All incoming and outgo ing parcel post packages, except C. O D., will be handled from the new lo ation during the holidays. The change was effected this morning.
Postmaster Kelly has been looking for a suitable building for this section of the mail for some time. Twelve additional clerks will be put to work handling the great vol-ume of Christmas mail. An extra parcel post waron is already at work naking deliveries Incoming and outgoing packages had so crowded the postoffice yester-day that it was difficult for clerks to move around. Mr. Kelly stated today that through the use of the new quarters on Pine street, he will be in a nosition to effectively handle the hristmas rush. Reliable information received here coday indicates that there have bee seven bids submitted to Inspector McManus. of Abilone, for new quar-ters for the postoffice.

Mr. McManus recently stated that the department will attempt to have the office moved into new quarters by the first or middle of January. The present arrangement for the use o temporary and will not affect the proposition for changing the postofice to larger quarters Notices of narcels received at the Pine street office will be mailed out from the main office, as heretofor.
