Churches To Begin Holy Week Events

Week Of Religious Activity Commemorates Christ's Crucifixion

Big Spring churches today will reflect the advent of the most sacred season of the religious calendar—Holy Week. Two churches will use the day to start revival meetings, and one other has a meeting in full progress.

At the St. Mary's Episcopal church, there will be Holy Communion at 10 a. m. Tuesday, again on Maundy Thursday at 8 p. m., followed by a service of meditation on Good Friday from 12 noon to 1 p. m.

For the first time the West Side Baptist church will get to use its Baptistry in the evening service today when converts in the revival now in progress under leadership of the Rev. Sam Brian will be baptized.

Tuesday evening marks the opening of a two-week revival at the Church of the Nazarene with the Rev. Buford Battin, Dallas, as the evangelist.

A series of sermons on the Ten Commandments will be concluded at the morning service by the Rev. F. D. O'Brien at the First Baptist church.

The Rev. C. H. Johnson, a former Texan who comes from Los Angeles, Calif., will lead the congregation of the Main Street Church of God in a pre-Easter revival this week.

"The Church Militant" will be the subject for the pastor's sermon at 10:30 a. m. today at the First Christian church.

Dr. P. Marion Simms, outstanding Presbyterian minister who recently moved here, will fill the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church for both services today while the pastor, Rev. O. R. Savage, is at Loti.

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

With things moving at such a whirlwind tempo these days, we are apt to forget some of the things to which we must look for support in the years ahead.

We suggest you take time out Monday or Tuesday to go out to the county warehouse in the northwest part of town and see the calves, lambs and pigs our young farmers and ranchers have fed out.

But far more important than calves is our juvenile problem. It's still going on, you know. No later than Saturday two youngsters tried to make away with a couple of tires and got caught by police.

Some of the most sensible words to date on the subject were uttered last week by H. L. Priebeht, SMU sociology professor. His point was to get down to the roots and get at the real trouble.

This week the first of two local elections will be held when voters of Big Spring and Howard county choose school trustees.

Our baseball fortunes in the West Texas-New Mexico league are once more at low ebb. It now appears the franchise will go to Tampa and based on the set-up this year, it may be just as well.

As a one-man safety council, we venture that our traffic stop lights at certain points in the city are doing about as much as a crossing watchman with an untit lantern.

Comes a suggestion, or rather a complaint, from a reader to wit: Employers in retail stores are taking up customer parking spaces in front of stores.

Ordinarily we're inclined to agree that about four out of five national weeks ought to be plowed under, but the clean-up week campaign in the office for Big Spring is one we need.

The passing of H. Clay Read last week once more shocks us to the realization that we rapidly are moving away from all living connections with the first days of Big Spring.

Survivors Of Five Sunken Ships Land

The survivors of five torpedeed vessels have reached the safety of widely scattered Atlantic ports, but at least 24 of their shipmates are known to be lost and hope is rapidly waning for another group adrift in a lifeboat.

Germans Launch Counter-Attacks

MOSCOW, March 28 (AP)—Driven back upon the defense of fortified villages and cities by the crushing waves of the soviet winter offensive, the German armies have switched tactics to open-field fighting in savage counter-attacks aimed at shaking off the Russians' iron grip and gaining fresh footholds for a spring push.

That was the picture of the military situation as it was drawn tonight both by an authoritative foreign military source who has been with the red army at the front, and by the army newspaper Red Star.

Each conceded that the nazis, on all sectors of the huge front, are counter-attacking furiously at tremendous cost in this all-or-nothing effort to regain the initiative.

While the foreign military observer expressed the utmost confidence in the current Soviet campaign with its constant threat of outflanking and encircling the Germans, he declared that it would be essential for the allies to open a second front against the nazis in order to score a knockout blow this year.

(Most observers consider an allied drive through northern Norway and Finland as the most feasible means of creating a new front.)

The foreign source stressed the difficulties that will confront both armies during the coming weeks of spring—difficult for the Germans because of the constant pressure of the Russians on their front lines and the mounting guerrilla assaults against their communications; difficult for the Russians because they are hammering their way into enemy-held territory; difficult for both because the spring thaws will create a morass of mud in which it will be well nigh impossible to move men, machines and supplies.

BERN, Switzerland, March 28 (AP)—Bulgaria was pledged in principle to war against Russia today by her premier, Bogdan Philov, but he avoided an outright promise of the troops which Adolf Hitler has demanded of King Boris.

"Thanks to our army," Philov told the Bulgarian parliament, the little Balkan kingdom could fulfill her tasks in the axis and was ready for all sacrifices. He declared "the destruction of bolshevism" was essential, the French news agency Havas reported from Sofia.

In Personality Child Event -- Youngsters To Take Over Studio Monday

The "youngest generation" is due to take over at the Kelsey studio beginning Monday. It will be the first day of picture making for the "Personality Child" photo event, sponsored jointly by Kelsey and The Herald—a picture judging affair which will be climaxed with presentation of $50 in defense bonds and stamps to ten winners and with publication of every child's picture in a special edition of The Herald.

Judges And Commissioners To Meet Here

Big Spring will entertain the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners association in their next meeting this autumn.

Invitation of the city was accepted as the association closed its convention Saturday in San Angelo. It is the first time Big Spring has had the convention since the autumn of 1938.

Approximately 300 attended the association's meeting, which was addressed last night by Gov. Coke Stevenson and today by George A. High, chief accountant of the board of county and district road indebtedness.

Another urged legislation to take all streams and rivers, 80 feet wide or more, away from private land owners and give them to the public for recreational purposes.

Attending from here were County Judge W. S. Morrison, County Commissioners Pancho Nall and J. Ed Brown, M. H. Morrison, J. H. Greene and Charley Sullivan.

H. Clay Read Rites Today

Final tributes will be paid at 4 p. m. today in the First Christian church to H. Clay Read, 82, who, with one exception, had lived in Big Spring longer than any other person.

Commandos Strike Again -- U-Boat Lair Damaged

LONDON, March 28 (AP)—Britain's combined force of commandos, airmen and sailors making their most spectacular raid yet upon the German-occupied French coast, converted a former United States destroyer into a giant time-bomb, laden with five tons of explosives, and blasted the main dock gate of the big German submarine base at St. Nazaire early today.

In a special communique tonight, the British said "there is every hope" that through this daring assault the gate of the large dock at St. Nazaire, the largest on the Atlantic coast, was destroyed.

Reinforcements Bolster Allied Pacific Forces

New Zealanders Aid Aussies; British Fleet In Indian Ocean

The rising tide of reinforcements flowing to the United Nations in the Australian-Asiatic war theaters gave fresh hope last night that, if the allied forces are not yet sufficiently strong to undertake the long, hard drive that leads at last to Tokyo, still for the present they may be able to pen the Japanese within the bounds of their current conquests.

News of those reinforcements came from virtually every sector. In Australia seasoned, strapping New Zealanders joined the growing armies under the banner of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and according to one report a full Dutch East Indies division was landed in Brisbane to join the fight.

From Burma came word that new divisions had bolstered the Chinese portion of the allied line and had helped win back a vital air field north of Toungoo.

Even the axis had what for it must have been a disquieting report—that Britain was dispatching a powerful naval task force into the Indian ocean, where Japanese fleet units were observed earlier this week off the newly-rediscovered Andaman Islands in the Bay of Bengal.

Only in the holdout Philippines did the gallant American and Filipino troops carry on the fight alone. But even without outside aid, the men were carrying out their duty with the same determination as in the past.

Not content to wage a purely defensive fight, Wainwright's troops on Bataan and on the Island of Mindanao 600 miles to the south jabbed at Japanese outposts in daring raids. The sharpshooters of Corregidor and the other Manila Bay forts, meanwhile, raised such a destructive hail of anti-aircraft fire that enemy bombers were forced to a height from which their aim could be no better than "very inaccurate."

The enemy still hesitated in his frontal assault on Australian, and even the air attacks that are the inevitable prelude to invasion lacked authority.

Procedure For Defense Work To Be Mapped

Procedure for organizing volunteers under 17 classifications for civilian defense will be mapped at a meeting of committee chairmen Monday at 8 p. m. in the chamber of commerce office.

This is not a council parley, although members of the defense council are welcome to attend, said Herschel Sumnerlin, one of the co-ordinators who announced the parley.

Volunteers have all been indexed and filed by the committee of office workers headed by Mrs. Doug Orme, and thus chairman of the functional groups will know with whom they may expect to work.

At the meeting several new appointments will be made and materials distributed to committees. Besides developing training plans for all groups, the matter of a control center, which would be headquarters for all activities during any actual attack, will be talked.

'Yokel Boy' Is Fun Offering At Queen

The hilarious mix-up which occurs when a tough gangster tries to assume control of a final studio is the novel and diverting theme of "Yokel Boy," the new Republic comedy featuring an all-star cast, which is to be seen today and Monday at the Queen theatre.

The title role is that of Joe Ruddy, a dyed-in-the-wool movie fan, whose unerring ability to sense what the public wants in the way of entertainment wins him a job as advisor to R. E. Harris, the zany executive producer of Mammoth Studios. Expected to turn out bright ideas, Joe produces them by the gross—but they unfailingly result in stirring up trouble.

Finally when Harris decides to produce a picture about the life of Bugsie Malone, the underworld king, Joe brings Bugsie to Hollywood to star in it. The gangster, however, is not content to be merely a star, and proceeds to take over the whole studio. The balance of the fun-making revolves around Joe's comical efforts to persuade Bugsie to concentrate on acting and to let Harris run the studio. For still further excitement, there's a battle for Joe's affections waged between Molly Malone, Bugsie's sister, and Vera Valaine, a temperamental actress.

Albert Dekker plays the part of Bugsie in the picture, while Joan Davis will be seen as his sister, Molly. Eddie Foy, Jr., is the "yokel boy." Joe Ruddy; Alan Mowbray appears as Harris; and Lynne Carver enacts the role of Vera Valaine. Other well known performers included in the cast are Roscoe Karns, Mikhail Rasumny, Marc Lawrence, and Tom Dugan.

Dallas 'Victory Special' Will Visit The City

Arrangements for the "Victory Special" to visit Big Spring on April 21, will be made Tuesday when Bob Bourdene, representing the Dallas chamber of commerce and Manufacturers and Wholesalers association and Paul Jones, publicist for the state fair of Texas, confer with city and chamber of commerce officials.

The "Victory Special" will be just what the name implies. Plans are being made for the colorful private train to leave Dallas on April 19 and visit 27 Texas towns and two in Oklahoma before its return to Dallas on April 24th. Personnel for the trip will be made up, as a body, will congratulate Big Spring on the job it is doing in the war effort.

Towns to be visited on the tour are: Brady, Brownwood, Coleman, Ballinger, San Angelo, Odessa, Midland, Big Spring, Colorado City, Sweetwater, Abilene, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Tahoka, Slaton, Lubbock, Plainview, Memphis, Childress, Quanah, Vernon, Electra, Wichita Falls, Gainesville, Whitesboro, Denison, Durant, Okla., Hugo, Okla., Paris.

"Heretofore," said Bourdene, "this annual tour has been known as the Dallas Goodwill tour and our objective was to let people in the towns we visited know that we appreciated the business they did with Dallas. This year, however, we are forgetting everything but the fact that we must have a unified state and nation if we are to win the war and we want the people of your city to know that we appreciate the effort you are putting forth. We want the citizens of every city we visit to know that we are behind them one hundred per cent and we want them to back us, too. We must remember that in unity there is strength."

The tour will be the 41st annual event of its kind sponsored by the Dallas chamber of commerce and the Manufacturers and Wholesalers association.

Canada is largest producer of maple sugar and syrup in the world.

In Honor Film—Maureen O'Hara and Walter Pidgeon are two of the castmembers contributing to the merits of "How Green Was My Valley," which won the recent Academy Award. Roddy McDowall and Donald Crisp are other outstanding players in the picture based on the best-selling novel. The picture is at the Ritz today and Monday.

Yokels?—Eddie Foy, Jr., the yokel country boy who made good in Hollywood, and Joan Davis, the slightly zany comedienne, appear together in a new farce, "Yokel Boy." At the Queen today and Monday, the film is from the popular stage success.

Mystery And Mirth Blended In Lyric Film

That vastly entertaining type of film, the murder mystery which joins mirth with excitement and suspense, is due for a visit to the local screen, with the advent of the new Paramount comedy mystery, "The Night of January 16th," which plays today and Monday at the Lyric theatre.

Co-starring Robert Preston, whose popularity among film fans is soaring at an accelerated rate, and Ellen Drew, who continues in rising favor, "The Night of January 16th" is the film version of the noted stage play which intrigued audiences on Broadway for many months. As a play it made the nerves tingle with its swift pace, the clever intricacies of its plot, and the romance that was skillfully worked into the story.

In the motion picture version, humor is emphasized more than it was in the stage play. This is a pleasant innovation, for there were many situations, excellent as they were, which could be made more effective seasoned with good hearty laughs. Now that they have been supplied, "The Night of January 16th" should prove to be even more of a treat.

The casting of the new comedy mystery reflects excellent judgment on the part of whoever is responsible, most likely Director William Clemens and Producer Sol C. Siegal, who have reputations for astuteness. Among the talented featured players are Nils Asther, handsome and capable, Cliff Nazarro, the redoubtable double-talker, and Cecil Kellaway, who was outstanding as a comedy drunk in "New York Town." Rounding out the cast are Alice White, that winsome little blonde who resumes a movie career suspended several seasons ago, Margaret Hayes and Clarence Kolb.

"The Night of January 16th" concerns the adventurous whirl that begins when a gay job inheritor inherits a $3,000,000 share in a giant corporation, only to find that it's missing from the treasury, with suspicion centering on the head of the company, Nils Asther, and his beautiful secretary, Ellen Drew. Off they go on a clue-chase that winds up in Cuba, with a surprise ending.

Private motor vehicle ownership in the United States has risen 20 per cent in the past decade while government ownership of motor vehicles has increased 146 per cent.

In Saxon times the fourth month of the year was devoted to the goddess of spring, Eostre, and this probably is the origin of the word Easter.

Popular Novel Adapted For The Screen

The dramatization of Richard Llewellyn's best-selling novel, "How Green Was My Valley," is brought to the screen by 20th Century-Fox—and with such merit that it recently rated the Academy Award as the top production of the year.

Here is the film that has been eagerly awaited and from the accounts of preview audiences it promises to fulfill the expectations of the most discriminating motion picture fan.

The keynote of this production which is at the Ritz theatre today and Monday is the fidelity of its portrayal to the novel of the same name. Laid against the colorful background of a Welsh mining village, "How Green Was My Valley" brings to life the dynamic characters who captivated the over five million people who read the outstanding book.

Seen through the eyes of the youngest member of the family—Huw Morgan—"How Green Was My Valley" traces the threads of life of the Morgan family over a period of years—revealing their trials and loves, their joys and sorrows. It's the brave story of a family never conquered, not by armed men or hardship, hunger or hate—nor by the turbulent years that stole the greenness from their valley.

The featured cast is said to take able command of the opportunity to knit together a story that demanded highly specialized dramatic ability.

Walter Pidgeon, cast as Mr. Gruffydd, the minister, is said to cap his career with a splendid performance. Beauteous Maureen O'Hara portrays Angharad, the lovely Morgan daughter, who captivates the pastor. Anna Lee in the role of Bronwen is modest and lovable—the epitome of womanhood, while Donald Crisp as Gwilym Morgan, the father, is firm yet kindly.

Young Roddy McDowall, the 12-year-old English actor whose ascent to stardom has been spectacular, portrays the role of young Huw—shy, impressionable and courageous, full of faith and hope.

A carefully chosen supporting cast includes John Leder as Ianto, one of the Morgan sons, Sara Allgood as the lovable mother, Barry Fitzgerald as Cyfarth, one of the villagers, and Patric Knowles in the role of Ivor, another of the Morgan sons.

An almost unbelievable amount of money and labor has gone into the production of "How Green Was My Valley," 20th Century-Fox created a replica of a Welsh village, the most elaborate and costly of its kind in the studio's history.

The musical background of the film has caused considerable comment. Faithfully the orchestra under the able musical direction of Alfred Newman has integrated the charmingly haunting melodies that play such an important part in the lives of the Welsh people. The music has been reproduced from tunes never before recorded and presented a difficult task to the producers of the picture.

Director John Ford is responsible for welding the film together into a dramatic unity that is a tribute to the great novel of a simple people. Phillip Dunne wrote the original screen play.

At The Lyric—Robert Preston, Ellen Drew and Nils Asther in a scene from "The Night of January 16th," in which mystery, murder, romance, thrills—and laughs, too—vie for interest. It's the feature of the Lyric theatre's program for today and Monday.

The Church Is The Hope Of The World

We Must Cling To It Now For Strength And Guidance

For 2,000 years the Christian faith has been a light burning in the darkness of a troubled world, a guide and a beacon to all men everywhere.

It has survived because, through all the ages, the Church has been its shelter and its shield. To the Church the people have turned for strength when they were sorely pressed, and for guidance when the way was dark.

We, who walk a dark and dangerous road today, must turn to the Church for strength.

We, who loved peace, are now at war. We are building the machines of war—the tanks and guns and planes and shells and ships, without which we cannot conquer.

Yet all these things that we are building cannot insure our victory. For victory demands of us a greater strength than mass of men, and weight of guns.

It demands of us a strength of the spirit that only the Church can bestow. A strength that stems from the unflinching faith that right will triumph; that hate and cruelty cannot endure; that mercy and compassion and brotherhood some day will rule the world.

If we go into battle without that faith we go as a nation strong only in the externalities and the trappings of war. We go as spiritual skeletons in armor, a robot host without a soul.

Our sons and brothers who walk daily with death in the steaming jungles, and ride with death in the air and on the seas, have learned already how great is the strength that comes from within.

"Send us bombers," they called, at first. And then: "Send us bombers—and Bibles." For in time of trial, they had come to know what fighting men have understood from Bohemund the Crusader to Stonewall Jackson, from Galahad to Father Duffy: The man who fights in the name of Christ fights best of all.

They know it now. We too must learn it. As a nation we must learn it if we are to bear the hard trials, win the grim battles, and, when victory has come, write the just peace that will endure.

The doors of the Church are open. The light of the Faith still burns. The altars await a nation that bows its head to God—and in that act of humbleness finds strength to hold its head up proudly against whatever foe may come.

Seaman Sacrifices Self To Flames To Save Comrades On Sinking Ship

NORFOLK, Va., March 28 (AP)—The ship Able was on a mission of blowing up a submarine off the Atlantic coast Thursday. Able seaman Oscar G. Chappell burned to death at the helm while keeping the vessel headed into the wind to give his shipmates on the forecastle a chance to escape.

Twenty-two crewmen who survived the attack told newsmen that 11 of their shipmates were lost when the undersize raider pumped three torpedoes into the vessel's vital. Eight were killed by the explosions, one perished because he would not jump from his life raft before it drifted into blazing oil.

Survivors said their rescue ship dropped a dozen depth charges when it arrived on the scene thirty minutes after the attack, and told of seeing six planes which dropped flares to direct the rescue vessel to the survivors.

There were seven men on my raft. All of us aboard my raft jumped into the clear except one. We begged him to jump but he would not because he could not swim. He drifted into the blazing oil."

Paul C. Myers, of Beaumont, Texas, said he and six others were on the forecastle head. Chappell was at the helm, he related, "and was encircled by flames. He put the helm hard right and held the ship into the wind to keep the flames from sweeping forward. He burned to death at the helm. We

Texas Survey Shows Gov. Stevenson Has Gained In Popularity

EDITOR'S NOTE: Because of the absence of Joe Belden, editor of these surveys, who is now on active duty with the United States naval reserve, the polls published by Texas Surveys of Public Opinion will be discontinued for the duration of the war. This is the last survey.

Copyright, 1945, by Joe Belden, Editor Texas Surveys of Public Opinion

AUSTIN, March 28.—Since he became governor, Coke R. Stevenson has risen in public estimation. Texas Surveys of Public Opinion's monthly index of his popularity, kept since the third month of his administration, this month registered 88 per cent of the voters of Texas as "generally approving" of him as governor.

The first poll taken on this question (October, 1941) disclosed that three out of every four then approved of his conduct of office with one-fifth of the people undecided. In the next two months the number approving had risen to 87 per cent; in January had dropped back to 85 and through February and March reached the dizzy height of 88 per cent.

It may be noted that as many voters voiced approval of Stevenson in October as approved of O'Daniel at the peak of his popularity. Fewer persons express themselves as opposed to his administration, and mention of his name by survey's interviewers almost never occasions indignant and even profane response from interviewees.

Too, it must be recognized that "approval" of Stevenson does not amount to a promise to vote for him, when his name is presented on a ballot along with other aspirants.

Man Welches On Second Half Of Suicide Pact

DENVER, March 28 (AP)—Detective Captain James E. Childers said today that Private Thomas Crane, 28, soldier from Oklahoma, confessed he killed Mrs. Nora Granberg, 48, of Denver, and then was unable to complete their suicide pact because he lost his nerve.

Crane shot Mrs. Granberg through the heart in a Shirley-Savoy hotel room yesterday and as he watched her die he found he couldn't kill himself, as they had agreed, Childers said Crane told him.

Crane declared he and Mrs. Granberg, operator of a cleaning establishment, had talked of killing themselves for several weeks and that they finally agreed to do it when they rented the hotel room Thursday. Friday morning, Childers said Crane related, the woman took a revolver from her purse, handed it to him and stretched out on the bed.

Crane, arrested in a tavern, told Childers he had agreed to the suicide pact because he was "washed up in the Army and mixed up with too many women," the officer said.

Married and the father of a boy, Crane joined the Army at Bartlesville, Okla., three and a half years ago, and re-enlisted at Lowry Field here last October.

Two Islands Are Thorns In Axis Sides

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst
Whatever their ultimate fate, two tiny island bastions in far seas, the one British and the other American manned, are proving sharp thorns in the conquest pathway of the axis mates.

They are Malta, dominating the Mediterranean waistline although within hardly a stone's throw of the Italian shores, and Corregidor, even more effectively denying Japan the use of Manila Bay, guarding the flank of the American-Filipino army on Bataan—definitely disrupting Tokyo's schedule.

As to Malta's role there can be no question. It has been persistently bombed night and day month after month at close range. Yet axis boasts of bomb hits on British warships there sufficiently confirm continued British use of Valletta harbor as a sea base within less than 60 miles of Italy.

The British on Malta estimate that its defense has cost the axis 50 planes downed during this month of March alone. That the sea floor about the island is strewn with the wreckage of many, many times that number of enemy aircraft and the bodies of their crews goes without saying. The battle of the Malta has been continuous since Italy entered the war. The men of Corregidor's batteries likewise have scored heavily against otherwise unchallenged Japanese airpower. The vital role of the fortress and its flanking forts in the defense of Bataan that has thrilled the allied world is uncontested.

A new Japanese commander, fresh from his victory at Singapore, was rushed to Luzon. It is his mission to erase the blot on Japanese army prestige that the names of Corregidor and Bataan represent.

Corregidor and its batteries still stand in his way. His first move is to renew the air assault on that fortress in recognition of the fact that while Corregidor holds out with flaming guns, his hopes of restoring Japanese prestige except at prohibitive cost remain meager.

Malta and Corregidor are again demonstrating the lesson so bitterly brought home to the British by the escape of the naval battle-craft Goeben, Scharnhorst and Prinz Eugen from Brest. High altitude bombing against small targets is a hit-or-miss affair. The attackers must swoop low within the range of anti-aircraft fire to be sure of a hit and invariably they pay heavily for that.

Children And War News— Don't Keep Them In The Dark

By DOBOTHY ROE
Wide World Features Writer

Should children be allowed to hear what the newspaper headlines say? This is the question being asked more and more often these days as American families make the daily newspaper and the radio in the living room a central gathering point.

The answer, given after careful consideration by authorities of the Child Study Association of America, is—"It's all right if you don't overdo it."

They Know What's Up
It would be foolish to attempt to keep children from hearing any war news. It's useless to pretend that things are the same in America as they were before December 7, 1941. Children naturally are aware of the changed tempo of the times, the new urgency. To make a mystery of the war would be not only unfair, but dangerous.

Radio news bulletins offer children a form of vicarious excitement, a feeling that they have a personal part in the drama of the war.

NO WAR JITTERS for these London children. Cared for at the war nursery at Bethnal Green, these little girls accept the war with British calm.

learned in a surprisingly short time to take the war and its dangers in stride. A calm and intelligent attitude on the part of parents will remove most of the hazards of undue excitement or anxiety.

Children normally are adaptable, thrive on excitement. If their outside interests remain normal, they should be in little danger of "war nerves."

They Learn Quickly
Mothers are advised to include children in normal conversation about the war, but to find other active outlets for their energies. Children and adults alike may develop "war jitters" after a continuous all-day stream of radio war bulletins. Outdoor activities and games will relieve the tension.

He had flagged a ride with a San Antonio team and bowled with them against a Little Rock team Friday night. Other team members were due to return in a day or so. The Big Spring independents came right back after the matches. In singles competition, Douglass shot high score with 621.

Meanwhile, rural people were pursuing the rat war with a vengeance. A new supply of poison was on hand at the county agent's office and was being rapidly distributed. The original supply was quickly depleted a week ago.

Reds' Batting Is Alarming

SARASOTA, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Few if any of the major league clubs in Florida are hitting at this stage of their training, but the one that has everybody in a dither is Cincinnati.

The reason for this, of course, is that the Reds never have been able to blast the ball like other clubs in the regular season. This year they have looked more feeble than ever in their Grapefruit games.

Manager Bill McKechnie has been one of the persons alarmed by the situation, but today the "Deacon" was feeling more cheerful. Frank McCormick had shown signs of cracking his batting slump.

"What worries me in these McKechnie explained, 'is not failure to hit. It's players not taking their proper swings."

"I wouldn't care if a team of mine never made a hit in the spring if they were boys I knew could hit and they were up there taking their natural cuts. What has had me disturbed was that two or three of our real hitters have not been natural at the plate."

"The first that I have seen McCormick take his right swing at a ball this year was in batting practice yesterday. If he keeps on swinging that way, I won't be worried whether he gets any (spring training) hits or not. I'll know that they will come when the regular season gets under way."

Munitions Plant Blast Kills Six

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 28 (AP)—Six persons were missing, presumably killed, after an explosion and fire that demolished today a small brick building of the sprawling Remington Arms company plant, one of the nation's biggest munitions centers.

A company official reported tonight, seven and a half hours after the explosion, that no bodies had as yet been recovered from the wrecked building, but added that a careful check had failed to locate any of the six missing workers, three women and three men, either at their homes or in hospitals.

O'Brien To Speak At Midland Meet

Growing a great church through a training program will be described at an associational Baptist Sunday school rally in Midland at 8 o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. P. B. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church in Big Spring.

Many representatives from the city's three white Baptist churches are expected to participate in the meeting, under the direction of the Rev. R. Elmer Dunham, associational superintendent.

Other Big Spring people who will have parts on the program are Mrs. Vernon Logan, Mrs. R. E. Dunham and Mrs. M. E. Harlan, all in charge of sectional conferences.

The police force of New York City is larger than the regular army, plus the reserves, in Eire.

Oil Compact Recommends State Control

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 28 (AP)—The interstate oil compact commission recommended to Petroleum Coordinator Ickes and the War Production Board today that well spacing patterns to meet a wartime steel shortage be determined by the individual states.

In a resolution adopted at the concluding session of its two-day spring meeting, the IOCC asked that conservation order M-48, restricting drilling to one oil well for each 60 acres and one gas well for each 640 acres, be amended to permit state regulatory codes to locate wells "in such a manner as will, in their judgment, develop the greatest reserves with the use of the least amount of steel."

Pending action by Ickes and the WPB on the resolution, the compact commission recommended that the state regulatory bodies hold hearings on newly-developed or prospective pools to determine the proper spacing plan and submit their recommendations to Washington.

Scouts To Lead Patriotic Rally

Boy Scouts and Cubs are being urged to turn out at 4 p. m. today for the regular weekly community program at the city auditorium.

Today's program will be sponsored by the scouts, and their leaders were especially desirous that the record of good crowds be maintained for the program.

King J. Sides, assistant school superintendent, will speak briefly at the meeting, developing some views about the value of the Boy Scout program.

Sing-song portions will be led by Dan Conley, who also is director of the community choir, which stands back of the community rally programs.

WHY AMERICA NEEDS MORE COTTON PRODUCTION

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has called upon cotton growers to plant their FULL COTTON ACREAGE ALLOTMENT—4,000,000 acres more cotton than we planted last season—because the United States vitally needs more of the products of cotton and cottonseed. These needs include:

- MORE COTTONSEED OIL to supply the nation's need for food and industrial fats, and to replace oil formerly imported from Pacific areas.
- MORE COTTON LINTERS to supply the increasing needs of the munitions industry for this essential raw material.
- MORE COTTONSEED MEAL AND HULLS to supply feeds needed by livestock producers for the efficient production of "Food for Victory."
- MORE LINT COTTON of certain qualities and grades, especially longer staple cotton, to meet increasing needs of the United Nations in their war efforts.

COTTON IS THE ONLY CROP THAT SUPPLIES ALL OF THESE PRODUCTS!

HOW YOU CAN HELP GROW MORE COTTON

In order to produce this cotton, it is highly essential that every cotton grower throughout the South follow these sound practices:

PLANT THE FULL ALLOTMENT: Be sure that you plant every acre of cotton which the AAA (legal) allotment permits. Replant as often as necessary to insure a full stand on all of this acreage.

FIGHT THE INSECTS: No cotton farmer can afford, this season, to suffer costly losses from insects. Poison promptly and as frequently as needed to reduce insect damage.

KEEP IT CLEAN AND PICK IT CLEAN! Keeping fields free of weeds and grass, and picking all of the cotton, moving it promptly to the gin, are important to insure maximum production.

In addition to distributing this information as a public service to the Nation and the Cotton Industry, our Cotton Oil Mill will gladly assist you in any way that we can to insure maximum cotton production... Call on us for any service that we can render.

Club Boys To Show Livestock Here Monday And Tuesday

Dist. League Meet Set For April 10-11

Schedule of events for the district 5 meet of the Texas Inter-scholastic league has been received by county school officials from the district director, R. C. Covey of Sweetwater. The meet will be held in Sweetwater on April 10 and 11. Most of the events are being concentrated this year into one day's program, with only preliminaries in tennis and debate scheduled for Friday. Winners in county meets will be eligible for district participation, and medals will be presented to first, second and third place winners in all events. Big Spring and Howard county league winners are eligible for competition in the Sweetwater meet.

Due to the excellent United States market for Panama hats, the Department of Commerce reports that the Ecuadorian hat industry continued prosperous in 1941.

Entries Fewer But Quality To Be High

Quantity in the fifth annual district club boy livestock show here Monday and Tuesday will take a slight reduction, but officials of the sponsoring Howard County Fair association are hopeful that the general quality of sheep, lambs and pigs in the show will be as good as any year to date. While entries from surrounding counties have fallen off this year due largely to the fact that sales following county shows have picked off the bulk of stuff, those within Howard county have shown an increase.

In all, it looks like there will be a total of 80 calves and lambs entered as compared with 103 last year. The baby beef total stands at 61, only slightly under the 68 a year ago. Lamb entries however, dropped off from 35 to 19.

Uncertain is the list of entries for barrows and sows with litters. Only one barrow has been pledged for certain, while there is a possibility that Howard county 4-H and possibly Garner FFA boys may show brood sows with litters. Prizes for the boys this year will total around $160, but the real prize will come in the sale which local merchants have underwritten to make both ribbon (first 10 places) calves and lambs bring a minimum of 13 cents. In this manner the real "profits" from feeding will be spread out over a wider field.

The sale, arranged by a committee composed of George White, M. M. Edwards and M. E. Allen, will be held at the Big Spring Livestock Commission Co. ring Wednesday at 1:30 p. m.

As was the case last year, calf entries are restricted to the dry lot class, and competition will be in the light and heavy classes with the dividing line based on the average weight of all calves entered.

The show will be staged in the Howard county warehouse building in the northwest edge of town where boys will find connections for clippers and plenty of hose for washing their animals. The racks for calves and pens for sheep and pigs will be erected during the weekend for the show.

To date entries have come in from Howard, Glasscock, Martin, Borden and Mitchell counties. Every since the show started there has not been a year in which Martin and Glasscock were not represented along with Howard. In fact, Martin county almost worked a monopoly on the calf business for several seasons before Nolan county and Taylor county entries horned in. Glasscock and Sterling counties have furnished lamb winners.

Judges for the show here will be George (Stud) Barnes, beef cattle specialist for Texas A. & M. college, who will place the calves and lambs; and J. D. Prewitt, district extension agent, who will judge the pigs.

Cotton States Loop Suspended By War

GREENVILLE, Miss., March 28. (AP)—The Cotton States baseball league has been disbanded at least for the duration of the war by Judge W. G. Bramham of Durham, North Carolina, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball.

Judge Emmet Harty of Greenville, league president, announced disbandment of the Class C circuit by Judge Bramham after efforts to obtain help for clubs in the circuit from higher league clubs failed.

The Cotton States has operated intermittently since its organization in 1902 and was one of the oldest minor leagues in the nation.

Until 1732 the New Year commenced with March, when England changed the beginning of the legal New Year to January 1.

Half Dozen Counties Have Shared Awards In Past Stock Shows Here

Half a dozen West Texas counties have shared honors in previous district club boy stock shows here, a glance at the records show.

For the first two years, Martin county boys predominated in the calf show, with a Nolan county boy taking the throne in 1940 and Taylor county winning the honor in 1941.

Sterling county has been consistently at the top in the lamb show.

Single rooms range from $20 to $30 a month and double rooms from $30 to $40. Room and board from $40 to $50 a month.

Spence Assigned To Texas Camp

Word has been received here of the transfer of Major E. V. Spence of the army engineers to the assignment of post utility officer at Camp Swift, Bastrop, Texas.

Spence has been located in Chicago since entering the army last year, serving in the area engineer office.

With Mrs. Spence, he planned to leave Chicago this weekend, to report this week at his new assignment. Camp Swift is scheduled for completion on May 27, and Major Spence is to make personnel selections for his organization ahead of that time.

Spence was city manager of Big Spring for ten years before resigning last August to enter the armed services.

Care Given Show Calves Teaches Boys Where Profit Can Be Made

Club boys preparing calves, sheep and pigs for exhibition at the district stock show here don't argue about the relative importance of heredity and environment.

Instead, they see that both are good in the animals they groom for the show ring.

Let's take the mythical case of young Joe Doakes, who feeds out the champion calf.

He may obtain the calf from his own herd or that of his father, but more likely he buys it from a ranchman. He picks over the entire selection the rancher has to offer with critical eyes, selecting the steer that conforms best to the standards of good breeding. He looks for a squarely built, broad-beamed animal and then inspects closely the little details that tell the trained boy whether the calf has the makings of a champion or not—details the layman would overlook.

Generally he selects a feeder calf weighing 400 to 500 pounds; often he must borrow money to pay for it and nearly always he buys a life insurance policy to protect his investment of $50 or thereabouts.

The calf is the prince of the barnyard when the boy gets him home. Old Boxy and even the horses grow green with jealousy at the loving care the show calf gets.

Placed in the best shed, he is not only fed a carefully weighed diet, given clean water, but is pampered and petted, taken for walks but never allowed to over-exercise, protected from too cold or too hot weather, guarded carefully against all disease.

For six months or more the club boy is like a mother to the calf. The slightest symptom of trouble will keep the lad up half the night attending his pet.

On show day, the club member carefully washes and curries the animal, making his bright red coat curl into little ringlets and his white-marked chest gleam like a kitten's.

At the show the prize animal lays on a little clean, sweet hay. When the blue ribbon is pinned on, the young owner is the happiest lad in the state, and sometimes when the fine young beast is led away from the auction ring, another man's property, the boy weeps bitterly, for he has learned to love his animal.

Why is the boy encouraged to be so pious with his animal?

Why does he lavish so much attention on his animal that the profit from its sale is often small?

The answer is that by feeding one calf properly, the club boy learns just what it takes to put weight on an animal, just how to top the livestock market.

The lessons learned by club boys in judging and selecting good stock, feeding and care during their growing period, and finishing off for the market will be used by the men of 10 and 20 years hence in feeding out hundreds and thousands of West Texas calves on West Texas feed, making profit for themselves and moving the cattle feeding center of the nation away from the midwest corn-belt to the real cattle country of Texas.

Lamesa Club Will Give Play Thursday

LAMESA, March 28. — Tickets are on sale for "Don't Take My Penny," a three-act play to be presented here Thursday evening by the Thespian club. The play will be offered at the high school auditorium.

The Thespian club is a local dramatic organization with national affiliation. It sponsors plays and reviews locally each year, and members attend professional plays presented in Texas cities. They have decided to attend "Candle in the Wind," with Helen Hayes in the leading role and which plays in Dallas soon.

LOOKING AHEAD

Although we're not as old in Big Spring as 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America, we know that among other things, it's purpose is to better an industry that has been the strength of West Texas since its first settlers. . . . Add to this the fact that it has been instrumental in teaching the youth of this region to be self-supporting, progressive and independent and you'll find a profitable future assured for all concerned with this work.

Like most everything else, this Big Spring affair had a small beginning. . . . but now, in its fifth year, the show is developing sturdy legs of its own to stand on. . . . and, although already widely known throughout Howard and adjoining counties, bids fair to become a major event in West Texas—second to none in the state.

COLORADO CITY, March 28.—Volunteer firemen from ten neighboring towns have been invited to participate in the semi-annual meeting of the Mid-West Volunteer Firemen's Association which will be held in Colorado City Saturday, April 4.

Competitive races will begin at 4:30 from the city hall. Cash prizes for first and second places in the races will be offered. A first aid demonstration and a dinner dance will be among the other features planned for the visiting firemen.

The total physical volume of civilian goods and services purchased in the U. S. during 1942 probably will be little more than 1-10 below the record volume of 1941, the Department of Commerce reports.

"Food for Freedom" is more than a slogan — it's an essential. A winning army, a victorious nation, must be adequately fed.

Oil is an essential, too, in this era of mechanized forces — petroleum and its products to fuel the ships and the planes and the tanks, that transportation units and the factories that must be kept going on to Victory.

Is Necessary For Success

The splendid success of the Big Spring 4-H club and F.F.A. Livestock Shows, now in their fifth year, is the direct result of cooperation of the citizenship in the counties represented, a spirit without which nothing could exist.

Members of the Bugg Packing company are grateful to the people of this city and surrounding territory for their support of a locally owned plant offering a market for this area's choice livestock.

Because each year the Big Spring livestock show is bigger and better than the preceding year its success is assured; and it is never questioned that this annual exhibit won't be a tremendous success.

Since 1937, Bugg Packing company has been a stable institution rendering a service to retail markets that can be depended upon. We feel the success of this organization has been the result of unvarying quality in our line, the sameness of relations with those we serve and the unflinching confidence in the future of West Texas.

An industrial enterprise makes possible the ever-increasing home-feeding of livestock in this section.

A few years ago, virtually every steer on West Texas ranches was shipped as a skinny feeder to the feed lots of the midwest, there to be fattened for the markets. Now when you see a cattle truck moving out of West Texas ranches, chances are good that the truck is heading direct for the market and that its contents are ready for slaughter.

The difference is that it is now possible to home feed cattle now with home grown feeds. The stock farmer can raise everything it takes to produce a fat steer on his own acres.

The industry that made this possible is cotton oil milling, and one of the leading firms in this industry is the Big Spring Cotton Oil Mill.

Now cattle are fattened in West Texas on a diet of home-grown ensilage or bundle feed supplemented with cottonseed meal or cottonseed cake.

The farmer can trade his cottonseed for cottonseed cake at the local mill on approximately a ton-for-ton basis, the mill making its profit from the oil that is extracted from the seed.

This cottonseed cake, and the ensilage or bundles grown on the farm, are virtually all that is needed to transform a gangling feeder calf into 1,000 pounds of market-topping beefsteak.

Cottonseed cake is also playing an important part on ranches where no fish-feeding is yet done. In cold spells when snow covers the grass, or in drouthy periods, when range cattle have trouble finding enough forage, ranchmen jump in their pickups and spread cake over their ranges to supplement the stock's fare. Presence of a cotton oil mill close at hand makes this economically feasible, and bad range conditions aren't the bugaboo they used to be.

At the same time, a greater market for the cotton farmer's seed is created. This is evidenced by the steadily rising price of cottonseed during the past few years, until the seed has at times been worth almost as much as the lint. That condition may be contrasted with that of a few decades ago, when seed was so worthless it was burned to get it out of the way.

Farmers have been waiting for a rain but since it has remained dry almost all of the land around here has been listed and likely if it does rain now planting will start. A few have planted corn and others are putting out trees and shrubbery.

There's a world of food value in one slice of enriched bread. One slice of enriched bread made with milk supplies about 3 grams of body-building protein. Six slices of enriched bread supplies as much protein as an average serving of meat. A meat sandwich on enriched bread is extra-nutritious.

American Kittyhawk Superior To Nazi Messerschmitt In Desert War

By EDWARD KENNEDY

WITH THE RAF IN LIBYA, March 28, (AP) — Slower on the straightaway but faster on the turns, the American-built Kittyhawk is hailed as the champion of the desert air power contest with the German pride, the Messerschmitt 109F.

The American plane simply can "get around more neatly" than the German plane, its chief adversary here, which is 30 to 40 miles faster on the straightaway, Squadron Leader Cliver "Killer" Caldwell, Australian ace, explains.

The Messerschmitt is "all power and all speed—a big engine with little wings and a fuselage tacked onto it," outmaneuvered by the Kittyhawk's "bigger wing area and greater control surface," he said.

The matter of "know-how" is an important factor because, Caldwell admitted, the enemy "above a certain altitude has got it all his own way."

"He knows that, so he waits around up there, sometimes as high as 30,000 feet," he said.

"We know it, so we wait around down below. That means he usually attacks first."

"He comes diving down at you. You have to keep turning, watching him carefully, always facing him and not letting him get on your tail. If you're careful, you can do this."

"Then as he gets near you shoot upward and go at him headon."

Caldwell, a pre-war civilian pilot in Australia, has nineteen and one half enemy planes to his credit—the half representing his share of a plane which he and another pilot shot down cooperatively.

Government Tests Establish Best Feed Methods

Uncle Sam has been the fall guy for feeders in this area. Fourteen years of feeding tests, 10 of them consecutively, have provided valuable information at the U. S. Experiment Farm here, and it is available for the farmer's asking.

These tests have but a single purpose—to answer the continuous question of how best to feed for profit in this section of the country. In recent years this has been answered as to feeds, as to the supply of rations, and now is going on in the field of minerals in the diet in an effort to determine what affect the ration has on urinary calculi.

First feeding tests at the farm started back in 1923 and operated for four years, being dropped for some unexplained reason.

It was not until 1932 that they were revived when congress put into the agricultural appropriations bill funds for feeding operations in an effort to enable the hard pressed farmer find a way to more profitably market his abundant but cheap feed stuff.

So successful were the initial cycle of tests, dealing with the type of ration to feed, that a bulletin was published on it. Ground threshed milo proved the best fattener, but ground milo heads stood out as the most practical type of grain. Unground threshed milo worked only fairly well with the calves but marveled for pigs following the calves.

The whole head ration proved the most impractical of all, returning gains so poor that the trouble and expense of grinding heads would not have been worthwhile.

The next series might be termed the full-fed ration versus the limited fed ration, and in which Fred Keating, superintendent, amply sums up the results by saying "we found you can't starve a profit out of them." These tests, which also ran for a cycle of three years, pitted individuals against like groups on a full ration (all the calf could eat) and the limited ration (85 per cent of the full-fed ration). Individually fed calves did slightly better, but not enough to even approach the cost it would require to provide for individual rather than pen or lot feeding.

Currently, the U. S. Experiment Farm, with Guy Moore feeding under Keating's supervision, is rounding out the final of a three-year cycle on the effects of minerals on calves fed for market. One of the problems of feeders has been that occasionally a calf will turn up with urinary calculi (calcium precipitates in the bladder and stop the urinary process with resultant death). When a calf topples over, especially after considerable feeding, it takes a pretty wide margin of profit on

Goldwater And Lambie Battle In Golf Finals

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 28 (AP)—Bob Goldwater, a veteran who won the title in 1929 while in his teens, and Tom Lambie, 20-year-old junior college student, came through today to the championship final in the 28th annual Southwestern Golf association's tournament here.

The two Phoenixians will go 36 holes tomorrow over the Phoenix country club course for the winner's cup. Goldwater waded through the semi-final 36-hole grind with one of the most lopsided victories of the tournament, defeating John Cahill, Jr., of Mesa, nine and eight.

Lambie, Phoenix city champion, handed a neat four and three trimming to Gray Madison, the ex-pro who ousted the defending champion, Blaine McNutt of El Paso, Texas, yesterday.

Bobbye Savage Top Scorer In His Conference

An account of an outstanding record during the basketball season at John Tarleton by Bobbye Savage, one-time Big Spring high school ace athlete, comes from the Tarleton student paper.

Savage this past season led the state in junior college scoring, racking in 245 points in 16 games played with John Tarleton. He topped Buck Overall, Tyler junior college star, who had 228 tallies in 16 games.

Bobbye hit his peak when he looped 25 points against the North Texas Agriculture college quint from Arlington.

His scoring and all round play put Savage on the all-conference team.

With the conclusion of the basketball season, Savage is entering the Tarleton intra-mural program as one of the star softball pitchers. He gained considerable renown in West Texas as a softball twirler.

Nebraska Star Breaks Record In Pole Vault

AUSTIN, March 28 (AP)—Harold Hunt of Nebraska soared over the 14-foot mark today to set one of two records in the fifteenth annual Texas Relays.

The University of Texas dominated the relay winnings.

Hunt, the national collegiate pole vault champion, went to 14 feet 3-8 inch to beat out Jack DeWitt, Minnesota star, and erase the record of 13 feet 10-1/2 inches set four years ago by Beatus Bryan of Texas.

The only other record came in the high school division with Sunset of Dallas making the sprint medley in 3:40.2 to wipe out the mark of 3:40.8, set last year by Woodrow Wilson of Dallas.

A bunch of long-legged boys from Texas romped to three relay titles, the Longhorns capturing the 400, the spring medley and one mile.

No other college or university won more than one title. Drake captured the two-mile event, Rice the half-mile, Oklahoma university the distance medley and Minnesota the mile team race.

In the college class, Loyola of Chicago repeated with the championship of the sprint medley relay. North Texas State took the half mile event and East Texas State supplanted North Texas State as champion of the mile relay.

Relay honors were well-distributed in the high school class but Sunset's victory in the sprint medley was outstanding as Jim Hoff, half-miler, anchored the team with a 1:59.5 performance.

Alamo Heights won the mile relay with Ralph Ellsworth coming from fourth place to run a blistering anchor lap that brought the San Antonio school in with the title. Goose Creek staged an upset to beat out favored Jefferson of San Antonio in the quarter-mile relay.

Texas A. and M. easily dominated the freshmen-junior college division, taking both the mile and quarter-mile relays.

None of the performers in special events came close to records. Roy Bueck of Texas A. & M. nosed out Bill Cummins, Rice sophomore with a 14.4 high hurdles effort.

Orville Matthews of Oklahoma won the 100-yard dash in the slow time of 10 seconds. Jack Wilson of Baylor football fame won the shot put with 47 feet 7 inches.

Bob Fitch of Minnesota slung the discus 146 feet 9 inches. Travis Cook of East Texas State hurled the javelin 207 feet 8-1/4 inches.

There was a tie for first in the high jump among Don Boydston, Oklahoma A. & M. star who is co-holder of the record; Billy Christopher of Rice and Albert Ricks of Texas A. & M. at 6 feet 5-1/2 inches. Then a little later, Henry Coffman, formerly of Rice, competing in a service men's division high jump, leaped 6 feet 7-1/2 inches. This was only three-eighths of an inch under Boydston's record.

Christopher won the broad jump with 24 feet 4-1/4 inches. Dick Smethers of Oklahoma university won the 3,000-meter run in 9:13.8 but followed a Texas university freshman, Jerry Thompson, across the finish line. Thompson was not eligible to compete but ran as an exhibition. The Texas freshman, who is a star at the mile and half-mile, was 20 yards ahead of Smethers at the finish.

Billy Conn Next On Louis' Schedule; That's In June

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Except for the neighborhood of James Jay Johnson, all was quiet along Jacobs Beach today, as Joe Louis and Abe Simon headed for a few days rest as a reward for the little party they gave to pile up some $50,000 to $60,000 for Army relief.

Joe, who hardly had his hair mussed chopping down the New York giant in six rounds last night for his soldier mates, caught a train for a brief western trip before getting back to his book-privateing at Camp Upon on Wednesday. He is definitely through with ring-fighting until his shindig with Billy Conn in June.

Simon, a hero for the way he stood up under what was probably the most concentrated clouting punishment Louis ever handed a victim, showed little effect from the dynamiting except for a slight lump over one eye. He picked up the honeymoon he interrupted when he went into training for what he got. His fistie trail will probably take him against Harry Bobo in Pittsburgh and Buddy Bear in Washington during the next two months.

In fact, the peace was disturbed only in the several blocks surrounding James Jay. The big wind under the derby hat was still howling about the "short count" his Abraham got when the fight ended in Madison Square Garden.

Jimmy was so amazed, he sent a wire along to John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York State Athletic commission, still insisting that Abe was on his feet before Referee Eddie Joseph reached the ring and demanding an investigation of his charges.

While there was a difference of opinion between Referee Joseph and Time-Keeper Jimmy Crowley as to whether "ten" actually was counted before big Abe hauled himself up like a telephone pole, the general aftermath impression was that the large Long Island gamster would have been flattened eventually.

Pan-American Games To Go On As Scheduled

BUENOS AIRES, March 28 (AP)—In spite of the war, Argentina's Olympic committee is going ahead with plans to stage the first Pan-American games here this year "as a lesson to the dictators."

Organizing officials, working in one of those "show must go on" atmospheres, are completing arrangements for a winter sports program to begin July 15, with formal opening of the regular games Nov. 21. They are counting on 20 other American republics, already pledged to compete, to help send the newly created quadrennial competition off to a flying start.

To suggestions that the games be postponed "for the duration," officials countered with the proposal that the great athletic tournament will tend to lift the mental, moral and physical standards of the competing republics, "create better understanding and insure more co-operation than any political moves that could be initiated for the same purpose."

Although transportation difficulties are certain to reduce the number of competing athletes, an "Olympic Village" already is partly constructed at suburban Don Torcuato, less than a half-hour's automobile trip from downtown Buenos Aires. Attractive rustic cottages, adjacent to a new swimming pool and training fields, are being built by the Hindu country club at a cost of $12,000. After the visiting athletes have finished with them, the club expects to rent the cottages to week-end members to defray the cost of construction.

When it was bruited about that the University of Texas might have trouble apenty attempting to win its twenty-fourth Southwest conference baseball championship in twenty-eight years, the rumor-mongers appear to have known their stuff.

Here it's the third week of the campaign and the pupae of Hub Falk are resting on the bench of the heap and the Texas Aggies are on top.

The Aggies bested Texas 4-1 to move into first place while Southern Methodist and Texas Christian were splitting a series and Rice was idle because of the weather.

The S. M. U.-T. C. U. games were almost 100 per cent offensive, the Mustangs winning the first 15-6 and Texas Christian beating out S. M. U. 17-16 in the second battle.

Six games are scheduled this week with A. & M. playing in three of them.

The Aggies open festivities Monday with Southern Methodist at Dallas. These two teams play again Tuesday, then Thursday finds A. & M. engaging Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

Texas plays Rice Wednesday and Thursday, both games at Austin. Baylor meets Rice at Waco Tuesday.

Miss Laneous Notes

By MARY WEALEY

Psychologists and men with a string of degrees after their names have come out from behind their glasses long enough to tell American people that movies and fiction books upon which they feast are "escape" methods from drab lives.

But nobody has ever let such a definition spoil the enjoyment of the celluloid dramas or the swash-buckling stories of heroes and heroines in novels.

But since the war, novels have lost their power over us. No author or group of authors would dare to let their imaginations dwell on stories such as you can read any day in any newspaper.

If an author wrote about a 17 year old boy who spent twenty-one days in a life boat and was rescued as the sole survivor of a crew of eleven, people would snort in disbelief.

Yet that story and hundreds more are creeping into the news each day. True stories of heroes in real life. Nobody thought these plots up. They just happen to ordinary people like the folks next door.

The epic dash of a general from Bataan in a motor boat; the men who paddled a boat to safety with their shoes for paddles; the men who rescued their shipmates from a sinking ship while enemy bullets splattered around them... what author would dare vision such stories?

There's the story of the man who struggled lost in a jungle for days. Mosquitoes, snakes, bogging mud, enemy planes and absence of food and water were hardships endured until he reached his base.

In fiction it would be exaggeration. In real life it is awesome and thrilling. What books or movies or thought-up tales could compare with the front page of today's newspapers!

Department Of Labor Official Talks To Group

COLORADO CITY, March 28.—"Woman's Responsibility for Laws" was the subject of an address by Sarah Buchanan of the woman's bureau, department of labor, Washington, when she spoke at Colorado City in the junior high school auditorium Friday night.

"Women are being drawn by growing thousands into the industrial sector of our war efforts," she said. "Thousands more are going into commercial jobs or various phases of public life that are new to women. Other thousands are being married and assuming a new status in society passing under regulation by a new set of laws in many of their important relationships."

She urged, "the time is ripe for women to acquaint themselves with the essential rules of government that regulate their fortunes as citizens, wives, mothers, property-owners, and employed persons."

After her address, Miss Buchanan held an open forum answering questions on law and legal business from the audience. She has spent the month of March speaking to groups over the state of Texas and was presented here by the Business and Professional Women's club. Members of the club in Sweetwater, Roby, Big Spring and Roscoe were guests of the local club.

City Flower Blooms Again

The lilacs that bloom in the spring (no tra la's, please) are also the lilacs that constitute the city flower of Big Spring.

This was the verdict of a poll conducted a few seasons back by the Garden club. The lilac nosed out the red bud in a heated but not extensive campaign.

Lilac season lasts but two or three weeks in the early days of spring, but while the lavender to purple blossoms are swaying on tips of the bush stems, a delicate aroma permeates the atmosphere in fragrant testimony as to why it is the city flower.

Aside from the prevalence of the lilac in Big Spring, the story of the city flower might be summed up thus—easy to grow, easy to look upon and nice to smell.

Editorial - - The Little Fellow's View Of Things

One of the 130,000,000 "little people" of this country commented: "They kicked Admiral Kimmel and General Short out of their commands for being asleep at Pearl Harbor, but when a single company manufacturing airplane parts can pay its officers and employes half a million dollars a year in the form of bonuses, including a secretary at $30,000 and a president at $145,000, it is quite evident that somebody is asleep in Washington. By the same token, it is simple justice that whoever is responsible for unscrupulous profiteering in war contracts should be kicked out without ceremony."

fellows, whether they paid ten dollars in income taxes or none. This is the other side of our winter of discontent. It comes, in the final analysis, under the general heading of fed-upness with official inefficiency, congressional inaction, and just plain human greed. We have been running the risk, these last few weeks of buying along the trail of organized labor and overlooking the vaster bigger game of governmental incompetence and organized greed. For it is evident that when huge profits accumulate you can't blame labor abuses. Human nature being what it is, you can't blame capital either. The blame lies squarely on the government itself for inexcusable negligence in writing the form of contracts, for tolerating inefficiency or incompetence, or worse, in its dealings; for lack of alertness and coordinated effort—as at Pearl Harbor. Congress giveth and congress taketh away. If underlings blunder in making it possible for contractors to roll up huge profits, congress ought to have sense enough to devise laws which will recapture those profits in the name of the people. If there are loopholes in the income tax laws they should be plugged. If there are incompetent or conniving government officials involved they can be removed as quickly as Kimmel and Short. And that is precisely what the people have been rearing up about. The silly and awkward attempt to shrug off the rising tide of protest as simply a labor-baiting movement will not hold water. No doubt the profiteers would be delighted to use that as a smokescreen for their own evil purposes, but labor abuses form only one angle to the people's dissatisfaction. They are deeply and sincerely concerned about the progress of the war effort, and rumored and actual evidence of profiteering hasn't helped their morale any. This was the one war that was to be fought without a regiment of new millionaires. Time and again the people have expressed themselves on that point. The American Legion has campaigned for years for a draft program that would include capital as well as manpower. So far draft dodgers have been almost non-existent; the manpower of the nation has walked up and taken its responsibilities without a moment's protest or hesitation. We repeat: If capital hasn't done the same, the fault lies with the laws and with an administration which administers them. And if anyone imagines for a moment that the people don't realize this, he had better revise his thinking. For the people simply won't stand for it—as their ringing protests make abundantly clear. Let congress and the powers that be get a move on themselves. THERE IS NOT A WEEK, NOR A DAY, NOR AN HOUR TO BE LOST.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds— Film Of Poe's Life Will Admit He Was Drunkard

By ROBBEN COONS HOLLYWOOD—At one of the early conferences on the film story of Edgar Allan Poe a movie gentleman, typically practical, protested: "But we can't show him like that. People would think he was weak, and you can't have a weak hero—they wouldn't like it." It's amusing, but it may explain why in all the years that Hollywood has been digging up life stories for movie material no one until now has touched the dramatic gold mine that was Poe. Years ago there was a minor movie called "The Raven" (a two-reeler as I recall) but even for its time this could scarcely be called an attempt at biography.

and death in the long run defeats every man. "It's a fascinating story, and how it will turn out on the screen I don't know. Mornings, I think it'll be great. By late afternoon I'm convinced it can't be done." It was too bad, considering Pichel's enthusiasm, that Jean Gabin had to be rushed into another picture right away. That meant switching directing jobs in order to put Archie Mayo, director of Gabin's first, on his second. Pichel had to leave Poe for the film Mayo was starting and Harry Lachmann was called in for these "great" mornings and dubious afternoons. No white man to date has yet completely explored the miles of winding channels of the Everglades, which comprise 4,000,000 acres.

What scripter Samuel Hoffenstein and director Irving Pichel, who were working on it at the start, weren't able to sidestep was the fact that the great American poet and father of the modern detective story was, by all accepted standards, a very weak hero. In the movies a conventional hero may fall victim to booze for a weak interlude, but he has to pull out of it and be pure again for the face-out. Poe, unobliquely, never pulled out. And the movie wanted to be a true story of Poe. Then the average movie biography, as Pichel pointed out, is tacked on one outstanding achievement by the hero—Don Ameche inventing the telephone, Tyrone Power building the Suez canal, etcetera. Poe's achievements were literary—and what, in the light of popular entertainment, is dramatic about the scratching of a pen, or the reciting of a few poems. The solution here was simpler: Poe had a great love story, and what better movie material is there than a love story. As for the weakness, they'd keep it, being truthful, but they would try to explain it if not to justify it by delving into the poet's childhood; a loving foster-mother but a stern foster-father whose strict discipline evoked rebellion. Also detailed would be Poe's youthful, broken romance with the fair Elmira, and the main love story, his marriage with the 13-year-old Virginia Clemm whose fatal illness drove him deeper into drink. His pride, poverty, bitter failures and humiliations... "It won't be just the story of a drunkard," said Pichel. "It's the defeat of genius by a weakness... his struggle against it. Poe was defeated by death—he was never able to hold any women he loved-

Washington Daybook - - He Cuts Government Cost Snip At Time

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON—A young Democratic congressman from Oklahoma who has strung along with the administration on most matters but has been sniping away at non-essential government spending for the three years that he has been in office, has finally got himself a cause that is making talk on the Hill and may even get results. Rep. A. S. Mike Monroney is waging an almost one-man campaign to do away with what he describes as the Department of Agriculture's unnecessary "Full-man car farmers" — department officials and employes who do a lot of train traveling. His goal is to cut the department's $16,000,000 travel and per diem allowance appropriation in half for the next fiscal year. His method is tedious—but it's the only method that could be used. He's trying to cut the $16,000,000 block in half by chipping off a few thousands here, a few there. Each stroke on the chisel requires a special amendment. There would have to be more than 40 of them. For example, one of the amendments would cut the forest service travel expense from $878,000 to $563,100, a saving of only $315,900. When Monroney started bringing his amendments to the floor, the House showed a marked lack of interest for him to get more than a 5-minute debate at the start. Congressional leaders were so disinterested that some left the floor. When the vote was taken and Monroney's first amendment lost by only six votes, administration leaders sat up and took notice. The fight has just started, Monroney says. If the trend continues against him on the separate amendments, he plans to drop them an overall amendment to make a blanket slash of $8,000,000 in the account. Where the congressman caught the defense of the appropriation, short was that there is no breakdown of the travel allowances other than by agencies and no way of proving in advance that the allowances are absolutely necessary. Knowing Monroney has generally favored administration farm legislation, I asked him how he hit upon this particular item. "In studying the budget I came upon this item for $16,000,000 for travel by agriculture department. This is, of course, exclusive of the expense and maintenance of government owned cars. I got to thinking that there are some states whose income tax payments to the government don't equal that much. I looked that up and I found that there were 16 states, not one of which in 1941 paid in $16,000,000 in income taxes to the government. "Without going into the travel needs of the department at that point, it seemed to me that something must be wrong somewhere if the department was spending more for train and per diem travel than the federal income tax revenue from any one of 16 states. SHOW BOAT GIRL

Chapter 21 Call From Jimmy At the noonday meal that was both breakfast and lunch aboard the River Queen, Randy was in high spirits, so much so that the others looked at him curiously. And when Melissa came in and they saw the bright color burning in her cheeks beneath Randy's caressing glance, they all grinned and exchanged meaningful glances. Randy looked about the room, grinned and said, lifting his glass of orange juice, "O.K., folks, I see there's no need of our trying to keep it a secret—Melissa has consented to marry me." Alice said drily, "It's too early in the morning for effective acting, so do you mind if we don't register surprise? Congratulations and all that — and felicitations. I've seen it coming from the very first!" "Wise guy, aren't you?" said Randy, coloring a little. "Very wise," agreed Alice, grinning at him cheerfully. The others were laughing, talking, teasing the blushing Melissa, and for the moment Randy and Alice were able to talk unobserved and unheard. "You think I'm doing her a dirty trick, don't you?" demanded Randy straightly. Alice met his eyes levelly. "Not if you are quite sure that no little ghosts out of the past will bob up to make her miserable later on," she answered quietly. "I haven't broken any laws, if that's what you mean. I'm not a racketeer or a gangster to be hauled off to jail unexpectedly or to be put on the spot and have the spot rubbed out, by some traitor former accomplice," Randy reminded her drily. "I didn't mean that and you know it," answered Alice with spirit. "I know everything on the River Queen is on the up and up or Hugh and I wouldn't be working here, badly as we need the money. I meant the only kind of ghosts that would bother Melissa—later on, if you were hauled off to jail they'd have to haul her, too—that wouldn't bother Melissa the way I mean." "Then what sort of ghosts would bother her?" demanded Randy curiously. "Dolores' kind," answered Alice firmly. "Oh," said Randy, and looked startled. "You mean you think these Dolores and me other than the relation between an employer and employee?" "Something of that kind" admitted Alice frankly. "Then you're wrong, Alice," said Randy so simply that Alice was convinced in spite of herself. "I never made love to Dolores, or any other woman, for that matter, until now. I've always fought shy of women. I've seen the mess that some of them have made for men I liked, and—well, I just thought that for me the marriage stuff was out. I still feel I've no right to Melissa—she's so young and sweet and untouched. I wish I could be oh— "A knight in silver armor, without fear and without reproach and aboard a white horse?" suggested Alice, affectionately derisive. "Well, take another gal's word for it, boss—knights in silver armor can be the most god-awful bores sometimes. I'm sure Melissa would rather have you as you are! I know I would!" Summons Randy said simply, his eyes shining, his voice eager and vibrant. "Thanks, Alice—thanks a million. You're a pal!" "Think nothing of it, boss—think nothing of it," said Alice cheerfully. "You were pretty much of a pal yourself to Hugh and me when we lived here. Any little thing I can do in return—" Randy held out his hand, and Alice put hers in it, and they smiled at each other in warm, friendly understanding. There was, Melissa and Rand agreed, no point in making a secret of the engagement. The wedding date was set for a month hence, to give Randy time to make certain business arrangements so they could have a week or two for a honeymoon while Alice took over the game rooms and Bob, the orchestra leader, and Hugh took over the entertainment. Three or four days after the engagement had been announced informally among their friends and some of the show boat's most frequent visitors, Melissa was on deck in the late afternoon, lying in her favorite deck chair, a book unopened on her knee. Her thoughts and dreams were far more perfect company than any printed page could ever be, but if she pretended to be reading people didn't disturb her by trying to talk to her. A car drew up at the pier and a negro man, middle-aged and wearing a smart gray whipcord chauffeur's uniform, came swiftly to the River Queen. "I'm looking for Miss Melissa Marlowe," he said, and Melissa stood up, facing him, puzzled. "I'm Marston's chauffeur," said the man. "Miss Marston sent me to fetch you—young Marze Jimmy's body hurt and he says he wants to see you. I expects we bettah hurry. Docto' say he hurt bad." Melissa caught her breath on a little gasp and found Randy beside her, puzzled, questioning. The chauffeur explained his presence and Randy, frowning, said, "Now what the devil could Jimmy Marston want with you?" "I don't know, sub, but de docto' say she have to hurry if she wanna see him," said the chauffeur simply, his face ashen with tragedy. "I'll go, of course," said Melissa, and looked down at the honey yellow shakarkin slacks and jade green jacket that was her favorite lounging costume for leisure hours aboard. "I don't suppose I'd have time to change?" "Fraid not, Miss," answered the chauffeur, and turned away. "I'll go with you, of course," said Randy, and together they followed the chauffeur to the waiting car. Melissa was frightened. Something ugly lay just ahead. The implications of the doctor's instructions for haste could not be avoided; Jimmy was badly hurt; if she wanted to see him, she must hurry. That meant Jimmy might be dying. She caught her breath on a little sob and found Randy's arm about her, holding her close, wordlessly comforting her. The big car turned in at the private drive and she could not help remembering the last time she had come with life and youth and animal spirits, beside her. And now Jimmy was badly hurt. The car halted at the steps and Randy got out, turning to help her, a gay little figure in honey yellow and jade green, with silvery little embroidered wooden-soled clogs on her stockingless feet. As they went up the steps the door opened and Mrs. Marston stood there, her face gray, her eyes bleak, a will about her mouth which Melissa shrank backward, despite Randy's arm about her. "Bitter Words," said Mrs. Marston in a harsh, ugly voice that had an almost eerie quality in it. "It's too late. He—he doesn't want to see you ever again." Melissa said shakily, "I'm terribly sorry he's hurt—" "He won't ever be hurt again— not even by cruel, heartless little wretches like you!" Mrs. Marston cut in savagely. "You can be very proud of your work. You flirted with him, led him on, got him crazy about you, thinking that you were going to marry him — and then when he stopped being amusing, you threw him over — made a fool of him—" "But, Mrs. Marston, I told him all along that I didn't love him—that I couldn't marry him. I told you that first day I came here—" stammered Melissa wearily. Mrs. Marston's lip curled in a sneer. "And of course, Jimmy and I both recognized that as an excellent bit of technique. You were smart enough—girls of your type usually are! — to convince him that you were hard to get—that he had to fight hard for you. And Jimmy always loved a fight. Anything he had to fight for seemed to him gloriously worth having," she said harshly. "But now he's finished with fighting — he's finished with loving a girl completely unworthy of him — he's finished with living! And so have I—" "Jimmy is dead?" asked Randy, and knew by the look on his mother's face that Jimmy was. Melissa gave a little shocked, protesting, "Oh, no!" and hid her face against Randy's shoulder. "I don't wonder you cry out," said Mrs. Marston grimly. "I hope you will suffer as you made him suffer. You couldn't suffer as I am suffering for you're only a cheap, spoiled, shallow little thing not worth the paring of Jimmy's little fingernail." "You mustn't say things like that, Mrs. Marston," said Randy swiftly. "Melissa is in no way to blame for whatever has happened." "No!" Mrs. Marston's lip curled. "She made a fool of Jimmy—she let him think she loved him. And he fought for her, forcing them to accept her forcing his father and me to consent to his marriage to her. He used the Christmas check his father and I gave him to buy an engagement ring for her, and even then she was coy, pretending that she didn't intend to marry him. And then yesterday when he heard that she was going to marry you—well-of course the whole world will think that it was an automobile accident—that he lost control of his car and that it turned over on him. "But his father and I know that it was no accident — and I want Melissa Marlowe to know it, too, and to know how it feels to have a man's blood on her hands." "I'm terribly sorry for your grief and suffering, Mrs. Marston, but I can't let you talk like that to Melissa," said Randy harshly. "She is completely innocent and I won't have her bullied or tortured." He turned and guided Melissa back down the drive. To Be Continued

Ward, Pecos Counties Get Production

SAN ANGELO, March 28—Completion by Darby Petroleum Co. of a reef line discovery producer in Ward county, the latest strike on University of Texas land, and by Pure Oil Co. of a Delaware sand pool opener in Pecos county featured West Texas oil development this week.

The South Sand Hills Ordovician pool in western Crane county was extended a quarter mile north and east by Gulf No. 4-B J. B. Tubbs and others. Jack D. Bodkins of Midland and California associates took 10-year commercial oil and gas leases on a 25,000-acre block in Midland county, where Broderick & Calvert and Geo. P. Livermore spudded a scheduled 5,500-foot, rotary wildcat.

Darby No. 1 University in Ward county flowed naturally 667 barrels of oil, plus one per cent wash water, through open 2-inch tubing in 24 hours for completion at 2,847 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 61-1. The oil tested only 20 gravity but has a good lubricant content.

The well is 660 from the south, 1,980 feet from the west line of section 19-16-U, 1 1/2 miles southwest of the Magnolia - Seely (South) pool and 3 1/2 miles north and slightly east of the Spencer pool. It is the third Permian Basin strike on geology by D. C. DeVito of Midland, who farmed out the drilling block to Darby.

Pure No. 1-A Texas Pacific Land Trust, the Pecos county Delaware strike, flowed 61.28 barrels of oil in 24 hours through a one-inch choke on 2 1/2 inch tubing run to 3,113 feet, with a packer set at 4,956 feet. A pumping unit recently was installed. The well topped the pay at 5,080 feet, drilled to 6,001, plugged back to 5,274 and was shot with 60 quarts of nitroglycerin from 5,250-71 and with 50 quarts from 5,080-96 feet. Later it was treated with 2,000 gallons of acid. The Delaware sand was entered at 5,082 feet, 1,571 feet below sea level, and salt water was encountered in deepening to 5,175. The well is 663 feet out of the southwest corner of section 31-49-10-T&P, 20 miles southwest of Fort Stockton.

No early development is anticipated on the 25,000-acre block in western Midland county south of the Midland Army flying school which Jack D. Bodkins and associates leased for annual rentals of around $60,000 and of the 50 cents an acre. The leases are in blocks 29, 40 and 41, township 2 south, TP Ry. Co. survey, and include the entire Scharbauer cattle Co. No. 1 ranch of 22,014 acres.

P. Livermore spudded No. 1 Wilson Bryant, wildcat 13 miles south of Midland, 1,980 from the south, 660 feet from the west line of section 24-39-3a-T&P.

Coring of dolomite showing porosity and oil stains and bleeding both oil and water at intervals attracted attention to Stanokind No. 1 J. F. Stinnett, Lubbock county wildcat nine miles north of Slaton. Coring had reached 4,797 feet. The test is in the southwest corner of labor 18, league 4, San Augustine county school land survey, six miles southeast of L. C. Harrison and others' No. 1 W. G. Nairn estate, Lubbock county discovery producer.

Would Move Puerto Ricans To Thinly-Populated Areas

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—A plan to move 800,000 Puerto Ricans from the over-populated United States possessions in the Caribbean to five under-populated Latin American countries—if they want to go—is being laid before government and diplomatic officials here. Such a move would affect directly one-fourth of the island's citizens and would be one of the biggest mass migrations in history. It is being proposed by Emilio Batallie of Newark, N. J., who, in 1934, was appointed by President Roosevelt as an advisor on settling European political refugees in British Guiana. Batallie also spent six years in Canada arranging for re-settlement of refugee Poles and Ukrainians. He has no official government connections. Guy J. Swope, former governor of Puerto Rico who is now director of the division of territories, believes Batallie's plan is "logical and reasonable." Swope, who has conferred with Batallie, says he will take it up further with government officials. The plan has three aims: 1—To reduce the population of Puerto Rico, one of the most heavily populated islands in the world, with 548 persons to the square mile. 2—To provide labor to develop and increase the supply of vital war materials in Latin America, particularly rubber. 3—To populate the hinterlands of five countries—Brazil, Columbia, Ecuador, Honduras and Venezuela—and give them colonists who will be assimilated without difficulty.

The Bank of Sweden, founded in 1668, claims to be the oldest bank of issue in the world.
