

SHE'S TIRED OF HOME RUN LIKE POLICE STATION

NEW YORK, March 31.—When former Police Captain John J. Collins had anything to say to his wife he wrote it, saluting her as "My Dear Madam," and subscribing himself "respectfully," according to the testimony of Mrs. Collins today in the trial of a suit for alimony pending separation. Decision was reserved.

The plaintiff declared her household, at the order of her husband, was conducted on the basis of a police precinct, with station rules and regulations. Collins took her to church, the wife testified, but never to picture shows. As an example of the "cruel and inhuman treatment," from which she seeks relief, the following epistle was offered as evidence:

"Dear Madam: Upon your repeated requests the following agreement between us was entered into June 10, 1919. I was to provide you with a home allowance of $28 weekly for table expenses, $3 a week for laundry and sufficient for clothing for yourself and children. In return for same you were properly to care for the house, provide an adequate amount of food for the family and co-operate with me.

"You have not complied with the above-mentioned agreement, and violated the same as follows:

1. Failure to co-operate.
  2. Deserted home from about 9 a. m. Saturday, May 7, 1921, leaving no one in charge; returning 11 p. m. Sunday, May 8, 1921, leaving mechanics working there in violation of my wishes.
  3. Failure to provide and prepare food during the above-mentioned period.
  4. Left house with no one in charge for several hours Saturday afternoon, May 14, 1921.
  5. Deserted home about 8:30 p. m. Saturday, March 14, 1921, returning 12 midnight.
- "As a result of these violations I will be compelled to make other arrangements. Respectfully,
"John J. Collins."

TWO-YEAR-OLD GIRL SWIMS FOR LIFE IN POND

SACRAMENTO, March 31.—Two year-old Velma Anderson fell into a pond three feet deep near her home here yesterday. She came to the surface and swam nearly half way across the pond before her mother waded in and rescued her.

The mother, a brother and sister who witnessed the spectacle, reported that little Velma kicked her feet and swung her arms in a natural unison, propelling herself sturdily.

PORCUPINE AVENGES ITS DEATH ON MOUNTAIN LION

STEVENSVILLE, Mont., March 31.—A dead mountain lion, victim of its own rapacity, is on exhibition here.

Two hunters found the beast. An examination of its mouth showed it had attempted to feast upon a porcupine. Aggravating darts had become imbedded in the membrane, preventing the animal from eating.

IT'S 'COURTING,' NOT 'SPOONING,' THAT PASTOR FAVORS IN CHURCH

SPOKANE, Wash., March 31.—Exception to news accounts quoting him as favoring "spooning" in Baptist Young People's society meetings, is taken by Dr. Owen C. Brown, Los Angeles head of adult work for the American Baptist Publication society. The term he used, he declared, was "courting."

"Courting" is one of the most sacred expressions in life, but "spooning" suggests a different meaning," he declared. "Christian homes are the salvation of America, and church and Sunday school teachers should do their utmost to see that our future homes are Christian."

"I much prefer having matches made in the midst of Christian influences rather than with our young people outside, which often have a tendency to lead away from the church."

50,000,000 BARRELS OF OIL IN COLO. SHALES EXPERTS SAY

DENVER, March 31.—Colorado oil shales contain twice as much oil as has been produced in the United States to date. This was the statement of P. G. Worcester of the University of Colorado in an address before members of the Lions' club.

"There are 50,000,000 barrels of oil in Colorado shales to be recovered," he said. "The state has a fifty-foot bed of shale covering 2,000 square miles. The recent development of coal, carnotite, shale, molybdenum, uranium and other non-metallic resources have more than accounted for the loss in copper, silver, lead and gold."

ATTACKED BY MAD COYOTE, KILLS IT WITH HIS HANDS

RENO, Nev., March 31.—Mil Tellechea, a shepherd from Amadeo, Cal., has arrived in Reno to take the Pasteur treatment following a desperate battle with a supposedly rabid coyote.

Tellechea choked the animal to death with his bare hands after it had dashed upon him. One of Tellechea's hands was bitten.

DRY LAW CHASES RED NOSES, SAYS PHOTOGRAPHER

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 31.—"It is easier to photograph men now than in the old alcoholic days," declares Thomas Noble, who has been telling customers to "look pleasant" for more than a third of a century.

"But the women more than use up the time saved on the men," he adds. "The retoucher gives a figh of satisfaction at the absence of red noses and 'juniper berries,' but sharpens his pencil afresh for cheeks represented by spots of burning red in snowbanks of white powder," explains Noble.

"These spots would look like hollows in the picture but for the skill of the retoucher, who finds that over-the-counter facial decorations give new literalness to the term 'artist photographer.'"

More husbands and wives pose for pictures together than in the old Bacchanalian days, and few pictures remain uncalled for, testified the veteran photographer.

Willetta Huggins, Wisconsin's remarkable blind and deaf girl, and Helen Keller, blind, deaf and formerly dumb, recently conversed by placing their hands on the face and chest of each other.

SLAPPED BY MOTHER-IN-LAW, HUSBAND'S DIVORCE PLEA

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—Testifying his wife took her career "altogether too seriously" and was aided and abetted by her parents, Walter Quimby was granted a divorce from Mildred Quimby.

Once, Quimby said he remonstrated with his wife for her alleged association with a man musician, whereupon his mother-in-law slapped his face.

COAL STRIKE TACTICS.

Suppose, during the closing days of the war, the allied powers had refused to accept the capitulation of Austria because Germany was still fighting? That would have been a blunder which would have retired the person responsible to the far edges of the back woods. For it is a recognized fact that if one can take a portion of his opponents out of action, his chances with the remainder are bettered.

And yet that reasoning does not seem to appeal to the coal miners' executives. They are going to smash the whole front at once and refuse to do any nibbling or infiltration into the operators' position. Perhaps they know what they are doing, but the chances are they do not. Otherwise, they would wage an industrial war on a saner basis.

It seems that there are sections where a wage scale could be agreed to. By signing in those districts, they would at once lessen the number of their opponents, put those opponents under the flank fire of seeing other coal operators taking their markets away from them, and increase their own warchest.

But by forcing the friendly employees to line up with those unfriendly, they strengthen the opposition, without helping their own cause in the districts where the fight is hardest. They absolutely deprive themselves of money. The families of half a million men must be fed while they are idle, and with no one working. Where is the money to come from? But suppose half that number were at work at the rate of pay the union demands, then those miners would have money to assist their workless fellows, while the holdout operators would see the nation getting along without their goal.

Simple, isn't it?
The great trouble with the miners is that they still seem to figure in income by the day, when it should be figured so as to bring the maximum return for the week, month, or year. They have quite possibly put the daily rate so high that it results in loss of business and thus cuts their yearly income. That should be remedied, to the benefit of the miners, the operators and the public.

Perhaps the government will settle the coal strike. Certainly, if the government does not, one side or other is bound to win in a more or less drawn out struggle. Meanwhile, a large part of the country will be put to inconvenience and loss by lack of fuel.

But Ranger has gas to burn.

ARMOUR DRAWS
$1.50 PER DAY
ASK. C. WITNESS

CHICAGO, March 31.—J. Ogden Armour has experienced that "grand and glorious feeling" that comes from an unexpected acquisition of money.
Deputy United States Marshal Thomas Henneberry called at the offices of the multimillionaire packer and handed him the sum of $46.60.
The money amounts to railroad fare to Kansas City and return at the rate of 5 cents per mile and wages of $1.50 for one day's services as a witness in court.

BRECK MAN CHARGED WITH FORGING DRAFTS

BRECKENRIDGE, March 31.—J. L. Cunningham was arrested by Sheriff L. D. Head today on charges of forgery. Cunningham is alleged to have drawn sight drafts on the Humble Oil & Refining company and cashed them at local stores and the bank.
The drafts, it is said, aggregated more than $400. His bond was set at $2,500, which he had not made at a late hour Thursday.

STUDENTS NEAR CLASH WITH COLO. LEGION MEN

COLORADO SPRINGS, March 31.—A clash between American Legion members and students of Colorado college was feared today following a night of near rioting in and about the campus.
American Legion members took offense at the alleged action of students in flying the American flag at half mast in dozens of places around the campus, an indication, according to the students, that "Colorado college is dead." Legionnaires, it is reported, threatened to "teach the college students respect for the flag."
Friction between President Duniway and college students has existed for several weeks. The board of trustees announced support of Duniway and a student strike was immediately threatened.
Police guards are stationed about the college today.

STEPHENVILLE, March 31.—A. L. Ward was found in an unconscious condition at his grist mill with a broken left arm, about noon yesterday. It is supposed he was caught in a belt. He was taken to Fort Worth for examination.

Mother, if you can not go out to get a bottle of S. S. S. yourself, surely somebody in your family will. Somebody, get a bottle of S. S. S. now! Let somebody's mother begin to feel joyful again tonight. Maybe, maybe it's your mother! S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. This larger size is the more economical."

How glad you will feel, mother, when your rheumatism is all gone. Let S. S. S. do it. It will build you up, too!

WIFE'S FOLKS USURPED HIS HOME, DEMANDED WORK FOR THEM AND DROVE HIM OUT, SAYS HUSBAND, 70

DENVER, March 31.—George Taylor, 70 years old, has filed a charge against his wife's adult relatives, alleging that they have usurped his house and home, driven him to sleeping in the kitchen or in the parks, demanded that he go to work and support them and talked his wife of two years into suing him for divorce.

"Disturbance by loud and unusual noises and by tumultuous and offensive carriage," is the way Deputy District attorney Ben Pollock epitomizes for the judgment of the court Taylor's story of a matrimonial crash in life's twilight.

Taylor asks that his "in-laws" be jailed and, according to Deputy District Attorney Pollock, will seek an injunction restraining them from ever again establishing a home with the plaintiff at his California street residence.

Divorce Action Next Week.

The divorce action against Taylor, reinstated by his wife after she had withdrawn it, is scheduled to be heard in the district court next week.

Four of his wife's relatives are mentioned in Taylor's complaint, but he alleges there are at least three more "in-laws" relatives who have had a hand in making his life miserable.

Chas. Weinand, Fred Wilcox, Van Wilcox and Margaret Wilcox, are the relatives mentioned.

According to Attorney Pollock, the story on which the case is based, began two years ago when Taylor married a woman several years his junior.

The defendant, according to Pollock, was possessed of several valuable pieces of property, but recently lost all of it with the exception of a few lots valued at a nominal amount.

"About the time that I lost most of my property," Taylor told Pollock, "a couple of my relatives moved in on me. Later more of them came to live with us and it began to be a job for me to support all of them. Finally, they suggested that I go to work, but I couldn't see why I should go to work at my age to support so many people."

"When they saw that I didn't intend to go to work, they began to talk to my wife about getting a divorce on the grounds of cruelty and non-support. We had been getting along splendidly and she objected at first, but at last yielded to them and brought the suit. That was about six months ago."

She withdrew the complaint, later, but her relatives kept after her and about ten days ago she reinstated the case.

More Relatives Drop In.

"It was just about that time that two more relatives came to live with us. One bedroom was occupied by my wife and her sister. Her son and a nephew occupied another one and the third bedroom was filled up with the rest. There was no place for me to sleep, but in the kitchen, on the roof or out in the parks. The other night, all of the relatives, seven strong, drove me out of the place. I went and got a policeman, but when we entered, all of them were playing cards, and the place was as peaceful as could be."

Premier Finds It Lonely Job to Keep on Heights of Fame

Lloyd George, wife and daughter

Power has its disadvantages, claims Lloyd George, premier of the British empire during its stormy days of the past five years. "The higher you climb, the colder and lonelier it becomes," he told his friends while snatching a few days of peace and quiet at his home at Criccieth, Wales. "Also, it is necessary to deny yourself the comforts of peaceful home life."

The picture shows the premier with his wife and daughter, Miss Megan Lloyd George, in a peaceful mood at his fireside. "But the joy was short-lived, for the premier was forced to return to London to face the supreme fight of his career. On April 5 he will seek a vote of confidence from parliament, prior to his departure for the Genoa economical conference. A faction of the liberal party opposes the confidence vote."

Illinois Youth Meets "Fatima," Guess the Rest

CHICAGO, March 31.—In her role of La Belle Fatima, Miss Blossom La Velle captivated the heart of Wittenburg, a young contractor of Palatine, Ill. As his sweetheart and supposed fiancée he showered her with gifts. But getting them back, he found, was another thing.

Then he sought a warrant for her arrest, charging a confidence game, but it was refused.

"Judge I gave her my heart, money and jewelry, some of it my mother's," he told Judge Prindiville. "All she gave me in return was the air. She pretended she loved me just to get all she could from me. I want her arrested."

"I'm sorry, my boy," said the judge. "If you made the gifts voluntarily all I can do for you is to give you some advice. Pick out a nice girl in Palatine and forget Miss Fatima."

The news reached Miss Blossom as she was putting on the last dab of powder preparatory to her feature dancing act.

"Well, can you beat that guy's nerve," she gasped when told of her erstwhile sweetheart's appearance in the court. "That's what comes of taking a 'sweetie' from the sticks. And I thought he loved me so much."

"Why he never even asked me to give back his presents. I have lost the diamond ring and the pearl necklace. I know why he asked for the warrant; because I haven't written to him for two weeks."

'GHOST' CONFESSES TO STRANGE ROCK SHOWERS

CHICO, Cal., March 31.—Confession of responsibility for the rock showers which for nearly five weeks have mystified residents of this town is contained in a letter signed "Ghost" received by the authorities and considered by them as meriting some credence.

The rocks were hurled 600 yards by a mechanical device, it was said.

The letter stated that "Ghost" planned to remain in Chico several days before it had decided to quit operations when announcement was made that airplanes were coming to seek the rock-thrower.

ANTI-KLAN AT SHERMAN

SHERMAN, Texas, March 31.—The "Anti-KKu Klux Citizens of Sherman" made their bow to the public this afternoon in a lengthy article in an afternoon paper, making an appeal for the people to vote for men for office, both city and county, whom they know are not members of the Ku Klux Klan.

The circular declares that good men in Sherman are sleeping with pistols under their heads, and go to the door with pistols in hand at night when neighbors call, because of the fear of the Ku Klux. It also says that the good women of Sherman are living in dread that their husbands and sons may be taken by a mob.

This is the first time a straight appeal has been made asking the voters to cast their ballot against men known to be klansmen, although for the last three days the Ku Klux question has been brought into the city campaign.

LANDLORD MUST WEAR EAR MUFFS AS HE SLEEPS!

NEW YORK, March 31.—Paul Hirsch, owner of the two family dwelling at No. 4702 Twelfth street, Brooklyn, objects to wearing ear muffs to bed.

He is a quiet man and opposed to all kinds of noises, little and big, especially in the night. He recited his woes to Justice Callaghan in the supreme court when applying for an injunction to restrain his tenants, William Levine and family from making unnecessary noises.

Levine Denies Noise.

Hirsch leased the second floor of his house to Levine. Two months ago Levine wished to break the lease and Hirsch refused to allow him to do so although he offered a bonus of $1,000. Then he quotes Levine as saying:

"I'll fix you so that you will be only too glad to let me out. I'll have dances every night."

From his description his home has been as quiet as a little sector of the front when several army corps are advancing. He said his tenants biffed and barged about and threw everything but the kitchen stove on the floor so that he would be always reminded of their presence. He told Justice Callaghan:

"Their unusual and unnecessary noises made sleep impossible. As soon as Levine returns from work the celebration starts."

Sounds Like War Zone.

"The table is rolled from one end of the dining room to the other, and then back again. This is continued for an hour, and then an article of furniture is lifted up and dropped on the floor. Some times both acts are concurrent."

"Then the noisy children jump from room to room across the floor. At 11 p. m. the bed occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Levine is dropped. This is continued until midnight when the bed is rolled across the floor. Between 4 and 5 o'clock in the morning the bed is lifted and again rolled across the floor. Hammers are pounded on the floor."

Levine said he was buying a house and had made Hirsch a reasonable offer to vacate the lease. He denied responsibility for any unusual noises. Decision was reserved.

TWO BABIES STRANGLE ON COINS; ONE DEAD

DENVER, March 31.—One baby is dead, and another narrowly missed strangulation, as the result of choking upon coins.

Max Arellino, 4 months old, died after a 25-cent piece lodged in his throat. Efforts of the father to dislodge the coin were unavailing. A physician was summoned, but the child was dead by the time he arrived.

A wild horseback ride through the city streets by Mounted Patrolman Alson E. McCasland is all that saved the life of his 14-months-old son, Albert.

The officer, riding his beat on Eighteenth street, was informed by his brother, Floyd, 16 years old, that the child was choking to death on a nickel. The officer lashed his horse into a breakneck gallop through the downtown streets.

When he reached his home he found the child blue from strangulation. He seized him by the heels and held him head down, beating him upon the back until the coin dislodged.
