"BUMPED OFF" MAY EXPLAIN MAN'S DEATH

Police Investigating Fall of Taylor Man From Eighth Floor of Houton Hotel.

HOUSTON, June 24.—C. F. Henderson of Taylor, Texas, may have been thrown from the eighth story of the Houton hotel here last Sunday. Police are probing reports that he came to them that lend color to the murder theory.

Henderson is known to have drawn $2,100 from his bank in Taylor a week ago, and he drew $750 the next day. This money is largely unaccounted for. He went to Beaumont and stayed there two days at the Crosby hotel, then returned to Houston taking the key to his room at the Crosby hotel with him.

Thursday he went on an outing to a golf point, returning to Houston Friday. He told J. A. Howard, a friend, Saturday morning that he feared he was going to be "bumped off." He said that two men had been following him.

Upon the advice of Howard, who suggested that he change his hotel, and register under an assumed name, Henderson went to the Bender and registered as J. A. Hirsch, late Saturday.

AMERICAN LEGION IS PLANNING TO OBSERVE THE FOURTH OF JULY

The all-day celebration planned by the American legion post here to properly observe the Fourth of July is rapidly going forward. The various committees report that co-operation is being extended on every hand by the people to help the legion boys.

The committee on the automobile parade, headed by Dr. C. C. Craig, report that they will have a better showing of floats, etc., than has been previously staged in Ranger. A big street carnival and dance has been planned for the night of the fourth on Main street between Austin and Rusk.

Postoffice Block In Elm Street Now Is Being Improved

At last the long expected improvement of Elm street has come to pass. Men are now at work laying curbing and plowing the street. Within a few short days the motorist will no longer grash his teeth and express his opinion about a neglect that permits an important street to remain in such a condition. Wade Swift, city sanitary officer, said that at last he would get rid of his mud hole. Curbing with an apron is being laid and the street will be graded and graveled.

The city is paying for half of the cost of the work and the Lions club has undertaken to raise the remaining half. Donations to the Lions fund from any one will be appreciated, Dr. C. C. Craig, president of the club, said. Estimates by the engineers place the total cost of the street work at $638.

J. S. TO HAVE OBSERVER AT CONFERENCE OF PREMIERS

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The United States will probably be represented at the conference of European premiers at the meeting to be held in London in July, but merely by an observer and not by an official representative.

The American government is anxious to take no steps which might involve interference with European affairs, but is willing to do what it can.

Harrison Sounds Keynote of Democratic Campaign Issues

SENATORS ARE NOT OVERLOOKED BY DEMOCRATS

NEW YORK, June 24.—The dignity of the senate, which suffered such a blow at Cleveland when republican members were ignored, is coming to its own in this convention.

In contrast with the extinction of Senators Lodge, Watson et al. at Cleveland, the democrats have selected Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi as the keynote, and Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana as permanent chairman of the convention. Several senators have also been named on the resolutions committee, and in the distribution of lesser offices the senate received more than its share.

Resolution Adopted By Democrats Honor Of President Wilson

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 24.—Following is the resolution prepared by Mrs. Frank Reeves of the state of Washington for passage in tribute to Woodrow Wilson. It will be presented and adopted at the conclusion of the regular program today.

And now as further mark of respect for his memory this convention stands recessed."

DISASTROUS FLOOD IN CHINA TAKES TOLL OF LIFE, RICE AND TEA

SHANGHAI, June 24.—Many persons were drowned and property damaged thousands of dollars by the most disastrous flood in the history of the Min river, according to advices received here.

The rice crop is almost entirely ruined, and many tea plantations are under water.

NEFF THROWS BOMB INTO THE TEXAS GROUP

Governor Declares Smith Too Wet, McAdoo Too Oily to Be President.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Governor Neff of Texas threw a bomb shell into the Texas delegation the explosion of which also caused a trembling in the McAdoo and Smith ranks, when he issued a statement in which he said that Al Smith was too wet and McAdoo too oily to be the democratic nominee for president. Thomas B. Love later issued a reply.

Neff's Statement.

Governor Neff's statement was as follows: "The democratic party meets tomorrow to name a candidate who should and who can win. The selection of either McAdoo or Governor Smith means defeat for the party. Smith is too wet, McAdoo is too oily. Mr. McAdoo's connection with the Doherty nation-wide oil scandal, his improper employment by the Republic Steel corporation and his practice and political influence before the departments of the government immediately after his resignation as head of the treasury department makes him absolutely unacceptable as a party leader to the millions of voters who constitute the virtue and the backbone of the American people. If we are to succeed politically meet on the field of political conflict the enemies of clean government we must do it with a leader who has never been the attorney for the sinister, corrupting influences in this country. The democratic party can not win a national victory if led by one, whatever may be his public professions, who is, or has been improperly associated with those who corrupted with oil money, cabinet officers of this nation. The unfortunate division of our party at this moment between those two impossible candidates..."

CONVENTION MAY EXTEND OVER WEEKS

Dramatic Fights Over Platform and Candidates Likely to Cause Deadlocks.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 24.—Many famous fights and many circuses have been held in the historic Madison Square Garden, but none has matched the combination of both that began today with the opening of the democratic national convention.

"Fair and cooler" was the official convention weather forecast, but higher temperature and storms were the unmistakable outlook for the convention area as delegates and ticket holders filed towards the garden long before the opening hour at noon. It is to be a week of dramatic sensation, possibly two weeks of it, and each of these sensations means danger to the party chances next fall.

Although the danger of the Ku Klux Klan, the League of Nations and prohibition are clearly in evidence, they are in the background for the moment, overshadowed by the impending fight between the men who aspire to lead the party in the coming campaign.

At their headquarters, temporarily out of the stirring picture of action in the convention, the leading candidates await their turns to appear before the footlights, but on the platform and among the delegates are such well known party leaders as Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war; William Jennings Bryan, Senator Copeland of New York, Governor Albert Ritchie of Maryland and many others who may be singled out and struck by the presidential lightning before the quadrennial session ends.

THE WEATHER.
West Texas—Tonight and Wednesday, generally fair, continued warm weather.

YOUNG PARTY LEADER GIVES BATTLE GAGE

National Democratic Convention Opens in New York; Crowds Attending.

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, June 24.—The democratic wheel began its maddest whirl in New York today, as delegates from 48 states and six territories met in national convention to choose a presidential and vice presidential candidate.

Who those nominees will be and upon what platform they will run no one predicts. But what every one knows—that this will be the hardest fought democratic convention in many years.

Pushing, clamoring crowds began to seige upon Madison Square Garden, the campaign site, in the early morning hours, and long before 11 a. m., the hour of meeting, practically every seat in the great auditorium was occupied.

There was excitement everywhere. In the convention hall there was the turbulent symphony of thousands of voices, the scuffle of feet, the odor of perfume and many bodies—and an atmosphere as tense as a fiddle-string.

If the delegates themselves could forget that they are here on business, New York wouldn't let them. New York is interested in the democratic national convention—its own son—Al Smith is one of the most prominent candidates.

And so, along Broadway, the cafe night-birds were to be seen about, blinking in the morning sun, but determined to be in on the fun.

The New York police force—certainly the handsomest constabulary in the world—was out in force around the garden, keeping the crowds in order and guarding the doors.

When Cordell Hull, chairman of the democratic national committee, finally advanced to the front of the speakers' platform, the crowd in the great auditorium came to attention, but the rumble of voices persisted.

On the Main Floor.

Down on the main floor where the delegates sit, the banners of states ran back in rows to the far reaches of the hall's cavern. Iowa, Mississippi, California—all one solid block of men and women.

The gayety, however, came from the galleries. It was the banners there and the cheering mobs and the faces leaning far over balcony rails that showed the visitors how popular Al Smith is in his home town.

Smith banners were scattered everywhere. There were those, too, of his foremost opponent—the Californian, William Gibbs McAdoo.

Chairman Hull swung his gavel down exactly as the clock struck eleven—and long minutes later, when the hubbub subsided, the democratic national convention was actually underway.

The next move was a traditional one in the history of conventions—the invocation of Divine blessing upon the gathering. There was comparative silence while the prayer arose, except for the nervous movement of shifting feet. Finally, the ultimate "amen" was uttered, and from the center of the auditorium, the 10th regiment band crashed into the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner."

For a moment, party differences were obliterated and only country remained. Swelling throats made the garden shake with the might of their melody.

And now the business begins. Hull presents Charles Greathouse of Indiana, secretary of the democratic national committee. He reads the call to convention—which is the official warrant of the gathering.

Then the slate of proposed temporary officers is presented, including Senator Pat Harrison the fiery-tongued Mississippi orator. The slate is adopted without discussion.

There is a flutter among the ladies as the handsome Senator Harrison advances to the platform to be temporary chairman of the convention, and to sound the "keynote" of the democratic presidential campaign. There are cheers from the delegates.

Harrison Is Popular.

Harrison is popular throughout the party. He is a commanding figure and one of the youngest of the democratic senatorial leaders. True, his hair is receding from the forehead, and a ghost of a paunch threatens his middle—but there is a boyish (Continued on Page Four)

Underwood Looms Up Among the Dark Horses In Betting

NEW YORK, June 24.—Underwood backers showed up in Wall street today and forced the betting on the Alabama senator as the presidential nominee from 1 to 4 to 1 to 3 1/2, brokers reported.

The largest single bet on any dark horse was placed on Underwood as the democratic presidential nominee, $5,000 to $17,000 that he would be the nominee.

Al Smith's stock was quoted a little higher, 1 to 2 1/2.

William G. McAdoo was quoted at 1 to 3.

BATTLE IS ON IN DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Delegates Show Lots of Pep and Ambitions, Shouting, Marching and Singing.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 24.—The democratic convention battle of 1924 is on. The temperature is around 90 degrees and the atmosphere at a still higher tension. Cordell Hull, chairman of the democratic national committee, called the convention to order at 12:44 o'clock, and what promises to be the most memorial session in the party's history got under way.

Several moments were required for Hull to get order. Then Cardinal Hayes was introduced to give the benediction. He asked for a blessing on this country and especially on the delegates charged with the responsibility of selecting the presidential candidate.

The band struck up the "Star Spangled Banner." Tiny flags released from a huge flag floated down over the delegates. Miss Anna Case, Metropolitan opera soprano, sang the Star Spangled Banner and the crowd joined in the chorus.

The gavel used in calling the convention to order, was broken with the first smash. Chairman Hull was introduced, and after getting order through the beating of a new gavel, announced the invocation. First, he said Cardinal Gibbons would lead in prayer, but after a couple of more false starts, announced that it was Cardinal Hayes.

Temporary Organization Secretary Greathouse of the democratic national committee read roll call for the convention and temporary officials were put into nomination. Senator Pat Harrison led off as temporary chairman. Announcement of his name brought cheers and hand clapping.

The following temporary officers were elected: Secretary, Charles A. Greathouse, Indiana. Executive secretary, Bert New, Washington, D. C.

The chair recognized ex-Governor Campbell of Ohio, who asked that the following delegation be named to escort Harrison to the chair: Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Nebraska, Miss Caroline Rutz-Reese, Connecticut, and Newton D. Baker, Ohio.

Pat's appearance was greeted with prolonged cheers and applause. "Tear the hide off them," "we're counting on you," and similar shouts went up. Harrison waited for quiet and then slowly proceeded with his keynote speech to the convention. At the end of the first paragraph of his remarks, as he spoke of the republican party as the worst boss ridden conclave of the generation, there was applause from the floor, "More, more," was called.

As he went slowly along with the address, the heat began to work on Harrison. Slowly, but steadily, his collar began sinking, but the delegates wanted more. "Atta, boy," was shouted again and again.

Wilson Is Honored
Then came the first reference to Woodrow Wilson. Like a shot every delegate leaped to his feet with a piercing yell. The banner man of the Ohio delegation lifted his banner and started a parade. All standards quickly formed into line and the march went forward and shouts of "Wilson" and cheers continued as the band struck up marching airs.

MAUGHAN MAKES NEW RECORD IN FAR FLIGHTS

Crosses United States, From Ocean to Ocean, Between Dawn and Dusk.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Faster almost than the sun itself, Lieut. Russell L. Maughan flew by daylight, Monday, one of the longest days of the year, from Mitchell Field, New York, to Crissy Field, here, and the dream of airmen of a cross-continent, dawn to dusk flight became a reality.

A new era in aviation has been opened up by the courageous and successful venture. Congratulations were showered by fellow airmen and army officers upon the officer who left the Atlantic coast at 2:59 a. m. Monday and arrived at the Pacific coast 21 hours, 45 minutes later. It seemed to bring nearer what the army men visualize as a fleet of airplanes on one coast called by wire or wireless to the defense of the other coast and spanning the continent within a few hours.

It was slightly after dusk when Maughan landed at Crissy Field, but airmen pointed out that he had met with several delays on the way, and that, anyhow, he had actually beaten the sun, because the sun was actually up 37 minutes before the little plane hummed off into the west, and the flyer actually arrived 5 minutes ahead of schedule.

Lieutenant Maughan was air-sick a couple of dozen times during the flight, he said. He ate little between the time of his departure from the east and his arrival in the west. His face was burned, his eyes sunken and bloodshot and his hands trembled. The airman was bundled off to bed after he had sketched a brief picture of the flight.

"In the mountain country, we (me and my plane)," he said, "made 140 miles an hour, and over level country we did better than 150 miles an hour, I think."

Maughan went aloft in the first flush of day at Mineola. Before he had banked down here a new darkness had descended. Aurora was still the fleetest, but Maughan had accomplished something no airman ever did before and set a new mark for aviators to reach for.

Spaulding Joins Office Staff Of Ranger State Bank

Clyde R. Spaulding, 27, formerly of Chickasha, Okla., officially took over the duties of head bookkeeper at the Ranger State bank Monday morning.

Mr. Spaulding is filling the vacancy made when Guy Greager was accidentally drowned at Olden lake last Tuesday night.

Spaulding comes to Ranger with an excellent record, and is highly recommended by former employers. He has had approximately seven years' experience in banking, having been connected with the old Texas Bank & Trust company of Ranger, and later with the F. & M. bank here when the two consolidated, and he left Ranger one year ago this week.

Spaulding was an intimate friend of the late Guy Greager, whose place he is taking, having worked with him in the boom days in Ranger banks.

Mr. Spaulding said that he had worked at Sherman, Denison, Corsicana and different localities in Oklahoma and that Ranger was more active and looked more like an up-to-date town than did any of those places in many particulars.

GOOD PEOPLE NEED ENCOURAGEMENT.
 The tendency of the times is too high flying, fast going, and deep diving.

The preacher devotes eight years at least to college and seminary courses and then begins to preach by telling the people about the last things he studied, things which they could not comprehend without similar courses of study. If the preacher is earnest and diligent, and really desirous of reaching the people, and of rendering them real aid and assistance he may, after eight years' preaching, reach their level. He does this by forgetting the second-hand stuff learned at school.

Art galleries, as a rule, are but curiosity shops to the average visitor, those whom they have been established to instruct and to improve in taste, and to develop a love for the beautiful.

Specialists in art, music and literature seem to abominate the term popular, and that in spite of the fact that it expresses the spirit and the taste of the populace—the people.

The popular taste is for that which is good, the best within its reach. But when the good music, art and literature is placed out of its reach—beyond its conception—it takes ragtime, to caricature, to the cheap novel and the yellow journal.

Can you blame the populace for being unappreciative when its reasonable demands are not respected? There isn't anything too good for the good people. As for the bad you may think what you will. It is the good people who need to be helped and encouraged.

Good people in these times are those who are desirous of better things, and doing what they can to help themselves, and others, to get more and better returns for the time, talent and energy expended.

The new French cabinet may have a short existence, but this depends on its acts. For the most part the ministers have never served before, and those radicals who might be thought to have real claims refrain from all complaint. The new premier has selected men who have never been prominently identified as politicians. Paul Painleve, after all, decided to remain at his post of the presidency of the chamber of deputies and he was not included in the cabinet. Besides being inexperienced, as indeed is Edouard Herriot himself, the cabinet is moderate in complexion. Nevertheless it has been selected entirely out of the radical party.

The city manager plan in Berkeley, Calif., started a year ago with a deficit of $2,000. Today the treasury has a surplus of $65,000, and a vast amount of new work has been accomplished.

PARENTS FAIL IN THEIR DUTY TO CHILDREN

Church Educational Secretary Says Education Without Character Is Menace

By United Press.
 PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—Busy parents, who have not time to properly care for their children are responsible for the Leopold-Loeb-Franks case in Chicago, according to Dr. William C. Covert, general secretary of Christian education of the Presbyterian church. Covert lives in Philadelphia.

"I know the parents of the Leopold and Loeb boys and they are seemingly fine people," Dr. Covert said, in discussing the case. "They are intelligent, but they were too busy to attend to their sons' education. Therein lies the answer. An educated person without character is a menace. He has no moral direction to his life, nothing to guide him in the right way and consequently is self-indulgent and anti-social."

"A man who has no moral education comes pretty close to the jungle. He reverts to the rule of the beast and there you have the cause for this crime in Chicago. There you have the difficulty with Leopold and Loeb. Both boys were intelligent, both had everything that money would buy, but they were lacking in something far more precious—moral stability.

"My son was a councillor in a camp in Wisconsin which Loeb attended. He knew him as only persons who have lived in the open together can know each other. Loeb at that time was a healthy, normal boy, inclined to be mischievous, but not vicious. He grew older and his brain developed, but he had no restraint placed upon his normally active thoughts. Consequently he took the path the result of which is known all over the world.

"There is no question of sanity in this case. Both boys are admittedly brilliant, but they have not schooled themselves to restraint. They followed their impulses, regardless of where it led them.

"The biggest necessity in the world today is the arousing in American parents a consciousness of their responsibility to their children. When this is done there will be fewer cases of juvenile delinquency and the world will be a better place to live in."

 Replying to Governor Neff, Thomas B. Love, national committeeman from Texas, showing visible traces of anger, said:

"Governor Neff has now come out in the open," he said. "He has aligned himself with the most vicious and corrupt elements in American politics now seeking to destroy McAdoo because he is a dry and has dared to defy Wall street. The situation in New York today is plain. Governor Neff understands it fully. The line is clearly drawn. On one side of the line are the people, and their interests and welfare. That is McAdoo's side of the line. On the other side is the demimonde and every brewer and liquor dealer, corrupt politician, bootlegger and gambler in the land. Governor Neff is

Soccer Football Most International Of Modern Sports

By FRANK GETTY, United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, June 24.—Soccer football is perhaps the most truly international of all modern sports.

This was strikingly demonstrated at the Olympic games earlier this month. Instead of the United States, Great Britain and France monopolizing victories in the Olympic soccer competition, we found what four countries fighting it out in the semi-finals and finals.

That the game is played, and played well, in every country. The Swiss could scarcely be expected to hold their own in deep-sea diving, and pole vaulting is thus far a lost art in soviet Russia, but in every land there is some level sward and some boys and men willing to get out and kick a ball around.

The four countries that outlasted all others in Olympic elimination matches and came down to the final tests—Uruguay, Switzerland, Sweden and Holland—showed different styles of play, different qualifications of championship caliber.

The Swiss team was the best at the short game, dribbling and passing, feinting and at trick plays. Yet the Uruguayans were them to a frazzle in the finals and beat them handily, 3 to 0.

Sweden's big husky team was defeated by the diminutive Swiss in the semi-final and Holland lost to Uruguay in a game which was vainly protested. Sweden then beat Holland and the final standing was:

1. Uruguay; 2. Switzerland; 3. Sweden; 4. Holland.

Neither will Czechoslovakia, nor the Irish Free State, nor Bulgaria. Yet these countries furnished soccer teams that were in the running after those of the United States and France had been eliminated.

One reason for the truly international scope of soccer is its simplicity. It is played on a level field, the object being to kick a ball between two posts and beneath a third. Eleven men play on a side and that is about all there is to the game.

Different nations may develop different technique; some may use their heads like feet or their feet like heads, and work up a tricky passing game, but, after all, there is the ball, and the single idea of the game is to work it down the field some way and kick it through that goal.

Probably this simplicity, more than anything else, accounts for the fact

FEELS IT HER DUTY TO GIVE FACTS TO PUBLIC

The wonderful value of Karnak as a strength builder for convalescents and in cases of a general run-down condition is again forcefully demonstrated, this time in the case of Mrs. B. Russell, 4148 Travis st., Dallas.

"A month ago I had an attack of bronchial pneumonia and yellow jaundice at the same time," says Mrs. Russell, "and when I got up it seemed impossible for me to get back my strength. If I attempted to do the slightest housework I would have to give up and go to bed and the least excitement would get me dreadfully upset."

ROSE TREE DEVELOPED BY GRAFTING CUTTING TO LOCUST SAPLING

A rose cutting grafted to a black locust sapling four years ago by a horticulturalist at Plainview, Texas, has produced most gratifying results, according to reports from there. The locust sapling has grown into a 10-foot tree and the rose cutting has thrived and developed with unexpected vigor, so that the tree is now covered with beautiful roses—hundreds of them. In fact between 400 and 500 blossoms have been counted on the tree at one time.

The tree has no branches below the six-foot mark, all having been clipped off, but above that the limbs have spread like the limbs of the black locust, covered with leaves that resemble rose leaves. The roses are said to have much fragrance.

WILL H. SMITH IS CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

Says He Was First to Enter Race and Asks for Support of Voters.

Will H. Smith, a resident of Eastland county for two score years, has entered the race for sheriff. He introduces himself and his platform in the announcement that follows: Knowing that the voters of this county honestly desire to select as their sheriff a man competent and at the same time honest and temperamentally fit as such officer, and realizing that every voter's vote is his or hers to exercise and that they will exercise their suffrage honestly, I take this method of soliciting your vote in my interest for the office of sheriff of Eastland county.

I am 47 years old, man of family. Some 40 years ago my father located in the southwest part of Eastland county and I have lived in this county, adjoining counties and West Texas ever since. Have been farming and stockraising all of my life. Have been just a plain democrat and voted the ticket since I gained my majority. I am the first man in the race to announce for the office of sheriff and I promise the same fair and unprejudiced service to every voter having business with the sheriff's office, if elected. I am a man of limited means and aside from the honor you will confer on me as sheriff you will at same time render to me a financial favor that I will not regard lightly.

I ask you as a voter to make inquiry concerning my fitness for the honor I am asking at your hands and if in your wisdom you see proper to cast your vote for me I promise you honest, efficient service—a square deal to all—regardless of your station in life, and I shall ever be on the alert to serve all alike. Thanking you for your vote on July 26 and for your influence and interest in my behalf for the office of sheriff. Signed: WILL H. SMITH.

grin on his face and a conquering glint in his eyes. When his ovation has subsided, Senator Pat begins. And what a flood of oratory pours into the auditorium! Harrison has served an apprenticeship in the hardest and best school of florida speech—the south. He has held the senate spellbound with the race of his wit and drive of his words. He knows how to charm, enrage, hypnotize an audience. He does not fail here.

If there was any lack of enthusiasm when the convention begins, there certainly is none now. There are roars of laughter, boos, hisses, cheers, as Harrison cracks his sharp whip against the hide of the G. O. P. element. Harrison denounces the last four years of republican administration. He speaks of the "vacillating foreign policy of the Hughes-Harding-Coolidge" government and the garden thinking of the league of nations yells its approbation.

He gives the democrats of congress the credit for effecting tax reduction, denouncing the late Mellon plan as an iniquitous financial scheme for the relief of the wealthy only. He praises Senator Simmons, the democratic financial expert, and father of the proposed 40 per cent surtax. He tells the delegates that the democratic party has always been the party of the people, by the people, and for the people.

And then he comes to the climax of his speech—that portion in which vindictive eloquence will be given full play—the congressional investigations. While the galleries rock with tumult, he describes the republican party as "a passul of rascals," or words to that effect. He reports the findings of the Teapot Dome committee, praises the work of Senator Tom Walsh, Montana, its prosecutor.

Nor does he forget to mention Forbes, former Attorney General Daugherty, Secretary Denby, Secretary Fall and others whose names have gained newspaper prominence as the result of the work of investigators. When Harrison has concluded, he will attempt to transact the rest of the business—but with difficulty. The delegates have had too much excitement, have experienced too much emotion to relish dry-as-dust routine. But that routine is one of the most important things in the convention. It determines who will control.

When that is done and the announcements have been completed, the gavel will fall—and the great convention will adjourn until tomorrow noon.

Speed, 500 kilometers, 73.41 miles per hour. Old record, 72 miles per hour.

Dummy of Baseball Catcher Aids Indoor Practice

With the aid of a small indoor cage, containing a target placed back of lines to represent the home plate and the batter's position, baseball pitching practice may be obtained regardless of the weather. The target is made of heavy canvas and is attached by metal eyelets to a portable frame, six feet high and four feet wide. The life-size figure of a catcher is painted on the canvas and a scoring chart below gives rating for balls and strikes in training. The "strike area" is plainly indicated on the figure of the catcher in heavy red lines. As the ball hits the canvas it rebounds and on a smooth surface will roll back to the pitcher for another delivery. The target is also an aid in batting practice and for coaching individual pitchers or squads. It is made in two sizes, one for girls or boys in elementary schools and the other for students in colleges.

Trick Furniture Saves Rent and Space in Apartments. With the constantly increasing demand for economy of space because of the high rentals demanded for city apartments, the building of what is known as "trick" furniture has developed into an industry, and its design has challenged the ingenuity of inventors in all parts of the country. Beds that fit in doors, kitchenettes hidden in tables, ironers folded out of sight in attractive cabinets, radio outfits concealed in tea wagons, and many other useful devices have been constructed to save space with a consequent lowering of rents. Furnaces that are as decorative in appearance as a phonograph, and electric stoves that automatically shut off the current when the food is done, help to lighten the burdens of the modern housekeeper. As a result, three rooms may be made to meet the requirements which previously needed six.

Roller Protects Barn Corner

Farm buildings sometimes are so arranged that when hay is hoisted into the barn the team must be driven around a corner of one building in order to avoid another. This causes the rope to rub hard against the corner, not only wearing it out quickly but also bruising the corner. In one case injury to both corner and rope was prevented by arranging a steel roller vertically along the edge of the building as shown. The roller consisted of a 4-ft. length of 2-in. iron pipe, turning on bolts fitted into the ends. The bolts were in turn held by short pieces of 2 by 4-in. wood, nailed securely to the barn. The roller has been in use for two or three years and has never failed in its purpose.

Putty for Floor Cracks

Cracks in a floor that is stained and varnished may be filled with a putty consisting of 2 parts of glue, 14 parts of water, 4 parts of plaster of paris, and 2 parts of litharge. This putty will take the stain and varnish well.

New York Plans Great Broadcasting Station. Fifty thousand dollars have been appropriated for the erection of a great municipal broadcasting station in New York, and soon people all over the country will be able to hear the music the metropolis enjoys, and to listen to the great speakers and artists that visit the country's largest city. According to Commissioner Whalen, this means that at least 300,000 persons in the park can enjoy the band concerts in the city this summer, instead of only a few thousands around the bandstands, and that a million radio fans throughout the country can hear the famous bands and artists that delight New Yorkers.

Good Use for Old Carpet Sweeper

When a carpet sweeper no longer sweeps it is usually thrown away. Upon examination, it will be found, however, that quite some bristle is still left on the roller, which may be used a few more years as a push brush of the kind shown in the drawing. The brush and the wooden handle are removed from the sweeper box and also the metal brace that holds the handle. The shaft of the brush has a bearing hole at each end which usually fits the two pivots on the brace. It may be necessary to bend the brace together a little in order to hold the brush securely. If Found Mentally Responsible He Will Be Arraigned for Murder.

GENEVA, Ill., June 21.—The sanity trial of Warren J. Lincoln, Aurora, who confessed slaying his wife, Mrs. Lina Shoup Lincoln and her brother, Byron Shoup, is scheduled to begin in the circuit court here Monday. Lincoln confessed to one of the most sensational murders in the history of Illinois. On the result of the trial hangs the immediate fate of Lincoln, former lawyer and horticulturist. If the jury finds him sane, he will face trial for murder and the death sentence will be asked, according to State's Attorney Charles Abbott. If the jury pronounces him insane, Lincoln will be sent to the penitentiary for the criminal insane at Chester.

MURDER CHARGED

Should he recover while there, he would be delivered to Kane county authorities and tried for murder. Whether Lincoln was sane at the time of the alleged murders will not be gone into, lawyers said. The morbid and peculiar circumstances surrounding the alleged crimes, however, have brought forth a variety of opinions about Lincoln's mental condition from alienists and lawyers.

Alienists employed by the prosecution, including Dr. R. A. Hilton, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane, at Elgin, and Dr. J. H. Gagahagan, superintendent of the Mercyville sanitarium, have declared Lincoln sane. Lincoln, they said, must have been sane, or he would not have cut up the bodies of his victims, put the heads in a sack, and burned the remainder of the bodies. According to the state's alienists, insane men do not mutilate the bodies of their victims, but on the contrary walk away without touching them.

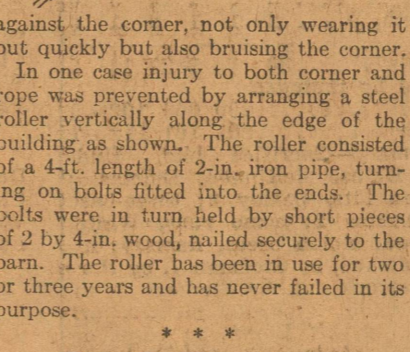

However, much opinion is divided about Lincoln's sanity, it is agreed that the crimes were the work of a morbid intellect. The most ghastly of the tales of Edgar Allan Poe hardly equals in horror the story Lincoln confessed to Aurora police. Excuse for Killing. Lincoln related that he killed his wife and brother-in-law because he discovered them in an act of unlawful intimacy together. Authorities doubted that part of the story. He said that he then severed each of his victim's heads from their bodies. After carrying the bodies to his greenhouse, near the Lincoln home, he said he crammed them into the furnace there and burned them to ashes.

But Lincoln apparently did not want to destroy all symbols of his "revenge." He told how he wrapped the head of his wife and her brother in pieces of burlap, then placed them in a box, into which he poured concrete. When the concrete had hardened, Lincoln put the heavy slab that concealed his secret under a porch of his home, he said. It made a good support, and he liked to see it there, he said. Lincoln finally became tired of seeing the slab and he carted it to the city dump. But he didn't forget it. It was Lincoln who pointed the slab out to Aurora police. When they opened it and removed the burlap, the de-tunkated heads of the victims stared

The Romance of Medical Achievement

Discoveries which prolong life and prevent disease have been wrested from the great unknown storehouse of nature by physicians and allied scientists. Many of them have devoted their entire lifetimes to unlocking the secrets of nature in a self-sacrificing effort to conquer disease.

You may throw away the telephone, telegraph, steam and gas engines, electric motor, submarine and airplane, if you will, but keep the great agencies for health, happiness and efficiency in medical discoveries, such as

- ETHER AND CHLOROFORM for relieving pain; OPIUM and its alkaloids, to diminish suffering; ANTISEPTICS to keep away and cure infections; X-RAY to determine conditions unseen by the unaided eye; MICROSCOPE to detect the causes of disease; RADIUM for the cure of cancer, etc. CHOLERA was banished by determining the bacillus and purifying drinking water; TYPHOID epidemics are relieved by vaccine and sanitation; YELLOW FEVER was traced to mosquitoes and banished from the U. S.; SMALLPOX may be prevented by vaccination; MALARIA is controlled by swamp drainage and mosquito destruction; DIABETES is relieved by the new discovery, Insulin; DIPHTHERIA is cured by antitoxin; RABIES has been stamped out by the Pasteur treatment; LOCKJAW is unknown when serum is used.

Hundreds of other scientific discoveries have been made by scientific physicians and their allies. Not a single modern discovery for the permanent relief of suffering humanity can be attributed to superstition, theory or cults.

When you or your family becomes ill, call in an educated, licensed physician. His training equips him to recognize the cause of your illness and prescribe the safest remedies for it.

NOTE—Dr. E. H. Cary of Dallas will speak at Liberty Theatre, Ranger, Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock on this extremely interesting subject. You will consider it an hour well spent to attend this lecture. Be there, for the sake of your own health and that of your family.
