

GRAND JURY TO RE-PROBE BOND DEAL

ELKINS JURY HAS BEEN OUT FOR 22 HOURS

Contradictory Testimony Offered by Slain Man's Widow and the Defendant.

EASTLAND, Sept. 23.—Has the ghostly shadow of a hangman's noose been interwoven in the evidence at the trial of Jack Elkins, charged with killing his father-in-law, W. E. Cox, at Eastland? Is the prisoner contemplating the dire destiny of years at hard labor in the penitentiary? Or will he walk away from attending to their regular routine of the day.

Only the jury in the case knows and at 2 o'clock today after being out for twenty-two hours, the jury's silence was oppressive. Behind closed doors, the twelve, with the human destiny of a life in their hands, carried on their deliberations. Only at meal time have they shown themselves, and as they wrestle with the law and the evidence in the case, the court grinds on in its ceaseless way. Attorneys and friends of the defendant during the morning cast anxious glances at the mute door of the jury room and then went on attending to their regular routine of the day.

Given Case Yesterday. The jury was given the case yesterday before Judge Davenport adjourned his court for the day. All arguments were in; the state pleading for a conviction and the defense pleading that the accused man had acted to save the life of himself and his wife at the hands of Cox, who was the father of Mrs. Elkins.

During yesterday the widow of the slain man took the stand and testified that a short while before the killing, Elkins went to the Cox home and said he wanted to see Cox on business at his, (Elkins) home.

Mrs. Cox also stated that prior to this she was in Elkins' home and that Jack Elkins, Jr., came in and the defendant pulled out a pistol and said: "I'm going to use old Betsy before midnight."

The witness said that the answer of Jack, Jr., was: "Yes, if that don't do the work, this will," at the same time pulling out an automatic pistol and handing it to his father.

Cox Made Threats? The defense introduced testimony to show that Cox had threatened Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Elkins on the day of the shooting because Cox thought they were going to report him for the alleged operation of a still and Elkins talked to Cox for the purpose of calming him down, it was claimed. The defense also endeavored to prove that Cox was intoxicated on the day of the killing. This was denied by state's witnesses, however.

According to Elkins, Cox was outside the back door of Elkins' home just before the shooting and asked his daughter, Mrs. Elkins, where her mother was. Mrs. Elkins is alleged to have told her father that Mrs. Cox was at the Cox home. Cox, as it is claimed, then said: "Throw up your hands; I'm going to shoot you in two" and reached to his hip pocket for his pistol. Elkins, who was standing at the door, then started firing, he said.

Two letters were found in Mrs. Lawes' pocketbook. One was addressed to her mother and asked forgiveness for the deed. The other was addressed to Mrs. Birdie Williams of Manhattan, formerly a nurse in the Hanan household, where Mrs. Lawes lived four years. It requested Mrs. Williams to take Mrs. Lawes' body to San Francisco and have it cremated.

The letter to Mrs. Lawes' mother read: "Mother darling: You can never understand what I have been through. Don't try to learn. It is past. I am too tired and ill to overcome the great obstacle I have placed in my own way. Too much high life; pace is too fast and liquor has driven me crazy, dear. Forgive, forget and remember to pray for my soul. Love to all and think of me as I always say to you, a good, sweet daughter. "Lovingly," "GRACE."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Two libel suits growing out of his recent campaign against beauty contests, were started here today by representative Manuel Herrick, the Oklahoma former congressman.

Claiming that ridicule and libel had been heaped upon him as the result of his beauty contest activities, Herrick in his suits demanded $100,000 damages, $50,000 each from the Press Publishing company, publishers of the New York World, and from the Daily Oklahoman, Oklahoma City, Okla.

BURNED HUSBAND TO DEATH WITH LYE, OHIO WOMAN'S CONFESSION

M'NEW EXPECTS AS MANY PUPILS AS LAST SEASON

Help of Officers Sought in Enforcing Compulsory Attendance Law.

The enrollment at the public schools during the current month has every possibility of equalling or surpassing that of the first month of school last year, according to Superintendent McNew. Last year, during September, the enrollment was 1,775 pupils. Already during this month the enrollment is about 1,750 and does not take into consideration, perhaps 100 pupils who are enrolled in the Catholic school. However, the number at the latter school is offset by the number at Merriman school, which was not a part of the school district last year.

It is the belief of Mr. McNew that before September passes, the public school will have an enrollment of 1,800 pupils.

Some Still Out. It is thought that the compulsory school law has something to do with this total, though Mr. McNew is certain that all the children in Ranger, who should be in school, are not attending, and he is also certain that they have no reasonable excuse, with the help that can be secured from the Rotary club and other civic organizations.

Mr. McNew, under the law, is truant officer and he has asked all the instructors of the schools to help him in this work. He stated that the police and sheriff's department could be an aid also, if they would watch for children who should be in school.

RIVAL SHOTS MILLIONAIRES, THEN HERSELF

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Miss Mildred Hanan, said by the police to be the daughter of the late John Hanan, wealthy head of Hanan & Son, shoe manufacturers, was shot three times early today as she was emerging from an apartment house in Brooklyn with John S. Borland, importer.

Mrs. Grace Lawes, who fired the shots, then ended her own life by firing a bullet into her brain. Miss Hanan, who is in the hospital, refused to discuss the shooting.

Borland, according to the police, attributed the shooting to jealousy, admitting that he had quarrelled with Mrs. Lawes recently, over Miss Hanan.

Two letters were found in Mrs. Lawes' pocketbook. One was addressed to her mother and asked forgiveness for the deed. The other was addressed to Mrs. Birdie Williams of Manhattan, formerly a nurse in the Hanan household, where Mrs. Lawes lived four years. It requested Mrs. Williams to take Mrs. Lawes' body to San Francisco and have it cremated.

The letter to Mrs. Lawes' mother read: "Mother darling: You can never understand what I have been through. Don't try to learn. It is past. I am too tired and ill to overcome the great obstacle I have placed in my own way. Too much high life; pace is too fast and liquor has driven me crazy, dear. Forgive, forget and remember to pray for my soul. Love to all and think of me as I always say to you, a good, sweet daughter. "Lovingly," "GRACE."

GORMAN ROBBERY ON TRIAL AT EASTLAND

EASTLAND, Sept. 23.—Sam Kellum, charged with the robbery of Mr. and Mrs. Huffstodler and H. McElroy, near Gorman three months ago, went to trial today. J. E. Bronson, an alleged accomplice, of Kellum in the robbery, pleaded guilty to the charge several weeks ago.

The three persons were riding in an automobile when held up by the two men, who were armed.

HIS PEACEFUL SLUMBER AFTER REVILING HER DROVE JEALOUS WIFE INTO MOOD FOR TORTURE

By United Press

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 23.—"I wanted to make him suffer; I didn't want to kill him," Mrs. Minnie Derr told police today in confessing that she had slain her husband with acid.

Mrs. Derr was arrested shortly after the funeral of her husband, A. R. Derr, secretary and treasurer of a wholesale builders' supply house. Derr was burned with alkali Monday night. He died Tuesday. Mrs. Derr received slight injuries. She had contended that she saw no intruder enter the house. Derr was unable to talk because of his burns.

Wanted Him to Suffer. "I merely wanted him to pay in physical pain for the mental torture he has caused me," the woman sobbed. Two daughters and her 19-year-old son, Harry, listened as Mrs. Derr related the tale of the tragedy, and the unfaithfulness for which their father paid.

"He would come home during the early morning hours and wake me to cook him a meal," the alleged confessor said. "Then he would complain about the food and use vile language, and mistreat me in maddening ways, and all the while I had to know it was because of his attention to another woman. "Sunday night he came in long after midnight. He woke me to prepare something for him to eat. Then he swore at me and went to bed. "The late moonlight streamed through our bedroom window on his sleeping face. I couldn't bear to think he could sleep so peacefully after he had treated me in such a manner. Then I thought he should suffer some. "Mixed Lye and Water. "I went downstairs and mixed the lye and water. I splashed and threw it over his upturned face and the bed. "The confession said Mrs. Derr conceived the idea of blaming burglars for the acid throwing. Her son shielded her, claiming he had cut the wires to the house, and told of seeing a man run away. "Police admitted today they had located the "other woman" and that she admitted relations with Derr. The murder victim had been attentive to her for four years, police said.

RUNAWAY COACH GIVES MEXIA BOOMERS WILD RIDE; SEVERAL HURT

By United Press

CORSICANA, Sept. 23.—Several scores of Corsicana people narrowly escaped death in a wild ride on a runaway coach of the Mexia oil special at Groesbeck yesterday.

As the train was leaving Mexia, the coupling on the last coach broke, and set the car free. There is a considerable grade south towards Groesbeck, and the coach gathered speed as it rocked down the track. Attempts of passengers failed to stop it. Panic seized several of the passengers, who jumped from the moving coach, sustaining slight injuries.

An up-grade near Groesbeck brought the wild ride to an end, and the rest of the train, which had pursued the runaway coach, reached the scene. The coupling was repaired and the train reached here about an hour late.

No Game Today

By Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Sept. 23.—A day of rest was in order today for the Panthers and Chicks, contenders for the southern baseball championship. The visitors departed last night for their home town. The Panthers leave tonight on a special train with 125 Fort Worth fans. The next three games will be played at Memphis, beginning Saturday.

DAUGHERTY IS MUM ON KU KLUX FINDINGS

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Attorney General Daugherty will probe the innermost secrets of the Ku Klux Klan in order to determine whether the organization is a menace to law and order, it was said at the department of justice today. Reports from federal agents on the activities of the Klan already are coming into Daugherty's office. Daugherty and William J. Burns, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, are awaiting reports from other parts of the country before making public the nature of the findings. Persons professing an intimate knowledge of Klan activities will be summoned to Washington for examination and among them may be some of the highest officers of the organization, according to Daugherty's plan.

WARNING GAS WILL BE TURNED OFF TOMORROW NOON—WATCH YOUR STOVES AND LIGHTS

A warning has been issued to gas consumers by the Ranger Gas company, to be sure that no lights or other gas burners are left burning tomorrow between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock. During those hours the company will close the city gates on the mains for the purpose of doing some repair work.

According to H. E. Clewell, there will probably be enough gas in the lines to supply the city during that hour, but in case there should not be an ample supply, and stoves or lights are left burning and later are extinguished through lack of fuel, accidents might result when the gas is turned into the lines again consequently the warning.

Mr. Clewell said it is imperative that the repair be made, as the company has been losing a large quantity of gas because of a leak in the main.

SOVIET WILL AGAIN EMBRACE CAPITALISM

All But Four Fundamental Industries Will Be Returned to Private Ownership.

By EDWIN HULLINGER, (Copyright, 1921, by the United Press.)

MOSCOW, Sept. 23.—"The soviet government has decided to return to private capital all industries throughout Russia, save four—railways, and metallurgical, textile and fuel sources," M. Kameneff, head of the Moscow soviet and member of the Bolshevik cabinet, declared in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

The complete scope of the soviet's new economic policy was revealed by Kameneff, who declared Russia is on the eve of national reorganization of the most sweeping character, which will include reinstallation of a large part of the capitalist machinery, abolished in the revolutions of 1917.

AVEN'S FATE TO BE IN HANDS OF JURY BY NIGHT

By Associated Press

WACO, Sept. 23.—The Aven case probably will be in the hands of the jury before night. Arguments were delivered this morning.

The defendant sought to show that undue pressure had been brought to bear by officers to obtain his confession to the triple murder of his wife, baby and nephew, and repudiated his signed statement.

BOOTLEGGERS MUST PAY MILLIONS IN TAXES, THEN BE PROSECUTED

By United Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Millions of dollars in taxes will be assessed against owners of contraband liquor, after which prosecution will follow, it was learned here today. Internal revenue taxes on liquor have never been repealed.

The flying squadron of twenty federal agents that "mopped up" New York, Indianapolis and Chicago was sent out from Washington to assess taxes and get evidence for prosecution, the United Press was reliably informed.

The squadron is scheduled to "mop up" San Francisco next, it was said.

LOCKHART, Texas, Sept. 23.—Fire early today destroyed three buildings of the Furdtette Wells Hotel company, near here. The loss is estimated at $25,000, none of which was covered by insurance.

WOMEN SWARM TO HEAR ABOUT ARBUCKLE CASE

Hearings in Women's Court Will Continue for Several Days; No Morning Session.

By Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—The hearing of Fatty Arbuckle in the woman's court was scheduled to be resumed at 2 o'clock here today, it being continued from yesterday afternoon, when Fatty began fighting on his second line of defense.

Yesterday he sat beside his pretty, big-eyed wife, Minta Durfee, and listened to his attorneys wrangle and struggle in the courtroom to prevent Police Judge Lazarus ordering him to trial before the superior court on a charge of murdering Virginia Rappe of Los Angeles as an aftermath of his Labor day "party" in a San Francisco hotel.

Fatty's famous baby eyes dimmed and he turned his head away when a big photograph of the body of Virginia Rappe was handed to a witness for identification. Then he turned to his wife and she patted his hand and clenched his arm a little tighter. Fatty straightened up—he was fighting a life and death battle and his first love, the girl from whom he had been separated for two years, was standing by him.

Damaging to Defense. The evidence at the preliminary hearing was damaging to Arbuckle's defense. Doctors testified that only one thing—external force, a blow or a fall—could have caused the death of Miss Rappe.

Incidentally, it was brought out that the dead girl's name is pronounced "Rap-pay."

They described in detail the condition of her body. Their testimony was couched in medical terms. In brief the physicians agreed that the bruises they found on the body were the result of a blow or a struggle; that Miss Rappe was not suffering from any infectious disease as nurses had testified at the inquest; that she had been in good health prior to her last fatal illness.

The hearing was held before a court room crowded with women—women of every kind.

Lots of Women. There were sprightly show girls, flashily dressed women from the cafes, just plain, curious girls, and dowagers galore.

REESE GIVEN $3,000 BOND TO AWAIT APPEAL

A motion for a new trial in the case of Dan Reese, charged with the killing of B. Davis, for which he was given five years in the penitentiary Wednesday, was overruled last night by Judge George L. Davenport, before whom Reese was tried. An appeal was taken to the court of criminal appeals at Austin. Pending the hearing of the appeal, Reese was allowed bond in the sum of $3,000, which was made with George Whalen, Henry Simmons, William Healer, and J. E. Redman, of Dallas, as sureties.

Twenty-three exceptions were set up by the defense, to be passed upon by the court of appeals. In the trial of Reese, the Davis family employed two special prosecutors, L. H. Flewellen and L. R. Pearson, both of Ranger, to assist County Attorney Dunnam. The defense was represented by Taylor & Wasaff of Ranger and Joe Burkett of Eastland. The state asked for the death penalty.

CHICAGO BANK SENDS AGENT TO STATE ITS SIDE

Judge Hill Orders Body to Reconvene at 1:30 This Afternoon.

Special to the Times.

EASTLAND, Sept. 23.—Was there some illegal action in the pledging of $50,000 worth of county road bonds to the City National bank of Chicago? Was there something overlooked in the former probe of the grand jury which exonerated Judge C. R. Starnes and the commissioners' court from any malfeasance?

These questions are going from lip to lip since it became known that Judge E. A. Hill ordered the grand jury to meet again at 1:30 o'clock today to probe the City National bank affair. Arthur J. Hughes of the Chicago bank was to appear before the body when it re-assembled.

Bonds Pledged. Judge Starnes and Sam D. Young, it is said, went to Chicago and pledged $50,000 worth of the bonds to secure a loan of $35,000 for the Security State bank of Eastland, which has closed since that time. In place of the bonds the county treasurer was given a credit of $42,000 in the bank before it closed its doors.

Since the bank closed, the Committee of Eight, which investigated the road affairs, has recommended that a suit be started to recover the bonds from the Chicago bank, which immediately gives rise to the question as to where the title of the securities lies.

Beyond calling the grand jury the intentions of Judge Hill are unknown. He may charge the jury on these points, he may only ask them to investigate the legal status of the bonds or he may do neither.

BORAH WAGES LONE FIGHT ON PEACE PACTS

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—With one reservation attached, the senate foreign relations committee today reported to the senate for ratification the three new peace treaties, with Germany, Austria and Hungary. The vote of the committee was 9 to 1. The reservation was designed to meet partially the objections against the new treaties raised by Senator Borah of Idaho. This concession, however, did not satisfy the irreconcilable leader, and he cast the only vote against reporting the new pact.

Borah indicated that he will carry his fight to the senate floor. The reservation is similar to that offered by Senator Lodge to the treaty of Versailles. It prevents appointment of an American representative on any international body set up under the treaty.

KNIFE DUEL KILLING CASE GETS CONTINUANCE

Special to the Times.

EASTLAND, Sept. 23.—The trial of W. P. Armstrong, charged with the murder of Grady Tarver several months ago has been postponed until Oct. 6. A continuance was asked by the defense because the list of the special venire had not been given it. The clerk of the court stated that he could not do this because the sheriff had not returned the writ to him.

Armstrong and Tarver engaged in a knife duel in the western part of the county.

Women Swarm to Hear About Arbuckle Case

pinned closely on Fatty, sat eighteen club women, composing the women's vigilance committee, delegated by the women's clubs of San Francisco to watch the Arbuckle case in the interest of justice to womanhood.

But only a handful of the hundreds of women who wanted to see "Fatty on trial" were in the court room. It took fifty policemen to handle the crowds which swarmed through the corridors of the hall of justice and blocked the street outside. Over 1,000 women were on hand when court opened. The last seat in the court room had been taken an hour and a half before the hearing started. Many of the spectators had brought lunches.

Only Women Admitted.
Only women were admitted to the court room under a rule of "ladies first."

Dr. Shelby Strange, autopsy surgeon; Dr. William Ophuls, who performed the unofficial autopsy, and Miss Grace Halston, surgical nurse, who was at the autopsy, were the first witnesses.

Their testimony was all the same, namely, that external force had caused a rupture of the bladder resulting in peritonitis, which caused the death of Miss Rappe. They all had seen bruises on the body which they attributed to the same cause as the fatal injury.

Showed Emotion.

Dr. Strange was asked to identify the photograph of Miss Rappe taken as she lay on a marble slab at the morgue. It was then that Arbuckle showed deep emotion for the first time. He would not look at the picture or even toward the witness as long as it was being passed back and forth among the lawyers, the court and the witnesses. He seemed relieved when the clerk laid it face down on his desk marked "Exhibit A."

Progress of the hearing was slow owing to the wrangling of attorneys. The defense hardly passed a question unchallenged. It was evident that every effort would be made to have the charge against Arbuckle reduced to manslaughter—a power which the court has.

Later in the day the hearing adjourned until 2 p. m. Friday, pending the arrival of other witnesses.

SHERMAN'S STORY OF FATAL ARBUCKLE PARTY

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—District Attorney Swann today obtained from Lowell Sherman, motion picture actor, a graphic account of the party in San Francisco which had for an epilogue the death of Virginia Rappe.

Sherman, who attended the party staged in the rooms of Fatty Arbuckle, now facing a murder charge, was located by the district attorney's office, after he had jumped off the Twentieth Century at Harmon, N. Y., yesterday and disappeared in an automobile with a red-haired woman.

Found in his apartment here, Sherman explained that the woman was his wife, that he had sought to elude publicity and not Mr. Swann and that he had been waiting for an invitation to appear at the district attorney's office.

An assertion which appeared several times in Sherman's formal statement, mailed tonight to District Attorney Brady in San Francisco, was that those who had attended the party had not felt great concern over Miss Rappe's illness, the consensus of opinion being that she simply "had a bun on." Sherman declared he had never asked Arbuckle what had occurred between him and the girl after they had entered his bedroom and closed the door and Arbuckle never had told him.

Everybody was feeling the effects of whiskey and gin, according to Sherman, and a phonograph was making a mad noise. After a cold bath had failed to revive the girl and she had been put to bed, Sherman said that at the suggestion of Arbuckle he had cleared the suite of guests and dismissed the matter from his mind, not taking the girl's illness seriously.

"I did not see Arbuckle put his arms around the girl before she went into the bedroom or put his hands upon her."

Asserting that Mrs. Delmont, another guest, did not seem to be at all upset about anything that had happened to Miss Rappe, Sherman continued:

"I went back to Los Angeles with Arbuckle the next afternoon. I never saw Miss Rappe after that and never inquired about her, because I did not take any of it seriously.

"I do not know whether Mr. Arbuckle communicated with her or asked about her. If he did he did not do so in my presence.

"I never asked Arbuckle what he thought was the matter with the girl. He seemed to have the same opinion as everyone else—that the girl had a bun on and was ill. He did not seem in any way upset about it any more than anybody who was at the party.

"I never heard Miss Rappe express an opinion as to what was the matter with her at any time."

Sherman made the following statement to newspaper men:

"I came here openly on the Twentieth Century. I spoke with the newspaper boys in Chicago and have been trying to dodge nobody. I am ready and willing at all times to tell whatever I know."

PALM TREES HAVE SEX, DEL RIO EXPERIMENT SHOWS; MAY LEAD TO DATE CULTURE IN WEST TEXAS

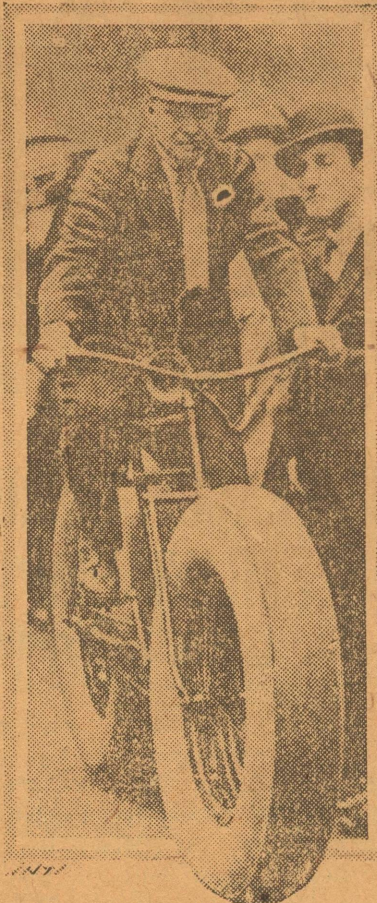

DEL RIO, Texas, Sept. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garner of this city are not greatly interested in social affairs, yet they have more dates than any pretty debutante in Del Rio. And they are "swell" dates, too, as two newspaper men who inspected and sampled them can testify. Their rich gold is shining against the dark green of the big palm which bore them. The palm is fifteen feet high, with a spread of about twenty feet. The plant is about fifteen years old, and for four years had flowered and fruited, only to shed the fruit when hardly half developed. That the fruit has come this year to delicious ripeness is due to the botanical knowledge of Louis Gottwald, who finally succeeded in convincing Mr. Garner of a fact which—he—and most other people, did not know; namely, that date palms are sexual and the pollen from a "male" palm is necessary to the fertilization and complete fruition of the "other" palm which bears the fruit.

Bears First Fruit.

Finding a male palm in bloom on the grounds of Mrs. S. H. Barton, he secured a quantity of the pollen on a pod of cotton and carried it to the Garner place, where he carefully dusted the blooms of the female palm. The result of the fertilization is plainly seen, those blossoms which received pollen now being full size fruit, while others alongside have made only a small, green, immature "date-let," such as have formed and fallen off for four years past.

The successful fruiting of this plant opens up the possibility of a new industry for Del Rio and lower West Texas. West Texas has the long season, the soil, the hot sunshine and water in plenty for propagation.

RECORD FINE ASSESSED FOR VIOLATION OF CITY SANITARY ORDINANCE

The largest fine ever assessed in police court under a charge of violating the sanitary ordinances, was given P. P. Palmer, one of the organizers of the Law Enforcement bureau, yesterday by Police Judge L. S. Flew-ellen. The fine was for $50. The defendant appealed his case to the county court.

Palmer was arrested by Wade Swift, sanitary inspector, because he did not maintain an outside toilet and refused to do so when so requested by Swift, it was said. Palmer is a grocery merchant who operates a small store at Austin and Cypress street.

TEMPLE.

Gloria Swanson comes to stardom in a picture that offers her vivid personality one of the most effective means of expression that she has had in all her luminous career under so colorful a director as Cecil B. DeMille. Her first star picture, has been written especially for her by Elinor Glyn, England's famous novelist, whose sensational love story, "Three Weeks," created a literary furor all over the world.

"The Great Moment" is the title of this Elinor Glyn product, which is playing at the Temple theatre last time today, and it is as rich in unusual love scenes, lavish beauty and unconventional situations as Mme. Glyn's stories always abound. Gloria Swanson, whom Mme. Glyn considers as the ideal heroine was never more lovely, more alluringly fascinating—She is an exquisite creature throughout, she wears gowns that eclipse even some of De Mille's creations, her eyes are wonderfully lovely and she plays with an ease and sincerity which makes one almost feel that she has an old soul of long ago struggling for expression in the present. Milton Sills, famous as any male actor on the screen, gives a performance that is noteworthy, in the role of leading man.

An exotic atmosphere pervades the picture from the first, when Sir Edward Pelham, distinguished English aristocrat, meets in at a wild orgy in London in Imperial St. Petersburg a dancing gypsy girl, Nada. The girl recognizes in him the one man in the world. She dances and coquets and her vivid Romany spirit arouses in Sir Edward an irresistible response. He marries her and takes her back to dignified England. Fortunate it was for the wild little creature that she died when the daughter Nadine was born, for she was never happy in the cold halls of the English mansion, the gypsy song was stilled and her heart was unhappy.

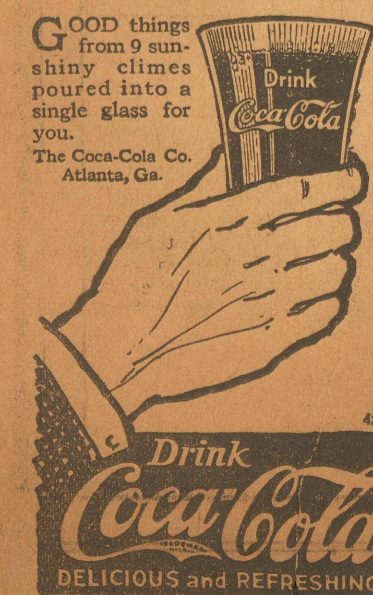

MANHATTAN

When a popular player becomes identified with a certain line of parts public opinion often necessitates their continuation along those lines. The Selznick star, Elaine Hammerstein has in the past won great popularity by her portrayals of women of genteel refinement and her latest appearance in the Selznick picture "The Miracle of Manhattan" now at the Manhattan theatre another of those types but with the difference that the background of the story is replete with thrilling action which is at wide variance with that usually seen in the modern society photoplay.

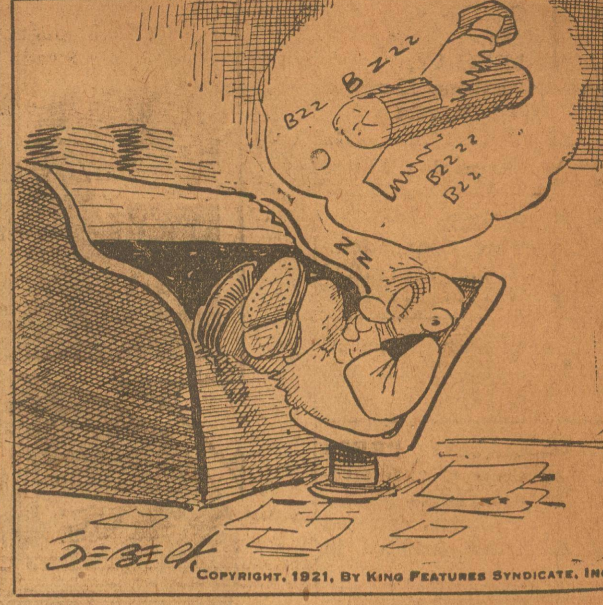

"The Miracle of Manhattan" is a society play but it deals with all kinds of society. The kind that is seen on "the avenue" and the kind that inhabits less fashionable districts.

Bradley King is credited with the authorship of this really thrilling tale and he is entitled to much praise for his originality and clever development of the plot.

To suddenly take a society bud from her luxuriously home and transplant her immediately in the slums of a great city is contrast enough for anybody but the transition is not as incongruous as it might appear from merely reading about it. It is one of those pictures that, to use the well worn phrase, "must be seen to be appreciated."

Barney Ought to Exchange His Desk for a Bed

HERMAN IS A LUCKY CUSS! HE RECOGNIZES OWN NEW GLAD RAGS DRAPING ABIE ON PROMENADE

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Herman Schwartz, a furrier who for personal reasons resides in a Turkish bath at 268 East Tenth street, strolled out hand in hand with a bankroll of $150 to buy a suit of clothes he had seen pictured in the back piazza of his favorite 5-cent "weakly."

He was astonished to find that the purchase price of the suit did not include the motor car and the Russian wolf hound; but he smothered his chagrin, bowed to the inevitable, and with part of his remaining cash or the residue, as they say over in the Gas House district, annexed two brown shoes, a brown Denhan Thompson hat, a brown scarf, two brown socks, a couple of seal hued garters and a brown striped shirt.

Herman believes in common sense applied to spending. He had $20.85 left when he went to bed that night in the Turkish bath.

He awoke yesterday morning with bare feet and a happy heart. After a cursory survey of the large toe on either foot, Herman strolled over to have a look at his new raiment by daylight.

Raiment Vanishes. The raiment was not there. It was gone, and in its place Herman found an outfit that had been subjected to a post-graduate course in utility.

Herman donned the castoffs, reported his loss to the cashier of the bath, confided his tale to the sympathetic ears of a police lieutenant and then went to work. When he got to his shop the boss told him he had been fired for being late.

Without the price of a doughnut, Herman strolled north along the Bowery, thence to Third avenue, where, at Twenty-fifth street, his glance lit upon a natty stranger clad in brown from head to toe.

"That's the way I'd be looking now if my rig hadn't been swiped," said Herman to himself, approaching the study in brown for a close-up.

Herman got his close-up and then got a cop—Cornelius Walters. He insisted Walters arrest the stranger for stealing his clothes. The cop was skeptical and Herman was excited and the stranger in brown was bland. Extracting a cigar from his waistcoat pocket, the man in brown remarked:

Stranger Indeed?

"A strange case, officer, a strange case. This seedy individual is doubtless demented. I am Herman Schwartz, a Wall street broker."

"He looks like a broker I see once in a musical comedy," said the cop.

A crowd collected, and Walters took the "Wall street broker" and Schwartz to the station house, where the "broker" could not remember the brand on the band of the cigar he had given the cop. Neither could he identify certain articles found in the pockets of the brown clothes he was wearing.

The party adjourned to the Essex Market Court, where the "Wall street broker" broke down and confessed to Magistrate Cobb that he was not a broker.

"I'm just plain Abie Goldstein, 23 years old," he told the magistrate. "You ain't plain Abie while you got those clothes on," remarked Herman. "You'll be awful plain, Abie, when you get these clothes of yours back. If clothes got service stripes you couldn't see no cloth."

The men were ordered to change clothes. They retired. Two minutes later sounds of an altercation disturbed the magistrate's proceedings.

"What's the trouble?" asked the court.

"Abie and Herman are scrapping about their garters," a court attendant explained. "They got along all right till it came to changing garters."

The garter trouble was adjusted and Herman stepped back into the court a transformed man. Sure enough Abie looked very plain. He was held in $1,000 bail for the action of the grand jury.

The proposed Woman's National Foundation will be the largest woman's club in the world.

CAREFREE MOTORING

If one would be a good motor car driver, all he has to do is to practice on Ranger streets in the early evening, it would appear from a casual spin about town.

The corner of East Main and Railroad avenue has as yet produced no smashes, though it seems to be a single-track thoroughfare, about six feet wide and adjacent to the curb. It would appear that there should be a turning block here to keep westbound traffic out of the eastbound right-of-way.

Some persons, climbing into a parked car, have a pleasant habit of darting out into the street without regard to vehicles coming up behind them and forcing the following cars onto the opposite side of the street in order to avoid a bump. Of course nothing is hurt, so long as there is no traffic moving in the opposite direction.

Some others have a neat trick of turning on the near side of the turning blocks, without regard to the position of other cars. One last night did this and a double collision was escaped by inches.

The reason there are so few collisions in Ranger is that nine-tenths of the drivers are good ones, able to put an automobile through feats that would turn a contortionist green with envy. Certainly there can be no other reason, for how can one driver foresee what another is going to do, when the other doesn't appear to know himself, until the whim strikes him?

HARDING PAYS HIS FIRST VISIT TO WEST POINT

For the first time since he became the nation's chief executive, President Harding paid a visit to West Point. After being escorted up the Hudson by destroyers, the President and his party, which included Secretary of War Weeks and Attorney-General Daugherty, landed at West Point. A small boat took Mr. Harding ashore from the Mayflower, and he was greeted by General Douglas MacArthur. A troop of cavalry escorted the President's motor car to the garrison. Upon reaching the parade ground at the Academy the President reviewed the cadets. This was followed by a luncheon, after which a golf game was planned. The photographs show President Harding and Secretary of War Weeks, with his escort, inspecting the cadets. Below is Mrs. T. R. Timberlake, Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, wife of Brigadier-General MacArthur, commander at West Point.

DAIRYMEN TO CO-OPERATE AS AID TO INDUSTRY

By Associated Press DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 23.—Development of a state-wide milk producers' co-operative association is contemplated by the Texas Farm bureau, according to an announcement by Walton Petet, of the bureau.

Preliminary steps toward organization of a milk producers' co-operative association in Dallas county have been taken. According to proposed plans outlined by Mr. Petet, the organization will control a subsidiary company capitalized at from $60,000 to $75,000 which will operate a creamery for the purpose of utilizing the surplus milk supply in the making of butter and cheese. Receiving stations will be established under the proposed plan and modern facilities for testing, grading and handling milk brought into use.

It is planned, Mr. Petet said, to develop later the state-wide organization to serve the principal cities in Texas with milk and milk products, the Dallas association serving as a nucleus. Under plans outlined by Mr. Petet the state would be divided into six districts with Dallas, Tarrant and Denton counties in the first; a second district to serve San Antonio; a third, Houston and Galveston; a fourth, Beaumont and Port Arthur, a fifth at Austin and the sixth at Waco.

HEY, AUDREY! HOW ABOUT THIS OKLAHOMA VET?

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Sept. 23.—Although fame as a sculptor's model awaits him, Olin L. Stone of this city prefers the modest place of store clerk. Soon, his image will be emblazoned on a memorial that will overlook the historic battlefield of Chateau Thierry, France.

Selected from a hundred American doughboys who represented the best physical specimens of the American Expeditionary Force, Stone has since had numerous opportunities to pose for artists of world-wide renown. To all, however, he has turned a deaf ear and quietly continued his duties in an "army store" here.

Stone's image will adorn a statue that, when completed, will form a unit of what is declared will be one of the most artistic battle monuments erected in commemoration of the world war. It will be cut in stone eighteen feet high and eight feet wide.

The memorial will be the work of Constant Roux, French sculptor and of Howard Davis, an American sculptor. It is expected it will be completed next year.

Stone saw service in the battles of Cantigny, Montdidier, Aisne, Marne, Meuse and Argonne. He also served with the Army of Occupation and in December, 1918, was returned to France to receive decorations.

When it was decided to erect the memorial at Chateau Thierry, a careful selection began for the American whose figure was to adorn the monument. The selections finally dwindled to a hundred, and these men were sent to Paris for a final choice by artists. Stone was the unanimous choice of Roux and Davis.

Jap Royalty Worried; May Have to Mingle With Common Herd by Taking Prince of Wales to Show

By HARRY L. ROGERS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Sept. 22.—When President Harding wishes to visit the theatre, as he does from time to time, he mentions the fact to the white house head usher a few hours in advance, and the head usher telephones the manager of the theatre, to make sure the presidential box is reserved. The secret service is also notified in order that operatives may be stationed in various parts of the audience, a precaution never neglected since the fatal shooting of Abraham Lincoln in the old Ford theatre here.

At first sight this seems a bit complicated, but in reality it is simple, so far as the president himself is concerned, as when Bill Jones or John Doe goes to the movies. There is no long drawn-out discussion as to the propriety of the visit, or the effect it may have upon the country at large, and the president and Mrs. Harding have been known to decide upon a theatre party only a few hours in advance of the event.

In Japan matters are not so simple. The mere suggestion that the Japanese Crown Prince might entertain the Prince of Wales when he arrives in Japan next spring by taking him to the theatre has aroused a controversy which is spreading throughout the empire. For a member of the Imperial household to visit a theatre frequented by ordinary human beings is absolutely unprecedented, and a not inconsiderable portion of the more conservative Japanese are scandalized at the thought of such a thing according to diplomatic reports received in Washington.

Liberals Favor Broken Barriers. Nevertheless, there is undoubtedly a large liberal element, including some powerful liberal leaders and a few of the more conservative, who are eager to see some of the old barriers between the imperial household and the people broken down. Indeed, according to a statement attributed to an officer of the household, one of the motives of the European tour of the Crown Prince Hirothio, was to enable him to observe the relations between the royalty of Europe and their subjects.

So far has the talk of entertainment of the Prince of Wales in Tokio proceeded that theatrical managers in the Japanese capital are already vying with each other as to whether they will have the privilege of being the first to entertain any member of the Japanese Imperial family, and at the same time provide amusement for the future king of England.

The plan to make a visit to some Tokio theatre a part of the Prince of Wales' entertainment was suggested partly because of the fact that the same sort of entertainment was provided for the Crown Prince of Japan in London. The influential newspaper, Yomiuri, commenting on the decision of the department of the Imperial household to give consideration to such a program, recalls the fact that several years ago, when the National Literary society was founded in Tokio, with Takejiro Tokonaminthe planned to have some imperial person visit the theatre, but the widespread objections made the scheme impossible.

Precedent at Variance Under the Japanese theory a theatre where the emperor visits would have to be regarded as an extension of the imperial household. Sanitary and police precautions must be taken on the responsibility of the authority of the imperial household department.

In addition there is the all important matter of precedent. No imperial personage ever before in the history of Japan visited a theatre publicly. Breaking this precedent is regarded as a most serious matter. If the British heir should visit a theatre the Japanese crown prince would have to accompany his guest. Possibly the empress would also be a member of the party. Widely ramifying complications are expected as a result of this record-breaking innovation in the affairs of the imperial household.

When Prince Arthur of Connaught visited the Kabukize, 40,000 yen or more was spent in fitting up the theatre for his reception. If the British heir is to visit a Japanese theatre the consensus of opinion points to the Imperial theatre as the most likely to be selected. On account of the competition among theatrical managers for the honor, the authorities are keeping all their plans and preparations secret.

BIG INCREASE IN TEXAS GRAIN SORGHUM CROP

STAMFORD, Sept. 23.—Estimates received from a large number of the counties in the grain belt of West Texas indicate that the largest grain-sorghum crop ever grown in West Texas is now being harvested. The acreage planted in grain-sorghum in West Texas in 1921 is estimated at 2,340,000 acres, against 1,906,000 acres for 1920. The production in 1920 was 60,992,000 bushels or an average of thirty-two bushels to the acre. The estimate for 1921 made in reports to the agricultural bureau of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, indicate a crop of 81,633,000 bushels or an average of 30.5 bushels per acre.

Burglars Don't Seek The Limelight

Darkness is their stock in trade. They work by stealth—unheard and unseen—their movements cloaked in secrecy. It's honest folks that seek the light. They are the only ones who can risk it.

It's the same way in business. The manufacturer or the merchant who is not sure of his goods does not dare to advertise. Advertising would hasten the end of his business career—put him to a test he couldn't meet.

The man who advertises, deliberately invites your inspection. He tells you about his product or his merchandise and then lets it stand on its own merits. You can depend on him. He knows his product is good.

That's one reason why it pays you to read the advertisements you find in the columns of this paper. It is through advertising that you are able to keep in touch with the good things that progressive business men are spending their money to introduce and to keep before you.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALLERS PLAY PANTHER CATS FIRST GAME TOMORROW AT DUBLIN BURY MEMPHIS CHICKS, 16 TO 1

Team Looks Much Stronger Than Last Year; Comanche Coming Here Next Week; Season Tickets to Be Sold in Order to Finance Pigskin Season.

Ranger Hi football team leaves at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning for Dublin, where the first game of the season will be played. Sixteen men will make the trip and the following line-up, put together after two weeks of stiff training and some scrimmage work, is announced:

Better Team.

While not doing any boasting until it has proved itself, the 1921 Hi squad feels that it will make a more impressive showing than it did last year. The players, most of them veterans, expect their previous experience to stand them in good stead and several have added weight that will be felt. The line from tackle to tackle will probably exceed 150 pounds. Getts and Phillips, at about 140, being the two lightest regulars. Dunkle, with 165 pounds, is the heavy-weight of the squad.

T. Alworth, one of the twins, has been moved from end to half and Hubbard takes the wing position. This change, it is thought, will promote teamwork and get the best results out of the combination. Alworth is probably the fastest man on the squad and it was decided to place this asset where it can be used in gaining ground. At the same time Hubbard holds a slight edge as an interference buster and is good at receiving passes.

Schertz is Captain.

Happy Schertz, a newcomer this year, and who has been elected captain of the team, is expected to prove an effective ground gainer and defensive player at the other half. Happy is nothing if not aggressive, and the old fighting spirit he brought from a hitch in the navy has infected the whole team.

All of the squad are in good shape except Huffman, who has a bad ankle, and it was said this morning that no allis are being prepared. The team expects to win. Straight football will be the method employed, as Coach Hart's policy is to develop the team gradually and not try to teach the players everything at once.

Sell Season Tickets.

Saturday, Oct. 1, Ranger will clash with Comanche High at Nitro park, and with the lessons learned in one game and an added week of practice, the team expects to show Ranger football fans some real pastime. Season tickets will go on sale today, both among the school children and downtown, and the business management expects to take in enough money before the first game to finance some rather stiff guarantees. These tickets will be sold to school children for $1 each, and to others for $1.50. More than 500 must be sold to finance the season, but the High school folk expect no difficulty about that.

The tag day last week brought in approximately $180, which with care will cover the cost of equipment.

Stellbauer's Homer With Bases Full Is Finishing Wallop.

Special to Times.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 23.—Bill Stellbauer's home run in the fourth inning, with the bases full, clamped the lid on the second game of the championship series yesterday (and Fort Worth scored the overwhelming victory of 16 to 1. Three Memphis pitchers faced the Panther onslaught and all fared poorly. Home runs by Kraft and Sears, in addition to Stellbauer's circuit swat, added to the measure.

Joe Pate, the blonde lefthander, was Jake Atz's pitching selection for the second setto, and he twirled a careful, steady game, holding the Chicks to five hits and one run. That came on Yockey's double, Dowie's single, which sent him to third, and a double play. It made the count 4-1. The only other inning in which the Chicks got two hits was in the seventh, when Williams and McLarry delivered successive singles before a man was out. Brown hit into a double play and Williams was left stranded at third when Camp grounded to Rigney.

Count in Opener.

The Panthers hopped on Zahniser in the first inning counting three times on four hits and an error. They scored again in the third, when Stellbauer walked, went to third on Kraft's two-bagger and crossed the plate on Hoffmann's sacrifice fly.

Then in the fourth came the slaughter. Haworth grounded out to McLarry, Pate was safe at first when his grounder went through McLarry. Coombs walked, Boyd replaced Zahniser. Sears walked, filling the bases. Stellbauer knocked a home run over the left field fence. Kraft knocked a home run into the center field bleachers. Lohman replaced Boyd. Hoffman popped one back of the pitcher, which neither Yockey or McMillan could handle. Haley singled to left center, Hoffman going to third and scoring when Rigney hit a Texas leaguer over second. Haworth grounded to Yockey, who tossed to McMillan at second. McMillan dropped the ball and Haley scored, Rigney going to third and Haworth safe at first. Pate grounded out, Yockey to McLarry, Rigney scoring and Haworth taking second. Coombs grounded out, High to McLarry, for the third out.

Pate's double and Sears' homer added two runs in the seventh. Fine base running and battery errors gave two more in the eighth on two hits.

BOY DIES WHEN DRAWN INTO MOTOR TRUCK GEAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—While skipping rope with other boys in front of pier No. 37, on West street, 10-year-old John Bullora was killed in an extraordinary automobile accident.

An end of the rope got caught in the drive chain of a heavy motor truck and the boy, clinging to the other end, was pulled headfirst between the chain and the gear on a rear wheel.

Five playmates screamed in horror and their cries were heard by Benjamin Goodnick, the driver. Before he could bring the truck to a stop the boy's head was drawn into the gear and crushed.

ESKIMOS WILL SHOW WORLD HOW TO BE HEALTHY

By Associated Press.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 23.—Problems of dietetics, nutrition and sex among the Eskimos will be studied by an expedition to be sent out next May by the school of hygiene of Johns Hopkins University. The plans were outlined here by Dr. Victor E. Levine, professor of biochemistry and nutrition at the Creighton School of Medicine, Omaha, who visited Halifax early this month on his way to Battle Harbor, Labrador.

The Eskimos, he said, are the healthiest people in the world when not contaminated by white people. Because of this fact the members of the expedition hope that they may discover some new theory of health as put into practice by the dwellers in the northland.

Dr. Levine and his party will return in November, 1922. The main expedition will spend next summer and part of the winter of 1923 among the Eskimos.

MADE LOVE TO 'MISS'; NOW HER HUSBAND SUES

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Just suppose—

"That you were a wealthy business man;

"That you met an attractive young woman, who called herself Miss and who wore no wedding ring;

"That she was in business under her maiden name and was known by it to all her friends and acquaintances;

"And you gave her presents and took her frequently to the theatre.

Wouldn't it jar you—
 To learn she had a husband and infant daughter and—
 To get your first information that she was married in the shape of a summons in a suit by her husband for the alienation of her affections, demanding $100,000 damages?

Walter L. Williams, said to be director in several large corporations, and official of a well known bank, has portrayed himself as the victim of such an unpleasant surprise in papers filed in the county clerk's office.

Mr. Williams is defending a $100,000 suit in the supreme court.
 William A. Rosenberg, described as a leather dealer, is the husband who is suing him.

Miss Frances Bachman, who operates a public stenographic service, is the woman in the case.

THE NATURAL QUESTION.

"Just think, Adolph, there in the dark street was a man, I ran harder than I ever ran before."
 "And did you catch him, auntie?"
 —Der Brummer, Berlin.

Tired Business Man.

"I understand that you are going to take a vacation?"
 "Yes," replied Mr. Dustin Stax.
 "I need a change of scene."
 "You never appeared to work very hard."
 "No. But it becomes monotonous to do all your loafing in the same office."—Washington Star.

HOW IT HAPPENED

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

The leadership of the American league will be at stake when Cleveland tackles the Yanks today at the Polo Grounds. By winning yesterday, the two teams retained their position, with New York a point or two ahead.

It took the Indians twelve innings to beat the Red Sox, 9 to 8, in a free hitting contest, which Boston tied by making two runs in the eighth. Tris Speaker, after being out of the lineup for ten days with an injured knee, inserted himself as a pinch hitter in twelfth, but failed to deliver. However, his infield out moved O'Neill to third, and he scored on another infield play. Tris nearly collapsed during his run to first base.

Although Peckinpaugh, Ruth and Meusel, the Yank heavy hitters, failed to gather in a single knock between them, the remainder of the Yanks hit freely and trimmed Detroit, 12 to 5. The Tigers collected twelve blows but they were not effective.

The Browns trimmed Philadelphia in a double-header, 5-0 and 4-3. Sisler's home run in the eighth won the tied-up second game.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York was idle and the Pirates lost a little more ground by splitting a double-header with the Dodgers. An eighth-inning rally gave the Dodgers three runs and a 3-1 victory in the first game. Cooper blanked them in the second.

Pete Donahue of Texas pitched himself to another victory when the Reds beat the Phillies, 5-4 in ten innings. Donahue did not allow a runner to reach first during the first four innings, but was hit hard in the fifth, sixth and eighth.

NATIONAL LEAGUE BALL PLAYERS WANT GIANTS IN WORLD SERIES

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—While the big majority of the fans outside of the vicinity of New York are pulling for the Pirates to win the pennant in the National league, most of the ball players in the league are hoping that the Giants will come through. This is not from any love of the Giants or Manager McGraw, or any dislike for the Pirates or Manager Gibson. There is no sentiment about it at all. The feeling exists simply because the players believe that the Giants will put up a better battle in the world series than the Pirates could do, and will have a better chance of winning the big event.

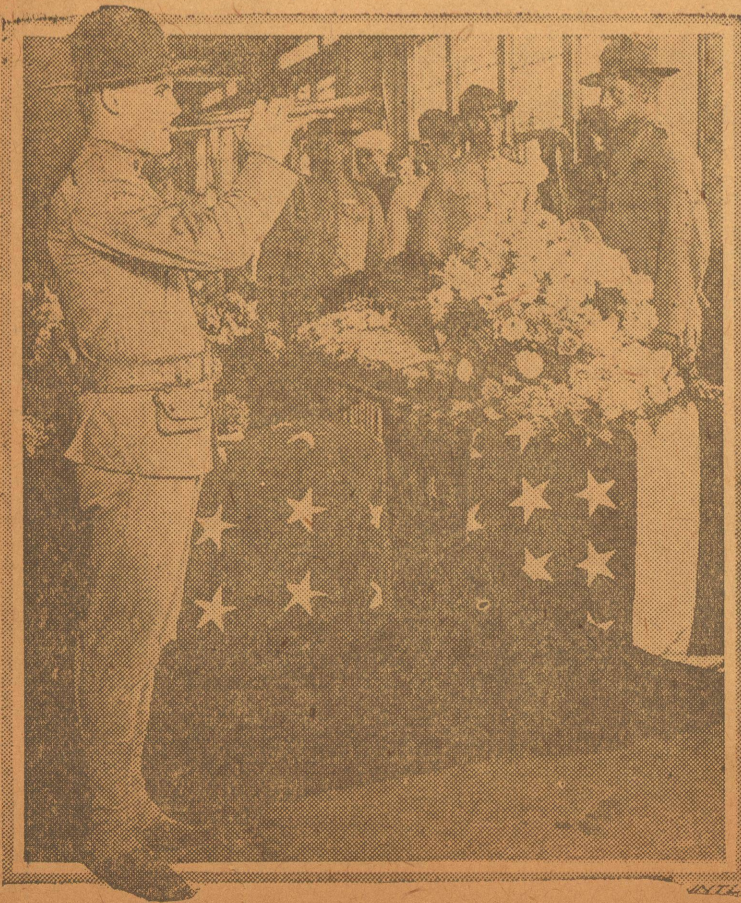

All of the players in the National want their league to win the world series. There is something both sentimental and practical in this desire. They all prefer to have the world's championship remain in the league, for it adds a little prestige to all other teams in the league. On the practical side, it means bigger crowds and more money for everybody. All of the smart ballplayers, including several managers, who have expressed themselves on this point believe that the Giants would make a superior showing in the series. They feel this way in spite of the fact that McGraw has not been able to land a world's championship in his four attempts, while Pittsburg won the last series in which it took part. Giants Good Team.

But the Pirates have not won a pennant for twelve years, and the present team does not contain a single one of the old-timers who battled successfully against the Detroit Tigers in 1909, with the single exception of Charley Adams, who was the pitching hero of that series. Adams is still a useful pitcher, but it is certain that he could not repeat his great work of a dozen years ago. The rest of the team does not shape up so strongly as the Giants. After playing very bad ball the early part of the season the New York outfit has settled down to a fast stride, and is at least 50 per cent more powerful right now than it was in April or May.

Another thing is that the Giants, if they do win out, will do so by beating their nearest and strongest rival. They have had little trouble in beating the Pirates this year, while Gibson's men have fattened on the weaker clubs in the league. On their recent showing here it must be admitted that the Giants look like the superior club at this time. The pitchers are going much better than they were and the team is full of snap and confidence. Well, it will all be over shortly, and we shall see what we shall see.

EXPERT TELLS HOW GEARS CAN BE SHIFTED WITHOUT WRECKING CAR

By N. CLIFFORD BROKAW, Technical Director Y. M. C. A. Automobile Schools

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A lot of business would be lost to automobile mechanics and a lot of trouble would be avoided by owners of cars if there were no such thing as gears. Some of the most unnecessary and expensive repairs to an automobile are those connected with its transmission. There is nothing more exasperating to the motorist than that horrible sound which tells a story of stripped gears.

It is not in the permanent mesh gears, where shaft motion is turned into axle motion, that the trouble comes. If the rear axle gears are properly set and packed they should never make any trouble. But it is in the shifting gears of the transmission, where gears come into mesh at varying rates of speed and with a number of revolutions, load and several other things to complicate the situation, that there is wear and tear. It would not be so bad if there were only wear. The tear is what raises havoc.

If an automobile could run at an unvarying rate of speed, if there were no hills which require the translation of speed into power, or if the engine controls alone could give sufficient speed regulation to cover the emergencies that are constantly arising, the transmission might be simplified into a mere coupling and reverse. But this millennium in the automobile world has no indication of coming. Therefore, there must be provision for varying speeds, and these must be attained while the car is in motion. Therefore, again this means the meshing together of finely built gears revolving so fast that the teeth cannot be seen.

The Careless Driver.

It is no novelty to hear a grinding or clashing within a car when a careless driver starts or when he changes from one speed to another. If such a driver were the owner of the car and knew what was going on inside of it when this unseemly noise occurs, he would probably either hire a chauffeur or else take a few lessons in automotive mechanics to learn how not to abuse his machine in this way. If the driver were the chauffeur and the owner knew what such a noise meant, it is likely the chauffeur would be sent to school or be out of a job. In the mechanism of a simple transmission gear case the engine shaft has on the end a gear wheel and on the face of the gears are four engaging teeth. The end of the shaft is hollow and in this revolves one end of the transmission shaft, which is square. On it are two great wheels of varying sizes, one having, say thirty teeth and the other forty. The smaller is yoked to the larger, and both slide along the gear shaft when moved by a lever. The gear has on its face engaging teeth, corresponding to those on the engine shaft gear, and when the two are engaged the transmission shaft revolves at the same speed as the engine shaft. This gives the highest speed of which the car is capable.

To provide for varying speeds another shaft is suspended in the transmission case on which are the other gears. If one gear has twenty teeth, another will have say, forty. This reduces the motion of the gear shaft to one-half that of the engine shaft. Farther along the gear shaft, another gear with twenty teeth engages another gear with forty teeth further reducing the speed, so that the transmission shaft revolves one-fourth as fast as the engine shaft.

When the car is standing the engine is running in neutral and no gear on the transmission shaft is engaged. To start, it is customary to disconnect the engine by disengaging the clutch and move the lever so that the gears that give the lowest speed will engage. Once the car is under way and it is desired to increase the speed the lever is shoved forward moving the transmission gears forward until the gears that give second speed is engaged.

The Wise Driver.

The wise driver just at the instant of shifting the gear would throttle down his engine one-half and bring the number of gear revolutions of the gear shaft to approximately that of the transmission shaft, which is kept in motion by the momentum of the car. He will also stop for an instant in neutral before completing the shift to allow for adjustment. When both gears are revolving at about the same speed the shift is practically noiseless.

In shifting to high speed the engine should be throttled more closely and the shift lever should hesitate again if one would avoid the thump and jerk commonly felt when car gear is thrown in. Constantly jerking and thumping thus caused rack the mechanism, chassis and body and shorten the life of each. Economy, as well as comfort, are involved in shifting gears properly.

In reversing, to back the car, the gear operation intensifies the problem. In addition to the differences in speed and variance of teeth revolutions, there is added the contrary direction of the two gears which are to engage. To throw back on reverse even at moderate speed menaces the gears and shakes things up uncomfortably. Fortunately it is almost invariably necessary to fully stop the car before reversing, and the necessity of caution in backing prompts very low speed throughout the operation.

LACKLANDS' GUESTS GET MOUTHS BANDITRY NOT EYES AND EARS FULL OF CHICKEN VERY HEALTHFUL IN MEXICO NOW

State Experts Tell of Progress and Possibilities of the Poultry Industry; the Colonel Tells "His Dream," Then Sets Out Chicken Dinner De Luxe.

Chickens, both of the feathered tribe and the others, and chicken fried, were much discussed and much in evidence at the chicken banquet given yesterday afternoon by Lackland Bros. at their chicken ranch, where probably 300 guests, both men and women, were present. Speakers, who admitted their expert knowledge of the feathered variety of the bird, were careful to assure the gathering that their experience with the other kind was very limited; that is, with the exception of J. E. T. Peters, who delivered an address of welcome and who was toastmaster of the occasion. Because he and his wife both lived in the same town, he stated that he thought the wise course would be for him to refrain from detailing his experience with chickens whose plumage is perpendicular rather than horizontal. Other speakers were F. W. Kazmeir of A. & M. college; Tom Mann, of the Farm and Ranch, Dallas; W. H. Bush, farm demonstration agent of Eastland county, and Col. Rufus Lackland.

whose industry with chickens has in many instances, been the difference between nothing and something for the years' work. "But," he added, "if they do what they have done with scrub chickens, what could they do with those which have been bred to lay?" A Chicken Banquet. Colonel Lackland was the last speaker. He arose in the broad-brimmed hat that has made him famous as an auctioneer in this state. He told of a dream that had been with him—since as a very small boy he kept a bantam hen and a rooster, to become the "daddy" of the chicken ranch which he now has in the making. He detailed why Ranger was chosen as a site for the farm, in competition with other towns—and the city did not suffer in the telling—and he passed on to a vision of the surrounding hills turning white with Leghorn chickens. "Some call me a dreamer," the speaker said, "but it is not a dream; it is becoming a reality. Those hills out yonder which now are lying idle will become white with chickens. Hundreds of plants will be put in, more and more as the days go by, and after a while Ranger and Eastland county will be known as the banner city and country of the state for the chicken industry.

Obregon Lieutenant Takes Them to Their "Reward;" Few Escape.

By LEON J. CANOVA MEXICO CITY, Sept. 23.—A recent visitor to the city was D. G. Brown, who has offices in New York City, and is heavily interested in mining properties in the states of San Luis Potosi, Zacatecas and Durango. He came down from New York with Mrs. Brown several weeks ago for a general inspection of his properties.

Of all the actions of Mexico given over to banditry and general lawlessness from 1913 to 1920, Zacatecas and southern Durango were the worst. Neither life nor property were safe. No authority, save that of the chief of each band of robbers, existed throughout that country. Crimes of the most shocking nature were common, and anyone risked his life if he refused, or even opposed the wish of the roving bands that roamed that country.

According to Mr. Brown this has changed during the past few months, since President Obregon came into power. Mr. and Mrs. Brown during the latter part of August made the trip across the country from Sombrerete to Fresnillo, about 130 miles. They had no guard, saw no "bad men" and had no interruption or molestation on their journey. They motored across a stretch of sparsely settled table land, peacefully and pleasantly—a trip which would have been impossible a few months ago.

A Diplomatic Soldier. This section was cleaned up about the time President Obregon came into power. Gen. Estrada, now secretary of war, taking the tip from President Obregon, visited the town of Zacatecas and waited until he could get in touch with the chiefs of the robber bands which were pillaging the country. They came to see him smilingly, and he treated them handsomely. More of them came and they were banqueted and feasted. The others, who remained in the offing, drew nearer, and as the echoes of the festivities reached them they, too, came into the town and were hailed with more good food and better drink.

The trouble was that they had brought with them a good part of their followers, and their numbers were greater than those available to Gen. Estrada. Gradually the visitors became more confident, and they sent most of their men away. Meantime it was being made known to them that the government had been watching their work and their reward would be forthcoming. This tickled all of them because they felt conditions would never revert to the normal again and they would continue indefinitely. But there were some who were still a little distrustful.

A big banquet was arranged and food and drink in plenty was provided. There was music and flowers and as the crowd mellowed into a pretty ripe condition one of the leader bandits jumped to his feet and proposed that they all go to Mexico City with Gen. Estrada and demand from the government payment of some kind for what they had done. After several other speeches orders were given for the train to be made up immediately; but by the time it was ready to start it was nearly daylight and most of those who had crowded aboard the cars were asleep.

Quietly Disarmed.

In their condition they were easy to handle, as some of the men slipped around and relieved them of their arms. Finally, at daylight, the train pulled out and got beyond the nearby town of Guadalupe and then the fun began. The tops of the cars had been crowded with armed soldiers. Some of these came down and took their station at each of the doors of the cars and then, according to the story, as told and retold here, first one and then another of the bandit chiefs were called out on the platform of the cars and given a chance to make his escape by jumping off the slow moving train and running while the soldiers tried to put him. It is claimed that there was some rare sport for a time picking off these fiends who had caused so much sorrow and so many deaths in that part of the country.

It probably will never be known just how many of the bandits stopped short that day in their mad careers, riddled by the soldiery from the tops of the cars, but it is said that fifty-six is approximately the number. The example was such that the other men who made up these bands have either suddenly become very good or have migrated to some of the other states where they are not known as having anything to do with the outlawry of the Zacatecas section. At any rate people can now travel from one end of the state to another without being molested in the least.

COMPTON HAND LAUNDRY OPENS FOR BUSINESS

Compton's Hand Laundry is a new institution which has opened for business at 307 Hodges street. It is equipped with electric-driven washing machines, dry room, and plenty of steam for its own consumption. All finish work, however, will be done by hand and six women have been employed. A power machine has been installed to finish linen and other flat pieces.

THE CORRECT MOVE.

Pretty Niece (blushing). Auntie, what would you do if you learned that a young man was secretly inquiring about your ability as a cook? Wise Aunt. I should immediately make secret inquiries as to his ability to provide things to cook, my dear.—Boston Transcript.

BETTER OFF WITHOUT IT.

Old Grones: I wish to heavens I could acquire an appetite. His Wife: For goodness sake what do you want with an appetite? It would only give you more dyspepsia.—Boston Transcript.

COURT URGES INQUIRY INTO ALL BIG STRIKES

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Strikes involving more than twenty-five persons are a matter of public concern sufficient to warrant investigation to determine the blame for their instigation, prosecution and continuance, the full bench of the supreme court holds.

The court sustained a decree of the lower court dismissing a suit in equity brought by the Moore Drop Forging company of Springfield against members of the state board of conciliation and arbitrate to prevent the holding of hearings in connection with a labor dispute.

J. H. Fraser, vice president and general manager of the Hamon line, has returned from a several weeks' trip to California. Most of his time was spent in motoring, Mr. Fraser said. He visited both San Francisco and Los Angeles.

M. J. Cuniff, cousin of Mrs. N. J. Novakovich, who was in the city attending the funeral of N. J. Novakovich, who was buried Wednesday, returned to Fort Worth yesterday.

Mrs. R. H. Hansford has returned from California after a six weeks' trip. Mr. Hansford is still in the sunshiny state.

Charles J. Moore and Dan LaRoe have returned from a business trip to Breckenridge, Fort Worth and Dallas. They were away for several days.

WHO SAYS GIRLS ARE HARD LUCK?—The first air derby held in Chicago was won by David Benske, checkerboard field pilot, here seen landing his fair passenger, Miss Lela Davidson, who afterwards remarked "that she liked the landing best."

WISEMAN SAYS HE'S AS SOUND AS A DOLLAR

"Since I got rid of dyspepsia I feel like a brand new man," said Penton E. Wiseman, 1618 Sawyer street, Houston, Texas. "I suffered terribly from stomach trouble and complications and never found a thing to help me until I ran across Tanlac. I had a dull headache nearly all the time, too, my back hurt me and my kidneys bothered me constantly. I got little sleep at night and in the mornings felt so tired and worn out that sometimes I couldn't stand on my feet and had to lose a lot of time from work. "Tanlac got in behind the trouble in a hurry. In a short time I was eating anything I wanted and never having the slightest discomfort afterwards. My headaches and backaches are all gone and my kidneys don't bother me any more. I have even stopped the use of laxatives. The fact is I'm as sound as a dollar, full of life and energy and able to work better than I have in a long time." Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros., and in Eastland by the Palace Drug Store.—Advertisement.

'LOST ISLANDS' ADD ROMANCE TO AFFAIRS OF WORKADAY WORLD

LONDON, Sept. 23.—A French Antarctic explorer, Major Charcot, has just succeeded in landing the "lost" island of Rockall, 300 miles west of the Hebrides—a feat (it is claimed) which has been achieved by no other man.

There is, in fact, something peculiarly exclusive about islands, they are like that in Sir James Barrie's "Mary Rose," anxious to be visited but as chary as the most demure maidens of displaying their charms to the casual passerby. Like a good love, they have to be wooed and won. They are capricious in their good humor.

Jan Meyen, for instance, 300 miles east of Greenland, screens its beauty in a veil of fog so successfully that in 1910 it was seen for the first time for fifty years. The "floating island" in Lake Derwentwater, after being visible for six or seven weeks, disappears altogether. Nashima, off Japan, is sometimes there, sometimes not.

Then there is an island off Rangoon which grows while you wait, still another off Behring Straits made the surrounding water so hot that in 1906 fishermen claimed it was not possible to approach it.

Islands are always being thrown up or sunk. One appeared in the Serpent's Mouth Strait off Mexico last month. You never know where to look for them. The balance, however, is kept even, for in 1908 three islands off Mexico suddenly disappeared altogether.

Islands cater for all tastes. In Papalaise there are seventy girls to one man, in Macquarie Island there are 80,000,000 penguins and no men. Pictairn Island is reserved solely for Seventh Day Adventists, while Bardsey, off the coast of Cardigan boasts 20,000 saints, all buried so as not to jostle the tourists. At St. Kilda you escape from doctors altogether. "We just die a natural death," explained an inhabitant, while the Tories of Tory Island have to pay $10 to a doctor to come over to them at all. But they charge him $20 to take him away again.

You could buy "the Isle of Dreams," off Lemon Bay, ten miles from Arcadia, for $7,750 a little time ago, and the total wealth of the inhabitants of Pictairn Island is reputed to amount to $50, so it also would probably be going quite cheap.

There was an island, too, offered recently for one shilling, and the bidding for North Uist, in the Hebrides, was so slow that the only likely buyer was given a big lunch to induce him to take it.

If you want loneliness you might do worse than purchase Puka-Puka, an island in the Pacific, which is passed, not visited, by six ships in fifty years.

HIS WAY.

Mrs. Crabshaw. You must go to the dentist and have that tooth pulled.

Willie. Don't say that, ma. I'd rather get in a fight and have it knocked out.—New York Sun.

AW, NO FAIR!

LONDON, Ohio, Sept. 23.—This city claims one of the real hard-luck citizens of the state.

A short time ago one of the residents, who keeps moonshine on tap, sold $100 worth to a farmer near town, who gave a check in payment.

The man took his liquor and the city man his check.

Today, when the fellow who sold the moonshine felt safe in cashing his check, he found that the farmer "had no funds."

Now the man with the check is reluctant to attempt to collect for fear that the man with the goods will tell where he got his liquor.

SYMPATHETIC JIMMY.

Jimmy. I'd like to be a doctor when I grow up.

Tommy. What for?

Jimmy. So's when fellows mothers brought 'em to me I could say keep 'em home from school a week or two.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Much Suffering Caused by Waste Products in the Blood

What Science Knows About the Matter and How It is Best Treated.

The blood is more important than any of the organs. It is thru the blood that the whole human body is directly or indirectly nourished. The blood gets its nourishment from the intestines. The intestines also contain waste products—undigested foods, acids, gases and refuse, which sometimes get in the blood. When waste products get in the blood, nature will strive to cast them out. If your resistance is strong enough, nature will probably succeed. But if you are "below par," weak, run-down, and nervous, nature will begin to show signs of distress. As a result, you will have that feeling of fatigue. You will lack the energy you need for the day's duties and pleasure. Minor ailments will begin to affect you—pimples, blackheads, and boils. If the waste products are not gotten out of the blood at this point, it is possible a more serious skin eruption or disease will begin to show itself. It is not infrequent for waste products to settle in the muscles and joints and cause rheumatism. Listen to nature's warning. Your blood is your fountain source of energy—therefore keep your blood rich and pure. For over 50 years, thousands and thousands of men and women have relied on S. S. S. to clear their blood of waste products. S. S. S. will improve the quality of your blood by relieving you of the waste products which cause impoverished blood and its allied troubles—skin disorders, rheumatism and a lowered vitality. Get S. S. S. at your druggist. Be aware of substitutes. Write Chief Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., D-720 S. S. S. Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga. for special medical advice (without charge). He is helping people every day to regain their health and strength. Ask him to send you his illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free. S. S. S. is sold by all drug stores.
