CHICAGO BOOZE 'CRISIS' IS PUT UP TO HARDING

Law and Order Leaguer Says Situation Is "Intolerable;" Aid Is Asked.

By United Press
CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Chicago's booze crisis was put up to President Harding today. Moral forces of the country's second largest city called upon the president to intervene in the situation caused by "the nullification of the Eighteenth amendment."

Arthur Burrage Farwell, head of the Chicago law and order league, following the admission of Chief Fitzmorris that half of Chicago's police force of 5,000 men are bootleggers, sent this wire to President Harding:

"Situation caused by nullification of the Eighteenth amendment in Chicago is intolerable. Prohibition laws are being openly violated. Crime is on the increase. Writing you in detail in regard to this critical situation. Moral forces of the city will leave to your excellent judgment what should be done."

Chicago is the wettest city in America, with 50 per cent of its policemen bootleggers, its crime rate growing, its supposedly "dry" saloons packed to the doors, its "liquor and love" tragedies steadily increasing, its prohibition officials handicapped and practically helpless.

The situation is thus summarized by Arthur Burrage Farwell, president of the Chicago Law and Order League. He says 3,500 of the 5,000 saloons in Chicago are openly selling liquor. During other crises in the history of Chicago—those of 1871, after the Chicago fire; in 1877, during the railroad riots, and in 1894, during the A. R. U. strike—federal troops were sent to the city, he says.

"Policemen Bootleggers."
Chief of Police Charles C. Fitzmorris, an ex-newspaper man and trained observer, goes Farwell one better. He says that, if his reports are correct, every other policeman you see in Chicago is a bootlegger.

"Reports that have reached me indicate that 50 per cent of the police department is interested in some way in violating the prohibition laws," says Fitzmorris. "Prohibition is not a fact, but a fallacy."

"In Chicago there is more drunkenness than there ever was—more deaths from liquor than before prohibition, more of every evil attributable to the use of liquor than in the days before the so-called prohibition laws became effective."

The chief has ordered a drastic shake-up in the police department, effective Monday morning.

Federal officials, in their feeble way, handicapped as they are by lack of numbers, are engaged in a "drive" on exclusive clubs, hotel room "parties" and golf lockers, but this offensive is only a drop in the bucket, so to speak.

Liquor Tragedies Many.
Meantime the liquor tragedies mount up. Some of the recent ones may be listed this way:

Mrs. Isabelle Cora Orthwein, divorcee, shot and killed a tire company official in her apartment after a round of the rum-selling cabarets.

Lillian Thompson and Maree Ramsey, actresses, were found dead in Grant Park from exposure and alcohol poisoning after a night of drinking and automobile riding.

Samuel T. Loftus, wealthy jeweler, invited a young woman to a moonshine party in his apartment. Loftus was found dead.

J. Ellsworth Griffin and William C. Bryan, brokers and business partners, held a conference. There was whisky. Bryan was found shot to death, Griffin drunk beside him.

Ruth Randall, divorcee, killed Captain Clifford Bleyer, clubman, after a party in her apartment. She also killed herself.

Murders on Increase.

Chicago's murder statistics reveal that eighty-nine murders were committed in 1918. In 1919 the number was 135 and in 1920 the total was 162. During the first seven months of 1921 the total was 69, as against 53 the corresponding period of 1920.

Says Farwell, the reform leader: "The United States must control the big cities of the country or the United States."

EMMA STRONG FOR U. S.

By United Press
MOSCOW, Sept. 26.—"I am going back to America—my country," Emma Goldman, anarchist leader, said today in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

"I have found less liberty in Russia than in the United States."

Huddled over a typewriter, wrapped in shawls in a fireless, cheerless, chilly little hall bedroom, up three flights from a dark back street, the "mother of American anarchism" was at work collecting data on the Russian revolution when she made this statement.

NEW MEXICO'S SENATOR

H. C. Bursum, now serving in the senate under a temporary appointment by the governor of New Mexico, was elected last week to the place left vacant by Senator Fall when he became secretary of the interior. Bursum is a Republican and defeated his Democratic opponent by a majority of nearly 7,000.

CLASHES SHOW STRAIN HANGING OVER IRELAND

Setting of Date for Conference Appears Only Way to Avert Trouble.

By United Press
DUBLIN, Sept. 26.—With Belfast aflame with bitter sectarian warfare and the truce in the south in the balance as a result of clashes between crown forces and Sinn Feiners in Cork, Ireland today was close to the disaster of renewed hostilities on a general scale.

The press urged Lloyd George to hasten his reply to De Valera's latest note, and set a date for the conference, to avert this final catastrophe.

Charges that British constabulary broke the truce in Cork on Sunday were made by republican liaison officers today. They alleged that a party of Irish citizens, including several women, were halted and roughly treated by British police.

In another part of the city, the Sinn Fein police patrol was attacked by a larger force of British, it was charged, and beaten and stabbed with bayonets.

BELFAST AT IT AGAIN

By United Press
BELFAST, Sept. 26.—Fresh rioting occurred here shortly before noon today, and several more persons seriously injured. Crown forces, which had temporarily stopped the sectarian warfare of early morning, were again called out in armoured cars and forced to pour machine gun fire into the opposing mobs.

The "riot act" was read in Belfast's disturbed areas this afternoon for the first time in its history.

Reinforcements were rushed to the Ulster capital and the military and police redoubled their efforts to check the sporadic outbursts of fighting, which continued.

MERCHANTS WILL MAKE PLANS FOR TRADE CARNIVAL

A fall Trade Carnival, similar to the one held last year will be discussed at a meeting of the Merchants' association, called for 8 o'clock tonight at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Several firms have presented applications for membership and will be voted on, and other business of importance will come up. All members are urged to attend.

ROLLED IN—AND OUT

By United Press
DALLAS, Sept. 26.—Jordan, a dusky negro, was caught when police raided a crap game here yesterday, and confined to jail when he could not produce the usual $10 fine.

At midnight, Jordan called the jailer and said he was ready to pay his fine.

As he walked from the building, he told spectators that the bones had rolled for him in the jail corridor.

'FEMALE BLUEBEARD' ON TRIAL FOR POISONING FOUR HUSBANDS

State Alleges Mrs. Southard Used Arsenic Off Fly Paper to Cause Deaths.

By United Press
TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Sept. 26.—Trial of the sensational case of Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged "female bluebeard," charged with murder, opened here today.

The defendant is specifically charged with murdering her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer, but the state alleges she also poisoned three previous husbands, Robert C. Dooly, Twin Falls; William McHaffie, Hardin, Montana, and Harlin C. Lewis, Denver and Billings, Mont.

It was from these charges that the appellation of "female bluebeard" was bestowed upon her. In addition, the state asserts she poisoned the 2-year-old baby of her husband, and her brother-in-law, Edward Dooly.

A special venire of seventy men has been called. The state had subpoenaed 137 witnesses, and expected to summon several others.

Mrs. Southard is specifically charged with poisoning Meyer with arsenic obtained from poison fly paper a month after they were married, on Aug. 10, 1920, in order to collect $10,000 life insurance which he is said to have taken out at her request.

FLOOD AT TAMPICO

By United Press
HOUSTON, Sept. 26.—Tampico, Mexico, and the state of Tamaulipas are in the grip of storms and floods, doing great property damage and causing slight loss of life, according to meager reports reaching oil companies here by wireless. Thousands are reported to have been made homeless in Tampico Friday night by the flood.

FORT WORTH PLUMBER HELD IN T. P. HOLDUP

By Associated Press
FORT WORTH, Sept. 26.—Joseph Kier, local plumber, was charged today with conspiracy to rob the mails in connection with the attempted robbery of the Texas & Pacific mail car here two weeks ago. Kier gave $2,000 bond before United States Commissioner Mitchell.

WASHINGTON WOMEN MAY WEAR TROUSERS, SAYS STATE OFFICIAL

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 26.—Women may wear trousers when and where they please, according to a ruling of the state attorney-general today. The decision came when the town marshal of Zillah became exercised over the "carrying-on" of some of the female population of that vicinity.

He said he objected to the parading of Zillah's streets by female persons attired in hiking "pants," but as his authority was derided by the fair offenders he appealed to the attorney-general to put a stop to the practice.

"Women have their rights," the attorney-general replied, "let 'em wear 'em."

WOUNDS ARE FATAL TO MILDRED HANAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Miss Mildred Hanan, granddaughter of the wealthy shoe manufacturer, died here early Sunday morning from bullet wounds inflicted by her former chum, Mrs. Grace Lawes.

The mystery that ended in the death of the heiress, following the suicide of Mrs. Lawes, remains unexplained. As Miss Hanan lay in the Long Island college hospital, Brooklyn, hovering near the crisis which she never passed, she was too weak to make any statement.

Just before she lapsed into unconsciousness, her lips moved in a whisper. She exonerated John S. Bourland, New York importer, of all blame in the tragedy. Mr. Bourland had been with her early Friday morning at the time of the shooting. Jealousy on the part of Mrs. Lawes was scouted by Bourland, who insisted he did not know Mrs. Lawes "well enough for that."

No Game Today

By Associated Press
MEMPHIS, Sept. 26, 2 P. M. Showers this morning and lowering skies this afternoon make it doubtful that the fifth game between Ft. Worth and Memphis can be played today.

TREE GROWS IN CHIMNEY

This unusual picture is not an optical illusion, but an actual scene in the West Indies, where a rapidly growing tree sprang up in the chimney of an abandoned sugar mill.

LEGIONAIRES HOLDING STATE MEET, EL PASO

Neff Tells Vets to Get Into Politics But Not Be Partisan.

By Associated Press
EL PASO, Sept. 26.—The battle is on in Texas for law and order, honesty, economy and 100 per cent Americanism, Governor Neff declared in an address to the state convention of the American Legion which opened here today. He pledged state aid for all "worthy enterprises of the legion." Delegates and members from practically all of the 322 posts in Texas are in attendance.

Warning the legionnaires against partisan politics, the governor urged them to take an active interest in every political question "that touches the morals or material prosperity of the people." He reminded them that they should not permit private pursuits to cause them to neglect to do honor to the memory of the dead soldiers whose bodies are returned home. The governor called attention to the state appropriation for the erection of a monument to Texas' soldier dead and the appropriation of $1,500,000 for a sanitarium for the disabled.

May Change Officers.
The management and affairs of the Texas department of the American Legion is due for a considerable shakeup at the state convention, provided the opposition to the present officials is victorious on the floor of the convention.

Wayne Davis of Galia is being boosted for state commander. Candidates for state adjutant are Arthur J. Reinhart of Dallas, Chas. Ingram of Fort Worth, and J. Mulligan of Lubbock.

About 1,000 delegates were in attendance, including the delegates from New Mexico. The state executive committee reported early and the Kerrville hospital discussion followed. The rest of the day's activities included a review of the regular troops at Fort Bliss and chow with the cavalry regiments, followed by an athletic entertainment.

BIG CIGARETTE SIGN ROUSES INDIANS' IRE

WAPATO, Wash., Sept. 26.—Advertising artists recently have smeared a big cigarette sign across the sacred "painted rocks" of the Yakima Indian reservation and would have fared ill if the Indians had caught them.

Nearly a hundred young braves on being apprised of it mounted their ponies and galloped in here just as the North Coast Limited was due to leave and insisted on searching the coaches for the sign painters. On finding their way blocked by the closed vestibules they let out a series of wild war whoops and rode back to the reservation and with turpentine washed off the offending advertisement. The sign was to have been equipped with electric lights and would have been visible for twelve miles.

The "painted rocks" form the bluff west shore of the Yakima river. They are of basalt, worn smooth by the elements. Deep in this hard surfaced precipice are indentations of images of men, buffaloes, other creatures, and trees, with hieroglyphics of sign writing believed by the Yakimans to be of divine origin.

M'KINNEY QUILTS AS CHURCH OF CHRIST PASTOR

Will Go to Panhandle; Has Done Effective Work in Ranger.

The Rev. J. W. McKinney, pastor of the Church of Christ and one of the prime movers in organizing the Law Enforcement bureau, yesterday tendered his congregation his resignation as their pastor. Mr. McKinney expects, shortly, to be called to a pastorage in the plains section.

Mr. McKinney took charge of the local church about a year ago and under his direction it has expanded greatly. Through his efforts, more room was added to the church building and the membership became more active and greater in numbers. In addition to his church work he has done much work to increase the morals of the city. Among other things he was one of the leaders in organizing the Law Enforcement bureau and has done yeoman service within its ranks. His last work in this direction was touring the county last week in the interest of a county-wide bureau.

Mr. McKinney's resignation was accepted with regrets by his congregation. No plans have yet been made to fill the place.

KELLUM GIVEN FIVE YEARS FOR ROBBERY

EASTLAND, Sept. 26.—Sam Kellum, who was charged with having taken part in a holdup near Gorman several months ago, was convicted late Saturday afternoon by a jury in the Ninety-first district court and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

Kellum was alleged to have held up and robbed three occupants of an automobile one evening soon after midnight. Counsel for the defendant endeavored to prove that Kellum was of unsound mind.

The jury, however, in finding Kellum guilty, found that he was sane at the time of the robbery.

LABOR BOARD AGAIN DEFIED BY PENNA. R. R.

By United Press
CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The Pennsylvania railroad defied the United States labor board today.

The railroad, in a letter signed by Samuel Rea, president of the road, said, "the carrier will exercise the right to deal with its own employees without the intervention of individuals or organizations, whose manifest object is the denial of the fundamental right of employers and employees to deal in the first instance directly with each other respecting wages and working conditions."

This letter was sent to the board today, the date set by the board for an oral hearing on a few minor points of the petition of the road to deal directly with its own employees.

DRUMS AND FIFES LEAD G. A. R. PARADE

By Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 26.—Rattling drumsticks and the squealing of ancient fifes announced the entry of the Grand Army of the Republic into Indianapolis today for its fifty-fifth annual encampment. Many of the veterans were bowed with the weight of years, while others preserved their military carriage as they marched behind the drum corps. Official reports show that since last year's encampment death has taken 9,000 members of the organization.

FLY TO CHURCH

By United Press
GALVESTON, Sept. 26.—Twenty officers had enlisted men travelled fifty miles to attend church services here yesterday, and they only started half an hour before church time.

Eighteen airplanes from Ellington Field, near Houston, responded to an invitation from Chaplain A. J. Foltz at Fort Crockett, near here, to attend his services. Despite the rain and gusty winds, the aviators made the trip in good style, all arriving within a few minutes of each other. None was forced to land during the trip.

UNEMPLOYMENT CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS EMERGENCY MEASURES

No "Doles" From Government Treasury to Be Considered, However.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—A 11 America must commit itself to the solving of the unemployment problem, President Harding declared today.

Opening the national unemployment conference, the president confidently predicted the United States will not fail in the task which he characterized as an "advance drive of peace."

"All America has never failed when committed to a common cause," he said.

After Harding's address and a speech by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, the first session of the conference adjourned until 3 p. m.

No Alms.
Both Harding and Hoover emphasized that the situation must never be solved by the giving of government alms from the public treasury.

The president insisted that the remedy lies in the co-operation of capital, labor and the public.

"Fundamentally sound, financially strong, industrially unimpaired, commercially consistent, and politically unafraid, there ought to be work for everybody in the United States who wishes to work, and our condition at home and every place in the world depends upon everybody going to work and pursuing it with the patriotism and devotion which makes for a happy people," Harding said.

"America," he added, "is now suffering from a war inheritance, which was unavoidable, and mitigation is imperative."

Co-operative service to unemployed, and not charity, must be the aim of the conference, Secretary Hoover declared in his brief speech outlining the program in a general way. "The dole given unemployed in other countries is the most vicious of systems if introduced into government," Hoover said, "and it must not be employed here," he warned, "if the United States is to be saved from destructive paternalism."

On Upgrade.
Hoover said, "There is no question that we are on the economic upgrade. Every sign indicates that we have passed the low economic point."

The present degree of unemployment could not, however, continue, he said, "if our moral and economic system is to survive."

Outlining the general program of the conference, Hoover said his first task is to get the facts about unemployment as to its value, distribution and character, "because the proposals made will depend upon the weight of the problem."

Next, he said, the immediate need for coming winter must be coped with. Then restoration of commerce generally to normal must be assisted. Preventive measures against recurrence of "account reactions" which result in unemployment, is also a vital part of the work, Hoover said.

ASSASSIN FIRES THREE SHOTS AT POLE PRESIDENT

By United Press
WARSAW, Sept. 26.—An attempt to assassinate President Pilsudski of Poland failed here today. Three shots were fired at the president, who was uninjured. Count Grabowski, General Pilsudski's aide, was wounded. The assailant attempted to commit suicide.

General Pilsudski was elected president of Poland in 1919. He was formerly a nobleman, but turned socialist.

DRIVE FOR SALVATION ARMY FUND STARTS NEXT MONDAY, OCT. 3

The Salvation Army's annual appeal for funds has been postponed to Monday, Oct. 3, according to W. R. Jarvis, chairman of the "Army" advisory board. On this date the teams of workers will go out in the effort to raise the $5,600 quota which will provide the corps with sufficient funds to carry on its work for one year.

The advisory board of the Salvation Army has been reorganized and is now composed of a group of representative citizens of Ranger, to give advice to the local corps and to bring before it any worthy cases that deserve attention and assistance. This board is not in any way connected with any other organization in Ranger. Officers of the board are: W. R. Jarvis, president; Karl Jones, vice president, and J. B. Ethridge, secretary-treasurer.

During the appeal, a thorough canvass of the city will be made and no stone will be left unturned in the effort to place the Salvation Army

WORK ON DEPOT MUST START BY OCTOBER FIFTH

Or Ordinance Will Be Invalid; Completion Expected in Four Months.

The Texas & Pacific Railway company must start by Oct. 5 on actual construction of its new passenger station, for which the contract was awarded Friday, in order to make valid the city ordinance by which the company was decreed seventeen feet of Commerce street for a building site. However, any action on the part of the company tending to promote the work will be construed as actual construction. It could, for example, start one man digging a ditch or doing some other such act, and make the ordinance binding.

It is believed here that the work will be under way in two weeks and the station will be finished in less than four months. The time of the contractors called for completion in 108 working days.

The company plans, it is said, to remodel the present passenger station into a freight office as quickly as the new building can be occupied.

FATTY WILLING TO ACT AS HIS OWN ATTORNEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle played the role of his own attorney in Superior Judge Louderback's court today when he was arraigned on the grand jury indictment for manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe the "best dressed" girl in the movies.

Arbuckle's attorneys were not in court when his case was called.

"That's all right, I'm willing to go ahead without them," said the comedian. His case was formally called but was not over to Oct. 3, on account of the preliminary hearing on the murder charge, now in progress.

The usual crowd of women was waiting in Police Judge Lazarus' court before the opening of the day's session of the preliminary hearing which was scheduled for 10:30 a. m. However, Arbuckle's case was postponed until afternoon in order that the court might dispose of the Monday morning list of petty cases.

DALLAS IS BUILDING NINE RESIDENCES A DAY

By Associated Press
DALLAS, Sept. 26.—Dallas is erecting residences at a faster rate than Philadelphia, third city of the nation, according to Z. E. Black, statistician of the local chamber of commerce.

Statistics compiled by City Building Inspector McCord show that up to Sept. 1, 1921, permits for 2,210 residences in Dallas had been granted, Mr. Black said. The Philadelphia Ledger of Sept. 17, quoted the Philadelphia building inspector as saying that 1,800 permits for building residences had been granted in the "city of brotherly love" up to Sept. 16. Dallas is erecting residences at the rate of nine a day, Inspector Black said.

"The Salvation Army and its work need no introduction to the citizens of Ranger," the board's statement says. "The reputation that it has established overseas in the world war and the efficient work performed by Captain and Mrs. Mullins in Ranger has placed this organization in the front rank—an organization that quietly and without thought of glory reaches into the depths of a man's misery and lifts him to a higher plane of citizenship."

"The Salvation Army workers fight for charity, and for the poor, for the children, for the old men and women—the 'down and out' as civilization calls them; those of whom the Salvation Army says 'They may be down, but never out.' Those who know the Salvation Army best, admire it most. They work day and night for any good cause. When they help, they help all day long. They are there, working after others, tired, have gone home."

WILL WINTER HELP?

Howdy winter! Thus rings the glad cry from a world which awakes to find a pleasing coolness in the air, after a summer which has been a torment to reeking humanity. There have been summers of higher temperatures, but not one man in a thousand would admit ever passing through one more uncomfortable.

The extreme heat has been the cause of a lot of industrial ills. It has made man regardless of many things that normally hold his interest, and all who could afford it have hied themselves to shady nooks in search of fish and indolence.

Those who have remained on the job have done so with their mind elsewhere. Engineers have stopped fast trains to converse about the weather with farmers at the crossings. Musicals have been broken up by the accompanying undertone of widespread "How hot it is," which the performers mistook for hissing. Some toilers toiled, but it was no weather in which to plan new enterprises or direct old ones, which such exertion could be dispensed with, so industry dwindled.

Maybe keenness and desire for action and for renewed endeavor will come with coolness. Maybe not.

THE INCOME TAX RUMOR.

The latest whisper that roams is that the dear old income tax is the stone now blocking the wheels of progress. It is said that few new operations will be started before Jan. 1, in order that operators may obtain the benefits of the more favorable law which is expected to go into effect on that day. That is, the law will go into effect if congress can ever agree to pass it.

Perhaps this is true, but since renditions must be made on the 1921 income, it would appear that the proposed tax changes should stir up activity by Nov. 1, in order that funds might be charged off to operation expenses and the income from them not received until 1922. While not posing as an expert in income tax matters, it would seem such a procedure would help in the great national pastime of beating the government out of as much as possible. For money spent this winter would be that much less on which to pay income and profits tax, and the profits on the expenditure would come next year, when there would be a lower rate.

Such a practice would be beneficial to business and from a practical standpoint is considered entirely ethical. This income tax has put a burden upon the shoulders of everyone, and while its rates appear fair enough in principle, their application really means confiscation of profit. This is true of the wage earner and capital as well. Under present interpretation of income, a man may become wealthy through the sale of property, and then have to pay it all out in taxes. So what is the use?

Some method of raising money, aside from the income tax, must be found before America again becomes wholly prosperous. Meanwhile, the nation continues to spend millions in an attempt to enforce prohibition.

LAND COST AT BOTTOM OF FARM TROUBLES.

Having done something for almost everybody else, the government now turns its attention to an attempt to do something for the farmer. It is preparing to lend him a thousand million dollars, and, indeed, already has begun the work.

Lending a man money is not always the best way of helping him—it all depends upon what he intends to do with it, and there are various opinions as to how the plan will work out. According to its advocates, it may enable the farmer to readjust his mortgages on a more satisfactory basis, while the government will have the best of securities in the value of farm lands.

In present circumstances, the average farmer is nearly always liable to conditions necessitating financial assistance. He is engaged in a gamble with the elements and also with the market, for in the nature of things the agriculturist cannot anticipate demand nor calculate supply with anything like the certainty of manufacturing concerns. He is working the land and not a machine with a definite output. He may overproduce, and will continue to run the risk of either until Hoover has perfected his plan for more scientifically calculated agricultural production.

But the greatest of all the burdens of the farmer is the inordinately high price that he has to pay for land. The mortgage that goes with the original purchase may keep on working to the end of his days, and even when it is paid the capital investment in land purchase is generally too great to permit a profit. So much land is held idle for speculative purposes and so much put to less than its full use because of the cost of labor that the original expenditure in acquiring farm property forbids the creation of a financial reserve that would tide over the lean years or those in which only the speculators make a profit.

The present policy of the government loans to farmers is an attempt at constructive national finance, but it remains to be seen whether it will help the agriculturist more than it does the financiers and the speculators. At best, it would seem to be only a temporary expedient that does not reach the root of the trouble, which is, in brief, the disproportion between profit and investment in the business of farming.—San Francisco Bulletin.

A tombstone agent was in our midst one day this week but found everybody up and stirring around.

STUDEBAKER GOES 35 MI. ON GALLON OF GAS

In a test run, in which prizes were offered for the closest guesses as to mileage, a Studebaker Light-Six stock car recently made 35.9 miles on a gallon of gasoline. The test was held at San Pedro, Cal.

In the presence of Captain of Police C. L. Plummer of San Pedro, G. A. Lawrence of the Auto Club of Southern California and Lieutenant Commander Eric L. Barr, engineer and repair officer of Submarine Base, the machine was locked in high gear. These three were passengers and observers during the test, F. Claire Thomas driving.

The gallon of gasoline was measured by the impartial driver of a large service oil truck, and fed to the car under the eagle eye of Captain Plummer, so that not a drop more than a gallon could be smuggled into the test car.

The test was a non-stop one, the arrangement being that the test car would run as far as possible, then stop in its tracks while a photograph of the record was taken. A fleet of eighteen or twenty cars, all loaded to the gunwales, attended the test car during the record-making. Nearly one hundred, all of whom doubtless entered estimates, were determined that nothing be put over on them while the test car was on the road. Nothing was, but it was forced to stop for a street car, which probably snipped off the fraction of a mile that would have made the test thirty-six or perhaps thirty-six and a fraction miles.

BANDITS GRAB DAY'S RECEIPTS OF GROCERY CO.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 26.—Frank D. White, manager of the Whyco chain of grocery stores here, was held up and robbed of $5,000 by four masked bandits while collecting receipts of thirty stores. The robbery occurred on Prospect avenue where three of the robbers leaped from a waiting motor car, seized a satchel containing the money, and escaped before an alarm could be given.

If the bill now before the Uruguayan congress becomes a law that country will have the distinction of being the first South American nation to grant women equal rights.

HOUSTON MAN WAS ON VERGE OF BREAKDOWN

"I eat anything I want now—cabbage, onions, fat meat, or just anything, as my stomach is in perfect condition," said Luke J. Schuler, 3510 Canal St., Houston, Texas. "Before I took Tanlac my health was simply going to pieces and I was right on the verge of a breakdown. My appetite was so poor I could hardly eat anything and my stomach would sour after eating and burn like fire. I got so weak and worn out I often had to lay off from work. Rheumatism got me in its clutches and I ached all over. I went to Marlin Springs and took all kinds of medicines at different times, but nothing did me any good.

"I'm like a new man now, have a corking appetite, everything agrees with me and I have gained twenty pounds in weight. I feel fine all the time now and never miss a day from work."

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros., and in Eastland by the Palace Drug store.—Advertisement.

The police of the state have been appealed to to help locate Miss Harrington. Her description as given to the local officers reads: Twenty-eight years old, blonde, curly hair, sixty-four inches tall. The description includes the statement that she is suffering from an unbalanced mind.

WHICH IS MILK CHOCOLATE? FOOD OR DRINK?

AUSTIN, Sept. 26.—The court of criminal appeals is to pass upon the question as to whether milk chocolate is a food and whether its sale on Sunday constitutes a violation of the Sunday law. The question comes to the higher court on appeal in the case of Ellis Salem from Smith county, convicted of selling a milk chocolate on Sunday and fined $20.

In the information Salem was charged with being a merchant at Tyler and as such did lawfully and willfully sell and barter to James Storey a certain article of trade, to-wit: a milk chocolate, against the peace and dignity of the state. The alleged sale having been made on Sunday, Sept. 24, 1921. The defendant in his appeal contends that the evidence showed conclusively that at the time at which he sold the milk chocolate he did it in the capacity of a hotel and restaurant keeper and was therefore exempt under the law. He also stated that it was sold as food and that it "constituted the breakfast for the prosecuting witness, James Storey."

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Haines returned Saturday night from a four months' motor trip which embraced twelve states, from Arkansas and Minnesota on the west to Maryland and New York on the east, and included a visit to the ice mine in Pennsylvania, Mammoth cave and Crystal cave. Camping equipment was taken along and many nights were spent in the open. Mr. and Mrs. Haines went by boat from Cleveland to Buffalo.

WONDERFUL BOY! HE'S WORLD'S BEST KISSER

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Andre Brule has been acclaimed to be the champion kisser of the world. By vanquishing eighty aspirants, including Americans, Russians, Italians, Spaniards and French, he won the award from a committee of beauties of the younger set at Biarritz. In the course of the contest he is said to have turned an unprecedented number of feminine heads.

Berenger, whose aesthetic and manly beauty played havoc at Deauville, was second.

According to the jury Brule's perfect kiss was according to the following procedure: He took careful aim and then with his right arm waistward and his left foot used as a pivot, swung suddenly, implanting the kiss exactly in the middle of the mouth. The advantage of this method, which, it is declared, requires long practice, is that the girl has no time to escape.

Berenger's style consists in seizing the chin softly but firmly in the left hand while the right hand, behind the neck, insinuates the head forward.

The jury styled the American kiss "flaccid," the Russian "crupitive," the Italian "burning," the English "tepid," the Spanish "vampirish" and the French "chaste."

The osculatory contest was watched by the queen of Spain and an imposing array of Spanish and British royalty. Brule's reward was a diamond scarf pin subscribed by the beauties.

TRACTOR USES DEMONSTRATED NEXT SATURDAY

Experts from the Ford Motor company will be in Ranger Oct. 1 and will aid the Leveille-Maher company in giving a demonstration of the Fordson tractor, for which Leveille-Maher is agent. The demonstration will be held at Homer street and Wayland road, opposite Hodges Oak park.

This demonstration, it is said, will be of much interest, not only to the farmers in this section, but to merchants and bankers who realize their dependence upon the welfare and prosperity of the producers.

The big feature of the demonstration will be practical talks by County Demonstration Agent, R. H. Bush and representatives of the manufacturers, on successful methods tried in various parts of the United States. Experts will also be present to answer any and all questions regarding the Fordson and the improved implements used with it.

NEFF GRANTS ONLY ONE PARDON DURING AUGUST

AUSTIN, Sept. 26.—From the Texas penitentiary, at Huntsville one lone man stepped to freedom with a pardon during August, the prison report just received by Governor Pat M. Neff shows. That man, W. E. Moore, was among those who have been pardoned by the governor as a result of his visit to the penitentiary.

The prison population on Sept. 1 was 2,880, the report showed. During August, ninety-two new convicts were received, sixteen prisoners were recaptured and three returned from parole and furlough, two of them voluntarily. Seventy prisoners were discharged, thirty escaped, three died, one was delivered to a sheriff, one paroled and one furloughed.

The escapes outnumbered the recaptured by fourteen, only sixteen of those making a break for liberty being caught.

ST. LOUIS MOUNDS HOUSE RELICS OF PREHISTORIC CIVILIZATION

Structures Thought Solid Are Chambered Like Pyramids; Discoveries Indicate Highly Advanced Race, Who Knew Secret of Tempering Copper and Other Lost Arts.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26.—Virtual proof that St. Louis stands on the site of the prehistoric world's greatest village and culture spot was uncovered by Prof. W. R. Moorehead of Phillips Andover academy, Massachusetts, who is exploring the Cahokia group of mounds on the East Side.

Other important discoveries outlined by the archaeologist are: The group heretofore believed to number fifty mounds in reality consists of 150.

Like pyramids of Egypt, they have chambers. They had been thought solid.

The prehistoric race which lived in the village was cultured, pacific and rapidly developing an advanced type of civilization.

They Tempered Copper.

The secret of tempering copper, known to the ancients of Greece and Rome but never learned by modern man, was shared by these aborigines.

The Cahokia village, by far the largest of prehistoric times, surpassing the Aztec domains, extended from East St. Louis to Keokuk, Iowa. It will be called "The New York Village" to indicate its dimensions.

The dwellers possessed a secret for grinding stone knives and instruments that gave an edge nearly as keen as a modern razor.

The existence of a vast burial ground, believed for years to exist, has been established.

Prof. Moorehead says he has discovered possibly five kinds of mounds but positively three. The three of which he is positive are temple, burial and altar mounds.

What appeared to be a fourth type is a conical combination of temple and burial mounds. They are proving richer in material than he dared to hope they would.

Undreamed of Race.

The professor believes his discoveries will prove the theory of Andover academy men that the huge settlement was peopled by a race of aborigines heretofore undreamed of, who came through the Arctic wastes via the Behring straits.

Dr. Moorehead cited that in the journal of Hennepin, who accompanied La Salle on the Frenchman's explorations along the Mississippi, mention of the Cahokia village is made.

There follows an account of how the explorer told the Iroquois Indians of New York about the Mississippi river village, whereupon the eastern tribe came west to make war on the Cahokians. The archaeologist said his first diggings had convinced him that he would find evidence of this conflict.

All the specimens uncovered appear from the fungus growth about them to be 600 years old. These articles indicate that the village dwellers were refined and makers of battle implements only for defense.

Sheet copper was unearthed, indicating that when the tribe became extinct it was experimenting on various means of working this metal.

The copper had been rolled into flat sheets, but just how is a mystery.

tery. None of it was hammered into bows, showing that these Indians like others in America, knew nothing of making it into vessels.

Pipes and Palettes.

The arrow heads found today are peculiar to this district and are known as Monk's Mound arrow heads. Their workmanship is delicate. Most of them possessed a saw-tooth edge and were long and narrow. A stone skinning axe with a razor-like edge was dug up. There was a stone beaver totem, too.

One of the most valuable deposits was a fragment of pottery, the painted border of which demonstrated that its makers were as advanced if not more so than others whose works have been left behind them in other parts of America.

Similar types of bowls were known to have existed 700 years ago. The bowl fragment was uncovered 400 feet from Monk's Mound, four feet below the surface and under an ash pit.

Many more of these peculiar ash-pits were noted. What purpose, whether practical or ceremonial, they served has not been determined.

Another discovery was a palette used either for mixing paint or grinding herbs into medicine. There were pipes of various descriptions, all made of shale, proving that the tobacco habit had a firm hold on the Americans of 600 to 800 years ago.

Hope to Assemble Skeletons.

Besides a wild turkey stone head, presumably used to decorate pottery, walnut logs thought to have been used in religious ceremonies were found. Some of them were planed and polished. All were in a remarkable state of preservation.

The cross sections and growths of fungi tended to put their age at 600 to 800 years. What few human remains were disinterred were in a state of near-petrification.

It is Prof. Moorehead's hope to uncover enough of the bones to assemble a complete skeleton so the characteristics of the race may be ascertained. Few of the things dug up thus far have been eaten away to any great extent by chemical process.

The archaeologist, who is representing fifty colleges in his work, thought that when the bottom of the huge graveyard was reached the race might prove to have been 1,000 years old.

Farmer Original Discoverer.

It was pointed out that the two ponds in the Cahokia village were obviously artificial, suggesting that the aborigines made efforts to develop a sort of public park system. Dr. Moorehead intends to drag these ponds in the Cahokia village were will disclose rare relics.

He was elated over the disclosure that the mounds, greater than the pyramids, contained chambers. One of these rooms was found five years ago by a farmer, who carefully saved what they contained.

Significance of his discovery and said that the man did not appreciate the nothing to anyone about it. In the scientific world that find is epochal, the explorers now say.

The site, three and a half miles from Collinsville, where the explorations are centered just now, is believed to have been the capital of the expanded city that extended into Iowa.

Miss Mary R. Towle, the first woman to be appointed assistant United States district attorney for New York and the second in the country, wants to be treated just as if she were a man in the performance of her office. She believes that she is as good an attorney as any man.

PANTHER CREW STAGES THIRD MAULING SHOW

Beat Memphis 15 to 4, and Now Lack Only One Game to Cop.

Special to the Times.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 26.—Again pounding a Memphis boxer black and blue, the Fort Worth Panthers yesterday mopped up for the third consecutive time, 15 to 4. Zahniser, who was knocked out at Fort Worth in the second game of the series, went in again yesterday and stuck through a barrage of twenty safeties, including home runs by Haworth and Kraft and seven doubles. Abbott evidently considered a change of twirlers would not help the situation. Pate for the second time squelched the Chicks.

From a fielding standpoint, the game was ragged, Fort Worth making three errors and Memphis two, all of which figured in the scoring.

Two of the Panther misuses came in the first inning and gave the Chicks one run. This slim lead held until the fatal fourth, which has seen the artillery unlimbered in every one of the games to date. In that round the Panthers forged to the front with three runs. They came on Haworth's homer, which found Haley and Rigney rooting on the sacks. Two walks after two men were out, followed by Zahniser's double, added to the Panther majority in the fifth, and Sears' double with Pate on added another in the sixth. It looked as if they were needed, as in the same Zahniser himself hit a homer with one on, bringing the count up to 6-3.

Good Finishers.
But the Panthers counted three more in the eighth on Kraft's homer and staged a wild jamboree in the ninth, making seven hits count for six runs. Memphis' last run was made on doubles by McMillan and Williams.

The Texas and Southern champs play here again today and if the Panthers win again, the series will be over. If the Chicks cop, the series moves back to Pan-or-town, where the remaining game or games will be played.

HOW IT HAPPENED

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

The Yanks overwhelmed Cleveland yesterday, 21 to 7, pounding Caldwell and Mails hard in the early innings. They knocked Caldwell from the box in the second inning, when five runs were scored, greeted Mails with two more in the third and added eight in the fourth. Seven of the fourth-inning tallies crossed the plate before a man was out. The inning ended when Ruth struck out with the bases full. Clark, a youngster, finished the game and was nicked for seven tallies. Mays also was pounded hard in spots, but with an overwhelming lead, refused to exert himself too much.

Washington, by beating Detroit, 3 to 2, ran its string of victories up to seven.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Douglas' pitching turned St. Louis back in the pinches and the Giants won, 5 to 2. Meusel drove in four of the Giants' runs, with four hits. Hornsby made three hits in five trips.

Chicago beat Boston in two twelve-inning contests, 4 to 3 and 8 to 7. Alexander hurled the first game, which had an exciting ending, as Boston scored one run in the twelfth and Chicago came back with two.

Luque held Brooklyn scoreless the latter innings, and Cincinnati won, 6 to 2. The Reds took an early lead by pounding Miljus in the first and third rounds.

EASTLAND LOSES; CISCO TIES AT BRECKENRIDGE

Gorman High beat Eastland High Saturday, 7 to 9. The Eastland boys once had the ball on the one-yard line but failed to put it over. Cisco and Breckenridge staged a hard fought 0-0 tie.

ED MAHER BACK FROM TOUR OF EASTERN CITIES

Edward Maher returned Saturday from a three weeks' trip to Canadian and eastern American cities. Mr. Maher went from New York up the St. Lawrence river by boat and visited Montreal, Quebec and Toronto. Returning he visited in Washington, Chicago and other cities.

When questioned on that point, Mr. Maher admitted that the quality of the liquor sold in Canada is excellent.

JOHN JOHNSON TO COACH WHITE SOX IN RUNNING

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Ever notice that Bib Falk of the White Sox doesn't grab his hat in his hand when he's running the bases now? Neither does he run up and down as he did. Here's the answer: Kid Gleason knew the Texas lad was running wrong when he first saw him, so Johnny Johnson, University of Chicago trainer, was brought to the White Sox park and turned loose on Falk. He showed Falk how to stride, how to reach out, how to get over the ground. Today Falk gives promise of being a great runner. Johnson is likely to be employed on other youngsters.

BASEBALL HISTORY REVOLVES AROUND GREAT BATTING TRIOS

DETROIT, Sept. 26.—Ed DeLahanty, Dan Brothurs and Sam Thompson were congregated on one team in 1896, and there was something doing in the hitting line. In the first forty-three games played, this slugging trio made almost half the hits made by the entire team. The combined average of those three mighty batsmen stood at .343, while the remainder of the team batted .202. It happens every now and then when three of the great hitters of baseball meet on one team. Once the great Cobb-Crawford-Veach combination held sway and hit terror into the hearts of all hurlers.

Then the game had the Keeler-Kelley-Jennings trio of the old Baltimore Orioles, back in 1894-95-96, and that was some hitting combination, for their combined average for four seasons was .391. Three batsmen whose names were coupled for many seasons on one team were Wagner, Clarke and Beaumont. A great bunch of batsmen they were, and by their mighty bats kept the Pittsburgh club in the running for many seasons. Connie Mack had a great hitting trio in Baker, Collins and McInnis, and it was due to the wonderful hitting of these three that the Athletics became a famous organization.

For eight years the Chicago Nationals received the full benefit of the powerful bats of Captain Anson, George Gore and "King" Kelly. All were .300 hitters and largely through the power of their bats the Chicago club won five pennants in eight seasons. From 1892 until 1899, Jesse Burkett, Ed McKean and "Cupid" Childs were the "Three Musketeers" of the Cleveland club and these qualified .300 hitters helped largely to make the Cleveland outfit one of the most feared in the big twelve-club circuit.

In later years the Cleveland Americans had Larry Lajoie, Elmer Flick and Bill Bradley, and they were a trio of powerful batsmen. Today but few teams have three regular .300 hitters on their line-up. Cincinnati, with Roush, Daubert and Groh, is the best fixed. The great White Sox aggregation had Eddie Collins, Joe Jackson and "Happy" Felsch—but, then came the aftermath. Detroit can present Cobb, Veach and Harry Hellman, and stands out as about the only club in the American that can produce a trio of batsmen who have a life's batting average of .300.

CONNECTICUT BARS PUNCH THAT PUT CARPENTIER OUT

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 24.—Rules to govern boxing in Connecticut, approved by Governor Lake, were issued by the state boxing commission today.

The "rabbit punch," which Jack Dempsey is said to have used in his knockout of Georges Carpentier last July, is prohibited.

No boxing or wrestling bout shall be held Sunday, Christmas day, Good Friday, Memorial day, the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving day, Washington's birthday, Lincoln's birthday or Columbus day under the rules.

STILLMAN LEASES FLAT IN NEW YORK SKYSCRAPER

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Banker James A. Stillman of divorce fame and about whose future residence much has been rumored, has leased a "skyscraper bungalow" on the fifteenth floor of a Madison avenue office building.

His new home is in the National City building on the corner of Forty-second street and consists of an entire floor which is being remodeled to suit his tastes. The new quarters are shielded by healthy looking bank guards from the curious, but are said to be luxuriously furnished with rugs, rich linens, fine silver and furniture and of a "bachelor" nature.

CHICAGO CITY SERIES WILL OPEN OCT. 5

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The city series between the White Sox of the American league and the Chicago Cubs of the National league to determine the Chicago championship will open on Oct. 5, it is announced. The first game will be played at the White Sox park.

LEONARD WILL FIGHT BRITTON, WELTER CHAMP

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, and Jack Britton, welter weight title holder, will have it out in a 12-round tussle in Jersey City, on Oct. 11. The site of the battlefield will probably be the Jersey City baseball park.

Should Benjamin annex the welterweight crown by stopping the ancient Britton he would probably step out of the lightweight class for all time. Making weight for that division has been a tough spot in Leonard's life.

Fay Kiser, the soldier fighter who recently beat Bob Martin, will most likely be selected as the first opponent for Bill Slade, the Pacific coast lightweight, who is now in New York.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at the Merriman cemetery, with the Milford Undertaking company in charge of arrangements.

STEPHENS COUNTY SELLS ROAD BONDS

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 26.—The contract for the sale of $1,400,000 road bonds for Stephens county was closed Saturday by the commissioners' court. The bonds were sold on a cash consideration to J. L. Arlitt company of Austin.

Work on thirty-three miles of highway across the county will begin within forty days, it was said. The bonds were voted in November, 1919.

POSITIONS THAT PAY WELL, AND ARE ALWAYS TO BE HAD
The perfecting of typesetting key-boards has brought new and unusual opportunities in the printing business. The business that gives development to great minds.

Positions of this kind always have paid well and perhaps always will and doubtless they will always be plentiful, because the printing business expands as civilization develops. Anybody who could learn to operate a typewriter can learn to operate a typesetting machine. If you want to learn how to do the work of a monotype machinist; if you want to learn to do the work of an intertype or a linotype machinist; if you want to learn to operate any of these machines; if you want to learn the work of the business office—if you want to get into a work that will always pay you well, and if you can spare three or four months for preparation, write for Prospectus to American Publishers' and Southern Publishers' TYPESETTING DEPARTMENT of the GEORGIA-ALABAMA BUSINESS COLLEGE, Macon, Ga.—Advertisement.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS

—LACKLAND BROS. ARE SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MEN—they have never failed in any undertaking they ever began, they know no such word as failure. When they laid out and put on the market the Byrens & Riddle and Lackland additions, with nothing leading to them but a very narrow and impassable muddy lane, failure seemed certain, but their push, energy and sticktoitness, through mud, cold, rain, they made their property a success. They came here among the first ones and are still here, while many others in the same line of business left by the light of the moon, and with debts galore.

LACKLAND BROS. POULTRY PLANT IS A SUCCESS

—When we began our poultry business less than a year ago, we determined to first, and with our own money, try it out and see whether or not it would prove a success before we would ask a friend to put a single dollar of their money into it. That we have succeeded is evident and shows for itself. Now we can go to our friends and say to them "Put some money in this business, it will pay you more than anything you ever bought stock in in your life." NOTHING BEATS THE POULTRY BUSINESS FOR QUICK, SURE DIVIDENDS.

VOLUME IS THE KEYNOTE TO BIG BUSINESS SUCCESS

—With the many enlargements we expect to make for the coming season, we will create that volume so necessary for big business and by our own experience, the experience of the most successful poultry men in the United States, who have made fortunes in this line of business.

STOCK IN LACKLAND BROS. POULTRY RANCH & HATCHERY WILL PAY YOU AT LEAST 70 PER CENT PROFIT

—The poultry business is not a new or wildcat proposition, but a sound business enterprise and one that has been a money making business for many years. Put a few hundred dollars in stock in Lackland Bros. Poultry Ranch and Hatchery—not alone for the 70 per cent profit on your investment, but the pride you can take in making your home city—

The Poultry Center of the Southwest

—Ranger needs every industry she can get and the bigger they are the more it will advertise our city. There are many towns in the United States where poultry and poultry products are their sole dependance and as much as $20,000,000 worth of such are marketed in a year.
