CHAUTAUQUA TO BEGIN PROGRAM HERE TOMORROW

"Merry Old Chief" Afternoon and Night With Bailey, Lecturer, on Night Card.

At 2:30 tomorrow afternoon the Redpath-Horner circuit will open with the first entertainment of a seven days program in Ranger. With 60 of the best known entertainers and lecturers of the United States on the program the Chautauqua offers one of the finest bills obtainable. The tent is at Main and Marston streets and everything is in readiness.

Leo Fitzpatrick, the "Merry Old Chief" of the Kansas city Night Hawks and his radio entertainers will open the Chautauqua tomorrow afternoon with a musical program that will suit the taste of every one. Fitzpatrick will not be able to announce a definite program as he will use his own unique method in building the program as he goes along. The radio entertainers, Fitzpatrick's are all professional musicians and there is a snap and go to their music which indicates their long experience in professional work.

Elwood T. Bailey, a newcomer on the Redpath-Horner circuit will deliver a lecture on the subject "All Aboard," Saturday night, in addition to the concert of the "Merry Old Chief" and his radio entertainers. Mr. Bailey is one of the most popular lecturers on the program and appeals particularly to the younger generation as well as to the older and more mature people. The subject "All Aboard" carries the metaphor of the individual who is getting aboard to "go" some place and "do" something worth while.

The Ranger Chautauqua association announces that season tickets are on sale at all of the drug stores in Ranger at very reasonable prices. Season tickets for adults are $2.50 and children $1. This is a saving of approximately $4 to the person holding the season tickets as the entire program of the seven days averages $6.50 when admission is paid at the door. There are no two programs alike on the bill and, as all are educational and interesting, it behooves the wise person to buy a season ticket according to the ticket committee.

You don't miss the $2.50 near as much as you do when you have to dig up the money for every performance, one member of the association said.

It was announced today that one number of the fourth day's program, "Six Cylinder Love," will be changed. The play was given in Ranger only a short time ago, so the Chautauqua will substitute for it "Dangerous People," said to be a very enjoyable play and a great success wherever it has been given.

Bishop Brown Will Testify at Trial For Alleged Heresy

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 30.—A speedy end of the heresy trial of Bishop William Montgomery Brown was seen this afternoon as the white and black robed tribunal continued to thwart attempts of Brown's counsel to introduce evidence and testimony in his behalf.

Bishop Brown is to take the stand late today.

BRITISH JOIN WITH AMERICANS IN ENGLAND DECORATING GRAVES

LONDON, May 30.—Wherever Americans who fell in the war are buried in English soil, Britons joined with Americans today in honoring the dead. The custom of placing flowers on the graves of our dead on Decoration day is one that appeals to the British and an increasing number each year take part in the brief ceremonies.

Today, American Ambassador Kellogg headed a committee of American who returned Britain's unknown warrior in honor and placed a wreath on the slab in Westminster Abbey and at Whitehall. Memorial day services were conducted at St. Margaret's church in Westminster by Archbishop of the Rev. Cannon Carnegie, dean of the abbey and the chaplain of the house of commons.

Baby Carter, Who Falls From Window, Dies From Injuries

Raymond Carter, 3-year-old son of J. J. Carter of the Carter apartments, who lost his balance and fell out of the third-story window of the Paramount hotel yesterday morning at 11:40, fracturing his skull, died last night at 6:15.

Baby Carter never regained consciousness although an operation was performed yesterday afternoon at the Clinical hospital in an effort to relieve the pressure on his brain and save his life. The surgeons did all they could but said from the first there was little hope of saving the boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter have another child, a daughter Genevieve, aged 9 years. Funeral services for the baby will be conducted at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Carter apartments by the Rev. A. W. Hart, pastor of the Methodist church, and the Rev. G. D. Robinson, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Distant relatives who were expected to come for the funeral have sent word that they cannot do so because of sickness in the family.

Burial will be in the Evergreen cemetery in Ranger.

TOKIO NEWSPAPER SAYS HANIHARA WILL RESIGN

TOKIO, May 30.—The newspaper Yokio confirms the report that Japanese Ambassador Hanihara will resign his post in Washington because of the adoption of the Japanese exclusion clause in the new immigration bill. The ambassador plans to go into private life, and probably will join the Mitsui firm, with which his wife's family is identified, the newspaper says.

CISCO LIONS ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

CISCO, May 30.—The Cisco Lions met Wednesday and elected officers for the ensuing year. Homes, lion tamer; Charles Yates, tail twister.

HEAVY RAINFALL REPORTED IN VICINITY OF AUSTIN

AUSTIN, May 30.—A cloudburst at Burton, 70 miles east of Austin, on the H. & T. C. railroad, inundated a wide area today and traffic on the railroad was delayed by washouts. More than two inches of rain fell in Austin.

The Colorado river is up ten feet and a heavy rise is predicted from reports from the upper river regions.

LONDON, May 30.—A Tokio dispatch to the Times says that although the Japanese foreign office refuses to admit that Ambassador Hanihara has resigned or has withdrawn from Washington, it is very likely that he will be appointed to some other country.

British Financier Heads Company To Develop Death Ray

PARIS, May 30.—"England gets the death ray." A contract drawn up today starts a company capitalized at 350,000 pounds sterling to promote experiments such as those from which Dvornik Mathews evolved his diabolical scheme, which may revolutionize war. A. H. Caley, a London millionaire, who supplied clothing to the British army in war time, heads the new company and the British government is to be given the option on whatever is developed.

Mathews retains a 50 per cent interest in his death ray. This ends the war of nations over possession of the secret of the ray and also ends injunction proceedings against the inventor.

BURKETT PROMISES, IF GOVERNOR, TO RESTORE BOARD OF PARDONS

HEREFORD, Texas, May 30.—Joe Burkett, candidate for governor, in outlining his platform here today, advocated many constructive measures. In discussing the penitentiary system, he said:

"If I am elected governor, I will restore the board of pardons. There are many who go to the pen who are not hardened criminals, but to shut the door of hope in their faces will make them so. I believe in punishment, but I believe also in justice."

Senator Burkett had already delivered three speeches today; being at Littlefield, Lamb county; Muleshoe, Bailey county, and Farwell, Parker county.

DEFENDANT IN COURT CONDUCTS OWN DEFENSE

DALLAS, May 30.—When the court appointed an attorney to defend R. C. Neal, charged with robbing the H. & T. C. station at Hutchins, and taking a voucher for $75.23, Neal stood up and asked to be allowed to conduct his own defense.

The plea was granted and Neal astonished the court room by carrying out his defense in finished style, first asking a motion to quash the indictment, and when that was refused, asked for a continuance, which also was denied.

He cross examined the state's witnesses and introduced his own. Evidence in, Neal asked for 15 minutes to plead his case before the jury, which was granted. He told of serving several terms in prison previously and how he studied law in Atlanta penitentiary and said he had passed the bar examination of the state.

ED DIXON CATCHES BIG CATFISH AND BRINGS TROPHY'S HEAD HOME

Ed Dixon was exhibiting to his friends in Ranger today the head of a 26-pound catfish which he caught this week while on a fishing trip to the Concho river with a party of 14 friends.

Mr. Dixon said the fishing was good, but he caught the biggest of all. Lest any of his friends doubt his tale—for all fish stories, he said, are regarded with suspicion, he brought the head of the fish back with him, fastened to the radiator of his car so that all might see it.

Operator's Note.—Andy Gump, the fisherman de luxe, who wears no man's collar, says he throws small fish like this back so they may grow to such size as would justify a man spending his time fishing for them.

BRITISH LABOR GOVERNMENT AT TROUBLE'S EDGE

Liberal Aid Needed to Get By on Division in House of Commons.

LONDON, May 30.—The British labor government was still in power today, but with its prestige considerably diminished as a result of a division in the house of commons on the question of reducing the salary of the minister of labor. The liberals rallied to the support of the government at the last minute and the measure was defeated 300 to 252.

Communists Blamed For Explosions That Stir Up Bucharest

ATHENS, May 30.—The scattered explosions that created consternation and claimed a number of lives yesterday in Bucharest left a reminder of fires that were still smoldering in the devastated part of the city, according to reports reaching here today.

The same message says it is reliably reported that the communists were responsible for the disaster and "there has been fear of a Russian invasion on Bessarabia."

CHILD WELFARE SOCIETY ASKS AID TO BUY CAR FOR NURSE

The Child Welfare society, which is sponsoring the collection of a fund with which to buy a automobile for the use of Miss Faye Nixon, public health nurse in Ranger, to facilitate her work in the schools and among the pupils in the Ranger schools, has asked that contributions be sent to the Ranger Times. Contributions of any size will be acceptable, and each gift will be acknowledged with appreciation, the note and the larger gift without discrimination.

Ranger covers such a large area and the schools are so far apart, and the school children, too, live in such a widely scattered area, that it is deemed essential to the best work to provide an automobile for Miss Nixon.

PARIS, May 30.—The government of Premier Poincaré will hand its resignation to President Millerand next Sunday at 1:30 o'clock, it was said here today. Twenty-two Cars Start on 500-Mile Grind, Setting Terrific Pace From the Signal to Go; Murphy, Hartz and Milton Start in Front Row.

By United Press.
INDIANAPOLIS MOTOR SPEEDWAY, May 30.—Standing at 350 miles in the 500-mile sweepstakes race a little after 1 o'clock today of the leading contestants:

Cooper (Studebaker), Murphy (Miller special), Corum (Duesenberg), Hill (Miller special), Hartz (Durant special).

Time: 3 hours, 34 minutes, 16.49 seconds, averaging 98 miles to the hour. The record last year was 92.45.

Less than one-half laps separated the five leaders at the half way point in the race early this afternoon. Cooper, driving a Studebaker, returned the lead it had gained at 100 miles. Cooper was hard pressed by Hill in a Miller special in second position.

Never in the history of the speedway has there been such a battle to return a place among the five leaders. Only one car, a Duesenberg special, driven by Ansterberg, was out of the race at the 250-mile point. The average for 250 miles was 98.71 miles an hour.

Jack White Burned By Gas Explosion But Will Recover

Jack White, 29, shop foreman of the Standard Tank & Steel works, of Ranger, while heading the flues of the Hagaman Refining company, was seriously burned about the face and arms and one knee yesterday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, when gas which had accumulated in the boiler exploded. He was taken to the Clinical hospital. Physicians said he would recover.

Mr. White stated that he did not know how the explosion occurred. He said that he had been told a burner had to be smothered out after the gas had been cut off before the valve would cut off entire stop the flame. He did not know whether the explosion was caused by this or from some other source.

White has been a resident of Ranger for about six years and has been connected with the Standard Tank & Steel works for three years. Previous to that he was with Black, Sivalls & Bryson.

President Coolidge For Harding-Hughes World Court Plan

WASHINGTON, May 30.—President Coolidge today repudiated all proposals for changes in the American adherence to the world court that depart from the Harding-Hughes plan. Speaking at the memorial exercises at Arlington national cemetery, the president came out for adherence of the United States to the protocol of the permanent court of international justice with conditions laid down by the late President Harding.

"His suggestion has already had my approval," Mr. Coolidge said. "I should not oppose other reservations, but no material changes which would not probably receive the consent of other nations would be impracticable."

His statement was interpreted as indicating a firm opposition to the plan of Senator Pepper, Penn., for American entrance into the court, which has been reported to the senate by the foreign relations committee.

Standing in the ranks of the old and young veterans of three wars—the civil, Spanish and world conflicts—President Coolidge reverently placed a wreath of flowers on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

CORPORATION COURT JURGE BUSHES AND HURRIES ON

SAN ANTONIO, May 30.—Judge Onion, who presides over the corporation court, is considering the purchase of a municipal kimono for emergency use. His honor was amazed when a fair defendant, brought before him on a charge of intoxication, appeared in negligee and pleaded guilty to the charge. Her outer clothing had been torn off in a fight. One glance at her high-heeled slippers, silk stockings and tiddies, and the judge blushed and hurriedly announced a fine of $5. Spectators thought he rushed proceedings indignantly.

SISTER OF AN INJURED GIRL FILES CHARGE

Accuses Wealthy Young Owner of Pleasure Car With Driving When Drunk.

HOUSTON, May 30.—Charges of driving a car while intoxicated, which resulted in the injury to three passengers, were filed here late yesterday in justice of the peace court against Tom Wharton, son of a wealthy Dallas resident.

Miss Lillian Nimms, a sister of Miss Anna Nimms, one of the injured, filed the charges against Wharton, who is said to be in Fort Worth or Waco. His arrest at either place is expected today. Wharton was the driver of the roadster which overturned a short distance out of Houston while enroute to Galveston, May 16. With him were Miss Ethel Lake, Miss Anna Nimms and Chiford Reisslander, all of Dallas.

Millionaire's Son Being Questioned About Slain Boy

CHICAGO, May 30.—Nathan Leopold, 15, son of a millionaire manufacturer, was being held for questioning at the state attorney's office today in connection with the kidnaping and murder of Robert Franks, the 14-year-old son of Jacob Franks, one of Chicago's wealthiest men.

Leopold, a law student in the University of Chicago and master of 15 languages, admitted losing a pair of eye-glasses similar to those found near the culvert in which the body of the slain youth had been hidden. He was taken into custody after officers had trailed the eye-glasses to a large optical firm.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The campus of the University of Chicago today became the center of the search for the slayer of Robert Franks, 14-year-old son of a Chicago millionaire. Led by Nathan Leopold, 19-year-old law student, who confessed ownership of the glasses found near the nude body of the slain youth, police searched the campus picking up several clues which they said were important and questioning more than a score of students.

Leopold was taken into custody when police traced the glasses through an optical firm. He admitted that they belonged to him but said he lost them several weeks ago. He denied any knowledge of the crime. Richard Loeb, also 19, and a friend of Leopold, was held for further questioning. Both are sons of rich men.

ONE OF TWO MISSOURI REPUBLICAN LEADERS TO NOMINATE COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Elimination of possibilities for putting President Coolidge in nomination at the republican national convention has narrowed to two men in Missouri it was indicated at the white house today. Though the men were not named it is believed the selection lies between former Governor Hadley and Governor Hyde.

Announcement of the nominator, the chairman of the resolutions committee and the permanent chairman of the convention is expected from William M. Butler, manager of President Coolidge's pre-convention campaign, today or tomorrow. Butler will leave for Cleveland Sunday.

BEXAR COUNTY GRAND JURY SILENT ON SPECIAL CHARGE

SAN ANTONIO, May 30.—Although charged specifically to investigate the sending of telegrams to Senators Sheppard and Mayfield by nearly 100 citizens charging lax law enforcement, the Bexar county grand jury was silent today in its report to Judge W. W. McCrory. It was said, however, they would make a written report later.

Nine indictments for violations of the state liquor law were returned, the largest number ever returned at one time by a Bexar county grand jury.

An Indianapolis race and will be one of the largest ever assembled to witness a sporting event on the American continent.

The double attraction of the races today and the Carpenter-Gibbons fight at Michigan City tomorrow has drawn sport enthusiasts from every state in the union and from many foreign lands.

BRING OUT THE BEST

Did you ever stop to think what kind of a woman your wife would have been if you had not asked her to marry you? Or did you ever imagine what type of man your husband would have been if you had not answered "Yes."

Whether a man's income is $1,000 a year, $10,000 a year, or $100,000 a year, the same principles govern the management of a home.

There are homes happier and better managed on $1,000 a year than are some of the $100,000-income homes.

Some of our previous conceptions of what it means to be a good homemaker and of what is involved in training girls for the job of home-making must be revised.

Plans are afoot for the erection of at least 14 new class B radiocasting stations, and seven are already under construction, according to the department of commerce.

BURGLAR IS SEEN, BUT ALARM BY MAID STOPS HIM FROM OPERATING

Police last night at 8 o'clock answered an alarm to catch a burglar at the residence of Mrs. W. J. Branhoney, 1123 Westmoreland boulevard, but when they arrived they found that the burglar had flown away and that no trace could be obtained of his whereabouts.

Mrs. Branhoney said that the girl who works for her saw a man crawl in one of the bedroom windows. She run out to the neighbors and turned in the alarm, but when the police reached the house there was no trace of a burglar except where there was a fresh cut place in the screen. No valuable of any description were missing.

County Executive Committee Called To Meet June 16

All democratic precinct chairmen in Eastland county have been called by Frank Judkins of Eastland, chairman of the Eastland county democratic executive committee, to meet at the courthouse, Monday, June 16, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The chief matter to come before the committee will be the selection of the county chairman for the ensuing two years and to make up the sub-committees. Of equal or perhaps greater interest to the various candidates for office will be the matter of fixing the amount of assessments to be made against the various candidates and arranging the order of the ballot.

All candidates for county and precinct officers are instructed by Chairman Judkins to file with him on or before June 14 their applications for places on the ballot.

DIDN'T DRINK OR SMOKE

In Major Beaufort's enforced absence, his old black servant Lem was under instructions to welcome the expected guest.

When Mr. Allen was settled comfortably before the library fire, Lem asked as a matter of course, "Can I mix you a highball, suh?" "No, thanks, Lem." "Take it straight, suh?" "No, thanks."

The young son of a Stanford university professor was given a wonderful mechanical toy which created quite a juvenile furor on the campus. The little fellow was urged by his parents not to be selfish, but to be patient and let his friends enjoy it, too.

BIBLE THOUGHT
THE OMNISCIENT GUIDE:—The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord.—Psalm 37:23.
PRAYER:—Enable us, O Lord, to study thy word faithfully. Then it shall be a lamp to our feet and a guide to our path.

MEMORIAL DAY.
 Memorial day was not set aside exclusively for a bank holiday, nor even for a double-header at the baseball park. It is a day which in its majestic significance ranks close to Easter itself.

In the year 1868 Major General John A. Logan, then commander-in-chief of the grand army of the republic introduced a memorial without form or substance, based upon sentiment alone and dedicated it to every soul that ever "suffered, sacrificed or served" in defense of home, our native land, the enforcement of law and order and the preservation of the unity of the United States of America. The conception of this order was sublime and appealed to the highest sense of the nation at large, then staggering under the appalling losses of the war of the rebellion.

The majestic chords of memory, stretching from the thousands of battlefields and the millions of patriotic graves distributed all over our great nation, to every home and hearth within its boundaries, compelled instant approval of the memorial thus inaugurated. All home-loving, law-abiding and patriotic citizens, enthusiastically and universally endorsed it; many of the states legalized it, and at this time it is nationally accepted and observed as the silent, yet eloquent, memorial of every soul that ever "sacrificed, suffered or served" in behalf of our native land and its institutions.

If you who stayed at home, or you who went and returned could wake those who sleep and ask of them why they gave their lives, what would be the splendid chorus of these haloed dead. Go to God's Acre yourself. Stand before the tomb of him who died at Saratoga, or at Gettysburg, or on the scarlet hills of Champagne, and in all faith and humility ask him to answer.

No need to write his answer. It will be written in your heart. God grant you heed that answer, and on this memorial day guide your conduct as to make him glad he died for America and you.

Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois coal miners' union, at the convention in Peoria, declared that 150 Illinois mines, employing 30,000 men are idle; "that last winter they had less work than at any time in his recollection and this summer promises less than ever before." He declared that nationalization of the mines was unfeasible, and urged a semi-public corporation to take over the soft coal industry of the state and transform the coal into electricity at giant power plants. It is a far-sighted plan for the relief of both operator and miner.

President Coolidge faces a decidedly unusual and unpleasant political situation. While his veto of the Bursum pension bill was sustained by one vote in the senate, he owes his support to the democrats. The stalwarts of stalwarts not found standing behind the president—including such names as Lodge, Curtis, Brandegee, Willis, Watson and other standpatters. The suspicion is growing that the democrats are playing politics by unloading all responsibility for the defeat of legislative measures on the administration.

According to National Automobile Dealers' association 510,000 used cars were sold in January, February and March, leaving 569,000 still to be sold. The average price was less than $300, and the average loss on each about $12.

CHURCHES PROPOSE TO APPLY CHRISTIANITY MORE AND MORE TO PUBLIC MORAL QUESTIONS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"Leaders of churches are tired of preaching justice in theory and closing their eyes to injustice in practice. Christianity is to be applied more and more in great public moral questions rather than to remain in vague abstractions."

"Christian ethics will not be left entirely to be determined by congress. The people in the churches are rapidly coming to look at all public affairs as matters of Christian ethics. They reserve the right to express their judgment from the view point of Christian principles on any acts of congress."

These statements showing the determination of the churches to express their opinions to congress on various acts of legislation are made by the Rev. Dr. Charles S. Macfarland, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches in the current issue of its "Bulletin."

At the same time it is stated that the churches will sedulously refrain from "lobbying" or any attempt to coerce legislators by organizing the voting strength of their districts for or against them.

The statements are called forth by the criticism by Congressman George Holden Tinkham of Massachusetts, who with "resentment and indignation" objected to the churches expressing their viewpoint on immigration legislation. He claimed such action was in violation of the principles of the separation of church and state.

In his statement printed in the "Bulletin," which is in the form of a letter to Congressman Tinkham, Dr. Macfarland explains the position of the churches. He points out that while the church and state are separate, one of the reasons for the separation was that the church might be free to criticize the action of the state, and to petition the state whenever it sees fit.

Dr. Macfarland says in part: "The Federal Council of Churches does not consider any question involving principles of right and justice as being secular. Such questions are regarded as moral and therefore inherently religious and coming under Christian ethics."

"The Federal Council of Churches was constituted by its denominational bodies with this purpose, as stated in the constitution adopted by all those bodies separately, 'to secure a larger combined influence for the churches of Christ in all matters affecting the moral and social condition of the people, so as to promote the application of the law of Christ in every relation of human life.'

"To claim that a church body has no right to protest against an injustice just because it is legislative, would be to nullify the constitution of the federal council. It is the very separation of church and state that makes it possible to make such protest freely."

Right of Petition
 "Is there not a great difference between in moral sympathy and separation in moral sympathy? As a matter of fact, the strictest denunciations have always held the right of the church to petition the state and this is exactly what has been done."

"In this case (the immigration bill) our feeling is that this legislation runs counter to the efforts of the churches to maintain social justice. They have not only a right but a duty to protest and petition."

"As I get the trend of public opinion, it means that Christianity is to be applied more and more to these great public moral questions, rather than to remain in vague abstractions. Many of the people feel that the weakness of the church has been because it did not exert its influence more directly in affairs of social brotherhood. What is the use of proclaiming justice unless you can apply it to concrete cases?"

"The people in the churches are rapidly coming to look at all public affairs as matters of Christian ethics. The present problem of immigration so far as it affects our attitude towards other peoples, is no exception."

"The leaders of the church are tired of preaching justice in theory and closing their eyes to injustice in practice. If an act of congress violates a treaty, whether in letter or spirit, it is an injustice. If it treats a treaty or any agreement like a 'scrap of paper,' it follows the bad example of a nation now suffering from doing so. Surely Christian ethics are not to be left entirely to be determined by congress."

Both Right and Duty
 An editorial comment by Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, also a general secretary of the council, says: "The real question concerns the kind of activity in which the churches may properly engage with regard to questions that involve legislation. That the churches should sedulously refrain from 'lobbying' or from any attempt to coerce legislators by organizing the voting strength of their districts for or against them, goes without saying."

"That the church has not only the right, but duty, to educate public opinion concerning the Christian principles that are at stake in legislative proposals should be equally clear to all who are deeply concerned about the moulding of all human life according to the mind of Christ. Such efforts are an essential part of the responsibility of the church as the teacher of the Christian religion."

CHINESE PORT HAS MANY KINDS OF MONEY

Amoy, the port of the Chinese province of Fukien, has more kinds of money than anything else. Suffering from a lack of roads, barred from the hinterland by ranges of mountains, its once enormous trade trade lost to Formosa, its commerce is carried on by means of so many kinds of currency—the Formosa yen, the Hong Kong dollar, the Indo-China piaster, bank issues of paper money—that the commonly accepted unit to which money is reduced to make it exchangeable is the long extinct "Spanish dollar."

Fifty years ago Amoy exported 7,500,000 pounds of tea a season to the United States alone. But its tea shipments dwindled to nothing in 1899 due to the competition of Formosa. Its chief exports now are products of curiously second hand industries. Some one introduced the making of "Irish lace" and cheap diligent labor made it important in Amoy's trade. Secondly, the culture of narcissus bulbs, originally imported from Holland, has attained an important place among the exports of Amoy.

The American consul at Amoy recommends to American enterprise the introduction of the movie there. The city is now probably the largest in the world without movies.

RICH MAN OF EUROPE LIKES AIR OF MYSTERY

Sir Basil Zaharoff, a Greek, Has Wealth He Can Hardly Estimate.

Hugo Stinnes, mysterious Assyrian Jew who at his death was the industrial Kaiser of Germany, was not the richest man in Europe. This distinction popularly conferred on him really belongs to Sir Basil Zaharoff, an equally mysterious individual, little known to the public, says Alice Ziska in the May issue of McClure's Magazine.

And while Zaharoff has industrial holdings throughout the world, the article states, he is best known as one of the chief owners of the historic gambling casino at Monte Carlo which pays dividends of hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

"He is a man of mysterious past," Miss Ziska says. "He might have stepped out of the pages of a novel. Somehow he has managed to surround himself with an atmosphere of secrecy. His movements are always shrouded in darkness."

When he suddenly arrives in Paris, London, Berlin or Constantinople, one of his floating, meteoric visits, no paragraphs in the press announce his arrival. It is an open secret that although he practically owns Monte Carlo, the gambling tables do not interest him.

"He has gained control of newspapers in many countries. He has the ear of prime ministers and presidents. His interests in munitions and oil are colossal. He can hardly estimate his own wealth for it so permeates the financial arteries of Europe that every movement of the political nervous system reacts on his fortunes."

Zaharoff is small, of slender build and distinguished manners and is never seen without a red carnation in his button hole, the writer says. He is of Greek origin, 73 years old, a bachelor and reputedly a widower.

He laid the foundation of his wealth 20 years ago selling munitions to both sides in a South American war.

CHINESE BANDITS BOLDER IN ATTACKING AMERICANS

PEKIN, China.—South China bandits will become bolder now, many Americans here think, because of the reported United States policy not to increase greatly its gunboat patrol in the Yang-tse-kiang, the great river linking Shanghai with the interior.

It is unofficially reported here that the United States navy department has decided to allow only three special boats for the Yangtze patrol. Americans here regard this as entirely insufficient.

America, Great Britain, Japan and France maintain gunboat patrols in this river to protect lives and property of their nationals from attacks by Chinese bandits. These raids occur almost constantly, despite the presence of the foreign forces.

Recently, when bandits attacked an American Presbyterian mission near Sheklung, between Canton and Hongkong, the American consul had to appeal for British gunboats, which came, because the American gunboats were unable to navigate that shallow section of the river.

The Sheklung mission was first attacked in December, the native students carried away and held for ransom. During February bandits attacked the place again, killed one prisoner at the mission gate and posted a notice that unless the ransom was paid the mission would be destroyed. Then the American consul asked for British gunboat relief and the mission was saved.

TAKE SALTS IF RHEUMATISM IS BOTHERING YOU

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts to Get Rid of Toxic Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. It is not the most dangerous of human afflictions. It is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat no sweets for awhile, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid or body waste matter, and is often generated in the bowels and can be driven into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this toxic acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

stated in a research narrative prepared by Dr. H. D. Arnold and G. W. Elmen, research engineers of New York city, and issued by the Engineering foundation.

"To the engineer this discovery will mean the accomplishment of results heretofore believed impossible," it is asserted. Permalloy is described as an alloy of nickel and iron possessing remarkable magnetic properties and as the fruit of scientific research. The article says:

"Announcement is made of a new alloy, called permalloy, which has such remarkable magnetic properties that its use in the manufacture of submarine cables will permit messages to be transmitted at speeds many times that now obtainable, and that is only one of the many applications that this new alloy is sure to find."

"An old message-bearer, the cable, with advantages of control and privacy, has been given 'new wind' in the race with its young rival in service to mankind, 'wireless.'"

DEATH INSURANCE IN GERMANY

BERLIN (By mail to United Press).—Life insurance companies, promising to bury their customers, are doing a land-office business with middle-class and working Germans.

Fear that their bodies might be used for dissection in German medical institutions, or be sold as skeletons to America is causing this great demand for "life insurance," or perhaps in this case more correctly "death insurance."

GOING OUT TONIGHT WITH THAT PIMPLE SHOWING

The boy or girl who has nothing to worry them about the way they look are so much more noticeable when compared to the shrinking and backwardness of the ones who are afraid to mingle in the fun because they know how unattractive they must look on account of their pimply, blotchy or rough, eczemic skin.

Their one friend is Black and White Ointment, if they will just use it faithfully, because it will get rid of those ugly bumps and make their skin soft, smooth and lovely. Then, to keep it that way, be sure to use Black and White Soap when you wash. They are both economically priced in liberal packages. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.—Advertisement.

HOW VEGETABLES RANK IN FOOD VALUE TO PEOPLE

The following list of vegetables arranged in the order of their value may be helpful to the home-maker who is eager to secure from vegetables the greatest contribution they have to offer:

1. Spinach, turnip tops, chard, wild green leaves, cabbage, lettuce, string beans.
2. Potatoes.
3. Carrots.
4. Onions, cauliflower, celery.
5. Parsnips, turnips.
6. Sweet potatoes, beets.
7. Asparagus, Brussels sprouts.
8. Cucumbers, eggplant, peppers, pumpkin, squash.

Leaves, including string beans, hold the most conspicuous place among all the vegetables, because they are rich in all the materials for which vegetables rank well. Those which are eaten raw have no successful competitors among any foods as far as vitamins are concerned. Although it is true that a serving of leaves weighs about half that of a serving of roots or tubers, leaves have more than twice as much iron and in many cases they are richer in vitamins.

It is fortunate indeed that the potato has survived the dietary changes of civilization, because it is a close second to leaves in the food materials that it contains. It is fair in iron and vitamin A and good in vitamins B and C. Carrots also hold an enviable place among the roots because they are good in vitamin A and fair in B and C. Parsnips and turnips are unusual in their content of lime and good in vitamin B. From the Delineator for June.

BUSINESS MEN LIKE LUNCHEON WELL ARRANGED

Right Selection of Food Is Essential to Properly Balanced Meal.

By MARY I. BARBER, Kellogg Co. Do you remember the song from a recent musical comedy "What makes the business man tired? Only the business man knows?"

A poor selection of food is one thing that may make anyone tired. One of our most interesting indoor sports in restaurants is noticing what business men and women choose for their luncheon. A very common selection is meat, potatoes, white bread and butter, coffee and pie.

"Well, what is the matter with that?" Someone may say. The matter is that this meal contains practically no regulating material. By regulating material we mean foods that are rich in fibre, minerals or vitamins.

Vegetables, such as spinach and cabbage are blessed with all three of these characteristics. Bran and whole wheat are also regulating foods. Fruits and milk (on account of the mineral and vitamin content) should have a place on the menu every day.

If the business man would add spinach or lettuce to his meat and potato meal, he would feel less tired later in the day. It is also probable that he would be less likely to suffer later on from the so-called middle age diseases.

If a man eats meat for dinner and possibly for breakfast, a wise selection for luncheon is eggs, a green vegetable, salad, bran muffins and dessert. If a heavier meal is required, a cream soup may be added. The main dish of eggs may be varied by a cheese dish, shad roe, sole or other fish. In warm weather, salad may often form the chief part of the meal. Stuffed eggs, cottage cheese, shrimp with celery, tomato stuffed with chicken, and vegetable salads are all satisfying.

Over-eating at noon makes one sleepy. Foods containing little or no regulating material cause "that tired feeling." The business man can avoid this by an intelligent choice of his mid-day meal.

Suggestions for Business Men's Luncheons.

Vegetable soup, crackers, cheese and lettuce sandwich on bran bread, custard pie, milk. Corn Flakes with berries and cream. Vegetable salad, rolls, pudding, coffee. Graham crackers and milk. Soup (use bran instead of crackers), egg salad. Biscuit, baked apple. Broiled ham, candied sweet potatoes, cabbage, bran muffins, fruit gelatine, tea.

BOSTONIA PIE

One cup of grated pineapple, walnut meats, one cup strawberries, one-half pint cream, sugar.

Bake a pie shell of nice rich pie-crust to a golden brown and fill with the following:

Drain all juice from the pineapple, add one tablespoonful of sugar. Place this layer on the bottom of the crust. Crush the strawberries and sweeten to taste. Spread over the pineapple. Whip the cream and spread over all. Sprinkle with English walnut meats. Do not fill the crust until ready to serve.—From the Designer magazine for June.

Electrification of the 12-story office building recently constructed for the Union Oil company at Seventh and Hope streets, Los Angeles, required among other supplies, four million feet of insulated wire, 800,000 feet of flexible conduit, 900 duplex convenience outlets, and 700 tumbler switches.

Book Of Hogarth's Engravings In Given To Wrenn Library

AUSTIN, May 30.—The shelves of the Wrenn Library of the University of Texas have received another volume. Theodore Mack of Fort Worth visited the library recently and left a copy of William Hogarth's engravings. The title page bears no date, but Mr. Mack stated that the copy is one printed by subscription, and purchased by his father some 50 years ago. It contains about 150 steel engravings, made from original pictures, by William Hogarth, the English artist.

The book covers a great number of subjects, and pictures the life of the time with a vividness which is sometimes even gruesome. Hogarth was a master of detail, and leaves out nothing necessary to the clearness of his theme. One set of engravings which give a particularly clear view of some of the practices of the day are the "progress of Cruelty."

Hogarth takes his hero, Tom Nero, through a series of episodes in which the young man views and practices certain cruelties. At last he commits a horrible murder and is himself dispatched in the most cruel manner. The series of pictures shows the dulling of the senses through subjection to repeated cruel scenes.

The last picture, the scene of the "Reward of Cruelty," shows Tom Nero surrounded by his judges and the doctors who are inflicting the unthinkable tortures which are a reward for his life of cruelty. The book is filled with other pictures of the life of the day; many of them satirical; some of them crude to twentieth century senses, but all of them true and clear.

Hogarth's engraving is the second book which Mr. Mack has given to the Wrenn library. The first book, presented two years ago, was the personal copy of Oliver Ellsworth, chief justice of the superior court of Connecticut. The book is a copy of the first published law reports of a court in the United States, and was published in 1789.

Owners of the field are said to have already received over half a million rupees in selling the rough gems.

SEASON OF SUMMER LINGERIE GIVES PLEASANT OCCUPATION TO WOMEN WHO LIKE SIMPLE SEWING

By HEDDA HOYT (Fashion Editor of the United Press) NEW YORK, May 22.—This is the month that many women devote a week's time toward making their summer underwear. Undergarments have never been so simple to make as they are this season, and women who feel that they are not adept enough at sewing to make their gowns often find that undergarments require little skill. It is much cheaper to make them one's self than to purchase them in the shops.

Of course, every woman is well aware of the fashions in silk lingerie. Those who can afford silk will have no trouble in copying the silk models in the shops. This year, however, we find that lingerie voile is a new material sponsored for undergarments, which comes in almost every conceivable pastel shade. This voile launders well and holds its color. It is soft and better qualities are almost as transparent as georgette. The price of lingerie voile ranges from 28 cents a yard to 50 cents a yard, so it comes within the means of everyone.

Shops and department stores are selling ready-made garments of voile which can be easily copied. These are usually trimmed in contrasting colors, rather than with lace. A model which is most attractive consists of step-ins and separate top, which is made the length of the average skirt. The step-ins are banded in slightly at the knees by a turn-back cuff of contrasting voile. The upper portion, or overvest, extends to about hip length and is likewise finished with a turnback cuff of contrasting shade. This vest is worn outside the step-ins, taking the place of the corset cover or chemise. Step-ins this season are made more scant than last season and they are extremely short in many cases.

There are many ways of trimming the voile undergarment. One of the most effective ways is the trimming of tiny squares of contrasting shade which are applied onto the garment. These squares are often embroidered in monograms or floral designs. Again the voile may be bordered with the buttonhole stitch as a finish. Where the shoulder straps are made of voile this is a pretty finish. Colors that are frequently used together are pink and blue, yellow and lavender, green and rose, black and yellow and pink and orchid.

Jersey silk tubing in all shades is sold by the yard for the making of silk undervests. The average woman requires only three-quarters of a yard of this material. It is being sold at many shops for $1.25 per yard. The simplest way to make these vests is to hem the top and bottom edges and add shoulder straps of ribbon, but the woman who wishes a garment to have some shape, prefers to split the tubing and use a vest pattern. By doing this one has a better fitting garment and the only additional sewing is the two side seams. If the material which is cut off at the sides, which is on the lengthwise of the material, is used to bind the top of the vest, the vest will be firmer about the top and not have a tendency to stretch.

Colored costume slips are designed for the colored frock. Each frock this season must have a slip of its own, as the days of the white slip are over. Voile is used to make many of these colored slips, the material being doubled to form a wide, sun-proof border.

The fastidious woman likes to have complete sets of one color. That is, she will have one complete set of pink lingerie, including silk vest, step-ins and costume slip, one set of lavender, a set of Nile green, a set of yellow, etc. By making these things herself, she can be well groomed as to underwear at small expense. Where the costume slip is used one need not wear a chemise. Vest, brassiers, step-ins, and costume slip are all that are required.

Voile nightgowns are also popular this season. These are simply made and bound about the neck and armholes in contrasting shade. Application of contrasting colored voile may be used as trimming. One lovely gown of Nile green has a spray of pink roses with dark green stem and leaves applied as a corsage. The gown is bound about neck and armholes in dark green, the shade of the leaves.

FAT MAN WINS BIG VICTORY IN HEAT HANDICAP

PITTSBURG, Pa.—If you are fat you don't get hot in the summer, for it is only the lean ones who suffer from the rays of old Sol. This was discovered by the United States bureau of mines workers here in tests and thus another accepted myth crumbled.

Fat men do get warm in the summer time, but they are not hot compared to their thin brothers, the tests showed. In a specially constructed room experiments were made to ascertain just how heat conditions affect miners.

Fat and thin men were taken into the hot room and when they came out of the modern inferno they were not so nearly exhausted as the thin men. The stout men, however, lost more weight than the thin ones.

Pulse rate, rather than rise in body temperature, apparently determines the extent of discomfort caused by high temperature.

BRITISH TURN DOWN THE DIESEL ENGINE

LONDON.—American enthusiasm for the Diesel internal-combustion engine makes no impression on the British admiralty, which has just decided, in the face of a certain amount of local agitation, not to install internal combustion engines in the five new cruisers now to be built.

"Too great an experiment," is the admiralty's verdict. It is understood that the British experts say that the cruisers must be able to do better than the 33 knots an hour now achieved by the Japanese cruisers, and must have a cruising radius so great that they can drop from Portsmouth navy yard down into the Mediterranean without stopping.

They are not satisfied that the Diesel can meet this strain, although admittedly superior for the merchant ship.

Hartford, Conn., has a unique garage which cares not only for electric trucks but also supplies batteries for 63 of the 70 electric taxicabs in the garage. For the nine months ended Jan. 31, 1924, the 63 trucks run by garage-supplied batteries ran 327,676 car miles and hauled 607,200 ton-miles of freight. For charging the batteries of these 63 trucks the garage purchased about 636,000 kilowatt hours of electricity at a cost of about $11,950. Thus the cost of electricity for these trucks was just under two cents per ton-mile.

Vogues In Foods Too, Says Fashion Writer

THERE are vogues in foods, as well as in clothes, according to Ruth Stuyvesant, well known New York fashion editor, who in the intervals of interpreting to her readers the vagaries of the mode, finds time to philosophize on culinary matters. "Take carrots, for instance," said Miss Stuyvesant, "sitting the action to the word. 'Have you noticed the sudden wave of popularity for this vegetable. This is probably due to the enthusiasm of the beauty experts, from whose writings one gathers that it was a carrot and not an apple which figured in the famous judgement of Paris, the first beauty contest on record. Be that as it may, carrots, especially at this time of the year, merit all the good things one can say of them, so I am going to give you a favorite recipe of mine for Carrot Fritters. Take 1 cup flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 2-3 cup of milk. Sift the dry ingredients together, add the beaten egg and milk and beat until smooth. Force 3 cooked carrots through a sieve before adding. Beat thoroughly and drop by spoonfuls into hot crisco. Drain and serve hot.

Alterations Change "Old Timer" Into Modern Dwelling Of Charm and Beauty

Copyright, 1924 The Herald Company New York City

Frequently one house of pleasing lines and architectural beauty will contribute to the dignity and beauty of a whole neighborhood. In the same manner one ill designed, out of date house will spoil the effect of good looking modern houses. It is a comparatively simple and inexpensive operation to dress up the "old timer."

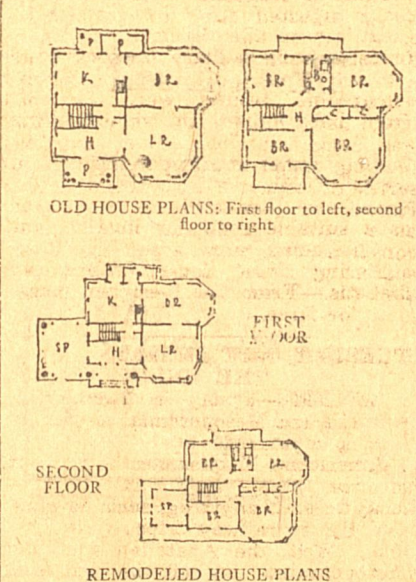

One thousand dollars spent for proper alterations along modern lines will not only improve the comfort and beauty but may double the actual value of the property, especially if located in a prosperous residential section.

Changes for Economy In almost every community in the United States there are to be found a large number of old fashioned houses of doubtful architectural beauty and lacking the comforts and conveniences of the modern home. To tear them down and build from the ground would be a tremendous economic waste. But, as the houses now stand, no one wants to live in them if he can possibly afford anything more attractive and modern in appearance.

People who live in these old places are gradually coming to realize that a few well planned little changes and alterations will work wonders. Compared with new houses it costs but little to remodel an old house and make it really attractive and worth a great deal more money.

The "before and after" illustrations accompanying this article are ample proof of what can be accomplished with approximately one thousand dollars spent on the awkward looking bay window houses found in almost every community.

Change in Roof Transforms Looks A complete change in exterior appearance has been gained by bringing the main roof down in a long slope to cover a new porch. A shingled

GARDENS THAT GIVE RESULTS WORTH WHILE

Ten Good Seeds More Valuable Than a Thousand Poor Ones.

By SETH W. SHOEMAKER, Director, School of Agriculture, International Correspondence Schools, Scranton, Pa.

No gardener with any regard for his pocketbook or his soils will ever bother with poor seed. With good seed it is possible to make a good garden with many other conditions unfavorable but with poor seed it is practically impossible to make any garden at all.

Generally speaking, the high priced seeds are usually the best in the long run. The cost of seed is such a small item compared with the cost of the working, fertilizers, etc., that there is never any economy in using poor seed, as this may overcome all of the other favorable factors.

Naturally, you ask how can we tell a good seed from a poor one? You cannot. Seeds have to be bought on faith. The reputation of the firm offering them is practically the only guarantee you have of their quality. All seedsmen make the same statements about the quality of their seed. But only some of these are true. And the wise gardener who has some regard for his efforts and hopes to get a good return from his labor will not buy the first package of seeds that is offered to him but will inquire carefully into the reputation of the firm or person offering the seeds for sale.

Benjamin Franklin once said that "He who follows the plow puts his trust in the Lord." He who plants seed puts his trust in the seedsmen. Good seeds are seeds that are grown on the plants on the proper soil under proper climatic conditions and handled conscientiously in the most approved manner. It is not possible to practice psycho-analysis on the seeds. You must know what has transpired during the production of the seed or you must take somebody else's word for it. As it is practically impossible for the amateur gardener to grow his own seed, the only thing he can do is to rely on somebody else's statement.

Gardeners who wish to secure special kinds of vegetable seeds should order early this year, as many kinds of seeds are scarce because of the unfavorable season last year. Many seed houses are this year advising their customers of this fact so that those who are anxious to secure their regular allotment will be able to do so.

POLITICAL MUTINEERS.

There is mutiny in the ranks of organized politics of the United States, according to Stanley Frost in the American Outlook. "The revolt against politics," he declares, "has been clear for some year to those who could see, though this does not include most politicians. There has been going on an unintended education of voters with which the average party worker has not kept up. For a long time people in revolt against one party would merely turn to the other. It took generations for them to make certain that this left them no better off. Then for a while they tried various political patent medicines, and it took other generations to learn that these were usually worthless. The two lessons have been crystallizing for the last 15 years into a vague but deep desire for a new deal all around. The number who share this desire, and still more the number who are willing to do something about it, has been increasing steadily."

Mr. Frost might have stated with equal truth that this revolt is not

BRAZIL AMBITIOUS TO SEND SWIMMERS TO OLYMPIC GAMES

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 1.—Brazil hopes to have a representation at the Olympic games in Paris this year, but so far nothing tangible in the matter of expense money has appeared.

The government has voted large credits to cover the expenses of a Brazilian representation at the games but the government has yet to borrow the money to cover these credits.

If Brazil goes to the games she will be represented by some good swimmers, rowers and track and field athletes. An association football team might also go along.

Brazilian sportsmen and Americans acquainted with the type of swimmers this country produces, feel that it would be shameful should this country fail to have some swimmer at least representing her at Paris.

Robert Fowler, American coach of the Brazilian army and navy athletes declared to the United Press that no other country in the world, excepting United States and Canada, produces better all-round swimmers than does Brazil.

FEEDING OF BABY CHICKS IS MATTER OF UTMOST IMPORTANCE

How many farm people follow the same method of feeding baby chicks each year? How many have a real method to follow? So many give the baby chicks just what seems to be the most handy at the time they come off. There is a few things that should always be borne in mind when the spring season of raising chicks opens up. The one big thing that you are looking for from that bunch of chicks is a goodly number of well matured pullets the following fall that will give you good egg production during the winter. In order to have this, it is necessary that these chicks should be given the best of care from the time they hatch until they are placed in the laying houses.

To Develop Chicks There are any number of ways of feeding to develop the chicks but no matter what system followed there are a few things that must be remembered. Possibly the most important is that these chicks must not be overfed. They should always be kept with a keen appetite and always ready to eat. This cannot be done if feed is thrown out to them in quantities too large for them to consume. Overfeeding has caused great losses and the cause has been accredited to some disease. Overfeeding will cause the baby chicks to have diarrhea and many cases are reported that this often prevent this trouble.

Not everyone is yet ready to accept the fact that nature has provided for the baby chicks the first few hours of feeding. Those that do not accept this fact will continue to lose baby chicks from what they term diarrhea when they give the chicks anything to eat before they are 48 to 60 hours old. During the process of incubation the yolk of the egg is taken into the chick's body just before it hatches and this acts as a source of supply for a few hours.

Digestible Food. The first feed should be something that is easily digested and should be bulky. Oat meal or rolled oats are good. If this is not available, wheat bran will answer the purpose. It is really good practice to start chicks off on hard boiled eggs as this is too heavy a feed for them. Another common feed used over the state is corn bread. This might do for a while but should not be fed for long to the exclusion of everything else. Aside from giving the baby chicks something that they can digest easily they should be given something that will start them growing. The best thing for this is sour milk. Sour milk will not only do this, but it will help to eliminate the diarrhea trouble in many cases. A good practice is to give them a couple of swallows of milk the first thing after taking them out of the incubator.

The following schedule will, no doubt, help many in formulating a good system for feeding baby chicks bearing in mind that this is arranged for baby chicks that have access to range conditions or at least are not confined within a house all the time. If this is followed, it will bring pullets to good maturity and early production. Poorly fed chicks develop into small hens that will lay small eggs and sell for less on the market when disposed of. Give the baby chicks their chance and they will pay for all it costs to produce them and more too.

Remove the chicks from the incubator in the evening when they are about 36 to 48 hours old. If possible give the chicks each a couple of swallows of sour milk. The following morning provide the chicks with sharp sand, water and scur milk. Give them their first meal. Good feed for the first time is rolled oats, or ordinary oatmeal.

Feed It Dry First week: Scratch grain. Feed as directed. One part finely cracked corn or kafir; one part cracked wheat; one part steel cut oats. Feed five times daily, but never all they will eat, except the last feeding at night. Second week: Same as first, except feed only four times daily. Third to eight weeks: Same as first two weeks, but feed three times daily.

Ninth week to maturity: Two parts cracked corn or kafir; two parts of wheat; one part oats.

Mash Before Chicks at All Times. Bran. Two parts bran; one part middlings; one part sifted ground oats; one part corn meal.

FOOD VALUE OF GELATIN

A scientific investigation of the food value of gelatin was made at the University of Pittsburgh. It is not surprising to learn that American made gelatin is the purest in the world, but to those who have considered this item of diet solely as a palatable or decorative addition to other foods, its nutrition value will come as a revelation. Seventy-five separate applications of gelatin to food users were made in the course of the investigation with the result that the product is disclosed to be the most easily digested form of protein, a great aid to the digestion of other foods, especially dairy products, and a source of physical energy. Really remarkable results were reported from baby clinics in which gelatin was combined with other foods in feeding under-nourished infants. A series of separate experiments confirmed the popular belief in gelatin as a suitable food for invalids and convalescents, more especially those suffering from fever, tuberculosis, diabetes.—From the Designer magazine for June.

TUESDAY, NOT FRIDAY.

THE UNLUCKY DAY LONDON.—Friday is Tuesday in Anatolia and Mesopotamia, as far as luck is concerned.

Americans, Englishmen and a lot of other people may think it's unlucky to start anything, such as married life or railway trips, on a Friday. Well, the Anatolians and the Mesopotamians can tell the Yankees, the Britons and the most that they are all wrong about this business, because Tuesday is the day to go easy with.

A Constantinople subscriber has written his favorite London newspaper saying the Turks consider the third day of the week "a day of evil omen, simply because the Greeks regarded it as such after the fall of Constantinople."

An Athens contributor thinks, however, that the superstition dates back farther than that, probably to Babylonian days. Christians in Kurdistan, he says, explain their own observance of Tuesday as unlucky day by saying it was then that Judas drove his bargain with the chief priests. Yet, on the other hand, he adds, the same superstition prevails among the Mussulman and Yezidis.

What Man Will Be Like Within Next Five Hundred Years

LONDON.—Prof. A. M. Low, a British scientist of note, has contributed to the London Daily Express an interesting forecast of what man will be like in 500 years. Professor Low says:

"The past 500 years have seen a gradual change in man. His physical powers have become weaker, his senses are less keen, his teeth are worse, and he would be unable to stand for any length of time the hardships of his forebears. This weakening process will not stop today. Therefore, in considering the average man of 500 years hence, we must obviously expect him to be a far weaker creature than he is today owing to the use of many artificial aids.

"We cannot expect any striking physical changes in the man of 2425, for it takes thousands of years to alter our structure, but he will in all probability seek to improve his body by grafting and electrical treatment and by permanently fixed mechanical appliances, such as sight correctors—a great improvement on the present clumsy glasses.

"He will dress in sensible and comfortable one-piece clothing in place of the absurdly complicated form of clothes worn at the present and, owing to increase in baldness, will wear a hat of some description practically all the time.

Eat Less Food. "Just as our modern meals are of less importance to us than the 'spreads' of olden times, so will the future man pay even less attention to food; one meal a day will possibly suffice, assisted if necessary by 'snacks' in concentrated form, and compared with today, his standard of living will be extremely luxurious.

His lower limbs will become atrophied from disuse, for his methods of travel on moving sidewalks and communicating by radio will render any strenuous travel unnecessary. "The education standard will be very high, without any exception; thought will be an infinitely quicker process, and all amusements will be of an intellectual variety. Games of brute strength will die out, boxing will be regarded much as we regard the brutal prize fights of by gone days, and in every way it will be an age of brains and not brawn.

Scientific Love "He will treat women in what we should regard as a most casual manner. He will think nothing of stopping one for a light for his pipe. By 2425 women will have educated and advanced themselves more rapidly than at present seems possible, and will thus be in a position to compete with man in every way. However, as he will scientifically understand 'love' he will treat it with far greater respect.

"His life will be, relatively speaking, far more complex than ours, and by 2425 the study of wave motion will have led to the habitual use of wireless sight, and many other developments of that period. The mental transference of thought, at present claimed by many tricksters, but not scientifically fact, will be thoroughly understood, and that point alone will increase efficiency and speed up his mode of life generally. He will most certainly use a shorter phonetic system of spelling."

More than two million tons of ice are manufactured by electricity in New York City each year. Delivery, formerly done by horse drawn trucks, is likewise becoming an electrical operation. At present there are over 50 electric trucks in use by ice companies of the city.

Electric pad is chick's Step-Mother The electric pad is now serving as "step mother" for many broods of fluty chicks that have been abandoned by their mothers. Also, it is said that many people find the electric pad a very good substitute for a hen that has deserted the nest just before hatching time.

U. S. RUGBY TEAM REAL OLYMPIC STARS

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 30.—Rugby football is one of the minor competitions on the Olympic sport program. Many Americans would not have known there was a team representing the United States in the Olympic rugby matches at Paris if the rotten treatment the Americans received from the French had not landed on the first page of all the big papers. Perhaps it was fortunate that the poor sportsmanship of the French people did serve to advertise the American team, for without that publicity they might have fought and won, without recognition.

The American boys went to Antwerp in 1920, and won the Olympic rugby championship against tremendous odds. It was a great victory, but it never received the proper recognition.

Even the American newspaper men didn't have time in the hectic rush of covering tennis, track and field, swimming, wrestling and boxing, which were going on simultaneously, to give much attention to the football players.

One afternoon several American scribers were leaving the Antwerp stadium, rather weary after a tedious day of fighting for space on the cables, when they noticed a big squad of athletes, wearing American shields working out on a field back of the stadium. It was not until one of them had inquired that it was learned that the American rugby team was in the football competition.

Of all the American athletes who won championships at Antwerp, the rugby football players received the smallest credit, although, under the circumstances, their accomplishment represented as much American spunk grit and merit as was shown by any American athletes entered in the games.

This year, however, the American rugby team has earned the credit and the tribute that goes with a brilliant performance and their victory will go down as the most distinguished victory that can be won by the United States at Paris.

Consider what rugby is in the United States, what it is in the foreign countries and what an American victory means against such competition! Rugby is practically extinct in the United States. Since the big California universities went back to the American style of college football, about eight years ago, the game has been played only by a few college players who kept up competition merely for the exercise. When rugby was in vogue in this country, it was confined exclusively to the state of California, and California colleges play rugby now, but it is regarded so little that not even a minor sport letter is given to the players.

Many of the players who went to Paris and won the championship by beating the French team 17 to 3, had not played from the time they left Antwerp four years ago until they went out to train for this team.

Under these circumstances, the Americans were presented with the same difficulties that a French baseball team would have in beating the pennant winner of a Class A league, let alone the winner of the world's series.

The actions of the crowd in Paris in hissing the players, insulting the flag and drowning out the notes of the "Star Spangled Banner" were detestable in themselves, but they were despicable when all the facts of the case are considered.

The new electric siren that is only a few inches high has a screech sufficiently strong to rouse a small town. It comes to fill a place which neither the steam nor air siren has been able to fill because these can only be operated while steam or air pressure is obtainable; whereas electricity is always available. As a burglar alarm for banks it is particularly useful, as it may be sounded from any point. The larger ones are recommended for outdoor use and fire signaling.

CHAPLIN AND CHALIAPIN.

When Chaliapin, the famous Russian baritone, visited Los Angeles on a concert tour recently, he went out to Charlie Chaplin's studio. They say every famous person who comes to town shows up sooner or later at the Chaplin studio, and Charlie immediately stops work because he is so horribly self-conscious he can't work in front of them. In a week, if you work at Chaplin's, you are apt to meet Chaliapin, Hugh Walpole, Ben-ny Leonard, William Jennings Bryan and Professor Coxe.

light all the way through the many reels—sang anything and everything that came to his mind. When it was over, he thanked Mr. Chaplin for the entertainment. "You have been so kind for to show me this pictures," he said. "And you have been kind to give me such a wonderful concert," said Charlie, and they parted with mutual smiles of admiration.—Photoplay Magazine.

PARIS—Rene Foglietti was wounded at the front in 1914 and later rejoined his regiment and served gallantly throughout the remainder of the war. He made a trip to Rambervillers and walked through the military cemetery there. He saw a cross bearing his name, the name and number of his regiment and the date when he entered service in 1908. Now he is trying to get the cross removed.

ELECTRICITY PROMISES GREAT AID TO FARMER

Plow to Work While Master Sleeps Is Improvement That Is Forecast.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 23.—An electric plow which can be started in the evening so that the farmer can go to bed and the plow work all night is forecast in a report of the rural electric service committee of the National Electric Light association, just presented to the association's convention here. Experiments with such a plow are now being carried on, says the report which continues: "Electrical service is just beginning to be used in agriculture. It is expected that within the next 10 or 15 years there will be radical changes in the method of carrying on agriculture, largely because of the introduction of electric service to the farm. This is going to lighten the work of the housewife and make her work much more pleasant. It is going to make the farm home a safer place on account of better lighting; in addition it is going to make it possible for one man to do the work now done by three or four men and to do that work very easily.

MANUFACTURERS FAVORED

Discussing the effect of deflation on agricultural interests, Senator Brookhart quoted the Manufacturers Record as saying that the decline in value of farms in 1920 and '21 amounted to about $15,000,000,000. The decline in prices of farm products during these two years amounted to about $14,000,000,000 additional, making a total loss of about $32,000,000,000 to the farmers. Senator Brookhart charged that this was entirely due to manipulation by the Federal Reserve bank officials, and in the interests of foreign loans and the flotation of great industrial securities. He compared the agricultural business with the steel business showing that for 15 years steel rails had sold in Pittsburgh at $28 per ton. Bought anywhere else the freight was added, yet in Winnepeg the rails were sold for $20 per ton.

SALE OF FIREARMS INCREASES CRIME

But few states have laws prohibiting the indiscriminate sale of firearms, and in most cases the laws are practically a dead letter. Lawmakers are of the opinion that a federal law prohibiting the manufacture of firearms, except under government contract and license, would be unconstitutional. It appears that the only way to stamp out the general use of concealed weapons and the increasing number of murders is by some such uniform law and the bill introduced by Senator Copeland of New York providing for a federal license tax of $100 on every weapon, and $1.00 for every bullet or cartridge, is destined to meet the necessities. The measure will have the enthusiastic support not only of every police official and officer, but of all law-abiding citizens.
