in neither senate nor house by the presiding officers. At least a dozen of the highest republicans of each house has an intimate duty to perform in connection with each great appropriation bill, yet every one of them seems to have been wool-gathering at the most important stage of its passage.

In addition, the public printer and his assistants were equally off the job. The public printer, by the way, is alleged to be holding his place contrary to the letter of the law, which declares that he must be a practical printer, skilled in bookbinding. Mr. Carter is neither. The printed copy of the bill did not come back from the printing office until after the session had ended, hence it could not be signed in the presence of the houses, as the law provides. The bill carried nearly 200 millions for deficiencies and affects the salaries of thousands of employees. The president is now hurriedly consulting treasury officials to see if there is any possible way to get by without paying these salaries and provide for the soldiers' bonus without calling the congress in extra session.

After the exhibition of republican conduct of the last session, the country will fervently pray that some means may be found to prevent another hideous legislative nightmare such as has endured here for more than six long months. It is all reminiscent of the words of Uncle Joe Cannon to William A. Oldfield of Arkansas. "Bill," said Uncle Joe, "in 1920 we didn't need to tell a single darned lie or spend a single darned dollar to win the election, but to tell a million lies and spend millions of dollars, and now that we've got the thing, we are not able to handle it."

High Tariff Protest.
The Fair Tariff League of Madison, Wis., an organization composed mainly of republican business men and manufacturers who are believers in the tariff, have organized a powerful protest against the ridiculous and oppressive excesses of the Fordney tariff law. They are publishing and distributing pamphlets showing the tremendous effect of these tariff rates on the cost of living, particularly in increasing the cost of all manufactured articles, while doing nothing at all to increase the price of the things the farmers produce.

The league shows that the farmer is purchasing in a highly taxed market, but selling his surplus products in a world, or free trade, market. One of the many tricky inquiries contained in the Fordney law is the provision as to farming implements; these are placed on the free list, but everything that enters into their manufacture is highly taxed! The result is that the farmer gets stung just the same, but has to suffer the indignity of feeling that the tariff makers thought they were hoodwinking him.

In investigating the question as to whether the higher tariff brought any greater benefit to wage earners, the league found many instances like the following, which, in fact, is typical of how the tariff works: In the manufacture of cheap cotton socks a capable young woman has charge of the operation of a battery of 30 knitting machines—and she has to step lively, too. These machines knit 1,800 pairs of socks in a day, for which the young woman received, before the great increase in the tariff on socks provided in the Fordney law, three dollars per day, or at the rate of one-sixth of a cent per pair! Under the Underwood law the socks sold for 10 cents per pair; under the Fordney law, with its tariff rate so high as to cut off the importation of cotton socks, the socks retail for 20 cents per pair, but the girl still gets the same wage and still turns out 1,800 pairs per day. No one gets any benefit except the manufacturer, while the consumer's cost of living, as regards socks, is doubled.

Fattening Manufacturers.
What is true of socks, is true in greater or less degree of everything else. When the Fordney law was in the making the large suites of rooms of the ways and means committee of

M'READY STEPS INTO SPACE UP ABOVE CLOUDS

Noted Airman Leaves Plane Hurriedly and Watches It Hurtle Down.

DAYTON, Ohio, June 19.—Leaving hurriedly a plane plunging earthward from an altitude of 5,000 feet, Lieut. John A. MacReady hero of the first non-stop flight across the continent, averted a disastrous accident to himself late last night when he walked calmly off the left wing of his ship and stepped into space, supported only by an emergency parachute.

Then, as he sailed with the breeze, MacReady calmly watched the ship he had left fall to the earth and explode just outside of the city limits. His parachute landed in the trees and he had to call for aid to be cut down.

MacReady was returning to McCook field from Columbus at 11 p. m. when something went wrong with his motor high above Dayton. Realizing that his life depended upon being able to glide beyond the limits of the city where he could find an open space to land, MacReady steered his plane northward. When he saw an open space beneath him, he started to leap from the plane, but his parachute caught and he had to climb back again.

By this time the plane was falling with terrific speed. Only one way presented itself to get away with a possible chance of safety and that looked none too promising. MacReady leaped into space, then pulled the string that opened his parachute, which caught the air and held, so that while he watched his plane dash to destruction on the earth, MacReady quietly floated down to the end of a safe journey.

Lieutenant MacReady appeared to have suffered not at all from his exciting trip. His nerves seemed today as steady as ever and he announced himself ready for many more trips in the air, although he hopes never to come quite so close to death again.

Denton Boy Wins Honors In Spite Of Loss Of Both Hands

DENTON.—The average person with Fred Coffey's handicap might figure the odds too great against him, but not so Coffey.

He was elected editor-in-chief of the school annual—the highest honor the student body can confer. He won a $100 scholarship, took first in the high hurdles in the meet at S. M. U. and won his college letter. Twice he has been chosen president of his class.

HEAT WAVE IN OKLAHOMA TOPS JUNE RECORDS

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 19.—Oklahoma was wilting today under a temperature that is record high for June. The heat is causing intense suffering among the harvesters in the wheat fields and many have been overcome. Farmers in many sections are working early in the morning and late in the night to avoid the intense mid-day heat.

Unless the heat wave is broken by rain soon there is danger that the grain will be come overripe before it is cut. At Altus, Wednesday, the temperature reached 113 and 25 head of livestock there perished from the heat. In other parts of the state the temperature varied between 95 and 110.

NEW WEAPON OF LAWMAKERS IN RHODE ISLAND

Unidentified Persons Try to End Upper House Filibuster by Gassing Solons.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 19.—What is believed to be poison gas was used today in an attempt to break up a filibuster in the Rhode Island state senate, which has been in continuous session since 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The deadlock is due to democratic insistence that the republican members vote in favor of a constitutional convention before the annual appropriation bill is passed and the senate adjourns. The chair has refused to recognize republican members. This has incited rioting on a small scale, and some humorous scenes, such as when Lieutenant Governor Coffin, president of the senate, was shaved as he sat in his chair while the long drawn out battle of wills was under way.

Gas is believed to have been introduced in the senate chamber today in an effort to break the deadlock. Several senators who were dozing in their chairs, awakened about 7:45 o'clock this morning, when they noticed a strong odor of gas penetrating the room. None of them would leave the room, however. Soon afterwards a reporter at the press table near the speaker's rostrum slumped over unconscious.

Lieutenant Governor Coffin about the same time swooned in his chair, his head dropping forward, and only the prompt work of his body guard prevented him from falling. A call for physicians was sent out immediately.

BIBLE THOUGHT.
A VERY NEEDFUL PRAYER:—
Show me thy ways, O Lord;
teach me thy paths. Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee.—Psalms 25:4, 21.

DIFFERING VIEWPOINTS
This is not the first political fight
that the editor of the Oil Belt News has been in with a gang of law violators and political crooks, says that bellicose individual, adding: "Those other crooks and law violators will not say that the writer is a 'bully,'
but will attest that he is not afraid of any of them, nor of any such skunks anywhere."

Does the editor of the Oil Belt News regard all those with whom he may differ politically as law violators, political crooks and skunks? It would be interesting to know where he had the political fights to which he refers and with whom? Did he get the best of them, making them cover by his fiery denunciations and reiterations that he would uncover their crookedness, or are they yet where they were and in control? It is evident that the editor left their haunts. Why? Was it for his health?

Political campaigns may be conducted on high planes, both by those interests seeking to gain control and by the newspapers that help the contestants wage their battles in order that those believed to have the right ideals may win, and to keep their readers informed on the progress of the contests. As a general thing, the newspapers have no purpose of their own to conserve, but are actuated in their espousal of one cause or another
by a wish to serve the people,
for it is the good will of the people they need and desire rather than the approval of any interests or the candidates of those interests.

A newspaper may go through a political campaign, fighting earnestly for one interest as against the other,
without arousing personal antagonisms. The opposition knows and appreciates it is the political issues that form the bone of contention and not the candidates. It is fair to assume that all candidates seeking to serve the people in political capacity
are honest and honorable citizens, and, while a newspaper may report
charges that candidates in the heat or argument make against other candidates in public meetings and debates, in order that its readers may be informed, it is neither the sphere nor the duty of the newspaper to try those charges and pass judgment on them. There are prosecuting officers whose sworn duty it is to take cognizance of law violations and bring those complained of before court and jury for trial. The fact that so few charges made by candidates against each other are sufficiently heinous to warrant indictments by grand juries makes it a reasonable presumption that they cannot be sustained and that they seldom amount to more than a presentation of differing viewpoints.

It is evident, however, judging by the hoast of the editor of the Oil Belt News, that when he, as the editor of a newspaper, participates in a political campaign, the supporters of the opposition are law violators, political crooks and skunks. If the interests for which he fights happen to lose the political battle, the control of his municipality, county or state remains in or passes into the hands of persons with whom he, as a high-minded gentleman cannot associate, and nothing remains for him to do except to move into some other territory. Is that why he has not remained where he fought the political fights in which he proved that he was no bully?

The editor of the Oil Belt News says he "is not going to cease his warfare on law violators, public officials who fail in doing their duty,

religious scoffers, political crooks,
Sunday desecrators, and undesirables." Very commendable. This newspaper is in hearty accord with him, but with this dissenting viewpoint: This newspaper knows of none seeking public office in Eastland county who can honestly be charged with any of the sins or faults enumerated, while the Oil Belt News regards all those it is not supporting as guilty of most of them.

So, as the results of the campaign now being waged are little in doubt, this newspaper again extends a goodbye greeting to the editor of the Oil Belt News and hopes he will find more congenial associates and more ardent followers where he is going.

THE NEXT CONVENTION
The eyes of the nation are today focused upon the democratic national convention which convenes in New York June 24. With thirty-odd dark horses, and the chances apparently favoring a dark horse for the presidential nomination, it is easy to foresee an exciting time of it. There will be 1,098 delegates, and nearly as many alternates, so that there will be room for a mere 16,000 spectators;
press folks and convention officials;
and employes; and with hordes of visitors clamoring for seats it is easy to see that nearly anything political is liable to happen and the unexpected is probably what will happen.

Nobody within the democratic party who might by any possibility win a race against Calvin Coolidge has actually been unopposed or allowed to remain unknown, but, requiring two-thirds of the delegates to nominate, no man has yet been suggested who can unite the party on the important issues.

Notwithstanding the fact that the U. S. shipping board has confessed inability to compete with foreign vessels because of contracts with American railroads and claim to be operating at a loss of $50,000,000 a year,
it proposes to build two new passenger ships next year at a cost of $15-000,000. It seems to be easy to spend the other fellow's money.

The Standard Oil group has just declared a quarterly cash dividend of $40,699,592. This is about $6,000-000 larger than the first quarterly dividend for this year.

STRIKERS AND GUARDS
FIGHT WITH GUNS WHILE
WOMEN SEEK CELLARS

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., June
19.—State police today patrolled Brady, a little mining town in the mountains near here, following a revolver battle between striking miners and guards of the Brady-Warner Coal company.

One man was shot and the union hall was destroyed by fire and many miners' homes riddled by bullets.
Four blasts of dynamite rocked the town. Between 500 and 600 shots were exchanged by the strikers and the guards. The women and children sought refuge in cellars. The Brady mine recently went on an open shop basis and the company brought in non-union men. A vote by the miners to drive out the non-union men was the beginning of the rioting.

Funeral Services
For R. E. Mitchell
Yet To Be Arranged

The body of R. E. Mitchell, who was killed yesterday afternoon when his automobile was struck by a Texas & Pacific train at the Olden grade crossing, is being held in Eastland
by the Barrow Undertaking company, pending funeral arrangements, which are being deferred until relatives in Illinois, Ohio and other states are heard from.

Mr. Mitchell, who was about 50 years of age, is survived by his widow and one daughter, his only son having been drowned in the Leon river about two years ago. He was an oil gauger for the Prairie Pipe Line company and had been with them about five years, at which time he made his home in Eastland.
He has been active in Boy Scout work in Eastland and was a scoutmaster.

The train, which was in charge of Conductor Irvin Witherpoon, Engineer J. P. F. Kane and Fireman J.
W. Patterson, was said to have been making near 35 miles an hour when Mitchell was sighted on the track.
The engineer applied the air brakes,
blew his whistle and rang the bell but was too close to stop until the engine had struck Mitchell's car.

The train crew picked up Mitchell's body and took it into Eastland on the train, where Justice of the Peace S. J. Day and County Attorney
W. J. Barnes held an examination.

Was skeptical of Kellogg's Bran
until it gave him back his health

Naturally Mr. Carter—whose letter follows—was skeptical. He had tried practically everything for the relief of constipation. All had failed. But Kellogg's Bran brought him permanent relief, just as it has done for thousands of others. Read his letter:

Gentlemen:
I am 43 years old, and have been for years a great sufferer from constipation. I had to resign a clerical position because of rushes of blood to my head, some of which caused me to fall to the ground. I took an outdoor laboring job and tried for the first time, skeptically
I admit, your Krumbled Bran. The result has been wonderful. I began to be normal after I had been on the Bran about three days. No

BELIEVED JUST AHEAD

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The federal trade commission reported on the alleged profiteering of the gasoline industry, made at the request of President Coolidge, has been laid before the department of justice for appropriate action. This is believed to foreshadow an anti-trust prosecution as Augustus T. Seymour, assistant to the attorney general is giving it careful study.

ITCHING ECZEMA IS WORST OF ALL
When you go to the theatre or whenever you are near many people and begin to scratch that eczema itching part of your body, people become uneasy while they are around you and usually show their resentment to the annoyance.
You don't have to put up with this embarrassment because you can get rid of the trouble you are bothered with by using Black and White Ointment. It is the quickest way to relieve yourself of eczema, rash, "breaking out," boils, pimples, etc. Be sure to use Black and White when you wash to keep the skin soft and smooth after that.
Black and White Ointment and Soap are economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap. Advertisement.

Probably no golfer ever entered a national open championship under a greater mental handicap than Bill Mehlhorn, Missouri pro, bore at Oakland Hills this year.
Bill was on his way to Detroit from St. Louis when the train in which he was riding was wrecked with a loss of 13 lives. Most of the dead were taken from coaches immediately in front of that in which Mehlhorn was asleep. He spent the night amidst the ghastly glare of torches, a member of the rescue squad which took screaming, multi-

CHAMPIONSHIP IN OPEN GOLF HARD TO WIN

By FRANK GETTY, United Press Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, June 19.—Although Bobby Jones of Atlanta, Ga., failed to defend successfully at Oakland Hills the open golf title he won at Inwood the year before, the young amateur needs no apologists.
In the first place, he made a gallant fight of it and finished second. His golf that first day, with a raw roistering over hill and valley, was a great exhibition of gameness. Time and again he was in trouble, only to come through with gallant recoveries and at the end of the day was leading the field, tied with Bill Mehlhorn.
In the second place, the open crown is one of those ephemeral things that rests none too easy on any golfer's brow—as uncertain as a crown of one of those little Balkan monarchies.
And, in the third place, not for 12 years has a champion successfully defended the honor.
Back in 1912, the veteran J. J. McDermott, who had won the open the year previous, fought through the field to capture it again. And his performance was even more remarkable because in 1910 he had been tied for the championship, only to lose out in the play-off.
Writer Hapen is the only golfer since McDermott's regime to claim a pair of victories, one of his coming in 1914 and the other in 1919.
Since McDermott's day no champion has held his title two successive years. Bobby Jones just went the way of all golfers.

GREAT BRITAIN WINS WIGHTMAN TENNIS CUP
By United Press.
WIMBLEDON, June 19.—Britain's winning tennis players won the Wightman cup from America today when Miss Helen Wills, American champion, lost to Miss McKane, 6-2, 6-2. The match was the deciding one of seven which always are played in competition for this trophy.
Great Britain won all three of the matches yesterday.

DUE TO BOTH.
"So you were elected mayor here, eh?" said the traveling salesman to the owner of the Thimbleburg hardware store. "I suppose your victory at the polls was due to the fact that you always dealt honestly with your customers?"
"Partly that—maybe," said the mayor. "And maybe partly because I was the only one to run for office."—Good Hardware.

When you need more room—it is there!
THE Big-Six Touring is a seven-passenger car—not merely a seven-passenger body mounted on a five-passenger chassis.
It was designed and built for seven-passenger service—with a motor of ample power and stamina for seven-passenger satisfaction.
Then, too, with the auxiliary seats folded away, the Big-Six becomes the most desirable five-passenger car in which you have ridden, with room enough for all the luggage you will ever need.
Big-Six appearance is attractive, distinctive, and in good taste. Its performance, acceleration, flexibility and dependability are known and respected the world over.
No car, regardless of price, surpasses it in quality or completeness of equipment.
If a smaller manufacturer or assembler were to build the Big-Six—of equal quality and workmanship—his price would be $3,500—perhaps more.
But Big-Six overhead is distributed over six times as many units as are built by any Big-Six competitor, hence Big-Six cost and selling price are surprisingly low.
Don't buy blindfolded. Examine, ride in and drive the Big-Six before you buy any other car.

RANGER NITROS EXPECT CISCO NINE WILL COME PREPARED TO CONQUER
Ranger plays Cisco in Ranger at Nitro park Saturday and Sunday afternoon at 4 and 8:30 o'clock respectively. The Ciscoites have been materially strengthened by the addition of several new players and have a classy ball club who are likely to spring a surprise on the Nitros.
They split even with Breckenridge in the last two games and, with the confidence inspired by the winning of one game and the addition of new players, they may turn the tables on the Nitros.
Ranger players, after the drubbing that they received from Parks camp, do not orish the idea of losing any more games for a while and have been practicing regularly all week and say that they will make it two straight from Cisco.

FIG FARM IN NORTH CAROLINA
 RALEIGH, N. C., June 18.—A second fig farm has been started in the tidewater section of North Carolina. It is located in one of the islands in a sound and seedlings have been secured from California, Texas and Smyrna. Old fig trees have grown wild in that section for years. Apparently they are of the Adriatic type and were probably planted by the early settlers. Some of them have grown big as oak trees and their fruit is eaten by the people of the section.

TEN YEARS AGO THEY SAID SHE COULDN'T LIVE

But Mrs. Greer Turned to Tanlac and Got Immediate Relief.

"After I had suffered for ten years all the tortures stomach trouble and rheumatism can cause a person, my husband did the least expensive and yet the most wonderful thing in all his efforts to save my life when he bought me Tanlac," recently said Mrs. N. M. Greer, 20 West Cole street, McKinney, Texas, in a vivid and impressive account of her experience with the famous medicine.

"As long as ten years ago, I was told I couldn't live and at times since then I have been so low that everyone thought I was gone. I could not eat anything but malted milk and buttermilk, and I had starved until I was nothing but a shadow, only weighing 90 pounds. Besides that, I had rheumatism so bad that for three years I sat in my chair unable to get up, and I could not lie down for smothering spells. I could

DEPARTMENT STORE IN HOUSTON TRYING OUT EIGHT-HOUR DAY

HOUSTON, June 19.—An eight-hour day has been instituted at Foley brothers dry goods store, the first large Houston store to adopt an eight-hour schedule. Hours will be from 9 to 5 and officials of the store declare they will make the eight-hour day a permanent affair if the public cooperates properly.

hardly bend my back, my arms were so stiff I wasn't even able to lift a cup to my mouth, and my legs were terribly swollen and utterly useless. "My husband spent thousands of dollars trying to save me, and I suffered so I prayed to die, but when Tanlac began helping me, I was one of the happiest women in Texas. In a short time I was eating heartily and after I had taken seven bottles, I hadn't a sign of stomach trouble or rheumatism; I was walking around as well as anyone, doing all my housework, and my weight had gone from 90 pounds to 140 pounds.—a gain of 50 pounds. It has been three years since then and I have now passed my 65th birthday, but I am still feeling fine. All my friends know that what I have said is true and I want the whole world to know that Tanlac saved my life."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

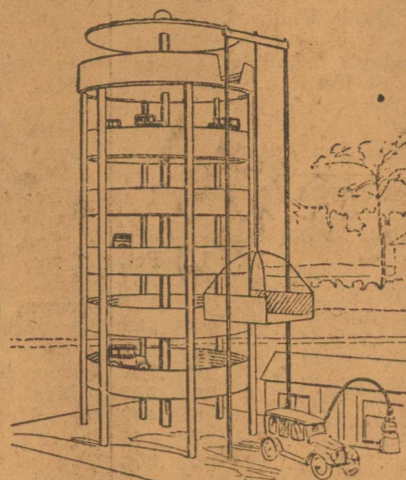

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are made and recommended by the manufacturers of Tanlac.—Advertisement.

Tower of Revolving Floors for Parking Automobiles

As a solution to the automobile parking problem, an Ohio inventor offers a circular steel garage "tower," consisting of a number of revolving stories arranged one above the other and each affording space for several cars, which are to be raised to position by an outside elevator. He estimates that a structure of this type with twenty floors, thirty-six feet in diameter, would hold two hundred automobiles and might provide additional facilities for radio stations, an observation or amusement center, or possibly a landing place for aircraft or an anchor post for dirigibles.

Porous Bronze Bearings Help Prolong Life of Auto

Absorbing oils and greases up to 25 per cent of its volume, a copper-tin bronze automobile bearing recently developed is expected to simplify the problems of lubrication and to aid in prolonging a car's life. Under a test, it was found of service in all ordinary uses and in many cases satisfactory for replacing ball and roller types. Thousands of tiny pores give the metal the qualities of a blotter or wick. In a demonstration, a kerosene lamp was fitted with a bushing of this material, instead of a cotton wick, and burned as long as the liquid lasted.

OLD AND TRUSTED AXIOMS.

There are certain straight truths that every one has accepted as true. They go back to our earliest memories: "Things equal to the same thing are equal to each other." "The whole is greater than any of its parts." Ten out of ten men believe these, one hundred per cent all of the time.

Ten out of ten men also believed that a yardstick placed east and west was the same length as the same yardstick placed north and south. But two or three men in a billion doubted that a few years ago. One of them was Einstein.

Even the physicists laughed at him for doubting their absolutely established "facts." Now every reputable physicist agrees largely with Einstein's results and the relativity theory.

The men who have doubted and tested axioms are few, with many be-

Mystery of Arctic Barrier Baffles Radio Experts

Since July, 1922, when the Maud, Amundsen's exploration ship, made its dash northward and became frozen in the ice in latitude 78° north, longitude 165° west, the ship's radio has been sending out two messages a day. These messages have been received by nearly all stations in Europe, across the North Pole, but they have not been received in Alaska, the United States or Canada.

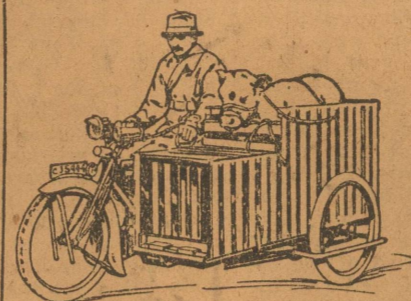

MacMillan's ship, the Bowdoin, now frozen in at Refuge Harbor, latitude 78.30 north, longitude 72.20 west, has found that the only station with which it can communicate regularly is that of Jack Barnsley, station 9BP, of Prince Rupert, B. C., and since Sept. 7, 1923, all press stories from the Bowdoin and all messages to and from it have been handled through Barnsley. Other stations have heard WNP (the Bowdoin) but all report very unsatisfactory reception, and 9BP is the only one to get messages through to WNP.

Why is this? That is the question radio experts are asking. What mysterious, invisible barrier prevents these messages from reaching this country? Is it the influence of the aurora borealis or the magnetic pole that causes a "dead spot" surrounding the pole on this hemisphere? These questions the Aerial League of America has set itself to solve, and the co-operation of all radio amateurs is invited in the tests. Prizes will be offered by the league for the best reports of experiments by amateurs.

The object of the research work is, first, to ascertain the effect of daylight, twilight, and darkness; ice, water, snow, verdure, atmospheric conditions and geological formations on radio. Second, to ascertain and define the location and strength of natural disturbances and interferences acting upon receiving stations all over the world, under various conditions. Third, to locate and map the "dead areas" of the earth, and delve into the causes of the mysterious barriers to radio transmission. Fourth, to find out whether radio signals travel equally rapidly through earth, air, and water. The results of the work should be very valuable.

Motor Cycle Is Cattle Cart for Trips to Market

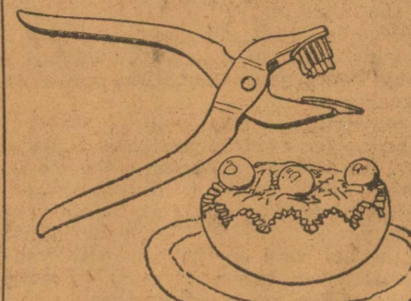

To haul live stock to market, a farmer in England built a roomy crate on the frame of a motorcycle sidecar. The pen which is of strong wood, accommodates a large animal and has a compartment for egg boxes and other produce. A gate at the rear serves as an entrance and a halter tied to the slats holds the animal steady while the machine is in motion.

Fruit Cutter Like Pliers Stamps Out Designs

Scalloped edges are placed on grape fruit and orange halves for preparing "fancy" salads and other dishes with the aid of a pincer-shaped device. It has cutting blades shaped to stamp out a design with the precision of a die, and the leverage afforded by the spring handles makes the task easy. Fruit skins can be cut into basket handles and other fancy patterns that only a skilled person could achieve with an ordinary knife. It is made of durable metal, nickel plated, and the blades are strongly riveted to the handles.

Phillips Petroleum Cross Plains Plant Damaged By Flames

CROSS PLAINS, June 19.—Sudden release of gas from a blown-out gasket in a hot oil engine started a fire, Tuesday night, in the auxiliary engine room of the Star casinghead gasoline plant of the Phillips Petroleum company, on the Gooch farm, four miles east of here, doing damage that it was estimated would reach between $50,000 and $75,000. The flames completely destroyed the large main buildings housing the big compressors and also the auxiliary engine house. The chief damage was to the machinery, worth upwards of $100,000, but much of this may be salvaged. The building were estimated worth about $20,000.

Run tanks nearby contained several thousand gallons of gasoline, but the flames did not reach them. An attendant in the room where the fire started was blown through an open door by the explosion of gas, but not seriously hurt.

The plant was sold about three weeks ago to the Phillips Petroleum company by the McMann company, which had built and operated it. The production capacity was 10,000 gallons a day. It is to be rebuilt at once, officers of the company said.

ROMANCE IS HIDDEN IN A STICK OF GUM

Ramification of a Penny Noted in Lecture on "Where Has My Penny Gone?"

Better business week at Utah Agricultural college closed Friday morning with a lecture, "Where Has My Penny Gone?" by W. W. Cooley, of the Burroughs Adding Machine company.

Mr. Cooley used as his illustration of profit distribution, a penny stick of gum and by the use of charts traced the distribution of the profit divided from its sale to the far corners of the earth.

"Officer, what building is that?" I inquired a short time ago of one of Chicago's policemen.

"That is Wrigley's monument to the gum chewers of the world," was his response.

The building is a 16-story structure with a 14-story tower erected by the William Wrigley, Jr., Company.

It is a monument of modern architecture in the center of a great business district. We had heard of Mr. Wrigley and his baseball clubs, Catalina Island, etc., but when we were before this so-called "Monument to the gum chewers of the world" we began to think and wonder what portion of that building was represented by the profit on a piece of gum, for which I paid one penny.

Expenses to Pay
 The subject was worthy of an immediate investigation and we began at once by asking the retailer if he made a profit. His answer was, "Oh, yes." But out of that profit a portion must go to clerk hire, light, heat, landlord, taxes, etc. So, were I to follow that one distribution alone, I could circumscribe the earth in my journeys. Yet, this retailer had to pay the larger portion of my penny to a wholesaler. He, likewise, had the varied expenses of taxes, clerks, delivery, rent, heat, light, etc., to pay from his small profit and then again return to the manufacturer the great portion that had fallen to him.

Yet we must now look at the manufacturer's disbursements as relates to my penny, and we certainly have a picture worthy of the greatest consideration, for there was coal and oil, paint and waxpaper and printers, advertising and sales, light and heat, power and water, electric and mechanical appliances. So from these few sources of distribution alone we can again travel to the end of the world and back.

But as in every stick of gum there is at least one ingredient that is from a foreign land, the element of sea transportation must be considered, and from the small amount that goes to the steamship owners, we find it in turn going about the world.

You ask, how so?
 Because there is fuel, perhaps from the coal mines of Australia, British Columbia, Wales or Wyoming. There is oil that may have come from Pennsylvania, California, or far away Rumania.

We have only enumerated just a sample of the great possibilities that exist for the travels of my penny.

Yet it is to be remembered that there are three ingredients in that penny piece of gum; sugar, chiclet and flavors.

All of the chiclet comes from abroad. The piece that you have in your mouth may have come from the ranch of the "Wild Man of Borneo." Can you visualize it? Most likely it came from Guatemala, Honduras or Mexico, whose natural beauties must arouse the grandest thought. While it might have come from Venezuela the land that has furnished so much asphalt for the paving of the streets of the country.

At any rate, a portion of my penny is wandering around amongst some of these lands and to get the real romance, you can cover them all in your dreams.

Penny is Big Factor.
 I have tried to bring to your attention the fact that the insignificant penny is a real factor in the business world. That we have shown you an actual article of merchandise that is bought for one penny. That the distributions mentioned actually have to take place. Yet, we may have a piece of gum in which the sugar came from abroad. In such cases, just imagine yourself in that land that has proven such a consolation to the dry and thirsty of America, the Island of Cuba.

Then again, the flavors have come from far way points they may have come from Turkey, where the intelligent wife of the new ruler has theoretically torn the veils from the women of the country; or from sunny Italy, the home of the pope, the birth place of Caruso, or Michael Angelo. Picture its beauties as you seek for my penny in its travels.

If all three of the ingredients happened to come from abroad, then we would have many more places to distribute my penny than I have attempted to present. For one point so far deliberately omitted is the railroad distribution of its small portion of my penny that they receive, that you might as a last act of picture dreaming see the wonderful mountains and valleys that are occupied by those who will in turn receive a part of my penny.

The story that we would impart is simple. The greater the business, the greater the necessity of a careful record of all business transactions, for they must know the figure facts.

I have taken Wrigley's penny gum for an illustration because his advertising appropriation for this year is $6,000,000. That would require the full return receipts for six hundred millions of pieces.

It is the careful management that permits such a small product to be produced and sold at a profit.

It should interest every retailer who is not making money, because he will find that out of small things our great establishments have grown such as Wrigley's, Woolworth's and others.

As you chew your piece of gum, reflect and consider that you must have careful accounting in your business to secure success and that anyone can have a simple accounting system that will assure them of that knowledge of their business.

Romance Rides The Pipe Line-

Conservation of Oil and Natural Gas Supply by Oxy-Acetylene Welding Has Raised New Breed of Adventurers.

Kirbyville, Tex.—A continuous steel tube 210 miles long without coupling or screw-thread connection will be laid this summer between the Texas-Louisiana natural gas fields near Shreveport, La., and Beaumont, Texas—the longest 16-inch diameter pipe line in the world.

WHO says that romance and adventure in the service of America's great public utilities passed away with the last of the trans-continental railroad builders? A new and hardy pioneer stock has arisen to replace the vanished, iron-fisted breed which conquered the wilderness to lay twin rails of steel across mountain, river and desert. It is the pipe-welder, skilled mechanic, who likewise is laying steel, but tubes of steel instead of rails, and who is facing tasks as herculean in the present day and generation as those confronting the railroad builders of a half century ago.

The wildernesses are gone from the face of America, but the mountains, the rivers and the deserts are even as they were in the bygone days—obstacles all of various degrees of obstinacy to be overcome. And the pipe lines, through which pass some of the great natural resources of the country—oil and natural gas—cannot be laid, like the railroad beds, upon the surface of the earth or bridged across river and ravine.

The pipe line goes underground save at the creek or river crossing, and there it rests upon the bed of the stream.

The growing demand for the utmost conservation of America's great natural resources has brought the trade of the pipe-welder to the fore. Pipe lines, using the old screw-thread and coupling method, have cost the public utilities millions of dollars in leakage and more millions for repairs.

Oxy-Acetylene Welding Then came the discovery and perfection of oxy-acetylene welding. The welded joint was greeted with open skepticism—until it proved itself; and the proving was of so recent date that it is only now being accepted by public utilities in general.

The adoption of the practice of welding steel pipe has proceeded to such a state that it is no longer experimental," we learn from E. E. Lunge, an official of the Western United Gas and Electric Company, "and there are very definite reasons why it has the advantage over other methods. Perhaps the most substantial advantages of welded joints are the reduction in leakage, the increased strength of the lines and the lower cost, together with more rapid progress in construction work."

No Leakage Loss From N. E. Wagner, superintendent of welding of the Prairie Pipe Line Company, comes the statement that "our engineering department figures indicate that by welding a line 140 miles long a saving of nearly thirty-five per cent was effected. This saving and the fact that there will be practically no repair or maintenance costs and no loss of oil or damage to land due to oil leakage have convinced us that oxy-acetylene welding is the most efficient method of laying oil-carrying lines."

Thus the modern invention of oxy-acetylene welding has opened anew the romance of the work on the right-of-way. The skilled pipe-welder is in demand in the great open places—for an oil line in Texas, a natural gas line in western Pennsylvania or a water supply line in Montana.

Most Spectacular Job The long steel tube from the Texas-Louisiana natural gas fields to Beaumont, Tex., is the latest and at the same time the most spectacular welding job ever attempted. Across four counties, innumerable small streams and two noble rivers will the great 16-inch pipe be thrust by the Magnolia Gas Company. From Shreveport to Beaumont for 210 miles it will run, the general direction south, the curves of the line following the contour of the country.

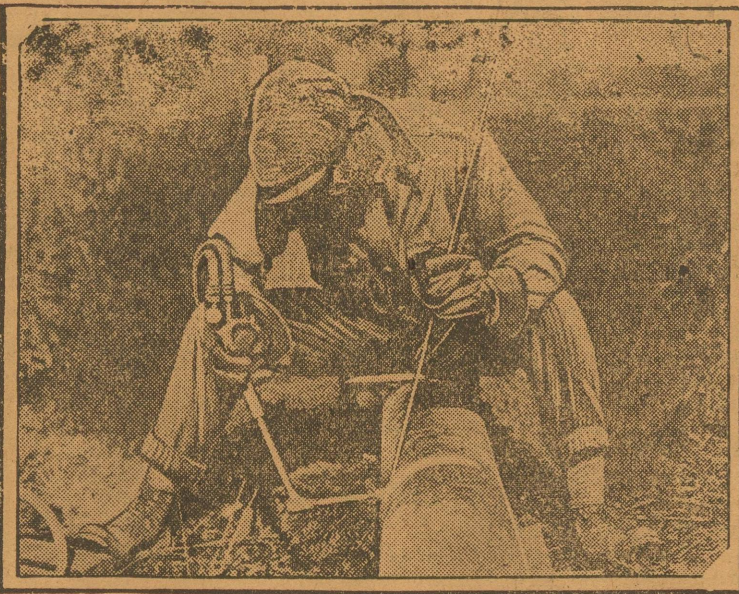

It is the Mecca of the pipe-welders, a clan which scatters to the four corners of the continent in the fall and winter to gravitate unerringly to the oil and natural gas lands with the advent of spring.

The Master of the Steel The welder must be master of the steel, for most of his pipe line work is done in isolated places, far from the machine shop or supply house. He needs only his welding material and the pipe to complete a line through the most inaccessible places, since he is able to cut and weld it to pipe into shape for any kind of a special fitting that may be required. There can be no rush trips back to the shop for special wrenches, dies or fittings on account of unforeseen conditions which always seem to occur on a rush job. The welder is "on his own"; he must cope with every situation.

No more striking instances of isolation can be found than on the 210 mile line being laid in Louisiana and Texas. It is a heavily wooded country, spotted with a few scattered towns and little cultivated land. The "lining-up gangs," as the groups of laborers are called, are already at work on the right-of-way, cutting down trees, blowing up stumps, digging mile after mile of trench, blasting through rock formations, laying staging for the river and ravine crossings, and dragging the pipe to the edge of the ditch.

Lore of the Welders And in Kirbyville, reminiscent of a frontier settlement, the pipe-welders

Steel melts and fuses into a solid permanent joint under the intense heat as the welder works.

have gathered in the construction camp, passed the tests, been grouped in gangs and are out "on the line." There is much exchange in the lore of the trade.

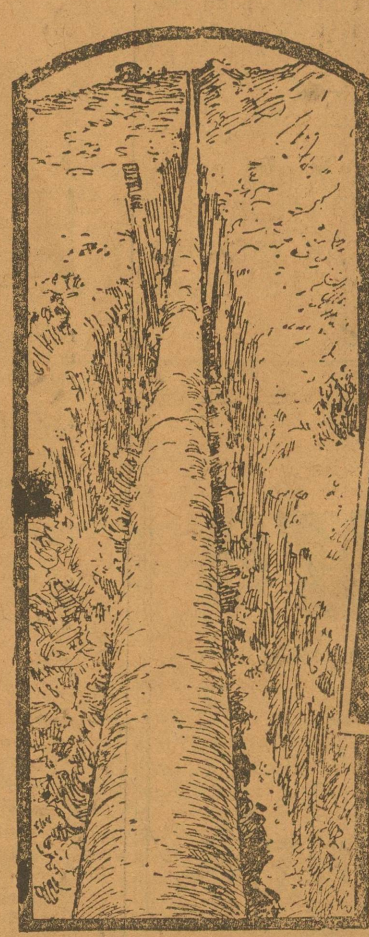

"Remember the 150-foot arroya near Salt Creek last summer and how we welded eight lengths and suspended it while a lot of wiseacres said it wouldn't hold?" "Yeah, and she stood 700 pound pressure, too."

"Reckon this here'll be a hot job; pretty darn warm in Texas." "Hot! Say, you should a been on the Shawnee Loop in '21. That was some weather. Eight-inch pipe, forty-foot lengths, and each welder carryin' an umbrella. That's the fact, the big kind, them you see on a farm wagon. Never had to build no fires to make the bend in the pipe. The metal was so hot from the sun that all we had to do was to roll the pipe on a log, hang a few men on the far end, and over she'd bend, as easy as a green switch."

Glare is the bane of the pipe-welder. Safety demands that he guard his eyes with heavy goggles, for the white-hot end of his welding rod is an inferno. Add the discomforts of a blazing sun upon his bended back and there is no question but what his task calls for fortitude and endurance.

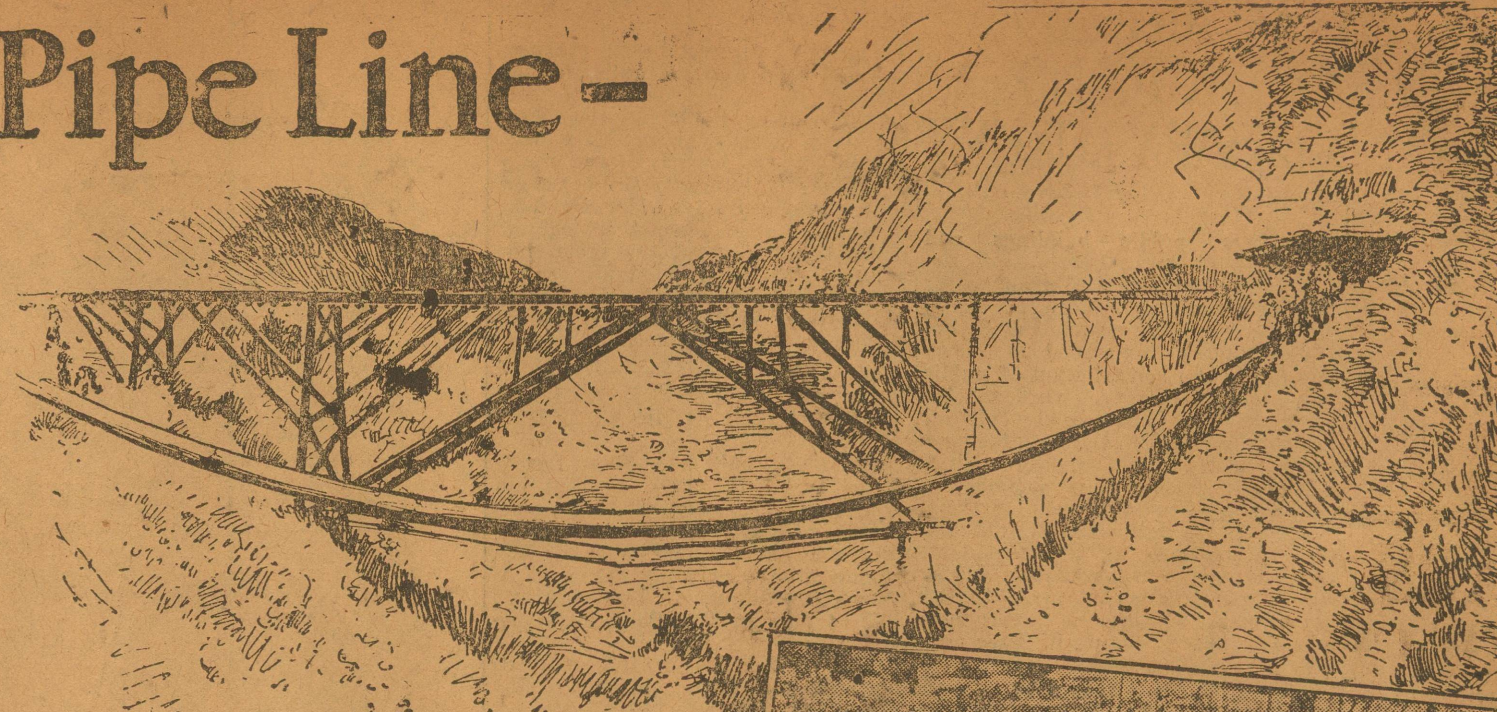

Meanwhile, as fast as it arrives, the equipment is being assembled. Acetylene generators; welding stations, which include thousands of feet of hose, cutting blowpipes, broad-tired wagons, blocks and tackle, tank wagons, and vast quantities of carbide, oxygen and acetylene are being allocated to gangs assigned to certain positions along the line, and moving out like great circus caravans.

The Summer's Task And what lies before them during the hot summer? Work, a man's work, hard physical work, until the long miles of pipes, now lying in innumerable sections, are welded together, shaped to the contour of the rolling land, dropped into the ditches, dragged by tackle across ravines and creeks, spilt over larger streams by steel winches strung across, and then lowered to the bed of the river. Work, flaming work, with the molten metal and the glowing welder's

SUMMER OUTFIT COMPLETE FOR $100., NO MORE

Taste and Discrimination Aid in Dressing on Limited Income.

By HEDDA HOYT (Fashion Editor of United Press) NEW YORK, June 18.—Where one woman spends one hundred dollars on one gown there are hundreds of women who cannot afford to spend more than one hundred dollars on their entire wardrobe.

To be well dressed on a limited amount one must have taste and discrimination developed to the nth degree. The following wardrobe for summer should be adequate for all occasions and should come within the hundred-dollar limit.

The first requisite for the average woman is the tailored suit. Those who have delayed the purchasing of the suit until June sales will find a wide selection at reduced prices to choose from. Practically all of the suits displayed in the earlier part of the season are selling at half price. Thus the $50 suit becomes the $25 suit and a garment which can be worn on cool days throughout the summer and be carried over for fall use.

The Flannel Suit Lately introduced are the flannel-tweed and knitted suits which are meant for sports wear and these are selling very cheaply. At one shop I found silk and wool knit mixture selling for $5 a suit. This had the fashionable boyish jacket and the plain skirt attached to an elastic belt.

The knit suit has one bad feature and that is its sagging or bulging in the rear of the skirt. By wearing the front in the back and thus reversing the skirt now and then, this fault of sagging is partially done away with.

The flannel suit is as chic as it is durable. These are selling around $15 in many shops. Dark colors, such as navy blues, browns and dark mixtures are suggested for the woman with limited means. Colorful trimmings and accessories may be added to give the color spirit desired.

Must Wed to Collect $300,000 Legacy

Hyman L. Lederman, a Malden, Mass., real estate man, has been made beneficiary of the $300,000 estate of an elderly woman to whom he was polite when he was assistant manager of a hotel in which she was a guest. However, he gets only $100,000 in cash, the other $200,000 to be paid him only after he is married. Lederman, who is 25, is looking for the girl.

popular and never out of style. One can purchase such a frock at a sale or at some of the shops which make a specialty of inexpensive ready-made garments for $15 or $20.

The Dinner Gown Most women have occasion to need a dinner gown. The woman of limited means will find it cheaply to have an expensive model copied by her dressmaker than to buy a good looking one in the shops.

For the woman who sews, there is a model displayed by one of the higher priced shops which is easily made and which will meet with the requirements of various occasions. This frock is made of black and tan georgette. The entire upper portion of the frock, which is made in simple, slip-on type, is of black georgette, which extends just below the knees. Here an accordion-pleated flounce of tan georgette is joined to form the present vogue for the flaring hemline. This flounce has a border of tan marabou outlining it, which gives an extremely soft and pretty hemline. There is a wide sash of black satin ribbon placed about the low waistline which ties in a huge bow at one side-front. Sleeves extend just over the shoulder and neckline is rounding.

So extremely simple is this frock that it can easily be made in one day by the average dressmaker. Any simple pattern of slip-on type will be sufficient and the flounce is just a straight piece of pleated material. Such a gown can be made for $12 and can be carried out in all black, gray, tan, etc., or with the mixture of two colors, as it is in the original model. A frock of this sort would do for evening occasions of any sort and it could be worn for dressy afternoon occasions.

While the city woman has little need for the real summery gown, there are days when she feels the need of something thin and cool. Figured mullie is a very suitable material for a gown of this type. There are lovely dark background mullies figured with brilliant or pastel coloring which cost about 75 cents a yard. One can buy these gowns ready-made for $15. By making them at home the cost is more than cut in half.

These frocks are very simply made. To a simple, slip-on frock one adds a front apron of pleated material a sash, and one has a very desirable frock. One of the prettiest frocks I have seen this season need cost the home dressmaker but six or eight dollars. This was a rose and black figured silk mullie with a pleated apron effect in front. Three rows of wide black lace were inserted in the apron before pleating and produced a very striking effect. Neckline and tiny sleeves were piped in black.

The slender woman will want to include at least one voile frock in her summer wardrobe for wear on the very warm days. These sell as low as $5 and launder well and can be worn on occasions where theingham frock is decidedly out of place.

The summer girl needs two sweaters and two white skirts. Very good-looking sweaters are selling for $2 in many shops and white skirts can be quickly and easily made at home, if one wishes to save on their cost. In a sweater and white skirt, one is prepared for almost any resort occasion.

I should say that every woman needs three pairs of shoes and three hats. The conservative woman buys a pair of walking shoes for suit and every day wear, a pair of soft kid shoes for dress wear and a pair of light colored kid shoes for evening wear. There are numerous good shops where shoes sell for $6 a pair. As for hats, one needs a small, ribbon-trimmed cloche felt or straw for suit wear. Since hats are constantly verging towards simplicity, if straw, such a hat is also worn with a dressy afternoon gown. An untrimmed light tan straw hat can be purchased for $2, on the hat counters and a subdued colored straw will go with any color scheme. A band of ribbon is all that is required for trimming. For a dressy hat, what can be better than a wide brimmed affair of horsehair straw, simply trimmed with one huge flower? Such hats sell in the untrimmed department for $4 or $5 and a flower trim is not an expensive accessory.

CHIEF FIGURES IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

The London home of Lady Ludlow, whose first husband was Sir Julius Werhner, diamond king, has been robbed of jewels valued at $250,000, believed to be the most stupendous robbery on record. Dr. William Norman Guthrie, pastor of the Church of St. Marks-in-the-Bowrie, in New York, leader of the modernists in the Protestant Episcopal Church, has finally bowed to the orders of Bishop Manning and eliminated the so-called pagan dances and similar affairs that had been featured in his historic church. Dr. William J. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., world-famous surgeon, told delegates to the American Medical Association convention in Chicago that spleen removal in future would supplant removal of the appendix in the hunt for the ails of the human frame. Arthur Lehman, New York banker, has given $200,000 to Harvard University for an administration building.

REPUBLICANS MAKE FARCE OF LAWMAKING

(Continued from page one) the house (most of the republican members of which are millionaires and some of them manufacturers) were filled with the representatives of money, each with his schedule of tariff rates already made out for insertion in the bill, and skilfully arranged to increase the profits of each industry and factory represented. They even put a high tariff on cotton blankets, though America can manufacture them so cheaply that none were coming from abroad, just to allow the three American concerns which make them to further fatten their enormous profits off the winter misery of the poor.

In 1920 the Beacon company charged off from inventories an amount equal to their entire capital stock, and even after that showed a profit of 100 per cent on their entire preferred stock. They charged off a million from their liquid assets, then showed net quick assets 50 per cent larger than their entire capital stock. In 1925 the company was organized with $800,000 of stock. After heavy annual dividends the insurable value of the plant in 1921 was fully 6,000,000 and the net quick assets equal to about $800 for each $100 share of stock. They made all of that under a 10 per cent duty, but the Fordney law raised it to 45 per cent, equal to a 300 per cent increase. These and many other inequities worked against the people are shown in a lengthy publication in the Congressional Record this week.

ALL-UNIVERSITY DANCES ENJOYED EVEN IN SUMMER

AUSTIN, June 19.—That summer school students of the University of Texas are interested in dancing is shown by the fact that 300 students attended the first all-university dance of the summer session. The attendance is considered remarkable, and students and faculty in charge of the dances plan to continue them for the recreation of the summer school students throughout the term. The dances are held on the campus in the woman's gymnasium, and are free to all who have paid their student activity fees for the support of student enterprises. An eight-piece orchestra, called the Night Owls, furnishes the music. The orchestra is in charge of Colvin Ward of Austin. Just as during the long session, the dances are under the supervision of a faculty social committee, of which the chairman is Miss Lucy J. Newton, dean of wom-

SUTTON OF UNIVERSITY HELD IN HIGH REGARD

AUSTIN, June 19.—That the members of the faculty of the University of Texas have a high regard for Acting President W. S. Sutton is shown by the warm appreciation of his administration which was unanimously adopted and placed on record by the general faculty at their last meeting. "His courage, his high standards, his wise counsels command admiration," the appreciation reads, "and his unflinching courtesy and kindness inspire affection. For his clear and strong statements of the ideals of a true university, Texas owes him enduring gratitude."

NATIONAL GALLERY OF ART BUILDING IN WASHINGTON IS REGARDED AS NECESSARY LUXURY

WASHINGTON.—Supporters of the erection in Washington of a great national gallery of art building are hopeful that when congress re-assembles for its regular session in December the necessary provision for the construction of this building will be made.

For the first time a concrete proposal for the erection by the government of an adequate home for the national gallery of art was submitted during the session just closed. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican leader of the senate, for many years a member of the board of regents of the Smithsonian institution which is the custodian of the national gallery of art, offered an amendment to an appropriation bill authorizing the construction of an art gallery to cost not more than $7,000,000.

Attention of congress and the public was focused by this proposal on the great need of a gallery building in the national capital. The ground work was laid for favorable action by congress at its next session. Senator Lodge proposes to press for consideration of his proposal. The necessary estimates for the building will be sought of the budget bureau in conformity with the law.

The construction of public buildings in Washington and throughout the country, delayed now for a decade due to war expenditures, will be given early and favorable consideration when congress re-assembles, and the national gallery of art building will be one of the projects particularly advocated. The house committee on public buildings and grounds will begin hearings in December on the many bills for public buildings pending before it. President Coolidge has recommended that $50,000,000 be expended in Washington for the construction of public buildings, and every effort will be made to have the gallery of art building included in the building program decided upon for the capital.

The public buildings commission, headed by Senator Smoot of Utah, in offering a bill carrying out the recommendations of the president, called attention to the huge saving of money which it would mean to the government, because the government would be able to reduce its huge rent roll here. The construction of a building for the national gallery of art would also be a source of gain to the government. At present the national gallery is housed inadequately in a section of the national history building of the Smithsonian group. Because of lack of space, the gifts of American citizens to the national gallery, which over a period of 10 years average half a million dollars a year, have dropped practically to nothing. But with a gallery building such as now proposed, these gifts it is predicted would be renewed in augmented form.

When congress re-assembles it will have before it the actual plans and design of the proposed building. Charles A. Platt of New York, selected by the board of regents of the Smithsonian institution, to draw the plans is now at work upon them. The congress already has set aside a site in the Mall for the national gallery building.

The great interest in the proposed erection of a national gallery building was voiced here during the convention in May of the American Federation of Arts, which with its chapters located in all parts of the union is actively pressing for the construction of the building. The American Association of Museums, which met in Washington about the same time adopted resolutions pledging its cooperation to bring about the establishment of such a national gallery building.

THE BEAN'S JOB.

Stude: Say, waiter. Do you call this bean soup?
Waiter: The cook does, sir.
"Why, the bean in this soup isn't big enough to flavor it."
"He isn't supposed to flavor it, sir. He is just supposed to christen it."

Mrs. Herbert Hoover was said to be the one who decided that her husband should not consider overtures to be the Vice-Presidential nominee on the Republican ticket because she did not want him to be relegated to a minor political place.

Judge John R. Caverley, of Chicago, will probably be the presiding judge in the trial of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., self-confessed murderers of little Robert Franks.

General John J. Pershing visited scenes of his youth when he attended commencement exercises at West Point Military Academy, and took the salute as the graduating cadets filed by.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Democratic National Committee, presided at a pre-convention meeting of prominent women who are interested in the form which plans shall take in the Democratic platform.

DIDN'T MEAN TO BE RUDE.

Mrs. Jones: Yes, John, as I was saying, Miss Blank has no manners. Why, while I was talking to her this morning she yawned 11 times.

Old Jones: Perhaps, my dear, she wasn't yawning—she might have wanted to say something.—Good Hardware.

Millionaire Gets Demand For Money To Save His Son

CHICAGO, June 19.—Police and private detectives today guarded the homes of wealthy residents of Ellis avenue, on the south side, following receipt of a letter by Irvin H. Hartman, millionaire merchant, demanding $10,000 in lieu of having his 10-year-old son, Irvin Jr., kidnaped.

The Hartman home is about one block from the home of Jacob Franks, whose 14-year-old son, Robert, was kidnaped and murdered by Nathan Leopold and Robert Loeb, two sons of millionaire residents of the same neighborhood.

Hartman told the police he received the letter late yesterday just before the family sat down to dinner, and it threatened that the boy would be kidnaped if the money was not paid.

"Details will be given later," said the letter.

Does Your Make-Up Match Your Costume?

YOU wouldn't wear a sport hat with a lace dress, or high-heeled slippers with a knitted suit, but does your facial make-up always harmonize with your costume? It should, and does, says B. M. Douglas, cosmetic fashion expert, with women who are careful about the little details that make up perfection. If one wears sport clothes, says this authority, the assumption is that one "goes in" for the things which sport clothes represent, walking, tennis, golf, and so on. If one does all these things, the complexion will naturally have a healthy, warm, tanned appearance, with a touch of pink or red. Therefore a dead white powder would be inappropriate in effect. And, even if one doesn't have the naturally healthy outdoor complexion and still desires to "dress the part," then one must make up to suit it.

So clever chemists have designed, both for the real outdoor girl, and the one who just wants to look the part, richer, warmer tones of make-up. There is Peaches a cream color powder with a tannish tinge, which gives an out of door effect, and Peaches and Cream, which has a pinkish brown tone to blend with sun-burned skin, and to give a "health, vim and vigor" effect.

There is nothing but beauty in this picture. It shows a charming little Dutch miss, who is buried almost to her chin in hyacinth blooms from a bulb farm in Holland. There are more blooms than can be sold at the height of the flowering season and the surius is used to make perfumes.
