WETS TO FIGHT COOLIDGE ADMINISTRATION

VALIDATING COMMITTEE TO MAKE ANOTHER APPEAL TO "MA"

REVISED DRAFT OF LAW WILL BE SENT GOVERNOR

J. A. Kemp Of Wichita Falls Will Seek Quick Action On the Petition

By United Press.
WICHITA FALLS, June 4.—Revision of the draft of the petition urging Governor Miriam A. Ferguson to take some immediate action toward calling the special road bond validating session of the legislature was held up here today pending a communication with one member of the commission.

J. A. Kemp, chairman of the special committee which met in Dallas Thursday declared the draft would be sent to the governor as soon as the opinion of all the committee members could be incorporated.

Kemp said it was probably that the petition would not be completed before Saturday, but the matter would be laid before the governor at the earliest moment.

The committee decided to appeal to the governor for "immediate action" in answer to the administration's statement earlier in the week that a "session at this time was deemed inadvisable." The governor indicated that the matter should be laid aside until the run off of the primary, but gave nothing definite as regarding the administration's decision at a date for the session.

NOT GUILTY IS VERDICT FOR DEVALIN

NORFOLK, Va., June 4.—Captain Devalin, commandant of the Norfolk hospital, was found not guilty of drunken charges against him, by a court-martial, here today. The court found him not guilty of unauthorized use of government privileges, and of unlawful withdrawal of government liquor.

NORFOLK, Va., June 4.—The reopening of the court-martial of Capt. Charles M. Devalin, United States navy, was suddenly opened this afternoon after the court had already adjourned late yesterday without announcing a verdict.

The adjournment had been taken as indicative of a conviction on one or more counts in the indictment, charging Captain Devalin, commandant of the national naval hospital with drunkenness, misuse of government whisky and a violation of a government trust.

Today's call for Devalin was taken to mean that the court had acquitted him on one or more counts and therefore, according to custom, must announce the fact to him.

Special Delivery Letter Leads The Police To Tragedy

LANDSDALE, Pa., June 4.—Reception of a special delivery letter warning that something tragic had transpired, led the police to the home of Robert Norton Hill here today, and revealed his attempt to wipe out his entire family.

He was found dead in his basement with a bullet wound in his head, his wrists were cut and an automatic pistol lay by his body. A 20-year-old son, Paul, was found dead in bed. His head had been battered up with a hammer and a bullet fired into his brain.

Mrs. Lillian Hill was found unconscious in her bedroom, her head battered up. She was taken to the hospital where it is feared she will die.

Alleged Eastland Burglar Found Guilty Yesterday

Frank Croftwell, jail breaker and alleged burglar was sentenced to serve two years in the state reformatory by a jury in eighty-eighth district court Thursday night.

Counsel for the state made a fierce attack on Croftwell whom he denounced as a bad hombre while the many attempts of Croftwell to escape from custody, was, he said, not the action of innocent youth.

Foremost Americans and Crown Prince

Ranger and El Paso Lions Plan Baseball Game in Juarez City

"If they will play the game in Juarez, we will accept their challenge," said Baseball Team Manager E. A. Ringold, of the mighty Lions, today, when asked if it was true that Ranger Lions had received a challenge from the El Paso Lions to play them at El Paso in the near future.

Ringold said that he felt sure that the El Paso team was anxious to meet Ranger, hence the challenge.

Like knights of old, the Ranger Lions are ready to accept the challenge, provided they can play where they want to play in the vicinity of the border city.

HELEN WILLS IS STRICKEN, HOSPITAL

PARIS, June 4.—Miss Helen Wills, the American tennis champion was taken suddenly to a hospital here today, to undergo an operation.

Earlier in the day, the California girl had been forced to postpone her scheduled tennis match on account of illness. The physician later declared that her condition was such that an immediate operation was necessary.

She is believed to be suffering from appendicitis.

The illness of Helen Wills, American woman tennis champion and the brilliant play of Suzanne Lenglen, the French ace, were today the chief developments in the French international hard court's championship.

Madame Lenglen was at her best when she defeated Mrs. Sheppard Baron, of England, 6-0, 6-0.

The spectators were eager to compare Miss Wills' playing with the French ace's.

Senate To Probe Expenditures Of Campaign Money

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The senate primary campaign expenditure committee, decided today to begin a probe of the Pennsylvania primary next Wednesday.

Executive chairman, and treasurer, representing each of the three candidates in the senatorial race, will be called before the committee in Washington to tell how much money was expended and for what purposes.

Reports have been given credence on the floor of the senate that perhaps millions had been expended by the candidates.

TEN MILES OF SHALLOW OIL TERRITORY IN THE COUNTY TO BE DRILLED

Ten miles of shallow oil is the computation of what remains to be drilled within that territory in and around Eastland and Ranger, according to prominent oil men in the district.

This vast field, it was stated, was passed up during the boom days for the deep stuff, that lay well down in the earth, and it is with the view to tapping this big oil supply at small cost to the driller, that makes drilling worth while, and the cause of the flurry in this district.

It was stated last night that a big well is expected on the Tucker farm in the Cheney district. Ed Parsons

REGENTS GET AUDIT OF OIL BOOKS

AUSTIN, June 4.—At the meeting of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas, to be held June 7, the report of Ernest & Ernest of Houston, the firm of accountants which was appointed to make a special audit of the books of the Big Lake Oil Company and the Texas Oil and Land Company, will be submitted. These two companies are operating on land in Reagan county owned by the University, and from which that institution has already derived in the form of royalty on oil production an amount in excess of $3,300,000. The nature of the report of Ernest & Ernest will not be made public until it is submitted to the Board of Regents, it is said.

Paymaster Pays Life But Saves Employes Wages

NEWARK, N. J., June 4.—Four men who attempted to hold up a payroll car of the Public Service Railway today, shot and killed Theodore Conway, paymaster of the company. The robbery was frustrated. Several thousands of dollars were in the car.

FIND BODY FLOATING DOWN THE COLORADO

AUSTIN, June 4.—The body of John D. Rudd was found floating in the Colorado river early today. A note found in the pocket of the dead man read, "My home is where I am working." No marks of violence were found on the body. Rudd has a brother, Edward Rudd.

Well on Hodges Heirs Tract Now Holds Limelight

Drilling at 3,240 feet, with the six-inch casing set last night, the well that is being drilled by the Texas-Pacific Coal and Oil Company on the Hodges heirs tract, within sight of Ranger, is due to be or not to be, in about 200 feet more of depth.

The eyes of Ranger are on this well. If it comes in a producer as did its neighbor, the original McCleskey well, Ranger is due for a spectacular comeback — and while Ranger watches and waits, the drill bites into the sand and has had a short way to go until what it finds or does not find will end the suspense of watchful watchers.

Although the Tucker well cannot be considered a wildcat it is over a mile from the nearest production and according to information from scouts who know should come in big. It will be drilled in this week. This extension of the Chaney field makes for the enlarging by many miles of the old pool.

Broom Brigade Gets Busy To Keep Water Out of House

A broom brigade of Ranger merchants patrolled the street of Ranger during the terrific downpour that fell around 1 o'clock this afternoon in an effort to keep the rushing water out of the stores. Main street looked like a muddy river, with the water rushing down from Mirrow Lake, and it was only by hard work on the part of employers and employes that an overflow into the establishments along its route was averted.

At the E. H. & A. Davis store, water and debris went almost into the front door, and it was real fighting to keep it from running all the way back.

The Cholson Hotel escaped its usual high-water bath, all hands armed with brooms fighting the incoming tide. The rainfall has not been gauged but it fell in torrents and all streams and low places hereabout are filled to the limit.

No serious damage has been reported so far.

Japan to Establish Colony in Borneo To Cultivate Palms

TOKYO.—To encourage emigration from overcrowded Japan the foreign office emigration bureau has announced it will send six families to Borneo to engage in palm growing on a plot of land which has been for the purpose.

All initial expenses of the colony will be borne by the government as part of the tests to determine whether or not Japanese can emigrate profitably to the Dutch Indies and South Sea islands generally. The foreign office probably will send similar new test colonies to Brazil, in addition to the regular immigration to the country, which is limited to 4,000 Japanese a year.

Movie Actress Will Testify In Perjury Case

NEW YORK, June 4.—Haggard after nursing her mother who was taken seriously ill in the voyage across the Atlantic, Lillian Gish, movie actress, arrived today on the Mauratania.

An ambulance met them at the dock and Mrs. Gish was removed to her hotel.

Questioned about the perjury trial of Charles Duxell, her former employer, now going on in federal court, Miss Gish expressed no interest. "I will have to testify if I am summoned, but I cannot leave mother now."

9 Autos Stalled On Highway Near Ranger Station

About nine cars were taking the air, or rather the water, in the draw on the highway, between the Blackwell crossing and Texas & Pacific station, for an hour or more after the rain. Men with pants rolled up to their knees were wading in the current trying to tow them out. The big West Texas coaches were about the only thing big enough to stem the tide. Water was over the road for at least 150 feet.

Two Derricks Meet Similar Fate When Production Is Struck

The derrick of the Trammell No. 1 well of the Prairie Oil and Gas Company in the Cross Cut field met a fate similar to the Hancock well. Both derricks burned when production was struck, and both wells were fishing jobs at the time of the fires.

Both wells looked like good producers when the accidents occurred. The derrick over the Hancock well has been rebuilt and work of fishing out the tools and cleaning out the cave-in is well under way. However, owners are unable yet to say just how big a producer the Hancock well will be. The same conditions prevail with the Trammell No. 1.

PRESIDENT'S ORDER OF HARMLESS IMPORT RULES THE COMMITTEE

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO BLOW UP THE U. S. LEGATION

WASHINGTON, June 4.—An attempt to blow up the chancery of the American legation at Montevideo, Uruguay, today, was reported to the state department by American Minister Grant-Smith.

The bomb exploded at 8 o'clock this morning in the vestibule of the building in which the chancery is situated. No one was injured.

Will details later, Grant-Smith reported.

It is believed here that the bomb attack is connected with the protest of the radical organs throughout Latin-America against the recent decision of the Massachusetts supreme court denying a new trial to Nicola Sacco and Bartholomew Vanzetti, convicted of murder. Radicals all over the world charge that the conviction was a frame-up and due to the men's political belief.

RIVERS BILL NOW GOES TO THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The $36,000,000 rivers and harbors bill was passed today by the house. A filibuster against the measure by a group of middle-western members was broken last night after a 13 hours session.

Before a final vote was reached the house overwhelmingly defeated an attempt by Representative Sosnowski, republican of Michigan, to eliminate a provision for an additional survey of an all-American canal route adjacent to New York state.

PETE ALLMON THEFT TRIAL IS NOW UNDER WAY

The trial was opened in eighty-eight district court Friday, of Pete Allmon of Ranger, who pleaded not guilty to stealing on May 5, last, a copper still, the property of S. P. Boon and W. B. Carrol, dry cleaners of Ranger.

W. J. Barnes, county attorney of Eastland county, appeared for the state, while accused was represented by Frank Judkins of Eastland.

The jury were as follows: J. G. Cross, W. F. Barton, Jack Blackwell, J. R. Crossley, J. B. Cates, Weaver Hocue, E. Day, N. W. Murchison, J. M. Ham, J. R. Amis, J. F. Earnest and J. P. Connell.

S. P. Boon, in his evidence, stated that he was driving past his place of business on May, to see if anything else was missing, as they had lost a great deal of stuff, and on examining the place found a hole broken through the wall and the still removed. He was careful to explain that the still was used for the refining of gasoline and not liquor, the gasoline being used to clean clothes. The still had not been used for some time and was worth about $200. It had been torn from its fixtures, he said, and passed through a hole dug in the wall to get it outside. Witness also stated that a few days afterwards he saw Allmon with another man and questioned him about the still, as H. Stein, junk dealer of Ranger, had told him that a man named Speers had sold the stuff. Allmon refused to talk to him, the matter over with the police and ran away, he said.

H. Stein, junk dealer, stated he was not positive who was in the car with Speers when the copper which had been beaten into junk was brought to his place. Speers did the selling and Allmon had nothing to do with it as far as he knew.

On the stand accused denied knowledge of the theft, and stated that on the day the copper was sold he met Speers who was driving a car, and who told him that some conner in the back of the car had been found in a field at Thurber.

Police officers from Ranger called as character evidence gave accused a bad reputation while it was also mentioned that accused was out on suspended sentence after a previous offense.

The case went to the jury late in the afternoon.

Montana Democratic Senator Draws Up A Report Of His Body

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, June 4.—The wets in congress have decided to abandon their policy of co-operating with the administration to adopt enforcement legislation and from now on they will fight it.

Since the enactment of the eighteenth amendment the wets have staged no serious protests against expenditures of money or the advancement of legislation to enforce the law. Their policy has been to give enforcement all the possible leeway.

Senator Walter E. Edge of New Jersey, republican leader of the senate "wet" bloc, and Bruce, democrat of Maryland, his right hand man, announced today that in view of President Coolidge's executive order, and the drastic provisions of the proposed Goss enforcement bill, the wets have decided that the time has come for resistance.

This means that the Goss bill which was written at the request of Prohibition Chief Lincoln C. Andrews to help him enforce the law this year will probably not pass the senate before adjournment.

MORE OBJECTIONS ARE DISCOVERED

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, June 4.—A report holding that President Coolidge's executive prohibition order was of "harmless import and no more than an expression of policy" was submitted today to the senate judiciary subcommittee studying the question.

It was drawn up by Senator Thomas Walsh, democrat, Montana, a member of the committee, and was discussed one-half hour in a session behind closed doors.

The committee found some minor objections to it and finally decided to put it over until tomorrow.

GUN BATTLES IN RUM GAME KILLED 140

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Gun battles between federal dry agents, bootleggers, moonshiners and rum runners, have resulted in 140 casualties, since prohibition became effective, the United Press learned today from official figures.

Because of the great fatality list, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lincoln C. Andrews has ordered men to use their revolvers and rifles only in emergency and not to shoot except in self-defense. Forty-nine prohibition agents have been killed in line of duty, while ninety-two persons evading or resisting arrest have been killed this year.

Kentucky, West Virginia, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, North Carolina, and South Carolina, where moonshiners operate in the rural districts, is the most dangerous territory of the country for government officers.

Texas Officers Cannot Act As Federal Agents

AUSTIN, June 4.—State, county, and municipal officers in Texas, are prohibited by the Texas constitution from acting as federal officers and for that reason they cannot legally act as prohibition agents for the government, under the recent order issued by President Coolidge.

An opinion to that effect was given today by the Texas attorney general's department and sent to Major H. H. White, federal prohibition administrator for the southwest district with headquarters at Fort Worth.

Sweden Plans To Harness Its Large Waterfalls

STOCKHOLM, Sweden.—Sweden's waterfalls will supply the country's households with fresh vegetables in winter under a plan submitted to the government by the Royal Academy of Agriculture, asking for an appropriation to finance further experiments with electrically heated and lighted hot houses and hot beds.

So far nearly one half of the farm area in Sweden has been electrified, the "white coal" of the waterfalls driving farm and dairy machinery, but in winter fresh vegetables are usually imported from the South of Europe.

Now the Academy of Agriculture, which does the advance thinking for the Swedish farmers, believes that fresh strawberries, cucumbers and cauliflower may as well be raised inside the country by means of electric heat and light. In general Sweden is one of the most highly electricized countries in the world, having no coal of its own but plenty of hydro-electric energy.

Deems Taylor's New Opera To Be Big Feature

By WILLIAM J. FAGAN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK.—Opera lovers of New York and those cities fortunate enough to be visited by the Metropolitan Opera Company during the 1926-27 season will find in the repertory for next season a number of old friends, as well as some whose acquaintance must be made.

The most important feature of the recent announcement of (Giulio Gatti-Casazza), is the scheduled performance of the opera which the Metropolitan commissioned Deems Taylor to write. Taylor, who resigned his post as music critic of the New York World to undertake the work, has selected as his act opera to a text by Edna St. Vincent Millay, entitled "The King's Henchman." It will, of course, be sung in English, the first in America's tongue to be performed at the Metropolitan Opera since the days of "Oberon" and the post-war "Parsifal" and "Lohengrin."

Two other operas new to American audiences are also scheduled, "Turandot," the Puccini one which had its world premiere at La Scala dur-

Two American Golfers on Walker Team are Serious

By PAUL W. WHITE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

By United Press.

NEW YORK, June 4.—When the reports of the British amateur golf tournament were coming over the cables from Muirfield recently, one of the most interesting angles was the success of the three members of the American Walker Cup team who never before had played in a foreign tournament.

George Von Elm of San Francisco, Roland Mackenzie of Washington and Watts Gunn all distinguished themselves in their matches with the latter a great favorite with English golfing enthusiasts.

Gunn is a serious-minded young golfer. He plays to win as though his life depended upon the victory. Jess Sweetser and even Bobby Jones are inclined to take their matches casually, but Gunn has his teeth set and is constantly fretting about the brand of golf he is displaying.

The writer has seen Gunn make a three on a par four hole and then heard him brag because his drive wasn't of the same calibre as his opponent's.

PILL-SLAVE FREED FROM CONSTIPATION

A remarkable, convincing tribute is paid Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in this letter from Mr. F. C. Aminsen, of Seattle:

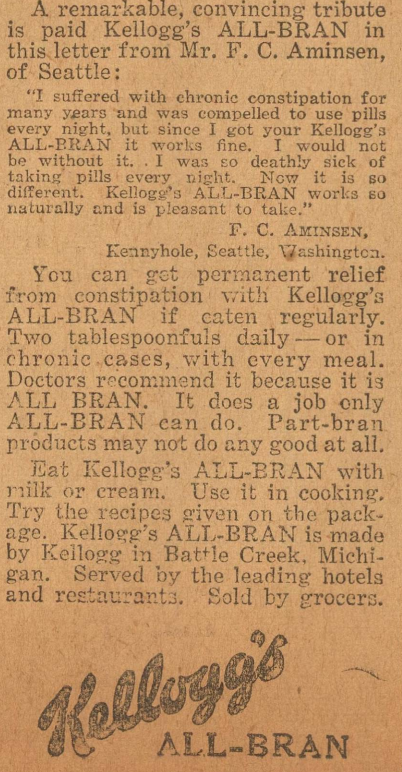

"I suffered with chronic constipation for many years and was compelled to take pills every night, but since I got your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN it works fine. I would not be without it. I was so deathly sick of taking pills every night. Now it is so different. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works so naturally and is pleasant to take."

F. C. AMINSEN, Kennehole, Seattle, Washington.

You can get permanent relief from constipation with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN if eaten regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—or in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend it because it is ALL-BRAN. It does a job only ALL-BRAN can do. Part-bran products may not do any good at all.

Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream. Use it in cooking. Try the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Served by the leading hotels and restaurants. Sold by grocers.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought natural relief in a few weeks votes of French or synthetic French opera, while "L'Amore del Tre Re" by Montezzi and Verdi's blood-and-thunder "La Forza del Destino," will be added to cheer up the Latin partisans.

No casts or indications of probable casts accompanied the announcement although it is understood that "The King's Henchman" company will be recruited as an all-American team. A note requests that music editors refrain from speculating as to the casts for the new operas, "in order to spare pain and embarrassment to singers who find themselves disappointed."

Dallas Legion Enrolls 48 In Novel Manner

By United Press.

DALLAS, June 4.—The local chapter of the American Legion added forty-eight members to its membership this week by adopting an unusual method of getting the word war veterans together.

About two hundred court summons were mailed to former soldiers requesting them to appear in Ninety-Fifth District court. About half of those summoned appeared thinking the summons were legal.

Judge Royall R. Watkins had just completed a case and sat on the bench while the throng assembled. Then, by previous arrangements, he turned the courtroom over to officers of the post, who proceeded about the business of calling the roll and enlisting members for the Legion.

Sheriff Schuyler Marshall acted as sergeant at arms. He said that every one took it good naturedly.

The summons were signed by "John H. Cullomson," as clerk of the district. John H. Cullomson, is the clerk. He declared that he had nothing to do with the signing of the papers.

Louisville Man Is Making Good In Big League

By BERT M. DEMBY, United Press Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, June 3.—The name of Joseph V. McCarthy is a new one to the big leagues and right now it's standing out rather prominently because Joe is leading one of the "hustlingest" ball clubs in either league—the Chicago Cubs.

Joe came into the big leagues as a manager from the Louisville team of the American association where he made an enviable record. He came up with many points of recommendation but perhaps the most outstanding of these points is his ability to handle men. And Joe explains that ability with just one word—psychology. He handles the man as well as the team.

It has been said that the real test of a good baseball leader is the ability to accept a blunder, made by a member of the team, with grace. Joe can do that. Some other men who were famous as ball players failed as managers because they lacked that ability.

A couple of examples of these are John Evers and Jimmy Callahan. Able to do most anything on a ball field—and do it right—these men seemed unable to comprehend just why someone else couldn't do it. And for that reason sometimes they raved and stormed at a player in full view of everyone else after he had committed some boner.

Joe says that's where the psychology comes in.

"If a man pulls a boner on the field—and anyone is liable to do it at any time—say nothing then, but get him off by himself after the game and show him where the boner was and why it was, and there's 10 chances to one he'll never pull the same one again."

That's Joe McCarthy's psychology. Already Joe with his psychology has upset some of the boys in the big show. One or two of the plays have smacked loudly of minor stuff but just the same they went over.

The other day against the Pittsburgh team Emil Yde, a left-hander, was hurling for the Pirates. A Cub was roosting on third with the winning run. Charley Grimm, a left-handed batter was at the plate. One man was out. A squeeze play perfectly executed, obviously would win the game.

But in the big show they don't usually attempt a "squeeze" with a left-hander hurling and a left-hander hitting.

But McCarthy probably thought of some time last year in Louisville when he got away with the same play. The result:

Grimm laid down a perfect bunt and the Cubs won.

Earl Smith, who was catching for the Pirates at the time, said after the game that it was the first time he had ever seen the play go over. And Earl's been up quite a while.

Another time in that same game McCarthy put on a hit and run with two strikes and no balls on the batter. The result was a double to right field and another run.

Both these plays sound like minor league stuff but then when you get away with it, that's something differ-

McCarthy believes in being boss of the team. Like John McGraw he runs the team from the bench.

Joe has them hustling and he says they're going to win. Maybe Joe's right. At least so far they're playing the kind of baseball it takes to win and look like a real ball club.

Golf Handicaps Is Big Problem For Tournament

PORTLAND, Ore., June 2.—One of the most unusual handicap proposals in the history of golf has been presented to the Riverside Golf club handicap committee by Arthur K. Trenholm, chairman of that committee.

According to the plan, players would start out on even terms but the winner of the first hole would give his opponent one stroke on the second hole. If the winner of the first hole repeats on the second one, then he grants his opponent two strokes on the third hole.

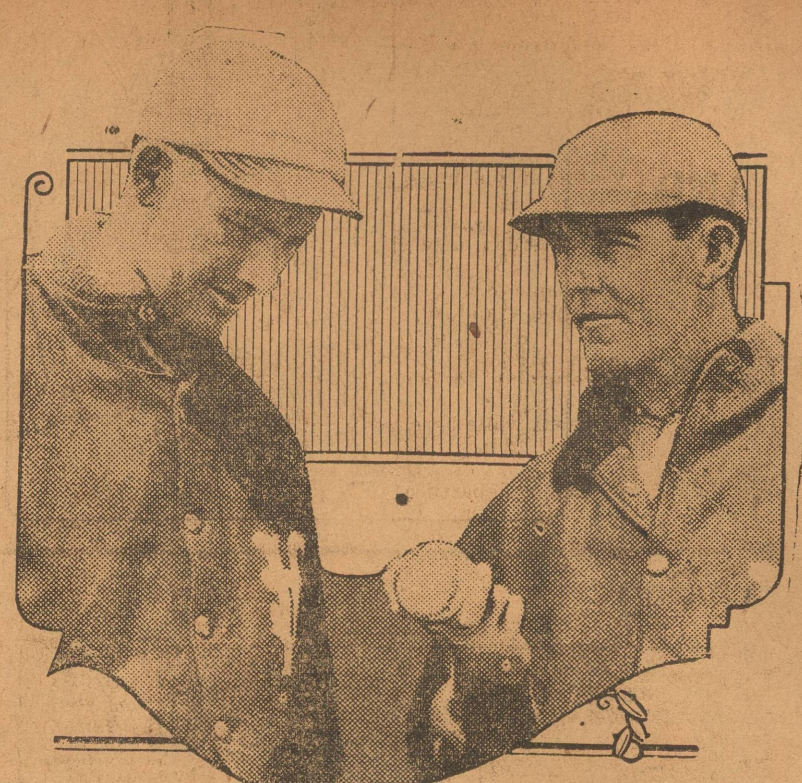

In Trenholm's opinion this method of ascertaining handicaps would make for better golf and more interesting matches.

Education Free Throughout All South America

AUSTIN, June 3.—Education after all is not the most expensive thing in the world, according to Arturo Torres-Riosco, instructor in romance languages in the University of Texas. He paid only $1 for his high school and university education and that for his diploma.

Major J. J. Hill, Premier Program

Torres' good fortune is based on the fact that he received his education in South America at the University of Chile, which is located at the capital of the country, Santiago. "In South America only the very exclusive classes pay anything at all for their education," Torres said. "The universities and public schools and colleges are free to all persons. This provision is made by the governments of the countries, and the students do not even pay board and room."

About 5 per cent of the students who enter universities are failed during the first year and then each year they are failed in proportion to their ability. The number of students who receive degrees in South American colleges is very small in comparison to the number in North America. The interest in education, even with these great advantages, does not compare to that continent with the interest in this country," Mr. Torres continued.

Prince Bemoans Advent of The Safety Razor

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Congressmen and senators are very unusual "masses" (gentlemen), according to "Prince," who has shaved congressional and senatorial beards 25 years in the capitol barber shop. Between the lather and the hot towels, Prince became reminiscent. He bemoaned the inroads of the safety razor, mused on the days of the wig and told of an amazing experience while shaving former Congressman Jones of Pennsylvania. The barber noticed that one of Jones' eyes was a little inflamed and suggested a household remedy. "Do you think that would do any good?" Jones asked. "Yes sa," answered Prince, who is as black as a typewriter cover. "When Ah turned round a minute later," recounted the slyly wielder of the razor, "there sat Massa Jones with his eyes in his hand."

the wealthy house members or senators occasionally give larger tips. Congressmen and senators are not wearing touques any more. "Ah guess bald heads must be stylish," Prince comments. Senator Gillette, republican, Massachusetts, is a regular patron of the capitol barber shop. He comes in two or three times a week to have his vandyke trimmed. Gillette is "jolly" and always is talking about golf, according to the barber. Congressman Madden, Illinois, is another "jolly" patron and comes in for a shave every day. He talks, "lots of barber shop talk" and "joshes me," says Prince.

The unsung heroes of the screen are not alone those employed in securing newsreel photographs.

Devereaux Jennings, chief cinematographer with the "Steel Preferred" company, which traveled from Hollywood to Pittsburgh, to film the steel mill scenes of the picture, is now in their class.

It so happened, that during the filming of scenes in the gigantic steel mills of Pittsburgh and McKeesport, Pa., Jennings was called upon to make his "set-up" in many perilous places where a slip of an inch or two meant a plunge into a furnace or into a ladle full of molten steel. And during the filming of one of the big thrills in the production when eight ladle cars, filled with red hot steel, plunged down an incline and spill many tons of liquid steel, Jennings continued to crank his camera until the red hot steel was within a few feet of his camera and he was forced to flee for his life.

In filming the scenes in the mill, when Walter Long, in the grimy crane house, catches Nicol Barrie in the giant tongs and carries him over the furnaces, Jennings, riding a small crane nearby, filmed the scene without a murmur—though a slip meant a fall of many feet into a Bessemer filled with hot metal.

Every member of the "Steel Preferred" company in one way or another, during the filming of the production, was given many thrills, yet each played his or her part like a veteran.

"Steel Preferred," which comes to the Lamb theatre today and Saturday, was directed by James Hogan, and features an all-star cast, headed by Vera Reynolds, William Boyd, Eobert Bosworth, and Charlie Murray. Others in the cast are Walter Long, William V. Moog, Nicol Barrie, Ben Guppin, and Helene Sullivan.

In New York, a pianist drowned in her bath tub, this being the first casualty reported in the spring rush.

Mississippi Lady Says She Took Black-Draught for These Symptoms and Was "Greatly Relieved."

Starkville, Miss.—"I have been a user of Black-Draught for about twenty years," says Mrs. C. E. Buntin, of R. F. D. 5, this city.

"I used Black-Draught first for constipation," continues Mrs. Buntin. "I would feel dull, stupid, and have severe headaches, even feverish. I had an uneasy, tight feeling in my stomach."

"I read quite a bit about Black-Draught. I began using it and soon my bowels acted regularly and I was greatly relieved. I used it every once in a while for about eighteen years. "About two years ago I found I was having indigestion, a tight smothering in my chest, then severe pain, especially after eating sweets. I commenced taking a pinch of Black-Draught after meals and by doing this I could eat about anything."

"I gave Black-Draught to my children for colds and headaches. I can certainly recommend it. Theodor's Black-Draught is recommended by thousands of others for the relief of indigestion, biliousness and simple ailments due to constipation. Safe, easy to take. Costs only 1 cent a dose. NC-171

As Lockhart Won Speedway Classic

This largest crowd that ever witnessed a sporting event—between 140,000 and 150,000—saw Frank Lockhart, youthful daredevil from Los Angeles, capture first place and prizes of $40,000 in the annual Speedway classic at Indianapolis on Memorial Day. Lockhart, who went to Indianapolis as a substitute driver and entered the race when the scheduled pilot was stricken with illness, amazed the throngs with his daring driving. A downpour of rain ended the race after 400 of the 500 miles had been run. Photo shows him immediately after the race, receiving the congratulations of his wife.

Police Return Girl Seeking Life in World

A vision of a life different from her life on the farm as told her by an older girl, led a 17-year-old girl to leave her home near Weatherford and seek the road to fortune and to happiness in this metropolis.

The girl left home, just as story-book girls do, leaving a note to her parents, telling them she was going to be married—but matrimony was not her objective, she just wanted to try her little wings in making her own way in the world.

Frantic parents notified the police and a clew was found a week ago by Ranger officers, when two young girls stopped for a meal at a local hotel—and then was lost until yesterday when it was discovered that the little girl was working at the home of a well known physician, as a maid.

In the meantime, a prominent Weatherford physician, on whose farm the child's parents lived, phoned the police that if they found the child, he and his wife wanted her to make her home with them, so when she was discovered, she was taken by Chief Vol Davenport to his home, where she spent last night, while her parents were speeding over the road from Parker county to Ranger to take her back—not to the farm but to the kindly doctor and his good wife, who were willing to take her and give her their care, and relieve her of the tedium of farm life.

Chief Davenport, in his fatherly way, advised her to go right back with her parents, to accept the home offered her—and the little lady, who has spread her wings in a fight for a living for a short period of ten days, smiled and said she would.

Bootlegging Horses Run Liquor Over Mexican Border

CUIADAD JAUREZ, Mex.—American prohibition enforcement officers are confronted with a novel problem and a new foe in the latest bootlegging development on the border, which involves the use of trained horses and mules as the medium of transportation of contraband liquors across the line.

Inspectors near here recently saw a horse heavily laden with what appeared to be cases of whisky carefully picking his way across the river some distance below the city.

They rushed out to capture him, but he succeeded in raising the bank on the American side and carrying his cargo off into the sagebrush. At other points between here and the gulf officers have detected burros and mules being used for the same purpose. It is believed that the animals are trained to go to a given point across the line, where confederates of the men who packed the whisky are waiting for its delivery.

Salvation Army Charges Enemy, Captures Two

"Charge the Enemy" is the charge by which the soldiers of the Salvation Army, now holding services in Ranger, are leading souls to Christ.

Two girls were saved Thursday night and each service sees an increase in crowds, according to reports that come from that worthy church today.

Army conditions are improving, collections are holding up well, and the sergeant-major, who has been promoted to envoy, reports that each week he sees a good sized gain in the circulation of the "War Cry."

Saturday night, Envoy Murphy will preach on the "Second Coming of Christ" dwelling extensively on the signs of the times as the prophecy give it.

Sunday morning at 11 a. m. the subject will be "The Sleep of Death" and at the evening service, the envoy's subject will be "the eight confessions."

Densest Indian Population Found In The Northwest

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Dutchman who bought Staten Island for $24 would have had to pay more if they had started their land investment out in Washington along the Columbia River.

The Columbia River region harbored one of the densest populations of prehistoric America, according to a Smithsonian Institution survey by Herbert W. Krieger, of the National Museum here.

Krieger found a chain of homesteads stretching for nearly 500 miles along the River. Before the horse was extensively used in redskin migration, the Columbia River region, according to Krieger, was more metropolitan and more thickly settled even than the Pueblo and Aztec regions of the southwest.

Austin College Confers Honoray Degree on Blayney

DENTON, June 4.—The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred Tuesday evening by Austin College at Sherman upon Dr. Lindsey Blayney, former president of the College of Industrial Arts, whose resignation took effect June 2. Dr. Blayney addressed a few words of appreciation to the college and received a demonstration from the audience.

Announcement of the degree was made at the C. I. A. commencement exercises Tuesday morning by Dr. Charles William Dabney of Houston, president emeritus of Cincinnati University and orator of the occasion. Dr. Blayney received an ovation from the 2,000 persons packing the auditorium, and the demonstration was duplicated at the close of the program after he had rendered an account of his stewardship during the eighteen months he served as president of C. I. A.

Murphy And Reece Go To Harlingen To Convention

Fire Chief G. A. Murphy, Ranger fire department, with Ruby Reece, secretary of the Ranger chapter of the firemen's organization, will attend the state firemen's convention, to be held June 8 to 11 inclusive, at Harlingen. Harlingen is one of the beauty spots in the Rio Grande valley.

It was believed that all the firemen in the West Texas district would meet in Ranger for the jumping off point, and it was also announced that busses would be chartered to take the firemen on from this point.

This plan has since been discarded and the various delegations will now travel in their own way, it was stated.

Two Police Raids / Net 309 Bottles Of Golden Fluid

Two raids made yesterday in almost a stone's throw of the Ranger police department, by Assistant Chief of Police L. E. Davenport, Si Bradford and Floyd Daniels, netted 309 bottles of beer. The contents last night were consigned to the sewer and two sons of Ham who were caught with the goods, languished in the city jail and listened to the fruit of their stills trickle and gurgle through the nearby sewer.

The raided premises were very near together. The first raided was a negro shack occupied by B. H. Logan, who was arrested. Here was found 49 full bottles of beer and a number of empty bottles. This cabin was in the shadow of one of Ranger's most prominent churches, evidently using the nearness of the church as a cloak to avoid suspicion of the officers.

The other cabin, in the back yard of a prominent Ranger family, was occupied by Charlie Nettleton, and in it was almost more beer than cabin, as there were 360 bottles taken at that place.

Both negroes are in jail here waiting disposition of their cases.

Sunday Movies Are Preferred To Petting Parties

By United Press. DELTA, Ohio.—Sunday movies are better than petting parties for the young folks, was the official view of Mayor V. W. Taylor and the village council here, when they voted on a resolution branding the war on Sunday movies as "harmful."

The resolution, in response to a move through the courts to make this town as "blue as indigo here on Sunday," by forcing the only motion picture house to close on the sabbath, was passed when the village fathers became convinced that young people "can't be driven to church."

"It only tends to embitter them and keep them away from all church services," officials say. "We would rather our young people attend a picture show in our town than be found at petting parties or at some Sunday night dance halls."

Mothers Cause Girls Refusing To Be Confident

By United Press.

NEW YORK.—What are the leading reasons why American girls do not confide in their mothers?

An editorial inquiry in the Woman's Home Companion with the idea of throwing some light on this timely question brought a flood of letters from girls all over the United States. An analysis of the replies showed the following reasons why the writers of these letters, having tried to confide in their mothers, no longer do so:

Because 517 mothers deliberately lied when questioned about sex and the source of life; 500 more evaded the question; 315 betrayed confidence; 335 were too old-fashioned; 227 were too busy to listen to their children; 196 were not interested in their daughters' confidences; 172 were too critical; 161 did not trust their daughters, and a confidence was a confession; 143 forgot that they had ever been anything but perfect and were too easily shocked; 139 laughed at childish confidences; 135 insisted on managing all their children's affairs at any age; 118 did not solve their children's religious problems satisfactorily; 114 never invited confidence and gave none; 93 were not affectionate; 71 nagged; 65 were unfair; 54 were dictatorial.

A typical letter from a twenty year old girl said in part: "It seems to me that the main reason why we of the younger generation, so-called flappers, fail to confide in our mothers is because the mothers fail to invite our confidence. We yearned to talk things over with our mothers, but what was the use? They'd fuss and fume and worry and warn us against vague dangers which they would not or could not define. No 'niec' girl did this. That was a foolish thing to do! No sympathy—just admonitions!

"We were—and are—no different from girls in a former period; only they never dared to do or say the things we moderns dare. "We help powder—rough—wear short skirts—Charleston. We are lively as rubber balls. Why? "Well, first of all, we are enjoying ourselves. Possibly too we take a certain satisfaction in shocking the older folks! Then undoubtedly we seek attention, mostly of the masculine sort. "What of it? Our mothers raise horrified eyes heavenward and wonder what this world's coming to. We are immodest, shameless hussies! They forgot that twenty-odd years ago they did the same stunts in a different way. If they hadn't they would never have landed our dads. But they'll never admit it."

Parisians And Americans At Odds Over Gloves

By HEDDA HOYT (Written for United Press)

NEW YORK.—The Parisian and the American are always at odds when it comes to little details of fashion. The main fashion ideas of Paris are always carried out in America but we are not always ready to accept minor style details. For instance, the smart French woman is now wearing black glazed kid gloves of short type with little ruffles at the wrists while the smart American invariably wears suede in light shades such as parchment, beige or gray. The Parisian will doubtless cling to her black gloves until the real warm weather sets in.

In the matter of corsage for day wear, the Parisian prefers leather youtonieres to the silk or cotton favorites of American preference. At present leather asters with chivied petals painted in Oriental colors and outlined in silver or filit are considered very swank in Paris. Patent leather flowers in colors with the inside of the petals tinted with opalescent luster are another novelty. For wear with the sports outfit, varicolored flowers of felt are considered smart. While we are wearing parchment colored hosiery the Parisian wears beige and rose de bois. Recently there has been an effort to bring sheer white stockings back into vogue and many well dressed Parisians are wearing them with black shoes. So far, this style has not been launched in America. Skirts are shorter in Paris than they have been during the Winter and there is no sign of them coming downward. Some of the most attractive wraps in Paris are in reality mackintoshes. The American wears rubberized silk raincoats in bright or pastel shades which are strictly for rain purposes. The French woman combines the rain coat with the street coat in a garment resembling lustrous stain

NEIGHBORS' WIVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JOHN and FAY MILBURN, to whom a baby girl has just been born, buy a home of their own when the advertising agency, in which John is a partner and copy writer, lands an important new contract.

Previous chapters told how John, while Fay was in the hospital, met NELL ORME and was attracted by her beauty and puzzled when PAT FORBES, his host, told him Nell was having trouble with her husband, Forbes, who has a wife and three children, hints to John that he is dissatisfied with his own marriage.

DR. DICK MENEFE, John's best friend, gets married to MARGARET WAYNE, and John is best man. During the ceremony he drops the ring and suffers much embarrassment as well as the silent contempt of CLIFTON LANE, who had recently eloped with Margaret's sister, CLARA.

John has a dispute with NATHANIEL GRAHAM, his partner, about a salary raise for their artist, and, deciding to work that evening, he encounters an ELEANOR MASON, an acquaintance, and takes her to dinner. The next evening Fay asks him why he hadn't told her about taking dinner with another woman. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

(The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XVII

John answered her hotly: "I certainly had no reason to conceal it from you."

"Then why didn't you tell me?" Fay asked. "You said nothing about it last night when you came home. Who was it you were with? I hear she was very good looking."

"It was Eleanor Mason, if you want to know," he retorted angrily. "Where did you get your information?"

She ignored his question, but seemed to freeze up at the mention of Eleanor Mason's name. "Oh, no wonder you were so secretive," she said. "I understand now."

John sprang from his chair and stood over her. "Understand what?" he demanded. "Why should I be any

"Well, you disapproved of her at the housewarming, and accused me of acting up with her."

"I think she's too forward. She had a lot of nerve suggesting that you and she eat together. She knows you're married."

"For heaven's sake, Fay, does that mean that, just because I'm married, no single woman can speak to me?"

"Well," said Fay, hesitatingly, "Mrs. Blodgett said you seemed to be mighty interested in each other."

"Mrs. Blodgett, eh? I might have known. So she was your informer, eh? Now I remember—thought there was something familiar about those skinny shoulders I saw eating out of the dining room. They belonged to Old Man Blodgett."

He began walking back and forth. Fay said, "That's all very well, but just the same you'd never have told me if it hadn't been for Mrs. Blodgett."

He stopped and turned to face her. "If there were only a few more Mrs. Blodgetts I wouldn't have to tell you anything. They'd beat me to it. A out his fingers, and she gripped them tightly, and tried to convey them to her mouth."

"I think she's starting to cut her teeth," Fay, he said, looking up. "She tries to put everything she gets hold of in her mouth."

"I think she is, too," Fay agreed, and John remained where he was for nearly half an hour, entirely captivated by Judith's manner of puckering up her lips before she laughed, and patiently trying to teach her to say "daddy."

John and Fay were sitting in the living room one night a few weeks later. Fay was sewing and John was reading, but after a while he let the paper dangle from his hand and gazed blankly into the fireplace, where a wood fire, which was one of Fay's chief delights in their house, crackled cheerily.

His thoughts had been wandering in will-o'-the-wisp fashion and, unaccountably, they rested on Eleanor Mason and the thing she had told him about Vera Boyd's interest in him. Once he glanced guardedly at Fay, as if in fear that she might read his mind.

Hang it all, he thought, Fay was adopting a rather hostile attitude lately—ever since the Eleanor Mason episode. Fay didn't understand him—that was all. Suppose, for instance, Fay knew about Vera Boyd. Chances were she'd suspect him of having done something to encourage her.

He bent forward to poke the fire. That's the way it went. Tied down to a home and fireside and a wife and baby. He began to sympathize a little with Pat Forbes.

The thought of Pat Forbes rolled over in his mind and drifted along, and then came the recollection of the swimming party Pat had invited him to while Fay was in the hospital. Staring at the logs, he could see Nell's shape poising on the spring board and cleaving the air with languorous grace, and vague stirrings of discontent bothered him. He wondered whether Nell, like Vera, had found anything in him to interest her.

Fay stirred, and put down her sewing. "Goodness, John, I was just thinking, Christmas will be here before we know it."

"Yeah," John, with moving, continued to stare into the fire.

Christmas was almost on them, it was true. Christmas, with its visit of loneliness for both of them. Fay said nothing more for a long time, and John knew that she was thinking of what a lonely time they had had of it the Christmas before, their first away from home and family.

Fay had said, "With Judith here, it will be different this year. Christmas is for the children, anyway." But he knew she had only been smiling to keep her courage up.

He pushed a log with his foot, and it sent up a little flurry of sparks. "Be careful of the rug, dear," warned Fay. "Maybe you'd better put the screen in front of the fire."

Mechanically he rose and put the protective screen in place. "Got anything to eat?" he asked. "I'm hungry."

Fay rose. "I've got some cake left, and I can make some coffee."

"Good." He sank back in his chair. He was thinking, as she moved out of the room of their last Christmas—of the day spent in lonely exile and the knowledge that all their friends were having family reunions. It had been Fay that counseled against their going home because they would need their money for Judith's coming.

Fay returned presently with coffee and cake, and they discussed presents and the mailing of cards. The fire blazed merrily, but his house seemed strangely silent just the same.

Christmas Eve came, and John returned early from downtown, bearing a tree—the smallest he could find—and an over-abundance of tinsel and colored balls.

Fay moved swiftly and busily through the house, pausing now and then to talk with Judith and to ask her if she realized it was Christmas. "Never mind," she said, "next year you'll know what it's all about, won't she, John?"

"I hope so," he answered, and picked Judith up in his arms.

The doorbell rang, and the special delivery messenger placed a package in Fay's hands.

Fay opened it and exclaimed loudly. It was an immense fruit cake from John's mother.

"Guess that and a little wine to go with it will hit the spot tomorrow—what?" said John.

The regular postman arrived a little later with the last pre-Christmas delivery. John handed him an envelope containing a crisp bill and felt a little warmed at the man's grateful "Merry Christmas."

There were scores of Christmas cards and many presents from home, most of them clothes for Judith.

Pat and Marian Forbes sent a warming plate, and Dick and Margaret a silk bonnet which sent Fay into raptures. There was a handsome card from the Clifton Lanes.

They spent the evening opening packages and decorating the tree. "Goodness!" exclaimed Fay, "You bought enough decorations for a tree three times as large."

"Well, they'll keep," he grinned. "Besides, if Judith gets her hands on any of those pretty balls it will be all up with them."

"I wonder what Judith will think when she sees the tree?" said Fay, and her fingers flitted skillfully over the branches as she added the finishing touches.

John was silent. He stood off for a moment or two and surveyed the tree, and then he dropped into his favorite chair. Recollections of boyhood Christmases stirred him sadly as reminders of a departed happiness.

Fay seemed to understand his thoughts. She moved silently over beside him and placed her arm around his shoulders.

"John, dear," she said softly. (To Be Continued.)

Only One Right Way For Women to Regain Energy and Vitality

Years of Trying First One Thing Then Another Without Getting Relief Had Nearly Stifled All Hope of Regaining Health and Happiness.

Thousands of women in all walks of life are now praising the wonderful merit of St. Joseph's G. F. P. Stories of most miraculous relief given them by this great medicine are being told in increasing numbers every day. Mothers who have been weakened since baby's birth tell stories of regaining health and strength. Women who have reached that period known as "change of life" relate experiences of easy transformation to a robust happy age. Business women and working girls tell how much they can stand without getting tired so quickly. In fact they all seem to be so grateful for the freedom they now enjoy from that ever present fear of periodical suffering, of irregularity, pains, cramps, and having to give up entirely at times.

There seems to be no end of good which this wonderful medicine does for womanhood. Women who had tried operations and many other means that promised relief from the ailments which plagued them, and were unable to get relief, are finding that they get quick and sure results by the consistent use of St. Joseph's G. F. P.

It gets rid of the cause in nine out of ten cases of women's weakness and sickness, and stamps out the catarrhal inflammation of the generative organs, which has been proven brings about most of woman's suffering. It further strengthens and builds up nerves, muscles and tissue, finally restoring the delicate female organs to their full, natural and healthy condition so that they can function as they should.

Fay seemed to understand his thoughts. She moved silently over beside him.

more secretive about eating with Eleanor Mason than anyone else? Honestly, Fay," he went on, lifting his hands and letting them fall, "I don't know what gets into you that makes you talk like that. Can't you understand that if I didn't say anything about eating with Eleanor Mason it was only because it was such an unimportant incident that it slipped my mind? Can't you understand that?"

"No, I can't," she looked away from him.

"Listen, Fay. I went out to dinner last night, first asking Nat Graham if he would go with me. Nat said he wasn't hungry yet, so I went out alone. While I was walking along the street Eleanor Mason spoke to me and asked me why I wasn't on my way home. I told her, and she suggested that we eat together. That's all there was to it—absolutely."

"Well, it's funny," said Fay, "that it had to be Eleanor Mason that you met—by accident."

"That's because you don't like her. You don't like her, and for that reason I suppose you think I ought to cut her if I see her on the street."

"I didn't say I didn't like her."

few more of 'em and there wouldn't be a secret left in the world. Lord, how I love her! I'd like to strangle her!"

It was an hour or more before he could change the subject. Fay wanted to know what he and Eleanor had talked about and whether he didn't feel selfish "out eating with other women, while I'm here alone with the baby."

But finally there was peace.

Weeks followed—of uneventfulness and lots of work. There were occasions when John ate dinner downtown, but always alone or with Nat Graham.

Thanksgiving was rapidly approaching. A week before the holiday Fay suggested to John that they invite Nat Graham for Thanksgiving dinner.

"He's all alone here, you know. I think we should, don't you?"

"Yes," John agreed, "I guess we should."

Nat came, and John carved turkey with a flourish and tried vainly to press a glass of wine on Graham, and Nat was so mechanical and so "correct" in his admiration of Judith that Fay almost exploded as soon as he had left.

"What is it about him I dislike so?" she asked John, and he answered reprovingly, "You shouldn't dislike him, dear. I admit he's peculiar, but I manage to get along with him all right."

"He was just like a stick with Judith. Seemed to be afraid she was going to bite him."

"Oh, well, dear, Nat tries to be human. Give him credit for trying."

"I can't help it. Just here lately I've grown to dislike him, somehow."

John didn't answer her. Instead, he walked over to Judith's crib and started playing with her. He held

Domestic Science Teachers Resign; To Elect Successors

Miss Helen Stafford and Miss Showalter, teachers of domestic science, will not be in Ranger for the next opening of school, it was announced Friday by M. H. Hagaman, president of Ranger school board.
This statement was made with regret, and up to the present the places of these popular teachers have not been filled.
It was further announced that all the principals and superintendents of the schools have contracted for next year, but several places remained to be filled among the faculty staff, who resigned at the end of last term.
Mr. Hagaman said that these places would be filled in due course with teachers of experience and training, and he promised that when school opens again in the fall the teaching staff of Ranger school would compare favorably with any faculty in West Texas.

Rain Interfered With Eastland Band Concert

Rain spoiled the band concert given last night at Eastland by the cadet band of John Tarleton Agricultural college, many of the prominent band numbers that are part of the regular program being cut out.
All the numbers given were appreciated by the large attendance that gathered on the courthouse square, during which an official from the school gave a short talk on the object of the school and what it was doing in the educational world.
A good suggestion was offered by a bystander and that was when another concert of this kind was given, the power company be asked to sting a wire to the ground in order that musicians might have light to read their music.
