

Self satisfaction of duty well done is about all the reward some folks get; they don't get it in money. Politicians are poison.

Falls 19 Stories In Fire That Destroys The Morrison Hotel

CHICAGO, April 9.—While flames across the window ledge seared his fingers, L. J. Ainsworth, wealthy head of a Cincinnati, Ohio, radio company, early today hung for five minutes from a 19-story window of the Morrison hotel and then dropped to the ground, dying instantly.

ALL ATTEMPTS TO SAVE TANK FARM PROVING FUTILE

Losses Estimated At $15,000,000 In The Entire Field

LOS ANGELES, April 9.—California's two great oil fires that destroyed hundreds of acres of storage tanks containing millions of barrels of petroleum were completely beyond control today. All attempts to save any of the 300 acres of the Union Oil company's tank farm at San Luis Obispo appeared futile when the flames spread beyond the borders of the field and wiped out a dozen farmhouses.

At San Luis Obispo, where two tanks exploded and fired another tank farm yesterday, the flames spread to additional tanks this morning. The company's refinery was destroyed and the entire field of 26 tanks appeared to be doomed. Late Todd, manager of the Union Oil plant there, estimates that the loss will total at least $15,000,000 and possibly reach $20,000,000.

Many Narrow Escapes. The explosion showered 500,000 barrels of burning oil in all directions and scores of narrow escapes were reported. Dr. H. A. Gallup narrowly missed a terrible death when he fled in his automobile just as one of the boiling cauldrons of oil blew up with the force of an earthquake. He sought shelter in a dugout and saw his car burned by the flaming oil.

Great beams of wood and steel were hurled several miles and many of these landed in the town of Brea, where they crashed through roofs and smashed store fronts. The blast shook the ground with great violence and was responsible for thousands of window panes being broken.

OIL EXPLOSIONS BURN STEAMERS ON RIVER FRONT

Check Up Shows 34 Still Missing From The Various Vessels

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—The port of New Orleans today recovered from its night of horror and relief workers were about caring for those rescued from a succession of ship disasters that brought death, injury and destruction. A check-up of the hospital and among the seamen along the docks, revealed that 34 men were still missing from the two vessels which within 12 hours were rocked by a series of explosions. Five men who were aboard the O. T. Waring, which was fired in dry dock, yesterday, have not been heard from.

Twenty-nine members of the crew of the tanker Sylvanus have not been located since that vessel collided with the oil tanker Wheeler, in the Mississippi, near Point LaChache, 50 miles south of here. The Wheeler was beached after the collision with slight damage. The Sylvanus was last seen with her deck ablaze with oil helpless in the Mississippi river.

From yesterday afternoon until almost daybreak today, the Mississippi river here was shot with flames following a series of explosions caused by two shipping disasters, the gravest in the history of this city. Thirty-five men are missing or dead. Fifty-eight were injured and are in hospitals, and five vessels have been burned and are damaged.

The hours of the tragedy began on the Jahncke dry dock yesterday, when the O. T. Waring was rocked by a series of explosions. Six men are missing from the Waring, and are believed to be dead. Forty-three men were injured. Twenty-nine men are missing and believed to have been burned to death on the tanker Sylvanus which drifted down the river to Point LaChache after a collision in a night fog with the Standard Oil tankship, the Thomas H. Wheeler.

QUEEN OF CARNIVAL

Just who will be the queen of the carnival is yet a secret. Her identity will not be revealed until the curtain rises on the coronation scene tonight. It may be your favorite high school girl or mine, but regardless of which one of the girls is the chosen queen, she will be arrayed like the Queen of Sheba, with maids, and princesses and all the grandeur of a queen's court. The coronation ceremony is very elaborate in its planning and will be carried out with a richness of details, that would be a credit to any school.

After the coronation ceremony, which will be in the high school auditorium, the Queen and her court, with the audience, will adjourn to the carnival at the Lone Star Theatre, and open the doors on this gigantic event.

All the glories of a real carnival will be there. Confetti, serpents, barkers, ballyhoos, the fortune wheel, Bero and fun for young and old.

The funds to be derived from the events will be applied to the High School Annual.

The carnival will be open Saturday and Saturday night and everybody is expected to come and have a good time.

April Weather Rules Supreme Around Eastland

The capriciousness of April weather is being illustrated at Eastland, which, following the sunshine of Thursday, was visited by a heavy rain and electrical storm today.

After intermittent showers during the morning, shortly before noon a pall as dark as that which characterized the eclipse of the sun a year ago settled over the city and its environs. Automobile headlights had to be turned on during the period of darkness, which lasted for twenty minutes.

The heavy downpour of rain which accompanied the blackness continued after the dark clouds had lifted, with every indication that the rain would continue most of the afternoon.

The rain will be of great value, farmers and stockmen declare, as it will aid oats and wheat and will fill the tanks, besides placing a good season in the ground.

A heavy rain was reported from as far west as Putnam today.

Coolidge Bans Hand Shaking With Proletariat

By CHARLES P. STEWART (NEA Service Writer)
WASHINGTON.—White House attendants knew there was due to be a terrible howl, when President Coolidge announced he wasn't going to do any indiscriminate spring hand-shaking this year.

The week before and the week following Easter is the period of the capital's greatest popularity with tourists. A few important occasions, like inauguration bring bigger crowds to the city for a day or two, but the jam doesn't last so long.

The present season gave promise, some time ago, of being a record breaker.

Hotels all were completely "booked up" in advance. "Personally-conducted" agencies were snowed under with business. The railroads had their plans laid for handling at least 200,000 passengers, in and out of town, during the fortnight of maximum activity.

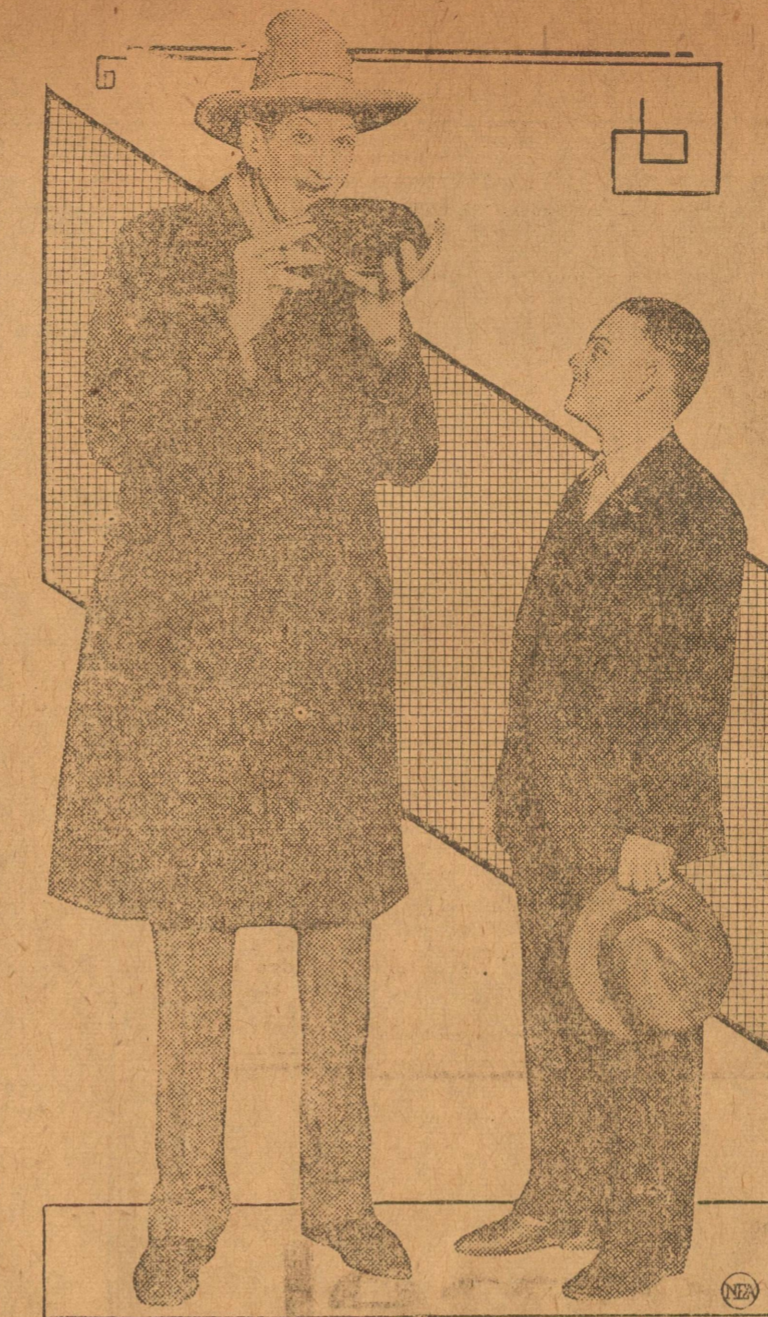

All this talk scared the president. He said—that is, the "presidential spokesman" did—that he could stand about as much as the next man, but that shaking hands with 16,666 2-3 visitors every working day for two weeks was too much for anybody.

He expressed a willingness to have callers file through his office during specified hours, and look at him, like a wild animal at the zoo, but he positively drew the line at shaking hands with anybody he isn't acquainted with personally.

Just as expected, the tourists are roaring vociferously.

Why an eynful of the president, without taking hold of him, isn't sufficient is a mystery nobody can solve, with the exception of the average tourist. It's a fact, however.

"Long Boy" Tries a Pie or Two

Jack East, one of the longest Texans who ever got out of his native state, is shown just after his arrival in Chicago whether he went to enter a circus. Earl who is eight feet six inches tall had to sleep on the floor of the diner on the way up, the berths were too short. He is shown eating a pie that Dining Car Steward Virgil Bachelor (right) gave him.

DRILLS DOWN 3424 FEET ON FAMOUS BUTLER LEASE

Butler No. 26 being drilled on the Butler lease, by the Tee and Pee Coal and Oil company is reported to be drilling around 3423 feet. This well is being watched with a great deal of interest by the oil fraternity, as it is near Ranger and will be, if it comes in a producer a revival of one of Ranger's most famous oil pools.

IOWA PARK FARMERS PURCHASE FINE HOGS

Wichita Falls, April 9.—Farmers of the Iowa Park section of Wichita County, this week received the first of several car loads of registered hogs. These hogs were sold to forty farmers of the section and the proposition was financed by the banks of that thriving city. The deal was accomplished through the work of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and the Iowa Park branch of the organization.

There's no incentive to work now. Income tax returns will be kept secret this year.

FOUR VESSELS IN DISTRESS ON PACIFIC

By United Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Four vessels, well known in the Pacific trade, were in distress today, while no word was heard from two long overdue. The freighter, the Atlantic City, reported her cargo ablaze near the Philippine Islands. United States destroyers were rushing to her assistance.

It was said that the crew of forty might have to abandon the ship. The other steamers in distress are the American Hawaiian steamer Montana, the Northern & Lilly freighter, the Amniston City and the Steamer Humbolt.

No word has been heard from the trans-marine Suduso, which is sixteen days overdue at Colon, Panama, en route to this port.

Harris Is Rapid Fire Salesman Of His Senators

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, April 9.—Bucky Harris in addition to being a shrewd and successful young manager is one of the fastest talking salesmen in baseball.

If on a round of the southern training camps it was not necessary to talk to Harris, an observer could be forgiven if he didn't rate the pennant chances of the champion Washington Senators too high.

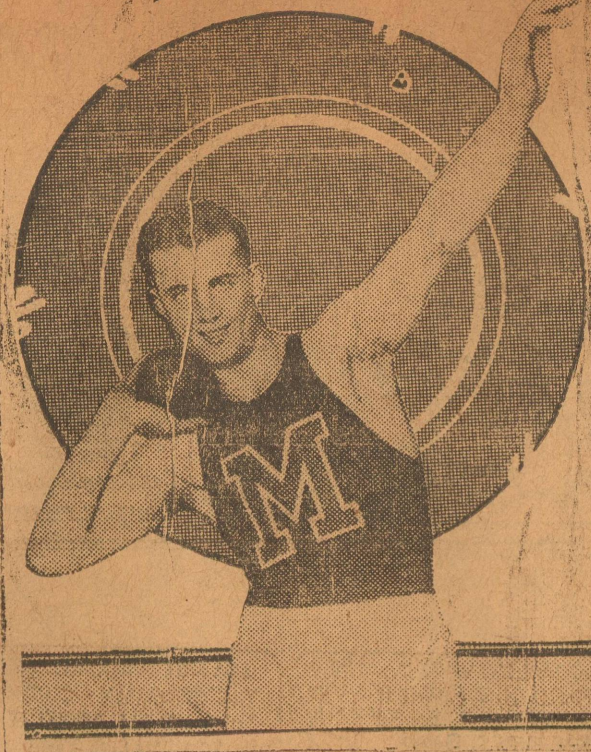

But after Harris gets through with his sales talk you leave him almost convinced that the Senators are a dead cinch and that they can't be beaten.

"We were better than any club in the American League in 1924 and 1925 and who is going to be any better this season? I tell you—no one is going to be any stronger than we are," Harris said.

"The Athletics are not stronger than they were last year but Kid Gleason may make them fight harder. The St. Louis Browns are no stronger and we certainly are better than we were last year.

"Johnny Tobin is going to be the surprise of the season in right field. Joe Harris will be a sensational batter with his eyesight restored in a bad eye and Joe Bush will win twenty games for us. I never saw Walter Johnson any better and Soveleskie

Stars for Marquette

MANY famous athletes have been developed at Marquette University. One of the best of recent seasons is La Vern Dilweg, two-sport star de luxe.

Dilweg plays football and handles the weights on the track squad. On the grid he plays end, gaining much fame at the position last fall. The well-known Walter Eckersall went so far as to place Dilweg on his All-America.

As a track athlete Dilweg is one of the best bats in the Milwaukee school holds. He's considered a certain point-winner in several events. The shot-put is his specialty, however.

the Athletics and the Browns in every series we play against them and they'll see nothing else but. These boys are not youngsters as a class but they're experienced ball players, all in harmony and they know that a ball game is just a collection of individual wins."

In everything but age, the Senators look as good as the Athletics or the Browns and in the winning spirit that breathes with every player on the club, the champions certainly look and act the part of the class of the circuit.

Harris is responsible for that. He has the most magnetic personality in baseball, he has a sound knowledge of the game and a most sensible theory that he uses in handling his men. He has the confidence and the respect of every player on the team and they do what he tells them.

Johnson's Case Goes To Higher Court, Six Years

The higher court will be called upon to pass on the case of C. A. Johnson of Rising Star, convicted of the murder of John Harris and given six years.

Judge Elzo Bean of the eighty-eighth district court yesterday afternoon overruled Johnson's motion for a new trial and an appeal will be taken. Judge Bean fixed Johnson's bond at $6,000.

has been cured of a lame back. Fred Marberry has lost the kink in his arm. Dutch Reuther is satisfied and Curley Ogden looks awful good. Peck's leg is alright and what else is needed?

"You've got to figure this too—in the majority of our games we will have a new man offense when Johnson, Reuther and Bush are pitching. They're the best hitting pitchers in baseball and very valuable for pinch hitters.

"We'll cop the pennant by beating the best teams in the league. I know what kind of pitching will beat

Honored

This is Walter T. K. Achu, Chinese student at the University of Dayton, who has been elected track team captain. He's believed to be the first athlete of such extraction to be so honored. Besides starring as a sprinter, Achu is also considerable of a football and baseball celebrity.

ON THE RANGE By the Fence Rider

In and around Ranger, Eastland, Olden, Gorman, Carbon, Cisco, Desdemona, Rising Star, Mangum, Nimrod, Staff, Pioneer, Dothan, Seranton, Sabanno, Okro, Hilbury, Jakehamon, Edhobby, Gunsight, Strawn, Frankell—all twenty of the towns in Eastland, Wonder County of Texas, and the Communities in between and just over the Border.

That even dozen counties in Texas which alone pay more taxes than Eastland county are apt to drop two or three this year if present crop prospects hold up, according to some of the best posted people in the county. Eastland may take about tenth place in the tax-paying list in her next assessment.

Me and the old bronc have been over nearly all of her 22 miles of brick paved pikes, about half of her 109 miles of asphalt and a considerable portion of her 88 miles of good gravel road, as well as doing the flying stunt over the many bumps yet remaining on her shamelessly undrugged country roads. And we have yet to find a farmer or a business man outside of a town or two who is raising any fuss over business conditions. "Keep your grouches to yourself. Stand up on your merits or fall down. Don't stir up any fuss about anything but get down and do your stuff better than the other fellow or acknowledge yourself licked and take your medicine." That is about the way the people over the county are saying things this year. They are not booming. They are not going wild over making millions. Neither are they going wild over politics, religion or anything else. They are apparently more than ever determined to support those politicians, business men and institutions which do not go around bellyaching and trying to raise a rucus, while they try to raise crops or raise the standards of living.

we edged a day or two ago, they are going in for fruit and they don't let one little April freeze scare them off, either. At least one farmer there, R. E. Barker (who raises natural gas at his absorption plant as well as farm crops on his broad acres), is going to water his crops from wells a little. His ample water supply at the plant justifies the experiment. I'm betting he makes good. Any way, he asks you to drift up to his plant, fill your tank with gasoline made right on his farm and, if he makes good with his truck patch, he will load you up with radishes, onions, melons, tomatoes and the like, too. Diversification, what?

Hospital Attaches Tell About Curious Emergency Cases

DALLAS, April 9.—The emergency hospital in the city hall here has many curious cases to handle but doctors are now telling the prize story. Ollie Talley, 29, sewing machine operator in an overall factory, called at the hospital and had three stitches taken in her scalp, where she had been stuck by a needle on her machine.

In explaining the accident she said that she sneezed so hard her head hit the machine, getting in the path of the needle.

JUDGE SHROPSHIRE GOES TO BIG LAKE

STAMPS QUARTETT TO RENDER PROGRAM

The Stamps Quartett of Jacksonville will give a concert at the Eastland High School next Monday. "A real program by a real quartett," at "painless prices" is the way in which the entertainers are billed.

Corporations May Issue Stock of No Par Value in Texas

Austin, April 9.—Under the revised civil statutes of 1915, corporations may issue stock of no par value, having no right to vote, and they also may issue stock having no par value divided into classes, which classes possess an unequal voting ratio, the attorney general's department ruled in an opinion written by Assistant Attorney General Paul D. Page Jr., and given to Mrs. Emma Grigsby Meharg, secretary of state.

Alice Is Helping Nick Get Lined Up For Presidency?

(NEA Service Writer)
WASHINGTON.—If Nicholas Longworth never attains the presidency, it won't be for lack of political good management on his wife's part. Not that Nicholas isn't a capable politician himself. He's a first-class specimen of the ordinary, well-known, standardized political pattern. But Mrs. Longworth unquestionably is a regular 24-carat political genius.

And, considering how early in the game this is, the speaker of the House of Representatives really is beginning to be quite a bit talked about for the 1928 nomination, as head of the Republican national ticket.

Nobody seriously doubts that Mrs. Longworth surreptitiously started this gossip.

It doesn't do to say so out loud, because no good Republican is supposed to mention any candidate other than President Coolidge to succeed himself, unless and until the president says he's out of it.

The fact that she has to appear not to be doing what she certainly is doing and that she succeeds, both ways, just goes to show how smooth Mrs. Longworth's work is.

Speaker Longworth will make an ornamental president if he ever does get into the White House.

He knows how to make the most of himself. He was good raw material to begin with and he's had every imaginable opportunity to develop—money, education, social position and intimate association with worth while people.

He's thoroughly equal to looking and playing the presidential part. The White House would be a great place, socially, with the Longworths in it. Swell style is one thing they're strong on.

No other cigarette like this was ever made

CAMELS brought the world an entirely new sense of smoking enjoyment. And the world gave Camels the largest patronage ever given a cigarette.

Everything Ready For The Opening Game In League

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Oil Belt League. The four rival camps all claim the pennant.

Eastland opens at home against Thurber, Sunday at the same time that Ranger and Breckenridge are playing at Breckenridge.

Thurber expects a new pitcher in camp before Sunday and it is rumored that Ranger is expecting another good hitter. None of the four managers has filed a list of the members of the teams with the league president at Eastland. This should be done by Sunday. There is no limit to the number of players a team may carry.

Lack of interest in track at Breckenridge with interest centering on baseball, caused the meet to be called off.

Wets in Congress Do Not Drink And Some Drys Do

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON, April 9.—Even as there are a number of national law-makers who "vote dry and drink wet," so are there quite a few who vote wet and drink nothing whatever—that is, no "hicker."

Senator Edwards, for instance, than whom there is no wetter, as to other people, totally abstains, so far as he, personally, is concerned.

Congressman John Phillip Hill, wet leader in the lower house, drinks his own home brew, to be sure, but maintains it's "non-intoxicating in fact."

Congresswoman Kahn, mentioned as Hill's successor at the wet bloc's head, if Hill goes to the Senate, doesn't know enough about the taste of "the stuff" to define what's intoxicating and what isn't.

Now comes Congressman Celler, right in the midst of a wet speech, with the news that he doesn't "touch anything," either.

Celler was discussing the NEA Service straw vote on prohibition. He dissented from the drys' expressed opinion that straw votes don't mean anything. "It was the straw that's going to break the camel's back," he insisted.

"Now let's have a dry speech," urged Congressman Dickinson, as Celler finished.

Up rose Congressman Collier. "You shall have one," he promised. "I am going to discuss the difference between the revenue act of 1924 and the present act of 1926. If you don't find it the driest talk you ever listened to you're hard to satisfy."

From Campus

Carey Selph (at top) and Walter Jacoway of Ouachita College will be given a trial by the St. Louis Cardinals this spring. Selph is a short-stop, while Jacoway pitches. Each is a four-letter man, playing football and basketball among other sports. Jacoway has never been beaten by a college team in his four years of service. Travis Jackson of the Giants and Aaron Ward, Yankees, are other chaps Ouachita has sent to the majors.

Excavation Reveal Ancient Russian Metropolitan Cities

MOSCOW, April 5.—Ruins of the ancient 12th-century city of Tscheslow—at one time Moscow's rival for the position of metropolis of Russia—have been found and the site which has long been a matter of historical uncertainty has been definitely placed on the banks of the Okar about 70 miles south of Moscow.

In the immediate neighborhood have also been found perhaps the most remarkable archeological remains in Russia—dug-outs containing articles evidently dating from the 4th and 5th centuries B. C. Among them are glass ornaments, armlets, iron arrows and combs.

No more RHEUMATISM

IT'S GONE! That awful agony! Rheumatism can't stand the rich, red blood that S. S. S. helps Nature build.

But rheumatism will bring pain and misery to your joints and muscles just as long as you are without plenty of rich, red blood in your system.

It's the red-blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build that drive out of your system the impurities that cause rheumatism. And until you do build up your blood to where it is pure and rich and red, you simply can't get rid of rheumatism.

And S. S. S. is the thing. Red blood conquers rheumatism. Everybody knows that.

S. S. S. means millions of red-blood-cells—means health all over. No more rheumatism. Nights of rest—days of joy, filled with the happiness of accomplishment—made possible by a body brimful of red blooded life, energy and vitality. That's what the end of rheumatism means—that's what S. S. S. brings to you. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

Excess and Carelessness Exhaust Women's Vitality

Nature's Simple Law of Supply and Demand on the Resources of the Human System is Overlooked by Many Girls and Women in the Rush Through Life.

Excessive indulgence in recreation, work or dissipation require an abundant supply of vitality to prevent exhaustion and ruin to your precious system, organs and body.

That is the reason so many women nowadays just haven't got strength and energy enough to do hardly anything which takes exertion, without being quickly tired out and having to give up.

Unless you are free from the malady which so many women are subject to, which drains the very life and vitality from every nerve, muscle and tissue, so your blood can carry nourishment to them as fast as your excesses take it away, you become weak, thin, nervous, irritable and depressed.

These fits of despondency, "out of humor," and that morbid feeling that something awful is about to happen, are the surest signs that you must stop and think.

The introduction heretofore a few weeks ago of the phenomenal medicine known as St. Joseph's G. F. P., is proving the correctness of the theory of its discoverer, that 90 per cent of so-called "female disorders" are due almost directly to exhaustion of the generative organs.

Thousands of women who had tried first one thing then another for years only to be disappointed in their attempts to revive their former strength and vitality, are giving the best evidence of this by their loud praises for the effectiveness of St. Joseph's G. F. P. in relieving them of their weakness, nervousness, headaches, irritable disposition, despondent and morbid, whinical feeling, loss of weight, hot flashes, pains in the back and sides, and that dreadful tired-all-the-time feeling.

Women Now Depend on St. Joseph's G. F. P. To Restore Their Vitality

Work On Bralley Memorial Begins In A Few Days

DENTON, April 7.—Laying of the foundation for the Bralley Memorial Library at the College of Industrial Arts, contract for which was let to the Henger & Chamber Company by the Board of Regents in a meeting last week, will be begun within a few days.

The contractors believe that work on the library building can be completed in five months. If the work is completed in that time the library will be ready for use at the beginning of the regular term in September. It will, at the most be ready for use by the beginning of the winter quarter in January.

Florida Overrun With Transients; Views Of Hobos

HOUSTON, April 9.—After having travelled in thirty-two States, and in Mexico and Canada via freight trains and highways, two unshaven transients while stopping here a few days ago for a "visit" declared that "hoboining is not the easy game it was a few years ago."

One of the men talked fluently and apparently was well educated. He claimed to be a graduate of a Dallas business college and the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Bryan.

"Highway tramping was overdone during the war and immediately after the war; the public's generosity has been exhausted," he said.

The pair gave perhaps the first interview on the hobo's view of the Florida boom.

"There were so many of we transients in Florida that there was to much competition for jobs," said the younger of the two men. "Everything was pretty there a year ago, but tramps always rush to booms, and they overcrowded a good thing. They're leaving the state now."

Head lettuce is an ideal cold frame crop. It will get a flying start and the best success is obtained by some gardeners who keep it growing to maturity in the frame as it is easier to maintain uniform conditions of moisture in the confined space.

Congressmen Like Publicity Especially Praise

By CHARLES P. STEWART, NEA Service Writer. WASHINGTON, April 7.—Congressmen vary. By congressmen, I mean senators and representatives, both.

Publicity is very valuable to a congressman. He likes it, if he's onto his job. Most of them are, at least to the extent of knowing that it pays a politician to figure, good and plenty, in print.

One type enjoys praise but resents adverse criticism. The other type welcomes anything it can get. It gets praise, good. If not, it extends the glad hand to vilification, ridicule, anything, as far better than nothing at all.

Senator Guy D. Goff of West Virginia fails in classification No. 1. Goff has brains. He makes a dandy speech, but he's sensitive and evidently a thoroughly serious-minded chap.

In contrast with this mental slant, physically he's a roly-poly guy, who makes you laugh when you look at him—not a disagreeable laugh, a good natured one.

Well, Goff made a speech one day, which I had occasion to refer to in one of these letters I write, and, so help me John Rogers, it was a complimentary reference, but I did remark that Goff looked like a kewpie, as he got his oratory off his chest.

Believe it or not, in less than a no time I'd had half a dozen representations made to me, by Guy D. Goff's friends, that that was a darned mean thing I'd said. Finally an emissary called formally to find out why I hated the senator so.

Migosh! I don't. Making due allowance for the fact that he's a regular of regulars," which some people consider quite all right and others consider absolutely all wrong, I think he's one of our leading senators, in character and ability. But he looks like a kewpie. I stand by that.

Americans Hope To Return Home With Tennis Cup

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, April 9.—With four of the very best players in the United States assured of places on the Wightman Cup team, America's chances to bring the classic cup back home from England are most promising.

The United States Lawn Tennis Association, recruited the strongest possible team for the invasion in naming Helen Wills, national champion, Elizabeth Ryan, Mary K. Browne and Mrs. Zinderstein Jessup.

It caused some surprise when Mrs. Molla Mallory, former champion and one of the most experienced internationalists, was not appointed as a member of the team but officials of the association explained that she had made other plans for the summer and had asked not to be considered as a candidate.

There were reports that Mrs. Mallory did not want to accept a place beneath that of Miss Ryan, who was named as the No. 2 player but Mrs. Mallory denied this.

"I made arrangements a long while ago to sail early in April for a visit to Norway and Sweden and for this reason I couldn't be sure that I would be able to play in Paris or in London," she said.

The team is to play a special team match in Paris against the French women and then leave for England to play in the Wightman Cup matches and the British national championships at Wimbledon.

The French and British teams have not been named but it is almost certain that Miles, Didi Vlasto and Henrietta Contostavlos will play on the French team. Mile Suzanne Lenzlen, if she has recovered from her indisposition, may also play against the Americans.

Miss Ryan will be an invaluable member of the American team as she knows every blade of grass on the turf at Wimbledon and she has been playing in France for years. She will be extremely valuable not only as a singles player but in the doubles and it has been the weakness of the American team in double that have caused the two recent defeats in the cup matches.

Miss Wills also will be better qualified than she was in 1924 when she was beaten twice at Wimbledon. She has been in Europe for several months and will be in England in plenty of time to get her game adjusted to unfamiliar conditions.

Miss Browne, mixing golf and tennis, didn't do so well at either game during the winter season but she has been taking it easy and intends to leave early and do her serious training on the other side.

Star Refutes Theory That Broadway Takes All, Gives Nothing

New York City.—From many Broadway takes everything, giving nothing. To Marie Saxon, it has given everything exacting no price.

Two years ago an ingenious, open-faced country girl, Miss Saxon timely began the rounds of the Great White Way casting agencies. She got her small part the first day and from that moment, fortune smiled. At the end of the year she was featured in "My Girl," and the next fall she was starred in "Merry Merry."

As if that were not enough, her second season on Broadway brought love and a rich husband, the son of a well-known publisher.

"The recipe for success?" repeats pretty Marie, "I do not know. I don't know how I got to be a star only I just worked as hard as I could, set my goal high and kept my body in good condition by simple modes of living."

"The girl who wants to have a high time with her success, is, I believe, asking too much. You have to sacrifice something and I was glad to give up late parties, and their attendant gaiety."

Although they clamor for Broadway's favorite in the provinces from which she came, Miss Saxon has not been able to leave Broadway. And the current prophecy is that her singing of "My Own" with "Merry Merry" will be heard for a long time along the Kialto.

the opening of the Melba theatre and will be on sleeper No. 1 as it comes through Ranger this afternoon.

Among the stars will be Lew Cody, Dorothy Phillips, Lloyd Hamilton, Dorothy McCall, Jack Mulhall, Clare Windsor, and others.

House-to-House Selling Is More Costly Plan

As the result of an actual investigation to determine whether a well-known manufacturer should change from the retailer to the canvasser method of distribution, the Harvard Business Review, published for the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard University, says:

"House-to-house selling is not a means of lowering distribution costs. The inherent difficulties in house-to-house selling make the task of securing, training and retaining salesmen a very perplexing problem, and the supervision of a large and scattered force of comparatively low-grade salesmen considerably increases expenses.

"Because salesmen for house-to-house canvassing are hard to secure, companies using this method of selling must offer relatively high rates of commission on all sales.

"When a manufacturer assumes the function of the retailer, his costs must also be assumed. Consequently the cost of selling directly to the retailer by a canvassing method does not result in lowering the expenses of distribution."

Merchandise comparable in quality to that offered by canvassers and equal or lower in price is invariably carried by retail stores.

Women, Why Suffer?

Fort Worth, Texas.—"A relative of mine received wonderful benefit by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Her health was very poor for a long time, she suffered almost constantly with aches and pains peculiar to women, and never found a remedy to help her until she learned of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. She started taking it, gained about fifteen pounds in weight and got well. I took two bottles not long ago and it helped me wonderfully."—Mrs. Laura Key, 120 E. 12th St. All dealers.

THESE WOMEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Two women are deeply in love with HARRY MORTON, who is wealthy, attractive, middle-aged and unmarried. One is AUDREY, his 19-year-old ward. The other is NONA, a Scranton girl.

Nona comes to his apartment to ask forgiveness for a jealous attack she has made on him, and the two girls meet. Audrey declares her love for Morton, and asks him to marry her. He evades the question, and hires JOHN PARRISH to be his secretary, instructing him to be a companion to Audrey. She detects his purpose. Trying another expedient, he orders Parrish to take $5000 to Nona, and instruct her to buy a single piece of jewelry with it. Parrish refuses to go.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
(The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XI
It was a real crisis in the relations

"A prig," Morton continued, "is a Pharisee—and a confounded nuisance to boot. As you get older, you'll find that you have enough to do to look after your own morals, without sitting in judgment on the morals of others."
"Just look what your idea is: Here's an employer who told you to take a check to a given address, and deliver a message. You don't know whether the woman you are to meet is a good woman or not. You know nothing about her. In your self-righteousness, you decide that the errand is a bad one. Therefore, you won't do it. Parrish!"
He spoke the name suddenly, and the young man started. "Sir?" he said.
"Have you dirty spots in your mind?" Morton's tone was coldly incisive, and his eyes seemed to be boring into the young man before him.

chauffeur, he told him to take their baggage to the house, and asked Parrish if he, too, wanted to walk. "I have your brief-case," Parrish said, "and there are some things I want to look at in it. I'd better ride."
His eyes were on Audrey while he spoke, as if waiting for her to ask him to come. She said nothing, however, and so he rode away in the enclosed car, as the man and girl trudged off in the down-pour. Neither wore a raincoat, and they had no umbrella.
"I suppose I'll be getting old, when I no longer like the drive of rain in my face," he said.
She hugged his arm with hers. "You'll never be old," she said. "There's something young in you that always is going to be there."
They were dripping wet when they got home, and retired to their own apartments for a hasty bath, and a

"Thank you, daddy," she said, "but I don't want it. I don't want to have you give me all that. You've given me everything gas it is, and I want you to have all the money."
He shook his head, as he patted her fondly on the cheek.
"But, my child, there are certain practical things in life. There may come a time when you dislike me utterly."
She tried to seal his mouth with her hand, but he held her wrist, and went on: "Whether that time comes or not—whether you like me, or don't like me—it is a good thing for you to have your own money, and to be able to do exactly what you want."
"There is an account in the bank in your name. It is enough to take you around the world, if you want to do that. There's a safe-deposit box, also in your name. It has in it railroad and government bonds, which you can turn into cash any time you want to. These bonds have coupons on them, and the interest on all those coupons belongs to you. They are yielding you a large income. You can turn the bonds into cash at any moment you desire. Here's the key to the box."
Rummaging in the desk again, he produced a key, and gave it to her. She took it, and looked at it speculatively.
"I have no duplicate of the key," Morton went on. "That's your safe-deposit box, and everything in it is yours. Do exactly as you please with it, always."
She dimpled. "Can I buy new imported automobiles for you with the money?"
He laughed. "You CAN, but I wouldn't advise it. I like to select my own cars. For a girl to buy a man an automobile is a good deal like buying his ties—there's apt to be a clash in judgment."
The girl sat on the desk, before him, and stroked his hair. "Why did you do this for me?"
"Because I love you, and I want you always to be free to do whatever will make you happy," he said.
"Nothing makes me happy except to be with you," she said softly.
She held out her arms to him, but smiling, he turned in his chair, and arose.
"The office isn't a good place to make love," he laughed. "Do you mind waiting here while I go into the cashier's office a little while?"
He provided her with a book, and left her alone. Her eyes wandered curiously over the office. It had been two or three years since she had entered it before. The table on which she was sitting was of walnut, polished to a satin finish. So was Morton's desk, and so were the chairs that sat about the walls.
"Expensive," she said to herself. A large painting filled the space between the two windows. In the semi-gloom it was startling life-like—the work of an able artist. As Audrey was looking at this, a clerk entered, and laid an open telegram on Morton's desk.
As he went out, Audrey leaned forward with feminine curiosity, and read the message.
"Will come to you tomorrow, dear," she read. The signature was: "Nona."

His eyes were on Audrey while he spoke, as if waiting for her to ask him to come.

of Morton and his newly engaged secretary.
Boylike, Parrish expressed his own determination by clenched fists, and flushed, tense face. Morton the man of the world, sure of himself and of his moral mastery of the situation, sat looking at Parrish as he might have looked upon an interesting child.
He waved his hand toward a chair. "Sit down," he ordered.
Parrish slowly obeyed.
"Now," Morton continued, "will you tell me exactly why you won't do as I tell you?"
The young man shifted in his seat. Finally, his eyes fixed upon the floor, his feet twisted together, and his hands in nervous motion upon the arms of the chair, he answered.
"I've heard about your reputation," he blurted.
Morton smiled. "Just what have you heard?" he inquired.
Parrish considered. "Well, I know that you have lots of women on the string, and that you run around with them to places where you oughtn't to go, and—and—well, everybody says that you're a roue."
"And," said Morton, gently, "just what has that to do with your refusing to go on my errand?"
Parrish looked up, evidently surprised. "Why," he said, starting at Morton, "you are sending me on an immoral errand. You're sending me with money to buy jewels for a woman."

Parrish was confused. "No, sir, I don't think so," he said. "I'm quite sure not."
Morton pointed his forefinger at him. "Young man, people who are accustomed to think evil of others, usually have a good deal of concealed evil in their own minds."
Arising, he walked to the window, and stood there a few moments, his hands thrust deep in his trousers' pockets. After a silence, he turned and resumed:
"Are you going to do my errand?"
Parrish slowly got up, reached for the check and for the penciled memorandum that his employer had written a few minutes before, and silently left the room.
Morton watched him go, and then, with a short laugh, resumed his seat and began dictating letters.
When Morton, with Audrey and Parrish arrived the next morning, it was raining. The clouds seemed to hang at the level of the house-tops, and the air was chill.
"Daddy, let's walk in the rain," Audrey proposed.
Morton nodded. Turning to the change of clothes.

When they reappeared, the rain had ceased, and the sun had begun to shine.
"Want to come down to the office with me?" he asked.
It was a rare request from him. For most of her life, Morton's office had been a strange to Audrey as if it bore no relation to her own existence or to that of her guardian. Pleased, she assented, and together they set off.
As they passed a telegraph office, Morton asked the girl to wait a moment. He left her standing on the step, as he went inside, and hastily wrote a telegram.
"It was to Nona."
"Can you come to Crofton tomorrow, to stay about two weeks?" he read.
Telling the clerk to charge the message to his account, he rejoined Audrey, and together they went on down the street.
"Here's why I wanted you to come to my office," he said, as the girl settled herself in a chair beside his desk.
He took some papers from a drawer, and passed them to her. She lifted the folded documents, shuffled them in her hands, and looked at him inquiringly.
"You haven't known it," he said. "But since your eighteenth birthday you have really been independent of me."
"But I don't want to be independent of you," she said promptly.
He laughed. "But this is a practical matter—a financial affair. Those papers that you have in your hand mean this, briefly—you are a rich woman. I have turned over to you, in cash, and bonds, one-half of everything that I own—or used to own."
He looked at her inquiringly. She smiled, laid down the papers, came around the edge of the desk, and kissed him warmly.

Lady Says She Took Cardui and Never Saw Such Improvement—Was So Weak Couldn't Stand.
Weathersby, Miss.—Mrs. James M. Hall, of this place, writes that she was "getting weaker all the time" when Cardui, the woman's tonic, was first brought to her attention. After she had taken Cardui a while, she writes that she "never did see such an improvement."
"I suffered all the time and had pains all over," says Mrs. Hall. "I was so weak I could not stand. My skin was cold and flabby. I did not have any color. I had always been a very active woman—used to outdoor exercise, walking and going where I pleased, and to get down, not able to get myself a drink, was indeed a hardship."
"Nothing seemed to help me, till I began on Cardui. The first bottle seemed to strengthen me, and I sent for five more. By the time I had taken these, I was on my feet, going around, doing my work, gained in health and strength."
"I took two more bottles, and I am well and strong. Can work my garden. I haven't had any more sickness."

A SPECIAL TRADE-IN SALE

Values Beyond Compare in the Tire Industry

Now is the time to buy your General tires for the year. Take advantage of our Trade-in Sale.

You can get going on Generals right now without sacrificing a single mile of the wear left in your old tires.

Our Trade-in Sale gives you an advantage over today's tire prices. In this sale we offset the cost by making special allowances on your old tires.

We are going to take into consideration the fact that when the high cost of rubber caused tire prices to rise, it also increased the value of the tires already on your car.

You can cash in that increased value by trading in those old tires now.

And plus that, they have a special trade-in value with us if they are tires you put into use before last September.

Reproductions from Saturday Evening Post, Collier's and Literary Digest, showing General's stand against the growing practice of substituting reclaimed rubber for new rubber in tires.

*You can't save rubber
by using less of it*

BY W. O'NEIL, PRESIDENT OF THE GENERAL
TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY, AKRON, OHIO

In the news of the day practically every statement regarding rubber conservation supports the idea that rubber can be saved by using a few pounds less of it in a tire. This means substituting cheaper compounds, a growing practice that is not only short sighted but extravagantly wasteful. It is as fundamentally wrong as the subterfuge of putting sand in sugar, or water in milk.

Putting shoddy or reclaimed rubber in tires does not save rubber. It reduces the cost of the tire several dollars but at the same time, by diluting the quality of the entire rubber structure, it takes out two-thirds of the wear.

This goes deeper than the tread rubber. It affects the quality throughout in the important rubber cushions that insulate and protect the costly fabric carcass. In addition the blowing out of inner tubes must be considered. This means more trouble on the road and the buying of more tubes.

Such saving of a few pounds of rubber in making a tire gives the consumer a negligible cut in his initial tire cost but a greatly increasing running cost. Using three sets of tires and tubes to go the distance one set of the best quality will travel, certainly does not save rubber.

The way to conserve rubber is to use it in whatever generous quantities are required to manufacture a tire that lowers the owner's cost per mile by giving the longest possible wear.

A policy of building more miles into a tire does more for rubber conservation than any efforts to save rubber by using less of it.

It's the second 10,000 miles that makes the big hit.

No matter how much or how little your present tires have been used, it will pay you to attend this Trade-in Sale.

As exclusive distributors of the General Tire, we are in the proud position of having a product that has not been tampered with.

There is no reclaimed rubber used in the General Tire, carcass or tread. This rigid maintenance of the same standard of quality as always has cost General a tremendous figure.

But the commendation coming from the press and the public, from bankers and business men everywhere, proves that General makes no mistake in keeping faith with public ideals, in sticking to the highest principles of manufacture.

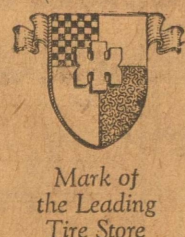

It is such sound policies as this that in just ten years have brought this tire into foremost rank in nation-wide car-owner and commercial-user preference.

And now, with the quality of the General Tire more outstanding than ever before, we want more and more new customers to get acquainted with Generals—to get started on the tire that will hold their trade for life by sheer merit of unmatched quality and by delivering the longest mileage ever heard of in a tire.

We want every car owner in our city and vicinity to know about the General Tire. It stands so completely in a class by itself and is so sure to hold for years every customer starting with us now, that we are going to make it worth every man's while to come in during this Trade-in Sale.

EXTRA ADVANTAGES
only Generals will give you

Mileage Incomparable

So many instances of the second 10,000 miles, and even the third, or more, that you hear our customers talking about it wherever you go.

Riding Comfort Unequaled

Because of General's low-pressure leadership in all sizes, both regulars and balloons, you really know the meaning of low-pressure comfort after you have taken your first ride on Generals.

Car Economy

The saving to the life of the motor and the car itself is due not only to General's low-pressure protection of body and mechanical parts, but also the minimum rolling-resistance in the tires, which makes every ounce of the motor's power count for the most and gets it over the hills with the least effort. It adds months and even years to the life of the motor itself.

Gasoline Saving

Due to the same feature of less rolling-resistance, you save gasoline when you ride on Generals. Sometimes the saving is as high as 20 per cent.

Trade in Your Tires for General 6-ply Balloons

Owners of the heavier cars now realize the tremendous advantages of the General 6-ply balloon—hundreds are changing to this improved balloon tire.

To run on General 6-ply balloons is to know real tire comfort and satisfaction—more mileage—no more punctures than regular-size tires—the greatest riding comfort you ever experienced.

Bargains

in new-equipment tires that were traded in on Generals. Various sizes in several well known makes; they offer exceptionally good buys as long as they last.

Tire Industry Development Is Wonder Of Age

The development, within a comparatively short period of years, of the modern automobile, with its present stamina and durability, has been one of the outstanding developments of this marvelous age in which we are living, says C. P. Simmons, local distributor of the General Tire and Rubber Company.

Each part which goes to make up the completed motor car has a story in itself, but I think we will all agree, especially while driving over an unusually rough and rocky road, that the present rubber tire is the crowning achievement of the automotive industry.

Being identified with the tire industry, and having closely watched the constant improvement that has taken place, I get the tire man's angle as well as a knowledge of the tire user's experience, and I can not help occasionally looking back over the other span of years and

STREET SCENE IN STRAWN

STRAWN IS TOWN FOUNDED ON FUEL INDUSTRY,
WOOD, COAL, OIL AND GAS; CEDAR POSTS PLAY
BIG PART IN PRODUCTION OF WEALTH IN CITY

The city of Strawn was founded in fuel and built up on things to burn. The town of Strawn, like all other West Texas towns, grew out of the cattle industry, but not the city. Fuel gave Strawn its first great impetus. Fuel gave it its unique oil boom. Fuel promises to give it its stable future.

Four kinds of fuel built Strawn. Wood, coal, oil and gas. By no means a small factor in its growth has been wood—for fuel, posts, poles and cedar timbers.

The cedars that clothes the Strawn mountains in perennial green, do far more than adorn a picturesque landscape. In species they are said to be identical with the cedars of Lebanon, some of the timbers of which used in Old Testament days, are said to be still intact. Thousands of cars of these timbers have been shipped from Strawn. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been added to Strawn's wealth by the sale of cedar wood, posts and poles.

Coal was the first love of the city.

And Strawn hasn't forgotten her first love. There is a real jealousy down there of the oil business which came to take the place of coal for fuel. True, Strawn had her oil boom—and few of the "next morning after" effects of it were left. True, they will tell you, they have grown from a scant 1,500 to a full 3,000 in population since oil struck them—or they struck oil. True, there are now few if any vacant houses in the better portion of the city and business is good. True too, Strawn's own mines are now operating at about full blast, employing more than 200 men. But the coal supply in the Strawn-Thurber-Gordon section lies in a vein ranging from 30 to 36 inches in thickness and lying from 175 to 450 feet beneath the surface. It is of a good bituminous quality. Mines have been operated there since 1893, the first being opened at Gordon. The Strawn Coal company managed by J. R. Darnell now operates the active mines one and one-quarter miles from Strawn.

Strawn struck oil in 1913. Oil is now its leading industry. The discovery well is only one and one-half miles west of the city limits. The largest producer came in at 1,500 barrels. Oil is found there at varying depths, some of the best wells being only 700 feet deep, some being as deep at 1,700 feet. Oil men are giving Strawn a very good play at this time. Fort Worth interests have contracted to drill on the R. B. Thomas ranch in the near future.

The Strawn Coal company will begin a well soon, it is said. The Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company and the Strawn Oil corporation are both conducting active operations in the territory. There is a general feeling among oil men that Strawn's oil career is not finished but only begun.

Harvard Teacher Calls Criticism Of Jazz Premature

By United Press.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 6.—Jazz music should not be criticized until time has tested its enduring power, in the opinion of Prof. Burlingame Hill, member of the music department of Harvard university and one of America's foremost composers.

Snap-fire judgments being passed daily on modern music were described as "premature" by Professor Hill, who said jazz might eventually find a lasting place in the world of music.

"The world-wide influence of Jazz and the keen appreciation of its qualities by European composers of note," said Professor Hill, "have stimulated discussion as to the possible utilization of jazz style by serious American composers."

"Dance forms have always played an important role in the history of instrumental music. The eighteenth century suite consisted of contemporary dances. The minuet and waltz have entered the sanctuary of the symphony, and in chamber music the polka has figured."

"Symphonic or chamber music works may gain in piquancy from the inclusion of jazz style. Such works do not please the lover of jazz because they seem artificial. The composer of jazz is balked in his ambition to write 'high-brow' works because of technical inexperience in the larger forms."

"Since both the symphonic and the jazz composer are limited by their relative ignorance of the other's field, it is questionable whether hybrid works of distinction can be produced by either for some time to come."

Time to salt the asparagus bed.

Waste In Making Movie Films Is Unusually Heavy

By LINCOLN QUARBERG (United Press Staff Correspondent)
 HOLLYWOOD, April 8.—Movie-making is characterized by tremendous waste. Millions of feet of film are ground through the cameras and discarded every week in the film plants.

Much of the waste is unavoidable. But the problem of cutting this superfluous filming to the minimum is paramount with producers.

The average picture, as it is run in the movie houses throughout the world, runs 7,000 feet in length, slightly more than a mile of celluloid.

But before the finished picture is released, an average of 30,000 feet of film is run through the clanking cameras. Each foot of film records action before the cameras, meaning that the producers are paying the overhead, including salaries of players, technicians and directors, on 40 times more production than goes to market.

There is not one film in a score that does not undergo the cutting process. Film cutting is an art usually closely guarded from the public, because the waste is obvious, and producers realize the industry is far removed from its potential basis of efficiency and standardization.

Duplications

Fifty per cent of the duplication in filming a picture is not counted as waste. Two cameras are maintained on every set, and take exactly the same scenes. Each camera grinds out about 150,000 feet of film during a production.

Hence there are two duplicate negatives. One is used for all domestic prints. The other, an exact duplicate of the first, goes abroad. Many European countries have a tax on each print of a picture that is imported, but have only a blanket tax on negatives, which amounts to much less than the total cost of the tax on each print. It is cheaper, therefore, to put a second cameraman on a picture and take a second negative, than to pay the tax on the prints.

Two To Six Times

Most scenes are filmed from two to half a dozen times. This is a practice generally followed in the studios. Experienced directors, as a rule, take fewer "shots" of a scene than the younger megaphone-wielders. Only a skilful director knows without viewing the proofs of the day's filming whether a scene has registered properly or not.

After all the scenes of a production have been taken the film cutter is handed approximately 300,000 feet of film. His task is to cut fifty miles of film to 7,000 feet.

Entire Scenes

Entire scenes, which may represent hours of time and labor by an entire expensive cast, are eliminated. Hundreds of long, drawn-out sequences are shortened. Many an aspiring player may have labored for days before the cameras, before a bawling director, only to find when the completed film is shown that he has been left out of the picture entirely.

Most pictures benefit by a thorough "cutting." Film-cutting is a highly specialized art. The film-cutter is to the studios what the copy-reader, who blue-pencils the reporter's copy, is to the newspaper.

Don't forget that the earlier you get Lima beans started the more Limas you can harvest. Four beans to a five-inch pot planted edge down will start you on the way to an early Lima crop.

SARDINE STAFF IS NAMED AT UNIVERSITY

Special Correspondence.
 AUSTIN, April 6.—Staff for the "Sardine," annual publication of the Scottish Rite Dormitory of the University of Texas, has been chosen and work on it will commence immediately, according to Mrs. J. Ed. Kauffman, director of the dormitory. The book will be nine by six inches in size and will have 100 pages. It is planned to make the year book as thoroughly representative of the entire dormitory as possible and an endeavor will be made to portray all the different phases of dormitory life, according to the editors. Miss Etta Martin of Houston has been chosen editor-in-chief. The other staff members who have been appointed by her are: Misses Bonnie Tom Robinson of Houston, assistant editor; Kathryn Maddery of Bonham, literary editor; Dorothy Harris of Amarillo and Elizabeth Robinson of Palestine, art editors; Jewell Ceburn of Dallas, calendar editor; Minnie Peterson of San Antonio, photograph editor; Katherine Ramsey of San Antonio, humor editor; Sarah

"Tabby" Daniels of Dallas, office dog; Mary Sue Collins of Austin, business manager; Miss Pauline Mogford of Streeter, circulation manager.
