FLOOD VICTIMS HAD NO WARNING

SCHOOLS READY FOR OPENING OF 1921-2 SESSION

Compulsory Attendance to Be Enforced This Year, Prof. McNew Says.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Ranger school tomorrow, according to Superintendent McNew. All teachers, with the exception of one, have reported for duty and all text-books have been secured and are now in the various buildings waiting to be distributed. Text-books are free to all children and will be given out by the different teachers shortly after school opens tomorrow morning.

Fifty teachers have been employed for the schools of the Ranger district, all of which, including the newly acquired Merriman school, will open tomorrow. In addition, the St. Rita's Catholic school, with a corps of five instructors, will open on the same date.

It is expected the attendance on the opening date will run more than 2,000 pupils. This estimate is based on the census which showed 2,645 children in Ranger of school age.

Motor Car for Merriman. Arrangements have been made to transport students who will attend the High school from Merriman, back and forth by motor car. This service is expected to be extended to Tiffin shortly.

The fifty instructors, in numbers, have been assigned as follows: Nine to the High school, sixteen to the Central ward, which is located on the High school campus, eight to Young school, eight to Cooper school, three to Tiffin, three to Merriman, and one to the colored school.

Regarding the schools, Superintendent McNew has this to say: Compulsory Attendance.

"The compulsory attendance period will begin with the opening of the schools Monday, and it is the purpose of the school authorities to enforce this law as much as possible this year. Great leniency has been exercised in the past, partially because of the lack of proper accommodations for all the pupils. Now there is room for all, a sufficient corps of teachers has been employed to instruct all the children of the district, and it is therefore in order to enforce the attendance of all subject to the compulsory law. After the opening of the school Monday, anyone knowing of a child residing in the district not enrolled in the school, will confer a favor upon the school system by reporting the name and address of said child to the superintendent of schools.

"At the teachers' meeting held yesterday afternoon, forty-six teachers reported ready for duty Monday morning; a message was received from another who was on her way; and one vacancy remained to be filled. More Older Students.

"The prospects for a good attendance seem bright. Perhaps a larger percentage of older pupils will be in High school this year than usual. The mere fact that jobs are not so plentiful will make for a better attendance. It is to be regretted that the accommodations at the High school are so limited. Possibly another year will see the erection of our long-coveted High school building. Certainly this building is the greatest need of the Ranger schools at the present time.

"Every parent who has the interest of his child at heart, and who expects it to accomplish the greatest possible good the coming school year will see that it is present in school on opening day. Carelessness in starting to school begets carelessness with regard to the importance of regular attendance in school and to a consequent lack of interest and failure to make the grade necessary for promotion.

"The work of the city institute this year will be based upon measurements. The text to be used is Wilson and Hoke's 'How to Measure.' It contains chapters on the measurement of spelling, handwriting, arithmetic, reading, English composition, drawing, all high school subjects, and general intelligence. The authorities hope by this year's study to standardize the grading and promotion of pupils, to make allowance in classification for individual differences, and to give the brighter pupils of the schools an opportunity to advance somewhat more rapidly than the lock-step method of promotion makes possible.

"The city institute will be held on the Saturday mornings following the closing of each scholastic month. These institutes will be open to all friends of education as well as to the teachers of the Ranger schools."

Thurber Mine Opens Monday

Selected Queen of New York

Miss Virginia Lee, who will be "Miss New York" in the coming Atlantic City carnival and beauty contests. She was selected by Howard Chandler Christy, the famous artist, as the prettiest girl in the contest for the honor. Beauties from ten different cities of the East will represent their cities in the carnival. Miss Lee is 20 years old, a pronounced blonde and has deep blue eyes.

GOODS MOVED FROM SAIED BROS.' CLOSED STORE ARE SEIZED HERE

Truck Driver Swears He Made Four Trips to Caddo and Hauled Merchandise, Just Before Firm Took Bankruptcy Federal Officer Recovers $14,000 Worth.

Merchandise to the value of about $14,000, a part of which, it is alleged, was removed from the store of Saied Bros., at Caddo, and found in Ranger, and the remainder of which is said to have been found in the attic of Sam Saied's home at Caddo, is assembled at the Gholson hotel and is in charge of federal authorities.

Sam and Ben Saied, who owned Saied Brothers store at Caddo, took bankruptcy Aug. 27 and gave the assets of the firm as $14,000.

The merchandise located in this city was found in a vacant house in Page addition by Deputy Sheriffs W. H. Edmonson and John Barnes, and were placed there by L. Peters, a trucking contractor, according to a sworn statement made by him to Leonard Levy of the firm of Levy & Evans, who is representing the creditors.

Peters' Statement.

In his statement, Peters says in part: "I saw Sam and Ben Saied in their store at Caddo and they told me they wanted me to do some hauling. I hauled four truck loads of goods from their store to Ranger, and they helped me load it.

"Before I hauled the goods they asked me if I had a vacant room at my house and that if I did they wanted to rent it to store some goods. When I brought the goods here I stored them in that room. After they had been there several days I told the Saied boys there were too many goods and I wanted them to move them. They then gave me some money and I rented a house from Mr. Page,

TRAIN ROBBED IN TEN MILES OF KANSAS CITY

PARKVILLE, Mo., Sept. 10.—Bandits held up and robbed train No. 16 on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road, four miles north of here tonight, according to reports reaching here. The engineer and fireman on the train were compelled to cut the engine loose from the train and when they were down the track from where the bandits were working, they put on full steam and came to Parkville for aid. They notified officers here and a posse here was organized to search for the bandits.

It also was reported that a posse was formed at Platte City to aid in the search. Parkville is about ten miles northwest of Kansas City.

TWENTY-FIVE KILLED IN FRENCH TRAIN WRECK

LYONS, France, Sept. 10.—Twenty-five persons are reported to have been killed and sixty injured when an express train running from Strasbourg to Lyons was derailed tonight near this city while running at the rate of fifty miles an hour.

NEED OF OLD-TIME RELIGION, THEME AT UNION MEETING

"The Need of Old-Time Religion" will be the subject of the union meeting service tonight on the vacant lot on Main street. It will be preached by the Rev. A. N. Stubblebine. The meeting is one of several which has been held on Sunday night for the past three weeks.

TEE PEE POSTS NOTICE OF WORK AT OLD WAGES

Engineers Prepare Mines for Workers: No Trouble Expected.

"Open Shop" will become effective Monday at Thurber when the Texas & Pacific Coal & Oil company opens its mine No. 10, according to a notice posted by the company. The basic rate of pay will be the same as that paid in 1918 and will be $2 for tonnage and $5 for day labor. Under the union scale which was effective when the mines shut down last spring, the miners received $2.65 for tonnage and $7.50 a day for day labor.

Twice this summer meetings have been held between the operators and the miners at Fort Worth, seeking to reach a wage adjustment, in order that the mines might re-open, and each time no agreement could be reached. The operators offered the above scale and the mine union officials insisted on maintaining the scale under which they were working when the mines closed. The last meeting was held last week.

There for Them. In a telephone conversation last night with Ed S. Britton, manager of the mining department of the T. P. company, he said about 300 or 400 men were without employment in Thurber and all could have a place if they cared for it under the scale. When questioned as to the probable state of mind of the men toward the new ruling he declared that he had no idea how it would affect them or if they would return to work under the arrangement. The work of repairing the machinery has been completed, Mr. Britton said and everything is ready to start.

The following notice has been posted in Thurber: "Notice to mine employees: Mining operations will be resumed in mine No. 10 Monday, Sept. 12.

"On account of the low market price and the slack demand for coal, the company will be unable to operate mine No. 1 at the present time."

The Scale.

The following 1918 scale will be paid: "Mining rate $2 per ton. "Engineers, day, $7.08 per day, 11 1-2 hours; engineers, night, $6.25. "Top men $4.36 per day, eight hours; bottom men, $5; spraggers, $3.65; Trappers, $2.65; road cleaners, $4.75; Face men, $5.29; blacksmiths, $5.51; blacksmiths' helpers, $4.77.

"Entry yardage, 1.68 per yard; back brushing, $1.47; Straights, 68c. "Cribs, $1 each."

SENATORS DON'T LIKE LANGUAGE IN HOUSE BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Several important administration sections of the house tax bill were approved today by the senate committee, which began consideration of the measure section by section. None of the levy sections was reached, but work on these is planned for next week, with the income surtax rate the first on the list.

The principal actions agreed upon today are those defining foreign traders and foreign trade corporations, providing the same treatment for personal service corporations as for other corporations, and fixing the basis for determining gain or loss in accord with decision of the supreme court. Some minor changes in language were made for the purpose of clarification, it was stated.

RIO GRANDE RISING.

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 10.—The Rio Grande is still well within its banks at all points between Brownsville and Rio Grande City, according to reports to the United States army station at Fort Brown, and there is no confirmation at any river point of the drowning of twenty Mexicans near McAllen.

At Hidalgo, river station for McAllen, it was said there has been a rise of twelve feet within the last twenty-four hours, but the water is still fourteen feet below the banks.

Flood Victims

At least one Ranger man has direct interest in the flood at San Antonio. William Vashbinder, a mechanic, left last night for that city after receipt of a telegram stating that his immediate family had perished in the flood.

Of the forty bodies recovered, the majority—mostly women and children—have not been identified. The identified white victims are: DAVE VASBINDER AND WIFE. GRANDMA VASBINDER AND INFANT, believed to be her grandchild, found in her arms. BILLIE WEST, 12 months old. MRS. AMMA GORIN. N. A. McCALEB.

WATERS DO BIG DAMAGE OVER SOUTH TEXAS

Many Washouts Cause Nearly All Railroads to Cancel Rail Service.

DALLAS, Sept. 10.—High winds and heavy rains which swept South Texas late yesterday and early today in one of the most severe storms in several years, causing property damage and injury to numbers of people, apparently had subsided late today, according to reports received here from cities in the area touched by the storm.

Only one fatality—that of Brake-man Wagner, who was killed near Noan in the wreck of the Southern Pacific train No. 227—has been reported as resulting directly from the storm, excluding the total of forty known dead who were killed in the flood which swept through San Antonio.

At Austin and vicinity, property damage estimate at $15,000 was done and eight persons were injured in the storm which visited there late yesterday.

During the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m. today, 18.23 inches of rain fell in Austin, the federal observer announced, which he said is the greatest precipitation ever recorded for a like length of time.

Trains Cancelled.

All trains from Austin to San Antonio and Dallas are held up on account of damage to tracks and bridges and officials of the various roads express belief that service to these points could not be resumed before tomorrow morning or possibly later. Highways leading out of the capital also are impassable.

Reports from Cameron, south of Waco, said that the Little river there had broken its banks and wrecked havoc in Milan county.

The town of San Marcos was under water this morning and without light or power, although later reports said that the water was receding. Several houses there were washed from their foundations, but with this exception the damage was said to have been slight.

A rise of six or seven feet more in the Colorado river is anticipated, which will inundate a large area of land in that section and cause a loss of several thousand dollars to crops and dwellings.

Although railroad officials at Houston were without definite knowledge today as to the extent of damage to tracks of the various systems, it was indicated that the most serious was confined to the stretch between Austin and Elgin on the branch of the Houston & Texas Central and at San Antonio and west on the main line of the Southern Pacific.

11 Bridges Out.

An announcement made by the Texas-Mexican railroad at Corpus Christi said that eleven bridges and 8,000 feet of their track had been washed out between Corpus Christi and Laredo.

The pontoon bridge across the Rio Grande between Laredo and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, was destroyed by flood waters yesterday, another report said. This cuts off traffic entirely between the two border cities. In last advice the business district of Laredo was reported inundated by flood waters.

KEPT IN BY STORM, THUNDER DROWNED WATER WALL'S ROAR

Force of Inundation Swept Houses About Like Chips and Ripped Stones From Pavement, Scenes of Heroism and Tragedy.

By Associated Press. SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 10.—With the known list of dead standing at forty at 4 o'clock this afternoon, police officers hold that their estimate of 250 lives lost as a result of the disastrous flood which struck this city early Saturday morning to be a conservative one. No attempt has been made to check the damage, which will run into millions of dollars.

Because of the continued swollen condition of the three streams which caused the flood, the work of recovering bodies is progressing slowly. Great piles of driftwood which have lodged in trees and against bridges, when removed, it is feared, will reveal additional dead. Many bodies also are believed to have floated downstream and may never be accounted for.

With the waters of the San Antonio river, Alavan and San Pedro creeks back in their banks only a few hours, relief work and sanitary precautions are already well under way. A thoroughly organized relief committee has begun work and city health officers are engaged in a rigid cleanup of the city to prevent any possibility of an epidemic.

This work will be carried on Saturday night and Sunday without relaxation.

As reports gradually trickle in from outlying sections of the city, they only serve to confirm the fear that the flood is the worst in the city's history. Streets adjacent to the three streams in some instances have been swept clean almost their entire length. Houses in the southern part of the city have been swept from their foundations and others upon another or in some cases driven entirely through the remaining buildings. Dead animals line the banks of the streams.

The Texas-Mexican railroad from Alavan creek and the Southern Pacific from the west side of the city were inundated in areas extending two miles long by one of the most severe storms in several years, causing property damage and injury to numbers of people, apparently had subsided late today, according to reports received here from cities in the area touched by the storm. Only one fatality—that of Brake-man Wagner, who was killed near Noan in the wreck of the Southern Pacific train No. 227—has been reported as resulting directly from the storm, excluding the total of forty known dead who were killed in the flood which swept through San Antonio.

BRIDGE FALLS IN CHESTER, PA.; 25 TO 30 DEAD

Women and Children Were Watching Search for Body of 5-Year-Old.

By Associated Press

CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 10.—Between twenty-five and thirty persons were drowned or crushed to death and more than a score of others injured here tonight when the footpath of the Third street bridge over Chester river collapsed. The dead and injured were part of a crowd of approximately seventy-five persons that had gathered on the structure to watch the efforts of police in grappling for the body of a 5-year-old boy who was drowned but a half hour before.

The bridge was an old structure, ninety feet long, and cleared the water by about twenty feet. It carried two trolley tracks across the stream and had one footpath. The river is about fifteen feet deep where the accident occurred.

An hour and a half after the collapse, more than twenty bodies had been removed to the morgue. At that time there were seven seriously injured persons in the hospitals.

All available policemen and firemen were called for rescue work and searchlights were provided from nearby plants.

TEXAS MAN HELD.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Sept. 10.—Homer Cox, claiming to be a broker residing in Dallas, was arrested here today. According to reports to local police, he is wanted in Dallas on a charge of selling mortgaged automobiles. He will be held for Dallas officers.

FLAG RAISING TO BE PART OF SCHOOL WORK

Flag poles will be raised tomorrow at the three ward schools and W. R. Jarvis, member of the school board, appointed for the task has appealed for help. The pole at the High school was raised yesterday after considerable hard work and ingenuity in the use of block and tackle.

Jarvis asks that anyone—man or boy—who will help tomorrow to be at the Cooper school at 9 o'clock.

Flag raising exercises will be a regular part of school work this year, it is said.

The Texas-Mexican railroad from Alavan creek and the Southern Pacific from the west side of the city were inundated in areas extending two miles long by one of the most severe storms in several years, causing property damage and injury to numbers of people, apparently had subsided late today, according to reports received here from cities in the area touched by the storm. Only one fatality—that of Brake-man Wagner, who was killed near Noan in the wreck of the Southern Pacific train No. 227—has been reported as resulting directly from the storm, excluding the total of forty known dead who were killed in the flood which swept through San Antonio.

City's Greatest Disaster.

This flood is the greatest in the history of San Antonio. The water rose almost to the roof of the Gunter hotel, and the structures as the Brady building, Wolf & Marx department store, Stowers, St. Mary's church and school buildings, the St. Anthony hotel, the Elks' club, formerly the Travis club, several hospitals, the central fire station, the city hall and police and fire headquarters and countless other structures along the low lying river valley, were surrounded. These were the things visible to the eye when day dawned cloudy, gloomy and threatening, but what occurred in the blackness of the night while men, women and children met death in the oil-coated waters of the flood as houses collapsed, bridges were swept out, trees and electric light and telephone poles dropped with a crash, and their wires became entangled with other wreckage, will never be known in detail. Countless acts of heroism are current, and civilians and soldiers, forgetful of personal safety, braved the currents and floating debris to carry women and children to places of safety.

Thousands of families along the river were rescued before daybreak by men who worked the long hours, often neck deep in water, risking their lives almost every minute.

Babies Swept Away.

And in keeping with such heroic acts were the tragedies that always accompany a disaster of such wide extent. Babies were swept from mothers' arms and lost in flood waters, mothers were carried away and children and fathers rescued. Fathers were lost in rescuing their loved ones, and today there are widows and orphans in San Antonio who shudder at the mere thought of their experiences of the night. And there are those who do not know yet whether they are widows or orphans, who are waiting the outcome of the search for bodies among the debris-strewn streets.

The people of San Antonio were caught without warning. The rainfall which actually caused the flood, fell after 8 o'clock in the hills near Olmos Nereek. Unquestionably there was a cloudburst. The electric display was the most vivid ever seen here as lightning flashed almost continuously and the boom of thunder reverberated through the heavens while torrents of rain were still falling in the streets of San Antonio. The residents unable to get out because of the downpour, went to bed early. A roar was heard subdued but ominous, as the flood waters broke upon the town.

Following the river and Alavan creek and small tributaries of both, the flood waters swept upon the city with terrific force.

"It was impossible to stand on your feet against the swift current," said one man who escaped from his home by wading before the crest of the flood struck.

"I got away early as the first waters rose in my home and even then I was compelled to cling to buildings, trees, fences and wreckage to get out.

"I could not stand upright against the force of the water. When the crest came a few minutes later I do not believe any man could have resisted it.

Tore Up Pavement.

In some parts of the city a wall of water variously described as ten to thirty feet high struck with a rush that carried houses from their foundations, swept motor cars away, destroyed concrete bridges, tore down trees and poles and ripped up the paving in the streets like so many pebbles.

"I seized hold of a picket fence," said one youth, "just as the flood struck. The fence was torn away and when I got out I still held one of the pickets in my hand. I do not know how I got out."

Large houses were swept about on the flood's crest as though they were paper boxes. Some of them were swept along until they encountered trees or other obstacles when they were wrecked, and boards and timbers of all kinds, whipped about like clubs in the water, undoubtedly brought death to many. In fact, some of the bodies taken from the flood waters and awaiting identification in the morgues were cut and crushed and bruised as though beaten with a mighty flail.

Screams and Prayers.

Through the darkest of the night, the terrified screams of women and children echoed now and then across the flood waters. Men and women sank to their knees in the mud and water and prayed. It was possible for rescuers to work at the edge of the water and friends, talking incoherently, weeping and wailing.

When the waters reached the business section of the city, they came with the same rapid swirl with which they swept the residence portions.

But after the first rush of water when the river and Alavan creek left their banks, it was possible for rescuers to work at the edge of the flood, retreating steadily backward like a battle line, bending before the assault of superior forces. The waters quickly swept up and down Houston and Commerce streets for blocks.

They quickly made their way from street to street, up alleys, miniature ways, snapping against the sides of buildings angrily. Now and then a piece of wreckage was tossed into the air through the streets until it crashed into a show window, then Bang! Crash! with a shower of glass, and merchandise was seized by the waters and carried away while a thick film of crude oil, muddy ooze and gravel spread through once spotless stores in the heart of San Antonio's retail district.

Quickly marshaling their forces the fire and police departments responded nobly and wholeheartedly to the call for rescuers. At every danger point, where people were appealing for aid the blue coated policemen and firemen could be seen doing yeoman service without thought of personal safety.

In the western part of San Antonio, where flows the Alavan creek through the thickly populated district, there were enacted the scenes of the flight of refugees before advancing armies when the was was at its height, only in San Antonio the flood victims had less warning than the booming of canon which spurred Belgian fugitives on. The stories told by the survivors seem to make it clear that the Alavan creek, usually a placid rivulet of water, became a rushing torrent in less than half an hour.

SMITH'S CHECK STAND YIELDS TO PROGRESS

B. B. Walker is tearing away the old frame building on Commerce street, known as "Smith's check stand," and is beginning the erection of a 44x80, two-story stone pebble-dash building.

When completed the building will connect with the Bernardo hotel on the north and the corner building on the south. Both the latter properties belong to Mr. Walker and he will convert the upper stories into a continuation of the Bernardo hotel, which will give it eighty-four rooms.

It is the intention of the builder to open a passage way directly into the hotel when the new building is complete. The total cost will be several thousand dollars.

The structure which is being torn away is of pine construction and very poorly built. When it is replaced with the new building the Bernardo hotel will reach almost across the entire block.

STAR GOLFERS ENTER ST. LOUIS TOURNAMENT

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—One hundred and thirty golfers, including stars from England, Scotland and Canada, are entered in the national amateur championship tournament to be held at St. Louis beginning Sept. 7.

Pairings for the qualifying round were announced today by the United States Golf association.

MURDERED BOY'S BODY IS FOUND AFTER 7 YEARS

Buried Unclaimed in Potter's Field; Nationwide Search Had Been Made.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—The 7-year search of Mrs. Minnie Silverman for her son, Jacob, who disappeared on Sept. 5, 1914, when he was 14 years old, is at an end.

The body of the boy she never would believe to be dead during her never despairing search was buried from an undertaking chapel. He had been murdered, unknown to his mother, a few days after he vanished.

The body was exhumed Saturday in East St. Louis. It had been taken from Pittsburg Lake, near the east city, ten days after Jacob vanished. The identity, according to Dr. Charles W. Schery, who, with Mrs. Silverman's daughter, Miss Dorra Silverman, is attached to the city bacteriological laboratories, was established beyond question.

The identification was made by means of seven amalgam fillings in the teeth and by characteristics of the skeleton. When the body was recovered from Pittsburg Lake, the hands were bound behind it with a belt. A coroner's jury at that time returned a murder verdict and the coroner buried the remains in the potter's field.

Shoes Aid Identification. The identification was made more complete by means of one of the shoes buried with the body. On it were two heel plates that a shoemaker had tacked on for Jacob the day before he disappeared. A careful record of the teeth fillings had been kept by the dentist who attended young Silverman, Dr. C. P. Crosby. Monday it was seven years to a day that the boy vanished. Although his mother read in the newspapers of the finding of the body in the lake, she refused to believe it could be her son. Instead, she continued her search for him. Her advertisement seeking a clue to the lad came to be a daily paragraph in the columns of St. Louis newspapers. She has spent hundreds of dollars in her search and offered rewards as big as $2,000 for information.

Death notices printed today announced that the funeral would be "strictly private." The burial place was not published.

The last seen of Jacob was by an acquaintance who chanced upon him near union station. The boy said he was going to Valley park with a man who was to pay him $1 for helping to get some pigeons.

LADY NICOTINE COMES TO AID OF J. BARLEYCORN

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—She was young, and obviously shopping for "him." When she approached the leather goods counter at Saks & Co. it was easy to see she was a little fussed.

"I want something for a man's birthday," she said. "I think it would be nice if it could be something that would hold a little liquor. You know," she confided to the salesman, "something just a little discreet. One never can tell in these days."

The salesman beamed. Did he now what she wanted? Well, his manner seemed to say he'd tell the whole world he knew. And he produced a neat pigskin case, with four cigar tips showing when he turned back the lid.

"But my husband doesn't smoke cigars," began the sweet young thing, when the uplifted hand and disapproving glance of the salesman stopped her. "One minute, madame, please," he entreated, with the conscious intensity of the true artist. "This is how—"

A hand that was almost quicker than the eye drew out one of the "cigars," and, lo, attached to the cigar tip was a glass container holding one good-sized drink!

"You see," said the salesman, "it is especially suitable for cocktails. Mix them at home, pour them into the cigars, and when you are out to dinner, presto! the thing is accomplished. And who shall search a gentleman's cigar case? Not even Mr. Enright and his merry men. Voila!"

He was an artist, that salesman, and the sweet young thing took two. "One for my brother," she explained. "Ten dollars won't buy anything more satisfactory than these two presents. I know the boys will be pleased pink with them."

Which seems likely.

While conducting a hospital in Serbia for the American Friends' Service committee, Dr. Antonette Russell, of Philadelphia, Pa., treated as high as 1,200 patients a month.

Searching for Bodies in the Debris of the ZR-2

Even after the broken airship had lost all semblance to its former shape, the search for possible survivors continued. Small boats made their way fearlessly into the wreckage, pulling at the cloth and pushing aside girders.

"Calories" Are Secret of Home Peace, Scientific Bride Tells the World

A man never need acquire a paunch.

A man can always be kept in a happy state of mind.

A woman ditto.

A husband and wife should be happy every minute.

How?

Let Miss Marion Douglas Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Penn Campbell of Northampton, Mass., explain.

Marion is a dietitian and her training at the Framingham, Mass., school for domestic and household arts, together with her dietary regime for sick people at a sanitarium in New York City the last two years, have taught her.

The other day Marion, who is 25 years old and pretty, left New York for her home town to wed and this is the message she leaves behind to future brides and grooms who wish to live happily ever after.

Culinary Chart for Happiness.

"In a nutshell, it's vitamins and calories," declared bobbed-haired Marion.

"If wives would feed their husbands the proper amount of vitamins and calories they would find it a magic oil to quiet the tempestuous waters of the matrimonial seas."

"Get a chart with the vitamins and caloric value of each food indicated thereon," is Marion's expert advice to married women, young and old, "and hang it in the kitchen right under your nose. Consult it every time you prepare a meal for hubby and all will be well. Watch him as a doctor would a patient."

"If he is inclined to be a bit irritable, you've undoubtedly fed him something which contained too many calories. If he sulks, your menu may be a little too low in caloric value. Remember, the same rule applies to yourself."

"Of course, we can't all be Cleo-patras and Adonises, but if married folk would diet through strict observance of food values I believe more homes would be happy. People can't expect to eat all sorts of mixtures and combinations and then be happy.

"They can't expect to eat too many starches and overdose on proteins and expect to keep the lines of youth. Kill the disposition and the figure and what have you left for love?"

Asked if she intended to try the chart upon her fiance, Miss Campbell exclaimed:

"I shall nail the chart in my kitchenette before I remove my bridal veil."

PRESIDING ELDER PREACHES HERE TODAY

The Methodist presiding elder of this district, the Rev. Dr. O. F. Sensabaugh, will fill the pulpit at the morning service at the First Methodist church.

Mr. Sensabaugh is said to be a forceful speaker. In the evening the service will be preached by the pastor, the Rev. L. A. Webb.

FAMILY FLEES WHEN ALDERMAN SEES DAUGHTER'S BOBBED HAIR

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—When his 15-year-old daughter, Goldie, returned home with her hair bobbed, John Bradford, alderman from the Fifth Ward, Granite City, Ill., seized a revolver and drove his family from the house, according to Mrs. Bradford's complaint to police.

The daughter had been visiting her sister in St. Louis. With her mother and another sister, Alma, 17, she was sitting in a front room last night when the father came in.

"Do you recognize your daughter now?" Alma is said to have asked. Bradford took one look and then ran to get his revolver. He told the entire family, according to the wife, to prepare for death.

Bradford visited the police station later and is said to have agreed not to create any further disturbance. When Mrs. Bradford and daughter Alma returned home later in the evening he was asleep there. He left this morning without speaking to his family, Mrs. Bradford said. Meanwhile, Goldie is at her sister's home in St. Louis.

COLORADO COMMISSION SUSTAINS MINERS' SCALE

By Associated Press.
WALSENBURG, Col., Sept. 10.—The Colorado state industrial commission today set aside a wage reduction inaugurated in coal mines of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company in Huerfano and Los Animas counties and placed the old wage scale in effect pending further investigation of the controversy, which has tied up many mines for more than a week.

BACK TO SCHOOL.

Tomorrow school opens. Hundreds of children will again take up the daily task of preparing themselves for the daily tasks that are to come, and which for most of them will last as long as they cling to life. The traditional fable—at least the tradition of the funny part—is that they will go, regrettably, and with lagging footsteps, to the free swimming pool in the country which has been their playground during the summer.

This, too, is doubtful, in these days of efficiency and these days when many have been seen in the arm-reared necks of the smattering of the guidance of the old cuss who have given the job of teaching that he might support himself, such a teacher might make a result of learning unpleasant, as he revealed in severity—or as the story books say—and had no sympathy with the thoughts of childhood.

Nowadays, a knowledge of psychology is not the least among a teacher's assets. He makes study a game, he makes it interesting by methods designed to rouse children to further efforts in their school work. Athletics have come to be a recognized part of any high school curriculum. And a failure to make good in school work bars a student from the physical competition so dear to the heart of Young America. That indeed is a back-handed bribe, but it proves efficacious, just as tops and marbles persuade spoiled little Johnny to take that nasty medicine.

Take it all in all, children enjoy their school work these days. And they learn, too; faster and better than pupils of fifty or twenty or even ten years ago.

There is, however, a class of children in every town who need special attention. These are the ones who have not caught the spirit of school morale; who for one reason or another did not start to school at the customary age and who, having grown larger, are embarrassed and timid at entering school, and whose parents are not sufficiently interested in their welfare to see that they do go. There will be children who dodge school and will use every endeavor toward non-attendance. These should be looked after. Those who are willfully absenting themselves should have the error of their ways impressively demonstrated to them. Those parents who are permitting their children to remain out of the school room or are holding them out should be converted, outwardly, if not in spirit.

There is a compulsory school attendance law on the statute books to deal with just such pupils and such parents. This year it should be enforced. For the preceding three years, conditions made such a step impossible and inadvisable, but now Ranger has a well established school system, with modern buildings to shelter its scholastic population.

And Ranger should see that all children take advantage of its educational facilities.

SWIPING WILLIE'S TOYS.

Did you ever go visiting on Christmas day and find Willie sniffing in the hall? And upon inquiry find that his heart was broken because papa or Uncle Jim was so wrapped up in his toy train or mechanical puzzle that Willie himself had no chance to play with it?

Of course you have. Then do you remember when "funny pages" were started and how they were designed to arouse the laughter of little children?

Of course you have. But have you compared the comics of today with those of twenty years ago? Probably not; if you did, you'd be surprised. With one or two exceptions, they are designed to appeal to adults. Children like the Katzenjammer Kids; Little Jimmy will interest them in a mild sort of way, and a few others may be amusing because of the bright and variegated colors. But in general, the humor of today's comics is in the conversations, together with the postures and facial contortions that accompany them. And they are not for children especially, but rather for adults.

It would appear that papa and Uncle Jim again have taken possession of little Willie's toy.

WHEN RENT IS CHEAP.

Palaces are to rent at Banda Neira in the Dutch East Indies, at the paltry figure of $10 a month. So says an Associated Press dispatch that sets many hearts a-throb with envy. But before deciding to embark in quest of any such wonderful bargains the rent-encumbered American home-seeker would do well to reflect that those palaces have been thus accessible for many years, yet nobody has seen fit to occupy them. Splendid in their resolution, the jungle now creeps in to hide and bury their long-departed glory. Palms and creepers have disrupted their marble walls and marble floors. Their fountains are choked with great trees and gargantuan ferns. Orchids blossom in their banquet halls, and only the cackle of the chechak lizard is heard from

Boats With Rescuers Rush to Aid Fallen ZR-2

Hardly had the ZR-2 hit the water when small boats filled with eager rescuers rushed to the middle of the Humber river, where the airship lay. But the best efforts of these willing workers was largely in vain, the clumsiness of the wreckage holding back the work of rescue.

portals that once echoed with songs and merry laughter.

Time was when Banda Neira was the Pearl of the Indies. The Banda isles were then the only place on earth that the nutmeg was allowed to grow. Elsewhere, in other more easily to conserve their monopoly, the Dutch adventurers destroyed the trees, and all the world had to go to Banda Neira for its nutmegs. They built palaces there of rich marble, and lived with their slaves in a voluptuous luxury unimaginable in days like these.

Then came the English adventurers, commercially bent, who had no slaves, but were keen on business. By means of wooing women or otherwise, they contrived to secure many nutmeg seeds and seedlings. The nutmeg of commerce is so treated with lime and other processes before export that it cannot be used for seed. The Englishmen took the seed and seedlings away and planted them in Ceylon and elsewhere and watched them grow and flourish. In the tropics growth is swift. In a decade Banda had lost the nutmeg monopoly. Nutmegs that had been worth a cent a piece were no longer worth a cent a hundred. Banda was far away, in an archipelago fretted by earthquakes and volcanic eruptions. The Dutch nutmeg kings abandoned their palaces and sailed away to Batavia or back to Holland. Banda Neira's palaces were left as desolate as the halls of Balchutha. And there they stand today, ruined but very beautiful, remote from all the world, buzzing eternally with mosquitos of exceeding venom, impossible of repair or maintenance save by plutocrats, but bargains at $10 a month or any price.

63-YEAR-OLD DOCTOR CELEBRATES FIRST BABY'S ARRIVAL

Dr. Henry, a noted Los Angeles physician, at 63, celebrated the arrival of his first child. In May, 1920, Mrs.

Fanny L. Henry was granted a divorce from her husband. Miss Hazel Henderson, a 21-year-old nurse in his office, was named in the suit. Miss Henderson became the second Mrs. Henry, and after her name had been brought into the affair Dr. Henry published a pamphlet in which he told his views on love and marriage. "I have always believed," said Dr. Henry, "that polygamy is a better system than the one now in vogue. I did not want to cast my first wife off and leave her unprotected, as men do under the laws of the land, but my first wife did not want children. This young girl who I have married had the courage to tell me she loved me, that she wanted me to be the father of her child."

EDITING UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

In Honolulu, Oct. 11 to 25, newspaper editors and publishers will hold an international press congress of the world. A stone's throw from the meeting place, the first printing press west of the Rocky mountains was set up, 100 years ago.

Boston editors will boast at the meeting, that their town printed America's first newspaper—the Boston News Letter, first issue of which appeared April 24, 1704.

English editors will speak up boasting that London had a newspaper, the English Mercury, as far back as 1588.

Then some Italian editor will clear his throat and remind the crowd that Italy gave the world its first newspaper—the Gazette of Venice. Hence, the newspaper name, Gazette.

Maybe a Chinese editor will confide that he once worked on the Pe-kin Tsing Pao, world's oldest newspaper, which expired in 1915, after 1400 years of continuous publication.

The Chinese editor might also tell the meeting about a similar press congress in China 4100 years ago.

China even then had what corresponded to editors—men who kept records in hand-lettering writing. Emperor Yu the Great called a press congress of all who could write, and had them bring all their writings. Every editor left the convention hall feet-first, with his head chopped off. "Now," said Yu the Great, with a chuckle, "I've killed all the writing men and burned everything they ever wrote. With no records left, folks will think I built the earth."

Years later, sewed in the thatched roof of a Chinese house, a set of the Bamboo Books was discovered. From these was pieced out China's history prior to Yu. They'd been hidden by a Chinese country editor who didn't believe in taking chances.

It is strategically opportune that the press congress of the world is to be held on the eve of the disarmament conference.

Also, that it is to be held in the Pacific, which now is the focus and center of the currents of war or peace.

Japanese and American editors, mingling with each other and with editors from all over the world, have a great responsibility in the shaping of thought. They disseminate the news-facts that make public opinion. These editors will get together and hear one another's problems—personal, national and racial. With proper understanding established, a good start will have been made for limitation of the world's armaments. —Bisbee (Ariz.) Review.

TRAVELING STILL WORKS UP MASH FOR STEADY CUSTOMERS

GREENVILLE, S. C., Sept. 10.—The latest thing in the liquor line is a traveling distillery that has made its appearance in Nevcrny county.

Patterned after the old-fashioned threshing machine or cotton gin, the portable still follows a regular schedule.

The customers have their meal and other ingredients "in soak" in anticipation of the advent of the still at an appointed night.

When the still arrives the mash is ready to be run through. Each customer pays a toll.

How Did They Do It?

Do you ever wonder how the ancient folk got along without the comforts and conveniences of today?

Without window glass, without tooth brushes, without automobiles, without soap, without telephones, without breakfast foods, stoves, and virtually all the items we consider bare necessities of life.

And have you ever wondered at the part advertising has played in the world's development? It has made and is making the world better housed, better fed, better dressed. It has increased the world's capacity for things that elevate, improve and idealize the important business of living. It is a big, vital force in fostering convenient and comfortable life.

AND WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES "Basket of Fruit" Gets All Upset at Rotary Club's Ladies' Night

All staidness and reserve fell away from the members of the Rotary clubs and the wives of the members of the club Friday night when the club gave its "ladies' night" to the said wives. The feature of the evening was an old-fashioned game known as "a basket of fruit." Other features were a light lunch and things to drink; two readings by Mrs. Sandford Dean; piano solos by Mrs. H. S. Cole and Mrs. E. M. Humes; a solo by H. S. Cole and a quartette by H. S. Cole, Gifford Clegg, C. J. Moore, and Ralph Unger. The latter two are not members of the club but volunteered their assistance in the entertainment. "Ladies' Night" will be given by the club once each month from this time forward.

The "basket of fruit" game is played by the guests all being given the name of a fruit or a vegetable. Jack Gullahorn, for instance, could be called a pumpkin, that vegetable is so squatty, Ralph Stockman could be nick-named a banana and any one of the women present could have easily been named a peach without anybody trying to be fresh or anything. It would have been true art to name Pete Peters a string bean, he is so skinny, with bulges between the hollows.

There are others who could have been named after one of the vegetable or fruit family without outraging art. One could even think of a fellow who could be called a lemon, or a prune. Anyway, that is the way they were named, only the women got all pretty names. The male of the species had to be onions and things like that. After everyone had been properly labeled one was left over and he, or she, stood in the center of the court at the library rooms, where the past-timing went on, and hollered "Apple and Orange, change seats," or something like that, and in the scramble the one who called out tried to get a seat. Once the caller said "You prune and you lemon, change," and two fellows, whose names are deleted, had a terrible tussle to keep from having to be "it."

After that began to pall, the fellow in the center yelled "basket of fruit" and everybody had to change seats and some of the peaches got squashed and the onions cried and it was a wonderful party, everyone said, and that was the end of that.

Among those present were: Mmes. E. M. Humes, H. S. Cole, Karl E. Jones, E. M. Humes, M. H. Hagaman, C. C. Chenoweth, E. E. Crawford, Ralph Stockman, A. N. Harkrider, E. J. Barnes, Gifford Clegg, L. A. Vanderfoot, L. L. Rector, John M. Gholson, F. D. Bostaph, M. R. Newnham, V. S. D. Terrell, Lytton R. Taylor, H. R. Gholson, Layden; Misses Loree Wilson and Dora Mayne Cole of Ranger; Miss Helen Burke of Las Cruces, N. M., and Miss Margaret Layden of Dallas; Messrs. W. E. Burke, M. H. Smith, R. B. Waggoman, Jack Gullahorn, Leo J. Hartnett.

The women's committee on entertainment consisted of Mmes. M. H. Hagaman, H. R. Gholson, L. A. Vanderfoot, W. E. Burke, Edward Maher, and E. J. Barnes.

LUNCHEON IN HONOR OF MRS. M. R. NEWNHAM

The members of the hospitality committee of the Woman's Missionary society entertained Thursday at high noon with a luncheon, honoring their chairman, Mrs. M. R. Newnham.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Mills Davenport was the scene of this charming social affair and proved a harmonious meeting for the scheme of elegant simplicity achieved throughout. The reception hall, living room and sun parlor were lovely with many field flowers, while in the spacious dining room the color scheme of yellow was perfected by a profusion of goldenrod and zinnias banked on the buffet, and also forming a centerpiece on the table, where yellow candles added to the already brilliant effect.

Place cards marked covers for twelve: Mrs. M. R. Newnham, the honor guest; Mrs. Mills Davenport, the honor hostess; Mrs. M. H. Smith, president of the W. M. S.; Mmes. C. D. Woods, S. P. Boon, Cabe Terrell, J. P. Scott, Chism, C. C. Chenoweth, and O. L. Phillips. The absence of two members, Mmes. Colie and Clem, was regretted by all present.

After a four-course luncheon was served, the guests spent several hours with music and contests, while many friendships were renewed, and interesting stories of pleasure and hardships, experienced together during the "reconstruction in Ranger," were recounted.

While merry conversation flowed, the humble needle was busy in clever fingers, embroidering pretty and useful kitchen linen to be used by the beloved chairman in her new home in Fort Worth, where, it is hoped, she may win as many admirers and followers as she has in Ranger, where she has made her home for the past four years.

A beautiful and unique art kodak book, decorated in water colors, containing "snap shot" photographs of her co-workers was presented to Mrs. Newnham at leavetaking.

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKinnis returned Friday from a month's auto trip spent around Las Vegas and El Parvenir, N. M., and in Colorado.

Mmes. J. S. and Scott Hill returned yesterday afternoon from a week's visit in Waco.

George Hemmingson and Earl Laster left today for Waco. Mr. Hemmingson will join his wife, who has been with her father who has been ill and who is also Mr. Laster's father. Mr. and Mrs. Hemmingson will return tomorrow if Mr. Laster is sufficiently improved.

L. C. Brittingham of the American Glycerin company, returned yesterday after a business trip that extended over the greater part of the week to Dallas, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells and Graham.

Nick Novakovich, who has been ill at Mineral Wells for several weeks, is now at St. Joseph's Infirmary at Fort Worth. Although very ill, his recovery is expected within the next few weeks.

LITTLE HINTS

If you will keep a spool of No. 30 cotton handy to sew on buttons, you will have fewer buttons to sew on.

In making pan holders of very heavy cloth, leave one of the four sides open so that you can slip the hand in one of the pockets. This protects the back of the hand as well as the palm against steam and the like.

In the last rinsing water for sheer materials such as scrim curtains, use one tablespoon of powdered borax to each gallon of water. This prevents the cloudy appearance so often noticed when starch is used and the material will iron much easier. This is also an excellent way to launder any article trimmed by Cluny lace.

Before the children begin to break in a new pair of school shoes, try pasting over their heels a square of surgeon's plaster, with the result that they never have blistered heels.

HEIRESS AND SCHOOL BOY WONDER ELOPE

Friends of Mrs. Bertha Samuels Sinclair are wondering whether she will win the forgiveness of her father, or whether Colonel Joseph Samuels will keep his threat to disinherit her. The millionaire made his threat when the bride indicated her intentions of being married to James Sinclair, former Brown university athlete. The couple eloped a few days ago, being married at Mystic, Conn. It was late in the night when they reached Mystic. It was raining, and the engine in their motor had stalled. The circumstances were not at all romantic, though the heiress found a touch of romance in the fact that her father held to his word she would have to be content with Sinclair's salary in lieu of her large allowance.

These Leaders Listed as Founders Of Plan to Give Nation's Women $3,500,000 Civic Center at Capital

Erection of a $3,500,000 civic home in Washington, in which every American woman of good standing in her community will be invited to have a share, is the plan of the Woman's National Foundation. That the plan is sound is guaranteed by the distinguished women already enrolled as Founder-Donors. Of this long list, every name of which represents a contribution of at least $1,000 to this enterprise, probably no members have finer records of public service than Mrs. John Hays Hammond and Mrs. James Carroll Frazer.

Mrs. Hammond, whose husband represented President Taft at the coronation of King George V of England, was chairman of the Militia of Mercy and Governor of New York State for the Woman's Naval Service during the war. In peace times she is identified with all civic and welfare movements. Mrs. Hammond is a vice-president of the Foundation, one aim of which is the teaching of subjects conducive to better citizenship among the country's women.

Mrs. James Carroll Frazer, who is a member of the Executive Committee of the Woman's National Foundation, was chairman of the Navy League Comforts Committee during the war and now heads that committee which aims to memorialize the fighters of Belleau Wood.

Those interested in becoming members of the Foundation, the basic entrance fee of which is but $1.00 for non-residents, should communicate with Mrs. C. C. Calhoun, President, Woman's National Foundation, Connecticut Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

THE WELL-FURNISHED TABLE

To all women of finer sensibilities, the love of beautiful table appointments is second nature, yet it is only within a comparatively short time that the homemaker has set about the furnishing of her table with that same careful observance of the first principle of decoration, which she has found necessary to carry into the furnishing of the rest of her house.

The fresh, crisp beauty of spotless covers and napery, the gleam of polished silver and glass; these things have been the joy and pride of the homemaker since the dim beginning of the art of housekeeping but for years we have bought our table covers without regard for our table china and the latter without regard for other accessories, and most of us have been handicapped at the outset by a miscellaneous store of wedding presents, having no slightest relation one to another. And once upon a time, we use to display them all at once, but at last we have learned better.

Standards of value in all tableware have undergone a radical change, in the past few years. From sercettes plates to tea-napkins, from oyster forks to after dinner coffee spoons, it used to be that the "handsome set" invariably meant one of lavish design. Fortunately this order of things is no more. Value in terms of dollars and cents must always depend to a certain extent upon elaboration of detail, but artistic values, which good taste demands above all else in the furnishing of the dining table today, depends upon exactly the same principles of decoration which are required for the dining room itself. It is the old, old theme of suitability, harmony-between all things seen at the same time and the proper use of ornament, which is never for the sake of display. So the better shops today are selling to their best trade, fifty or seventy-five plain patterns and simple designs to one piece of ornate tableware.

One Wide Band.

In table linens the damask tablecloth now prescribed as correct show only a single, wide woven band, which falls just below the edge of the table, following it in a round, square, oval or oblong shape as the case may be. The cloth may then be further enriched by two severely plain monograms worked in opposite corners, where they will just escape a centerpiece, but no other decoration is permissible. The napkins of course have a corresponding band, woven a few inches above the hem on a perfectly plain square of damask and an unpretentious monogram may come in one corner or in the center of the square or oblong fold.

There is, of course, a sound and sensible reason underlying this new order of plain table linens, which is the beauty of silverware and fine glass background. When silver and glass and all things else on one small table are, by their insistent designs, clamoring to be seen, we seldom appreciate the beauty of anything.

In the selection and use of table silver we find that the evolution of taste in the past few years has followed exactly the same lines bringing the plainer patterns to the fore. No pattern in the so-called "flat" silver is more popular at the present time and none was ever more beautiful than the pure Colonial style, simple, graceful, dignified and absolute.

ly devoid of ornamentation save for an equally simple monogram.

The elaborately etched and embossed pieces are now reserved for certain period rooms demanding such appointments. In glassware the story runs the same. The dazzling splendors of the richly cut glass with which our tables and china cabinets were burdened but a few years since are no more seen in the better shops and the best furnished homes. In striking contrast is the note of quiet refinement evidenced by the newer styles of perfectly clear glass, void of ornamentation, except a plain rim.

When we look into present day style in table china, there is far more latitude of choice, yet even here precedence is given above all other kinds for general use to the fine English and Lenox wares which depend only upon a gold band decoration and the rich "tone" of the porcelain itself lend them distinction.

Decorated China.

Another inexpensive and most effective style for any dining room where blue prevails is made in imitation of certain Royal Worcester patterns and carries a deep blue band round the edge of each piece. But this is not to say that all things must be plain. Wonderfully beautiful effects can be had by the use of decorated china, providing only that this has been selected, with regard for the other table decorations and especially when chosen to harmonize with the color scheme of the dining room. Nothing could be more decorative than this colored service in a carefully planned dining room with hangings and upholsteries carried out in some of its yellow and soft green, or blue and silver or dull rose tones, with other table appointments rather severe. Service plates showing a broad band of color which emphasize the color note of the room is another decorative effect which may cost almost as much or as little as you please.

Finally, we should remember that flowers or some bit of living green, on the table for everyday use are quite as important as platters and spoons. It may be just a sprig of evergreen in a clear glass bowl, but whatever forms the centerpiece may take, there is no excuse left for the barren table today.

That time has passed when we sat down to a lavishly spread table where there was one glory of the silver and another glory of the tablecloth and another glory of the cut glass and each different from the other in glory. Let us be thankful. Let us moreover have the courage of our new convictions even though it means that we must put away some of the "mistakes" with which we started housekeeping, or presents from relatives or friends which, though dear to heart, can only mar the beauty of our dining tables. Let us spread a feast for the eyes as well as for the palate, particularly remembering that the former can neither enjoy nor assimilate too many kinds of things at once.

SUGAR AND SPICE

Orange Fluff.

Four eggs, juice and grated rind one lemon, six tablespoons powdered sugar, two tablespoons hot water. Juice and grated rind one large orange. Ladyfingers.

Separate eggs and beat yolks with tablespoons of sugar; add fruit juices, rind and hot water and cook in a double boiler till it thickens, stirring frequently. Remove from the heat and pour into the egg whites, beaten stiff, with the remaining sugar. Chill and serve in sherbet cups lined with ladyfingers or sponge cake. (This desert is especially liked by young children).

Glazed Mint Apples.

Six good sized apples, 2 cups sugar, 2 cups water, 2 dozen mint sprays. Boil sugar and water together for 15 minutes. Pare and core apples a piece in a shallow saucenpan. Pour the syrup over them, add 18 of the mint sprigs, tied in a bunch, and simmer slowly till the apples are clear. Turn often to prevent them from becoming mushy. Remove carefully, baste with the syrup and put a sprig of mint in the hole of each apple. By the time they are done, the syrup should be ready to jelly. If not, boil down rapidly, and then pour over the apples.

Apricot and Grapefruit Ice.

One and one-half cups sugar, 1 1/2 cups water, 1-2 can apricots, sifted, 1 cup grapefruit juice, 1-2 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 egg white. Boil sugar and water together for five minutes, cool, add the sifted apricots and the fruit juices. Freeze to a mush in three parts ice to one part salt, then add the egg white, beaten stiff and finish freezing.

An Old Favorite—Three Ice.

Three ripe bananas, 3 oranges, 3 lemons, 3 cups water, 3 cups sugar, 3 egg whites. Put bananas through potato ricer. Extract orange and lemon juice. In the meanwhile boil together the sugar and water for 10 minutes, cool and add bananas and juice. Pour into freezer, add the egg whites, beaten stiff, and freeze in three parts ice to one part salt. This makes 2 1/2 quarts.

Wants Her Sex To Take Vote on Disarmament

By furnishing a national forum in which all American women, irrespective of creed, class, condition or political complexion, can meet and exchange views, the Woman's National Foundation, in the opinion of its first vice-president, Mrs. James McDonald, is going to help inaugurate a new era in the woman movement.

Mrs. McDonald, who lived long abroad, when her husband was opening up new oil territory in England, India, China and Japan, has an international viewpoint on most affairs.

Just now she believes that the crucial question before every country is disarmament. For that reason she has proposed the first referendum among Foundation members, blanks for which are now being prepared.

This referendum, provision for which is made in the general Foundation program, will have the twofold effect of focusing feminine attention on disarmament and of recording the opinions of Foundation members express.

In order that membership in the Foundation may be within the reach of every forward looking woman in America, the basic fee has been made $1.00 a year. Those interested in its program, hopes and aspirations, should communicate with either Mrs. C. C. Calhoun, president, or Mrs. James McDonald, first vice-president, Woman's National Foundation, Connecticut Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

REFRESHING SALADS

Celery, green onions, pimientos lettuce. Cut the celery into short, thin strips, wash green peppers in boiling water, drain at once and dry, then cut into same size as the celery. Mix pimientos in cold water in the same style as the celery. Equal parts of each ingredient with French dressing and olive oil nests of lettuce.

Savory Salad Dressing.

Four tablespoons olive oil, 1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar, 1-2 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1-2 tablespoon tomato catsup, salt and red and black pepper. Combine ingredients, beat well and use at once.

Spiced Peach Salad.

Six spiced or pickled peaches, 2 rolls Neuchatel cheese, English walnuts meats, boiled salad dressing, lettuce.

Remove stones from peaches and fill cavities with balls of the cheese, moistened, if necessary with cream. Garnish with salad dressing and nut meats.

A Simple Salad.

Coarse leaves from 2 heads lettuce, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon water, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon paprika, 1 roll snap-pepper cheese.

Wash and crisp the lettuce, shred with a sharp knife and put in a salad bowl. Make a dressing of the vinegar, water, sugar and seasoning, pour over the lettuce, crumble in the cheese and toss lightly together.

Tomato and Cucumber Salad.

Select a large, firm head of cabbage, wash without tearing leaves apart, set aside to drain and crisp and then place on a large plate stem-end down. Arrange inside the leaves slices of tomato and cucumbers in alternate rows, and scatter minced green peppers over all. Pass French or mayonnaise. In serving the hostess separates a leaf of two and then places on them a few slices of tomato and cucumber.

Creole Salad Dressing.

One-half cup salad oil, 5 tablespoons vinegar, 1-2 teaspoon powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1-2 tablespoon minced parsley, 2 tablespoons chopped pimientos.

Mix thoroughly, let chill and shake well before using. A Mason jar is the best utensil for this purpose and the dressing may be kept in it for weeks in the ice box. It is especially good on asparagus, tomatoes, cucumbers or plain lettuce.

On a long automobile trip it is well to carry a camera. In case of accidents where there are no witnesses of the affair, a photograph of the cars will often prove quite valuable to you.

WANT HARDING'S APPROVAL OF KNICKERS

Miss Jewel O'Malley and Miss Aileen Faye, two of a number of New York girls starting out from city hall on a ten-day hike to Washington, where they will visit President Harding and ask for his approval of their knickerbocker attire. LEAGUE LEADER SEPT. 1 ALWAYS WINS PENNANT?

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10.—If history repeats, the Yankees Thursday clinched the American league pennant by their two victories over Washington last Thursday.

The figures show, however, that the team at the top of the standing on this date did not always maintain the lead until the end of the season.

Last year the Chicago White Sox led the league with a three-point margin over Cleveland Aug. 31.

CINCY IS CHEERED BY MATTY'S IMPROVEMENT

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10.—The hundreds of personal friends and the thousands of personal admirers of Christy Mathewson are cheered over the good news that comes from Saranac Lake to the effect that the great pitcher is slowly recovering his health with a good prospect of being able to return to an active normal life within a year.

It was thought for a long time that he would not recover, but he never lost hope or his fighting spirit, and now things look very hopeful for him.

Mrs. Richard Gentry, who held the office of postmistress at Columbia, Miss., under nine presidents, was the first woman postmistress in the United States.

LURE OF ADVENTURE MADE 'CAP' KIDD A PIRATE—AND RANGER, THE PORT OF MISSING WIVES

Ranger in the days of mud, murder and madness featured; when fortunes in oil were made and lost between the red of the rising sun and the gold of its decline, came to have the name of "the port of missing wives."

Why they leave home and friends is a question that has been propounded since Eve tempted Adam.

And the answer could easily be: Why did Captain Kidd go to sea as a pirate? Only one who had a kindred spirit to those who seek the thrills of life can understand why a husband or wife, son or daughter leaves friends, home and its comforts, to seek the colorful life of a soldier of fortune.

Wives of the staid inland towns still look upon Ranger as the magic city of oil; they have not learned, as have the husbands, that it is an orderly town which goes its prosaic way as do other towns, and when those of a venturesome spirit sicken of the uneventful routine of their native burg, which kills ambition and the love of life, they come here.

EBBETS SAYS LIVELY BALL IS DANGEROUS

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—President C. H. Ebbets of the Brooklyn Baseball club, makes no secret of the fact that, in his opinion, the ball is livelier than ever before in the history of the National league and that there must be a return to normal conditions next year.

"There isn't a doubt in my mind that the major league teams are playing with a 'lively ball' this year," said Ebbets.

"The recording of nearly 750 home runs is conclusive proof of this assertion. While I believe that a majority of the fans enjoy the heavy hitting that prevails in the big circuits, it must be admitted that many of the finer points of baseball have disappeared.

"Under present conditions, the pitchers are tremendously handicapped and, together with the infielders, they are in constant danger of receiving serious injuries.

"The balls have not been changed in quality since the opening of the season, despite statements by many players to the contrary.

"Pitching must be improved in some way, also the fielding, and the only method worth considering is the total elimination of the 'lively ball.'"

LYNCHING FEAR OF TODD TRIAL

FORT WORTH, Sept. 10.—The murder of James McNeal, Fort Worth service car driver, for which Forrest Dawson and Wayne Todd, Weatherford youths, are now being held, will be probably the grand jury on Oct. 3, and a trial had as quickly afterwards as it is thought safe to keep the prisoners from mob violence.

JESS WILLARD REFUSES TO 'WORK WAY UP' FOR BOUT WITH J. DEMPSEY

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Although the age limit adopted by the New York boxing commission bars Jess Willard from appearing in the ring in this state, Promoter Tex Rickard has not given up the idea of staging the big fellow in a match with Jack Dempsey.

If Rickard decides to drop Willard from further consideration, Tom Gibbons looks like the next best prospect as an opponent for Dempsey.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, motion picture comedian, who started from Los Angeles last night by automobile to clear up his part in an affair at his suite in a hotel here last Monday, which resulted in the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, a film actress, was reported to be nearing San Francisco late today.

Arbuckle will be taken into custody by the police, it was announced, pending an investigation of the woman's death.

LABOR PLANS ARMISTICE DAY DEMONSTRATION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Plans for a nationwide demonstration of Armistice day under the leadership of organized labor, "in support of the purpose of underlying the international conference on the limitation of armament," were announced today at headquarters of the American Federation of Labor.

Central unions of every community have been asked to organize parades and mass meetings on that day, when the international conference begins.

"It is planned," the announcement said, "to unite all civic bodies, trade union auxiliaries, women's union leagues, educational leaders, women's clubs and in fact all organizations interested in civic affairs and of a progressive character in the great effort."

It is proposed by federation of officials that every city, town and village in the country will be represented in the demonstration.

TEXAS LEAGUE IS CLASSY CIRCUIT

Listen to what a baseball scout has to say who roams the country from end to end each season, and sees all the minor leagues in each. It would not be policy to mention his name.

And that isn't all. This week's Sporting News has an article from Spokane which in speaking of the Portland franchise in the Pacific Coast (Class AA) said: "Last year it could have been bought for $20,000, but this year it would cost $50,000."

And then again, from the Cincinnati Enquirer: "There was a fine attendance of 6,000, which is remarkably large for this time of the year."

Those attendance figures are in cities boasting almost as much population as the entire Texas circuit. Admittedly, their holiday crowds are six and seven times as much as in Texas league towns. Yet it is an even bet that for week days Fort Worth and possibly Dallas this year has drawn a larger average than several of the major clubs.

BILLY SUNDAY WILL JOIN FIGHT AGAINST MOVIE CENSORSHIP

MAIMED MAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL STRAPPED TO WING OF AIRPLANE

By T. N. SANIFER.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—One of the most unusual cases on record of transportation of an injured man by airplane has just come to light in a report to the navy department from the commander of the Fourth Air Squadron, marine corps, in Haiti.

Recently an urgent call was received in Port au Prince, Haiti, requesting aerial transportation for a case at Maissade, in the inland jungles of that island, to the hospital at Port au Prince, on the coast.

Lieutenant Kenneth B. Collings, a marine flying officer, at once started for Maissade in a DH-4B plane. On his arrival, however, he was met with a problem. Transportation of wounded and sick by air is a common thing in the island, where roads are rudimentary and at times bandit-infested, but this case was special. The injured man was badly mangled so that he had to be put in splints from head to foot, and accordingly could not be carried in the usual way, upright, in the cockpit of the machine. His condition was critical and hospital attention was urgent.

The injured man, accordingly was bandaged to the eyes, given a special face mask, wrapped securely to a six-foot plank, with a blanket, given a helmet and goggles, and lashed to the wing of the machine, close to the fuselage or "body."

The man was given a morphine injection and, unconscious most of the time "stood the trip better than expected," according to the report.

The bulk of this bundle on the wings made the flying rather difficult, the report commented. It required thirty-five minutes to make a trip that otherwise would have taken hours, or even days, of jolting and travel.

In forwarding the report it was urged that the service be speedily equipped with a type of plane fitted to carry patients in a prone position, as they are now compelled to carry all cases in an upright position in the machine.

HIS OCCUPATION WAS MAKING NURSES HAPPY

DENVER, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Goldie Shepherd told County Judge Luxford, Friday that with her money her husband, Claude B. Shepherd, purchased a flivver and a truck.

When she asked her husband to take her out for a ride, she said, he answered her thus:

"Now dearie, I haven't time to be totin' you around in that flivver. You know the nurses at the county hospital need the air more than you do. They are shut up in those smelly wards all day and I got to do my duty by them. I got to take 'em out for an airing."

A half hour later, Mrs. Shepherd said, she saw her husband flivverin' by with "as many as ten nurses packed into that flivver."

Mrs. Shepherd said that outside of his self-appointed job of official "airer" for the county hospital nurses, her husband avoided work. He drew $90 a month compensation from the government, she said, but she said she received no benefit of it, and earned her own living as a waitress in a downtown restaurant.

Judge Luxford granted Mrs. Shepherd a divorce.

AMERICANS RELEASED FROM RUSSIAN SOVIET PRISON

This is the first picture of the Americans whose release from prison the soviet government had to make before Hoover would consent ever to talk famine relief. The picture was taken in Reval upon their arrival from soviet territory. The men released are: John Flick, X. Kalamatino, Henry J. La Marc and W.B. Estes. They were taken in charge by the Red Cross immediately upon their arrival in Reval.

WHAT A MISTAKE!

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—A clerk in the Salvation Army Industrial home in West Congress street answered a telephone call today.

A sweet voice on the other end of the wire informed him that if a wagon could be sent to her address she would donate two cases of printed matter which she believed the army might find useful.

The wagon was sent and the case brought to headquarters.

Two hours later the telephone rang again.

A woman, her voice filled with terror, wept into the clerk's ear:

"Oh, a horrible mistake has been made. I sent you the wrong cases. Won't you please get them here quickly—Oh, please get them back before my husband gets home.

The cases were returned and the lady was saved. They contained real bonded liquor.

The Salvation Army officers refused to make known the name of the lady.

Wednesday and Thursday, Shirley Mason in "Ever Since Eve," and comedy. Friday and Saturday, Alice Lake in "Uncharted Seas," and Pathe News and Review.

TEMPLE—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Charles Ray in "Scrap Iron," and comedy.

TEMPLE. Charlie Ray adds another characterization to his already versatile portrayals in his latest First National release, "Scrap Iron," which will be the feature attraction at the Temple theatre starting today. He takes the part of a young mechanic in a mill town, and his characterization of the part is one of the most satisfactory things he has ever done. The story of "Scrap Iron," adapted from one written by Charles E. Van Loan in the Saturday Evening Post, is not as broad in comedy as most of Mr. Ray's productions. In fact, it is not a comedy at all, although there are many good laughs and chuckles in it. The main theme of the plot, the fight of a young man for means by which he can give his widowed mother the things necessary to restore her to health, is too dramatic and sympathetic to be called comedy.

Ray has the part of John Steele, nicknamed "Scrap Iron." Yielding to the wishes of his mother to give up boxing, at which he is most proficient, earns him the scorn of his fellow workers and costs him his girl. His ambition to get ahead causes a jealous foreman to throw him out of his job. The exchequer is down to the lowest point when the opportunity comes to fight the man who has stolen his girl and at the same time get the money he needs for his sick mother.

The prize fight takes up quite a bit of footage and it is a real fight with all the atmosphere of a real arena. With the hero battling against great odds and for a worthy cause the interest rises to a big climax. In the supporting cast are Vera Stedman, Lydia Knott, as the mother, Tom Wilson and Stanton Heck.

'CANNED DOGS' USED BY FRUIT GROWER TO PROTECT HIS CROPS

ZILLAH, Wash.—An old-fashioned talking machine rigged in a beehive with records of violent barking by two collie dogs is the police protection Edw. Delle uses in his orchard and vineyard here. The record is operated by an electric attachment and if an auto is heard to slow down where the orchard touches the highway, the canned dog music is turned loose. It has never failed to discourage prospective purloiners of fruit.

The day of the automobile tourist has developed a new species of petty thief, who, while pilfering the farmers' fields, destroys as much as is carried away. Every orchardist and melon grower whose land lies next to a road is often robbed by travelers.

Delle's grapevines and peach trees are along the Sunset highway, at a point where the Yakima river takes a broad turn and a clump of white pine trees hide that part of the orchard from the ranchhouse. Many tourists seem to deliberately plan to pass this part of the road just after dusk and in past years much fruit has been stolen.

Since intalling his apparatus, Delle has had no losses and has had lots of fun watching folks climb back into their cars and speed away.

Neighbors declare they can hear Delle's two canned dogs barking a

MANHATTAN. "Passion Fruit," a strong drama of pulsing conflict, love and hate in the heavy-scented tropics, comes to the Manhattan theatre today for a run of two days as the feature attraction. This production stars the famous Doralina.

Doralina known as queen of dancers, is a creature of lithe grace and beauty who has enthralled thousands upon thousands by her unique interpretative Hawaiian dances. She popularized many hula dances, and earned fabulous sums teaching the wealthy these dances. In this, her first Metro starring picture, she has wide scope for her terpsichorean activities, for the picture begins with an insult to a girl at a charity vaudeville performance, and comes to a climax when Doralina, acting the part of Regina Dominant, has to dance one of her wildest dances to save the life of the man she loves.

Here she enacts the extraordinary role of the fascinating Regina, the Hawaiian beauty, whose father has been poisoned by his plantation overseer, Anders Rance. Rance hopes to win Regina and the plantation. A wreck of an American, Pierce Lamont, is regenerated through Regina, and wins her after being at death's door, with clamorous thousands of wild natives shrieking for his sacrifice to the gods.

Supporting Doralina are the following notable actors: Edward Earle, known as "The O. Henry Man"; Stuart Holmes, Sidney Bracey, Florence Turner, and William Bainbridge. The picture was adapted from Carey Wilson's original story and scenariorized by Edward Lowe, Jr. John Ince directed. Rudolph Bergquist photographed, and the special are interiors and effects were done by John Hughes.

LIBERTY. The attraction at the Liberty theatre, beginning today, will be "Dinty," in which young Wesley Barry makes his bow to the picture-loving public in his first actual starring vehicle, directed by Marshall Neilan, who also wrote the story himself.

Advance reports state that the freckle-faced youngster of "Daddy Long Legs," "Don't Ever Marry," and "Go Get It" has in this latest film made the finest performance of his brief but brilliant career.

At any rate, Mr. Neilan has surrounded Wesley Barry with an excellent cast of players, including such favorites as Colleen Moore, J. Barney Sherry, Marjorie Daw, Pat O'Malley, Noah Beery, Tom Gallery, Kate Price, Tom Wilson and Newton Hall.

The balance of the cast includes Walter Chung, a young Chinaman, and Aaron Mitchell, a pickaninny, who plays the part of Barry's chums in "Dinty."

"Dinty" is the tale of a fighting San Francisco newsboy, "Dinty" O'Sullivan. It deals with his rise to the head of the Newsboys' Trust, and the prominent part he plays in running down a band of Malay highlanders who have stolen the assistant district attorney's fiancée. Pathos, humor, romance and adventure are the four elements that Marshall Neilan has woven into the plot.

Marion Fairfax, the clever subtitle of "Go and Get It" and other screen successes, prepared the scenario for "Dinty" from Mr. Neilan's story. Many of the scenes were photographed in San Francisco's Chinatown and waterfront, and some remarkable effects are said to have been obtained. David Kesson was the photographer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The anti-jazz clause banishing phonographs along with dogs, cats and parrots made its first appearance here Thursday in a lease submitted by the agents of a small apartment house in the northwest section to the tenants of the building who were notified at the same time of an increase in the rent.

"The lessee," according to the revised lease, "hereby covenants and agrees that he will not keep or allow to be kept any dog, cat, parrot, graphophones or phonographs in said apartment or upon said premises."

Occupants must also promise not to hang clothes or other articles outside the premises and to keep their kitchen doors closed.

ST. LOUIS LIST PUTS CAMORRA MURDERS AT 150

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Advices from Police Chief Michael O'Brien, of St. Louis, Mo., describing twelve murders in that city ascribed to the Camorra, advanced to 150 the total of murders credited to that body in all parts of the country. This total is more than conservative, as 200 murders were tabulated in New York. "We have killed your brother and buried his body in the Bellefontaine cemetery. Unless you leave St. Louis immediately we will do the same to you."

solved murder until it bore all the earmarks.

Among the data sent to New York was a report of the alleged murder and burial of Antonio Daniele, wealthy St. Louis expressman, 45 years old, who disappeared in St. Louis in May, 1911. Lieutenant William Walton, of the St. Louis detective force, is seeking evidence on this murder in New York.

At the direction of St. Louis police, Calogero Daniele, a brother of the man slain in St. Louis, employed in New York in a factory, visited police headquarters here today and conferred with Sergeant Fiaschetti, bringing a letter received after his brother disappeared. The letter was received in St. Louis. It said, in part: "We have killed your brother and buried his body in the Bellefontaine cemetery. Unless you leave St. Louis immediately we will do the same to you."

Calogero acted immediately on receipt of the letter and fled.

The case resembles the murder of Carmillio Caiozzo. The Caiozzo murder has been confessed by Bartolo Fontano, whose relations to the police have resulted in wholesale arrests of men charged with implication in various Camorra murders.

REPORT OF CITIZENS' COMMITTEE AUDITOR ON STATUS OF ROAD FUND

Following is the complete report of L. P. Kean, employed by the Citizens' committee to investigate the road funds of Eastland county. The report was rendered two weeks ago, but not given out until Thursday.

Eastland, Texas, Aug. 25, 1921. Citizens' Committee, Eastland, Texas.

Gentlemen: You have asked me to investigate the records of your county and especially such records as pertain to the Eastland county highway department, and report to you my findings. You have asked for specific information regarding the following:

- Status of the $4,500,000 bond issue for good road purposes.
- Status of the highway department funds.
- Status of bonds securing such funds in depository.
- Contracts or purchases made in apparent violation of law.
- Status of account of Fleming & Stitzer Road Building company, with Eastland county.
- Inefficiency of Eastland county officials with whom I came in contact.
- And such other matters as I might find that would be of interest to anyone interested in the welfare of Eastland county.

I give you below the result of my findings:

Status of Bond Issue.
Issue of Series A and B for $180,000 were exchanged for a previous issue of that amount owed by Eastland county.

Issue of Series "C" bonds in the aggregate sum of $1,000,000 were sold at a net discount of $97,854.16, and the discount charged to account of Fleming-Stitzer company.

Issue of Series "D" bonds in the aggregate sum of $1,000,000 were sold for 84 per cent of their par value, plus accrued interest, with the exception of seventy-four bonds remaining unsold, which will be treated later. Nine hundred and sixteen of these bonds have been sold, the discount being not yet which should be, but have not been charged to the account of the Fleming-Stitzer Road Building company. These bonds were sold in accordance with the terms of the contract, and the purchasers are not under any obligation to pay for the bonds, and should have netted $1,000,000 plus accrued interest when delivered.

$4,500,000 bonds issued, and $2,180,000 have been accounted for, and of the amount accounted for, $2,106,000 have been paid on hand of the "D" issue, seventy-four $1,000 bonds, or $74,000.

It is my understanding that these seventy-four bonds of Series "D" issue are held in Chicago by a banking institution there, pending an opinion from the attorney general of the state of Texas as to who is the owner of them, and as to what will be the final disposition of them. Unless there are some facts connected with these seventy-four bonds, with which I am unfamiliar, I am of the opinion that they are the property of Eastland county and will in due time be delivered to Eastland county. County officials have made no record of the sale of the last fifty bonds sold. These appear to have been sold to the Security State bank at a discount of $8,000, and the bonds pledged in Chicago to a banking institution to secure a note of $35,000, signed by the Security State Bank & Trust company of Eastland; said note of $35,000 being due Sept. 26, 1921, or thereabouts. As a result of this transaction, the county treasurer of Eastland county got credit for $42,000 (plus accrued interest) on or about July 26, 1921, but county treasurer, nor county auditor have not made corresponding entries on the books of the county for this transaction. The $8,000 discount is included in the $148,600, chargeable to the Fleming-Stitzer Road Building company, referred to above. Series "E" bonds for $1,000,000 have been printed, but are unsold and at the present time are in the hands of the proper county officials. In addition there remains to be issued $1,320,000 of the $4,500,000 issue. Of the original issue $25,000 have been paid.

Status of the Highway Department Funds.

County Treasurer has in First National Bank of Ranger the sum of $17,692.61.

The county treasurer of Eastland county, according to the last statements issued by the defunct Security State Bank and Trust Company, under date of July 30, 1921, has to his credit in that bank the sum of $561,834.16. Checks paid the last few days while the bank was in operation do not appear on this statement, so it is impossible to ascertain the amount of checks outstanding when the bank closed, but the amount is near $15,000. The highway funds are included in the above account. The Security State Bank and Trust Company of Eastland was selected and designated as depository of the funds of Eastland county, after proper advertisement on February 14, 1921, by order No. 2, page 536, volume 8, commissioners court minutes. The contract interest rate was fixed at 6.55 per cent on daily balances. The bonds securing these funds are treated by the writer in the next following:

Status of Bonds Securing County Funds.

Upon the selection of the Security State Bank and Trust Company of Eastland as county depository, a bond under date of February 14, 1921, in the sum of $750,000, was executed by the bank and with the following sureties appearing thereon: Sam D. Young, Edwin Hobby, Joe Burkett, Allen D. Dabney, Geo. W. Riddle, Dallas, and W. H. Gaston, of Dallas. This according to the minutes of commissioners court on page 555. However, on the original bond appears the name also of D. E. Waggoner and Clarence Linz of Dallas. The financial strength and standing of these men of Dallas, (Geo. W. Riddle, W. H. Gaston, D. E. Waggoner and Clarence Linz) are well known, and in the judgment of the writer hereof, would make a reasonably good bond of $750,000. The above described bond, as approved by the commissioners court on April 11, 1921. Minutes of the court referred to show that on page 559 of the records, D. Young applied to the court for release as bondsman of the Security State Bank and Trust Company, minutes dated May 30, 1921, whereupon county depository bond dated April 14, 1921, for $700,000, signed by R. L. Hunt, Joe Burkett, Allen D. Dabney, M. H. Smith, Edwin Hobby of Dallas, C. T. Barringer, Jr., J. S. Mullen and R. A. Hodges, was filed and approved. It will be noted that the bond has added the names of R. L. Hunt, M. H. Smith, C. T. Barringer, Jr., J. S. Mullen and R. A. Hodges, and that the following A. were released by the transaction: Sam Young, Geo. W. Riddle, E. Waggoner and Clarence Linz. The amount that may be collected under the bond now in force will likely be small. Coupled with the general financial situation is the fact that most of the signers of the bond have suffered serious financial reverses. The county cannot look for any relief in the near future from the assets of the Security State Bank and Trust company. It is in liquidation and its liquidation will be slow. Nor can it look for any immediate relief from the bondsmen. They will not admit liability for two years, or until after the bank shall have been liquidated. The funds of the county are therefore tied up for a long period, with little hopes of collecting more than a small per cent of the amount, and that at the end of litigation.

Judge Starnes has reported to me that there is a bond made by a surety company protecting the deposit of $17,692.21 with the First National Bank of Ranger. I have called upon all the county officials that might have the bond and they have told me that they do not have it. I have asked Judge Starnes for it some half dozen times, and he promises to produce it for my inspection. To date I have not seen it, and if it is shown to me before I leave Eastland, I will address to you gentlemen a separate letter describing the bond in detail.

There are in Judge Starnes' possession six surety bonds, signed by the City National Bank of Eastland as depository, and the following surety companies, and described as follows:

Date, Sept. 7, 1920; term, one year; amount, $100,000—Fidelity & Deposit Co., of Md.
Sept. 1, 1920, one year, $30,000—Southern Surety Co.
Sept. 17, 1920, 1 year; $70,000—Lion Bonding & Surety Co.
Aug. 24, 1920, 1 year, $60,000—U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co.
Aug. 24, 1920, 1 year; $100,000—National Surety Co.
Sept. 18, 1920, 1 year; $40,000—Fidelity & Deposit Co., of Md.
Total, $400,000.

It will be noted that these bonds secure the deposits of Eastland county in the City National Bank of Eastland, a former depository of Eastland county. There appears nothing in the way of endorsement on the original bonds to show that they attempt to secure Eastland county money in the Security State Bank and Trust Company of Eastland, now in liquidation.

It has been rumored on the streets of Eastland, and has come to the ears of the writer hereof, that an attempt has been made by some of the county officials to bring this account of Eastland county's treasury under the protection of the depositories guaranty fund of the state of Texas. By a rather wide experience in such matters, I am prepared to say that the effort will prove absolutely fruitless, if such effort has been or will be made.

Contract or Purchases Made in Violation of Law.

It will be recalled by you gentlemen that I have previously called to the attention of your attorneys that Eastland county is operating its road building affairs under a special law known as the "Eastland County Road Law" passed by the third session of the thirty-sixth legislature. Judge Starnes called my attention to this law, and I have furnished you gentlemen with a copy of it. You will note that it was passed and became a law June 17, 1920. Judge C. R. Starnes told me that he dictated the law and was present at Austin and had it passed; that he and the commissioners found the old general law cumbersome; and that it was passed without due advertisement of the intention to pass it being advertised in Eastland county as provided by the constitution of the state of Texas. As to whether or not the law is valid remains to be seen in case its validity is tested in the courts. My findings in regard to whether or not various contracts are let and purchases are made by the commissioners court and the county judge thereof, approved by the court, are that making contracts by the county and purchasing of material without advertisement, is the rule rather than the exception. The Eastland county special road law provides that the commissioners court shall make and provide methods of advertisements, and thereafter the law refers to such advertisements. Judge C. R. Starnes informs me that all the rule that has been adopted by the court is a mutual understanding that they would advertise when and in what manner they desired, or whenever in the opinion of the court it seemed to be best. Compare with the large amounts of money that have been spent, few advertisements have been made. Minutes of the court show amounts of property both bought and sold without advertisements. While there are perhaps hundreds of cases, I cite the following as examples: On page 521, volume 8, commissioners court minutes, there appears, "At a called meeting at which Starnes, Epler and Webb present, whereupon it appearing that there was purchased upon the order of this court ten miles of industrial track for use in the construction of roads, and it appearing that the same was necessary and best price obtainable. Upon motion duly made and passed, all members voting aye, it was ordered that the sum of $51,513.97 be paid out of the good road fund to the Keppel Industrial Car & Equipment Company. A similar instance appears on pages 524-5, same book, as of Nov. 15, 1920, whereby garage and all supplies and equipment was sold to Fleming-Stitzer Company without advertisement."

Voucher No. 1102, dated Sept. 11, 1920, to Norvill Hardware company, Ranger for $834.30, for automobile casings. No advertisement. Bought for the exclusive use of the county, and of such a nature that advertisement would bring competitive bids. Voucher No. 1116, dated Sept. 10, 1920 to Texas Motor Co., for $938 for casing, same nature. No advertisement. On Dec. 6, 1920, house and property was bought from J. J. Moates at Gorman, without advertisement—voucher No. 1607, $1,850. On June 4, 1921, 296 spools of wire for fencing were bought from Eastland Hardware company for $1,480, without advertisement—voucher No. 2316. As stated above advertising for material for Eastland county seems to be an exception instead of a rule, and the above cases are cited for the purpose only of furnishing information on which to base a suit if any be contemplated. Many thousands of dollars' worth of material have been bought for Fleming-Stitzer Road Building company, and charged to their accounts.

Status of Account of Fleming-Stitzer Road Building Co.
The accounts of this company are carried in thirteen accounts on the books of the Eastland county highway department. Eleven of these are accounts showing debit balances, and one is the general account which is closed by transfer to the general account. The condition of these accounts is shown as of Aug. 15, 1921, as follows:

Debits
Motor transport equipment	$ 20,611.12
Railway equipment	5,875.86
Equipment D and M	6,020.40
State highway equipment	42,663.64
Industrial railway	59,728.78
Road roller	3,300.35
Rock Crusher	31,857.17
Special charges	5,228.83
Material advanced	21,514.91
Freight account	6,272.92
Garage	4,180.39
Total	$207,254.38
Less credit to general account	196,131.88
Balance to debit of F. S. R. B. Co.	11,122.50

To the above should be added the discount on 876 bonds of Series D which have been sold 140,160.00
To above should also be added discount on bonds pledged as explained above, by S. D. Young in Chicago 8,000.00
And 10 per cent of the estimates on $1,112,350 work done by F. S. R. B. Co., on which according to contract, 10 per cent should be withheld 111,235.00
Total and net dr. account F. S. R. B. Co $270,517.50
Inefficiency of Eastland County Officials.

When I began work on the records of Eastland county no proper bond records were kept by either the county auditor nor the county treasurer.

I do not consider the county auditor competent. It is among his other duties to see that all officers of the county handling any of the finances of the county obey the law. In addition to his incompetency, he has failed in this.

The books of the highway department are kept by G. DeGraffenreid. They are well kept, and reflect the condition of that department as books should. The system in use is adequate and the records are complete. The records of that department reflect credit upon the men who keep them. It might also be proper for me to add that as far as records go, and the making of them, that great care, and the proper system is used by this department.

A summary of the condition of the county finances is: Nineteen hundred twenty-six bonds have been sold at a discount of $246,014.16, and this amount and $24,503.34 additional is tied up in the Fleming-Stitzer Road Building company accounts. And, $17,692.61 is tied up in the defunct First National bank of Ranger, with the county officials unable to locate the surety company bond. And, $561,834.15 is tied up indefinitely in the defunct Security State Bank & Trust company of Eastland secured by a bond of very questionable value, some of which, if collectable, must be collected in Oklahoma, as I am told that two signers of the bonds reside in Oklahoma. These amounts total $850,044.26, and I shall content myself by showing these figures and the condition of these funds, rather than attempting to pass upon the efficiency of the commissioners' court in general and Judge C. R. Starnes in particular.

I will likely supplement this report in the near future.
Respectfully submitted, at Eastland, Texas, Aug. 25, 1921.
L. P. KEAN.

TO TOUR BATTLEFIELDS IN YACHT

A novel tour of some of the French battlefields has been started by Brigadier-General Cornelius Vanderbilt in his yacht Romola, piloted by Captain Leonard Rouse, of the British naval reserve. The yacht left from opposite the French foreign office. Plans are for travel through the network of rivers and canals until Dunkirk is reached. The party will follow the Seine to Charenton, thence into the Marne. If low water prevents navigation of the Aisne-Marne canal a return to Paris will be made and the trip continued through the Oise and the St. Quentin canal as far as Cambrai.

Mary Yopp has been stewardess and keeper of keys on Hudson river steamboats for sixty-five years. Most of the time has been spent on night boats.

FIRMS WILL REPAY WORKERS' LOSSES IN THRIFT STAMPS

NE WYORK, Sept. 10.—Industrial corporations in Detroit, Cleveland, Providence and other cities whose workers "saved" by the national thrift bond route, are preparing to make good the 30 per cent loss faced by the 11,000 wage-earning holders of thrift bonds, due to the collapse of the National Thrift Bond corporation, it is learned in a canvass of the cities where the firm operated. The directors, who surrendered the corporation to the state banking department for liquidation, are guarding their plans closely since publication of the facts behind the collapse. They have met again in an endeavor to solve the problem of providing 100 cents for each dollar put into thrift bonds by the wage-earners.

HOUSTON, Sept. 10.—Brakeman Wagner is dead and Engineer Williams and Fireman Wolfe are injured as a result of a wreck on the Southern Pacific, three and one-half miles west of Noonan, when a mixed freight and passenger train operating between San Antonio and Eagle Pass ran into a washout early Saturday morning.

ARMY AVIATORS WILL TEST NEW LIGHT BARRAGE

Giant Flares Dropped Below Planes Expected to Blind Gunners.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—New weapons of aerial warfare will be given an initial test when the army air service conducts its next bombing operation—a night attack on the old battleship Alabama. The present plan is to stage the attack about Sept. 15, probably at the scene of the recent tests upon the former German craft, off the Virginia capes.

A "light barrage" composed of giant aerial flares, each of more than 200,000 candlepower, will be one feature of the attack. Army engineers have submitted such enthusiastic reports on this weapon that larger flares, estimated to be equal to 1,000,000 candles, have been placed under construction.

Attached to Parachute.
Giving a greenish-white light, literally "brighter than day," the flares to be used in the Alabama test will illuminate an area of five square miles and expert flyers say should enable the aviators to obtain greater accuracy than in daytime. The flares are attached to a parachute of white silk which reflects the light downward with sufficient intensity, it is believed, to blind the officers and gunners on the ship under attack so as to demoralize any plan for defense, while keeping the upper air reaches shrouded in gloom.

Just before the armistice was signed flares of 2,000-candlepower were perfected by the ordnance branch of the army air service. They were equipped with 18-foot parachutes, which kept them aloft while the magnesium burned for a period from seven to eleven minutes. No opportunity was afforded for a test of these against the enemy, however.

Although disappointed that they cannot have the Alabama equipped for battle, with radio control, as they had hoped, the army fliers are exerting every effort to conduct the bombing tests with war conditions as near simulated as possible.

Object of Proposed Tests.
It will not be the object of the army pilots to see how quickly they can sink the Alabama, officials said today, but rather to try out special gas and nonextinguishable phosphorus bombs on her, as well as to ascertain the effect of small demolition bombs. Bombs up to 4,000 pounds each may be used.

The Alabama now is at Philadelphia and practically ready for delivery to the air service.

ELEPHANT RESTS TRUNK ON AIR CORD, STOPS FAST TRAIN

PIERCE CITY, Mo.—Trainmen on a Frisco passenger train, which suddenly stopped at Quinn, near here, were at loss to account for the occurrence. They investigated and were told by the engineer that the air signal had been pulled and was still in action. The trainmen started from the Pullmans in the rear to go through the train in an effort to discover the cause of the trouble and did not find it until they reached the baggage car. Here is a big elephant that was chained to the baggage car floor, in throwing its trunk around caught hold of the air cord.

The keeper was afraid to handle the elephant, so the express messenger played the role of animal tamer and finally coaxed the elephant to let loose of the cord. The train was held up almost a half hour while the express messenger was pulling off his new stunt of elephant cajoler.

As soon as the elephant let loose the trainmen were able to release the air and the train proceeded on its way. The elephant was being taken to Minnesota to be added to the herd of a circus.

DRY FORCES RAID STILL; FIND RUSSIAN BATH

RUTHLAND, Vt., Sept. 10.—State and federal prohibition officers today were silent concerning yesterday's experience, when they swooped down on the shack of John Finn of Sherburne Mountain, to raid what was supposed to be a giant still.

Finn, a Russian, was nowhere to be seen, but at the rear of his clearing was a rough, conical stone structure, about six feet high, its chinks filled with clay. Under it crackled a log fire, while from its top issued smoke and steam.

One still hunter pried open the small iron door (thrust a hand into the steam-filled interior and emitted a shriek.

"A laig!" he cried. "A human laig, and it's alive!"
From the doorway emerged first the foot, next the "laig" and then the body of John Finn, clad only in the muddy mantle of innocence.

"What y' doin'?" was fired at him.
"Takin' a bath," he answered in broken English.

Finn explained he had built himself a Russian bath, obtaining the steam by letting cold water drip on heated stones.

CALVES AND ANKLES TO BE WORN INSIDE BY FASHIONABLES

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Calves and ankles will be worn inside this winter if the latest fashions displayed by American society women have anything to do with it.

At the United Hunts racing meeting here it was apparent that the long skirt has come back. Although the court train still remains with history, no windy day will stop the clock here any more when silk hose flash into view.

The dresses seen at the races were imported from Paris and the manner in which they clung to the ankles of their wearers was taken as a sign that the short skirt will stay in the closet for some time to come.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Sept. 10.—Edmond Nitsche saved for ten years to get $1,000 to marry Miss Phyllis Olsen. He got the amount yesterday and they were married today—but without the $1,000.

ST. LOUIS TOLD 12,000 HOBOES WILL VISIT CITY

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—Mayor Kiel has received word that 12,000 members of the Hobo Welfare Association of America would arrive here about Oct. 20 for a two weeks' visit while en route to New Orleans where they will "anchor" for the winter months.

The information was contained in a letter mailed from Chicago by John L. Kennis, president of the organization, which is affiliated with the I. W. W.

The writer expresses the hope that the mayor, the board of aldermen and the chamber of commerce will entertain the guests during their visit.

"Our organization has made arrangements with the Illinois Central, Wabash and Chicago and Alton railroads for cut rates for transportation for 12,000 men to your city who are on their way to New Orleans to lay at anchor in that harbor for the winter months," the letter stated.

"They will visit your places of interest about Oct. 20 for a stay of two weeks. Their departure, we assure you, will be O. K. We hope your honor, the city council and the chamber of commerce will entertain these guests to the best of your ability, and you can govern yourself accordingly."

Mayor Kiel read the letter several times, looked at his secretary, William Findly, and then told newspaper men that he had nothing to say for publication.

DRESSEL MENTIONED AS ENVOY TO GERMANY

Dressel, American commissioner to Berlin, is the latest to be named for the post of ambassador to Germany when diplomatic relations between the two countries are resumed. ## BRIDE DIDN'T KNOW SHE WAS SUPPOSED TO LIVE WITH HUSBAND

PORT ARTHUR, Texas.—When Miss Josephine Tartara married Fred Manganice she did not know that a married woman was expected to live with her husband, and when she learned this she filed suit for her freedom three days after the ceremony was performed. In her petition, filed in the district court, she says that she was but 17 years old and too young to realize what she was doing when she married.

She says that she had no idea that she had to live with the man she married, that she would have to leave her parents, brothers and sisters, and the requirement that she live with her husband is abhorrent. She avers that she was persuaded by friends to go through the ceremony, but that she did not know that she would have to forsake all for her husband until she was so informed by the official that married them.

"Contraption" Looks Like a Still, But It's Really a Gas Testometer

"Yeah, a lot o' people have been wodering what this contraption is," said "Irish" Neal as he drove a Prairie truck to the curb and stopped. "Some folks think it's a traveling still, and say so; others think it, but don't say so."

This "contraption," by the way, which has astonished people for the last several days, is exhibit A in oil field standardization. Officially, it is a gas testometer, which by hooking up to a gas testometer will register the amount of gas that can be squeezed from the well. Actually, it is a small casing and plant of the compression power for operation is drawn from the automobile engine. There are double meters, one of which registers the amount of gas coming in and another the amount going out, after being compressed; between them, there is the compressor and receptacles for the gasoline, and fitting somewhere into the works is a thermometer by which meter readings are figured to the last point in the decimal decalogue or something like that.

In the tests, gas to the extent of thirteen and a fraction feet is used. After the operation, the gas passes on-off, and the gasoline of which it has been deprived is measured in one of a dozen or so graduated retorts housed in the box on the rear of the truck. These gauge it more carefully than a cold drink dispenser poured out a slug of white in a period not so distant in the past.

Then, by consulting a table of logarithms and other engineering data, the operator can figure just how much gasoline there is to each 1,000 feet of gas, and payment is made according to this per cent.

Now, are you still hunters satisfied?

SAYS JUNK PILE IS BUSINESS BAROMETER

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Here is a prosperity item out of the junk pile:

Max Topper, king among Ohio junk dealers, says that the demands for wastage of all sorts is a forerunner of reviving business. He says that the demands for used machinery and scrap iron of all sorts has become more keen in recent weeks and that there is a rising market for it.

The greatest handicap is the scale of freight rates, which limits the area in which it is possible to do business. When depression appears there is no demand for junk, but good times make business good for all sorts of second-hand material.

He says that Columbus junk men are becoming more prosperous, and he trusts this barometer to tell him that business is better, no matter what financiers say.
