TODD GETS DEATH PENALTY FOR M'NEAL MURDER

CONVICTED BOY CRIES OPENLY OVER VERDICT

Jury Was Out Eighteen Hours; No Demonstration in Court Room.

WEATHERFORD, Nov. 11.—Wayne Todd was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to death by a jury in district court here today, for the murder of James McNeal, Fort Worth service car driver.

The verdict was brought in at 11:40 today. The jury went out at 5:40 yesterday afternoon.

J. T. Owens, foreman of the grand jury, read the verdict. Todd cried openly when the verdict was read and buried his face in his hands.

The defense filed a formal motion of appeal, to be amended later. Todd's father turned as the foreman's words reached his ears, and grasped his son's hands.

There was no demonstration of any kind in the court room. No members of McNeal's family were in the court room at the time.

NEW VARIETY STORE TO OPEN ON SATURDAY

Connell's Variety store, carrying a full line of toys, household goods, hardware, notions and dry goods specialties will be opened Saturday at 121 North Rusk street by J. F. Connell, former Ranger postmaster. Five and ten-cent merchandise will be largely featured in the new establishment, although other lines will be carried. Connell, for a number of years, conducted a similar establishment in Dallas and is experienced in the variety line.

The stock, consisting of toys of all kinds, kitchen utensils, china and glassware, notions and dry goods specialties and other variety lines, is all new and received here just a few days ago. It is now being put in readiness for the opening Saturday. Special souvenirs will be given away to children visiting the store on that date.

DALLAS GAS STATIONS WILL CLOSE ON SUNDAY

DALLAS, Nov. 11.—Gasoline filling stations and retail automobile stores in Dallas will close all day on Sundays under an agreement reached at a recent meeting of about thirty-five representatives of filling stations and larger oil companies. Uniform closing hours is another goal to be sought by a committee appointed at the meeting. Several dealers declared they were losing money by remaining open late and on Sundays.

WEST TEXAS EXHIBIT GOES TO HOUSTON FAIR

STAMFORD, Texas, Nov. 11.—The all-West Texas agricultural exhibit which was awarded first prize at the Texas Cotton Palace in the international contest with South and Central Texas is now on exhibition at the Houston fair and exposition.

The exhibit is in charge of B. M. Whitaker, exhibit manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

MUST HAVE CHAPERONE.

AUSTIN, Nov. 11.—The Pan-Hellenic council of the University of Texas has ruled that no university sorority girl shall be allowed to eat at a fraternity house without a chaperone being present who has been approved by the dean of women of the university. It has been the custom at the university for fraternity men to take girls to the houses for dinner.

HER BOY!

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—More than 3,000 mothers throughout the country today were saying: "It may be my boy." War department records show that 3,089 American soldiers of the world war still are reported missing.

The unknown soldier buried here today is one of this number.

PROGRAM TODAY PAYS HONOR TO ARMISTICE DAY

H. S. Cole Principal Speaker at Exercises in First Baptist Church.

It was a reverent audience that gathered at the Baptist church this morning to spend an hour honoring the memory of those who had served through the world war, and of those whose lives had paid the supreme sacrifice. There were those in the audience whose loved ones had trod "The Long, Long Trail," and there were tears, just tribute to those loved ones. Every man and woman present had gone through the crucible of war and the singers and speakers had an audience that responded to their every word and action.

E. J. Barnes presided and made a short opening talk of Armistice day, stating that while some of our ideals of disarmament may not have been realized, still that it is our duty as loyal citizens to be satisfied with what the union wants.

The opening song was "Holy, Holy, Holy," followed by the invocation, very touchingly offered by Dr. Tibbels. The songs "America" and "There's a Long, Long Trail" were sung by the audience, led by Mrs. R. C. McCoy. Mrs. S. D. Terrell read a very beautiful reading, "Young Fellow—My Lad," a reading of the sentiments of which were at the time of the war, part and parcel of most every father's heart and brain. Mrs. R. C. McCoy sang "Love's Old Sweet Dream" and sang it with all the wonderful sweetness of her golden voice—giving her hearers a touch of opera singing.

Major Cole was the speaker, and in his speech he stated that the people of the world and the people of America are today celebrating the anniversary of a day which closed the greatest military struggle of modern or ancient times. Three years ago, millions of soldiers, fighting on any of the many fronts, ceased their feverish activities and commenced to turn their thoughts to what was to follow. Likewise, millions of women and children felt an infinite weight of dread lifted from their hearts and saw before them the beautiful colors of a new dawn, where life divested of its daily dread assumed in their minds the aspects of its former peace and quiet deepened and illumined by an experience that left no heart the same. Thousands of gatherings just like this one are held all over the land in celebration of this great event in recent history.

Marking a Triumph? The speaker further stated that each one of us is enjoined to think of Armistice day as a culminating triumph, marking a definite step of the progress in human history.

But is it really so, does it mark a day wherein justice and fair play, the eternal principles of democracy and brotherhood shall prevail? Or does it not rather mark the end of a very bloody, disagreeable, costly period, in which no great problem reached a

MAIL GUARDS AT DALLAS

DALLAS, Nov. 11.—Twenty-five United States marines arrived here today from New Orleans to assist in guarding the mails. They will protect money shipments at the local postoffice and substations and at the federal reserve bank. In addition, every train carrying valuable mail out of Dallas will be guarded by marine detachments, their strength to be based on the value of the mail.

NATION'S GREAT JOIN IN HONORS TO AMERICA'S UNKNOWN SOLDIER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Laid to rest with all the honors a grateful nation could offer, the body of the unknown soldier was buried today among the gallant dead in Arlington cemetery.

The high officers of the army and navy walked beside his coffin. None but the hands of his gallant comrades of the great war laid hands upon it. President Harding walked behind his bier to do him honor. Former President Wilson made his first public appearance in months. General Pershing turned aside an opportunity to ride and trudged beside the body to its last resting place.

Representatives of foreign governments laid the highest military decorations on his casket and with soil from France, where he fell, he was buried in his own country.

Minute guns at Fort Meyer boomed their tribute as the funeral procession was passing from the capitol to the great marble amphitheatre at Arlington cemetery, where the exercises were held, opening with "The Star-Spangled Banner," rendered by a marine band.

Long before the rising sun broke through low banks of clouds long columns of soldiers began making their way to the capitol plaza, there to receive into their keeping the American unknown soldier and to accompany him to his last resting place.

Just as the first of the sun's beams touched the statue of liberty surrounding the capitol dome, beneath which lay the unknown soldier and stood his unceasing guard, sharp commands began to ring about the capitol as portions of the military escort began to take their places.

Pennsylvania avenue, which today was to see a new tribute to the nation's dead, was roped off and all traffic stopped, as when an inaugural parade passes over its broad way. Before the sun had risen spectators began to line the avenue. There was a stir at the White House and at 7:30 President Harding left for the capitol to take his place in the funeral procession as the chief mourner.

As the east door of the rotunda swung open, there entered the first rays of the golden sun, shining on the bronze figure sent by the president of China to mark the hero's last resting place. The body bearers lifted the coffin and then put it back. It was a test. The mountains of flowers were stacked high against the wall. Trucks were waiting to convey them to Arlington ahead of the procession by another route.

As the band played "Nearer My God to Thee," the coffin was lifted on the shoulders of the body bearers and taken through the east door to the caisson a few minutes before 8 o'clock.

Flags Droop. As the flower strewn casket was borne down the steps of the capitol, soldiers on the stairs and civilians assembled in the plaza stood at attention. Flags of the color bearers were drooped, while those on the capitol were at half-mast. As the soldiers moved to their places, members of the house and the supreme court also moved out to take their places in the line.

President Harding, who had stood at the head of the line talking to Chief Justice Taft and others, stepped forward and took his place by General Pershing as a ruffle of drums gave the signal for the line to move. It seemed more like the celebration of a great victory than the funeral of a hero.

'INCURABLE' TOOLS IN HOLE SEND HISTORIC WELL INTO OBLIVION

Nannie Walker No. 1, the historic Tee & Pee well on the northern edge of the city, which lost the race for discovery honors to the McCleskey well by a hair's breadth and which is credited with producing the first gas in the Ranger territory, is to be plugged. Casing is now being pulled; the derrick will soon be razed and the location of the once famous well which played its part in turning Ranger from a village to a thriving city overnight will be forgotten except in the mind of old-time residents who four years ago based their hopes and expectations on its progress and saw them realized when gas was struck and the well later became a producer despite the handicap of a string of tools lost in the hole.

This handicap prevented Nannie Walker No. 1 from producing the first oil and has resulted in its abandonment. For the last two years the company has attempted to remove the tools without success and being unable to clean out the hole or to successfully pump it, gave orders for casing to be pulled. The first gas in the field was struck in the well in 1918 and although the hole was always partially closed by the string of tools, it blew in as an oil well shortly after the McCleskey discovery well was brought in. During the year it reached a maximum production of 500 barrels of oil and some 3,000,000 feet of gas.

TO EXHIBIT TRAIN OF FINE CATTLE IN MEXICO

HOUSTON, Nov. 11.—A train load of fine Texas cattle will be concentrated at Houston for shipment to Mexico where the stock will be exhibited, according to J. E. Boog-Scott, chairman of the state livestock sanitary commission. The breeds will include shorthorns, Hereford, red Polled, Jersey and Holsteins. There will be a carload of each breed. The principal purpose of the trip, Mr. Boog-Scott said, was to show Mexico what livestock is available in Texas.

SALVATION ARMY CAN PLACE SEVERAL WOMEN IN HOUSEWORK JOBS

The Salvation Army here has had calls for three or four white women for general housework in Ranger homes and is in a position to place desirable applicants at once. Mrs. Mullins of the local corps stated this morning. The positions all pay good wages, Mrs. Mullins said, and include board and room. Some of the families expressed a preference for middle-aged women. Others placed no age limit on the applicants.

MAN WHO SHAVED LINCOLN ON INAUGURAL DAY DIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—James Hughes, negro, who says he shaved President Lincoln on the morning of his first inaugural, is dead here. Hughes was born in slavery at Warrenton, Va., and shortly before Lincoln's inauguration escaped. He came to Washington and was employed as a barber at the Metropolitan hotel, then a famous hostelry.

MILK AND ICE FUND

The Free Milk and Ice fund was increased $1 this morning by a donation from the Up-to-Date Shoe shop at 107 Main street.

A. W. O. L.

J. Williams, scarlet fever patient under quarantine here, broke loose from his attendant early this morning in his delirium and dashed over town seeking his family, who are said to reside in Illinois.

The patient was later captured by Sanitary Inspector Wade Swift and persuaded to return to his quarters without resistance. So far as could be determined, the patient was none the worse for his outing. Following his escape from quarantine the police were immediately notified by friends of the sick man that he had seized his clothes and sprinted away in the direction of town. When found by Inspector Swift, he is said to have been riding in a service car, fully clothed but apparently still delirious.

CANNON BOOM PUNCTURES CELEBRATION

Ranger Turns Out En Masse for Rodeo Here and Football at Cisco.

A big rodeo with the cream of local talent, world champions and near champions participating, and a decisive football game between the Ranger and Cisco teams with the oil field championship at stake, will provide Armistice day entertainment for Rangerites. Hundreds, including large out-of-town delegations are expected to turn out for the rodeo starting here this afternoon at 2:30, immediately following a big street parade. A large number of local people are expected to attend the football game at Cisco and cheer the local boys to victory.

Old-Time Guns.

Echoes of the warring guns that were silenced in the World war three years ago today, will be reawakened this afternoon at Nitro park when the rodeo will be opened by thirty salvos fired from two field pieces that have been secured from the Prairie Oil & Gas company. The guns apparently witnessed the northern retreat from Bull Run and are old-timers proper but they have held up well and throw a wicked "boom." With black powder charges and copies of the Times for wadding they are expected to tell the world that the Ranger rodeo has opened. The pieces have been held in readiness by the Prairie company to puncture tanks in case of fire and will be operated by their regular gun crews.

Parade at 2 O'clock.

The rodeo parade started promptly at 2 o'clock from the fire station and was participated in by the cow boys and girls, bulldozers, trick riders and ropers, the fire department and the decorated guns. After marching over the downtown streets the parade proceeded to Nitro park and the rodeo started soon thereafter. Contestants entered the various events at the grounds and a large number were on hand to contest for the array of prizes offered by the Ranger merchants. All proceeds from the rodeo is to be used by the committee in providing a Thanksgiving dinner for the Ranger poor.

LIVESTOCK JUDGING TEAM PICKED AT A. & M.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 11.—Six senior animal husbandry students of the A. & M. College of Texas have been selected by Professor W. L. Stangel to compose the team that will represent the college in the students' livestock judging contest which will be held in connection with the International Exposition and Livestock show at Chicago Nov. 25. They are: H. L. Atkins, Bandera; V. Bennett, Cuero; J. T. Carlisle, Houston; F. Hale, Tulia; J. H. Jones, Windthorst, and W. L. Knapp, Calvert.

J. BARLEYCORN SWATTED HARD IN THURBER RAID

Pro Agents Pour Thousands of Gallons Onto Ground; Nine Arrests.

Over a score of houses in the Italian settlement at Thurber were visited and thousands of gallons of grape wine, grape mash and beer destroyed in a raid by federal and county officers starting Wednesday afternoon and continuing through Thursday morning. Nine men were arrested and carried to Abilene by Prohibition Agents T. A. Bendy and Arch Tyler, Sheriff Wright of Erath county, County Attorney Russell and a constable. Several score of old women and girls found in possession of quantities of intoxicants, ranging in quantity from fifty to 400 gallons, were warned of the consequences awaiting future violations of the law.

No resistance was offered by the Italians and the raid was conducted quietly throughout, Bendy said. The liquors destroyed by the officers included 800 gallons of bottled beer; 1,000 gallons of grape wine in barrels and 2,200 gallons of grape mash. No whisky or stills were uncovered in the raid, Bendy said, although some evidence was found of the manufacture of grappa from raisins. Out of twenty-one houses raided, liquor was found in all but one, it is stated.

The prohibition agent was well pleased with the co-operation extended him by the Erath county officers.

ULSTER WON'T AGREE TO IRISH PEACE TERMS

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Ulster cabinet today rejected the government's plans for the settlement of the Irish question, on the ground that it contains fundamental principles which under existing conditions were impossible of attainment. The Ulster ministry, however, put forward counter proposals.

A communique issued by the Northern Irish cabinet suggested that the government should consider the counter proposal before the meeting of the British Ulster cabinets.

BABY BRIDES MUST GO TO SCHOOL IN WISCONSIN

SUPERIOR, Wis., Nov. 11.—There'll soon be no excuse for a Wisconsin husband to have his pancakes burned or to have his socks untrimmed for lack of knowledge of such domestic "problems" on the part of his wife. The state of Wisconsin is going to be sure that all wives are educated properly.

Under the new state educational code girls and boys must attend school until they are 18 years old. Marrying before that age is reached does not constitute a reason for the discontinuing of one's education. And the law is being enforced.

Orders have been issued to truant officers to "bring in" any and all delinquents. While thus far this year no cases of such truancy have been reported, officers ever are on the alert, officials state.

The school system, under the law, provides for both day and evening classes, which include vocational training in addition to the regular curriculum. And, whether the girl or boy be married at a tender age or not, he or she must attend school until the specified age is attained. "Baby brides and husbands must attend one or another of these schools," declared the head of the system recently when discussing the matter. "We offer training especially fitted for them, including cooking, sewing and other household arts for the girls, and various trades for the boys."

SUBPOENAS ISSUED FOR TWO LEADERS

Order Said to Have Been Issued at Closed Inquiry Which Followed.

Orders that no more secret meetings of the Law and Order league could be held in Ranger were said to have been issued Wednesday by Sheriff Sam Nolley following a conference between the officer and Assistant County Attorney Hazel on one hand and H. E. Clewell and Rev. A. N. Stubblebine on the other. All parties to the conference declare that the proceedings were secret and refuse to disclose what transpired. Nolley declared Thursday that an inquiry had been held but that it was secret. Rev. A. N. Stubblebine and Secretary H. E. Clewell of the law and order committee, declared today that there was nothing to be given out from the meeting, when they were called to verify reports that the officer had issued "warnings" to the league.

Conference Wednesday. The conference between the league leaders and the county officials took place after Nolley and Hazel appeared in Ranger with subpoenas for Dr. Stubblebine and Clewell, summoning them before a court of inquiry, supposedly to be called as the result of charges made at a recent meeting of the league. The court of inquiry was not held, however. Instead, after the subpoenas summoning the league leaders instanter, had been served by Deputy Sheriff John Barnes, the four went into conference.

It is understood on good authority that whatever warnings against secret meetings that were issued by the sheriff, will be ignored, as the sheriff was unable to quote any opinions from the attorney general on the subject or any law prohibiting meetings of such character.

CROWD BREAKS INTO CHEERS AS WILSON PASSES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—A thunderous ovation from tens of thousands of spectators greeted Woodrow Wilson, America's war president, as he rode along historic Pennsylvania avenue today behind the body of the unknown American soldier. The reverent silence that marked the slow processional of the flag-draped casket gave way to a tremendous cheering as the Wilson carriage passed by.

Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, arrived at the capitol ten minutes late. Their carriage was scheduled to follow close behind the caisson, but Wilson waved aside the offer to put him in the designated place. "Anywhere will do," he said. The Wilsons dropped in at the very end of the procession, behind a section of world war veterans, wearing mourning bands on their uniform sleeves. But, as the Victoria rolled slowly by, near the last part of the funeral parade, the concourse of men, women and children broke forth in a thunderous cheering. It seemed a paradox in a mournful ceremony.

TEXAS OBSERVES DAY

DALLAS, Nov. 11.—All Texas observed Armistice day with ceremonies, including parades and patriotic meetings, and at 11 o'clock observed two minutes of silence in tribute to the unknown dead. Governor Neff spent the day at Lockhart, where he delivered a touching address upon America's unknown hero. He will address a patriotic meeting at Weimar tonight. Colonel Alvin M. Owsley of Denton, Americanization officer of the American legion, delivered the principal address at a patriotic meeting in Dallas.

Nation's Great Pay Tribute to Unknown

the gleam of bright metal showed on the breasts of the khaki-clad legion trooping behind him. By a general order, every soldier wore the medals that had been conferred upon him by a grateful people. There were no foreign decorations to be seen.

Riding ahead on a coal-black charger, Brigadier General Bandholtz, commanding the Washington district, led the greatest funeral procession Americans have ever witnessed. Behind him rode his staff.

Then, while the crowds on the sidewalks gasped with admiration, picked groups of artillery pranced past, every horse in the long line perfectly matched, and dappled gray. Then a squadron of coal black horses, then brown, each with a white blaze on face.

Hats Snatched Off.

Then, so suddenly and silently that the crowd was scarcely prepared for it—the caisson and the body of the unknown soldier. A hasty snatching off of hats, and a touching of breasts.

There was scarcely time to take in the details, Sergeant Woodfill, Sergeant Radza, Chief of Torpedo Men Delaney, and the famous admirals and generals who walked beside the coffin, for there beneath that American flag lay the hallowed coffin, to which all the nation was today doing honor.

Simple carnations of pure white and deep red rosebuds covered the coffin. Drawn by six coal-black chargers the caisson passed. There were sudden tears in the eyes of most of those in the watching throng on the sidewalk.

There was not time to feel all the sentiments one would have liked to feel. The sudden, awe-inspiring nearness of that unknown "buddy" was a little too much.

Then, striding behind the caisson, the president, with General Pershing at his side, the admirals and aides strung out in a line behind President Harding, walked, with thoughtful faces and slightly bowed heads.

Who's Who in Line.

Came Chief Justice Taft, walking briskly, Vice President Coolidge at his side, then the supreme court and cabinet, and distinguished governors of a dozen states, until it seemed that each succeeding file could hold no more famous Americans of today. The United States senate, in a column of eight abreast, and the house of representatives and generals and distinguished men sandwiched in between, until there was no telling who was who.

All this time the only sound was that of marching footsteps. No words came from the crowds on the sidewalks. They watched in silence as the whole American government passed before their eyes.

Honor Men, Too.

Stringing along behind the house of representatives, however, came a body of men for whom the crowd, despite the solemnity of the occasion, could not possibly restrain a cheer—the wearers of the congressional medal of honor. Behind the honor men came representatives of those who served in the world war, three from each state, with medals almost as numerous.

Slowly, near the last of the most distinguished line, came the carriage of former President Wilson. Then with cymbals crashing and drums roaring, a marine band swung down the avenue, breaking into "Onward, Christian Soldiers," which the crowd took up and sang.

It was 9:15 when the procession reached the White House. Here President Harding turned out of his place in line and went to the front of the White House grounds to review the remainder of the procession as it passed on its way to Arlington. The President later took a motor car to the cemetery, reaching there ahead of the procession.

Salutes Wilson.

Came a moment's delay and he stepped into the street and shook hands with the medal of honor men. When ex-President Wilson passed, President Harding saluted him by taking off his hat and Mr. Wilson replied in the same manner. The reverent silence all along the line had only been broken by hand-clapping and some cheers as the former President went by. After passing the White House, Wilson's carriage turned out and took him to his home. It was his first public appearance since the inauguration, March 4 last. Comments were heard in the crowd that the former President, who was thought to be a very sick man, looked better than many folks expected.

President Harding's address at the grave was a tribute in the name of the American people to the men who sleep beneath the flag. As he spoke, the sun broke through the haze and sparkled as though it would also lay its life-giving hand in comfort upon the humble, faithful servant at rest. There was unbroken silence while the President was speaking.

Recites Lord's Prayer.

There was a dramatic moment as Mr. Harding spoke of plans touching on the arms conference, expressing the hope that it would be the beginning of a lasting peace between civilized nations and ending with a recital of the Lord's prayer, in which thousands joined, their strong, earnest tones rolling up the pledge to the sunlit heavens above. At the conclusion of the prayer, a quartet of singers from the Metropolitan Opera company at New York sang "The Supreme Sacrifice."

MACHINES WILL PLAY BIG PART IN FUTURE WAR

Struggles Will Revert Back to 500 B. C., Says Sir Ian Hamilton.

By EARLE C. REEVES, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A new form of warfare that shall revert to the days of 500 years B. C. and be a return to the individualism of the heroic warfare of supermen mounted on elephants and racing in chariots is the vision of the future read by General Sir Ian Hamilton.

Concurrent with the development of the post-war movement for the reduction of armaments and the struggle for development of international methods of avoiding war there has been a veritable epidemic of "official" forecasts regarding the wars of the future. Generals and admirals have drawn the lessons of the last war and projected from them pictures of the war of the future, generally in the form of books of strategy and in memoirs.

None has clothed his thesis more graphically in the terms of prophecy than the former Gallipoli commander, in his new book, "The Soul and Body of an Army."

"We must fix our minds upon the thought that just as men seemed to be on the very point of obliterating the Man—up he got; seized hold of an airplane in one hand and a tank in the other, plucked individualism out of the mud and set it once more upon its feet in the open field, where numbers and blind obedience are going to have less and less of an inning against science and efficiency.

Revive Old Battles.

"Outwardly the battle of the future will resemble battles which took place before the Birth of Christ rather than those fields of sinister desolation and solitude where we have suffered. The areas of conflict, the use of tanks and motors as the pivot of the forces where formerly elephants and war chariots maneuvered will have more affinity to 500 B. C. than to A. D. 1917.

"Trench warfare is already dead. The tank and the airplane are inaugurating an era of economic strategy which was demanded, indeed, by the situation during the last war, but was demanded, alas, in vain! "In the next war machines will no longer be denied, and wide encircling movements, followed by distant battles fought between comparatively small forces, will be the order of the world to come. No longer will the British fleet sit like a hooded falcon upon Britannia's wrist. The old days will be revived, and the coast line of the enemy, wherever it may be—Black Sea, Yellow Sea, or Red Sea—will be our frontier."

Miss Gladys Unger, an English playwright, who has married her Persian collaborator, Kai Ardashir, wrote her first play when she was seven years of age, and in late years she has seen more than twenty of her plays produced on the London stage.

LOTTERIES GET BIG PLAY FROM MEXICAN POOR

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11.—Men who are growing rich through the operation of Mexico's numerous small lotteries present strong opposition to a proposal that all lotteries be suppressed, with the exception of the National lottery. As there is a small lottery in almost every state, groups in opposition to the plan are active in all parts of Mexico, and doubt is expressed that the project can be carried out with success.

The idea was advanced by the directors of the National lottery, who think that one lottery would be managed with greater efficiency and honesty than a number of struggling little lotteries and that a large sum would be available for public service, this being the only excuse for the existence of lotteries.

Much of the profit of small state lotteries is eaten up by the cost of administration, it was pointed out.

There has been question also of the honesty of some of the lotteries. It is asserted that buyers of tickets have no hope of drawing any of the larger prizes and that in a few cases practically the entire receipts of lotteries are profits because of an artful system of keeping down expenses while appearing regularly to pay all of the prizes.

Because of the great number of lotteries there is incessant sale of tickets. Each lottery has an army of agents, including women and children, and these are busy day and night. They go everywhere, swarming into restaurants, cantinas, hotel lobbies and all other places where the doors are not carefully guarded.

Poor Class Plays Heavily. Cigar stands handle the tickets, and in some of these places tickets are hung out on strings, like garments on a clothes line. The tickets are of all colors—pink, blue, green, purple.

Head-clad men and women creep up to read the posters announcing drawings. These must have denied themselves food so as to invest in lottery tickets and dream a few days of getting a great prize.

The poor are the chief supporters of the lotteries. Toilers whose imaginations cannot leap to the heights of dreams of business success look to the lotteries as a way of escape from burden bearing. They have heard tales of ragged peons getting thousands of pesos and hope that some such good fortune will come to them.

Those who advocate the plan for a lottery monopoly think that it would result in the building up of a great institution like the Louisiana lottery, which made many millionaires through its enormous profits. As the profits would be used for the benefit of the public, they argue, the proposed change would be to the public advantage, as money that is now wasted would be put to a good use. Another advantage pointed out by these men is that the drawings would be honorably supervised, giving certainty that all prizes would be paid and paid to bona fide holders of tickets.

While it is doubtful that the National lottery will soon be granted a monopoly, it is generally admitted that the public should be more fully guarded against trickery.

OH, WELL, IT HAPPENED IN ENGLAND

By Associated Press.

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., Nov. 11.—Standing in a pool of whiskey, champagne and port wine, Harry Ward, a hotel employe, was recently arrested by the police after witnesses had heard the smashing of bottles in the hotel cellar. He was sentenced to two months imprisonment for the damage, estimated at 234 pounds. He had smashed eighty-eight bottles of champagne, sixty-four of port and twenty-eight of whiskey, as well as brandy and benedictine bottles.

The prisoner pleaded, through his counsel, that he did it in a fit of temper because the manager had given him a week's notice of dismissal. Malarial fever contracted in Mesopotamia, it was said, had affected his mind.

HENCE THE NAME.

He was to take her for a trip in his new yacht the next day, and she was questioning him about it.

"How awfully nice of you to name the boat after me!" she giggled.

"What is she like?"

"Well—er," he answered, "she's not much to look at, you know, but she's very fast."—Houston Post.

the opinions of men and women like his audience, will determine what the Armistice of Nov. 11, 1918, really amounts to. He touched on the fact that the diplomats of the world being gathered in Washington to discuss a basis for world limitation of armaments. He stated that a diplomat is not a soldier, nor a business man, each of whom act logically and decisively to bring about results desired and that in his opinion if the limitations of armaments is the goal to be desired, that the only way to obtain it is for the great peoples of the world to demand it, even to the extent of fighting for it by arms if necessary.

He agreed with the Germans when they called our peace treaty a scrap of paper, for no agreement among nations is more than a scrap of paper unless it is enforced by strong enough power in the hands of an international police force, strong enough to enforce its demands against any single nation, backed by the public opinion of the world. He appealed to his audience to take counsel with one's own soul and to determine that all the bloodshed, the treasure, and the heartaches spent in accomplishing the result which led up to Armistice day be not wasted, but that it go down in history as the real turning point of progress for the United States of America and the human race at large.

After Mr. Cole's address the audience sang "Old Folks at Home," and the "Star-Spangled Banner," after which they were dismissed by Dr. Tibbels.

ARMISTICE DAY '21

THREE years of peace have passed--three years of reconstruction. Surely, we as a nation, have much to be thankful for--much to console ourselves that our plight is not greater or our burden more wearisome.

Peace on earth has been finally established. So let us offer cheer to the sorrowful; bounty to the needy, and balm to the stricken. In this spirit let us celebrate this Armistice Day Anniversary.

And let us hope that the conclusions of the Disarmament conference, called by President Harding, will pave the way to the eradication of war and that all its accompanying scourges will be effaced from this earth; that the term "brotherhood of man" will bear a more definite meaning than mere words.

Let us make this day a day worth remembering, as sacred and memorable as our natal day--the Fourth of July.

And let us rejoice that November brings forth two great days of thanksgiving--Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day.

THE ARMISTICE.

Armistice Day!
Three years ago, Nov. 11, 1918, the last shot was fired, the last soldier dropped, his life extinguished in the rain of shot and shell, and his comrades, some of them informed of what had occurred as they still pressed forward to the attack, stood in amazement.

It was like the sudden break of a nightmare filled with horror.
So today, America's thoughts turn solemnly back three years, to the event which is perhaps the most memorable in the minds of the present generation. This year, it is with a double appreciation. For the body of an unknown soldier is being buried today, buried as the symbol for all those who fell "over there," symbol of the hell of mud and blood, punctuated with the rattling of machine guns and fringed with the crash of shells, which young America had to face.

Armistice day will within a few years become America's greatest holiday. For it is the Thanksgiving day of those who went into an inferno of hate and destruction and won through to peace again. There is scarcely a life in America and the western world that it does not touch intimately. Of America, perhaps one-fourth her sons were in touch with the firing line. Another fourth were being drawn as by an irresistible magnet into its flaming maw. These men had parents and wives and sisters, perhaps more perturbed over the prospect than they themselves. For the soldier was the glory of action and movement and strange sights which helped to still any feeling of personal sacrifice.

The lad "who had his foot on the Hoboken gangplank" perhaps alone will never greet the day with undiluted enthusiasm. To him—the hundred thousands of him—fate will always have reneged at the last moment, denying him his chance to live big before he died. But even he must have felt a measure of relief at that sudden and dramatic end to an orgy of destruction.

At that, the war was not so bad. There were high lights and stirring scenes, which age-old memory cannot dim. There was a comradeship that never again will be seen on land or sea—unless there comes another struggle to the death. There was the fervor of the crusader and the humor of the vaudevillian. Memory of a mad kaleidoscope of shifting scenes will always mark the high spot in the life of those who were "over there."

But never again, they nearly all will tell you. One high spot of the world gone mad is enough. The terrible grandeur of the scenes are not worth their cost. And so today, as a fitting tribute to the armistice and all it signified, America can well pray that out of the Washington conference will come practical agreement, a square deal and good will, nation for nation, which will obviate any repetition of war.

All honor to the unknown hero in Arlington cemetery, but may America never need to know his like again.

HERE'S PROGRAM FOR ARMS MEET AT WASHINGTON

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—While the armament conference will decide upon its program of subjects to be considered, here follows the official agenda, which previously has been suggested by the United States, and which will be offered as a working program on behalf of America, at the opening sessions:

- Limitation of Armament.
1. Limitation of armament, under which shall be discussed: (a) Basis of limitation; (b) extent; (c) fulfillment.
2. Rules for control of new agencies of warfare.
3. Limitation of land armament.
Pacific and Far Eastern Questions.
(1). Questions relating to China; first, principles to be applied; second, application. Subjects: (a) Territorial integrity; (b) administration integrity; (c) open door—equality of commercial industrial opportunity; (d) concessions, monopolies or preferential economic privileges; (e) development of railways, including plans relating to Chinese Eastern railway; (f) preferential railroad rates; (g) status of existing commitments.
2. Siberia (similar headings).
3. Mandated islands (unless questions earlier settled).
4. Electrical communications in the Pacific.

"Under the heading of 'Status of Existing Commitments' it is expected that opportunity will be afforded to consider and to reach an understanding with respect to unsettled questions involving the nature and scope of commitments under which claims of rights may hereafter be asserted."

Order of Discussion.
The fact that the subject "Limitation of Armaments" precedes the subject "Pacific and Far Eastern Questions" does not necessarily indicate that the two will be taken up in that order. The conference itself will determine the order in which the discussions are to be pursued, and there may even be additions to the program as the conference gets under way.

President Harding, in his invitation to the foreign governments, however, gave the impression, in the opinion of many observers, that Pacific and far eastern questions must be disposed of first, when he said:

"It is quite clear that there can be no final assurance of the peace of the world in the absence of the desire for peace, and the prospect for reduced armaments, is not a hopeful one unless this desire finds expression in practical efforts to remove causes of misunderstanding and to seek ground for agreement as to principles and their application."

Committees May Work.
It is quite possible, however, that although the Pacific and Far Eastern questions, may be the first to be disposed of, that the actual question of limitation of armaments may actually first come before the conference, and in this way:
Any determinations on limitations of armament necessarily will come after long preliminary work by committees of experts and others who will probably submit recommendations and extensive data to the whole conference. This will require probably weeks of study and discussion. In order to start the process, and get it under way, the conference might necessarily bring the subject officially before it, and then refer it to committees for work, and then meanwhile go on with the discussion for the Far Eastern and Pacific questions.

Mrs. Warren Harding, wife of the president, intends to brush up her musical education and will practice an hour a day on a new piano she has had sent to the White House from Cincinnati.

HOW MANY GALLONS OF OIL TO THE ACRE? WILLARD'S QUERY

By International News Service

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 11.—Big Jess Willard, former heavyweight boxing champion is doing something these days besides working himself into a fret over another chance to meet Jack Dempsey, who beat him at Toledo nearly two years and a half ago.

Quite satisfied with the profits of digging into the ground for potatoes,

Jess has gone in for deeper digging and is interested in an oil well over in Kansas known as "7-27-11."

The well, by the way, is a good one and is said to be pumping 150 barrels a day.

Jess has been on the job watching the well being swabbed and was quite impressed with the work, but never satisfied with the answers returned to his questions.

Finally he rounded up a geologist at the hotel and put over this Edisonian question:

"Say, how many gallons to the acre do you think this well ought to produce?"

MAN ACCIDENTALLY KILLS HIMSELF SHOOTING HOG

SHERMAN, Texas, Nov. 11.—Lee Francis, well-to-do farmer of Luella, Grayson county, died here at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. While killing hogs at his home his pistol was accidentally discharged, the bullet taking effect in his head.

MRS. H. P. BARRETT LIVED YEARS ON BREAD AND MILK

Mrs. H. P. Barrett, of Republic, suburb of Birmingham, Ala., gives the facts of her remarkable experience with Tanlac as follows:

"During the past fourteen years I have spent more than one thousand dollars trying to get rid of a complaint that was gradually sapping my strength, but until I got hold of Tanlac nothing helped me. For the past four years I have lived almost entirely on milk and bread, and finally even that went against me.

"Before I had finished the first bottle of Tanlac I got so I could eat anything, and I certainly bless the day I first got this medicine for I believe it has added years to my life. The people in my neighborhood were so surprised at the change in me that fourteen of them by actual count are taking Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros., and in Eastland by the Palace Drug Store.—Advertisement.

FORD WILL TRY 'HARVESTING' OF TIMBER LANDS

By Associated Press.
IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., Nov. 11.—A plan for "harvesting of the forests" as opposed to the present system of denuding the wood tracts of this and other states and that, if it proves advantageous may revolutionize the lumber industry of the country, has been put into execution by Henry Ford on a section of land about two miles from Sidnaw, Houghton county, Michigan.

The plan, that is attracting considerable attention among lumbermen, has as its basic principle the conservation of Michigan's fast-dwindling timber supply.

The section chosen for the experiment is a part of Mr. Ford's holdings in the upper peninsula. The idea, in brief, is to remove from this tract only the mature trees. Underbrush and the waste wood left in lumbering operations are to be carefully cleared away to protect the remaining trees against fire. The young trees remaining will be permitted to attain maturity. In the meantime they will seed the ground about them and when they, in turn are cut, the next crop will have been started. Thus harvests may be made in each of a period of years indefinitely. One feature of the plan is to leave sufficient space between the growing young trees to permit their rapid development.

Mr. Ford and his associates admit that the cost of rearing trees in this way will be greater than the present expense of obtaining lumber, but point out that unneeded conservation remedies are applied at once the future will see the forests depleted and that the country in the future will pay dearly for its past neglect.

JAILED, FORGOTTEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Sidney Boren, arrested last August in Stockton on a charge of violating the prohibition law, is at liberty today after having lain forgotten in jail for three months.

Following his arrest Boren was arraigned before the United States commissioner, held to answer to the federal court and, being unable to give bail, was placed in jail. The Stockton deputy sheriff who arrested him forgot all about him and Boren remained in jail without any information being filed against him.

Yesterday Robert H. McCormick, special assistant United States attorney general, discovered the case, and, on the ground that the man had suffered enough for an offense with which he had not even been formally charged, filed an information and then had it dismissed.

300-LB. HUSBAND SPANKED BY 125-POUND WIFE

By International News Service.
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 11.—To be spanked by his wife, who tips the scales at 125 pounds, proved too great a humiliation for 300-pound G. K. Spiers, a well-to-do merchant of Manitou, Colo., and he has filed suit for divorce against Nora Spiers, alleged lightweight champion "cave-woman."

In her answer to the complaint Mrs. Spiers declares that Spiers is the Jack Dempsey of the family and that he pasted her a couple on the chin several times, each time sending her down for the count.

Mrs. Spiers also charges that her husband took all her clothes, even to the unmentionables, locked them in a trunk and then took the key with him to prevent her from seeing an attorney.

In her complaint she says that her husband is worth $50,000 and asks for alimony and attorney's fees. Spiers is rated as one of the largest men in the state of Colorado.

MAJESTIC.

"It is fear that puts men in prisons," said the warden to Robert Colton when the latter's sentence was commuted. "Face the world like a man and you'll find yourself with a future instead of a past."

But fear weighed heavily on Robert's heart—not fear of prisons or the law. There were worse things than that—such as the look of pain in the eyes of one you loved should they learn of your disgrace.

Robert's motherless daughter was a baby when circumstantial evidence sent him, innocent of the charge, to prison. She was brought up in ignorance of his shame, and Mary's loving little heart yearned for the time when the father who wrote her such wonderful letters would come home to her.

"Home Keeping Hearts" is a poignant story of a man's regeneration, and of plot and counterplot in a small town. It is a Playgoers feature, showing at the Majestic theatre today and Saturday. Carlyle Ellis directed "Home Keeping Hearts" from Charles W. Barrall's original story, and presented in the leading roles are Thomas H. Swinton, Mildred Ryan, Louella Carr, Edward Grace and Henry West.

JOHNNY BUFF HOLDS TITLE IN MAULING BOUT

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Johnny Buff, fly and bantamweight champion, was a sore and battered title holder today. But Jack Sharkey, who carried him along for fifteen furious rounds at Madison Square Garden last night, was even more of a casualty. The Jerseyite took nine rounds, Sharkey four, and two were even.

M. P.'S ON JOB!

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The dreaded "M. P." will shine in all his glory again during the Washington conference.

While the American soldier is an excellent fighting man, he is a bit careless about his dress and is prone to overlook an unfastened button and little details. Col. C. S. Babcock, chief of staff of the army district of Washington, is determined that the privates and officers shall look their best in the presence of the foreign plenipotentiaries.

So he is assembling a young army of "M. P.'s," who will patrol the city in search of offenders. The "M. P." will be empowered to correct and, if necessary, arrest anyone from gobs to buck privates and generals.

DISARMAMENT ADS SPREAD OVER JAPAN

Which is Larger the Sun or a Cent?
"Why—the sun of course" you will say. But remember—you can hold the cent so close to your eye that you lose sight of the sun.
Some baking powders can be bought for a few pennies less than Calumet—but don't hold these cents too close to your eyes—you will not be able to see the quality—the purity—the dependability of
CALUMET BAKING POWDER
In other words, don't be deceived by a few pennies—the cheapest baking powder in price is often the most expensive.
When you buy Calumet you know that it will produce pure, sweet, and wholesome bakings. You know that you use less because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength. Buy it—try it—be convinced.
A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

RANGER THROUGH ST. LOUIS EYES

Ranger was hostess this week to Miss Helen Seevers of St. Louis, a real "newspaper man" who does feature writing for the East St. Louis Journal under the pen name of Drusilla Dare. Miss Seevers and her aunt, Miss Gertrude Seawell, were the guests of J. L. Walker at the Annex hotel, Mr. Walker being an old family friend. The two are visiting relatives in Dallas and Wichita Falls and will leave Dallas Monday for a trip into old Mexico. Miss Seevers will write her impressions of the trip for her paper.

Although she's blond, and chic, and young, and confesses that "men" admire large women, but love the little ones," Miss Seevers is an experienced newspaper woman, and according to her professed intentions—which left black ashes of despair incrusting the life of the youngest "ad hound"—propose to stick to newspapering and leave matrimony to its fate. Her hands fit the typewriter better than they do the dishpan, she amplified. As She Sees Us.

And to show her appreciation of the Times, and as a recognition of the fellowship, Miss Seevers tickled the typewriter into saying the following, which we present for the Times omniverous readers who would like to know how the outside world sees us:

By DRUSILLA DARE.

Ranger! To an outsider that name has a magic ring. It is the miracle city. The land of "Flowing Gold." Millionaires in khaki! To you who have seen the mushroom growth of this boom city there may be little fascination in contemplating its history but there is a revelation in its past to those of the outside world who stand as curious spectators at your gate.

Nature seems to have intended Ranger for the setting of one of her most thrilling dramas. Nestling at the foot of those hills which form a perfect natural amphitheatre, the little city is a stage whereon have tread the feet of many willing puppets in this great play of Life, in the great game of chance which has centered the limelight of the world upon this lonely spot in Texas.

Comedy and tragedy have vied for honors, so it would seem. For though the stage be darkened now, the spotlights turned off and most of the audience gone home, there still remains a peep behind the scenes, and that after all, is most interesting.

WAMBA COFFEE Morning- Noon- Night

Many Human Ills Are Due To Impurities in the Blood

Pure, Rich, Red Blood Nourishes the Body and Fights Off Disease.

Waste Products or Impurities Cause Many Forms of Rheumatism, Skin Disorders and a Lowered Vitality.

How S. S. S. Clears the Blood of Waste Products.

Your system is continually taking in nutrition and throwing off waste products. This process goes on all during life. But, sometimes the organs do not properly function and these waste products, instead of passing out through the pores of the skin, through the kidneys and through the alimentary canal, are absorbed in the blood. Then the blood becomes poisoned, and cannot properly nourish the system.

All health sets in. You may lose your strength and vitality; or you may have rheumatic pains in the muscles and joints; or you may be troubled with bad boils, sores or some other skin eruptions. All because of the poisonous waste products in the blood. Nature now needs help. She has done her best but is failing. A blood purifier should be used at once to assist nature to throw off these waste products.

S. S. S., the standard blood purifier and system builder, is the ideal remedy in these cases. The effect of S. S. S. is to rid the system of the poisons which are causing the trouble. For over 50 years, S. S. S. has proven to be of unusual merit.

Get S. S. S. at your druggist. Use it strictly according to directions and write Chief Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 721 S. S. Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga., and let him help you regain your health and strength. He is helping people every day. Ask him to send you his illustrated booklet "Facts About the Blood"—free. S.S.S. is sold by all drug stores.

For your comedy, what more delightful than to listen to the naive tales of the rangers and oil men who in their capacity of curbstone philosophers regale the visitor with accounts of the preposterous days when Ranger was neck deep in mud and the embryo profiteers charged 10 cents apiece to take one across the street on a raft, or the never failing story of the "Hamburger Man" who stayed here thirteen months and left with $10,000 as his share of the clean up, etc.

But this is, as the boys would say, "old stuff."

Tragedy? Sure.

Tragedy? Of course it lurks behind unseemly mask. What more poignant reminder of "what might have been" than the signs of decayed glory which one meets; the banks that have failed, some empty stores, deserted shacks and all of the other riff-raff of departed fortune. Out in the fields, outlined as silent sentinels against the ghostly moonlit sky, the blackened derricks mourn over neighboring "dusters" that epitomize the crushed hopes of someone.

But out of the crucible of the fires of sensation, excitement, passion and greed, there emerges the Ranger of today, purified of all such elements, and more desirable as it now stands, a lively American city, clean and wholesome for the great part, and full of that Western pep and enterprise tempered by a spirit of Southern chivalry and charm which make it wholly delightful.

BENEATH CALM SURFACE, MOSCOW FESTERS IN HUNGER AND WANT

BY EDWIN W. HULLINGER, (United Press Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW. (By Mail.)—Moscow, under Soviet rule, is today the quietest, most orderly and best-disciplined city in Europe. Its streets are safer after a nightfall than those of New York, Chicago or Kansas City. They are better policed than any city of the size in the United States.

On the surface, there is peace, plenty of food and other comforts in Moscow. But to get them you must have money or power. Most of the people in Moscow have neither. Beyond the Kremlin's beautiful minarets, below the golden cupolas of Moscow's 1,600 churches, there is untold sorrow, immeasurable destitution. Moscow, like every other great city, has always its poverty-stricken. These have been swelled in Moscow by many former rich and middle-class.

You can walk for hours through the crowded streets and never see a smile. Friends greet each other sympathetically, but gravely and without smiles. The middle-class are clothed in shabby garments, the poor in tatters.

Both Americans and Russians are trying to help the countless thousands facing starvation. But it is a tremendous task. The first installment of American relief was brought by Secretary Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; He brought half a million dollars and assurances that more was coming. Not a little of this had been contributed by clothing workers in New York City, where many, only a few years from Russia, are working.

Meantime workmen are removing The Hermitage, formerly one of the largest and most luxurious restaurants in Moscow. It will be converted into a kitchen, where 30,000 children will be fed daily. Relief workers found the condition of children of Moscow less desperate than that of the little ones in the Volga region. Therefore the first American efforts were centered in the Volga region. The American commission hopes soon to get three food trains of thirty cars each into the famine region every week.

BRIDGE WITH MRS. WIGGINS.

Mrs. Wiggins entertained a few friends with bridge Thursday afternoon in her suite at the Majestic. Mrs. Williams won the high score prize and Mrs. Ernst the consolation. At the conclusion of the game, dainty refreshments were served.

Those enjoying Mrs. Wiggins' hospitality were Mmes. Coomer, Farquhar, Tierney, Ernst, Whitbeck, Harry Reid, Williams, Peters, Ashford, Hall and Martin.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY.

When the number of our years reach nine, it is very befitting to celebrate the occasion, to make it indeed and in truth a red-letter day in one's life; so having this in mind, Mrs. William Palmer invited a number of her son, Billie's, friends to a birthday party Thursday afternoon. The children met at the Palmer home and from there went to the Postoffice cafe, where Mr. Fowler had made the interior very attractive for the young guests. There was a long table around which the host and his little friends were seated, and in the center was a basket filled with lovely pink roses.

And there was a birthday cake—a wonderful birthday cake, all twinkling with its nine bright candles. Mr. Fowler acted as caterer and served cake and ice cream. After they had each eaten to their utmost satisfaction they went to the Liberty at the Lamb, where they enjoyed a picture show. The little host gave as a favor to his lady guest, a bottle of perfume and to the boys gay bags of marbles.

Now, this party was almost a stag affair, and would have been if little Mary Jane Dreinhofer had not saved the day by being present. Billie's guests were: Mary Jane Dreinhofer, Henry Dreinhofer, Clifton Gandy, Lowell Gandy, Richard Jones, John Mac Palmer, Thomas Leslie Palmer.

PERSONALS.

Miss Ella V. Fouts, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Earwell, returned to her home in Rotan today.

Mmes. M. H. Hagaman, C. D. Woods and R. A. Ratliff are attending the Methodist conference at Cisco today.

Rev. L. A. Webb has returned to Kansas City for the conference after having been home ill for a day.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny O'Conner of Kansas City will arrive in Ranger today. They will make their home at the Chestnut-Smith camp.

Mrs. C. J. Moore left for Dallas today, where she will undergo an operation.

Miss Margaret Lowe is reported ill. Her many friends hope for an early recovery.

WOMEN TALKING POLITICS MOB INTRUDING COP

HAMMOND, Ind., Nov. 11.—Hammond's heated municipal campaign, wherein Mayor Daniel Brown, Republican, is fighting for re-election against Ed Simon, former state representative, Democrat, was brought to a violent close late Monday night, it became known today, when two policemen were mobbed by 500 women who were listening to a tirade against the police administration by Mrs. Myrtle E. Pfeffer, Brown's former police matron.

Mrs. Pfeffer steadily was waxing more strong in her denunciation of the police department and just had concluded a charge that three policemen have been on too intimate terms with women prisoners when the two officers entered the hall. Immediately there was a cry and stampede in their direction. The officers were beaten and then thrown from the hall.

Arrested for Bribery.
Earlier in the week Mrs. Pfeffer, now a resident of Chicago, was arrested on a charge of having accepted a bribe of $50 from a Hammond business man, against whom charges of misconduct at a moonshine party had been filed, and which case Mrs. Pfeffer was investigating when serving as police matron, more than a year ago.

Her trial takes place before Judge Charles Fredericks tomorrow morning, and women declare they will defeat Brown because of it. When Brown was elected mayor he insisted upon Mrs. Pfeffer's appointment as police matron. After she had served two years she resigned. She had filed charges against certain policemen as to their actions with women prisoners.

Chief of Police Peter Austgen investigated the charges and exonerated his men. The matter was dropped until Simon was nominated for mayor and began to denounce vice in Hammond. Printed affidavits were passed from house to house signed by Mrs. Pfeffer, charging police immorality. Then the opposition countered with the arrest of Mrs. Pfeffer.

WHISKY IN BUSTLE GETS JAIL TERM FOR W. VIRGINIA WOMAN

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Nov. 11.—To call Frances Hobbs, a woman resident of this place, a "bootlegger" would be slander.

The dictionary defines a "bootlegger" thus: "To sell liquor against the law; so called from the practice of carrying a flask in the leg of a boot." But, getting back to Frances Hobbs, Frances undoubtedly sold contraband liquor of a more or less uncertain quality, but she carried none of it in her boots.

She was arrested by the State police and fined $100 and sentenced to 60 days in jail by Squire Meek.

Although the State policemen knew Frances had booze on her person they could not locate it until they had another one of the same sex as Frances to do the frisking.

To the amazement of the police, the woman was wearing a fairly good sized bustle made of heavily padded wire. In this Frances carried several half pints loaded with moonshine.

Just how Frances extracts her hooch without trouble the police have not learned. But she was caught passing a half-pint bottle to a thirsty resident on a side street and taking his $2 bill in payment.
