BULLDOGS LEAD RACE FOR OIL BELT CROWN

BOBCATS GO DOWN FIGHTING

Ranger Turns Back San Angelo at Critical Moments.

The Ranger Bulldogs moved to the head of the procession in the Oil Belt "free-for-all" race by handing the San Angelo Bobcats their first conference defeat by the narrow margin of 7 to 0 on Lillard Field, Saturday afternoon before several thousand fans.

It was a gallant fight that the plucky Bobcats put up and, on two occasions, they went within a handful of yards of crossing the goal line besides intercepting passes twice and making long runs before being brought down when it looked for a horrifying moment that the Bobcat with the ball had raced into an open field.

In the first part of the game, it was the pretty dancing and dodging of Red Massey in going through the secondary defense that had Ranger fans looking alarmed. And in the third quarter it was the Bobcats' passes—chiefly flung by Baker—that caused cold chills.

A fast team the San Angelo invaders proved themselves to be and there was always a chance that they might get loose. With the speed they had, there was ever lurking the possibility they might put over a tie on a single play.

The tale of that one touchdown is swiftly told. Hammett rushed back 14 yards with a punt and, with the ball 41 yards from San Angelo's goal line—in the second quarter—the Bulldogs started irresistibly down the field. Hamilton, Hammett and Whitehall on running plays put the ball on the one-yard line and then Hammett dove over the mass of players for the score. He dropped the ball. The ball grazed the crossbar but went over.

Pass intercepted. On the second play of the game, Whitehall made a beautiful run around end for 27 yards but the Bulldogs could not keep up the good work and a punt exchange followed. Then Hammett hurled a pass to G. Hinman for 25 yards. Hammett, Whitehall and McLaughlin swept on to the 10-yard line but Grimes intercepted a pass and Hammett by a burst of speed bare-

JURY REPORTS IN CITY CASE

The paving suit which has been on trial this week in Eastland ended in a partial victory for each side, according to information received here.

Of the five special issues submitted to the jury, three were answered in favor of the city and two in favor of the plaintiff—the Hodges estate.

On the question of the two-foot strip deals, the jury answered that the deeds were without consideration but the jury found that the value of the property was such as not to justify a 30-foot paving which was the width contemplated, advices from Eastland stated.

Baylor Breaks T. C. U.'s Streak

FORT WORTH, Nov. 3.—The Baylor Bears of Waco smashed Texas Christian university's conference championship chances with a 7-6 victory here today. An 80-yard run by Gilliland in the first period produced the Baylor touchdown. T. C. U. might have tied the score in the second period but missed a place kick after Tyler had run through a broken field 35 yards to score.

The game was easily the most spectacular played by either team this season and eliminated T. C. U. from the columns of undefeated Southwestern teams.

Diphtheria Gains As Winter Comes

DALLAS, Nov. 3.—Since the first touch of winter, diphtheria cases in this city jumped to 22 and one dead from influenza was reported to the health department here today. There was also one death from typhoid fever and reports showed another case on record, the exact nature of which was not known.

Burns in Furnace

Lying unconscious near the furnace in the Lake Bluff, Ill., police station and town hall, her body stripped of clothing and her legs and arms burned to the bone, Miss Elfrida Knaak, pretty saleswoman of a Chicago publishing company, furnished police with a new mystery. Whether she was the dupe of hallucinations which caused her to inflict the injuries upon herself or was the victim of assault is the question police are trying to solve. She died Friday morning.

ANGELO FANS CAPTURE THE CITY EASILY

Ranger Won by Those 182 Boosters Who Travel 400 Miles.

Ranger was host Saturday afternoon to 182 boosters of the San Angelo Bobcats who made a 400-mile journey to see their favorites clash with the Ranger Bulldogs.

When the special train arrived, the enthusiastic crowd of men, women and children swarmed out and took possession of the city. Ranger surrendered, without a struggle, to the smiling, genial folks from the Tom Green county metropolis who, headed by their band, marched cheering through the business district and on out to the football field.

Throughout the game, that band of loyal fans from Concholand had the "pep" and they kept cheering their fighting team—and the team rewarded their loyalty by fighting to the very finish.

After the struggle, the San Angoleans were smiling. Of course, they would have been far happier if their team had won but it had faced a heavier and more experienced foe on the latter's home ground and had lost by the margin of a single touchdown while several times the angel of victory had swept so high upon the battling Bobcats that they could hear the rustle of the goddess' robe.

It was a clean game. There was only one penalty except for offside, and that was a 15-yard penalty against Ranger for holding on offense. Both elevens played hard but they did not sully their skill or achievement by unsportsmanlike conduct or unbecoming tactics.

The San Angelo team members were guests of honor at a reception tendered last night at the Holston hotel by students of the Ranger high school.

At 7 o'clock last evening, the special train departed for San Angelo with its cargo of 182 splendid citizens of that progressive city. They were consoled by the thought that their team "had fought the good fight"—and that there would be other seasons and other games. And Ranger citizens were happy to have had them here even if for only so brief a space as a few hours—and complimented that Ranger was fortunate enough to be the city that was the mecca of the longest trip perhaps that was ever made by a special train to attend an intra-district game.

SAFE IS SMASHED BY THIEF

Robbery Occurs During Second Half of Nebraska-Kansas Game.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 3.—Approximately $4,000, which were the receipts of the Kansas-Nebraska football game, were stolen from the safe in the Kansas university office here while the second half of the game was being played this afternoon.

The money was removed from the office of the ticket seller to the safe in the intermission between the halves and, immediately after the game, when officials came to count the money, they found the safe broken open. A woman may have been involved in the theft, Dr. Allen, athletic director, told the United Press.

According to those who were near the office before the robbery, the woman was seen loitering near the gymnasium. The combination of the safe had been knocked off, evidently with a sledge hammer, and then the door forced open with an iron bar, Dr. Allen said.

The amount stolen did not represent the total receipts of the game, as some of the funds from advance sale of the seats had been banked previously.

Lodging For Night Ends In Killing

LIBERTY, Texas, Nov. 3.—The examining trial for John Swilley, 65, has been set for Monday when evidence will be heard in an effort to learn the circumstances surrounding the slaying of J. H. Hendrix, 40, and the beating of his wife in Swilley's home.

A charge of murder has been filed against Swilley in connection with the death of Hendrix. He was shot and killed when he attempted to rob Swilley after the latter had given Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix permission to remain in his home for the night, according to Swilley. The auto in which Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix had been traveling had become stalled in a heavy rainstorm, and the couple sought refuge at the Swilley place.

Bud Bryan, who lives with Swilley, told officers that the dead man's wife was struck on the head with Swilley's gun when she went to his husband's aid. Although the blow stunned her, the woman will recover. Swilley was held in jail here pending examining trial.

Plans Are Made for 20 Planes to Be Here

The Pathfinder plane of the Fort Worth aerocade of 20 airplanes was in Ranger Saturday afternoon on the last lap of its preliminary trip to get acquainted with the fields to be visited. The Pathfinder ship is owned by the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company and will lead the aerocade which will be here next Saturday afternoon.

In the plane were Hub Diggs, chairman of the Fort Worth aerocade; D. W. Carlton, aviation secretary of the Fort Worth Association of Commerce; George B. Fredell, sales manager of the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company, and Pilot V. N. Johns.

Borger Officers Under Indictment

STINNETT, Texas, Nov. 3.—The Hutchinson county grand jury resumed its investigations of conditions in this county after having returned five indictments Friday, three of them against John W. Crabtree, Borger chief of police; Sam Jones, a patrolman, and Johnny Ford, a patrolman and sanitary engineer.

The officers made bond. They are charged with misfeasance in office and Ford is charged with accepting a bribe. Charges against Chief Crabtree include letting two prisoners escape from jail after they had been arrested on charges of intoxication and carrying arms.

SMOKING CAUSE OF A KILLING

Nagging and Cigarettes Result in Death for Nebraska Farmwife.

NORFOLK, Neb., Nov. 3.—She smoked cigarettes and nagged him, so Ernest Witmer, a youthful farmer, killed his wife and buried her in a cornfield on his farm near here.

The youth walked to the police station and last night revealed in detail the manner in which Rosa, his 20-year-old bride, met death. "First I put some poison in a glass of beer," he said. "Then when she became dizzy I hit her with a buggy wheel spoke and then I hit her on the head with an axe."

Although no charge had been filed against Witmer, authorities have been investigating the disappearance of the pair a month ago, it was said today.

The cornfield in which Witmer said he buried his bride is covered with snow but despite that candicap a search was to be made today for the grave.

Witmer seemed to be mentally sound, police said.

PLANE IS MAROONED FOR NIGHT

Passenger Receives Serious Injuries When Passenger Airplane Crashes.

CHICO, Calif., Nov. 3.—One passenger was critically injured and seven other persons aboard the Portland-San Francisco plane received minor cuts and bruises when the aircraft crashed into a tree shortly after 9 o'clock last night and was wrecked, about 35 miles northeast of here, A. F. Whitmore, an attorney en route from Seattle to Redwood City, suffered a crushed head and internal injuries which physicians pronounced critical. He was brought to the hospital here.

The plane had been backing strong winds all day and, leaving Portland at 10 o'clock, was running eight hours behind its schedule at the time of the crash, according to Pilot C. S. Goldsmith. He and Relief Pilot M. Evans spent the entire night gathering firewood in order to keep their passengers warm.

The stranded pilots were unable to communicate news of their flight to anyone until early this morning when Goldsmith walked two miles to a farmhouse and phoned to Chico for aid. Ambulances were sent at once to the scene of the crash and the injured brought to Chico.

Guy Quirl, county scout executive, has issued a call to every Ranger scout asking that they meet Monday afternoon after school to cut sunflowers and weeds and to scatter "chat" at the landing field. Each boy is requested to bring a hoe or shovel.

EVIDENCE OF BLOW ON NECK OF DEAD GIRL

X-Ray of Miss Knaak's Skull Will Be Made, Says Coroner.

LAKE BLUFF, Ill., Nov. 3.—Firm in the belief that Miss Elfrida Knaak was murdered, John L. Taylor, coroner of Lake county, today prepared to X-ray the skull to substantiate his belief that she was clubbed and then forced into the Lake Bluff police station furnace.

"I have reason to believe she was struck in the back of the neck," Taylor said, but refused to go into details.

George Hargraves, a private detective investigating the burning, told the United Press that he had discovered a depression on the back of Miss Knaak's neck which led him to believe she had been hit with a red hot iron bar or an instrument of similar nature. Miss Knaak died yesterday in a hospital in Lake Forest after lingering in a semi-delirious state for three days.

She was found Tuesday morning in the basement of the police station, with her legs, arms, shoulders and head burned almost to the bone.

Hargraves said the depression on Miss Knaak's neck was about an inch wide and extended from the middle to the right side of the neck.

Another boy swam to safety.

They were the Porto Rica variety. Mr. Howard said that he had planted only a small patch in the sweets but that the yield had been very good.

RICHMOND, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Vincent Rice, a 17-year-old student, confessed today that he had strangled to death pretty 15-year-old Alice Joost because she resented his advances.

The girl's body was found by her mother, Mrs. Lucia Joost, last night. Rice had "kept company" with the girl since last June.

NEW YORK CHEERS AS AL TALKS

20,000 Pack Madison Square Garden; Republicans Are Not Fair, He Says.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith summed up his case before the American political jury here tonight at his home town rally of more than 20,000 shrieking, laughing and cheering enthusiasts.

The democratic presidential nominee called the roll of campaign leaders and issues, contending a progressive and forward-looking verdict would be returned for him when the ballots are counted Tuesday night.

The republican leadership, he argued, has taken the side of reaction on the issues of prohibition, waterpower, farm relief, prosperity, tariff, governmental organization and purity in government. It had encouraged, he said, the support of the Ku Klux Klan and Anti-Saloon-league agencies which he maintains were bigoted and intolerant.

He described his democratic leadership as a distinct contrast to the republican attitude on the issues he named. He would offer, he added, government protection of the waterpower resources, a sympathetic farm policy, wider spread prosperity, a tariff kept out of politics, a coordination of government and an honest administration.

Smith charged his republican opponent had hardly been fair in failing to debate the issues. He said the American system of politics proposed that a national campaign should be a debate to let the people decide the issues.

S. M. U. LEADS FLAG CHASE

MEMORIAL STADIUM, AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—Southern Methodist university of Dallas gained an unexpected lead in the Southwestern conference football race here this afternoon when they defeated the Orange and White team of Texas, 6 to 2. For the most part, the teams fought on even terms and were cheered repeatedly by a colorful crowd that packed the huge stadium.

It was only in the second period after Hume, Mustang back, had gone out of the game with a sprained ankle that the Mustangs got away with an aerial attack and put over the first score—a pass, Reed to Love, scored the touchdown.

Late in the fourth period after Texas had lost the ball on downs on S. M. U.'s one-yard line, Reed, standing behind his goal, attempted to punt and was tackled by Brown, giving Texas a safety.

Woman Burglar Throws An Acid

DALLAS, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Myrtle Young was seriously burned by ammonia which a woman burglar threw in her face last night. She was treated for burns on her head, face, back and shoulders. A large bottle of the fluid was poured on her, barely missing her eyes.

Mrs. Young heard the prowler and started to jump out of bed. The woman took several steps toward her and then hurled the fluid in her face. When she screamed, the burglar fled.

Entrance to Mrs. Young's home was gained through a unlocked window.

WHY NOT VOTE?
 Although more interest has been manifested in the present election than in any the nation has known in many years, it is doubtful if more than 65 per cent of the qualified voters go to the polls. In other words, enough citizens will remain away to turn the election either way, if they would only cast their ballots. The president of the United States is always the choice of only a minority of the citizens—because so many do not take the trouble to go to the polls.

Coming closer to home, Texas is likely to cast 800,000 votes Tuesday. It is important that Eastland county should poll as large a vote as possible. It is the boast of this county that it is the heaviest-voting county between Fort Worth and El Paso. This boast was made good in the July primary and again in the August primary. But at least one county and perhaps two—where the present campaign has grown very hot—threaten to out-vote Eastland county.

Fortunately for our county, the bitterness and feeling that have marked the campaign elsewhere have been largely absent here. But we hope that the people of this county will maintain the county's high standing by going to the polls in great numbers Tuesday.

Ranger is the largest city in the county. The school enrollment proves it and the list of qualified voters proves it. Civic pride as well as one's duty as a good citizen should cause everyone who has paid a poll tax to vote here.

Who you vote for is of course for you to decide. With that we are not concerned. But regardless of who you vote for, won't you vote?

SUPPORT THE VETERANS.
 (San Angelo Standard.)

The voters of Tom Green county owe it to the Confederate veterans to aid in bringing about the defeat of the proposed amendment which is intended for their relief but which is so worded as to defeat its own purpose.

As the veterans have pointed out, the amendment, by striking out the dates 1910 and 1861, lets hundreds of others come into the state to share in the present fund. No provision is made to increase this fund. This would mean that many from other states could establish their residences in Texas, draw their pension here, and spend most of their time visiting relatives in other states. This is the procedure by which the veterans fear that their pension may be reduced should the amendment pass.

The $18 a month which the veterans now draw certainly is now small enough without having to share it with outsiders. Colonel Z. I. Williams says if this amendment is passed pensions will be cut to $12 or $15 a month. The veterans have studied this proposed amendment and know what it means to them. Certainly it is up to the voter to support them.

Toral's Trial Is Drawing Crowds

By United Press.
 MEXICO CITY, Nov. 3.—The trial of Jose DeLeon Toral and Mother Superior Concepcion, charged with the assassination of President-Elect Obregon, was resumed today. Crowds fought to get into the tiny courtroom. Toral told the jury yesterday—the opening day of the trial—that he killed Obregon in behalf of "all Catholic rebels."

"I am united with rebels in ideals alone," he said. "I consider living rebels as heroes and those dead as martyrs."

Those Anxious Moments—Just Before Verdict

"Buy at Home" Is Urged Here

(By Alice D. True, secretary, Ranger R. M. A.)

Because no community can be built up without the patronage of its citizens.

Because the upbuilding and progress of your town depends more on the home merchant than upon all other sources.

Because as a loyal citizen, you should at least contribute your patronage to your home merchants as a means of helping to build a more prosperous town.

Because the dollar you send away from home is virtually certain never to return to you, even in part, and the dollar you spend at home may come back to you with big interest added.

Because the out-of-town merchant contributes nothing toward better schools, churches, paved streets and all the conveniences of the modern city; and, without the home merchant, you could enjoy none of these things.

Because the home merchant can serve you more quickly and exactly the kind of goods you want; at as good or better prices than can any distant mail order house.

Because you come in personal touch with your home merchant who understands your personal problems and often is able to assist you in emergencies, whereas you never ask or receive favors from outside concerns, and, finally;

Because your home merchant is your neighbor and fellow-townsmen with whom you can discuss and work out community problems and thus, by co-operating with him help to make your own town a better and more prosperous city that will attract other good citizens to it, to your own advantage as well as his.

We believe in our home town; we love our home town. Let's prove it.

BERNARD SHAW GIVES VIEWS AS TO PEACE

Famous British Writer-Socialist Is Not Highly Optimistic.

By United Press.

LONDON.—"If they disarm, they can still fight with their table knives and rabbit guns, or their teeth and claws," said a tall, blue-eyed white haired old man with a shaven beard in reply to the question: Do you think that the Nations of the World will ever agree to disarm?

It was during a conversation between George Bernard Shaw, popularly known as "G. B. S." and the United Press Correspondent to whom he had granted an exclusive interview. It took place at the Great Socialist satirist's apartment in Whitehall Court, a superb block of buildings from the windows of which the British War office is visible, scarcely one hundred feet away.

"Why am I never interviewed on serious questions?" Shaw had asked in a witty statement recently published.

"What about the effect of Socialism in Peace, War and Disarmament?" was the immediate query of the United Press, to which the Great Writer replied: "All right then, put your questions and I will do my best to answer them."

The Shawian challenge was accepted with the following result: "Do you believe," he was asked, "that pacifists like the Kellogg pact are of any use in the prevention of future wars?"

"Are you satisfied that the United States is anxious to foster peace and good will among nations? Do you believe that her efforts past and present, will have any serious effect upon the outlook of peace?"

"The United States," Shaw replied, "proved in 1917 that it was more frantically bellicose than any of the European combatants, it sent girls to prison for eighteen years for deprecating war, and arrested men for quoting the Constitution. All Christian Nations preach peace and good will—making quite a fuss about it on the 25th of December—until the first shot is fired and then—!!"

In contrast to America's peace efforts, Shaw, asked for his opinion on the Soviet's proposal for complete world disarmament, answered: "It called our peace bluff very effectively. When he turned it down under cover of refusing to speak to the wicked Russians we did not force that Mr. Kellogg would pick it up again, and that we could not turn him down in view of all the money we owe his country."

Next came the question "Do you think that anti-war plays and serious anti-war literature can have any beneficial effect upon the future peace prospects of the world?" The reply came swiftly, briefly: "That depends on whether they are good plays or bad ones."

Three other questions also received brief replies:

Question: "Do you think that the nations of the world will ever agree to disarm?"

Reply: "If they disarm they can still fight with their table knives and rabbit guns, or their teeth and claws."

Question: "Is disarmament essential to the future peace of the world?"

Reply: "Disarmament is very superficial remedy for war."

Question: "Is public opinion sufficiently strong to prevent future wars? Do you think that if there were another world war in prospect, the influence of modern womanhood could stop it?"

Reply: "Yes, if it is sufficiently pacifist and plucky. There is no evidence that women are less warlike than men."

Then Shaw was asked what the last war taught public opinion. "It has," he said, "taught us what savages we are under our civilian garments. We are living in a world which has found itself out, and yet does not know in which direction to flee from the wrath to come."

French Military Leaders Complete Vast Plan of Defense Against Enemy Attack

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS—During the ten years which the French army has been in the Rhineland, part of that time along side the Americans, and the remainder dividing the continent with the British and Belgians, the French general staff and superior war council have studied every inch of ground between the Rhine and the French frontier and now have completed a vast campaign of defense if France ever again is invaded from the East.

In 1914, France was at a disadvantage. She had expected war with Germany and looked upon war as a natural outcome of the rivalry of the two countries as colonizing powers. She wanted back Alsace and Lorraine and realized that only an eventual war and victory would bring them to her. But France did not expect war in 1914.

The French general staff, once regarded as the greatest set of cogwheels any fighting machine had ever had, was caught asleep. The French army was without a complete set of artillery maps, even of the eastern section of France. It took months to repair this error and meanwhile the French army had been voluntarily withdrawn six miles from the border as an act of good faith, and the Germans had tramped in behind them.

Now France has learned a lesson. The war college had an excellent opportunity during ten years to study the terrain and to draft a gigantic scheme of strategy which will be filed away for the day France may need again to defend her eastern territory.

Effective Border Defenses
By means of army manoeuvres, officers were trained in the strategy of the Rhineland campaign.

Troops learned the lay of the land and under the French army organization law these troops will be available for active service in case of war for twenty years to come.

But of even greater importance was the opportunity given France to study the German territory up to the Rhine, with the point of view of elaborating the most effective scheme of border defenses possible along the whole of the French frontier from the Channel to the Mediterranean.

This new "Wall of China" which France is building along the East, with materials turned over by Germany under the Dawes plan, is the greatest modern defense system ever conceived. Beside it the famous Hindenburg line and the Krimhilde defense trenches were sand castles.

The Hindenburg line was broken by the American army in a dozen places in the Argonne. It had its concrete gunpits, its strongboxes for machine guns and its stone and concrete trenches, but it was built in a hurry and a few well placed shells made its fall comparatively easy.

The French are stringing fortresses and strongholds all along the frontier, but the study of the terrain has made it possible to make these fortresses almost impregnable. They command every important road intersection, every pass through the hills, every railroad and bridge, and armies on foot would be subject to annihilating fire.

The scheme is really the masterpiece of Marshal Petain, although it was touched up in spots by experts of the Ministry of War and by the Superior War Council. Recently, M. Painleve, French Minister of War, walked over the section of defenses which will string from Metz to Strasbourg, along the top of a commanding range of hills.

M. Painleve was impressed with the promises of the new eastern barrier and to the United Press made the following statement:

"Our knowledge of the Rhineland allowed us to select the most rational defense scheme from many that were submitted by experts of many countries. We based the defenses on the lessons of the last war, and I believe experts will agree that the new scheme represents the most efficient protection against modern aerial and cannon fire that it is possible to attain today.

of two plans, the first a sort of continued frontline, an organized trench system built of steel and concrete, and the other a series of regional strongholds. Along our eastern topography to consider beginning with the flats of the Channel coast, then rolling hills, wooded mountains such as the Vosges, swamps, river valleys and finally the mountainous peaks of the Alps.

Strategy Revealed
"We had to organize the most minute defense of all this frontier for France does not intend to sit by and allow her borders to be invaded. The defense scheme changes with each geographical problem. There are places where thousands of machinegun nests are to be built. In other sites, high in the mountains, a few cannons well imbedded and protected from above can command every pass.

"In general our adopted plan consists of a succession of fortified regions, organized in depth to meet the topographical demands, for every rise or depression in the landscape has its strategic and economic importance. The plan includes the building of strategical roads and railroads, which will help the economic side of civil life.

"The real fortified strongholds will consist of fortress, batteries, breastworks and munition storehouses, concrete gunpits, machinegun blockhouses and underground cables for continuous communications laid so low that they will not be disturbed by ordinary gunfire.

"The rebuilding of the fortifications on the northeast, east and southeast borders will cost between six and seven billion francs. I had estimated 400,000,000 francs for this year's work, but unfortunately our financial situation was such that M. Poincare reduced the budget to 300 millions.

"This year we are really doing the preparatory work, buying land which cannot be condemned and acquiring materials. The work starts around Metz and by next year the whole Metz sector should be ready to stand up against the greatest army that could be assembled to attack from the east.

Push Along the Rhine
"We will then push down along the Rhine where it is our eastern border and up along the German frontier where Germany holds the left bank of the river. Bridgeheads will come in for special attention and experts declare that once we have completed the wall of fortifications no force of men and machinery can ever force it.

"Our plans do not overlook the southeastern border where the Alps divide France and Italy. There are only a limited number of valleys and passes and it remains for us to fortify the heights so as to remain master at all times of the valleys.

"In the region of Nice certain works have already been started. Our neighbors, the Italians, on their side of the border have pushed along their own scheme of fortifications and it is elementary tactics that we lose no time in building as fast and as far as they do. It is a prudence required of us and we will not fail.

"The fortification of the Belgian frontier will be far less important, because we cannot build up impregnable obstacles in face of our friends, the Belgians. But it must be remembered that we were attacked once before by an enemy which violated Belgium and marched through that state into France. "I am convinced that the execution of this plan will not have any international repercussion. The plan is essentially defensive. Far from being a bellicose manifestation, this gigantic security scheme will be in reality a step forward in our pacific policy and give the country greater freedom of action. French generosity need no longer expose the nation to mortal danger."

Prairie May Be In a Big Merger
NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Reports were circulated in Wall street today of an impending gigantic oil merger with Sinclair consolidated oil corporation as the nucleus. According to the rumors, Sinclair is to acquire the Prairie Oil & Gas company and possibly other important interests. The plans, it is said, would make a combined company that for size would rival the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and would have as its head Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

This reports lack confirmation from official sources. They were given some credence, however, by the enormous turnover in Sinclair common stock on the New York stock exchange for the past week.

MAVERICKS BY 19-13 VICTORY OUT OF CELLAR

Brownwood Puts Up Good Fight, Smith's Passes Turn Tide.

The Brownwood Lions won the cellar championship when the Eastland Mavericks won their first conference game of the season, 19 to 13, Friday afternoon on the Eastland gridiron.

Neither eleven had scored a victory in an official game and they fought desperately—each bent on escaping from last position for the season. And Eastland had a real struggle to win. Handicapped by the absence of Norton, regular halfback, and with Connie Smith, backfield ace, playing despite a broken nose, Eastland staged its least impressive game of the year. Smith's passing was handicapped by lack of accuracy due to his injury and to his eyesight being disturbed by an odd contraption he was forced to wear across his face. Even then he threw passes into the hands of receivers who seemed unable to hold the ball.

Eastland gained more ground and showed the greater power. The Mavericks should have won by a wider margin. However, to the honor of the Lions it should be recorded that Taylor, Brownwood fullback, took liberties with the Maverick line that no other fullback—whether with Breckenridge, Abilene or Ranger—has taken through the Eastland forward wall all season. On one occasion, he hit the line for 10 yards and repeatedly made splendid gains during the second quarter—which was Brownwood's high tide. The remainder of the game was just about all Eastland.

Throughout the first quarter, the ball was in the Lions' territory. Smith made a pretty off-tackle run for 16 yards, threw a pass to Cheatham for 14 yards and another to Foster for seven. But the attack lacked sustained force. After punt exchanges, McCullough, Allen and Cheatham plowed the line, then Smith flung a short pass to Brawner who ran 20 yards for a touchdown. King kicked goal.

The Lions outgained the Mavericks in the second quarter. Taylor smashed through the line for substantial gains and then Hicks dashed around end for 20 yards to score. Kick was missed. The Brownwood aggregation took the lead in the third quarter when Hicks raced down the sidelines with a punt for 70 yards and a score. Goal was kicked.

Allen, Maverick fullback, then tore the Brownwood line to shreds, with Cheatham—pulled back from end—carrying the ball through the line and off-tackle for good gains and the fourth quarter opened with only a yard to go. Allen bucked it over but kick was missed and the score was 13-11.

At last the Eastland air attack began functioning as it had earlier in the season. Smith tossed one to Foster for 15 yards and then on the next play whipped one through the middle of the line to McCullough who made a beautiful gallop to the five-yard line. Hitting the line, Eastland scored again, Cheatham putting the ball over. Try for the point by a pass failed.

Taylor with his line plunging and Hicks, by his two touchdown runs, starred for the losers. Allen, who battered the line, Cheatham who did good work as defensive end and offensive half, and McCullough, who played his best game of the year, featured for Eastland with the crippled Connie Smith, as usual, doing good playing.

ly reached him before the Bobcat was in an open field. As it was, Grimes brought the ball back 28 yards.

The Bobcats got busy and mixed their drives through the line with off-tackle and end runs till they worked the ball to Ranger's 40-yard line but a fumble and a bad snap stopped the drive.

They recovered the ball on Ranger's fumble, however, on Angelo's 49-yard line and the elusive Massey went off left tackle for 17 yards and almost immediately after on the same type of play gained 11 yards. It was as pretty work as has been done on the Ranger gridiron this season, the way that lad shifted his way through the secondary, unaided. The Bobcats were only 12 yards from the goal as the quarter ended. But the fighting Bulldogs gained the ball on downs. And Hammett kicked out of danger.

After Hamberlin had punted back, Whitehall made another dazzling run for 26 yards but the Bulldogs could not get going and a punt exchange followed. Then came Ranger's march for a touchdown.

Angels to the Air.
At the opening of the second half, the Bobcats made their first drive. Baker dashed back 20 yards with the kickoff. With the ball on the Bobcats' 40-yard line, Baker took to the air, hurling a pass to McCamey for 15 yards.

After Baker had lost six yards on an attempted end run, he tried the air again—only this time he was on the receiving end and Massey threw the oval for a 14-yard gain.

Baker slanted off tackle for six yards and Hamberlin made three on a fake through the line. Baker hurled a pass to Massey for eight yards. Then another of those passes—Baker to Massey—gained 15 yards and only three to go for a touchdown. But then it was that the Bulldogs rose to the occasion and at the end of four plays, San Angelo had been driven back four yards.

Hammett's toe gained a heavy advantage in punt exchanges and the Bulldogs launched another attack, this time getting to the Bobcats' 11-yard line. But McCamey intercepted a pass and ran 20 yards down the sidelines before he was brought to earth. He was almost loose.

The entire fourth quarter was played in Angelo's territory. Garland Hinman played a smashing game at defensive tackle while Hammett and Whitehall sparkled on offense. For the vanquished, Massey's running, Baker's passing and Hamberlin's defensive play were splendid.

Hoover Bestows No High Honors to The Women of America

Special to The Times.
NEW YORK.—"When Mr. Hoover was food administrator," declared Miss Anne Martin, former chairman of the national woman's party, who formerly non-partisan, has thrown its support to the republican ticket in this campaign. "No woman was ever appointed to any executive position by him. No woman ever sat in on his executive councils, but he used the brain of women. The famous Hoover food rules, under which this country lived and ate during the war, were formulated by women experts in domestic science and economy. But no one of these experts who prepared his material for him was ever given credit. Instead, he used their expert knowledge in his office while getting women all over the country to wear the Hoover apron in their kitchens.

"And this is the man whom the Woman's Party has chosen to support on the strength of his statement that he would investigate their proposed equal rights amendment, in the face of Governor Smith's successful fight for equal pay for teachers, for equality of pay and opportunity in the several services, and in the face of his appointing at least 15 women to important public offices in New York state, with two women, Mrs. Charles Bennett and Miss Frances Perkins as actual heads of important commissions.

"In his acceptance speech Governor Smith said: 'I believe in the true equality of women that opens to them without restriction all avenues of opportunity for which they can qualify in business, in government and in politics.'

"In Mr. Hoover's acceptance speech, Mr. Hoover's only reference to women was to urge them to register when he said: 'I would wish that the women of our country would embrace this problem in citizenship, failure to exercise the responsibility of the ballot box as peculiarly their own.' In other words Hoover was not thinking about what he could do for women but what women could do for him."

Miss Martin was National Chairman of the National Woman's party from 1916 to 1917. She was legislative chairman in that organization till 1918. She ran as an independent for United States Senator from Nevada in 1918 and again in 1920. She was also the leader of the campaign that won woman suffrage for Nevada in 1914.

Shower of Candy and Chewing Gum Will Fall Upon Ranger Monday

Hundreds of Ranger kiddies who have wished all their lives that candy and chewing gum would rain from the skies will have that wish granted Monday at 4 p. m., as Captain Dallas M. Speer in his Baby Ruth airplane flies over the residential sections of the city and releases several hundred bars of Baby Ruth candy and packages of Peppermint gum, attached to miniature parachutes.

This unusual form of "rainfall" is to be given as a treat to the kiddies of Ranger by the Hassen company, through arrangements made with Otto Y. Schnering, president of the Curtiss Candy and Gum companies of Chicago.

Capt. Speer, accompanied by George H. McCarty of the public relations staff of the Curtiss Candy and Gum companies, arrived at Ranger's municipal airport yesterday afternoon in their candy bombing airplane. Captain Speer, member of the air corps reserve was formerly stationed at Arcadia, Fla., and at Carruthers field, Fort Worth, as instructor in flying during the world war.

During his visit here the "Candy Flier" will take several invited guests for flights over the city. Upon his arrival at the local airport yesterday he stated that he would drop the sweets-laden parachutes over the residential sections and that it would not be necessary for the kiddies to go out of their own neighborhoods to get in on this treat because he plans to make his visit here a veritable downpour of candy bars and gum.

Capt. Speer and Mr. McCarty are at the Gholson, where they will spend the week-end, remaining for the candy shower Monday. The plane will take passengers today.

The ship will be at Eastland at 4:30 o'clock Monday by courtesy of Hassen company.

The club was called to order by Pauline head. Richard Rudolph announced the debaters, Lewis Gregg speaking in behalf of Governor Smith and Frank Plumley for Herbert Hoover. The debate was won by Lewis. The rules adopted by the club are very strict and all members are required to comply with them. An interesting program is being planned for the next meeting by Mary Edlo Davenport.

1920 CLUB HAS AUTHENTIC MATERIAL FOR PROGRAM.

The 1920 club met Thursday afternoon in the green room of the Gholson. Mrs. L. P. Lawton was leader for the afternoon, introducing her subject, "Ireland," with John McCormack's record, "Just a Little Bit of Heaven," and closing it with "The Sidewalks of New York." Miss Bowles gave two musical numbers of the Emerald Isle, with an Irish reading in between.

"English Countryside and Its People" was given by Mrs. A. Williams, a native of Manchester, England, who has been in this country only three years. Some very interesting facts were given by the club by Mrs. Williams on her beloved England.

Mrs. W. D. Conway, who made a trip to the European countries a few years ago, gave some splendid first-hand information on "English Cathedral Towns, Castles and Court Houses." Postcards were passed around for the club's inspection, showing the places mentioned by Mrs. Conway. In the business meeting Mrs. A. L. Duffer gave a report on the county federation which met in Rising Star. Mrs. Duffer complimented the women of Rising Star for the hospitality shown the federation, also praising the new clubhouse. A report was given by the ways and means committee and the secretary. It was voted to postpone the next meeting on account of the conference meeting at that time. The meeting will be Nov. 22.

Red a Popular Color in The Fashions of Present Season

By HONORE BOOTH
Fashion Expert of Harper's Bazar (Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Eugene Field's classic utterance, "Any old color so long as it's red," might be fittingly applied to this season, not only for evening when brilliant shades of cardinal and Calini red dot every gathering, but also in the realm of sports where there is merely a suggestion, though a quite definite one, of this gay color. It is not, of course, seen in entire costumes as in evening, or even afternoon frocks, but it is almost always there, introduced furtively in nearly every one of the smart tweeds, by flecks or hairlines, this same note repeated in the frock and coat lining of ensembles, often with hat and hand bag to accent the gay note.

The outdoor activity in which the younger generation is most interested at the moment is—football—and there is every indication that the stadiums will be resplendent with brilliant hues. The flag colors have held over from the summer, many blue suits and ensembles having accessories and trimming of red. Blues are popular, as are greens and of course the browns and beiges we have always with us and they form the backbone of the sports mode but even this combination is often enlivened by the red note.

Heavy woolen ensembles are worn almost like a uniform by football devotees, for they are extremely warm and are proof against the most blustering of November winds. The joy of heavy woolens is that they are warm enough to wear throughout the winter. The tweeds themselves are worn over a closely knit jersey jumper these new ensembles offer an impregnable protection against the cold. An ensemble specially designed for wear at the games is named a football costume. It is made of heavy tweed coating with a finger length coat lined with bright red crepe and worn over a blouse of the same shade. A deep shawl collar of kimmer gives a rich, warm effect and ingeniously supplies a one-hand muff.

Much Fur on Coats and Suits.
Many of the winter suits have little short jackets of fur. These are both smart, warm and extremely youthful. They often come in beige or gray, the caracul dyed to match the wool of the skirt. And flat satiny fur, broadtail or gal-yac is used for all fur ensembles with a wrap-around skirt of fur, topped by a short coat to match. These are excellent for active sports since they are less bulky and more supple than a long fur coat, yet equally as warm.

Top coats are nearly always warmly furred with voluminous collars and cavalier cuffs and these are done in many lovely new coating materials. There are the heavy tweeds, which one must mention first—for first, last and always this is a tweed season. Then there are the softly napped and very warm coatings of llama in twill or twisted weaves with many color combinations, the browns and beiges predominating. Sometimes the brown has a rose cast, or a creamy tint, and the beiges are either definitely yellowish or they have a tinge of peach. Then, too, there are the camel's hair weaves, lovely, soft and warm mostly seen in natural colorings. For the coat of more dressy purpose the velours are extremely good. In this fabric black is far and away the favorite usually trimmed with natural lynx, badger or flat caracul or broadtail.

The Muff Returns.

One of the most feminine accessories—the muff—shows unmistakable signs of coming back this season. A muff, however, so up to date that it will supply modern needs. One of the newest of accessory ensembles is the three-piece set consisting of hat, scarf and muff. I saw two yesterday just over from Paris, both very intriguing. One was of pale gray, the felt hat having a band of clipped lamb introduced as trimming, this same fur fashioning a short wide scarf which pulled through a slash, forming a choker. The third piece of this triangle was a stunning muff, large and oblong with a flat bow of the shaved lamb laid on the top for ornamentation.

The other three piece set though quite different and equally striking, was of shiny black broadtail, the muff tiny and round with a loop to hang it on one's arm. The scarf was three cornered and rather large, with a curved standing collar which stood up flatteringly around the neck. The hat was small and tight fitting with an inset band of the fur for trimming. Still another muff or gray kimmer presented quite a novelty in that it closed, envelope-fashion with a large round button, and when open revealed an interior lined with matching gray suede and a commodious purse attached to the inner side. An ingenious idea this, which enables one hand to negotiate both muff and purse and will no doubt do much to popularize this accessory.

Science can magnify the human voice 12,000 times. Let's hope they never take up auto horns.

DENTON, Nov. 4.—Several factors are included in securing of inexpensive meals. First, one must buy in quantities that are the most economical. It is also necessary to save on fuel. This may be done in several ways. You may cook a large enough quantity to have some left over to use in another way, plan a meal that can be baked in one oven, use the water left in the bottom of the double boiler to cook eggs, roast and meat on top of the stove, or use a fireless cooker.

Menus.

Breakfast—Stewed apricots, milk toast, coffee.
Dinner—Broiled steak, creamed potatoes, buttered peas, fruit salad, rolls, butter, tapioca cream pudding.
Supper—Escalloped rice, lettuce sandwiches, tomato and potato cheese salad.
Breakfast—Stewed prunes, oatmeal, French toast, jelly, coffee, milk.
Dinner—Swiss steak, spinach, Parsley potatoes, lettuce salad, bread and butter, apricot whip and wafers.
Supper—Stuffed eggs, sliced tomatoes, buttered green beans, bread and butter, cocoa.

Recipes.

Apricot Whip—Run one cup of stewed apricots through a sieve or ricer. Add 1/2 cup sugar and one egg white. Beat until frothy and stiff. Add 1/4 cup nut meats if desired.
Escalloped Rice—Steam one cup rice, allowing one tablespoon salt. Cover bottom of buttered pudding dish with rice, dot over with 3/4 tablespoon butter. Sprinkle with thin shavings of mild cheese and a few grains cayenne. Repeat until rice and 1-4 pound of cheese are used. Add milk to half the depth of contents of dish, cover with buttered cracker crumbs, and bake until cheese melts.

EXAMPLE GOOD WAY TO TEACH GOOD MANNERS

By MABEL KIMBLE.

Good manners are an essential part in a well-rounded education and a real asset throughout life. The only successful way to teach good manners, especially to a child, is by example, if he is to learn courtesy, respect for himself and others, is to converse instead of merely gossip, have good manners at the table, which brings to our mind that little stanza: "A child should always say what's true,

And speak when he is spoken to, And behave mannerly at table At least so far as he is able."

And when he meets guests in his home, he must learn all this by example. Reverence, obedience, truthfulness, honesty, cleanliness, and neatness are all essential and must be learned gradually by concrete example. Good habits should become almost mechanical routine so that a child answers courteously without second thought, handles his knife and fork properly and goes through the thousand and one acts of daily life correctly and easily.

When a child is learning to talk, he is conscious of every effort but gradually he uses words as expressions of ideas without thought of the individual words he uses. Similarly he learns to speak and act correctly as a matter of course and without thinking twice what he is doing. He is well mannered because he knows no other course of conduct.

Final Drive to Obtain Names for Courthouse Has Been Launched

Residents of County Asked to Aid Legion in Checking Present List of War Veterans.

The final drive to obtain a correct list of World War veterans, who enlisted in this county, and who are eligible to have their names placed upon bronze table to be placed in the Eastland county courthouse, has been launched, according to B. H. Peacock, chairman of the courthouse dedication committee.

All chapters of the Legion in this county are working together in order to obtain a flawless list of names.

A new list has been compiled and marks of identification have been placed after some of the names.

"Information," Peacock said, "satisfactory to the eligibility committee has been furnished on all those whose names are followed by one star. Those who died in service are denoted by two stars following.

"On the others the information is still incomplete. The assistance of the entire public is requested to the end that a full and correct list of all men who served ones on the list may have been in the world war from this county may be obtained. Some of the placed there by mistake or misinformation on the part of the one who turned the name into the committee. There are probably others whose names are entitled to be on the list. Some of the names may be misspelled, or the initials may be wrong.

"Some on the list may prefer it to go on the tablet in a different form, and information to this effect is wanted. In other words every citizen is asked to study the list and give to the committee any information with reference thereto that would in any way assist in getting it correct."

Such information may be given or mailed to B. H. Peacock, Ranger, chairman of the committee, Grady Owen, Eastland, E. M. Howard, Rising Star and H. A. Bible, Cisco.

All persons who were residents of Eastland county at the time of entering the military service are eligible.

What is a Capitalist?

A CAPITALIST is one who accumulates beyond his consumption. It is said that a thrifty man will save 20 per cent of his earnings and that a tightwad will save 60 per cent. In the pursuit of wealth men have endured hardships, exile, hunger and even death and very often, when it seems almost within their grasp, or even after it is accumulated, it takes wings and flies away. Money, which is by no means the greatest thing in the world, is the power which moves most men to their best endeavors. After it is accumulated, it should be carefully guarded. This bank welcomes accounts both large and small.

GET RID OF YOUR FAT Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction without starvation diet or burdensome exercise, often at a very rapid rate and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place. I am a licensed practicing physician and have made a careful study of the physiological requirements of the human body. This has enabled me to select such ingredients and in such proportion as in my opinion will produce not only a loss of weight without harm and an improvement in health, but with it an alleviation of all of the troublesome symptoms which frequently accompany and often are a direct result of overweightness, such as shortness of breath on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, etc., not to speak of the relief from the embarrassment of being too stout. Stout persons suffering from such diseases as Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Eczema, Asthma and high blood pressure are greatly relieved by a reduction of their superfluous fat. My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you the renewed energy and vigor which come as a result of the loss of superfluous fat. If you are overweight do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my FREE TRIAL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE if you so desire. DR. R. THIS HAS HAPPENED

Sybil Thorne, Boston society girl, surprises her sister-in-law at a roadhouse—drinking cocktails and making love with Sybil's own husband! In all fairness to Valerie (the sister-in-law) it should be explained that she had no idea the man with whom she was actually planning to elope was her sister-in-law's husband.

Valerie did not as a matter of fact, even know he was married. He had made love ardently, and promised to get her in the movies. Marriage with Tad Thorne had failed, and Valerie, a selfish and frivolous girl, was ready to escape boredom through any avenue.

Sybil, learning that Valerie was preparing to desert Tad, determined to stop it if she could. She had no idea when she hurried to the roadhouse where Valerie was spending the evening that she was going to encounter her husband.

Sybil's marriage with Richard Eustis had been a secret affair. It lasted only two weeks, and only two of Sybil's friends had met her husband. She had never used his name, nor spoken with him to Valerie. At first it was difficult to convince Valerie that her lover was actually her own brother-in-law—Sybil's husband! But his own craven attitude revealed him in his worst light. Sybil takes Valerie back to it.

Sybil regards Val with a sort of pitying contempt, and because pity is akin to affection, she grows to like her a little. Finally Valerie begs Sybil to divorce Eustis in order that she may gain undisputed custody of her child. Eustis has never heard of the birth of Sybil's baby, and Valerie is afraid that when he learns of it he will seek to assert his paternity. She predicts legal difficulties, and persuades Sybil to see a lawyer, to whom Sybil tells the strange story of her marriage.

Now go on with the story:
CHAPTER XXXVII

Mr. Peterson held a gentle tattle with his spectacled, on the bridge of his nose.

"Mm-", he said. "A most unusual case. And the defendant, living in New Haven, is ignorant of the birth of a child? You have no mutual friends—no acquaintances? The situation is almost incomprehensible."

"You realize, of course, that it will be necessary to apprise your husband of the existence of a child? You wish complete custody. Separate support, perhaps?"

"No—no." Sybil interrupted eagerly. "I don't want any money at all. Only Teddy. I don't even care about my freedom, except for Teddy's sake. I only want the right to my own name, and the right for my child to be known as Edward Thorne."

"He is called," she told the crusty old lawyer simply, "for my father. I should like to perpetuate his memory through my son. There are Thorne traditions—Thorne pride. It would be idiotic for my son to carry on for the Eustises. He means nothing to them, nor they to him."

Mr. Peterson smiled.

"Jurisdiction," he informed her, recognizes no sentimentality. The child's father has a legal right to dispute your fitness as guardian of his minor son. He can, if he chooses, bring various unpleasant allegations. He can contest your suit for divorce, and defend himself publicly against your charges. However, judging from the circumstances of the—er—romance, I think we need anticipate no trouble from the young man. You are quite sure, madam, that you have omitted no important detail of your marital life? You have not seen your husband in the last 21 months? Not since you left him in Havana?"

Sybil hesitated.

"Yes, I have—once. I didn't think it necessary to tell you. It was for only a few minutes. I surprised him. It was in a public place. In New Haven—at a roadhouse. He was with another woman."

"You talked with him?"

"Yes."

"And what was the nature of that conversation?"

"I—I upbraided him. He was with a girl I knew. They were planning to elope."

"How did you know they were planning to elope?"

"Oh, I KNOW they were."

"And you know the woman? We might subpoena her. Had you witnesses to the affair? And what are this woman's feelings toward you at this time?"

Sybil threw out her hands.

"Oh, Mr. Peterson—you don't understand. I shouldn't have mentioned it. I couldn't possibly drag anyone into this—particularly this lady."

"Who is she, madam? And what have been her relations with your husband? Has there been an open liaison?"

"Hideous questions! Horrible man! Sybil shuddered.

"Really, M. Peterson, I must decline to answer. It seems hardly necessary."

"The old man smiled patiently. "My dear young woman, it is MOST necessary," he explained in a dignified, "Surely you do not think I am vulgarly curious. I am a man old enough to be your father. You have come to me, presumably, because you trust me, and wish me to help you. You must be absolutely frank with me. If you wish to withhold certain facts, I must decline to accept the case."

Mr. Peterson peered through tortoise-shell glasses at his finger nails, while he appraised them thoroughly, you could have heard a pin drop. The Sybil broke the throbbing silence.

"I beg your pardon," she said, "Let me begin at the beginning, and tell you everything. Then you will understand how absolutely impossible it is to bring the charge you have in mind."

Gravely he heard her out. And when she had finished, she concluded hopefully—"And now you see why I want so fearfully to get the divorce. On some respectable ground—incompatibility, or something like that."

Mr. Peterson inclined his head. "That would be nice," he conceded with grim humor, "only in Massachusetts we don't do things that way. There are seven grounds for divorce in this state. Most of them ugly. Incompatibility is not one of them. Non-support is what you might call the most 'respectable.'" In your case we might fall back on 'gross and confirmed habits of intoxication,' or 'cruel and abusive treatment.'"

"On the other hand, your husband might bring a counter-charge, alleging desertion. He might even allege cruel and abusive treatment. You left him, you see, sick and alone, in Havana."

"But, Mr. Peterson, he was DRUNK!"

"He might produce evidence to the contrary. Tropical malaria, he might call it. Affidavits from Cuban doctors, hotel clerks—it could be arranged."

"But I have witnesses—the Moores."

"Mm—yes. Well, we'll see. I shall prepare the papers for service immediately. The case will be listed with others on the divorce docket. We must wait until it is called. The law moves slowly. I doubt if we can get heard before the September session."

Sybil clasped her hands nervously, remembering Tad's dire predictions.

"There won't be any publicity, Mr. Peterson," she inquired.

"That," he told her gravely, "is something we never can tell. If we can arrange for an uncontested action, probably not. If Mr. Eustis contests, I should say there would probably be a great deal of it. Headlines, you know, and pictures. And all sorts of innuendoes and inferences."

"The American public loves scandal. Divorces produce vicious joy. However, let us not be apprehensive. Once you make up your mind to do a thing, there's no good vacillating. You're going through—or you're not. The decision is your own."

Sybil squared her shoulders. "I'm going through," she said, and placed her hand in his.

When she had gone, the old lawyer rang for the junior member of the firm, and ranted harshly.

"What's the young generation coming to? Answer me that, if you can! The fables of innocence! License and immorality. You've all going to the dogs. You've some crazy—crazy as loons. Such carrying-ons! Little girls and married women. Flask-sucking lizards! I don't know what the world's coming to. You're going to the devil!"

The irascible Mr. Peterson paused for breath.

The junior member smiled. "Yes, sir," he conceded good-naturedly, "I suppose we are. You old fogies are to blame for it."

The summer was full of conferences. Richard wanted to see Sybil. First one emissary and then another pleaded his cause. They hinted at possible reconciliation, and a settlement out of court. Defiance followed on the heels of conciliation. There were veiled threats. If Richard had a child, then, by Lord Harry, he proposed to see him. Panic struck on Sybil refused to let Teddy from her sight.

Richard's lawyer, a smooth young man with a face like a ferret, glibly submitted unpleasant innuendoes. Did Mr. Thorne know of his wife's friendship with Mr. Eustis? No? Probably Mrs. Eustis would not wish to have him informed of that—er—regrettable little affair.

"Don't call me Mrs. Eustis!" snapped Sybil.

"But it is your name!" expostulated the ferret, and continued suavely. "Of course, Mrs. Eustis would be loathe to resort to such tactics. But, really, Mrs. Eustis was proving quite unreasonable. Now, if Mr. Eustis were permitted to see the child..."

"Never!" Sybil shrieked her defiance.

"Or if Mrs. Eustis would meet her husband..."

"I'd do first!" she assured him.

"But consider your husband's feelings. The child is his."

"The child is mine!" Sybil's outraged maternity flared hotly. "Teddy's mine, I tell you."

The ferret smiled suavely. "Yours? Oh, yes. But you say," he interpolated smoothly, "that it is also his."

"Oh, the hateful insolence of that putting voice. Sybil sprang to her feet, and her open palm, shot swiftly through the air. Full on his cheek he received it, and when her arm dropped like lead to her side, there was a livid mark across his face.

"You—you—! Leave my house!"

she screamed. "Get out. Quick! Or I'll call my brother to beat you. You... you...!"

She was pointing a shaking finger toward the door, like a tragedy queen in a melodrama. And the palm of her hand itched for further contact.

The ferret fondled his cheek. "You shall pay for this indignity," he told her, fuming angrily. "The courts protect men from the tantrums of female tigers. I shall get a warrant for assault and battery."

He leered at her evilly. "And what a story that will be for your swell friends. Gettin' dragged to police court like a common rowdy. I guess that will make 'em laugh—the high and mighty Miss Sybil thorne up on an assault and battery charge!"

Muttering darkly, he took his derby and departed, like a villain on the stage. Then Sybil, apprehensive of the trouble her temper might cause, hurried in town to relate the afternoon's developments to her lawyer.

Mr. Peterson listened gravely, but she saw the twinkle in his wise old eyes.

"Good girl!" he approved judiciously when she finished. "It takes an angry woman to handle a musical comedy detective properly. You needn't worry about any warrant. He wouldn't let anybody know you struck him, for all his cheap talk. He will keep that right under his tin hat—and he'll lie his head off about the mark on his face. But, after this, refer all rats to me. I don't want you talking with them at all."

(Craig Newhall, Sybil's old sweetheart, hears rumors of her impending divorce, and drops in to talk things over. The stage is set for society's biggest scandal—in the next chapter.)

Tanner Anxious To Hear of Texas Election Final

Will Be at Post Awaiting All News of Choice of Texas Voters; "Something in the Air."

Dr. H. B. Tanner, Eastland physician, staunch member of the republican party, is certain that "there is something in the air," according to a letter received from him today from Seattle, Wash., where he is attending his daughter who is seriously ill.

Dr. Tanner enclosed a clipping from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer telling of the finding of a "Kittitas county frog" imbedded in a rock-like formation, 10 feet deep, by workmen excavating for a pier. "The Texas frog that lived 30 years in a cornerstone now has its nose out of joint," the clipping said.

"While the adventures of 'Old Rip' in the cornerstone of the courthouse at Eastland is ancient history," Dr. Tanner said, "Still it is news abroad and I always notice anything about Texas and especially Eastland when I am abroad."

"I left home suddenly Wednesday in response to a telegram telling of the serious illness of our daughter and arrived here yesterday and found her very ill with pneumonia. She apparently passed the crisis yesterday for her temperature dropped to normal."

"I did not neglect my civic duty but arranged for my absence voting, making my ballot from Los Angeles."

"I certainly will be at the listening post election night for news from Texas. I think there is something 'in the air.'"

Alameda News

Alameda school opened Monday with a very few in attendance.

Only a few people in this community got their peanuts threshed before the rain. The most of the hay will be damaged to a great extent.

We are all mourning the loss of a dear friend and neighbor, Mrs. A. E. Martin, who died Monday evening at 6 o'clock. She was buried at the Alameda cemetery by her husband, who died two years ago. Rev. Cole Jackson of Moran, Texas, did the preaching. Miss Margie Rodgers spent Sunday with Miss Effie and Clara Belle High of Ranger. Singing at Alameda was well attended. We were very glad to have Mrs. Cooke, Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Hubbard and also Miss Hazel Woods of Ranger with us and we invite them to be back with us on our next singing day.

Mr. and Mrs. Dock Watson and family, who have recently moved to New Mexico, arrived last Tuesday night to be at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. A. E. Martin, but it was to her sad disappointment her mother had already been buried.

THE NEW FRIGIDAIRE

The hotter the kitchen... the quicker it freezes ice

Incredibly quiet operation... yet surplus ice freezing power

ONE of the tests to which the New Frigidaire has been subjected time and again is the "hot room" test.

In this test a New Frigidaire is placed in a room with a temperature of 100°. Here its operation is carefully watched for days. The speed with which it freezes ice is checked. Its current consumption is noted.

And this is what the "hot room" tests prove: That despite its incredibly quiet operation, the New Frigidaire has even greater surplus ice-freezing power and even greater operating economy. In fact, the hotter the room the quicker this truly automatic refrigerator freezes ice cubes.

When the New Frigidaire comes into your home there's no more ice to buy. No more food waste due to spoilage. And since the New Frigidaire keeps foods fresh and wholesome 4 to 5 times longer, you can buy in larger quantities. These combined savings are greater than the cost of Frigidaire and the cost of operation.

The New Frigidaire is now on exhibition at our display room. Come in and see it as soon as possible.
