'BLOODY' TOWN RESUMES WORK AFTER BATTLE

Six Are Killed In Klan And Anti-Klan Election Rioting

HERRIN, Ill., April 14.—Daylight and the tramp of soldiers feet today dispelled fear of further violence in Herrin.

The city which has been nicknamed "Bloody" where only six men were slain in a Main street gun battle brought about by an election feud, today was at peace, which might not exist unless the streets were patrolled by state guards.

Herrin, counting her dead found that three members of the Ku Klux Klan and three anti-klansmen had been killed, went home to its evening meal yesterday and quietly stole away to bed, another chapter having been written in its bloody history.

Dawn found the city awake. Miners, those who had not been laid off by curtailment of coal delivery, left briskly from their homes and started off to their shifts.

The shooting began yesterday after the arrival of a company of militia from Carbondale, called to curb a gun fight at the garage of John Smith, a Klan leader, in which several hundred shots were fired.

Several machine guns were reported used and volleys were fired at intervals of four or five minutes.

State Senator William J. Sneed, who watched the gun fight from his office three blocks away, estimated 1,000 shots were fired in the first thirty minutes. Another witness estimated the number of shots during that period at between 200 and 500.

Estimates of the number of men outside the garage participating in the fight varied from fifteen to 125, nearly all of whom were armed. Automatic rifles, shotguns and revolvers were in evidence.

PASSING OF TWO GREAT MEN. Luther Burbank is no more. Morgan Jones has driven his last spike into a cross tie.

All Texas mourns, especially the Panhandle and Central West Texas, the passing of Morgan Jones, pioneer empire developer.

The whole world mourns the passing of the man who added beauty and fragrance to flowers. A man who improved the potato and other vegetables as well as fruits.

Morgan Jones was one of the pioneer builders of Texas. The Wichita Valley lines, which include the Abilene & Southern are monuments to his integrity.

One developed nature, the other developed the resources of the land by giving a means to the producer to market his stuff.

The Wichita Valley lines traverse a section of country that now produces great crops of food and feed. The Wichita Valley lines were constructed in the days when comparatively few farmers inhabited that section of Texas.

Morgan Jones was one of the last of the empire builders. But few remain now. He leaves a heritage to his state that is worth while.

Morgan Jones during his life gathered riches while he builded. Luther Burbank gathered riches, not in money, but in giving the world improved vegetation.

In accomplishing things, the lives of Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, and Morgan Jones, the empire builder are worth emulating by the youth of the country.

Ranger Artists Delight Radio Fans Of Nation

That radio fans far and near were delighted with the efforts of the Ranger entertainers who broadcasted last night over WPAF was demonstrated by the fact that, during the hour the program was being given, 81 telephone calls and telegrams were received.

Virtually every radio set in Ranger was tuned in to hear the program being given by the artists in the neighboring cities of the oil belt. Static was nearly entirely absent and the tones of the instruments and the voices were clear and musical.

Gus Coleman's Rainbow serenaders gave 10 tuneful hits; the quartet, composed of Mrs. Harold Durham, Mrs. C. C. Patterson, J. M. White and Hal Hunter, gave four songs, and Mrs. Durham and Mrs. Patterson were especially delightful with a duet. In a brief talk, Gus Coleman told the world about Ranger.

Among the cities heard from during the hour that the program was being given were Hot Springs, Ark.; San Antonio, Waco, Dallas, Fort Worth, Eastland, Cisco, Plano, and Breckenridge, with several messages from Ranger. It is likely that telegrams arriving after the Ranger entertainers had closed their program will greatly increase the stack of messages and it is probable that, for several days, postcards from distant listeners will be received.

The program was given over the station of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and Record-Telegram.

CROTWELL ESCAPES HOSPITAL

Five days after he had been operated on for appendicitis, Frank Crotwell, a patient in the Payne and Brown hospital in Eastland, escaped from that institution last night about 12 o'clock. He was captured a short time afterward by Chief of Police Elmer Lawrence, who found Crotwell at his garage, evidently attempting to steal Lawrence's car, when he returned home from a trip uptown.

Crotwell will be remembered as the 18 year old youth, who was arrested by Eastland officers some weeks ago on a charge of theft, and who made his escape from them after felling Justice of the Peace Sam Day with a rock as Crotwell and the officer were going to a place in a pasture near Eastland where Crotwell said he had hidden a shotgun. Crotwell was later arrested and placed in jail at Merkel where he set fire to the jail in an effort to effect his escape. He was later brought to Eastland and placed in jail.

Attendants at the hospital, where Crotwell had been sent by County officials for an operation following his attack of appendicitis, yesterday told County Attorney W. J. Barnes that they were having trouble with Crotwell. Barnes informed the sheriff's department and recommended that leg-chains be placed on Crotwell. This was to be done as soon as the chains could be secured.

Last night Crotwell made his escape from the hospital by crawling out at a window and leaving the building in his night clothes. When found by Chief of Police Lawrence, Crotwell was still in his night clothes and bare-footed, but was wearing a slicker-coat belonging to Lawrence and which Crotwell had taken from the garage at Lawrence's home.

Crotwell was returned to the hospital and is being kept under guard until such time as his physical condition is such that he can be returned to the county jail.

Life Of Dallas Motorman Is Full Of Thrills

Ideal Ration For Production Of Milk Made

COLLEGE STATION, April 14.—What is the ideal ration for milk production in Texas? Professor George P. Grout, head of the Dairy Husbandry department of the A. & M. College of Texas answers that "Cotton seed meal is the cheapest source of protein in the South. It is palatable, and when fed with other suitable concentrates it is one of the most valuable feeds for dairy cattle."

Here is the ration Professor Grout recommends as the proper diet for a milk cow:

- 1/4 cotton seed meal. 1/4 wheat bran or ground oats. 1/2 ground corn, hominy feed or ground grain, sorghum, ground barley or rice bran. To the mixture add 1 percent ground bone meal and 1 percent salt. This ration is to be fed with all the roughage a cow will consume.

INDIANA HARBOR, Ind., April 14.—The robbing and kidnaping of a mail messenger today was characterized by the police here as a frame-up and an inside job. The bandits procured the entire shipment of registered mail, part of which is thought to have been a shipment of money, $37,500 from Chicago to the Indiana Harbor bank.

6 STUDENTS SUSPENDED FOR BOOZING

DANVILLE, Ill., April 14.—A triple investigation into liquor drinking among high school students here has been started on the heels of confession of six boys that they "toted" flasks on their hips to a dance held in the auditorium of the school.

The boys said that during the dance they stole out into dark corners and corridors of the building there to pass their flasks from student to student. They said that a number of girls accepted drinks out of the flasks.

Names of the boys would not be revealed by high school authorities but it is understood they are members of prominent families here and two of them—brothers—are football stars and social leaders in the high school circle.

Six students have been suspended in connection with the investigation.

Itching Eczema Is Worst Of All

When you go to the theater or whenever you are near many people and begin to scratch that eczema or itching part of your body, people become uneasy while they are around you and usually show their resentment to the annoyance.

You don't have to put up with this embarrassment because you can get rid of the trouble you are bothered with by using Black and White Ointment. It is the quickest way to relieve yourself of eczema, rash, "breaking out," boils, pimples, etc. Be sure to use Black and White Soap when you wash to keep the skin soft and smooth after that.

Black and White Ointment and Soap are economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.—Adv.

Loboes Devour Mavericks In The Season's First Game

The veteran Lobo team proved too much for the Eastland Mavericks and Cisco High won the first game of the series yesterday, 9 to 2. The scene of the fray was in the new Lobo baseball park, one of the finest fields in West Texas. The second game will be played Thursday in Eastland.

Wretched support for Cory accounted for a large proportion of the Lobo tallies as the Eastland lad hurled a good game during the five innings he was in the box while C. E. Laffoon, who hurled the closing stanza held Cisco scoreless and allowed only one hit.

The Mavericks started off in brilliant style by scoring two runs in the first inning. Overbey drew a base on balls. Kincaid forced him at second. Harris walked. Coleman flied out to center. Finis Laffoon singled, Kincaid scoring and while the Loboes seemed to be in doubt and tossed the ball around, Harris kept on going and scored. Eastland had an excellent opportunity in the third with one out when Kincaid singled, Harris laid down a bunt which was fumbled. Coleman's single filled the bases. But

F. Laffoon fanned and Miller's in-field grounder forced Kincaid at the plate.

Opportunity once more knocked in the sixth when with two out, Cox, batting for Watson, drove a sharp single to center and Cory singled but Ligon could not deliver. In the seventh, with one down, Kincaid drew a base on balls, stole second and third in succession but his teammates could not bring him in.

Cisco's first tally came in the second when Alsbrook singled, stole second and scored on two in-field grounders. It was in the third that Eastland's defense crumbled. Petty opened with a single. Meadows walked. Pippen's sacrifice was fumbled and the bases were full. Jobe's triple to deep left netted three scores and he scored after Qualls' sacrifice fly was caught. Another run was added in the fourth when three errors in succession gave Andrus' first, second and third and Petty's two-bagger against the fence brought him home.

In the fifth, Alsbrook's double, N. Reynolds' double, a single by Andrus and a base on balls to B. Pippin were converted into three runs.

Cory fanned six in the five innings he worked while Laffoon whiffed two in three innings. Petty, the little Lobo lefthander, breezed eight in eight innings and J. Pippin fanned eight. Eastland made six hits to eight for Cisco.

SUMMARY—Three-base hit, Jobe; two-base hits, Petty, Alsbrook, N. Reynolds, Andrus; stolen bases, Kincaid 3, Alsbrook; bases on balls, off Petty 2, off Cory 2, off Laffoon 3.

CRUZE INTRODUCES SOMETHING NEW IN THE LINE OF WEDDINGS

Something slightly new in the way of weddings was devised and worked out for the filming of "Beggars on Horseback," the new James Cruze production for Paramount, which comes to the Liberty today only.

Edward Everett Horton, poor, has a dream in which he marries Gertrude Short, rich. As follows: The wedding march is led by a jazz band dressed in man-size frock suits and tooting for dear life.

The minister wears lace curtains for sleeves, and during his odd moments leads the orchestra in jazzy tunes. The bridesmaids are men in morning dress and silk hats with long veils and trains. They carry elaborate bouquets of bank notes.

The brides' mother is harnessed to a rocking chair and furnished with unlimited supplies of chewing gum, both of which she enjoys to the utmost.

TWO INDICTED ON THEFT CHARGE; BOND IS MADE. Oran Crownoover and Buster Johnson of Rising Star, indicted by the recent eighty-eighth district court grand jury on theft charges, have been arrested by the members of the sheriff's department and each gave bond in the sum of $500 each.

Sisler Is Close Mouthed To Newspapers

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 14.—George Sisler is one of the hardest young men in baseball to lure into conversation and when it comes to making predictions he is as noisy as a mute.

"How about your club this season?" the youthful manager of the St. Louis Browns was asked some time back in the training camp. "We're alright," Sisler replied. "Some of the critics say you're a sure one-two shot."

"That's very nice of them," he replied at length. "Are you stronger than last year?" "I think so," he replied.

After the most laborious cross-examination it was finally drawn out of him that the Browns are improved this year by the finding of Oscar Mellillo, a sensational rookie infielder, by the addition of the veterans Tom Zachary and Wally Schang and by the improvement observed in Durst, a young outfielder.

Depends on Breaks. Like every other manager of a prominent contender, Sisler feels that the success of the team in the American League pennant race depends largely on the breaks and the pitching staff.

The Browns didn't have any the best of luck last season and they were crippled through most of the season by serious injuries.

Most everyone who has seen the Browns this spring was impressed by the class and the spirit of the club. "Sisler," a prominent umpire said, "is a manager now instead of a player. By that I mean he is handling the club with the viewpoint of a manager and he is getting results."

Sisler had no club rules. He lets the players play what they want and do largely as they wish during off hours as long as they remain in condition to play baseball.

Full of Hustle. The team was full of hustle in the training camp and there was a very noticeable atmosphere of confidence in the players.

Sisler's biggest problem will be the selection of the proper infield. There is no weakness but on the other hand too much strength. Millilo fished so brilliantly and hit so hard in the training games that he couldn't be kept out of the game. There was no room for him at second with Marty McManus playing there and Gene Robertson is too good a third baseman to be kept out of the game.

Robertson, however, is not of the hustling type and it may be that Sisler will have to move McManus over to third base and use Mellilo at second. The chances are that Robertson, with competition threatening his job, may put a little more spirit in his game.

With Walter Gerber around, the shortstop position is in good hands and Sisler is the best first baseman in baseball so there are no infield worries.

Outfield The outfield also has plenty of offensive and defensive strength in Harry Rice, the biggest find of years, Kenneth Williams, Doll Jacobson, Durst and Bennett. Williams was a poor health last year and had a poor season but he ought to be back on his game this year.

Wally Schang and Dixon, a sharp shooting thrower, will alternate behind the bat. Schang will get the preference because of his experience in handling young pitchers.

The pitching staff is loaded down with fine young prospects and experienced veterans. Sisler thinks that Gaston will be his most consistent winner and that Charley Robertson, secured from the White Sox, will come through for him.

The other regulars are Davis, Wingard, Giard, Van Gilder, Jonnard and Zachary. There are three great young prospects in Ballou, secured from Washington, Bolen and Ernie Nevers, the California football star.

There is no outstanding star on the pitching staff but it is well balanced and if they don't disappoint they ought to win a lot of ball games.

Washington and Philadelphia will be hard clubs to beat as the Browns have nothing on them in the way of equipment of spirit and they have the advantage of much more experience over the St. Louis club.

Pimples

What can I do?
"Oh, why can't I have a skin like other girls? Why do I have to have these ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads?"
"If I could only find something that would clear up my skin and give me back my soft, rosy complexion, I know I would be the happiest girl in the world! What can I do?"
Is that you talking? If it is, you don't have to worry a minute! Just build up the rich, red blood in your body. Then your skin will be as clear and soft as anybody's.
That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red blood-cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.
And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.
That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous, red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin—drives away pimples, blotches, rash, boils and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy.
All drug stores sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

"Buckaroos" and Bulldogs To Clash On Thursday

The Ranger Bulldogs will encounter their first opposition of major strength tomorrow afternoon when the Breckenridge Buckaroos will invade Ranger for a baseball game at 4 o'clock at Nitro park.

The Bulldogs in practice games with Class B competition have had little difficulty in winning but Breckenridge has a nine that can give Ranger a struggle. A line on the strength of the Bulldogs as compared with the Cisco Lobos can be obtained from the showing made by the Ranger High school lads against the Buckaroos. In the first game between the Lobos and Breckenridge, Cisco made two runs in the first inning and won, 2-0. The second game was 12-3, also in favor of the Lobos.

Two exceptionally good high school twirlers comprise the Buckaroo fling corps—Harrison and Henson. Whether the Bulldogs are really the wrecking crew they have appeared in early games or whether they will be tamed by stellar pitching will be determined tomorrow afternoon.

Jake Ryan, 21, of near Carbon, was fined $50 and cost, which will total approximately $20, by Judge Tom J. Cunningham of the Eastland county court-at-law, Tuesday, following Ryan's plea of guilty to a charge of theft.

Ryan was charged with having taken some casing from a loaded truck that had been broken down and left by the roadside.

Only matters of routine nature were taken up at the regular weekly session of the Ranger city commission yesterday afternoon.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

Pirates' Great Rookie

One of the most promising youngsters to come into the major leagues in seasons is Paul Waner, flashy outfielder with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Waner was obtained from San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League, where he starred last year. The Pirates paid a nifty sum for the tot, but according to reports issued from the training camp of the Pittsburgh club, Waner is making good with a vengeance. Some critics are opining Waner will start the season in the Pittsburgh outfield. Waner is a great hitter, fast afoot and covers ground sensationally.

WHOOFUS HIFFLETREE'S OOZY ORDERINGS

Forty-five thousand people saw Petty, left-hander for the Brooklyn Robins, let down the New York Giants, picked by most sports writers for the National League pennant, with one lone scratch hit yesterday, Brooklyn winning, 3 to 1.

Two hundred and twelve thousand fans saw the opening games in the big leagues yesterday. When it comes to popularity over a short season, football may surpass the diamond pastime but the big crowds that flock to the baseball games through the long grind of a six month's pennant chase prove that the horsehide is still more popular than the pigskin.

Texans were prominent in the box scores yesterday in the big show. Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, made three hits in three appearances at the plate. Big Falk of the Chicago White Sox made a double and a single in four times up. Ted Lyons of the White Sox mowed the St. Louis Browns down, 5 to 1. Donohue, former T. C. U. hurler, did not fare so well, being knocked out of the box by the Chicago Cubs after pitching good ball for seven innings. Tris Speaker's Cleveland Indians defeated Detroit though the Texan did not make a hit.

Other highlights of opening day: Jimmy Johnston, veteran, was sent in as a pinchhitter for the Boston Red Sox and hit a home run in the ninth, but Philadelphia won. Bottomly's home run with two on turned the tide in favor of the St. Louis Nationals. Sisler seems to have regained his eyesight as he made three hits in four times up. Babe Ruth and Flagstead were the chief hitters in the Red Sox-Yankee slugfest. Walker Johnson, opening his nineteenth season, won a fifteen-inning battle, 1-0, for Washington against Ed Rommel for the Athletics, Johnson striking out twelve and allowing only six hits. Ty Cobb was not in the Tiger batting order until he went in as a pinch hitter in the eighth.

While Jess Petty, Brooklyn left-hander, was toying with the Giants, "Fitts" Petty, another left-hander, was baffling the Eastland high school team yesterday afternoon. However, Maverick fans believe that, with Petty out of the way, they will even the series when the Lobos play in Eastland tomorrow afternoon.

THESE WOMEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Two women are contending for the love of Harry Morton—an attractive, middle-aged man, unmarried and rich. One is Audrey, his adopted daughter. The other is Nona, a Scranton girl.

For 15 years he has maintained an expensive home in Crofton, and an apartment in Scranton, between which he divides his time. Crofton gossips never have learned what his real business is, nor anything about his past.

To divert Audrey's love for him, he hires John Parrish as his secretary. Parrish is young, and good. Audrey detects Morton's plan. He then sends for Nona to come to Crofton. Audrey learns of Nona's coming, meets her, but Morton and Nona evade her. Morton leaves Nona at the elevator of her hotel that night, but does not return home. Audrey waits for him all night, brokenhearted. She learns from Nona the actual story of the night before. The three go together to Scranton. Audrey asks Nona what is her real relationship with Morton.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XV
Nona looked off into the distance. She seemed to be trying to frame her words, out of a confused impression in her mind.

"I don't know what my relation to him is," she said at last. "I've known him about a year. I know I loved him the first time I saw him. You know, with girls like me—you know, we take things from men—presents, any money sometimes. You wouldn't do that, but we do."

She looked out the window into the dense blackness outside, that was relieved only by an occasional lamp glistening in the distance. The noise of the train had settled into the steady "clump-clump-clump" of the heavy cars upon a smooth track. The electric fan in the drawing room was going, and it stirred the dark hair about Nona's temples. With an impatient gesture, she took off her hat, and tossed it to the lounge that lay across the little interior aisle.

"Your life is different from ours," she continued, slowly. "You don't understand lots of the things that we're up against. But we're women, just like you are. We fall in love with men; sometimes we die for them. I think that maybe we are more willing to die for them than you are—girls like you." Audrey made a little movement of dissent.

"Oh, it's so!" Nona said. "Life isn't worth so much to us, maybe, as it is to you. But we like joy and happiness and pretty things just as well as you do."

Audrey took Nona's hand between her own slim fingers, and patted it. "I think I know," she said softly. "We're all women."

"I'll say we are," agreed Nona. Audrey thought a moment. "Do you expect him to marry you?" she asked.

Nona shook her head. "I'd like him to, of course," she said, "but if he isn't only love me, and be with me, I yet I never see you sending any orders."

Morton pinched her cheek. "Magic, my dear, Magic," he said. Then he laughed, and went on: "It isn't so very mysterious, really. I have an office in Crofton, and another one here. They know what I need; if anybody quits my service, they see that another one is supplied, at once. I suppose it is one of the rewards that come with riches."

Audrey's answer was thoughtful. "How did you get all your money, daddy dear?" she asked.

Morton shook his head. "Like many another tale, it's a long story," he said. "I'll tell you some time."

She persisted. "Were you ever poor?"

"Was I?" He threw up both hands. "Poorer than a desert rat! Poor as Job's turkey! Just plain, confoundedly, pennilessly poor."

She raised herself on tiptoe, and kissed him. "Poor daddy!" she said. "I'm so sorry!" She looked at him wistfully, as if she wanted to ask further about his past, but he turned to the stairs, and went up to his room. A moment later, she followed, and turned into her own dressing room.

Morton elected not to go to his office that day. The girl could see that he was troubled. There was a perplexed look about his eyes, whenever they fell upon her, and his brow was furrowed from time to time, as if with anxious thought. They did not speak of her unhappiness of the looked at her, and while the butler helped him on with his coat, he gently teased her about her eagerness to buy.

"Wouldn't it be better if I left my money at home?" he asked.

She looked up at him brightly, and smiled. Morton remembered that it was the first real smile he had seen on her face in many hours. He took her hand in his, suddenly and kissed it.

"Don't worry," he said, as if to supplement his previous suggestion. "I have plenty of cash—and I think I have accounts at nearly all the stores."

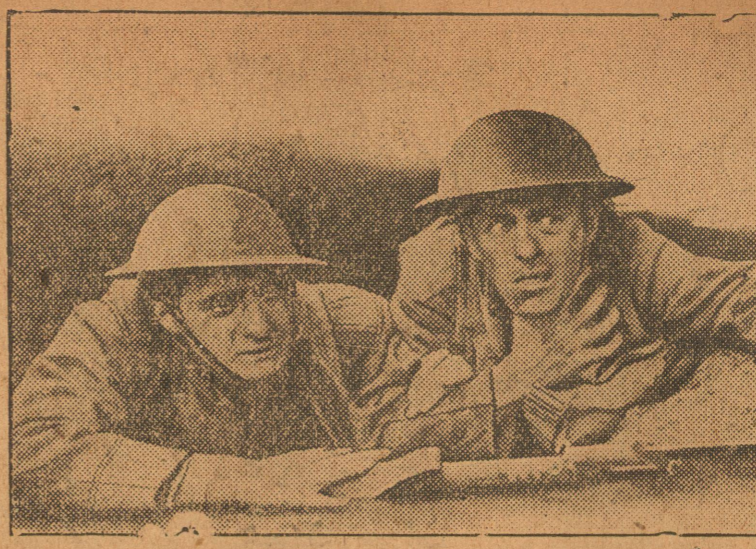

Together they strolled along the main shopping avenue, looking into shop windows, commenting on what they saw there, and once he waited while she darted into a ten-cent store to buy a little rosette—a bit of fabric made in the form and color and with the perfume of a jonquil.

She chattered about the lingerie and hats and coats she saw, and urged him to buy a pimento walking stick that stood in the window of an expensive store. He laughed, and agreed. In a few moments they came out again, Morton with a new stick, his old one in possession of the store, to be delivered.

"Let's do something expensive, now," he proposed. "Let's buy a painting, or something."

They turned their steps toward an art store, where Audrey remembered seeing a near-old master the last time she was along that way.

"It isn't such a fine picture," she explained, "but it really is pretty,

"Fifty dollars," said the man casually. Morton's eye twinkled, as he looked at the girl, and she laughed aloud.

As they went out the door, Morton was stopped by a man, a little overdressed, fur-collared, and with the marks of dissipation in his face. Audrey stepped on a pace or two, as Morton paused.

She caught only a word or two. "All right," Morton was saying. "I'll see you at the Bon cabaret about twelve o'clock tomorrow night."

United States Leads World As Business Nation

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Increased industrial activities without excessive speculation in 1925 brought the United States further in the lead as the greatest business nation in the world, according to the annual report of the Federal Reserve Bank.

While there was a growth of speculative activity in the security market and some in real estate during the year there was no evidence of speculation in the commodity markets, the board found.

Prices of building materials, automobiles and other products remained at a constant level or decreased in price during the twelve months. The country "maintained a conservative policy in the face of the increased volume of trade" the board stated.

The Federal Reserve Banks had outstanding credits of about $1,500,000,000 last year, and increase over the previous twelve months.

The most distinctive financial feature of the year was the arrangement with the Bank of England for re-establishment of the free gold market in London, the report said.

12 Dolls Dressed Up To Represent Stages Of Costume

DENTON, April 14.—Twelve dolls, dressed to represent different stages in American costume, have been completed by members in the class in historic costume at the College of Industrial Arts. The series was started last year and it is planned to add to the number annually, all of the dolls to be kept in the department for a permanent display.

"This is a copy, isn't it?" The attendant asked if he could bring the proprietor. In a moment he returned, with an older, intellectual-looking man following him. The latter greeted Morton by name.

"You are right, Mr. Morton, of course," he said. "That is a copy." Audrey looked at her guardian wondering. "How did you know?" she asked.

The art dealer answered the question. "Mr. Morton is a connoisseur," he said. "Would you like the picture?"

Morton looked inquiringly at the girl. "I'd like it," she said.

"We'll take it," said Morton. "How much?"

DRY AGENT FIGHTS HIS DISMISSAL

OMAHA, Neb., April 14.—Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, David H. Blair, internal revenue collector, and Andrew McCampbell, Omaha, Tri-State Prohibition director, have been cited by Federal Judge J. W. Woodruff to appear in court here on April 17 and show cause for dismissal of Robert P. Samardick, Omaha dry agent.

Judge Woodruff, a few days prior to the dismissal of Samardick by Washington officials had granted a temporary injunction restraining the defendants from cutting Samardick's salary from $3,000 to $2,400.

Samardick, known as the man who "almost dried up Baltimore" previously had been chief prohibition officer for Nebraska.

Coast Country Is Overfished, The Supply Very Short

AUSTIN, April 14.—The entire gulf coast country is overfished and the supply is rapidly decreasing, according to Turner E. Hubby, Texas game, fish and oyster commissioner recently returned here from a trip to the gulf coast states and also to Cuba. In Cuba Hubby found that shark meat is sold in the markets and considered quite a delicacy.

Commissioner Hubby entered into an agreement with the fish commissioners of Louisiana and Florida for a conference to be held this summer at some convenient place for the purpose of discussing co-ordination of State laws to betterment of conservative fish life. Fish commissioners of Alabama and Mississippi invited to attend the conference.

PAINS ALL OVER

Lady Says She Took Cardui and Never Saw Such Improvement—Was So Weak Couldn't Stand.

Weathersby, Miss.—Mrs. James M. Hall, of this place, writes that she was "getting weaker all the time" when Cardui, the woman's tonic, was first brought to her attention. After she had taken Cardui a while, she writes that she "never did see such an improvement."

"I suffered all the time and had pains all over," says Mrs. Hall. "I was so weak I could not stand. My skin was cold and flabby. I did not have any color. I had always been a very active woman—used to outdoor exercise, walking and going where I pleased, and to get down, not able to get myself a drink, was indeed a hardship."

"Nothing seemed to help me, till I began on Cardui. The first bottle seemed to strengthen me, and I sent for five more. By the time I had taken these, I was on my feet, going around, doing my work, gained in health and strength."

"I took two more bottles, and I am well and strong. Can work my garden. I haven't had any more sickness." Ask your druggist. NC-165

Audrey raised herself on tiptoe and kissed him. "Poor daddy!" she said. "I'm so sorry."

don't know that I care. I just want HIM."

Her eyes narrowed, and she glanced at Audrey shrewdly. "Can I tell you something?" she asked. Audrey nodded.

"I've seen something, the two or three times that you and he and I have been together," Nona went on. "He loves you—he loves you a great deal better than he'll ever love me, but—" she hesitated.

"Go on," Audrey said. "He doesn't love you as a man loves a woman."

Audrey made a gesture of inquiry. "He doesn't?" Nona asserted positively. "I was so jealous of you when I first learned that you, that time at your apartment, that I wanted to kill myself. But pretty soon I saw something. He just loves you as a man loves his little child. When he looks at you he doesn't have the look in his eyes that men turn toward women—women that they take as wives or—friends."

There was something pitiful in the little gesture that Audrey made, toward her face.

"Do you think I don't look well enough—that I'm not pretty enough to attract him?" she asked.

There was a crooning note in Nona's voice as she replied. "You're as lovely as a flower," she said. "It isn't that. It's something different, that is in his eyes, and in his mind. I can't explain."

"Maybe I can win him," said Audrey, after a long silence. "I love him so!"

"It seems to me," commented Morton, as they alighted from the train next morning, "that all I've been doing lately is riding on the railroad."

"I haven't done anything else, really," said Audrey. Her eyes were brighter, and she showed the restorative effect of a refreshing sleep. She wore a little gray traveling dress, and a small hat, with two ends of its fabric going out in unexpected angles at the side.

Although Nona was only three or four years older than Audrey, there was something almost maternal in the look that she turned toward the younger girl. "You are absolutely lovely," she said.

"The signs point to a nice day," said Morton, dryly. Before any more storms gather, let's take Nona to her apartment, Audrey."

The three of them entered Morton's car, which was waiting, and in a few minutes Nona said goodby to them at the curb. Audrey and Morton went on to their own apartment.

The butler who opened their door was a new one, and Audrey looked at him in surprise. He showed the expertness of long service, as he relieved them of their wraps, and asked for orders.

When at last he withdrew, Audrey turned to her guardian. "Everything seems to work by machinery for you," she said. "I didn't know the other butler was leaving, and here's a new one. You car meets you at the train! Our house in Crofton and our apartment here are always ready. Your servants seem to know just what to do, and when to do it, and
