'HUMAN TUG' PULLS TWO LOADED AUTOS FIVE MILES IN HOUR

International News Service.
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Have you ever tried to push or pull a good sized touring car? If you have you can appreciate the task Lev Levy undertook when he waded that he could pull two loaded automobiles a distance of five miles.
Levy is known as the "human tug," and he proved that he is all of that and then some. He won the wager and finished strong.
Two big touring cars were selected for the stunt. They were placed side by side—not tandem fashion—which would have been much easier for Levy. A stout towing rope was fastened to the bumpers of the cars and Levy, standing in front of the cars, placed a rope around his neck and shoulders, yoke fashion.
A man driver was at the steering wheel of each car and the cars were filled with children, as many in each car as could be accommodated. Levy leaned forward and strained at the tow-ropes. It took a mighty effort to get the cars in motion. When this was accomplished Levy at a moderate walk toward the cars the distance of five miles without stopping. The start was made from Sea Gate and over an ordinary pavement he pulled the automobile to Coney Island hospital and back again. He covered the distance in forty-four minutes and thirty-nine seconds.
The children enjoyed the ride and Levy, seemingly, enjoyed the role of substitute for two perfectly good automobile motors, for at the finish he was handed $250 as the amount of the wager.
The famous French war decoration, the Croix de Guerre, was instituted as a medal for the world war only.

IS WAR WITH MEXICO AIM OF G. O. P.? PLATFORM AMBIGUOUS BUT INTERVENTIONISTS ACTIVE

By BASCOM M. TIMMONS.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Is war with Mexico to follow in the event of the election of Warren G. Harding to the presidency?
This question, which is of interest to Texas, is being asked in non-partisan politicians here. The provision of the Republican platform on Mexico are ambiguous and indefinite. It blames the policy of the Wilson administration for loss of life and property resulting to American citizens below the Rio Grande. But its failure to announce a definite policy left doubt as to the meaning concealed in a multiplicity of ambiguous words.
Does it mean that if the property and life of Americans in Mexico are hereafter endangered this government will make war on Mexico and establish a protectorate? Wilson's Stand.
Support for this belief is found in the fact that the Republican party endorsed the Fall plan for intervention, that it has never endorsed the Wilson statement in his memorable speech at Mobile in 1913, in which he declared that "the United States will never again seek one additional foot of territory by conquest, and by a statement made by Senator Harding himself at San Antonio several years ago hinting at intervention.
The Hearst newspapers, long advocates of intervention, and the oil interest, which might expect to profit by American intervention, are ardently supporting Harding.

The bulk of the Harding campaign contributions have come from men who are strongly opposed to intervention. The League of Nations covenant, Article 10 provides: "The members of the League undertake to preserve and respect against external aggression the territorial integrity and political independence of all members of the League."
Manifestly this article is the Magna Charter of the small nations. No one can by external aggression take a foot of territory from the United States or Great Britain or Japan, all of which are strong enough to take care of themselves.
Article Ten Prevents Aggression
But were the United States in the war it would be prevented from taking a foot of Mexican territory. The report of the Republican committee, headed by Senator Fall, recommended that the United States occupy and administer Mexico from coast to coast, unless that republic revise its constitution in accordance with the ideas of some of our business men.
The Republican platform adopted at Chicago pledged itself to "a consistent, firm policy toward Mexico that shall enforce respect for the American flag."
"Does this mean," it is now being asked, "that the alarm of the Republican managers and their candidates of what do in benevolent military operations in all parts of the world are really camouflage?"
Certain it is that the Republican stamp of speakers are saying nothing of the things we must agree to do if we enter the League of Nations with the 43 countries which have disavowed aggression and subscribed to a guaranteed peace.
In the event of trouble in Mexico the cavalry division now being organized in Texas would naturally, because of its proximity to the border, see immediate service. So would the National Guard organizations of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona.
Military authorities have estimated that it would take ten years to subjugate Mexico. It is very probable that Governor Cox shortly will ask the Republican managers to state their plans toward Mexico.

In the city of Morovina, Mr. Pike, a wealthy American steel manufacturer, is endeavoring to persuade the governor-general that he is just the man for his son-in-law.

A princess must not marry below her social rank. Has Mr. Pike any social position, any rank, any title? That is the important factor. But like all real Americans, Mr. Pike is not to be frustrated. Any social position—any rank—any title—of course he had. Was he not the grand exalted ruler of the benevolent and protective order of Elks? Was he not a Knight Templar? (A Knight that did not sound so bad to the governor-general.) And last, but not least, was he not the King of the Hoos-Hoos? (A King!) Surely a princess could not do better than marry a king, a knight and a ruler of the Elks, who had four hundred million piastres in his possession, even though he be one of the despised Americans.

See the governor-general's decision of this most important question in "The Slim Princess," the latest Goldwyn picture, starring Mabel Normand, which is playing at the Lamb theatre.

Despite the fact that Orland T. McGaffin, of Dover, O., drew No. 131313 in the draft, which number is declared by superstitious to be the most unlucky possible, he saw service on six fronts including Chateaux Thierry, Champagne and Argonne, and came through without a scratch.

Since the end of the world war 13,100 homes have been rebuilt in France, 178,500 repaired and 46,570 other houses in use temporarily.

OPERA HOUSE.

Editor Praises Alice Joyce Production. Alice Joyce has another triumph in her new special Vitagraph production, "Dollars and the Woman," which will be shown at the Opera House theatre today. It is an adaptation of the well known Albert Payson Terhune story, and in the opinion of G. R. Quirk, editor of Photoplay Magazine, one of the greatest dramatic stories of recent years.

"Have just read synopsis and seen stills of your production, 'Dollars and the Woman.' Regard this as one of the greatest present day themes and urge you to special efforts to push this production. Photoplay is playing it up. Fictionized version strong as one of its best editorial features. It is a great domestic sermon that should show the way to happiness in these days when the living problem brings despair, misunderstanding and consequent unhappiness into thousands of homes."
Mr. Quirk reads thousands of scenarios each year. He is familiar with all the features produced by the several producing companies and in addition he has his fingers on the pulse of the movie fan. He knows just what the fan wants and what will be the most timely subject that an exhibitor can exploit. He mentions "Dollars and the Woman."

A cast of well known players, including Robert Gordon, Crawford Kent, Jessie Stevens and about 200 extra players, supports Alice Joyce in this production. Great attention has been paid to details in staging the feature. It is a super-production in every sense of the word and one that will win added laurels for Alice Joyce.

Famous Actress Wears Fine Raiment in "Something to Think About."
Can you fancy beautiful Gloria Swanson dressed in rags and tatters? Remember the many gorgeous gowns which have become so much a part of Miss Swanson as a result of her success in "Don't Change Your Husband," "Male and Female" and "Why Change Your Wife?" And yet rags and tatters are Miss Swanson's portion through a large portion of the story of Cecil B. De Mille's Paramount picture, "Something to Think About," which will be shown at the Temple today.

"Something to Think About" represents a new departure in the type of role portrayed by Miss Swanson. As Ruth Anderson the talented young actress and abundant opportunity to display her abilities. The role carries Miss Swanson through the entire emotional gamut and it is confidently expected that this production will earn for her an additional host of admirers.
Although rags and tatters play their part in the action, Miss Swanson wears gowns of striking beauty. Several ultra-new street costumes and evening gowns of unusual beauty were designed by Claire West under the supervision of Cecil B. De Mille and Miss Swanson wears them with habitual grace and charm.
Miss Swanson plays the central feminine role. Other notable names in the cast include Elliott Dexter, Theodore Roberts, Monte Blue, Claire McDowell, little Mickey Moore, Theodore Kosloff, James Mason and Julia Faye.

"LEAVE IT TO MY PALS," SAYS GUNMAN SHOT IN CHICAGO FUED

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Richard "Whitey" Forbes, former official of the auto mechanics' union was shot to death here yesterday in another "gunman" killing. The shooting occurred on the south side. Forbes died without revealing the name of his assailant...

W. H. JOHNSON, of Portland, Ore., who says no one could have done him any greater kindness than the friend who advised him to try Tanlac.—Gains fifteen pounds.

Not in a long time have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Tanlac, said W. H. Johnson, 319 East 43rd St., Portland, Ore., who holds a responsible position with the Northwest Transfer company.

About a year ago I began suffering from lack of appetite and stomach trouble and since that time—that is, until Tanlac set me right—I have felt so poorly that I could hardly do my work. My food seemed to do me little good, if any, as my digestion was bad, and I lost both weight and strength continually.

"After every meal there was a dull, nagging pain in the pit of my stomach that kept me feeling miserable for hours.

"The gas from my sour, undigested food would bloat me up terribly and my nerves were so upset that I would lie awake half the night unable to sleep. I was constantly having blinding dizzy spells and could not bend over and straighten up quickly but what everything seemed as dark as night to me.

"I was telling a friend one day how bad I felt and he advised me to try Tanlac and I just want to say he couldn't have done me a greater kindness.

"I have picked up all of fifteen pounds in weight, my appetite is fine, and although I am eating just anything I want my stomach never gives me a particle of trouble. My sleep is sound and restful and my strength and energy have been so renewed that my work is no longer a burden to me.

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros., and in Eastland by Butler Drug Co.—Adv.

GUN TOTING FUTILE.

There seems to be an impression prevailing in certain parts of the oil fields that reputable citizens should be encouraged to arm themselves as a protection against evildoers and a deterrent to their activities. This theory might be practical if only the reputable citizens carried weapons, and used them with promptness and dispatch. Unfortunately, it seems that the hijackers also carry weapons, and display more facility in producing them than the aforesaid reputable citizens. Thus the citizen loses his weapon as well as his cash—and no hijacker has been shot as yet.

The cold, practical fact that several men have lost their guns in recent hold-ups is enough to prove this theory of arming law and order is fallacious. It is because of psychology. The law-abiding citizen is handicapped by his aversion to direct action. His instincts are against it. This, and darkness, and surprise, give the hold-up the "drop," without which the best weapon and the best shot is helpless. Furthermore, the hold-up is not nearly so aversive to shooting, if necessary, as is the citizen.

The way to discourage violence and suggest is to make it hard for the evildoers. If a strict enforcement is made of the gun-toting law, these gentry will soon find themselves in jail or migrating to other parts.

Let the word go out that gun toting is allowed and that every man caught with a gun will be punished to the full extent of the law. This should not worry the good citizen, for his weapon is his protection to him anyway, and he should be well leaved it at home. Then there is a strong arm squad, whose duty it is—whether the step is entirely within the strict interpretation of legal or not—to search every man found lurking in the darkness of unfrequented streets, for weapons. If one is found, it is prima facie evidence that he is committing a crime and is probably intending to commit a more serious one. Let him the full measure of the law's efficient correctness. A few convictions and the knights of the road will be our midst. They have no love for us.

Enforcement of the law is a better tonic for the peace and order of the community than is any such step as suspending it in the hope that good citizens will by its violation force bad citizens to refrain from the violation. The search procedure might seem hindered, but conditions demand forceful action, and those who want law and order should feel no indignity at being searched.

Let's ban the gun toter.

Another thing about the gun-toting racket-up; he is affected by the law of supply and demand. His demands have been so frequent of late that the supply mazzima ready to meet it is diminishing. Robbery at five dollars a night is not remunerative. The folks are leaving it elsewhere than in their pockets. Fewer and better stick-ups should be the hijackers' motto. They're advertising too much.

A New York salesman dreamed of a black cat and woke up in a hospital. John-A-Dreams, what's the answer? Hobby is to welcome the Mexican president across the line. Willie Tollit's pa, when interviewed on the significance of the occasion, said: "If Oregon will bring over a bottle of entente cordiale I'll be glad to be on the reception committee. I favor free and unsearched traffic with Mexico."

What $1 Will Do Toward Insuring Success for Cox

Special to The Times.

DALLAS, Oct. 5.—Hon. J. J. A. Kemp, chairman of the Texas branch of the National Democratic Campaign committee, Monday issued the following statement:

"This is to remind Texas Democrats that the time is short, the general election will soon be held and the campaign funds are low. Democratic leaders and Democratic newspaper should arouse the Democrats of the commonwealth to importance of making substantial contributions to the fund.

"A dollar contributed by a good Democrat to the Democratic National Campaign funds will accomplish a great deal. The contributor of a dollar can feel that he is actually performing one of the following services to the Democratic cause: a $100 contribution ten times as much; a $1000 contribution a hundred times as much, and so on:

"If used in sending telegraphic news, $1 will send a hundred-word news item to a possible 1,150,000 readers.

"If used in sending out special articles, it will print and deliver to editors a thousand-word article which may reach 835,000 readers.

"It will purchase 300 eight-page pamphlets on the League of Nations or other Democratic literature or pay postage on 100 of them, or buy 125 buttons.

"If used by the speakers' bureau, it will carry a Democratic message from one of our speakers to 115 voters.

"It must be born in mind that there are many millions of voters and they must be reached not once but many times in many ways. Every Democrat can and should do his or her part, and doing one's part consists in giving liberally according to one's ability and means—not merely a nominal sum.

"Conscience as well as patriotism and Democracy calls. The League of Nations means peace to the nations. Its rejection means death and suffering to nations, to millions of men, women and children. Invest your money in, do your part for the League of Nations, for peace, progress and prosperity.

All Democrats are urged to send their contributions at once to state headquarters, 327 Western Indemnity Bldg., Dallas. Make all checks payable to Royall R. Watkins, secretary-treasurer.

Jimkurn Opening Successful Despite Padlocked Gates and Barbecue Elsewhere; Rails Soon

JIMKURN, Oct. 5.—More than 1,000 persons attended the opening of the new townsite here on Monday. From many points in Texas and as far away as Arizona, the crowds swarmed into town and while the first day's sale of lots broke no records, the opening was entirely satisfactory.

Lot buyers on opening day bunched their purchases and as a result the main street leading from the depot will be solidly built up, the contracts having already been let for several store and office buildings.

Among those who acquired lots in Jimkurn was President James M. Kurn of the Frisco railroad, for whom the town was named.

In spite of a counter attraction at a little nearby town, off the railroad, where a free barbecue was pulled off, and the fact that some frolicsome person had padlocked pasture gates along the road leading to the new town, the crowd on opening day was a real record-breaker. It is expected that a steady sale of lots for a few days will dispose of the holdings of the townsite company.

The oil well supply houses, lumbermen and others using truckage property, while not present at the opening, have announced their intention of establishing branches here.

With the coming of the railroad it is expected that Jimkurn will have a population of several thousand.

The grading of the line between here and Breckenridge is practically completed and steel has been laid for a mile or so beyond Breckenridge. With continued good weather, the road should be completed and in operation to its terminus here before November.

KENTUCKY'S GONNA MAKE BOOTLEGGERS TAKE OUT LICENSE

By Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5.—Elwood Hamilton, collector of internal revenue for Kentucky, is preparing to make bootleggers of liquor obtain distiller and retail liquor dealer licenses, he has announced. The new state dry law makes license collections possible.

Under this plan 100 persons arrested here since July 1 for alleged violation of liquor laws would have a bill of $2,200 each, including the retail license of $25 with $1,000 tax, penalty of 25 per cent for failure to make return, and double penalty levied by the Volstead act.

JAILED JAILER BREAKS JAIL TO CAPTURE JAILBREAKERS

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 5.—Fess Whitaker, jailer, author, rough rider and friend of Theodore Roosevelt in the Cuban campaign, and a candidate for county judge of Letcher county, confined in his own jail on a charge of fighting, established a precedent today when he captured escaping prisoners. After trailing them a considerable distance in the mountains, unarmed, he brought them back.

Six prisoners broke jail. At the time of the delivery Sheriff Mack Yountz was out of town. Whitaker discovered the escape and lost no time in going, after the men, breaking jail to do it.

MISDEMEANORS MAKE BUSY DAY IN CITY COURT

Seventeen arrests were made last night by members of the police department. Charges of gaming led with a total of eight. Charges of drunkenness were a close second with six. One charge of soliciting, one for rudely displaying a pistol and one for parking within ten feet of a fire plug made up the total.

One of the men charged with gaming made cash bond and will appear today for trial, as did Thomas Kornmiller, charged with rudely displaying a deadly weapon. The remainder of those arrested paid fines varying from $11.70 to 20.70. The total receipts were $241.

The minimum fine for parking in ten feet of a fire plug is $20.70.

The United States government is paying $257,000 each for 16-inch guns for the great fighting ships now under construction for the navy.

All former service men, disabled through wounds or disease, are to be placed within a year in hospitals owned and controlled by the government.
