

HOOPER 11,700 VOTES AHEAD IN TEXAS

G. O. P. Electoral College Vote Breaks Previous Record

NEW YORK AND SOUTH DECISIVE

Several Southern States and Empire State Swell Hoover's Lead.

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The strangest presidential campaign in a generation appeared today to have produced its final paradox.

Herbert Hoover was elected president by an electoral vote equalling if not exceeding the 404 record of Warren G. Harding in 1920, whereas his defeated opponent, Alfred E. Smith, polled the greatest popular vote ever recorded for any democrat.

At 11 a. m., the electoral standings were: Hoover 404, Smith 87, doubtful 41. Smith seemed assured of only Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and South Carolina in the heretofore Solid South and Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

The doubtful States were Massachusetts, Montana, North Carolina, Texas and Utah; and of these Smith only leads in Massachusetts. The rest of the figures were overwhelmingly for Hoover. This standing was based on United Press tabulations of 26,000 in every State in the Union. Hoover was leading Smith by nearly 4,000,000.

Yet Smith lived up to his reputation as a vote getter in that his total vote even at this incomplete stage was greater than that cast for any other democratic candidate. He has nearly 1,000,000 more votes than Wilson who in 1912 won his second presidential term in 1916; 1,000,000 more than Davis had four years ago and 2,000,000 more than Cox received in 1920.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Herbert Hoover of California has been elected president.

Running for office for the first time in his life, he defeated Gov. Al Smith of New York, a veteran master of politics, in one of the most spectacular victories in the history of American campaigns, according to nation-wide returns collected by the United Press today.

Hoover smashed the Solid South—the first time the republicans have done so in 50 years. He also carried Governor Smith's home state of New York with its great block of 45 electoral votes. Hoover also has carried both houses of congress with him by increased republican majorities. The republican insurgents have apparently lost their balance of power in the senate. Republican domination at both ends of Pennsylvania avenue in Washington has been assured.

Voting broke all records and the count was still incomplete today. But it was sufficient to reveal that the American voters in numbers never before mobilized for continuation of the policies of the Coolidge administration on which Hoover staged his appeal for election.

Immediately after the result was known, F. Scott McBride, head of the Anti-Saloon league, issued a formal statement declaring that the result was a "thorough vindication" (Continued on page 2)

New Location for Ranger Postoffice to Be Sought Soon

Bids for a new postoffice building to be occupied by the Ranger office will be received, it was announced today by A. S. Page, postoffice inspector. Bids must be in by Nov. 24. A building will be leased for either five or 10 years, effective March 1. Floor space totaling 3,500 square feet is needed. Specifications and blank proposals may be obtained from the postmaster.

The Ranger office showed an increase last year over the preceding year, receipts for 1927 being $2,446.04. There are four rural carriers and three city carriers here.

FEAST FOR FLYERS

MIDLAND, Nov. 7.—Old fashioned and new fangled will be together at Midland, Nov. 8, when an old-fashioned West Texas barbecue will be served to about 40 airplane visitors from Fort Worth. The barbecue will be served on Midland's trans-continental airport.

EASTLAND COUNTY'S BALLOTS

Hoover Ahead by Over 700 Votes With Two Small Boxes Out.

Eastland county was carried by Herbert Hoover, the Republican nominee for president. With only two small boxes to be heard from, Hoover's majority was 729 votes. The totals were: Hoover 3,207; Smith 2,478.

Of Ranger's five boxes, four were carried by Hoover and the other went for Governor Smith by one vote. Cisco was carried by Smith by less than 50 votes. Eastland, Rising Star, Carbon, Gorman, Desdemona and Olden all went for Hoover, as did most of the rural boxes.

The complete vote in each voting place (except Pleasant Hill and Cook which are unreported) follows:

18 Calves Are Still Roaming

Of the herd of cattle that escaped from the pens of the Texas & Pacific railroad Sunday night, all but 18 had been rounded up today. There were 80 calves and yearlings in the pens. It is thought likely that someone mischievously inclined, opened the gate. As a result, all the animals escaped and two days were spent in recapturing the cattle, some of which had roamed as great a distance as five miles out the Strawn highway.

Trial, scheduled for November, has been continued to December.

DANCE TO AID BLANKET FUND

The handsome new blankets worn by the Ranger football team must be paid for. Therefore, a dance will be given tonight at the Elks club and the proceeds will go to the Bulldog Blanket fund. Music will be provided by Rupert Murphy's band and admission is $1. Everyone is urged to help pay for the football blankets by buying a ticket to the dance.

Herb's Oklahoma Lead Increasing

By United Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7.—Herbert Hoover held his landslide lead in Oklahoma as delayed returns continued to pile up in his favor this afternoon. Indications still pointed to a republican majority of 150,000 or more over Al Smith in this state. Unofficial and incomplete returns gave Hoover 353,814 and Smith 201,810.

MURDER IN RANGER IS CONFESSED

Killing in 1921 Solved, the Authorities Announce Today.

The long arm of the law has reached out and brought to Eastland Fred Jordan, 33, to stand trial for the murder of Mike Tighe, Texas & Pacific railroad conductor, on the night of June 14, 1921, near Tiffin.

Sheriff John Hart returned to Eastland yesterday afternoon with the prisoner and had him confined in the Eastland county jail. He had been serving a term at Huntsville, having been sentenced from Weatherford, for a series of robberies, county authorities declared.

The grand jury returned an indictment against Jordan several months ago, but a bench warrant, required to bring the prisoner, was not issued until several days ago. County Attorney J. Frank Sparks announced this morning that he had obtained a signed confession from Jordan, in which he is alleged to have admitted shooting the conductor.

The killing was committed during the Ranger oil boom. After Tighe had been shot, the main track into Fort Worth was cleared of all trains and he was rushed to a hospital there. He died the following day.

Jordan, in his confession, according to officials, told about meeting another man in Ranger (Continued on page 2)

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 7.—Herbert Hoover, president-elect, today sent a telegram to Gov. Al Smith thanking him for his message of congratulation received here last night. "I am in receipt of your fine telegram. I appreciate both the spirit of it and your good wishes for the future," Hoover said. Hoover likewise sent a message to Senator Joseph T. THROUGH WITH POLITICS, SAYS ALFRED SMITH

"Have No Regrets," Declares the Defeated Presidential Candidate.

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Gov. Alfred Smith is through with politics, he announced today. "I certainly do not expect to run for public office," he said. "I have given the best years of my life and I have no regrets." Smith said he would always retain his interest in public affairs but was definite in his statement that he never again would be a candidate for office.

3 GAMES INTEREST THE FANS

Cisco-Ranger, Eastland-Angelo, Breck-Abilene Are on Menu.

Six of the seven members of the Oil Belt district will engage in the football game within the next few days. The Brownwood Lions, doomed to the cellar, are the only eleven that is not meeting some conference rival this week.

First on the program is the Breckenridge-Abilene game at Abilene Friday afternoon. This should be an interesting battle under Marquis of Queensbury rules, judging from the work of both teams in their last conference games. If Breckenridge's spirit has not been broken by the 26 to 0 lashing they took from Cisco two weeks ago, the Buckaroos should give a good account of themselves. A victory for Breckenridge however would be the most startling upset of a season that has been filled with upsets.

Then on Saturday, we find the San Angelo Bobcats invading Eastland. This tilt will bring together two of the prettiest ballplayers in the district—Massey, perhaps the smoothest runner in the Oil Belt whose work in Ranger last week is vividly recalled and Conner Smith, the most graceful passer in the district. Of course, that will not be the entire game by any means—watching those two lads. For the eleven are well-matched as to weight and every man on the Eastland team, and doubtless the Angelo team as well, will be crapping furiously. Spectacular ends and passes should make this a game well worth watching. Incidentally, it has a bearing on the championship for if San Angelo could make a clean sweep of all its remaining games—which is not likely for Eastland might trip them up, to say nothing of Abilene and Breckenridge at the district title if some one should defeat both Cisco and Ranger, which is unlikely. The winner of the Angelo-Eastland game will move to fourth place in the district standing.

Biggest of the games impending is of course the Monday melee at Cisco when Ranger swings into action against the Big Dam team. The Lobos, playing at home, have that advantage. The work of the Cisco team throughout the season has been regarded by most sports observers as more consistent than that of Ranger. The chief factor that gives faith to Bulldog fans is the 7-0 victory of (Continued on page 2)

CISCO PLANS BIG PROGRAM NEXT MONDAY

Mile-Long Parade, Dairy Show and Football Are Features.

Special to The Times.
CISCO, Nov. 7.—Preparations are under way for Cisco's Armistice day celebration on Monday, Nov. 12. It now looks as though this year's event will surpass any previous effort.

The day begins with a mile-long parade at 10:30. The American Legion post of Cisco together with legionnaires from all over the oil belt will head the parade. Company 1 of the 142nd infantry of Ranger will be in the line of March fully accoutered. Flots from Ranger, Eastland, Baird, Rising Star, Moran, Breckenridge and Mineral Wells have been promised. Decorated cars and floats will represent the business interests, the civic organizations and the schools and college of Cisco. Bands and pep squads will add color to the occasion.

At 3 o'clock on Chesley field, the Big Dam Lobos and the Ranger Bulldogs meet in the football classic of the oil belt. This will bring together two well-matched teams, each fighting for the district championship.

At Ninth street and Avenue D, the Eastland County Jersey show will be in progress. This will bring together the best Jersey breeders in this part of Texas. This show is serving a real purpose in the wide-spread development of dairying now under way over this territory. Entries to date assure the presence of the best blood lines of American Jerseys.

No pains are being spared to make this holiday an outstanding event. The great news reels will have cameramen present while the metropolitan papers of Texas will cover the day's events.

MARSHAL FENG IN POWER BANS SILK UNIFORMS

By United Press.
PEKIN.—Marshal Feng Yü-shiang, probably the most powerful warlord in China today, has decided never again to wear the silk uniform and elaborate decorations which he used to fancy in days when he was much less powerful.

Pictures of Marshal Feng on two state occasions, one eight years ago and the other this year, show the contrast in his ideas, as well as appearance. Today he wears the uniform of a common soldier in his army, of cheap laundered cotton, even on the most formal occasion. His dress uniforms, he declares, have been permanently discarded. "China is today going through a revolution," Marshal Feng declares. "The revolution is not complete, whatever some optimists may say. The common people of China are miserable, with not enough to eat. So the leaders must live simply, giving all surplus funds to the poor."

Even Feng's enemies admit that he practices what he preaches in this respect. He and his wife and family dress in cotton garments, eat very plain fare, and live in small houses with a couple of servants. Feng rides in a truck, on the front seat with the driver while other warlords have limousines. In spite of the fact that Marshal Feng compels his officers to live as simply as he does himself, it is agreed that he has a moral loyalty following than any other Chinese militarist. His chief subordinates have stayed with him in good times and bad for a dozen years.

CANE FOR BOOTLEG.

By United Press.
STOCKHOLM.—The flask is by no means a modern invention, it has been brought out in Sweden where an old walking stick, holding a container for liquids was recently discovered at Nordberg in the province of Vestmanland. The intricate cane, consisting of a metal tube with rich ornamental engravings in silver, boasts not only of a beverage flask, but a mirror and a snuff box as well. To prevent pilfering, the compartments are protected by intricate locks. The stick was made 50 years ago by a metal worker named Anderson for his personal use and is now in the possession of his son, Georg Anderson.

IS FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

Over 500,000 Texas Votes Counted, Little Chance for Smith.

By United Press.
DALLAS, Nov. 7.—It appeared likely today that Texas, for the first time in its history, will cast its 20 electoral votes for a republican candidate for president.

This novel situation will result if Herbert Hoover continues to hold his lead over Alfred Smith. Additional returns received at noon today gave the Republican candidate a majority of 11,705 votes. The figures were: Hoover, 257,277; Smith 245,572. The vote was taken from 232 counties out of the state, 32 complete.

Although these figures do not account for all the votes cast in yesterday's election, there was nothing in the development of the total as the figures came from the various portions of the state which would justify the prediction that Smith would finally overcome the Hoover lead. Factors entering into the poor showing made by the Democratic candidate were prohibition and opposition to any product of Tammany Hall. The largest women's vote in the state also helped the Hoover victory. Practically all of Hoover's strength came from thickly populated towns while rural districts for the most part gave Smith good support.

By United Press.
DALLAS, Nov. 7.—All four amendments to the constitution voted on in yesterday's general election apparently had carried by safe margins, according to incomplete returns.

The latest tabulation on the amendments follows: Proseguion 74,122 for, 42,015 against; school official term, 60,925 for, 41,793 against; education board 57,607 for, 39,421 against; pension 73,093 for, 36,470 against.

MOTHER DIES TO SAVE HER LITTLE GIRLS

Saves Her Children at the Cost of Her Own Life.

By United Press.
LUBBOCK, Tex., Nov. 7.—Efforts of a mother to protect her children from injury last night cost the life of Mrs. W. B. Hunt, 27, of Lubbock.

Mrs. Hunt was crushed to death between an auto and the porch of her home. With three girls, Mrs. Hunt was pushing a rented car in an effort to start it after it had stopped.

Suddenly the motor started and the car headed in the direction of three children who were playing near the house. Mrs. Hunt dashed for the children but was caught by the car and crushed against the porch of her home. She died almost instantly. The children suffered slight injuries from the car.

GROWTH OF GAS INDUSTRY.

During the span of a single lifetime, the amount of gas being used in the United States has increased 400 per cent. The industry, which in the past sold 90 per cent of its product for lighting, has changed to the extent that it now sells 92 per cent for heating. Use of natural and manufactured gas in 1927 increased 8 per cent over 1926 and amounted to the record total of 1,854,000,000 cubic feet. A total of 700,000 new users was added in 1927, bringing the number of customers to 15,434,000 and the estimated population served by the gas industry to more than 73,000,000.

A NEW RECORD IN HIGHWAY BUILDING.

The United States this year is spending a record sum for highways. The 12-months total will reach $1,360,026,000.

This is 21 per cent more than last year and 5 per cent more than in 1926, when the former high mark was established.

The movement toward building good roads is a product of this century. The perfection of the automobile, the growth of industry and the social and business necessity of improved transportation arteries all contributed to the result. America in a few brief years has developed the finest highway system in the world, and every year is witnessing still greater progress.

Highways and prosperity move together. Every dollar spent in good roads building is a dollar that is a sound, dividend-returning investment. It has been said that Rome was only as great as her highways and the same is again true of any modern nation today.

EXTENSIVE RESEARCH PROJECTED BY OIL INDUSTRY.

During the coming year the petroleum industry is to conduct one of the most extensive research programs in its history.

Thirty fellowships, in 17 universities and government laboratories, are to be awarded. Inauguration of the 1928-29 program marked the start of the third year of organized investigation.

The various projects cover many different phases of the industry. Beginning with the origin of oil and the fundamentals of discovery of oil deposits and their working, they include such important topics as the substances present in, and the chemical properties of crude petroleum.

The oil industry is yet, contrary to the common belief, somewhat in its infancy. The tremendous progress of the past few years has far from exhausted the possibilities. Scientific knowledge of petroleum is still elemental.

It is not known, for example, how the oil found in deposits originated and found its way to the natural reservoirs. As well, it is not definitely known exactly what properties constitute raw petroleum or the finished oil products.

On such researches as these the future development of the petroleum industry depends. Intensified production with the greatest possible efficiency and economy must come from new knowledge. This is gradually being found and the result is greater scientific progress and economic soundness.

their favorites over San Angelo, who had held Cisco 13-15. While it is perhaps true that the odds are somewhat against Ranger in this game, the odds are not overwhelming by any means. They are not too great to be overcome. If the Ranger team can reach the heights that it attained against Abilene, the Bulldogs certainly have a chance to win that game Monday. All the Oil Belt cities will observe Monday as a holiday and prediction of the attendance is 8,000.

When Uncle's Not So Busy Maybe He'll Tidy his Own Yard!

Other interpretations probably will be placed on the result. Some will see in it a vote of confidence in the republican party. Others will regard it as a personal vote of confidence in Hoover and others will feel that religious feeling had much to do with the outcome. Just what elements were decisive is a subject for endless debate and perhaps different forces were influential in different localities. Crushing as Smith's defeat has been—Hoover's Coolidge landslide exceeds that of the Coolidge landslide—he has demonstrated great popularity and the actual vote is closer than the ratio in the electoral college.

Most surprising element of Smith's defeat was his loss of New York, the state which has four times elected him governor—once in the face of a Coolidge landslide. Many republicans in New York who have supported him as governor apparently did not support him for president. His New York city vote was not sufficient to overcome the terrific upstate majorities for Hoover.

Equally surprising was the breaking of the Solid South and Hoover's victory in Old Virginia, the mother of presidents, and the capital of Confederacy. All through the south except Louisiana and South Carolina, Hoover pulled a tremendous vote. Smith, however, ran up a heavy vote in Massachusetts.

Hoover's election was conceded by the New York World and New York Times, pro-Smith newspapers, within three hours after the heavy returns began to come in last night. About 1 a. m. today Governor Smith, facing the cold figures as they came, admitted defeat and sent a telegram to Hoover which said:

"I congratulate you heartily on your victory and extend to you my sincere wishes for your health and happiness and for the success of your administration." Smith had been buoyed up with hopes of victory in the closing days of the campaign by the tremendous crowds which greeted him with almost hysterical enthusiasm wherever he went on his eastern speaking tour.

Short Talks at Rotary Meeting

Interesting talks were heard today by the Ranger Rotarians. C. E. May made a classification talk; Wayne C. Hickey spoke concerning the airport opening; the Rev. George W. Shearer told of the Methodist conference and Joseph M. Weaver, president of the Eastland club, described a recent airplane trip.

S. P. Boone, C. E. May and W. C. Hickey composed the program committee today, Mr. Boone presiding over the meeting in the absence of the president and vice president.

Visiting Rotarians were Joseph M. Weaver, O. D. Caldwell and J. L. Whisenant of Eastland, Don Sivals, Tom Foley and Dr. T. T. Roberts of Cisco. Guests were J. E. Meroney, A. S. Page of Port Worth and M. M. Miller of Los Angeles.

Lady Astor, American-born member of the House of Commons, was mentioned as a possible choice for a post in the British cabinet the other day. That's hardly possible, however—Lady Astor has a sense of humor.

He paid $150 for the first cow, and so well pleased is he with his purchase that his last buy, "Golden Lassie," is a daughter of "Texas Model."

UMBRELLA BIRTHDAY

PARIS.—Paris umbrella merchants Monday observed the 178th anniversary of the found of their trade. It was in 1750 that Jonas Hanway, an English traveler and philanthropist, opened the first umbrella in the western world.

Experimented with for centuries the umbrella as it was in Hanway's days although a Paris contraption in 1773 had a lightning rod and a German contrivance in 1862 had glass windows. The march of progress brought later adaptations fitted with electric lights or wireless receiving sets.

On June 13, 1921. He said they both were drinking. They mounted the cabstand passenger train, he narrated, and Tighe came along and asked for their tickets. They had no tickets, and an argument followed. The conductor, the confession continues, called Jordan a liar and hit him with a lantern.

The two men were ejected from the train and the conductor was standing on the steps as it moved on. Suddenly two shots rang out, one striking Tighe.

Jordan admitted firing the two shots but said he did not know either had taken effect until he read the papers the following morning. He added that he and his companion caught a truck and rode into Port Worth. He is a native of Parker county and was well known in the oil boom towns of Eastland county.

Sparks said that the credit for solving the seven-year-old murder mystery, goes to W. T. Cone, special agent of the Texas and Pacific railroad.

The companion of Jordan on the night of the murder has been exonerated, Sparks said. Although the case has not been tried for trial, it is thought at the county attorney's office that it will be called the last of next week. Cone was in Eastland this morning conferring with Sparks and Jordan.

Armistice Signing Was Reported 10 Years Ago Today

By RALPH H. TURNER, United Press Staff Correspondent. TULSA, Okla., Nov. 7.—Word from the American embassy in Paris that the armistice had been signed clicked over the cable wires into the Brest headquarters of Admiral Henry B. Wilson, U. S. N., 10 years ago today.

Outside his windows in the muddy old French port, a navy band was playing a dreary tune.

The admiral, now retired, but then commander of all the U. S. naval forces in European waters, leaned out of his window and called to the bandmaster:

"Play something cheerful. The armistice has been signed." The bandmaster turned to a jazzier strain. The news spread through the town, and touched off a celebration which, after Wilson gave his information to the United Press, soon spread to far corners of the world.

Wilson, after looking back across the years to that day in Brest, recalled today the details of the event.

He smiled as he termed himself "the only man who ever closed the New York stock exchange," and he might have added he was the man who brought to millions of war weary hearts tidings which for them spelled the end of four years of bloodshed. Four days later, the armistice actually was signed and a second outburst of joy arose in many nations.

Wilson, genial and robust, lives here to be near his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Hurley. He has a son attending the University of Oklahoma.

As Wilson tells the story, it was a routine day in Brest, that port through which thousands of Americans passed on their way to war. It was about 4 p. m., Nov. 7, 1918. The Germans were crumbling on the western front, and behind the lines, the pinch of short rations was making itself menacingly felt. The Germans were ready for the armistice.

Histy has shown the pressure brought by the kaiser and revealed the impudent demands of Von Hindenburg that peace be sought quickly.

But the business of war continued, and Wilson supervised the important naval business which could not relax until all was ended officially.

How Report Came. The admiral was in constant communication with Captain R. H. Jackson, then naval attaché in the American embassy in Paris.

"And then about 4 p. m., French time, on the seventh there came a message from Jackson saying the armistice had been signed," Wilson related to the United Press. "There was no special reason to doubt it. There had been reports on several days preceding that the Germans were ready to sign and that negotiations had been started. I accepted the armistice message as part of the day's news from Paris—more exciting, tremendously more important—but just a development in the eventful life we were leading, when anything might happen at any time."

Then he recalled leaning out of the window and asking the bandmaster to play a livelier tune in celebration of his great tidings. Roy W. Howard, the president of the United Press, was in Brest that day on his way back to the United States after a trip to Europe. He heard the news, went to Admiral Wilson to confirm it, and received the admiral's report.

At 4:21 p. m., French time, Howard cabled the news to the New York office of the United Press. It was 11:21 a. m. in New York. Celebrations swept the States upon publication of "extras" with these dispatches.

The admiral recalled the festive way Brest received the news. Celebrations started in the cafes, in the streets—singing, dancing and drinking. American soldiers and sailors joined with the populace in the festivities, and many French officials left their posts to participate.

Later some of the celebrants returned to work, puzzled or disappointed at learning that Captain Jackson's information was premature, but some were so well launched that a halt was impossible, and these declared a full holiday.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Okla.

Charles G. Mullen, general manager of the Tampa (Fla.) Times, says: "That here in America we live better than any other people in the world, and much of the credit for this high standard of living goes to advertising."

Advertising makes mass production possible, and mass production brings efficiency and lowers costs. Thus, through the speeding up of industry under the stimulation of advertising, a day's labor in America produces more goods than anywhere else in the world, and a day's wages buys more.

Because it does create new desires, improve old habits, increase efficiency in industry and distribution, advertising is economically sound and will continue to grow in influence. And as it does develop greater power of appeal, it will further raise our standard of living by making necessities and luxuries cheaper as measured in a day's labor.

Another thought is that advertising is making possible better and more attractive newspapers and magazines, and in turn these are making us a well read and well informed people. Almost everyone reads now. Old prejudices are breaking down and we are attaining a new appreciation of the art of living.

A reporter on a western newspaper is 78 years old. Very few men can go along that far, but probably he is sustained by having met "so many interesting people."

Cascara is Your Doctor's Choice

When physicians pronounce cascara the PERFECT laxative—why experiment with things that lash the system into action? A natural and normal stimulus to the bowels.

The Indians, who used to chew this bark, had no word in their language that meant "constipation!"

Perfect regularity is possible today, and to all of us. We have cascara in ideal form; the very delightful-tasting candy Cascaret gives us pure cascara. It has helped at least a million people to habitual regularity. Millions of others, unfortunately, have struck to stronger things and acquired only the laxative habit.

Your first Cascaret will demonstrate how THOROUGH this gentle laxative is, after all. Your next surprise will be the length of time before you need another. Eventually, you'll see that cascaring tends to make the bowels move thereafter of their own accord!

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Sybil Thorne, Boston society girl, is the drawing card in a sensational divorce case that has the whole town talking. Sybil has petitioned for divorce from Richard Eustis, whom she married secretly, and with whom she lived only two weeks. She asks also for custody of her child, Teddy, whom Eustis has never seen—and the right to resume her maiden name.

Her husband, philanthropist and adventurer, counters by filing suit for $100,000 against Craig Newhall, alleging alienation of Sybil's affections. Newhall, who has always loved Sybil, is altogether uncles of the charge, but the suit makes a tremendous story for the newspapers, and sets society gossiping anew.

Meantime Mrs. Thorne, Sybil's mother, enlists the sympathy of Mr. Crandon, a psycho-analyst, to whom she tells all her troubles.

Craig brings the afternoon editions publishing an interview with Eustis, to Sybil, who is playing among the leaves with little Teddy. As they talk matters over a photographer approaches.

"If you click that camera," Craig tells him, "I'll smash it to smithereens, and every bone in your body with it."

Now go on with the story:

Oklahoma Lady Gives Interesting Account of Long Use of Black-Draught in Her Home.

Sageyah, Okla.—"I have taken Black-Draught ever since I was a child, and can recommend it as a splendid medicine for family use," says Mrs. Cora Maberry, of this place. "My mother used it, in bringing up her family, and after I had a home of my own, I continued to use it, as I thought it was especially good to give the children."

"My children did not mind taking Black-Draught, and so when they got upset with stomach spells, or were constipated, I gave them Black-Draught tea."

"I found that when they were taking cold, I was quick to start giving them Black-Draught, as it helped them to throw off the impurities which caused the trouble."

"My children are all grown now and have homes of their own, but I still keep Black-Draught in the house and use it myself when I wake up in the morning feeling dull and 'madachey' and have a bad taste in my mouth."

"Black-Draught is a simple remedy for constipation, and I prefer it to others because it is purely vegetable. I always feel better after I have taken a course of it."

In use over 87 years. NC-197

MOM'N' POP

I CERTAINLY HOPPED ON THE WRONG POLITICAL HAY-MOOSE WHEN I PICKED WHOOZIT TO WIN IN THE CONGRESSIONAL RACE. IT WAS FUNNY HOW THAT BABY BOGGED UP IN THE HOME-STRETCH, EVEN IF HE WAS MY OWN MAN.

I NEVER REALIZED WHAT A GREAT SALESMAN YOU WERE UNTIL YOU SOLD YOURSELF ON WHOOZIT TO WIN.

SALES MAN? SAY I CAN TALK ANY CUSTOMER UNDER HIS OWN TABLE AND THEN SELL HIM THE TABLE I SELL BRAINS AND CARRY MY OWN SAMPLES.

WELL, I'M STILL PAINING OFF THE OTHER ELECTION BET I LOST TO YOU.

WHY, POP, THIS IS THE FIRST ELECTION BET I EVER WON FROM YOU.

—WHAT ABOUT THE TIME I WAS ELECTED TO MARRY YOU?

WHOOPEE! WISE CRACKING, HUH?

Then followed the story:
"Claude Crandon, Boston's foremost psycho-analyst, interviewed last evening by a reporter for the Gazette, threw new light on the sensational Eustis divorce case. Dr. Crandon, well versed in psycho-analysis, discussed at length the so-called 'Primitive Ego' of Mrs. Richard Eustis, better known as Sybil Thorne. Mrs. Eustis, according to the doctor, is the victim of her own ego."

"In order to put the case plainly before the lay mid, Dr. Crandon has prepared the following statement exclusively for readers of the Gazette: . . ."

Valerie held the paper in both her trembling hands, and read aloud in a high pitched voice. Shriill words tumbled one over another, from her horrified lips.

With an oath Tad clutched the paper from her shaking fingers. "Here, let me see it. The old my God, I'll kill him for this, Sybil! The obscene old trout! . . ."

Mrs. Thorne, before the great silver coffee service, covered like a frightened thing, once over another, from her horrified lips.

"Did he say," she quavered pitiously, "anything—anything—about—the—the about Sybil's love life?"

Tad scanned the column. "Love life"—well, I'll be—He certainly did. Say, Ma, how much of this stuff did you spill?"

Tad turned furiously on his mother.

"Oh, Tad!" she faltered, and her little hands fluttered helplessly. "Oh, Sybil! Children, I'm so sorry. I—I—"

Then the little hands were still. And the dim blue eye, veiled in tears, were glazed and dreadful looking.

"Tad! Mother's ill!"

Sybil flung her arms about her mother. "There, there, darling. It doesn't make a bit of difference. It's simply comical! Honestly, dear, I think it's funny. I don't mind a bit. . . Tad, carry mother into the drawing room. . . The big red chair, Tad. . . And we'll give you a nice cup of good strong coffee, darling. . . and you'll be all right in a minute."

Tad lifted her as though she were a child, and Valerie brought pillows and a foot stool, and when they had made her comfortable, they tried to make her laugh.

"Can you see what a joke it is?" demanded Sybil. "The man never saw me in his life. He does not know a thing about me, really. Let me read it to you, dear. It's simply scream!"

But Mrs. Thorne waved away the lurid sheet with her little fluttering, blue-veined hands.

"Oh, please," she begged, "please. That dreadful, dreadful man! what can I do?"

Tad stood on the hearth rug with his feet wide apart, and his hands plunged in his pockets.

"I guess, Ma," he predicted gloomily, "you'll have to take up church-going. Ministers are a good, safe lot—though they may be a bit dull. But these quacks—gosh, Ma, you'll simply have to lay off."

Valerie drew the purple afghan close about her mother-in-law's narrow shoulders.

"Poor Mother Thorne!" she whispered, and kissed the soft gray hair where the part lay pink and broadest. "Tad's joking, dearest."

Sybil glanced at the watch on her wrist.

"Eight thirty!" she cried. "And court begins at nine. We'll have to hurry. Do you feel up to it, mother, or had you rather stay right here, and rest?"

"Up to it!" Mrs. Thorne put a hand on each arm of the big red chair. "My dear, I feel like a new woman. Do you know what I'm going to do?"

She raised herself to her feet and surveyed her children with quiet dignity.

"I'm going to sue that man. I don't know exactly how it can be done, but I'll see a lawyer today. There must be some law for the protection of a client or patient in confidential consultation. Maybe he is practicing illegally. There will be some way of getting at him. I'll sue him for $100,000 and attach everything he's got! He thinks I'm nothing but a neurotic, silly old woman. I'll show him, children!"

Laughing, they crowded about her to pat her shoulders and kiss her faded cheeks.

"Get my hat, Val," she commanded briskly. "It's up on my bed, dear. And hurry up or we'll all be late!"

Everybody, it seemed, was in court when they reached there. Dolly Weston rushed up and kissed Sybil effusively. The Moores came to shake hands—Jack and Mabel—quietly confident.

Mrs. West, garrulous and excited, put her arms about Sybil and pecked Mrs. Thorne. Groups of smartly-dressed women bowed when they passed. Girls with whom Sybil had gone to school reached over the backs of the courtroom benches to clasp her hand. Mrs. Grayson bowed serenely from across the room.

There were a great many strangers and a number of intimates. Most of their casual friends had the good breeding to stay away, but there were a number of women with whom Sybil had a bowing acquaintance.

They seemed engrossed with remote objects when Sybil glanced their way. Some of them craned to look out the windows. Others were absorbed in contemplation of the throngs that crowded through the corridors to the court room door, where a court officer in a blue uniform with brass buttons refused further admittance.

Reporters at the press table asked questions of one another eagerly:

"Who's that shaking hands with her now? Mrs. Grayson? Did you see the dame with the lognette high-hatting her? Those are Vincent Club girls talking with her now. . . Say, this looks like a mass meeting of the Four Hundred. . . There's Newhall coming in. . . This may hurt him politically. . . That's her brother. . . Well, they are all giving her the glad hand. . . Oh, no, they're not. She's been getting a flock of icy stares. Plenty of snubs, I'd say. . . Pretty tough, isn't it?"

Waiting. Waiting. What was the delay? Where was the defendant? The judge, stern in his black gown, frowned and fidgeted. That was a court officer he had beckoned to the bench. There was a whispered conversation.

The judge—like an old woman digging a handkerchief out of her petticoat pocket—fished in the folds of his robe. Glared belligerently at his watch. Restored it to his pocket and settled his heavy skirts modestly about him.

Where was Richard?

Mr. Peterson leaned toward Sybil.

"Neither your husband nor his attorney are here. The judge may dismiss the case."

Comotion in the corridor. Excited whispers. Something had happened. One felt it in the air of that stuffy courtroom when the door swung open and a court officer, fumbling at his brass buttons, hurried to the judge's bench.

The judge leaned forward, cupping his ear with his hand. Nodded gravely and sat for a moment silently.

"Mr. Peterson."

Mr. Peterson approached the bench.

"Mrs. Eustis, will you come here, please?"

Painful Injuries
(Eastland Telegram)
Elmer Eric Watson, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Watson of the Pleasant Grove community and a student of Eastland high school, was painfully injured Monday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile. He suffered a deep three-inch cut on the top of his head and fractured a bone in his right foot. He was taken to the Payne & Carter hospital for treatment.

According to reports, young Watson was riding on the side of a car being driven by other students. In stepping off this car he stepped in front of a moving car that was also being driven by high school students and was knocked down. His school mates picked him up and took him to the hospital.

Miss Dorothy Watson, deputy district clerk and sister of the injured student, stated this morning that her brother would be moved from the hospital to their home this morning.

BUDAPEST.—The last of those Hungarians who in 1848-49 fought under the famous republican hero, Kossuth, in defense of the country's liberty from the domination of the Hapsburgs is dead. Adolph Krauss was his name and 103 years was the age to which he lived. For many years he was a stock exchange broker but since his ninety-third birthday he has lived in retirement.

Sometimes nicknames designate characteristics such as encyclopedia, Book-worm and Mike Angelo. Sometimes they point out physical features, as Red, Slim and Shorty. But Pinhead and Insane do not apply to mental ability. Most of the time nicknames are used in T. C. U. to keep from employing the conventional Brown, Jones or Smith.

Girls have nicknames, too, although these are quite mild in comparison to those applied to the other sex. Chubby, Jinks, Ginger, Boots, Tubby and Buttons are among them. There is a Sonny in Clark Hall and a Sunny in Jarvis, a Babe in the men's dormitory and several Babies in the girls' dormitory.

ONE LITTLE PIMPLE MAY RUIN YOUR APPEARANCE!

No matter how perfect your features, or how attractive your complexion, one little pimple may spoil it all. Instead of trying to cover up your face blemishes why not completely clear them away?

I CERTAINLY HOPPED ON THE WRONG POLITICAL HAY-MOOSE WHEN I PICKED WHOOZIT TO WIN IN THE CONGRESSIONAL RACE. IT WAS FUNNY HOW THAT BABY BOGGED UP IN THE HOME-STRETCH, EVEN IF HE WAS MY OWN MAN.

I NEVER REALIZED WHAT A GREAT SALESMAN YOU WERE UNTIL YOU SOLD YOURSELF ON WHOOZIT TO WIN.

SALES MAN? SAY I CAN TALK ANY CUSTOMER UNDER HIS OWN TABLE AND THEN SELL HIM THE TABLE I SELL BRAINS AND CARRY MY OWN SAMPLES.

YOU MUST HAVE RUN OUT OF SAMPLES WHEN YOU BET ME A WEEK'S DINN—WASHING AGAIN NOTHING AT ALL THAT WHOOZIT WOULD DEFEAT PORKER.

WELL, I'M STILL PAINING OFF THE OTHER ELECTION BET I LOST TO YOU.

WHY, POP, THIS IS THE FIRST ELECTION BET I EVER WON FROM YOU.

Car Strikes Youth

Painful Injuries
(Eastland Telegram)
Elmer Eric Watson, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Watson of the Pleasant Grove community and a student of Eastland high school, was painfully injured Monday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile. He suffered a deep three-inch cut on the top of his head and fractured a bone in his right foot. He was taken to the Payne & Carter hospital for treatment.

According to reports, young Watson was riding on the side of a car being driven by other students. In stepping off this car he stepped in front of a moving car that was also being driven by high school students and was knocked down. His school mates picked him up and took him to the hospital.

Miss Dorothy Watson, deputy district clerk and sister of the injured student, stated this morning that her brother would be moved from the hospital to their home this morning.

MAVERICK-BOBCAT CLASH TO BE ONE OF THREE DISTRICT GAMES SCHEDULED FOR THIS WEEK-END

Two teams—each of which has felt the sting of defeat in battles with the "upper crust" of the Oilbelt district, and which have emerged, bloody but unbowed—will meet at Eastland Saturday afternoon when the San Angelo Bobcats journey to the corral of the Eastland Mavericks for the annual "battle of foses." The game will start at 3 o'clock. The Bobcats, just for a reversal of the style of former years, are dangerous. What is more, the Bobcats are dangerous out upon the sod as well as upon the dopesters' sheet.

It is true that the Bobcat backfield and the Bobcat wing men are almost the whole Bobcat aggregation.

In the Ranger-San Angelo game, which the Bobcats dropped to the tune of 7 to 0, which was not much of a sympathy, Ranger backs sifted through the Bobcat line and had to be stopped by those four backfield men.

In comparison, the Eastland Mavericks have a line that from looks couldn't hold a fast water boy, but which takes it like wet eras, takes it hard, often, fast, furious, and then takes it.

It is the Bobcat backfield that the Eastland Mavericks has to fear in the coming battle, which is the next to last one to be fought by the red and black aggregation this year.

Hamerlin at full, McCamey at right half, Baker at Quarter, and "Red Massey at left half, and the greatest of these is Massey, is the combination that will step upon the field to repeat the stunt of last year.

The San Angelo team, if it fears the Mavericks at all, also will look to the backfield and the wing men.

That Connie Smith, wearing the old-fashioned rubber nose guard to protect his nasal organ from further injury, can leave passes against San Angelo as well as he heaved them against Ranger and Brownwood. And Cheatham can snatch them from the air, just a sprightly on Saturday as he does on Friday.

Brawner and McCullough and Allen, can be counted on for yards, sometimes in great quantities.

At the present time each team has an average of 250 in the percentage column.

The Bobcats have played two, won one and tied one, which makes their rating .250.

The Mavericks, who get their season over with early, have played four, won one and lost three, for the same average.

Although only a handful of fans saw the Mavericks down the Brownwood Lions, it is expected that a large crowd will attend the game Saturday afternoon. It is the only game scheduled for Saturday in this district.

The Ranger Bulldogs go into action against the Lobos of the Big Dam city at Cisco, in the feature game of the week Monday, and the Buckaroos, known as the Abilene Eagles' territory Friday afternoon.

WOULD TEST HEARING
By United Press.
ST. LOUIS, Mo.—A law for the compulsory testing of hearing of public school children has been proposed by the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology, which held its annual meeting here. The law is proposed in an effort to reduce the degree of defective hearing among children of school age.

"The birth of the earth was a quiet affair," writes Dr. Chamberlain of the University of Chicago, author of the theory that it originated from the sun. Probably that wasn't a presidential year.

Mrs. C. A. Jones and little son, Theodate have returned to their home, 521 West Main street, after a business and pleasure trip to San Angelo, Big Lake, McCamey, Pyote, Barstow, Odessa, Midland, and Big Spring. They were the guests in the different towns of friends, most of whom have lived in Ranger and still think of Ranger as home.

sent a $10,000.000 exhibition of all the latest equipment in the industry to 108,903 visitors, merits the highest national recognition, Gibbons urged that the next exposition be opened by the President of the United States in person.

"In the final analysis I know of nothing finer in purpose or sentiment than to convert the ultimate profits of the exposition into a fund for the benefit of those pioneers of the industry who in the declining years of their life find themselves without home or funds or the care of relatives and interested friends. Sympathy and human understanding is an inherent characteristic of the men who make up the great oil fraternity, and it would be a splendid thing if the exposition could prove to be the agency through which the veterans and pioneers of the industry may receive shelter, medical attention, financial aid, and finally, avoid the potters field," Gibbons said.

Gorman to Meet Ancient Rival's

The Gorman Panthers will strive to regain their footing in the race for the Class B district championship when they make a valiant stand on their home field against their old-time rivals, the DeLeon Bearcats. DeLeon has not lost a game while Gorman went down in a hard-fought struggle with Dublin, which has one of the strongest Class B teams in West Texas.

However the fact that Gorman has lost a game will only make the Panthers scrap harder, especially as they are facing their historic foes, the DeLeon eleven.

The game starts at 3:30 Friday at Gorman. A large crowd is forecast.
