KLAN ENCHANTRESS SAYS FIVE SHOTS CRASH INTO HOUSE

BOND ISSUE FOR HOSPITAL MAY BE SUBMITTED TO VOTERS

That Will Be First Question Tackled by Commission After City Election.

The question of a $35,000 bond issue to cover the city's share of the cost of the proposed County-City hospital will be the first matter to be considered by the commission following the election of street and finance commissioners Saturday, Oct. 22. The decision to act on the bond issue was reached at the meeting of the commission yesterday afternoon. In the event that the proposed bond issue meets with the approval of the board, the matter will be submitted to the vote of the people.

The contract for the hospital was let some time ago to the Quisile & Andrews Construction company, but the work has been held up, due to the fact that the $30,000 appropriated for the purpose by the county is tied up in the Security State bank of Eastland. It is thought, however, that by the first of the year the county's portion will be available. Under the agreement with the county the city was to provide the necessary funds in excess of the $30,000 for the construction and equipment of the building. The city's share, including the cost of the ground and equipment is estimated at $35,000. The location selected for the new hospital is just off West Pine street.

The attitude of the candidates for the offices of street and finance commissioners, on the proposed bond issue is not known. So far, J. M. White is not opposed for the office of finance commissioner, but it is reported that another candidate will announce before the election. I. N. Roush is opposed for the office of street commissioner by Dr. C. O. Terrel, although the latter has not as yet filed an official application. The city commission yesterday discarded an unwise plan suggested to raise the necessary funds by short-term warrants, payable in February.

ARMY PROBES SHOOTING OF TWO SOLDIERS

By United Press.

FORT SILL, Okla., Oct. 12.—Military authorities today began an investigation into the death of Privates Roy Hughes and R. McCrutchan, said by Private John Brown to have been shot by him when they attempted to desert. According to Private Brown, Hughes and McCrutchan overpowered him Monday while he was acting as military guard over them, and forced him to accompany them on "French leave." That night the three camped twenty miles from the fort. In the dead of night, Brown said he retrieved his gun and commanded his two companions to start back to the fort. They refused, he asserted, and he shot them when they attacked him.

Late yesterday Brown rode into the fort on horseback, with the bodies of the two alleged deserters. His story is being carefully investigated by authorities. If found to be true, officers declared, it means a sergeant's stripe for him.

GULF EMPLOYEE DECAPITATED BY FLY WHEEL

Thomas R. Ford Falls Into Engine on Fincher Lease, Near Breckenridge.

Special to the Times

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 12.—Thomas R. Ford, roustabout for the Gulf Production company on the A. M. Fincher lease, was decapitated when he slipped and fell into the flywheel of the pumping engine at the No. 2 well yesterday afternoon. His head was torn from his body, smashed to bits, and his left arm torn off.

According to C. F. Reddick, member of the same gang, which was at work measuring the well preparatory to shooting, Ford came into the engine house to see why the engine was not running smoothly. Reddick called to the man that there was no trouble with the bearings, but Ford apparently did not hear because of the noise the machinery was making. He felt of the bearing on the crank side, took a step to his right to feel of the bearing on the clutch side, slipped and fell into the pit. Ford is survived by his widow and a 6-year-old daughter, who are in San Antonio. His parents, living in Bradford, Ind., also have been notified. He had been employed by the Gulf company for the last fifteen months.

SNYDER'S SLAM PUTS WINNING RUN ACROSS IN EIGHTH INNING

Douglas and Mays Again Hook Up in Classy 2-1 Battle, Filled With Brilliant Plays; Tomorrow's Clash Will Decide Series, if Giants Win.

For the first time since the series started, the New York Giants are leading. It took them six games to offset the two opening victories scored by the Yanks. And today they ran the count to four out of seven. If they win tomorrow they will have the necessary five out of nine called for in this year's play-off. If they lose, it will again be even up at four games each, and a ninth game will be necessary to pass out the title.

By United Press. POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 12.—Big Frank Snyder joined the society of the distinguished this afternoon when he batted the New York Giants to a 2 to 1 victory over the Yanks in the seventh game of the series.

In the seventh inning, 40,000 fans sitting under heavy clouds that threatened rain momentarily, clamored for a rally that would break the tie and give the game to the National league champs.

Snyder responded by smashing a double to center, which sent Rawlings over the plate with the run that gave the game and a 4 to 3 count in the series to the Giants.

Phil Douglas, the long mountaineer, came in for an equal share of the glory by pitching a brilliant game that completely subdued the heavy hitting Yanks. He had trouble getting away, however, and in the second inning the Yanks got to him for their only run. Pipp doubled and McNally scored him with a single.

The Yanks were then through for the afternoon.

Chance in Seventh. In the seventh inning the Yanks had a fine opportunity to score. With two down, Baker singled and went to third on another single by Schang. Mays, usually a good hitter, failed in the pinch on a feeble infield out.

The Giants scored their first run in the fourth inning when Young singled, stole second and scored on Meusel's hit.

The eighth game of the series tomorrow is expected to find Art Nehf, the Giant's star southpaw, and Waite Hoyt, Brooklyn youngster, opposing each other on the mound.

The score: YANKS.

COUNTY TO SUE BANKING BOARD FOR DEPOSITS

Lawyers' Opinion is That State Organization is Liable for Entire Amount.

Special to the Times.

EASTLAND, Oct. 12.—County Judge C. R. Starnes this morning announced that the county would soon file suit against the state banking commission, seeking to obtain the full amount of approximately three-quarters of a million which the county had on deposit when the Security Bank & Trust company closed its doors some weeks ago.

This step is taken on the advice of Bailey, Nickles & Bailey of Dallas and Cofer & Cofer, two of the state's most noted law firms and also is approved by local attorneys. In the opinion of these firms, the fact that on July 17, 1921, the commissioners' court withdrew the funds from the interest-bearing status makes the state banking board liable. The suit will be filed in the district court of Travis county, and is expected to be fought all the way to the supreme court.

MAN ON TELEPHONE TELLS NEWSPAPER "WE'LL GET SIMMONS NEXT;" BLOODHOUNDS FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO TRACK ASSAILANTS; KLANSMEN GUARD TYLER HOME.

By United Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 12.—Police and county officials, with bloodhounds, today were endeavoring to pick up the trail of persons who fired five shots at Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, head of the propagation department of the Ku Klux Klan, through her bedroom window last night. None of the shots took effect. Bloodhounds found the trail of the would-be assassin under Mrs. Tyler's window. They followed it to Howell Mill road, a distance of about a hundred yards from the window, and there lost it. All other efforts to pick up the trail were in vain. Shortly after the shooting, someone is said to have told a morning newspaper on the telephone: "I just wanted to say that we got Mrs. Tyler tonight, and will get Simmons tomorrow," the mysterious voice is quoted as saying. The man would not give his name.

The shots rang out, Mrs. Tyler told officers, as she stepped across the threshold of an adjoining room in which her daughter was lying ill. "Naturally I was badly frightened," the Klan official said. "However, I retained sufficient self-possession to immediately extinguish the lights in the house, and phone county police."

Klansmen have been guarding her home for several weeks, Mrs. Tyler declared. The guard was late last night, arriving shortly after the attempted assassination.

After balloting for more than nine hours, the jury returned its verdict of not guilty.

The most dramatic point in the case was reached last evening, when Marian, in her own defense, denied she had any part in the killing of the invalid.

"I did not plot this murder," she asserted. Her lip trembled and tears filled her eyes as she replied to question after question by Assistant State Prosecutor James Casady tending to show she had a guilty knowledge of the plot against Kaber.

"I, of course, heard what my mother said," she answered, "but I did not believe her."

As the nine men and three women balloted Miss McArdle sat in her cell at the county jail reading the Bible.

TODAY CONSIDERED THE DECISIVE GAME

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Today was one game nearer the end.

Players and fans alike were in the casual mood, waiting for the seventh game of the world's series.

Tired and worn from six days of hard work which has gotten them no place, the Giants and Yankees looked upon today's battle as the one that will decide it one way or the other.

New York considered it also the decisive game, and the crowd which turned out early promised to be the biggest of the series.

The Giants picked Phil Douglas to pitch today, Art Nehf tomorrow and Jess Barnes in the ninth game, if it is necessary.

Carl Mays was practically sure to try his underhand slants on the National league champions today, with Hoyt being held in readiness for tomorrow.

Crows were battling with the caps outside, trying to get up to the gate. Every unreserved ticket had been sold at 12:30 and the police threw lines around the park and permitted only ticket holders through. Inspector Callahan in charge of the police, estimated that 10,000 had been turned away. The big crowd gave the white-clad Giants a warm reception when they came on the field at 12:30. There were between 30,000 and 40,000 in the stands when the game started.

He is the son of a Presbyterian minister, who formerly had the pastorate of the Presbyterian church here. The Rev. Mr. Piercy is now living in Weatherford.

Bill, according to old residents, was known as "Clowny Bill" during his stay in Breckenridge. He was unusually adept at shooting cigarettes, according to the old-timers, but had not then displayed any major league ball playing talent.

ROTARY PREXY SPEAKS TO SCHOOL STUDENTS

The importance of an education and the advantages of trained men over their unschooled fellows was stressed this morning in a talk to high school students by E. J. Barnes, president of the Rotary club, who appeared as speaker on the Rotary Club school program. The students adjourned to the auditorium of the First Methodist church to hear talks from Barnes and Wilbur Chappell and a number of funny stories recounted by Raymond Teal.

In his talk on the importance of boys and girls attending school, Barnes cited a number of instances where boys who had not attended school regularly had applied for positions and were turned down in favor of others who had taken advantage of the opportunity offered them for an education.

PAINT ROCK COURT TERM PROMISES TO BE BUSY ONE

CENTRAL WINS FROM COOPER AT FOOTBALL

Both Grammar Schools Want Game With Young, They Say.

Central school's football team beat Cooper school yesterday afternoon, 25 to 6, in a well played and hard fought game at the Cooper grounds. Four touchdowns were made by the victors, while the losers were only successful in ruttin' the ball over once. However, the play was much more evenly matched than the score indicates. Teamwork at critical times gave the substantial gains which yielded the Central scores, but through most of the scrimmage it was a fifty-fifty affair.

Both Cooper and Central are anxious to form a grammar school football league or play games with grammar schools of the county, but so far, they have been unable to arrange any games. In particular, they say, they are anxious to line up against Young school and they challenge that institution to combat at almost any time on any grounds.

Teachers who have coached the grammar school teams, say the boys show unusual adeptness at the sport, and with the experience they are acquiring, they will figure in state championship matches in a year or two, when they move over into High school.

Yesterday's line-up:

Central	Cooper
Thompson	McBee
Davis	Right End	Beard
Dreinhofner	Right Tackle	Jess Bishop
Healer	Right Guard	Owens
Weir	Center	Wright
Cornelius	Left Guard	Murray
Fruit	Quarterback	Akers
Davis	Right Halfback	Ice
	Fullback
	Central Subs—Zarephonetis, Alworth, Dresser.

LIQUID WEDDING GIFT

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 12.—Liquid wedding gifts should be drunk and not placed with the silver and out glass on the bridal sideboard. J. B. Jackson of Willard, just married, was sorry today he had "let a quart linger," which was given him on his wedding day. Federal prohibition enforcement agents called at his home, found the bottle of corn whisky and, in spite of the tearful protests of his bride, took him to jail. He is now out on bond, charged with having liquor in his possession in violation of the Volstead law.

WORK ON DEPOT WILL BE UNDER WAY NEXT WEEK

Actual construction work on the new Texas & Pacific station is not expected to start before next week, according to Mr. Henger of the contracting firm of Henger & Chambers, who was in Ranger yesterday conferring with city officials. The construction foreman and part of the crew will arrive here Friday or Saturday, it was stated. The new site is now being staked off by engineers and everything put in readiness for the construction work. Under the agreement with the city, who donated part of the new site, the preliminary work started on Oct. 4 and included the removal of several old tracks from a portion of the new site.

"BIRD OF A BUN."

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 12.—"Avis Hardesty!" called the clerk in Municipal court. And Avis, true to her name, "fluttered" in. "She was singing and waving her arms on the street as if she were going to fly," testified the policeman who made the arrest. "I'll say she had a 'bird' of a bun on." "Of course I was singing," admitted Avis: "or course I was waving my arms like a bird. I'm a silver-throated thrush." "Hm—never mind—ten dollars' fine," said the judge, and Avis was taken back to her "cage."

PICKLED THAT SLEUTH.

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 12.—Sam Sickles and his pickles are heartily in favor of the Stanley amendment to the Willis-Campbell anti-beer bill. Sam believes prohibition officers should be compelled to have a warrant before they are permitted to search for "hootch." William Tucker, of Holland, near here, contracted to have Sickles "put up" six barrels of dill pickles. The eagle eye of a prohibition officer spied Sickles hauling the six barrels. The bungs were removed and the officer took a whiff of dill brine. Sickles was allowed to proceed.

Mrs. Rose M. Brown Gained 20 Pounds In Four Weeks Time

Declares It's Simply Astonishing to See the Wonderful Benefits She Has Derived From Tanlac—Says Terrible Headaches Have Disappeared.

MRS. ROSE M. BROWN.

"It sounds unreasonable, but I have actually gained twenty pounds in less than a month's time by taking Tanlac, and the wonderful benefit I have derived from the use of this medicine is simply astonishing," said Mrs. Rose M. Brown, 111 Third street, Manchester, N. H.

"Why, I am so happy to be relieved of my troubles I can really never praise this medicine enough. Up to the time I began taking Tanlac, I suffered for something over two years with a very bad form of stomach trouble.

"My appetite was so poor I could scarcely eat a thing. My stomach would be so badly bloated with gas sometimes I was almost afraid to go to bed for fear I would actually smother. I felt tired and worn out most of the time and became terribly discouraged over my condition. I often had such violent headaches I was unable to be out of bed for two or three days at a stretch.

"Four bottles of Tanlac completely restored my health and anyone can see at a glance the wonderful change that has taken place in my condition. I have a splendid appetite now and the stomach trouble has entirely disappeared. I can eat just anything I want without ever feeling a sign of indigestion. The best of all, I am never bothered any more with headache and this was the greatest relief of all. I want to tell everybody what this medicine has done for me." Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Philadelphia Drug store.—Advertisement.

LUNATIC LOGIC.

At last that has happened which we always expected.

Some things ought to occur, in the nature of the case. The fact that they do not should not prejudice us. It is an argument of impatience. If we wait long enough they will come along. They have to.

For instance, you take a bully, an offensive, thrusting, badgering sort of a bouncer, who terrorizes his wife, browbeats his stenographer, bulldozes his customers and hectors his competitors; as sure as gun's iron, sooner or later he will get his punishment.

So also the pigeon-headed girl, the smart aleck boy, the back-biting woman, the man who cheats, also all liars, fakers and humbugs generally, it is only a question of time till, as we say in our crude American language, they will get theirs.

The butcher may let them run around quite a time, but when he gets ready he chops them down.

Now, there is one thing which simply had to happen, that is, in the extremely hot weather of the past Summer somebody had to take his or her clothes off and run around naked. It was the logical thing. And you can't beat logic.

So one day, in Paris, France, along about the first of August, sure enough, a gentleman shucked clean down to the epidermis. He didn't feel he needed clothes, and he did not care for them as camouflage.

Hence he got all ready for a bath—and went out in the street.

He was arrested. As anybody who follows sheer reason as to garments will be arrested.

He was haled before the magistrate.

It seemed a sure thing that he was a lunatic. Nobody cared to dispute the charge. And the judge was about to commit him to the asylum when the prisoner held up his hand and asked permission to speak.

His request was granted, though superfluous.

Whereupon he delivered himself of these outrageous, vile, revolutionary, and dangerous words, because they were perfectly true and sensible, and what can be more intolerable than that?

"I am not insane because I am nude," he said. "You people are insane for wearing high starched collars, heavy woolen suits of clothing, tight shoes and heavy felt hats, during this torrid heat, when the thermometer is around a hundred and you can fry an egg on the court house steps."

Of course, no attention was paid to such incoherent mouthings and the man was led away to his cell.

Once more civilization was saved.—New York American.

Americans are blamed for making Paris naughty. Nonsense. Paris was naughty when most Americans worked six days a week and prayed on Sunday, which was a long time ago.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

In estimating the number of unemployed in the United States the statisticians have failed to include the national house of representatives.—Springfield Republican.

QUACK MEDICINE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT.

If labor were merely horse-power and industry as simple as the fall of water at Niagara, there might be something in the suggestion of splitting jobs among workmen which has been suggested at President Harding's conference as a remedy for unemployment. Since labor involves the adjustment of individual abilities to complex processes and also a highly complicated problem in personal relations, the scheme can be applied only to those operations in which workmanship is at a discount.

At a time when profits are low at best it would be a most unusual employer who could decide to break the routine of his shop or office by hiring two men at half-time to replace one full-time employee, especially when it is remembered that the man who has been retained in a slack period is almost certainly a valued and essential factor in the organization. Left to himself, no efficient executive would consider the proposition twice. Should it be adopted from philanthropic motives it would automatically raise the cost of production. From the standpoint of the wage-earner who has kept his place it is open to more violent objections. He is frankly asked to divide his income with his neighbors. How many corporations now realizing a profit are willing to share their profits with corporations running at a loss?—New York World.

WHAT COLOR BLINDNESS IS.

It is a rather common belief that the man who fails to pass the test for color blindness during an examination for employment on a railroad is one who mistakes red for green, or green for red, but the trouble is that he cannot distinguish any difference between them. Thus, while a red postage stamp lying on a green tablecloth would be perfectly obvious from a considerable distance to a person with normal eyesight, owing to the contrast in color, it would be barely visible to the color blind.

In the same way a color blind person will have much more difficulty than a normal sighted person in picking ripe cherries, berries and other fruit, because they appear the same color as the background of green leaves.

There are, of course, various degrees of color blindness, and while the majority of persons can recognize six or seven hues in a rainbow, others can see only five or less. Persons who can see but two distinct colors are dangerously color blind. A good test of your eyesight is to endeavor to match wools.—Denver Post.

WHY THE WOODEN SHIPS WERE NOT SOLD.

It is several weeks since the United States shipping board joyfully announced that it had received a bid of $2,100 for each vessel of the wooden fleet. These are the ships Chairman Lasker had proclaimed were worthless and he was going to sell, give away or take out to sea and sink. He has not done any of these things, least of all accept the offer of the low bidder who was to pay a price for the entire wooden fleet less than the cost of building a single ship.

Instead, the shipping board, through its general counsel, in a "formal statement," presents a number of reasons why it did not put through the sale as it planned. All together, they make a more or less plausible explanation. Among them are irregularities in the bid, doubt as to the financial ability of the Ship Construction and Trading company to carry through the transaction, the controversy over equipment and spare parts, the later receipt of higher bids, and so on and so on. There is not much to choose between the various pretexts, since a pretext for abandoning the sale was necessary.

What the shipping board, after taking so great pains, fails to give is the real reason for not closing the deal. The public would not stand for it. The sale of the wooden fleet at $2,100 for each ship was no longer possible from the moment the public understood what Chairman Lasker was proposing to do.—New York World.

RICH YUKON MAN TURNS TRAMP TO FIND GIRL HE RESCUED FROM FROZEN SNOWS ONLY TO LOSE HER

By JACK BRISTOL, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 12.—Some where on the road, either tramping along the dusty highway or rolling with a freight train and headed east, is a tramp who in reality is not a tramp and who has taken advantage of the present condition of unemployment and the fact that there are picturesque romances which started three years ago in Alaska.

His name is Jack Searles, of Yukon, his home is on a big timber claim in Alaska, and he is seeking a girl whose name and address are alike unknown to him. He is not even sure she is in the United States, but he is "taking a chance."

Searles told one of the most remarkable stories ever offered while he was eating the meal he had earned for chopping some firewood at a local residence.

"I'm no tramp," he said. "I'm not even out of a job. My home is in Alaska. I own enough timber to build a town nearly as big as this. I am trying to find a girl I saw once. And when I learned of the big number of men who are out of work and who are tramping it in the states the idea came to me that by knocking around myself, by posing as a tramp and chopping wood at people's houses, or doing anything else that came along, I might find her. No use trying to get anybody else to find her, because I have no picture, don't know her name or her address, but I'll know her if I ever see her again.

"Almost seven years ago I was going to marry a girl. The war came, and I enlisted in a Canadian regiment. I was overseas through the whole war, and when I came home this girl, who had promised so much, was married and had two children. My faith in girls went out like the ice on the Yukon. I went up to my claim and was living alone. Then, three years ago this winter, I found another girl.

"I was coming down from White Horse, and it was snowing hard. Had eight dogs and a load of flour, when, right square in the trail, I found this girl, unconscious and partly frozen. I unloaded two sacks of flour and piled her on the sled and mushed on in haste for my shack on Absorka creek.

"When we got there I took the girl in the house. Her left arm and leg were badly frost-bitten, so I went to work on her to bring her out of it. All you can do when they get nipped like that is pack them in snow, so I took most of her clothing off, laid her on my bunk and packed snow around her. I rubbed snow on her side and wherever she was frost-bitten until I could see her coming out of it. She finally came to, but was delirious. I fixed her some grub and started out for Yukon to get a doctor. It was fifty-four miles, and the snow was light. Traveling was hard.

"I was gone for two days. When I got back with the doctor my shack was cleaned up like I had never seen it cleaned—dishes all washed, floor swept and everything very tidy—but the girl was gone. All she left me was this"—and he produced a small linen handkerchief from an inner pocket.

The suggestion that she might have taken a husband in these three years was waved lightly aside by Searles. That she might be living in a hotel or apartment house where his clever scheme for discovering her would fail because of the inaccessibility of these places to even the most romantic hobo seemed to concern him not a whit.

"I'm going to knock at some door

Searles is about 26 years old, tall and broad shouldered, with the complexion peculiar to men who have lived in the cold regions just below the Circle in the North. PERSHING WILL DECORATE BRITISH "UNKNOWN" OCT. 17

By United Press
 LONDON, Oct. 12.—General Pershing will go to London and decorate with the Congressional medal of honor the grave of Britain's unknown warrior, on Monday, Oct. 17, it was announced today.
 British explanation of the incident which nearly resulted in the abandonment of the American commander-in-chief's visit, was that the American embassy in London failed to make clear the connection between Pershing's trip to England and the conferring of the medal of honor by congress.

IRISH LEADERS LAY PLANS FOR CONSCRIPTION

Would Give Large Army if Present Conference Fails to Bring Peace.

By ED L. KEEN, United Press Staff Correspondent.
 LONDON, Oct. 12.—Orders to the commanders of the Irish republic army and the crown forces in Ireland to enforce immediately rigid observation of the truce, were sent today by the Sinn Fein peace delegation and the British cabinet.

This step was the first result of the Downing street conference. At the same time, Sinn Fein plans to conscript thousands of troops in Ireland in the event of a renewal of hostilities were disclosed by the British government. Members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, according to British intelligence reports, could be conscripted in a body.

Sinn Fein officials minimized the importance of this discovery, pointing out that most of the members of the Hibernians already had joined the Sinn Fein.

Both delegations were today preparing papers for the real discussions, which begin tomorrow. There was no session today.

TENT WILL BE HEATED FOR GARRISON MEETING

A special choir will be organized this afternoon.

Services will also be held each afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The tent will be heated and made comfortable for the congregation. All are invited to attend.

COMMITTEES PLAN CONSOLIDATION OF TWO CIVIC BODIES

No definite action was taken on the amalgamation of the Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants' association last night at the joint meeting of the board of directors of both organizations. Committees, however, were appointed from each organization to work out plans and details of the proposed consolidation and present them at a special meeting called tonight at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The Chamber of Commerce committee, composed of H. C. Cole, Raymond Teal and R. B. Waggoman, will meet first and work out a proposition to be submitted to a committee appointed by President Humes of the Retail Merchants' association.
