SUPREME COURT GETS JONES COUNTY CASE

FEDERAL JUDGE WILSON DENIES THE INJUNCTION

St. Louis Bank Gives Notice Of Appeal Of Decision Of Saturday

By United Press.
FORT WORTH, April 17.—Federal Judge James C. Wilson today denied the application of the Federal Commerce Trust company of St. Louis for a permanent injunction to halt further expenditures of Jones county road bonds funds.
The decision of Judge Wilson followed a two days hearing in which the plaintiff's counsel sought to prove the Jones county bonds purchased by the bank were invalid and void under the recent decision and first ruling of the United States supreme court in the Archer county case.
The defendant's attorney contended that the bonds were being subscribed according to agreement and opposed halting the construction work now in progress.
Further hearings will be held for the benefit of the bondholders, if desired, Judge Wilson said.
The legality of the sale of Jones county road bonds may have to be settled by the United States supreme court, and offers another angle upon the state's unsettled road bond issues.
Counsel for the Federal Trust company of St. Louis intimated that a higher court might have to pass judgment on the decision handed down by Federal Judge Wilson in denying the plaintiff bank an injunction to hold up on the expenditure of money by Jones county in the construction of roads.

WILL USE OLD REFINERY FOR RUBBER PLANT

The old Ranger refinery, idle for the past four years, may resound with the hum of activity and a new industry employing a large force may be established in Ranger.
The plant has been sold at a bankruptcy sale to Charles C. Rodgers of Pittsburgh for $13,700.
"If plans go through, the plant will be used for the manufacture of mineral rubber," said the new owner just before leaving Ranger for Kansas City. "My field man, Walter B. Varnes, will be here in the next week or so."
Mineral rubber is made from by-products of oil and is an important commodity in modern commerce. To manufacture this product some added machinery would be necessary.
The sale was conducted by Fred S. Hudson, trustee, of Kansas City, and there were a number of bidders. The plant is a short distance below the Chestnut & Smith plant, southwest of Ranger, and is near the Bankhead Highway.
For more than four years, the plant has been silent and deserted. The proposed transformation of a plant gradually sinking into dilapidation and decay and its equipment rusting away, into an industry that will employ a large force is a pleasing prospect to Ranger. It was feared that the old properties, long tied up in bankruptcy, would be sold to someone merely to be "junked" and hauled away.
The forthcoming visit of Mr. Varnes will be of great interest and it is hoped that plans for converting the plant into a scene of a new industry will soon be announced.

PLANS ARE MADE TO OPEN TEXTILE MILLS MONDAY

By United Press.
PASSAIC, N. J., April 17.—An effort to open the textile mills where workers have been on a strike for 12 weeks will be made Monday.
Sheriff C. W. Morgan of Passaic county intends to move into this city with 150 deputies and will take command of the 200 regular and special policemen of Passaic.
The mill owners already have gained a legal advantage. The Forstman and Hauffman company, one of the largest mills in the district, secured a court order of a drastic temporary injunction forbidding the picketing or conversing with workmen against their will. The violation of this order will result in arrest on charges of contempt of court. Other mills are likely to seek a similar injunction.
Observers of the strike think that the crisis will be reached Monday.

RANGER SECOND WITH CISCO IN TIE FOR THIRD

Contests Are Close Throughout And The Winner Known at End

By BOYCE HOUSE.
The Eastland Mavericks were crowned kings of track and field Saturday at Stephenville in the most thrilling district meet ever witnessed in this section. The Ranger Bulldogs, true to their name, hung on tenaciously and it was not until almost the very end that victory was assured for Eastland. The points were:
Eastland, 46.
Ranger, 41.
The proud Lobos of Cisco had to be content with 16 points and a tie with Mineral Wells for third place.
It was the first time in the history of Eastland—long noted for its stars of the cinder path and the jumping pit—that the red and black has won the district championship, and yesterday's great piling up of points by Ranger High was the most glorious showing that school has ever made in a district meet.

Cox High Man.
The powerful Ed T. Cox of the Mavericks was the high point man of the meet with 17 points but without the brilliant showing of Cory, the streak, in gaining 10 points, "Red" Jones in making eight, Volney Day in accounting for seven, Vaught for two and the relay team for another pair of points, the meet would have been won by Ranger.

For in the distance runs, where the Bulldogs were supreme in the recent county meet, they came through with colors flying, the Short brothers winning first and second in the half mile while in the mile, R. Grubbs of Ranger was first and Shipp was third. In the javelin, Buster Mills won first.

Ranger Second With Cisco In Tie For Third

For the Bulldogs and Reeves captured first honors in the pole vault by soaring to a height of 10 feet, 10 inches. Troy Grubbs was high point man for Ranger with 8 1/2.

Volley Day.
Eastland leaped into the lead at the start when Volney Day was first in the high hurdles, Ranger not having a man in this event.

The first big upset of the day—though Eastland fans had predicted it—came in the 100-yard dash when Cory breezed home first in 10 2/5 seconds, with Jones of Eastland second. While Glenn of Ranger was handicapped by a two-yard penalty, Cory had to run an extra yard because of penalty, too, and finished in front by a goodly margin. If there was any lingering doubt as to whether Cory is the fastest man in the oil belt, he dispelled it in the 220 when he again took first while the swift 200-pound Cox was fourth.

Another crushing blow was landed to the Bulldogs' hopes when the Mavericks took first, second and third in the low hurdles. But the wonderful showing of Ranger in the distance runs, coupled with an accumulation of points in the pole vault, the 440 and the javelin had the Bulldog fans hopeful as the lead which Eastland had accumulated from the start was being cut down.

High Jump Jonah.
With only three events remaining, the scales could have turned either way. But when Ranger, with three men in the high jump, won only fourth place—and that by winning a toss to decide a tie—while two lads from rural schools and a youth from Stephenville won the first three places; and then when in the broad jump, neither Ranger nor Eastland placed, all hope went glimmering, though the final event, the mile relay, was won by Ranger by a margin of nearly a hundred yards.

It was a glorious finish and the prediction is hazarded that the Bulldog relay team has an excellent chance to win in the state meet.

Track and Field.
Results were:
120-Yard Hurdles—Day, Eastland, first; Yeager, Mineral Wells, second; Lee, Grafrod, third; time, 17 seconds.
100-Yard Dash—Cory, Eastland, first; Jones, Eastland, second; Smith, Mineral Wells, third; Glenn, Ranger, fourth; time, 10 2/5.
Shot Put—Ed T. Cox, Eastland, first; Irvin, Cisco, second; Woods, Thurber, third; Perkins, Grafrod, fourth; 45 feet, 3 inches.
Mile Run—R. Grubbs, Ranger, first; Frazier, Dublin, second; Shipp, Ranger, third; Turpin, Grafrod, fourth; time, 4:50 2/5.
Discus—Cox, Eastland, first; Bert Harrison, Breckenridge, second; Harbin Harrison, Breckenridge, third; Irvin, Cisco, fourth; 114 feet, 8 inches.
220 Low Hurdles—Jones, Eastland, first; Cox, Eastland, second; Day, Eastland, third; Andrus, Cisco, fourth; 27 2/5.
440-Yard Dash—Westerfeldt, Cisco, first; T. Grubbs, Ranger, second; Lemley, Ranger, third; Roberts, Thurber, fourth; 52 4/5 seconds.
Pole Vault—Reeves, Ranger, first; Lee, Grafrod, second; Vaught, Eastland, third; Snead, Stephenville, fourth; 10 feet, 10 inches.
220-Yard Dash—Cory, Eastland, first; Smith, Mineral Wells, second; Glenn, Ranger, third; Cox, Eastland, fourth; 23 1/5.
Half-Mile Run—H. Short, Ranger, first; V. Short, Ranger, second; Byron, Mineral Wells, third; Witherspoon, Strawn, fourth; 2:12.
Javelin—Mills, Ranger, first; Cox, Eastland, second; T. Grubbs, Ranger, third; Irvin, Cisco, fourth; 154 feet, 7 inches.

High Jump—Snead, Stephenville, first; Tankersley, Yellow Mound, second; Sindorf, Swensondale, third; Reeves, Ranger, fourth; 5 feet, 8 inches.

A few features of the meet were: Westerfeldt of Cisco winning the broad jump with a leap of 20 feet, 9 3/4 inches though he had never tried to broad jump before (except one time and quit then because he injured his back).

Rural Lads.
Two rural school lads—Tankersley of Yellow Mound and Sindorf, a tiny fellow from Swensondale—helping all the representatives of the larger schools in the high jump, with one exception, Snead of Stephenville, winner of the event.

The feat of Cox of Eastland in putting the shot 45 feet, 3 inches, the best mark he has ever made in competition though he had not touched a shot since the county meet three weeks ago.

The coolness of Reeves of Ranger in going on and winning the pole vault after a pole had splintered under him and he had taken a hard fall.

The achievement of Jones of Eastland in stopping pole vaulting long enough to go over and win first place in the low hurdles.

The points made by Ranger would ordinarily have been enough to have won the district meet easily, but Eastland and Ranger so greatly out-classed the remainder of the entrants that the total made by other schools was almost negligible. The points were: Eastland 46, Ranger 41, Cisco 16, Mineral Wells 16, Grafrod 9, Breckenridge 9, Stephenville 9, Yellow Mound 3, Dublin 3, Strawn 2, Swensondale 2, Thurber 2.

Broad Jump. Westerfeldt, Cisco, first; Smith, Mineral Wells, second; Lee, Grafrod, third; Brookman, Strawn, fourth, 20 feet, 9 3/4 inches.

Mile Relay. Ranger, T. Grubbs, Thompson, Cole and Lemley, first; Mineral Wells, second; Eastland, third; Breckenridge, fourth, 3:42.

Tennis.
Boys Singles—Allen Key, Eastland, first; Doubles—Key and Garrett, first; Strawn, second.
Girls' Singles—Breckenridge, first; Minera Wells, second.
Girls' Doubles—Breckenridge, first; Eastland (Anita Martin and Elizabeth Garrett), second.

Debate.
Boys' Debate—Desdemona, first; Stephenville, second.

FARM RELIEF MEASURE IS ASSURED

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Under a barrage of protests from farm organizations and house members who represented agricultural communities, the administration has receded from its stand on farm relief legislation and is now prepared to put through statutory aid for the farmers of the nation.

Early in the session leaders said they were loathe to enact farm relief legislation because of a fear of a deficit in the treasury. They added that farmers representatives had not agreed on any one definite plan for relief.

Advocates of the farm relief measures laid their cards on the table Tuesday when the Minnesota delegation told the leaders they would oppose adjournment unless relief was granted the farmers.

"Hushers" Failed To Keep Down All Investigations

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(NBA Service Writer)

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Determined as it was, the effort made, earlier in this session of Congress, to head off any more sensational investigations during the coming summer failed to accomplish much.

The "hushers" didn't work as "hushers" should.

Perhaps there won't be quite as many investigations this time as there were during the epidemic of them in the last Congress, but such as there are promise to be first-class. To begin with, prohibition!

This pending investigation was scheduled to be limited to two weeks but it won't be surprising if it stretches along all summer.

The contention is that this was a highly meritorious commission but somebody hamstrung it, so now it's no good. That—if it happened—was wrong. Well, who did it? If he helplessly crippled a useful commission, he ought to be called to account.

His adverse critics say the president did it. Really it's an investigation of him. Investigating the president is "going some."

Finally, there's the impeachment case against Federal Judge George W. English of the eastern district of Illinois.

Strictly speaking, this isn't an investigation, but a trial. In effect, it's an investigation of Judge English however, with the judge's removal as its sequel, if the Senate finds him guilty.

The senators, generally speaking, aren't any too well pleased at being tied up in Washington with investigations and impeachment proceedings just as the congressional elections are coming on.

ARGENTINA COURTING EXPENSIVE

By United Press.

BUENOS AIRES.—Love-making in Argentina is more expensive than in almost any other country in the world, due to the custom of the country and the absence of divorce.

One of the main causes for the dearness of courting is the custom which prohibits a girl from going out with a man alone unless they are married. Even a girl who is engaged seldom goes to the theatre with her fiancé unless accompanied by her father or mother, or both. This chaperonage makes a big deficit in the account-book of the innamorato. Dances, parties, fiestas and other social functions are no cheaper since to these, too, must be taken the vanguard of morality.

Another factor in the expense of love-making is the length of courtship. There are few impulsive marriages in Argentina as compared with the United States. Here the lovers think a long time before marrying, owing mainly to the absence of divorce. The life-long character of matrimony in Argentina tends to make the enamored couple think well before marrying and in the meantime the suitor must pay the obligations of courtship, giving proof of his generosity and financial capacity.

In going out with his sweetheart the suitor must take into consideration other customs of the country. To go in omnibuses or trolley cars is considered vulgar owing to the manner in which the men stare at the women. This means taxis and taxi fare. Nor is it considered proper, owing to the same reason, for the admirer not to take box-seats in the theatre or the movies.

It is rare that the parents of the girl ever leave the couple alone when the young man visits at her home. This means that their sentimental pleasures, such as the holding of hands and kissing, can only be enjoyed in the darkness of theatres. Incidentally, that is one reason why moving pictures are so popular here.

Owing to the close contact that the lover comes into with the entire family of the seniorita he is obligated at least times—of which there are many in Argentina—to send little gifts to the whole family from the prospective father-in-law to the young brother.

The girls of Argentina for the most part do not work and consequently have little conception of the value of money. As a result, they cannot understand why their lover should not have numerous suits and at least a different neck-tie for every day in the week.

The inventory of extra costs which characterize love-making in Argentina could be carried to boring details; but the foregoing are enough to indicate that the wooing of Argentine senioritas is more expensive than making love to flappers in the United States.

Desdemona Wins Debating Contest In The District

Eastland and Breckenridge were almost the "whole show" in tennis at the district meet yesterday in Stephenville.

Allen Key of Eastland for the second successive year won the boys' singles championship and Bobby Garrett and Key, for the second year, won the boys' doubles for Eastland. In the girls' tennis, Breckenridge won the singles and doubles, with Miss Anita Martin and Miss Elizabeth Garrett of Eastland winning second in the doubles.

In extemporaneous speaking, Karl Tanner of Eastland won third. Desdemona was covered with glory, winning the championship in both boys' and girls' debate, with Stephenville second in the two contests. Breckenridge, for the third year in succession, won the all-round championship, with Eastland second. The points were 55 to 47. Breckenridge's points were made in tennis and literary events while most of Eastland's points were made in tennis and in winning the track meet, which counted 20 toward the "all-round" honors.

Medals were presented to winners of first, second and third places and applause greeted all the victors as they came forward. Ed T. Cox, captain of the Eastland team, received for the Mavericks the handsome cup given to the team winning the track meet and a cup to him as the high point man will be awarded. Ranger, for winning the relay was awarded a big loving cup, Captain Shipp accepting it on behalf of the Bulldogs. Cups were presented to the winners of first places in tennis.

We are guilty of one great ambition. That ambition is to build a great institutional Bank on Service. No business where you receive as much service without any cost to you as a Bank gives. PAVED AND LIGHTED STREETS SPELL PROGRESS.

Paved and lighted streets spell progress. Good paving material is right at the door of every town in the oil belt. The cost of paving and graveling residential streets is a minimum. The investment of a city in a rock crusher and cement plant should not be a fortune. Every town should own its own paving plant and at a little cost could pave the streets, the property owners paying their proportion. This is a hint.

Every town in Texas over 5,000 should support a junior college in connection with their public school system. Every county in Texas should have a system of high schools in the rural section. The schools should be kept out of politics.

Preachers and teachers are expected to do more for less money than any other people in the world. People forget that preachers and teachers are human and enjoy the good things of life as well as other folks. We have heard men kick because the wife of their pastor wore good clothes, as if she was not entitled to have as good as any one else. The man who is always finding fault with his preachers seldom is counted among the best paying members of the congregation.

Injuries Fatal To J. W. Funderburk; Hit by Motor Truck

J. W. Funderburk, who was picked up unconscious Wednesday night about 8:30 o'clock at the side of the Bankhead highway on West Commerce street, near Preslar's grocery store in Eastland, died Friday night about 8:30 o'clock in a hospital in Eastland, where he had been taken for treatment. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, followed by interment in the Eastland cemetery.

Passersby by West Commerce street Wednesday night saw Funderburk lying by the roadside and reported it to the sheriff's department. Deputy Sheriff Virge Foster and Policeman Tom Jones went out on West Commerce and found Funderburk. He was badly bruised and hurt internally. He was unconscious and unable to talk for some hours. Later, however, he is said to have told the doctor that someone in a truck or big car hit him as he was walking from his home in the west part of Eastland to town.

Funderburk is a married man, having a wife and six children in Eastland. He has a brother, J. I. Funderburk, living in Eastland and several other brothers living at other points in Texas. He has lived in and around Eastland for a number of years. Ranger plays host to the assembly.

Burkett Quits Law Practice, Play Oil Game

Senator Joe Burkett announced yesterday that he was retiring from the practice of law and said that he was going to engage in the oil business at present and would be located in Eastland and Cisco.

"I have been in the harness for 20 years—burning the candle at both ends—and my physical condition is such that my doctor says I must have at least one year of active out-door life, so I am taking his advice," Senator Burkett said.

Mr. Burkett said that he did not intend to practice law unless some of his friends felt that they needed his services and called upon him, then he would assist them. "I am for my friends. The people of Eastland county and his section have been good to me and should they need my services, they have but to say so," Mr. Burkett said.

When in Eastland Mr. Burkett's headquarters will be at the office of Scott, Brelsford, McCarty & Brelsford and when in Cisco they will be with Mayor J. M. Williamson.

ECONOMIST IN FAVOR OF PROHIBITION

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Prohibition has created a defiant attitude among college students, but it has saved the nation nearly $6,000,000 in merely increasing industrial energy, and therefore should be retained, Prof. Irving Fisher, a Yale University economist, told the senatorial prohibition investigation committee today.

Counter arguments, that the younger generation is being demoralized, Fisher said, he found at Yale, four effects from the "bone dry" law.

1. The number of discipline cases in which drinking is a factor is much smaller than before prohibition.
2. Improvement had been especially noticeable in the last few years.
3. Such drinking as still remains is often more concentrated and uproarious than before prohibition.
4. Prohibition created a defiant attitude in many students. It is unpopular even among the many who do not circumspect the law.

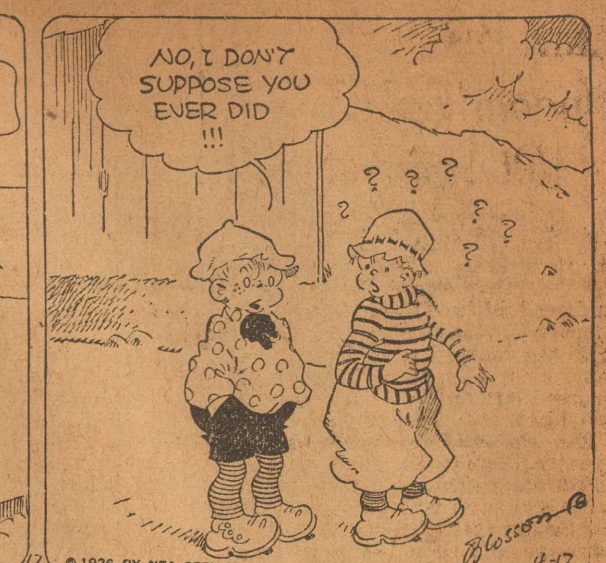

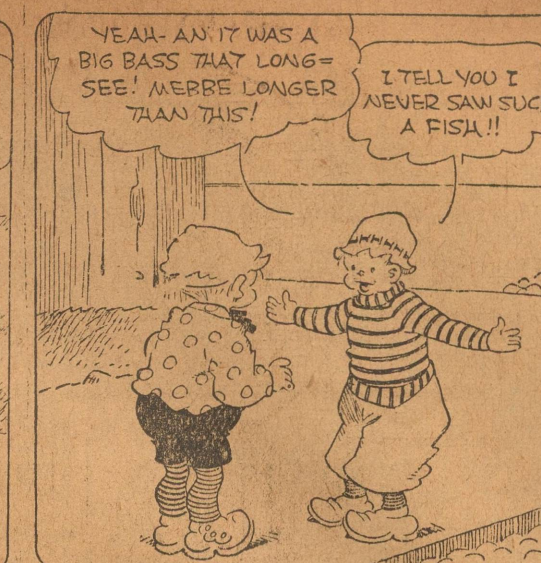

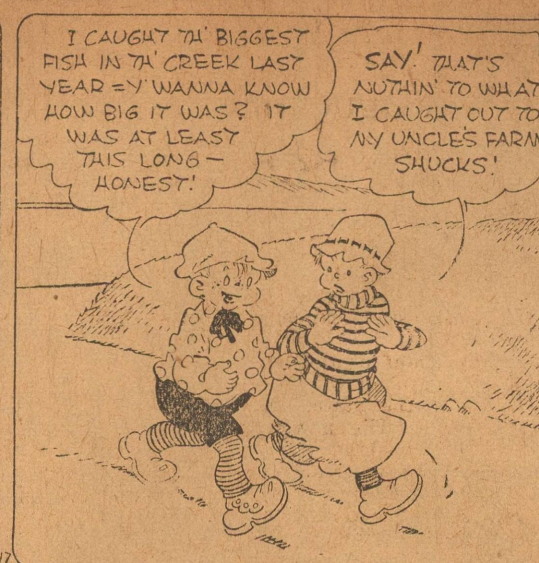

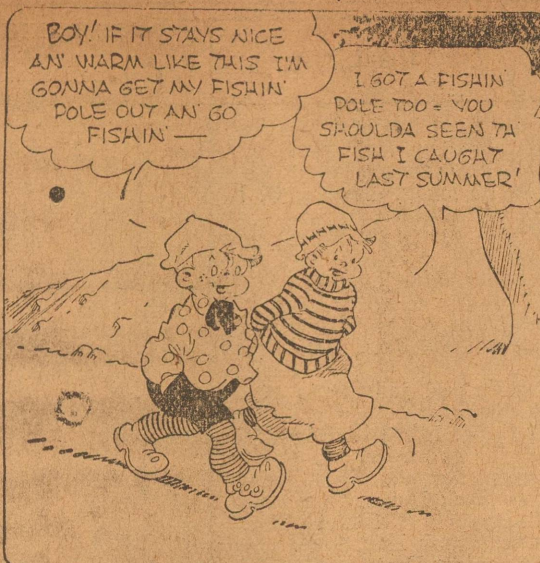

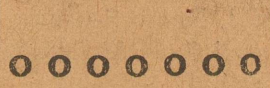

Brookhart Plans To Enter Fight On Cummins

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Senator Smith Brookhart, defeated in his race for junior senator of Iowa, in a hearing before the senatorial committee, tonight will launch a campaign for his re-entry into the upper house of Congress.

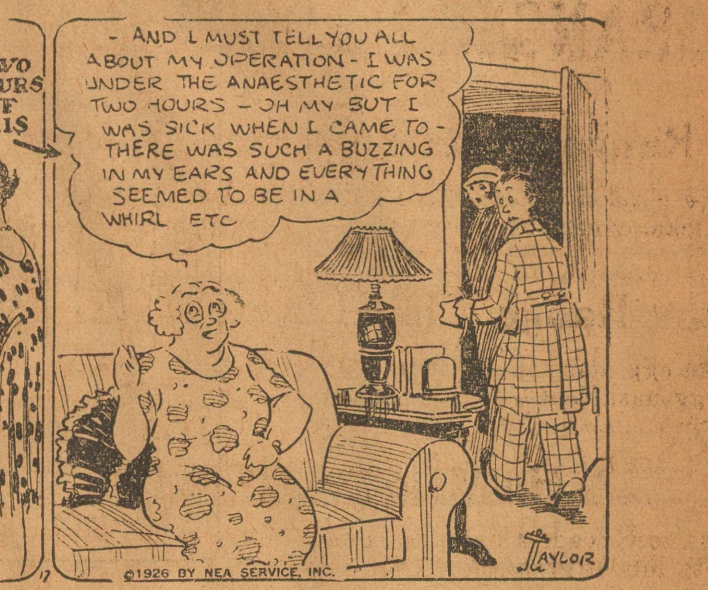

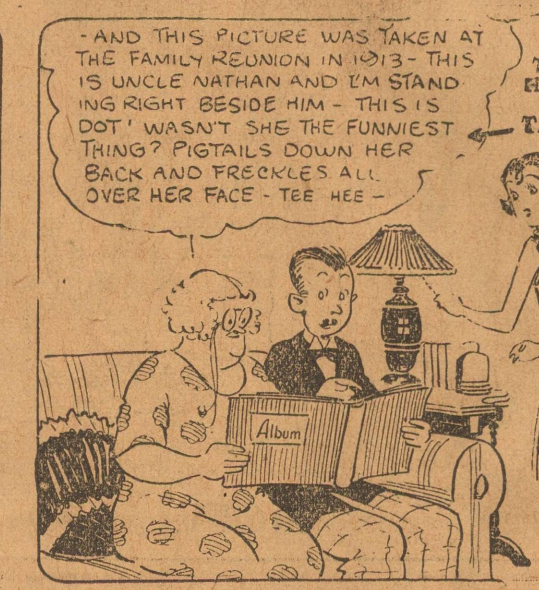

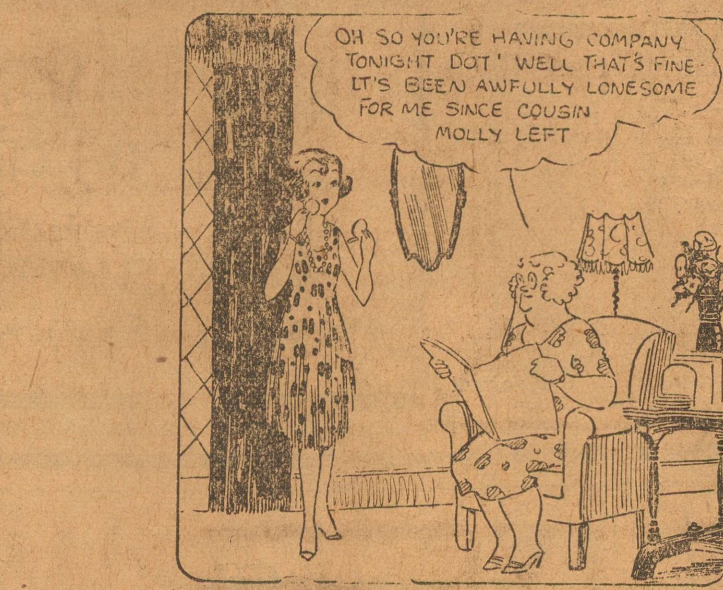

Returning to his home here, Brookhart planned to make the first speech of his campaign against Senator Albert Cummins, senior senator from Iowa. Brookhart has decided to make agricultural depression the chief plank in his platform, and is expected to dwell at length on this subject tonight.

Poultry manure mixed with gypsum is a powerful and effective fertilizer. You can get gypsum from the big seed houses. It prevents the evaporation of ammonia in the poultry manure, dries it out, and puts it in shape to handle.

Youthful Golf Star

Miss Virginia Van Wie recently stepped into the golfing spotlight by defeating Glenna Collett, national champion, in the finals of the Florida east coast tournament. No less a personage than Miss Collett predicts her conqueror will be national queen of the fair sex domain within the not too distant future.

Depreciation Of Franc Hits Paris Hard Blow

PARIS, France, April 17.—Paris is today threatened with another political-economic crisis owing to the depreciation of the franc, which for the third consecutive day fell to a new low record, when it was quoted on the local Bourse at 29.87 to the dollar Saturday. It closed at 29.74 to the dollar.

Old Man Winter Hovers Around The Middle West

CHICAGO, April 17.—Winter is to play a return engagement to this district over night, according to forecasts made today by the Weather Bureau. This will follow a snow storm which is reported in down state Illinois.

Heavyweight Championship Involves Three

NEW YORK, April 17.—When collegiate football officials were raising all the fuss last winter about the over-emphasis that was being directed at football it was pointed out that they were merely over-emphasizing the over-emphasis and trying to keep everything quiet by shouting.

The uncertainty that the uncertain Dempsey has injected into this particular situation, makes it more than usually interesting.

When Dempsey and Carpenter were matched it was essential to the promotion of the match to put over the idea that the lighter and slighter Carpenter had a chance.

Now the main interest is provided by creating and maintaining a public belief that Dempsey is afraid of Wills and Tunney will never fight again. The personalities exchanged between Dempsey and his manager of record, Jack Kearns, have not been of any detriment to the interest developed in the situation although the break between the champion and his former manager was not a deliberate move to keep the fire burning under the steam boiler.

Tex Rickard has complicated matters by insisting that he doesn't want a Wills-Dempsey match that ought to be worth two million. He says the match can't be staged but the New York boxing commissioners insist that Rickard wants the match and will make it if anyone else tries.

The involved Dempsey-Wills-Tunney situation offers the possibilities for two tremendous money making matches and the commissioners charge that Rickard wants the Tunney-Wills match first and the winner next against Dempsey. The possibilities are plainly apparent.

Rickard, wise in the ways of promotion, is situated in an ideal place when he can play and end against the other end or both ends against the middle.

No matter what happens he will win one big stake. He has Dempsey, Wills and Tunney tied up tight in contracts to fight at his dictation. Dempsey denies that the contract signed by Kearns binds him but Rickard has been assured by counsel that it will hold in any court in the land.

Any one who is well informed knows that Dempsey either signed or promised before his fight with Jess Willard at Toledo to string along with Rickard in all his future fights. The interests of all concerned—even the public interest, which is seldom considered—could be promoted best by having a Wills-Tunney match first, with the winner against Dempsey.

Sprint Star

This is Hubert Houben, famous German sprinter, who recently arrived in this country. He will match his stuff against the best in America. Houben, it will be recalled, broke into the spotlight last year in Berlin when he defeated both Loren Murchison and Charley Faddock, a pair of America's fleetest runners.

Fighting Big Indoor Sport Of The Senate

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, April 17.—While fighting appears to be the favorite indoor sport of the United States, golfing is the most favored outdoor recreation.

Of course there are occasions when senators fight outdoors as well as inside, like the time when Senator Joe Robinson, Democratic floor leader, pushed his fist none too gently into the jaw of a Washington physician at a fashionable golf course here two years ago, during a debate over who had the right of way over the fairway.

Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, likewise laid his umbrella across the skull of a passenger who stepped on his toes in a downtown street car a year back.

But generally fighting is reserved for the senate chamber under Jeffersonian rather than Marquis of Queenbury rules.

A poll of the senate by the United Press reveals that eighteen senators are addicted to golf. The list includes: Capper, republican, Kansas; Copeland, democrat, N. Y.; Couzens, republican, Michigan; Cummins, republican, Iowa (although Cummins has not played recently); Edge, republican, N. J.; Gillette, republican, Massachusetts; Hale, republican, Maine; Harrison, democrat, Mississippi; Jones, republican, Washington; McKinley, republican, Illinois; McNary, republican, Oregon; Phelan,

Sprint Star

Phil Barber is captain and star sprinter of the University of California track and field team. In the recent meet with the University of Missouri, Barber won the 220-yard dash in the fast time of 21.9 seconds. He is one of the best bet the Bears have this season.

republican, Colorado; Robinson, democrat, Arkansas; Sheppard, democrat, Texas; Smoot, republican, Utah; Walsh, democrat, Montana; Wheeler, democrat, Montana; Williams, republican, Missouri.

Jones is one of the most persistent players. All the year round, even when there is snow on the ground he and his wife may be seen early in the morning, tramping around the course.

Most of the senators are good players. A green has been set up in the basement of the senate office building to enable them to practice.

Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, is the champion equestrian of congress. Every morning of the year he gets up early and goes riding upon his horse through Rock Creek park.

Senator Wadsworth, republican, N. Y., is a great walker and he with Speaker Nick Longworth of the house of representatives take many long hikes through the woods of the famous park.

Senator Power, republican, Pennsylvania, is a tennis devotee and he plays frequently to keep down his robust waistline.

Some others of the senators like poker a little and use that method of training. But there is by no means as big a poker bloc in congress now as there was two or three years ago when a little group used to meet several times each week for a little recreation.

Interscholastic League Meet To Be Best Held

AUSTIN, April 17.—“Arrangements for the sixteenth annual State meet of the University of Texas Interscholastic League are being rapidly perfected,” according to Roy Bedichek, chief of the league bureau.

“This meet will be the largest ever held in the State,” Mr. Bedichek declared. “The new city division in public speaking adds seven contestants from each of the eight city districts, and this will swell the number of contestants considerable above the number eligible last year.”

The meet which will be held in Austin May 6, 7 and 8 will bring to a close the most successful year in the league's history, it is stated. For many years the Texas League has had a larger membership than any other similar organization in the country; this year it has a paid-up membership at least four times as large as that of any other similar organization, Bedichek said. More than 4,000 schools are members this year, notwithstanding the fact that the membership book was closed on Feb. 15, and since that time more than 200 schools have had to be refused membership on account of the closing date rule effective this year for the first time.

“It is becoming quite a problem to furnish free lodging for the contestants and delegates at the State meet,” Bedichek continued. In past years when the meet was smaller, it was not such a great problem to secure lodgings, but now that there are more than three thousand contestants and delegates to care for, the work of securing free lodgings must be undertaken long in advance. Contestants and delegates are given lodgings in the homes of Austin, and in the student boarding houses, sororities, fraternities and dormitories in the University neighborhood.

State championships will be settled at this meet in the following events: Track and field athletics, tennis in four divisions, debate in four divisions, extemporaneous speech in two divisions, declamation in eight divisions, and essay writing in four divisions.

Golf Supplanting Baseball As King Of American Sport

DALLAS, April 17.—Baseball, long the king of American sports, is having its power usurped by the little white pellet used in the game called golf, according to delegates to the Southwestern playground conference.

One delegate to the conference told how he laid out a beautiful baseball diamond on his playground and the second day after it was completed the kids in the park had located nine holes in it and were industriously driving golf balls around the impromptu course.

According to W. F. Jacoby, park director for Dallas there is a distinct lessening of the popular for amateur baseball although that of the big league variety still retains considerable popularity. “And on the other hand,” said Jacoby, “interest in golf is so intense that practically all of the golf courses are self-sustaining with the greens fees.”

The first year of municipal golf in Dallas brought out 62,000 players and the number is steadily increasing until it has doubled in the last three years, according to Jacoby.

Essex proved that everyone wants a “Six.” But low price is not the only reason why 300,000 owners are praising it so highly nor does price alone explain the reason for its continued sales leadership. Time proved qualities are what owners talk about. They speak of the little attention requires and of how frequent and small is the service cost.

They tell of economy in fuel, oil and tires. And they praise Essex smoothness in performance, its nimbleness and its power. They are the greatest Essex sales influence.

The Essex motor is built under Super-Six patents that give a performance and quality exclusive to this famous principle. Because of its vast production and the constant development of economical and precision methods of manufacturing its cost is little more than the lowest priced car on the market. Can you ignore such facts in the choice of your car?

Distinctive Beauty at a One-Profit Price

Studebaker Big Six Brougham $2095

THE most beautiful Studebaker ever built—a car that offers luxuries in style, finish and interior appointments considered impossible in a car at this price until Studebaker achieved it through One-Profit manufacture.

No car has a finer type of body construction—nor more luxurious inner and outer appearance—than the Studebaker Big Six Brougham. There are only seven American cars of equal rated horsepower, and they cost from two to four times more to buy.

It is because of this that we ask you to judge this fine car solely on a basis of comparison with any fine car you have admired, and buy then by what you know to be the facts.

From its black-enameled steel travel trunk on the rear, attractively set off by ornamental brackets, to the distinctive curve of its bright nicked radiator—the Big Six Brougham is the highest example of the coach builders' art. Leather rear-quarter and landau arms complete its custom beauty.

A study in luxury

Inside—it's a study in luxury. Wide, deep seats accommodate five in easy-chair comfort. Upholstery is of finest broadcloth, tailored to a form-fitting design. Interior hardware is tastefully arranged and finished in rich Butler silver.

The richness of its interior and exterior finish is indicative of the fine quality body construction you cannot see. Body pillars are of selected northern white ash; cross-members of hard maple. Studebaker standards—the highest in the industry—zealously guard every operation in its manufacture.

Studebaker Big Six world's fastest-selling high-powered car

The Big Six Brougham is powered with the identical engine that carries hundreds of Studebaker buses at high speed hour after hour over some of the most mountainous and difficult-to-travel routes in America—hence we urge you to compare its thrilling performance with that of the finest “eights” as well as “sixes.”

Because of volume production on a One-Profit basis, Studebaker is able to offer a value in the Big Six Brougham that no manufacturer can duplicate. No other car of equal rated horsepower sells at less than double its price.

Studebaker's unique facilities

Few motor car “manufacturers” have foundries, forges, etc., to make their own engines—yet one-fifth of an automobile's cost is in the engine. Even fewer build their own bodies—yet one-third of a car's cost is in the body.

Studebaker builds all its own bodies, all engines, all clutches, gear sets, springs, differentials, steering gears, brakes, axles, gray-iron castings and drop forgings. Only Studebaker in the fine-car field enjoys such complete manufacturing facilities.

One-Profit value

These facilities enable Studebaker to manufacture quality cars on a One-Profit basis—eliminating outside profits. The savings thus effected are passed on to Studebaker owners in the form of higher quality and lower price.

Always kept up-to-date

Direct manufacturing control enables Studebaker to keep cars constantly up-to-date. We add improvements regardless of the calendar—we do not save them up for spectacular annual announcements which make cars artificial obsolete.

2 MUSCLE SHOALS BIDS LOOK GOOD

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The chances are very good that one of the bids submitted for the lease of Muscle Shoals will be accepted by congress at this session, Senator J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama, a member of the joint leasing committee, told the United Press today. The committee, which is holding daily sessions to decide which of the seven offers submitted for recommendation to congress on April 26, is very favorably impressed with two of the bids, Senator Heflin revealed. Both offers he indicated are better than the bid submitted by Henry Ford at the last session of congress. He refused to indicate the identity of the favored bidders. It is reported that one of the offers, the details of which have been closely guarded envisages the establishment of a great power empire in the South.

Amarillo Lands Million Dollar Carbon Plant

AMARILLO, April 17.—A carbon black plant to cost approximately $1,000,000 is under erection in the Panhandle oil field by the Western Carbon company, subsidiary of the Columbia Carbon company. Officials of the company here declare that the first three units of the enormous plant will be ready for operation by June 15. Six units will comprise the entire plant. The site of the plant is on the Bark Burnett ranch in Carson county and the proposed Santa Fe extension will run within a short distance of it. Fifty million feet of residue gas will be handled daily by the completed plant which will turn out about three carloads of carbon black per day. More than 200 men will be employed.

Connecticut Man Favors Broohart In His Fight

By CHARLES P. STEWART, NEA Service Writer. WASHINGTON, April 17.—When Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut declared himself on the side of Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa, in the latter's fight to keep his seat, against the claim of his confiding Democratic rival, Daniel P. Steack, it was quite a surprise. Bingham, a conservative to the core, Brookhart has a record as one of the deepest-dyed radicals in the upper house. Among the regular Republican senators, of whom Bingham, by reason of his conservatism, by reason of his conservatism, which automatically aligns him with them, is one, there was a pretty general inclination to favor Steack's kind of democracy over Brookhart's kind of republicanism. Bingham, however, didn't allow his conservatism to influence him. He believed Brookhart had the stronger case. Examination of the Brookhart-Steack ballots seemed to indicate that a majority of the electors meant to vote for Steack. But an unusual number of these electors proved to have been in error. The Iowa law does not permit an incorrectly-marked ballot to count. Subtracting such votes from Steack's score left Brookhart ahead. The Steackites in the Senate were for taking into account solely the voters' intent. The Brookhartites stood pat on the law.

Bingham's position on the Brookhart-Steack question, despite the way he undoubtedly felt, speaks extremely well for the quality of his integrity. He didn't pretend to be enthusiastic over Brookhart, but he was for giving him what he considered him entitled to, nevertheless. Not but that there are other equally conscientious members of the House and Senate, but their name isn't legion, so to speak.

Ranger Buddies Will Be Immune From All Arrest

Ranger legionnaires will be privileged from arrest while attending the seventeenth district meeting of the American Legion today at Breckenridge, except for the high crime of not feeling welcome in the city, or not feeling that all delegates to said convention are their comrades, and that they are enjoying the freedom of the "seas" and the "hardtack" and hospitality joyfully extended them by the city of Breckenridge, according to advices from that city today. W. C. Hickey, post commander, is in receipt of a wire from Buie of Stamford, advising him that he had better take every man he can lay his hands on if he intends to bring the loving cup back to Ranger with him, as Stamford is coming with the intention of toting it back to Stamford. Commander Hickey left for Breckenridge Saturday afternoon with some 15 or 20 buddies, all expecting to bring the cup back to Ranger. Today a number of legionnaires and their wives will motor over for the day and Ranger will also send a representative number from the auxiliary. Legionnaires were entertained Saturday night by Claude Delaney and C. B. Gullette, at the Country club. Open house and an informal reception, primarily designed for the wives of legionnaires and members of the auxiliary, but open to the general public, was held at the Elks club last night. The big events of today will be held at the First Christian church and the city hall. Each year an honor student of the department of architecture will receive a medal from the American Institute of Architecture, beginning this year. With this medal copies of "Mont St. Michel" and "Chartres" by Henry Adams will be given, Mr. Kemper wrote. Baptists Honor Ranger Woman At Mineral Wells

Ranger was doubly honored at the meeting of the Breckenridge-Cisco district meeting of Baptist Women's Missionary union at Mineral Wells, Friday. Mrs. J. M. White was for the third time elected president of the district and Ranger was chosen for the meeting place next year.

Mrs. White has returned and reports a wonderful convention. She said that the program was an excellent one, the attendance was very large and that a number of state-wide Baptist women were present, among them being the state president, Mrs. P. S. Davis of Dallas, former young people's leader of the state, Mrs. Balls, and Mrs. J. M. Higginbotham of Dallas.

Ranger was well represented also. Mrs. White said, both churches sending a good number of delegates and visitors. Plans for an unusually big meeting will be made for 1927 when Ranger plays host to the assembly.

Returning home with Mrs. White for a few days visit is Miss Phebe Wharton, a young lady who is being put through the Southwestern Training school at Fort Worth by this district.

Free Speech Pays Declares Editor Mencken

WASHINGTON.—"Free speech is safe; it pays," H. L. Mencken told me, in a talk I had with him, at his home in Baltimore.

Indications are that he's going to have a chance to test this theory thoroughly. He's won the first round of his "Hatrack" fight but there may prove to be a good many more to come.

The postoffice department has barred his "American Mercury" from the mails. Now, the postoffice department is different from a court of law, state or federal. It's pretty much a law unto itself.

Mencken, personally, is just like his magazine. He's a nice chap to meet, he's extremely interesting and he's hospitable and polite, but his conversation is one uninterrupted roast of the entire universe—not a single good thing to it, according to H. L.

If he ever does say a good word for anything, it invariably is preliminary to some qualification which makes it the reverse.

To illustrate:

In this interview he gave to me, this country, he observed, is the most wonderful place on earth for making plenty of money easily. Sounds complimentary to the country, what? Well, wait.

"Mind you," he added, "I think all this prosperity will blow up presently, but it will last my time."

Mary And "Doug" Talk Deals On Old Wall Street

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK.—Two financiers from out Hollywood way were here in New York juggling corporations in a manner that might make even Wall Street gasp.

The two are Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, who may have been heard of before in another line of activity, but whose business manipulations are likely to bring them as much prominence as their work on the screen.

Interviewed in their spacious suite on the top floor of the Ritz-Carlton, the conversation remained aloof from art and clothes and morals and all those things that movie stars are known to talk about—and centered on the "swinging of deals" and such, for all the world like dialogue at the Bankers' Club.

Mrs. Fairbanks—"Our Mary" didn't look the least bit businesslike in her trim, spruce suit that antedated the season by a fortnight. But her speech was so replete with commercial details that her title of "America's Sweetheart" may have to be changed to "America's Receiver."

The worst of it is, Mary doesn't like it. Neither does "Doug."

"We went into business defensively," said Mary. "We didn't like the way our pictures were produced, so we organized a producing company; we didn't like the methods of distributing so we organized our own distributing company."

"We thought we ought to have a studio of our own, so we built that."

"Now it appears we ought to have our own theatres, and Douglas and I are working on that now."

Fairbanks explained that plans are under way for the formation of a $10,000,000 corporation to hold stock in United Artists and other companies and to provide capital for the erection of theatres in various cities.

"It's an awful bother," complained Mary, as though she might be speaking of a grocery bill instead of million-dollar transactions. "I may be right in the middle of a picture and have to break off everything to go into a smoky room and argue with a dozen men for four or five hours. But I'll argue that long if it's necessary to have them see things my way."

The two screen luminaries admitted that the development of their various companies and increased business had kept them from acting as much as they should like. Mary made two pictures last year and Doug made one. This year their combined output will be only one, and that to be made together in Europe.

The cares of finance won't even let them enjoy a vacation, they said. Since they have been in Manhattan, a contract with a German film company, involving $2,500,000, has reached the signature stage.

After an attempt at three months of rest abroad the Fairbanks will make a picture in Germany or Southern France, and then will become business people again, "going on the road" through Russia and Southern Europe and possibly swinging over to the Orient.

Incidentally, being no doubt truly capable financiers, both Mary and Doug confess—or boast—that they couldn't add a column of figures correctly if the Honor of Hollywood depended upon it.

Congress Plans Adjournment At An Early Date

By WILLIAM J. McEVROY,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Andrew W. Nelson would be out of a job and the federal treasury might well be closed if congress were disposed to grant all appropriations that have been sought during the present session.

Only the repetition of an emphatic "no" by leaders in both houses to demands for funds has prevented the hanging of a "first sale" sign on the massive treasury building, across the street from the white house, when the legislators start trekking home for the elections.

With a campaign staring them in the fact, members of the senate and house, with few exceptions, have presented bills proposing the expenditure of federal funds for various and sundry projects in their districts. In addition to these measures, there have also been proposed numerous bills for pension, farm relief, aviation and several other purposes, all involving big expenditures.

Aware that the passage of any of these measures might endanger the administration's economy program and force an upward revision of taxes, leaders are planning to adjourn congress as soon as all necessary legislation is disposed of. Leaders hold high hopes now for adjourning the session by May 15. They are certain that it will not last beyond June 1.

Exclusive of the "home town" bills, such as measures proposing construction of new postoffices, legislation is now pending in the house and its committees which, if enacted, would cause more than $600,000,000 to be spent from the federal treasury.

Relief for agriculture which has been demanded by the farm bloc would cost approximately $200,000,000 while a civil service retirement bill now on the house calendar would send $125,000,000 rolling out of the treasury. Legislation proposing up-keeping of the army and navy air services at a total cost of nearly $200,000,000 has been passed on favorably by the military and naval committees. Retirement legislation for army and navy nurses at a cost of $50,000,000 and liberalization of the soldier bonus act calling for about $12,000,000 has been proposed. A pension bill for Spanish war veterans at a cost of $19,000,000 awaits consideration.

To all of these proposals would be added more than $100,000,000 if members were successful in securing appropriations for all proposed river and harbor improvement work.

Aside from bills proposing direct appropriations and authorizations, hundreds of bills creating new government bureaus and reorganizing existing ones at an additional expense have been introduced.

Once the "must" legislation is out of the way, leaders will press for adjournment to prevent a spending spree which would cause recent tax cuts to be of short duration.

saves them a lot of steps. They don't like to make a special trip downstairs for a circular or a magazine."

Smiles greet Beauchamp's progress along his route, for his "patrons" know he won't fool them.

One Postman Has Code Of Signals on Route

By United Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Toot, toot, goes the postman's whistle. You dash to the mailbox to get a love-letter—and you find only the grocery bill.

Such is one of life's bitterest moments.

But they don't happen on the beat of E. C. Beauchamp, mailman on one of the apartment house district beats here. Beauchamp has watched the pleasures and disappointments the mail brings until he has almost an uncanny sense of what is a welcome letter.

So when a housewife hears him give the doorbell two long rings she knows it is a letter from her absent husband. A young miss knows he brings a letter from her sweetheart.

But if one short brief ring greets their ears they know the postman has brought only a bill or a circular letter.

"It's just a little scheme of mine to make people happier," Beauchamp said modestly. "You soon learn about people's correspondence on your route. It isn't hard to tell which are letters they want to get and which are the unwelcome ones. After you've carried a few letters from someone's sweetheart, you know just what reaction to expect. It's no harder for me to give the right signal and it

Eastland Law Firm Changes Are Announced

The Eastland law firm, composed of Senator Jos Burkett, Joe F. Orr and Milburn McCarty, and heretofore operated under the firm name of Burkett, Orr & McCarty, has been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Orr has established offices in Fort Worth where he will continue in the practice of his profession, Senator Burkett is retiring from practice and Mr. McCarty has formed a partnership with Senator Brelsford's firm, which, in the future will be known as Scott, Brelsford, McCarty & Brelsford.

The firm of Scott & Brelsford is one of the oldest law firms in Eastland county, and has one of the largest and most complete libraries in the state. Judge D. K. Scott, some years ago, went to San Antonio and has an office there, his name, however, has always been carried with the Eastland firm. Maj. Harry Brelsford, son of Senator Brelsford is the junior member of the new firm.

Milburn McCarty, who is recognized as one of the leading attorneys of Texas, came to Eastland about four years ago from San Angelo. Where he served as district attorney and practiced law for a number of years. In going to his new connections in Eastland, Mr. McCarty takes with him the business of his former firm.

"Ridin Bob" Roberts "Art" Mix Of Screen Is Now In Ranger

Ridin' Bob Roberts, known to the silver sheet fans as "Art Mix," will appear in person at the Liberty Theater, Ranger, this afternoon and tonight.

Roberts is almost a double in personal appearance for Tom Mix, but he does not want any borrowed laurels but stands on his own merits. He has had some narrow experiences himself. A long red scar on his arm is a silent reminder of one of his latest escapes, when he cut an artery leaping from his horse to a moving train. Last year he won the world's championship in single hand steer riding, at Wimberley, England, where he was one of 350 American cowboys participating in Tex Austin's rodeo. Immediately on returning to the United States, he was grabbed up by the Art Mix Production Company and starred.

There is really no such person as "Art Mix," but the president of the company is Arthur J. Mix, and Bob Roberts uncanny likeness to Tom Mix, resulted in him being dubbed "Art Mix." Roberts will demonstrate trick riding and other feats at the Liberty today and tonight.

He laughingly admits that although he has played matchmaker for several Texas cowboys, he hasn't yet made a match for himself.

Now comes the season when a man who gets mad at his wife can go to the ball park and yell at the umpire.

Men of Bible Class Served a Church Supper

DALLAS, April 17.—About twenty men, members of the Men's Bible class of the Greenville Avenue Christian Church, donned aprons and rolled up their sleeves one day last week and cooked a supper for more than 200 members of the church. The menu included hot biscuits, roast beef, salads, creamed potatoes, spaghetti, creamed peas, peach cobbler and coffee. Wives of the men declared the attempt "first rate."

POLA WIELDS WHIP IN LOVE AND HATE DUEL

Pola Negri held the whip hand in a contest of wills.

It was her will against that of a strong man, and the whip was a big black rawhide thong.

Rage and love were the opposing elements that provoked the contest.

Miss Negri won—and, in winning, lost.

POLA NEGRI IN 'A WOMAN OF THE WORLD' A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

She lost—and, in losing, won. It all depends upon how you look at it.

The situation occurs in her new Paramount starring picture, at the Liberty theatre Tuesday, April 20, for one day only, "A Woman of the World," directed by Malcolm St. Clair. It furnishes the most tremendous scene of the drama.

Holmes Herbert, portraying the city attorney of a small town, is in love with Miss Negri, who plays "Countess Elnora Natatorini." Believing she has deceived him, he appears before the city council and demands that she be forced to leave the community.

When she hears of this, she seizes a horse whip and rushes into the council room. The lash descends upon his shoulders, fiercely, cutting like a flail. He stands and receives the punishment without a whimper. When her strength fails, she drops the whip.

He picks up the whip and hands it back to her.

The look of love in his eyes speaks his repentance and her eyes grant forgiveness.

The story was suggested by a Carl Van Vechten novel, and was written for the screen by Pierre Collings.

SOCIAL EVENTS

GREAT OUTDOORS NOW BECKON SOCIETY FOLKS FROM BRIDGE TO PICNICS AND AUTO RIDES

Social affairs that have been confined to the indoors are receding as the hint of warmer weather approaches. Although Spring was formally opened by Ranger merchants some time ago, it was delayed in transit, but now that the wild geese have gone north and the mesquite tree has budded out, and the water man says "fair and warmer" its safe to say, it is here. As the weather grows warmer, bridge and dancing lose their charm and the wanderlust grips one. Its the yearly call of the great outdoors to the Gypsies of the world.

Picnic, hikes, and fishing parties are the rule of the day.

Clubs are winding up their year's work, officers are being elected for the coming year, final school programs are being arranged for, and all signs point to vacation and warm weather.

The past week was marked socially by several affairs for Mrs. Jimmie Cox, who was married last Sunday, and the usual round of card parties.

This week, San Jacinto Day will be observed by the Elks by an Over-all Gingham Dress dance at their clubrooms, with Russell Ward's orchestra, featuring Swayne Cummings as pianist.

MERRIMAN P.-T. A. HAS GOOD MEETING

The merriman P.-T. A. had a good meeting Thursday afternoon, at which time reports from the various officers and from the delegate to the P.-T. A. district meeting at Eastland, were heard. The report was considered very good, especially as the school is not a large one. The financial standing was especially fine. Mrs. J. N. Poe in consideration of her faithful work for the association was presented a life membership in the P.-T. A. A nominating committee was appointed to take care of the coming election officers, and will report at the next meeting, Friday, April 30.

Plans for that evening's program are in progress, as are plans for the closing of school program which will be looked after by Mrs. Peters. Two merriman pupils were in Stephenville Friday trying out for the district championship in declamation. They were George Allison and Nell Poe. They did not win district honors, but made a fine showing for their school.

CHURCH SOCIETIES HONOR MR. AND MRS. COX

On Thursday night right after choir practice at the Presbyterian Church, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Cox, newlyweds, were grabbed and blindfolded and led to the church clubrooms, where a shower of rice from the hands of the members of the Presbyterian Auxiliary and the West Minister Guild greeted them. They were then led to a table, which was mysteriously covered, and unblinded. Raising the cover of the table they discovered a multitude of interesting looking packages lying there on, which they were given permission to open. The contents of the packages were many and very entrancing and both Mr. and Mrs. Cox were delightfully surprised. Mrs. Cox was asked to present her husband to the assembly, which she did in her own gracious manner.

Mrs. Cox is a very appreciated member of the choir, as well as of the church, and this surprise was planned for them, as a token of the love the two church societies bear their sweet member.

RECENT BRIDE IS SHOWERED

The members of the Junior New Era Club and several other friends of Mrs. Jimmie Cox, formerly Miss Geneva Armer, honored her with a miscellaneous shower Friday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Allie Armer of Pine street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox were at the George Armer home, so the crowd assembled un-beknown, and later on in the evening, Mrs. J. J. stopped for a visit with them, as asked them to ride over to Mrs. Allie Armer's with her for a package she had left there. This they did and when the door was opened, a large circle of friends shouted congratulations to the bride and groom.

Mrs. Cox was then dressed in a bewitching cap and apron and given a bucket and told to gather the clothes in off the line, so she was invited into her bedroom where a clothes line had been hung, which was literally sagging with presents. Womanlike she pressed Mr. Jimmy into service and when all the packages were taken off the line, they carried them into the living room and opened them up. Mrs. Cox received many handsome and dainty gifts. A contest which pertained to brides but was answered by the name of flowers occasioned much merriment. Miss Helen Howdeshell also gave two clever readings. Punch was served to Misses Kelley, Clardy, Barnes, Joseph, Denman, Campbell, Urban, Brown, Armer, Misses Pearce, Ross, Fletcher, Maxey, Brasher, Howdeshell, Marriss, Armer, Conley and Flahie. Misses Mittie Morris, Helen Howdeshell and Marie Armer acted as hostesses for the evening.

GIRL SCOUTS HIKE TO WINSETT SPRINGS

About thirty-five or forty members of the girl scouts gathered at the high school Saturday morning, all in scout costume, to join their scout master, Mrs. Healer, for a day's outing at Winsett Springs. Of course, they hiked out, for girl scouts prefer walking always to riding. They carried plenty of provisions for two meals, as they were going to cook both breakfast and dinner out in the open. The objective point was Winsett Springs.

PRE-SCHOOL CLUB PROGRAM

The Pre-School Club will meet with Mrs. F. L. Carroll, Friday afternoon, at which time the following program will be given: the active nature and needs of childhood; Mrs. A. A. Diehl, reading; "Willie's Plan," Arthur Diehl Jr.; "The Borrowing Brotherhood," Mrs. A. T. McKinlay. Report from the first district meeting at Eastland, Mrs. F. L. Carroll.

ACORN ACRES TEA ROOM TO MAKE ITS BOW

Acorn Acres Tea Room is to make its bow, in a few days, to the people of this and other cities, who delight in "tea and talk." This very attractive place, which will fill a long felt need in the hearts and minds of many hostesses and travelers, is in the C. E. Slack home, at Acorn Acres, just off the Strawn Highway. A large porch has been glassed in, and here folks may enjoy refreshments just as light or just as elaborate as they may desire. Already hostesses from Eastland and Ranger have booked reservations. Mrs. Tom Bailey won high score, and Mrs. H. S. Hinton the consolation. Those attending were Misses M. A. Glenn, J. E. Adkins, Tom Bailey, Ed P. Eubank, H. S. Hinton, and Misses Madrid James and Lolo Lonsdale. The club will meet Friday, April 23, with Mrs. M. A. Glenn. Mrs. Ed T. Eubank was elected press reporter.

"COBRA"

Rudolph Valentino has made of "Cobra" a photoplay of strong and adult emotions. The theme has been treated sincerely and intelligently. The picture opens Thursday, April 22, at the Liberty for one day only.

The picture, directed by Joseph Henabery, was adapted from Martin Brown's successful Broadway play by Anthony Coldevey. The title itself signifies the appeal of a fascinating woman—the lure of the cobra for its victims.

Valentino is seen as a young Italian count who has an inherited weakness for the cobra type of woman. He makes a successful and sincere effort to reform, only to be lured back into the old ways by the wife of his best friend. This affair leads to a tragic conclusion. To atone for his misdeeds, the count makes a great sacrifice. The star's emotional acting is superb and he never looked in such excellent physical condition.

Nita Naldi, simmer and more alluring than ever, is the cobra woman, while Gertrude Olmsted plays a role of great sympathy and charm. Casson Ferguson returns to the screen with a fine performance as the loyal friend. Other parts are capably played by Eileen Percy, Claire de Lorez, Hector Sarno and Rose Rosanova. Joseph Henabery directed the picture with a fine understanding of the dramatic and psychological values.

"Cobra" was produced by Ritz-Carlton and distributed by Paramount. It is lavishly mounted. The early scenes in Italy and in the New York interior show are fine examples of the screen's pictorial beauty.

New York proof-readers have a society. We have not heard who is the presiding Etainshrdlu.

Would Turn Flappers Into Politicians

By MARK W. CHILDS (United Press Staff Correspondent)
 ST. LOUIS.—Conversion of the flapper to a realization of the importance of practical politics conhere to form the League of Women Voters.

Today delegates to the League—now a strong national organization, with branches in virtually every state in the union returned to consider action on a dozen or more major social problems and review the work of seven years at their annual convention.

CLUBS AND FASHIONS

Every train bore delegates from state and city branches of the league, now an important factor in the politics of the nation. All shades of opinion will be represented and out of the discussion will be formulated the program of the organization.

Members, as soon as they arrived, registered at convention headquarters and before nightfall close to 1000 are expected. Conferences today are on "Efficiency in Government," led by Miss Belle Sherwin, national president, "Social Hygiene," "Women in Industry," "Child Welfare," "International Co-operation," and "Living Costs."

Perhaps the most interesting session of the five-day convention will be the effort to "convert" the flapper to a realization of the importance of "practical politics." Three women who are political "bosses" in their own localities, will speak. They stituted the major problem on the program for discussion when the League of Women Voters met here today in its seventh annual convention.

Seven years ago a small group of determined women who believed that the millions just enfranchised by the women's suffrage amendment should be educated to vote intelligently met are Miss Marie Wing, member of the Cleveland City Council, Mrs. J. Paul Goods, of Chicago, member of the Illinois legislature, and Mrs. John T. Pratt, member of the Board of Aldermen of New York City.

Another important session will be the mass-meeting devoted to the "Progress of International Co-operation Toward Peace," on Sunday. The speakers on that date will be Professor James T. Shotwell, Columbia University, and Chester Rowell, of the University of California, Berkeley, Cal.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

In yesterday's chapter, Audrey Morton has seen her guardian, Harry Scranton, with whom she is deeply in love, in a cabaret with a wild party. Overhearing him make an appointment for the place, she had asked John Parrish, Morton's secretary, to take her there.

Word comes at the end of yesterday's installment that Audrey has not slept in her room after the visit to the cabaret.

Morton himself, wealthy, attractive to women, unmarried, has been a mystery to the gossip of Crofton for the 15 years he has lived there with his adopted daughter. Maintaining an expensive home in Crofton, he also maintains an apartment in Scranton, dividing his time between them.

In an effort to divert Audrey's love from himself, he has been seen much in the company of Nona, a Scranton stage girl, who also loves him, and has urged the company of young Parrish upon his ward.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
(The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XVIII

A hurried inspection of Audrey's rooms showed that she was gone—that she had been gone since the night before.

Her dainty ribboned nightgown still lay upon the bed, where her maid had left it in the evening. The bed was unrumpled. The satin mules stood neatly side by side, at the foot of the bed, undisturbed.

Morton ran into the little study which lay behind the bedroom. It was the apartment in which Audrey wrote her letters. He glanced hastily over the bed. There was no note for him.

The doors of the closets in her dressing room all were ajar. Hurdled he ran his hand over the ranks of dresses, which hung neatly on their hangers, from brass rods. He saw that her fur coat was there, but that a gray traveling coat had been removed. A sober little frock which she wore around the house also was missing, and so was the dress in which she had come from Crofton two days before.

"She took only what she could carry in her hand bag," Morton said, to the butler, who stood helplessly behind him.

Morton's face was pale, but his movements were quick and certain. "You know that infernal young ass that just went out of here?" he snapped. "Get him on the telephone at the office, and tell him to come back here right away. As soon as you have done that, get my office in Crofton on the phone."

As the butler hurried down stairs, Morton closed and locked each of the three rooms that comprised Audrey's suite.

"Nobody is to go in there until Miss Morton comes back," he told the trembling maid who was standing in the hall.

Quickly he ran to the lower floor, and, jerking open his desk, wrote two telegrams. One was to the detective in Crofton, whom he had called "George." The other was to his bank in Crofton.

"Call for a telegraph messenger to come," he ordered the distracted butler, who was struggling with the telephone.

"Shall I call up the police?" asked the servant.

"No. Don't want this in the papers," Morton's tone was final, and the butler returned to his argument with the long distance operator.

When Parrish came in, Morton was giving instructions to his office in Crofton in short, snapping sentences. When he was finished, he turned.

"Do you know anything about Miss Morton's where abouts?" he demanded.

"Me?" Parrish's tone was one of astonishment.

"Yes, you! But I suppose you don't. Anyway, I want you to get that. What I want is to find out where she is now."

"Find the men who were on gate duty at each of the railway stations last night between midnight and morning. Don't come back here until you find them. Do you remember the dress Miss Morton wore when we came here from Crofton day before yesterday?"

Parrish remembered.

"Describe her to each of those gentlemen. Ask if they saw a girl of that description leaving on one of the night trains. Find out, if possible, if they remember where she went. And for God's sake, man, get a move on!"

Parrish ran out the door, and Morton, struggling into his overcoat, followed him a minute later.

At his office, Morton called his senior employees into a brief conference. Each of them, started, left the building in varying directions, four minutes later.

They had scarcely gone, when a telegram from Morton's bank in Crofton reached him.

"If Miss Morton comes in we shall telegraph you at once at your Scranton apartment," the message said.

Another telegram half an hour later was loquacious.

"Okay," was all it said. The signature was "George."

He remained at his desk all day, and late that night, telephone messages came at frequent intervals. Now and then a telegram arrived. All were unsatisfactory.

Morton's face was set and his lips were drawn in the lines of stubbornly endured pain, but his voice was firm as he gave directions, and

"Do you know anything about Miss Morton's whereabouts?" he demanded. "Me?" Parrish's tone was one of astonishment.

since her return here about one o'clock this morning. No—Morton stopped a sentence that Parrish was beginning—"I know where she was last night. I know all about that. What I want is to find out where she is now."

He remained at his desk all day, and late that night, telephone messages came at frequent intervals. Now and then a telegram arrived. All were unsatisfactory.

Morton's face was set and his lips were drawn in the lines of stubbornly endured pain, but his voice was firm as he gave directions, and

"The same taxi men probably meet this train every morning," Morton told Parrish. "You inquire of as many of them as you can, and I'll do the same."

Leaving his two bags with a porter, Morton hurried out to the taxi stand, Parrish following him. For ten minutes they asked anxious questions of the drivers who lolled in the seats of the waiting machines. There was no results. None had seen Audrey.

Her experience is limited," Morton told Parrish, as they gave up the search at the station. "The chances are she would go directly to the largest hotel."

They climbed into a taxi, and sat, gloomy and silent, until they reached the hotel the driver had recommended.

Inquiry at the desk showed she had not registered.

Morton engaged rooms for himself and Parrish, and directed the latter to telegraph to his Scranton office and apartment, and to his office in Crofton, his bank, and to the detective, telling his whereabouts.

Then they started to canvass the other hotels in Atlanta.

Audrey had not appeared in any of the regular hotels. Parrish thought him that the girl might have sought a boarding house.

"It would be one that was recommended to her at the railway station," said Morton. "You go back there and find out where they send unescorted girls."

Parrish was starting away, when Morton called him back.

"Get a time table of that railroad, while you are there, and the other railroads coming in here, and see what connections she could make for some other train—say a train leaving within an hour or so after her arrival."

Without particular hope, but to satisfy himself, Morton continued his search around the city, going into some of the shabby places where the only signs of a hotel were the words "ROOMS TO LET" above a door way. He met with no success, and returned to the hotel where he had registered.

Parrish was waiting.

"A woman at the station there looks after girls who have no coat," he said. "She told me where she sends them, and I have been to all three places, and Miss Morton hasn't been seen. Here are the time tables."

Together they pored over the train schedules, and marked two trains that Audrey might have taken. Both of them were locals, stopping at innumerable way-stations en route.

"We'll go back and inquire of the fellows at the railroad station," said Morton. "Maybe we will locate her that way."

They agreed to meet an hour later at their hotel, while Parrish returned to the station, through which they had first entered Atlanta, while Morton drove to make inquiry at the other depots.

When they met an hour later, Parrish announced that he had been successful. "She got on a local train, going back the way she came in," he said. "The ticket seller doesn't remember to what town she was going—over one hundred people got on the train that morning, going to all these little jerkwater places."

Morton considered, his lips compressed, and his jaw drawn into a thoughtful frown.

"It would take us two weeks to canvass all these villages," he said at length. "We need help, and need it badly. You know that detective of mine in Crofton?"

Parrish said he did.

"He has connections in a lot of these towns," Morton continued. "Get him on the telephone, and tell him to have a man search for Miss Morton at every one of these places, no matter how small. Tell him to get as many men on it as he can. I want a full report within twenty-four hours."

Parrish put in the long distance call, and while they waited for an answer, he wrote at Morton's dictation a sheaf of telegrams, giving further instructions to the offices in Crofton and Scranton, and to the members of Morton's households.

"We can get a train back to Scranton in about an hour," Parrish said, after he had finished his telephone conversation with the detective.

Morton was paying their bill at the desk, when a message arrived for him.

Tearing it open, he read: "Female claims her name is Morton telephoned that she has important news for you. She says she cannot give this news to anybody but you. She says it is about Miss Morton. Will you send instructions, please. Respectfully."

It was signed by Morton's Scranton butler.

"Telegraph him that we are coming home," Morton told Parrish.

It was long after midnight when the train, a slow accommodation, finally pulled into Scranton.

Morton's car was awaiting him—Parrish had thoughtfully seen to that—and they drove at once to Nona's apartment.

She was up, and awaiting them.

"I was pretty sure you'd be here before morning, sometime," she said. She looked at Parrish, who had stayed close at Morton's side.

"It is all right to talk before him?" she asked.

"Hell do, I guess," Morton said. "What's this news about Audrey?"

Nona drew from the bosom of her dress a letter. It was addressed to her.

Morton took it, and recognized Audrey's handwriting on the envelope.

All America Has Taken The Incomparable Chrysler To Its Heart

The Chrysler "70" sells itself every time it exhibits its dashing appearance on road or highway. The contrast between it and other cars is so marked that the desire to own one is bred then and there.

But that desire is as nothing compared to the delight induced later on. For the Chrysler is just as far beyond comparison in performance, roadability, ease of handling and durability as it is in looks.

That the American people have taken the Chrysler to their hearts is no surprise at all—it is a very natural thing.

They are almost extravagantly enthusiastic about the Chrysler because the Chrysler has shown them long-lived motoring delights beyond all comparison.

We are eager to demonstrate the Chrysler's many advantages.

Pitcock Builds New Gin; Ready For 1926 Season

Work has begun on the new Ranger gin which, before cotton begins to be gathered next fall, will be standing in readiness to serve the farmers.

The gin is being built by J. A. Pitcock, who will be the owner and manager. It is on the Wayland road, three blocks off the Caddo highway. The plant will be equipped with the latest Murray equipment, Murray machinery being the last word in efficiency, it is declared. It will be operated by electricity and will consist of four eighty-saw stands, everything new.

"Indications point to a better crop in this section this year than last," declared Mr. Pitcock. "It is likely that 5,000 bales will be produced in the Ranger territory this year."

Mr. Pitcock is well known in this region, having been born and reared in this county and, with the exception of a few years, has resided here all his life. Until a short time ago, he was connected with the city government and prior to that time was engaged in business in Ranger. He has many friends and has built a reputation for courtesy and fair dealing. His wide acquaintanceship with the farmers of the Ranger territory doubtless will aid in his undertaking.

The construction of the gin is being done by T. O. Bray, contractor of Ranger.
