GIRL PICKET INJURED BY MOUNTED GUARD

Cry of "Bring Your Six Shooters Men," Heard At I. W. W. Meeting

By United Press.
WALSENBERG, Colo., Oct. 28. Milka Sablich, 19-year-old picturesque girl leader of I. W. W. pickets in the southern strike zone, was dragged half a block by a mounted guard today after an unsuccessful effort to close the ideal mine.
She was taken to a hospital where one rib was found to be broken and it was feared she might have suffered internal injuries.
Word of the incident reached Walsenberg where an I. W. W. meeting was in progress.
"Bring your six-shooters men," one speaker shouted. "You see what they did to Milka. If they want revolution, let's give it to them."

By United Press.

The case went to the jury at 12:45 a. m. after a long session with six hours of argument.

"It has been advised to your interest to accept all Paris contracts."

WATER PAGEANT BE FEATURE AT BROWNSVILLE

Every Known Mode Of Transportation Will Be Depicted In The Show.

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 28.—Every mode of transportation which has ever been known to man will be depicted in a spectacular water pageant to be staged on the reservoir—a natural lagoon—at Fort Brown here as part of the celebrations in connection with the South Texas chamber of commerce first annual convention and the formal inauguration of Southern Pacific Railway service to the border, November 14 and 15.
The water pageant will be staged on the night of the 14th, with brilliant lighting effects, following the celebration that same afternoon of the entry of the Southern Pacific train. The Southern Pacific celebration will be held in Washington park and will be carried out with a program of speaking and music and demonstrations of the latest methods of track laying. A display of the latest in railroad equipment, "a crack train" will be run into the city for the celebration. Several other special trains will arrive.
Committee to take care of the pageant was appointed Wednesday afternoon by Ray Leeman, general manager and G. C. Richardson, secretary of the Brownsville chamber of commerce, and in charge of the entertainment arrangements. Frank Latham was appointed general chairman of the fiesta committee, with John Fanning and Frank Gay, E. P. Buchanan was appointed to take charge of the lighting and electrical effects.
Tentative plans for the pageant call for a fleet of canoes—hundreds of the boats—in a procession about the lake and four massive floats representing a Spanish Galleon, a pirate ship, an Egyptian ship, and a valley ship, floats depicting the stage coach, the pony express, the foot porter, ox-cart, wagon, motorcycle, ferry boat, row boat, steamboat, railroad train, and airplane are being planned for the gigantic pageant.
In addition to the floats there is being arranged a program of dancing and theatricals under the direction of Mrs. Frank Gay, which will be presented on a specially constructed stage on the edge of the reservoir.
The pageant is part of an elaborate two-day celebration which will accompany the business sessions of the first annual convention of the South Texas chamber of commerce.

EACH ONE HAS BLOOD RED LINE TO ADD

Late Reports Would Indicate Number Of Lost Around 300

By United Press.
RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 28.—The final complete story of the sinking of the Italian liner Princess Mafalda off the Brazilian coast was inscribed in marine history today.
Hundreds of shaken, half dazed survivors, each with a blood red line to add, told their stories here and at Bahia.
All that remains now to be told—and it never will be told—is the exact number of people who perished.
Somewhere between 289 and 346 it seemed this afternoon was the most definite figure.

WILDCAT EAST OF RANGER HAS GAS SHOWING

Indications that a producer may be the result of a deep test that is being drilled on the Powell, by Gholson, Chestnut and Smith et al., one mile south of Winsett Springs, or about three miles east of Ranger, look very favorable.
The drill encountered the top of the lime at 3,205 with some showing of gas. It will be drilled at least 250 feet deeper unless oil is encountered in paying quantities before the drill reaches that depth. In the Gholson pool, on the Duffer, a few miles away from this test, the top of the lime was reached at 3,185 and considering the difference in elevation, the depth at which the lime was topped in the Powell, looks encouraging.
A number of Ranger oil men visited the well today and are watching it with interest since it being a wildcat would open up a new area, which would be almost in the city limits of Ranger to the east.
C. M. Root of Eastland, was in Ranger today, and stated that things in the Gordon pool in the northwest part of the county were moving along briskly.
Root-Fehl's Watson No. 3, is drilling on top of the sand, showing some oil and making 2,000,000 feet of gas.
C. M. Root's Ray No. 2, south of the Watson, is drilling at 1,140 feet and C. M. Root is getting ready to drill Thorpe No. 1, which is a big gasser, down to the Ranger pay.
East of Thorpe No. 1 at a distance of 1,350 feet a rig is up and drilling operations are ready to begin.
McLester No. 4 which came in a few days ago is reported as making around 600 barrels of oil daily.

ABILENE SHOWS BULLDOGS MANY COURTESIES

Fleet of Courtesy Automobiles Placed at Disposal of Ranger Delegation.
(By GUS COLEMAN)
ABILENE, Texas, Oct. 28.—The Bulldog special train over the Texas and Pacific railroad carrying 450 persons arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning, after an uneventful run of two and a half hours from Ranger.
The Ranger delegation, which came here for the Bulldog-Eagle game this afternoon, paraded through the business section of Abilene, led by the high school band and the pep squad. The marchers made an impressive spectacle as they stopped at street intersections and gave their yells.
Immediately upon the arrival of the special here, the city of Abilene placed a fleet of courtesy cars at the disposal of the Ranger people. These cars will be at the disposal of the football squad, the pep squad, the band and all other visitors during the day and until the special train leaves here tonight at 8 o'clock on the return trip to Ranger. They will carry all Ranger boosters to Simmons park for the football game and then return them to the city.
Abilene extended the Ranger delegation many other nice courtesies. Andy Anderson, well-known Rangerite, was invited to represent Ranger today at the Abilene Rotary club luncheon and to make a speech.
The Hilton, Abilene's new hotel, has shown the Ranger crowd many courtesies.

MRS. NORMAN RANDOLPH DIES AT RICHMOND HOME

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Norman V. Randolph, honorary president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and long active in affairs of that organization died early today at her home here. She was 70.
Mrs. Randolph always frowned upon any agitation against Abraham Lincoln when such discussion occurred at meetings. She said she "believed no good would come of it."

Albion's Cutest Kid

Prettiest of all English children, in the opinion of many artists, is 6-year-old Jill Chandler. All alone, she voyaged across the sea to New York, where our fortunate photoman made this stunning shot.

JEALOUSY IS HELD CAUSE OF MURDER

By United Press.
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—Enraged by jealousy, Henry Moity, missing sign painter and former sailor, murdered his wife and her sister-in-law with a machete, police believed today.
The dismembered, beheaded bodies of the two women were found stuffed into separate trunk in their modest French quarter home here late yesterday. There were signs of a violent struggle.
Authorities based their belief that jealousy was the motive, upon the statement of Joseph Moity, brother of Henry and husband of one of the slain women, who said both women had been friendly with other men.
Joseph, held as a material witness admitted to authorities he left his own wife several days ago because of her friendship for other men. Henry Moity has not been seen since Wednesday night.

Oklahoman Gets Twenty Years For Murder of Wife

HENRYETTA, Okla., Oct. 28.—Frank Lonbrigan, miner and labor organizer, today faced 20 years in McAllister prison for the murder of his wife, Marie in the "haunted house of Henryetta."
Lonbrigan was found guilty and given a 20 year term by a superior court jury here yesterday.

Annihilation Hangs Over Those Trying To Change Rulers

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Oct. 28.—"We shall annihilate any one who tries to change the present succession to the throne," premier Bratuiu said in parliament yesterday during debate on a plot to overthrow Prince Carol.
HOUSTON.—C. Ferguson, banker of Jersey City, N. J., here to attend the American Bankers' association convention, doubted assurances that it was warm in Texas and brought his overcoat along.
He left his hotel for the convention auditorium with the coat on his arm. He walked a block and returned to the hotel. He emerged a moment later minus the coat and his vest.

MAYORALTY CLAIMED BY FOUR MEN

Duvall Is Formally Ousted By Council; Successor Named

By United Press.
CLAUDE E. NEGLEY, mayor pro tem of Indianapolis by virtue of appointment by the city council which last night ousted John L. Duvall from the mayoralty, stormed the city hall today armed with an injunction and took possession of the chief executive's office, despite armed guards posted by a rival claimant.
Negley was granted a temporary injunction today restraining other claimants to office from interfering with his administration until 10 a. m. tomorrow when hearing on a motion to make the injunction permanent will be held.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 28.—

Armed policemen guarded the Indianapolis city hall today as two men made definite claims to the office vacated by Mayor John L. Duvall last two more who previously had claimed the office awaited developments before pressing their rights.
Two states of city officials had been appointed to replace Duvall's aides.
A showdown was expected when the two mayors appeared at the city hall to claim their office.
Duvall was formally voted out of office by the city council last night and Claude E. Negley, president of the council was named mayor pro tem.
Then, however, Ira M. Holmes, close friend of Duvall announced that the mayor beat the council by resigning secretly yesterday afternoon. That made Mrs. Duvall, city controller, mayor by right of succession. She immediately appointed Holmes city controller and then resigned, automatically advancing him to the mayoralty, Holmes asserted.

Government Has To Trace Trail Of Securities

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Blocked in an effort to have a witness tell the jury where the former secretary of the interior, Albert B. Fall's $200,500 in Liberty bonds came from, the government in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial today rapidly traced the securities into banks in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas.
Justice Siddons upheld the refusal of M. T. Everhart, Fall's son-in-law, to tell from whom he obtained the bonds he brought to Pueblo, Colo., May 29, 1922, and deposited against the credit of the Fall-Everhart Cattle company, which was then heavily in debt.

Predicts Smith Will Win if Party Nominates Him

By United Press.
DALLAS, Oct. 28.—"If Governor Al Smith of New York is nominated for president by the democrats he will be elected," former Gov. Lee Trinkle of Virginia, predicted in an interview here today.
Trinkle however, declined to predict who would win the nomination. "However, the chances for a democratic victory next year are better than at the time Woodrow Wilson was first elected," he said.
Trinkle characterized as "hunk" claims that the nomination of Smith by the democrats would shift the solid south into the republican column.

WACO.—For several years Floyd Cook of Waco has held the distinction of paying his city taxes in gold. He appeared before the collector this week and presented a $20 gold piece coined in 1872 as payment of his 1927 taxes.

HIGHWAY PLANS.

The Highway Club of Texas has outlined a very comprehensive highway plan which has for its object the voting of a hundred million dollar bond issue for the construction and maintenance of highways from and to every corner of the state of Texas. It is indeed a very commendable program and the ambition of those fostering the program is refreshing.

The Highway club has another object in view and that is legislation that will legalize the existence and support the efforts of the highway commission. It is claimed that there is now no legislative authority for the highway commission and that the body cannot possibly make constructive plans for a greater period than two years.

The people of Texas should lend every aid to the Highway club in the accomplishment of these two major purposes. Certainly the state should have a broad and comprehensive highway plan and the existence and acts of the highway commission should be legally authorized in order that the work of that body may be planned with a view to the future.

Good hard surfaced highways make for development and it is development that the state of Texas needs more than anything else. It is not necessary to speak of the vast undeveloped resources of this great state. They are too well known by every well informed citizen of the state. And any program, whether it be a highway program or not, that tends to speed up development of these resources should have the unstinted support of every citizen of the state.

A good highway is the outstanding agent that brings the farmer or producer and the consumer into closer contact with each other. And every time the distance or the time between the producer and his market are shortened, development of the state has been boosted along just that much.

FARM AND CITY.

If the farmer is drifting to the city, a counter-balancing tide from city to farm is discerned by Albert L. Gale of Chicago, who delivered an address on the influence of the farm press before the National Fire Wastes council meeting under the auspices of the insurance department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"More and more people who live in towns," asserted Mr. Gale, "are thinking in terms of agriculture. You and I remember when the average farm seemed an isolated place. Today the average farm is about 10 to 15 minutes from town, thanks to gasoline and better highways. The farmer not only knows the town better, but the townsman knows the farm better.

"In some states half of the farms are owned by men who do not live on them, which means that a very large number of farms are owned by men living in towns. I know a town in Illinois, having about 3,000 population, and a certain farm paper has close to 50 subscribers there. Would you call that waste circulation—worthless—non-agricultural? Not at all. One of those subscribers owns the leading dry goods store, and he also has a farm—so has the president of the pump works and the owners of two garages.

"To that extent the town to which I refer is just as much a part of the farm market as the farms themselves."

DR. ROBERTS WILL BE SPEAKER AT ABILENE

Dr. T. T. Roberts, president of Randolph college at Cisco will be the principal speaker at the Abilene Christian Endeavor convention, which opens in Abilene this afternoon for a three day session. In addition they will be prepared to serve plate lunches or to send them out to employees of various stores.

GOBLINS WILL HOBNOB TONIGHT AT SCHOOLS.

Halloween will be celebrated tonight at two different schools in Ranger by Halloween carnivals.

At Young school a hot supper, served at a reasonable charge will be served at 6 o'clock and from the time that supper is completed until it is time to say goodnight, old King Carnival will reign. Every room has some special Halloween feature arranged for the evening's entertainment.

There will be side shows, feeding the geese, a boxing match, a fortune tellers booth, grab bags, and confetti galore. The entire interior of the school will have been transformed into a real carnival atmosphere.

While this carnival is in progress, a similar one will be staged at Cooper school for patrons, students and friends of that school. There will be a lot of fun going on at both places and goblins visiting one school will probably hobnob with other goblins as they visit the various schools.

Everybody is expecting a good time, whether they make one or both parties and plenty of fun is promised at either party.

ADOLPHIAN CLASS ENTERTAINED WITH HALLOWEEN PARTY.

The Adolphian class of the First Christian church was delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. L. R. Herring at the home of Mrs. C. M. Edwards on Blackwell road.

Halloween decorations featured the party. The living room was gaily decorated in black and orange while orange colored "mums" were used effectively in the floraling of the room.

After a business meeting a social hour followed, during which time favors of orange balloons and black whistles were passed among the guests and refreshments of pumpkin pie and coffee were served. Prizes for games played were tied in Halloween colors.

Those enjoying this cleverly arranged party were Mmes. K. C. Edmonds, Ken Russell, Phil Pennington, H. C. Anderson, J. M. Whitfield, A. L. Leverton, B. S. Dudley, Mo-

The party was held on the spacious lawn of the home, which was lighted up very beautifully for the occasion and games suitable to the outdoors were enjoyed until a late hour.

Refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, doughnuts and coffee were served to the some 75 guests who were present.

Gripings
 By GUS

Being as we have been requested to go to Abilene today and will not be back until after dark or maybe not so soon we will recall a few thoughts that have occurred to us during the last several months.

Did it ever occur to you that there is probably more accomplished, in the way of work on a circus every day than is accomplished by an equal number of workers of the same comparative skill in any line of endeavor?

This week the circus came in here at 8:30 a. m., unloaded nearly 200 wagons from the cars, transported them over a half mile, emptied the wagons of their contents, set up the tents and equipment, gave a show, loaded up the whole works and were back on the train before midnight.

In addition to all this they fed the whole crew three times and fed the animals and had time to snatch an hour or two rest between jobs.

The reason they can do that is very simple—they are well organized and well disciplined. Every man has his own duties and attends to them and lets the others do the same. The first commandment in the show folks religion is "mind your own business."

The chances are that if you have a job you are spending nearly as much time thinking about how easy the other fellow is getting by as you are about whatever you are doing and ache like heck if you don't get a raise.

Wm. Penn—5 cents—A good Cigar

You try to kid yourself into thinking how much more you are worth than what you get paid and don't often think about how much more you could be worth if you would. Heck no, you are thinking about how little the other fellow is worth.

The other fellow is thinking the same about you, too. But there's always that one guy in a thousand that goes plugging along, minding his own business and letting the boss be boss. He's the guy you think is a pet and has a pull—the only thing he has over you is sense enough to keep his mouth shut.

If the thought and energy that is wasted right here in this little town in minding other people's business were put into use in people's own businesses they would all make bigger and better successes.

Gossip originated at the old time "sewing bees" when the women of the neighborhood met at one house in the afternoon and took their barning couds and sox along and talked while they sewed, or maybe they would gang up around a quilting frame and scatter "They say" broadcast.

It finally got to where they were so anxious to gather that they didn't take time to gather up their sewing.

Now the hostess furnishes cards and they play for a quarter on the corner and she serves a bunch of rich food for dessert. They all then cuss themselves for getting fat and go home without an appetite and can't understand why the husband should be so hungry.

He goes to town to get his supper and gets to talking football to the gang at the drug store and then catches heck when he gets home.

But why worry? They all do it.

UPPER STORY OF HOUSE DEEDED TO LODGE

F. J. Leonard, Eastland drilling contractor, who recently purchased the building in Eastland occupied by the Palace Drug store from Dr. J. E. Butler of Dallas, has deeded the upper story of the building to the Knights of Pythias Lodge of Eastland, of which order he is a member, for use as a lodge room so long as it is used for that purpose.

The building is being repaired and arranged for the Knights of Pythias.

WILL START WORK ON METHODIST CHURCH SOON

After this Sunday, only one more service will be held in the basement of the Methodist church, as contractors will take over the building soon and rush the work to completion.

It has not as yet been decided where the weekly services will be held. However, a meeting of the church conference will decide the matter sometime during the coming week.

From each of the churches participating. Any church is welcome to come into the association. So far only four have entered. Every worthy case of need has been taken care of during the year, and there have been quite a number of them. A united campaign for funds was put on last fall. This has been sufficient to take care of every emergency, and we still have money in the treasury. We are to take an offering at the Thanksgiving service. We are hoping that this offering together with the cash we have on hand, and the unpaid pledges, will enable us to take care of the needs that may arise during the winter and throughout another year, without putting on any drive for funds this season. A report will be made at the Thanksgiving service of the activities during the year and of the condition of the treasury. Mr. T. L. Overby is the treasurer.

We appreciate the co-operation of the business men in helping to make this work possible. We have shielded them in a number of cases in preventing loitering on the streets, and from business men. If the business men will refer all cases to the United Charities, most of the loitering will be prohibited.

A layman should be elected by each church participating to serve during the ensuing year.
L. R. HOGAN,
Secretary Pro Tem.

SEVEN COACH SPECIAL OFF FOR ABILENE

Total of Three Hundred and Ninety Ride Special To Football Fight.

A train made up of seven coaches left Ranger this morning for Abilene, loaded with 390 persons, including the football team, the pep squad, and the Ranger high school band.

The pep squad and the band staged a mammoth parade last night down town and fired the desire of Ranger fans to join with them on the trip to Abilene.

Yesterday morning members of the athletic committee felt the chances of the train being well-filled were very slim, but these members were radiant over the crowd on hand this morning to join the special.

The pep squad and band were at the station this morning by 8 o'clock and were doubtless responsible for some of the eleventh hour passengers.

The Ranger contingent wore Bulldog badges and hat bands and a number carried canes tide with the maroon and white of the Bulldogs.

The crowd that left here was as peppy as the one that invaded Ranger last week from Abilene and they were backing up the Ranger Bulldogs by their presence on the train and their belief that the Bulldogs would this afternoon avenge last week's defeat at the hands of the Eastland Mavericks.

good time for it was a grand success from every standpoint. In fact it was the best all around program we ever witnessed.

Cheaney school is progressing nicely. Some new pupils started this week and as soon as threshing is over we will have a full house.

The county superintendent, Miss Beulah Speer, visited Cheaney school this week and made a real nice talk.

Oscar Strickler was a Gorman visitor this week on legal business. J. P. Strickler is confined with a very badly bruised leg.

Herbert Love was kicked by a mule, which made a bad place on his face, requiring seven stitches to be taken, but is doing fine just now.

Brother Maddox preached at Cheaney Sunday. Sunday school was well attended.

J. H. Hamilton is riding in a new car.

The Women's Savings and Loan company of Cleveland, Ohio, was organized, financed and is managed entirely by women. It is believed to be the only women's organization of its kind in the United States and after five years of steadily-growing business it can be rated as a success.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING—

By United Press.

Ben Hill in Dallas Dispatch: Secretary Walter Morris of the Dallas baseball club says the Western league was operated several years without a constitution and that there is nothing to prevent Tulsa and Oklahoma City from withdrawing from the Western loop and coming into the Texas league.

Bruce Francis in Brownwood Bulletin: Fielding H. Yost, who for 30 years served as football coach at the University of Michigan, and who recently retired from active coaching on account of manifold activities as athletic director, makes the statement that "Football is a game of heavy and eternal pressure," and according to the opinion of Grantland Rice, this pressure now applies to all concerned—coaches, players, spectators and officials.

Pop Boone in Fort Worth Press: It occurs to me that Harvard might adopt Skipper Jake's system in the matter of Texas football players. Jake says if you can't beat 'em it's just hoss sense to jine 'em. After being beaten by Bo McMillen, Mark Fleniken and Welch on three different occasions, Harvard should send a scout into Texas and pick up 10 or 15 of the star performers.

A good many from Cheaney attended the jubilee at Ranger last Friday and Saturday and all report a Bob Ingram in El Paso Post: The Philippine Island produces but one kind of fighters. All down the line—from Pancho Villa to the latest Oriental sensation, Ignatz Fernandez—they are all alike. These Philippine boys know very little about the science of the game. They go in for fighting and not boxing. They swing from the floor, from over their head and from all other directions. They have amazing speed and clever footwork. They make up our most colorful race of fighters.

CHEANEY NEWS

Special Correspondence.

CHEANEY, Oct. 28.—Everything is lovely around Cheaney. Most everyone is busy helping save the peanut crop and if good weather lasts a few days all will be threshed and the hay is the finest we have ever put up, taking it as a whole. There were a few crops taken up early that were a little dark, but it was not damaged but very little. We have two threshers and they are real busy, but a few days more will save all around Cheaney.

Our entire community was gloomy this week when it was reported R. L. Weeks of Abilene had passed away. He was one of Cheaney's old settlers and moved to Abilene during the boom. A good many of his children and friends went to Abilene Monday to be at his funeral.

Eugene Ferrall's baby is still very low with whooping cough.

Coolidge Didn't Fail To Quiet Senator Fess

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON.—It was perhaps time that someone smothered the Hon. Simeon D. Fess, the ebullient senator from Ohio, and President Coolidge was in a better position to do so than anyone else.

The Hon. Simeon had become a veritable Merry Andrew of politics. It was almost impossible to pick up a morning, afternoon or Sunday newspaper without discovering that the man was at it again. When a man with the Hon. Simeon's close contact with the white house spent most of his waking hours whooping up a Coolidge boom, it was natural to suspect that his outgivings had something like tacit approval from on high.

Some writers seem to believe the verbal spanking Mr. Coolidge gave Fess on his last visit to the white house was tantamount to a definite announcement that Mr. Coolidge positively would not accept renomination. Others have a contrary opinion.

Despite the fact that the president had spoken heatedly, he did not go so far as to tell Fess that he would not accept renomination. And when Fess quoted him as saying, "It won't work out that way. I won't be nominated," it did not appear that Mr. Coolidge planned personal intervention to see that it didn't "work out that way." In short, it continues to appear that Mr. Coolidge intends to let matters take their course.

One wonders whether the president used any good old-fashioned cuss words in his talk with Senator Simeon. He certainly has no reputation for profanity, and it is not commonly told that he has employed it even under provocation during his occupancy of the white house, but he has a command of some of the more conventional expressions and on rare occasions as governor of Massachusetts was heard to employ them in moments of irritation.

Many of us, in our unthinking way, sometimes forget that the president is the commander-in-chief of the army and navy. Officers of these two services, however, bear the fact in mind and sometimes are reminded of it forcibly.

The recent experience of General Charles P. Summerall, the army's chief-of-staff, may not have been adequately explained. Summerall was peremptorily ordered back from the Pacific coast by his commander-in-chief after he was reported to have criticized the administration for failing to relieve the bad army housing conditions.

It appears that the general was speaking at a private luncheon, where no reporters were supposed to be present, and was explaining to a group of Californians why the army couldn't establish an important base in their territory.

Everything would have been all right if he hadn't referred to the "administration," as he was said to have done in published reports that found their way out of the meeting. On arriving back in Washington, Summerall was kept waiting several days before he saw the president. But Secretary of War Davis called at the white house in the meantime and is supposed to have made the explanation for the chief-of-staff.

MUSTANG STEER GAME PROMISES BE REAL BATTLE

McCoy Rates Methodists Two Touch Downs The Better Team.

By HORACE MCCOY.
DALLAS, Oct. 28.—Sectional football interest this week is centered in the Texas university-S. M. U. game in Dallas, the annual splash of color, enthusiasm and brawn which will be played before a record crowd of 25,000.

This is one game that requires no "smoking up." On one hand you have the Longhorns, who beat Vanderbilt, and on the other you have the Mustangs, who beat Missouri. The prospect of these two meeting in a 100-acre field bounded by 300x160 feet cross lines is sufficient to attract the most consistent enemy.

Further, the game probably will be one of those wide open affairs. As the boys say, they're going to shoot the works. There's little love lost between the athletic units of Texas and S. M. U. That assures everybody this will be some shakes of a contest.

Texas won't gain an inch with its running plays. They probably know that. They won't gain an inch off the tackles. They probably know that too. So they'll play the Mustang game—through the air. Undoubtedly that will be their style of attack. They have one screened pass formation that is a gem—where the end knifes through the defensive end and tackle and cuts in behind the line to take a short pass. The beauty of this play lies in the decoys they use. They employ two halves and the free end to suck in the defense. That's Texas' best bet.

S. M. U. will have to smash those passes to win. To that end Dawson and Mann will play defensive halves. They think they can break up the Longhorn passes. I think so too.

But the question is: Can Texas break up the Mustang passes? Frankly I don't believe they can. They scouted S. M. U. against Missouri and perhaps were highly elated that they got several diagrams. But they've had those particular diagrams for three years. They didn't see anything new. Coach Morrison has four new pass formations to use against the Orange that look splendid. Add to that the fact that this young man is one of the greatest coaches in the country and you can see the S. M. U. slant. That's why the Mustangs should give Texas a lesson in aerial football.

I have before me several formations I hurriedly copied when Texas played Vanderbilt that reveal a few faults. Probably these faults have been corrected by now, but at any rate these diagrams prove the Texas guards played too wide; that the defensive halves also were too wide and not sufficiently far from the scrimmage line to knock down the Vanderbilt passes.

It is to be admitted that S. M. U. is not entirely invulnerable to passes. Simply because they are masters at using the pass offensively doesn't mean they know the best defenses. I recognize that Rerman Hume, who is a defensive half, doesn't follow the ball as he should. This condition has

Mavericks Go To Abilene To See Bulldog Game

The Eastland Mavericks will have a chance to see the Abilene Eagles in action Friday afternoon as the whole team is going to Abilene to see the Eagles and the Ranger Bulldogs play.

Different men in Eastland have offered to carry the boys up in their cars and Coach Pena and his crew will leave here Friday morning to attend the game.

The Mavericks play the Eagles here November 5, and this opportunity to see the Eagles in action will greatly benefit the team.

The practice that the squad misses Friday will be made up Saturday morning.

The Saturday morning's practice will mark the close of public practice. Coach Pena announced Thursday afternoon that the gates would be closed Monday afternoon and that secret practice would be held every afternoon until the Abilene game.

The field will be open to none, only the coaches and the players being allowed upon the field.

Next week's practice will be the beginning of real workouts for the squad in preparation for the important game of the week end.

Prairie Pipe Line Employes Guests At Big Banquet

District foremen, gaugers, district foremen's clerks and gaugers assistants, employed by the Prairie Pipe Line company in the territory from Walters Oklahoma to Brownwood, Texas, were guests of the Eastland office of the Prairie Pipe Line company in Eastland Thursday night. At a banquet tendered the employes by the local Prairie Pipe Line officials, 47 were present. This number included T. E. Lott, assistant general superintendent of the Prairie Pipe Line company, and John Mouser, head of the Prairie Oil and Gas company at Eastland. Mr. Lott acted as toastmaster.

The meeting was for the purpose of getting together and getting acquainted. So great is the territory covered by these men that many of them were not acquainted. The duties of the employes were discussed also. The meeting and banquet was a very enjoyable affair as well as an instructive and profitable one to all parties concerned.

Legionaire Tells Of Trip To France At Post Meeting

Al Tune, delegate to Paris from Carl Barnes Post No. 69 of Ranger, told the post, at its regular meeting last night, some of the high points of his trip, taking them with him from the time his ship left New York until he landed in New Orleans this week. Mr. Tune told of the places he visited, changes he noted that had been made since the war, and a number of funny anecdotes that sent those present into paroxysms of laughter.

During the business session nominations were made for post commander, first vice and second vice commanders, post adjutant, finance officer, sergeant at arms, historian, chaplain and service officers, the nomination to be followed by election of officers at next week's meeting.

The meeting last night was very interesting and was well attended.

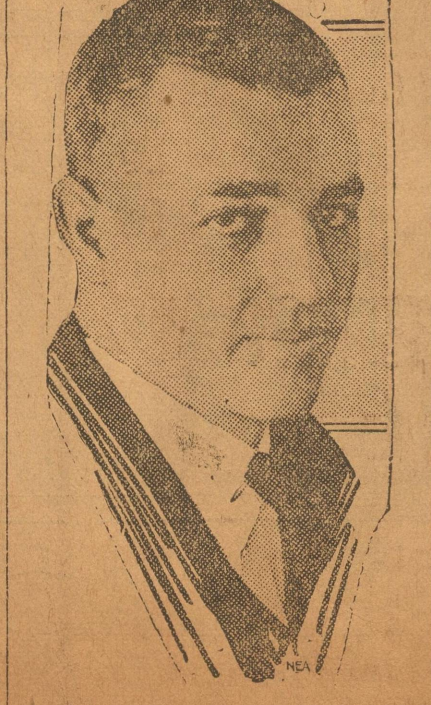

Plans were made for the celebration of Armistice Day and it was decided that a smoker and banquet would be held for all ex-service men on the evening of that date, possibly at the country club.

Word was received from Post Commander Felton Brashier that his and Wayne C. Hickey's trip to Austin for a war relic had been successful and they were returning today with two shells, and that a German field piece was being shipped from Austin today.

Mr. Brashier and Mr. Hickey have been in Austin two days working towards the securing of German war relics for Ranger.

been remedied by his transfer from defensive half to the safety position. Mann is defensive half now.

Of course, it will be a battle. I don't think Texas will score more than one touchdown and I think S. M. U. will score at least two, maybe three or four. It depends on how badly they want to win.

Other games are somewhat paled by this clash at Dallas. The plucky T. C. U. Frogs take on Baylor and should win; A. & M. plays Texas Tech at Lubbock and ought to win, although they may meet an inspired eleven that may give them trouble. Rice plays Southwestern and Arkansas plays Louisiana State university at Shreveport. This game looks like another battle.

But because these blind guesses of mine have thus far been successful in that I have not exactly lost one yet, I am tempted to have at it again: Therefore my weekly display of insanity follows:

S. M. U. 21, Texas 6.
T. C. U. 14, Baylor 3.
A. & M. 13, Texas Tech 0.
Rice 16, Southwestern 6.
L. S. U. 10, Arkansas 7.

Eastland Boy Is Made Member Of Player's Club

William Hogan, son of Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Hogan, of Eastland, has been elected a member of the Players club of Trinity University as a result of tryouts held recently. Sixty three students tried out for the club but only eighteen were elected to membership as students must show a decided proficiency in stage dramas before they are admitted to the club.

The Players' club is an organization of dramatic talent sponsored by the university to encourage the expression of students and give them confidence, which will give them poise, dignity and self control.

Three major plays are given by the organization each year.

Election to the Players Club is one of the signal honors conferred on students at Trinity University each year and competition for membership is keen among the student body.

Many Warriors Of Old Will Attend Frog Bear Game

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.
FORT WORTH, Oct. 28.—Although the majority of fans interested in the battle in Waco Saturday between the T. C. U. Horned Frogs and the Baylor Bears are concerned principally with the records of the teams as Southwest conference contenders, there will be many of the alumni of both schools present whose memories will reach back over 20 years or more of Frog-Bear clashes. The eleven are tied for honors in the Southwest conference, having played almost identical games in 1925 and 1926 at the State fair in Dallas. Both games were 7-7 ties. The Bears were favored to win in 1925, the Frogs in 1926 and this year the Purple again is given the edge over the Gold warriors due to the impressive showing made by the Christians against Texas university and the Texas Aggies.

Their records as competitors in the conference give the Frogs a slight advantage but records of their conflicts in the past give the Bears an advantage. Available records show that the Bears won nine and the Frogs eight games from 1904 through 1926. They tied four games. In 1904, 1907 and 1908 they played three games each season. In 1906 and 1907 football was temporarily abolished in Baylor.

The Frogs took their final workout Thursday afternoon in preparation for the Bears. They will leave today for Waco and be given limbering up exercise there this afternoon. The starting lineup likely be as follows: Matthews and Acker, ends; Felix Reynolds and J. Williams, tackles; Fain Reynolds and Brumblow, guards; Palmer, center; Clark, quarter; Toler and Parrish, halves, and Herring, fullback.

Notables Are To Attend Meeting of C. C. at Bowie

BOWIE, Oct. 28.—The "Merchant Prince" of Fort Worth, the outstanding newspaper publisher of that city "Out Where the West Begins", one of its major commercial jewelers and one of its city commissioners, all ex-Bowieites, the manager of Fort Worth's big packing company, officials of both the Rock Island and Fort Worth and Denver railways, the president of Texas' outstanding teachers college, a representative of the Fort Worth Manufacturers and Wholesalers association, and other notables, will attend the Red River district convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce here November 21.

A personnel of premier distinction is not the only feature which promises to make the district meeting one of the most outstanding to convene this year. A luncheon which will feature "home grown" products from many points in the Red River district will be an equally big drawing card.

Amon G. Carter, publisher and chief owner of a leading Fort Worth paper, who was born and reared in Bowie, will be toastmaster at the luncheon. Speakers of the day will include A. J. Thomas, city commissioner of Fort Worth, W. C. Stripling and G. W. Halton, prominent merchants of that city, all of whom are former residents of Bowie, S. A. Middaugh, manager of Swift and company and B. B. Burdette, secretary-manager of the Fort Worth wholesalers and manufacturers association, R. L. Marquis, president of the North Texas State Teachers College Denton and others.

A special meeting of farmers of the Red River district will be in connection with the district convention and will be in charge of Col. C. C. French of the Fort Worth stockyards.

The Bowie meeting will be the first held in that district since the Electra gathering of 1925. Meetings scheduled for 1926 at Henrietta were repeatedly rained out. The 1927 Red River convention promises to be a record for the west.

Mayor? Maybe!

Gwendolyn Jones, former telephone operator, may be the next mayor of Concord, N. H. On her first venture into politics, she ran second in a field of four in recent non-partisan primaries and is to oppose the present Mayor, Fred N. Marden, in the November elections. Miss Jones, who is 24, graduated last June from the University of New Hampshire.

This watch, which is the smallest watch in the world is smaller than a dime and is considered one of the wonders of present day watch making skill.

It will be on display at Pfaffie's Jewelry Store on Main street next week, and is being shipped out of New York by the Bulova Watch company.

Vote Right, That's Best Way to Land Political Job

WASHINGTON.—Most Washington wood piles harbor Senegambians. Take the case of the prohibition enforcement service. Millions of persons are sleeping peacefully tonight, serenely confident that enforcement has now been taken out of politics by putting the administrators, inspectors and agents under civil service.

That was the idea, wasn't it? To put everything on a basis of pure merit and weed out all the grafters who held their jobs by politics alone? Somehow, it seemed too good to be true. And so, apparently, it was. The civil service does its part—it weeds out the obvious imbeciles and the known criminals from the applicants. Then it presents a list of eligibles consisting of those who have passed the examinations. There are always more eligibles than jobs—when the jobs are sought after as enforcement jobs are. So the eligible who has political pull gets the job, as enforcement heads can pass over any number of other eligibles no matter how much more brilliantly they may have come through the exams.

The way to get a government job still is to vote right, pass the civil service examination and stand in with your congressman or local political boss. If you want to be a postmaster for instance and have more drag than any of your rivals but still can't pass the examination, you can probably get your congressman to urge a re-examination on the ground that the eligibles aren't satisfactory.

Having flunked one examination, you'll have a good enough idea of what the re-examination will be like and if you can pass it you won't have to worry about the five or six fellows who passed with better marks. If you can't pass the re-examination you might as well try for a job with the city or get yourself elected to the state legislature.

Most of the incumbent prohibition agents entered the recent exams and many of them pulled through. The prohibition enforcement service will not be such a paradise for bungling grafters so stupid as to get caught at it, but it may continue to be a hunting ground for those who are smart enough to get away with it. And a smart grafter can make more than a

SIMPLE THING RUINS A WOMAN'S CHARM

Very often, because of a weakened and run-down condition, girls go hopelessly thru that period of life when all their companions are looking forward with eagerness and rapture to the day when they shall realize the greatest ambition of their lives and become happy brides.

Fortunately, nowadays thousands of girls who were weak and run-down are finding St. Joseph's G. F. P. builds them up.

In Oklahoma City, Miss Jennie Platt, who lives at 222 W. Noble St., says, "I feel so much better and stronger and enjoy life so much more now I am using St. Joseph's G. F. P., I want all girls to know about this wonderful medicine."

In many instances St. Joseph's Antiseptic Powder used externally in connection with St. Joseph's G. F. P. will be found very soothing.

dumb grafter any day. Assistant Secretary Lowman, however, says that the grafters are being chased out in droves and if possible to replace them with honest men, the situation should improve.

Speaking of prohibition here's the latest alibi for border run-runners. A man and a woman were caught with an automobile in Montana near the Canadian line, driving an automobile over or less loaded with liquor. Placed on trial at Great Falls they advanced the defense that they had become lost in the dark and had wandered over into Montana by mistake. They said they supposed they were on Canadian soil until their arrest.

Whether their story was proved true, whether they were acquitted because it was such a good one or whether they went to the hoose-gow has not yet reached the ears of your correspondent. One may now expect to hear captains of rum ships complain that the compass felloverboard and that they assumed they were in the Straits of Magellan when the coast guard came along and captured them within the twelve-mile limit.

Sweetwater Is Preparing For C of C Meeting

SWEETWATER, Oct. 28.—In order to comply with Governor Dan Moody's expressed desire to attend a West Texas chamber of commerce district convention, date of the Central West Texas division meeting of that organization has been changed for the third time, and is now definitely set for November 30.

Governor Dan will be a featured speaker on the days program outlined and will be greeted by all ex-official and the present gold medal bands of the West Texas chamber of commerce and the west. The past gold medal bands who will play during the convention are the Colorado band and the Stamford Firemen's band. The present official music-makers for the west Texas chamber who will play are members of the Sweetwater Municipal band.

President R. W. Haynie and Manager Homer D. Wade are to make addresses and a number of other prominent speakers will be on the program.

The West Central convention of the West Texas chamber was first scheduled for November 14, and later changed to November 28, only to be set back two days, in order to accommodate the crowded date book of the governor which gave him only

November 30 free for attending this meeting.

A large attendance from many points is expected for this district gathering, and many towns have already announced that sizeable delegations will come to hear and see Governor Moody.

The state of Texas during the school year 1925-26 spent for free text-books $2,819,261.

NORFLEET The Manhunter's Own True Story As told to Gordon Hines ALL RIGHTS RESERVED - IMPERIAL PRESS - SUGAR LAND, TEXAS

WHAT HAS BEEN TOLD Frank Norfleet, a Texas rancher, is swindled out of $45,000 by a gang of confidence men led by Joe Furey. He resolves to break up this ring if it costs him his last cent. After considerable trouble he captures two of his men at San Bernardino, California, and goes to Florida to continue his search. He is amazed and greatly handicapped by the duplicity of some of the police who seem to stand in with the swindlers, and he has a narrow escape when posing as a sucker in a gambling den. Later at Key West two pseudo-officers help Joe Furey to escape when it seems that Norfleet is sure to capture him. Tired and discouraged Norfleet returns home for a rest. He has learned that soon after his own swindling, Furey had purchased a stolen fur coat from a young shoplifter in San Antonio. He goes there and finds no trace of the coat but discovers in the parcels Post records that an unnamed party had sent a mysterious package to an unnamed party at Stanford Court Apartments, San Francisco. Following this clue, he stops at San Bernardino where, investigating the hotel records, he finds that Joe Furey has telephoned a number in Glendale. The number appears to be that of Joe Furey's home and Norfleet shows the place, making the acquaintance of Furey's young son. Enlisting the help of the police department, Norfleet leaves two officers guarding the Furey home and goes to San Francisco where he makes a careful search. He then goes across the Bay to Oakland and has a look there. Failing to find a trace of his men here, he goes back to San Francisco to investigate the Stanford Court Apartment clue. CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE I lay awake most of the night trying to dope out a way to get into the apartment house. I felt that it could be done. Many different ideas came to me, but none seemed practical. Every one that seemed at all good required the help of someone else and I hardly felt that Shay or Brown would fall into my seemingly foolish plans. Looking back over my whole series of experiences, I can see where success was due to the use of ideas and plans that would have been scoffed at by most intelligent persons. I have also learned that a woman keeps a secret as well as a man. That is probably a startling statement to some egotistic fellows who would like to see a masculine corner on intellect and trustworthiness. I decided to get a woman on the job. It was a real problem to decide how to find the woman. I couldn't walk out on to the street and commandeer the first likely looking one. I puzzled over the matter until my eyes were heavy and I finally fell asleep. It must have been almost dawn. It was noon when I awoke. The telephone bell stirred me into consciousness. Was Mr. Shaw in? I was so sleepy that I hardly knew, but finally concluded that I was, and said so. Some newspaper men would like to interview me. I promised to dress and go down as quickly as I could. At first, I hardly knew what to think but I concluded that I was being taken for the Orin Junction Shaw and that he must have been considered copy by the news hounds. I was sorry I had selected the name of such a celebrity. I thought rapidly. I decided that I would not undecieve the reporters. I was Shaw I'd better remain Shaw. I was interviewed regarding conditions in the Wyoming and Texas cattle market and ranges and then they got down to personalities. I suspected that Shay and Brown were putting up a job on me and having me interviewed to try to sting me along. I determined to go the limit and, if necessary, out-Shaw Mr. Shaw. If Mr. Shaw, of Orin Junction, Wyoming, has ever given a better interview to the press than I gave for him, I'd like to read it. I defy him to tell more about himself and his own business than I told. The newspaper boys urged my attendance at a banquet being given that night in honor of visiting wool-growers who were attending a wool-growers' convention in the city. I declined and used every alibi I could muster, but their insistence was so strong that it battered down my resistance and I finally consented to go, much worried over how well I might get by with my pseudonym. Perhaps the Orin Junction Shaw might have some intimate friends at the convention and I would be exposed. It was a fine party and every one was pretty well keyed up—or teared up—for a good time. A waiter asked me what I would have to drink and I answered that I was on the water wagon. I tapped my goblet and said that aqua fria was good enough for me. A stalwart Australian woolgrower sat next to me, and he was amused at my choice of drinks. He interrupted the waiter who stood near me and held up two fingers. "Waiter! Make it two coffees—black." Thick white coffee mugs were set before us, and I looked about for sugar and cream. Apparently these sheepmen liked their coffee black and without sugar. It hadn't been many years since I had been blind to get black coffee, and miles from civilization, but later prosperous years in my comfortable ranch home and my wife's matchless cooking had spoiled me for rough grub. I figured, hoping that the waiter would notice me and trot along with the sugar and cream. Then I decided to taste the coffee. As I raised the cup a pungent odor slapped me in the face and I tumbled. Well, I stepped off the water wagon for about two cups of coffee, then decided that the wagon could do well enough without me. The toastmaster must have noticed the devilry in my eyes and concluded that I was about ready to make a speech. He called on me and I rose. When I got to my feet, I realized that I had no idea what I would say. The applause which greeted me convinced me that my friend Shaw had a reputation for after-dinner speaking. I tried to collect my thoughts. I was a woolgrower myself and now I was also a coffee-dinker. I wouldn't have sworn that I was not Mr. Shaw. The reader will gather that I was possibly looking vaguely through a blue haze. I started to speak. The words seemed to take control of me and to assert themselves without effort on my part. "Gentlemen—and shepherders: There is sure something wrong with the wool business! Some time ago I priced yarn in the stores—yarn-knit garments—and found that we had to sell fifty-one pounds of raw wool to pay for one pound of wool yarn at retail. I examined the yarn and found it considerably mixed up with cotton. It hurts my woolgrower's pride. Not only were we being stuck on the price, but we weren't getting pure wool. I couldn't see a way to correct the price evil, but I did give a good deal of thought to how we might improve the quality. That experience convinced me that our woolgrowers owe it to our wool-buying public, who buy wool guaranteed to keep our sheep from grazing in the cotton patches!" The newspapers published the speech under the heading "Wyoming Grower Pulls Wool from Eyes of Brother Growers." I have wondered, often, if Mr. Shaw ever read his speech in the San Francisco papers. I have never run across him since this incident, but I hope to see him sometimes to tell him of his popularity in Frisco and of how the erudite Friscoan make black coffee black. I had seen little of Brown since reaching the city. I hadn't especially needed him, and he had been amusing himself among some old Texans and some new acquaintances. He was also cultivating people who might be of service to us. I recalled hearing him speak of Mrs. Jesse Carson and her daughter, Lucille. It occurred to me that one of them might succeed in getting into 506 Stanford Court. I asked Brown about them and suggested the idea. He promised to arrange for me to meet them, and he did so the day before he and Shay returned home. We met in a little Italian restaurant and began our acquaintance over a little table of rich Italian food and mild red wine. We had a fine evening, and I was enabled to study the two women before I finally decided to ask for their help. Still, I did not mention my plan to them. I wanted to feel sure I was using good judgment. We met again the next day. Brown had already told them something of my story. I debated as to which of the two women might help me most. Mrs. Carson was a distinguished-looking woman with hair like outwashed silver. Her daughter was a sweet-faced miss of about eighteen. I looked into her appealing blue eyes and concluded that her winsome ways could draw out secrets from people who did not wish to tell them. I asked Miss Lucille if she would like to play detective for a while. She was thrilled, and her big blue eyes grew larger. "I think it would be lots of fun!" she exclaimed. I explained to the girl and her mother my fruitless efforts to learn something of Number 506 Stanford Court. Both caught on readily and we were soon discussing a plan by which Lucille could get the information I wanted. I asked Mrs. Carson if she had any of the little dresses Lucille had worn three or four years before. She had a few. We chose a little red tam-o'-shanter. They carried the eighteen-year-old miss back to her thirteenth or fourteenth year so realistically that no one would have suspected that she was older. Her youthful face and the childlike sparkle in her eyes created a perfect illusion. Next day she met me on the terrace of the Fairmont Hotel, opposite Stanford Court. I had been waiting for some time when I noticed a child approaching. She had bounded over herself on the grass beside me and before I could realize that it was Lucille Carson. "I'm here!" Her face was beaming. I told her that I was sure she would not be so roughly treated as I had been by the uniformed attendant. I told her I would go to jail with her if the police got her for masquerading, and she laughed gaily at the prospect of being led off in shackles. I showed her a picture of Furey and told her that I wished to know if he lived in 506. If not, I wanted to know who did. She was to look for him, his photograph or a Hudson seal coat. She listened intently. "You are to pretend that you have a little Airedale dog to sell and that a party in 506 wanted to buy it. Ask whoever comes to the door if they are ready to have the puppy delivered, saying that you are ready to bring it. In this way you will have a chance to get a conversation started and to lead up to other things, while you are giving the apartment a good once-over." I gave her two little slips of paper. On one I had written Number 506 with the 6 circled, so that it might have been easily mistaken for a 1. The loop was all but omitted. The other paper had a pin stuck in one corner, and Lucille's telephone number was written upon it. I told her to get into the elevator driven by the pop-eyed duke, and pointed out where she would find this particular car. "What are these slips for?" she asked. "She was to hold the one marked '506 Stanford Court Apartments' in her hand when she knocked at the door of the apartment. This would make it seem that the mistaken call was a perfectly natural one. I told her that whoever answered would surely examine the slip, point out that it probably was meant for 501, and then pat her childish head and send her along. She was to play for time to look things over and ask to use their telephone to call her mother, if necessary. The slip would also help to convince the elevator man that she had business in 506. West Now Thinks Burton Wheeler Is Reactionary

WASHINGTON.—Here in the festive east, where almost anyone from west of Chicago is regarded as a radical, many persons regard Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana as a radical who will bear watching. Especially here in the smug national capital, it is felt that if Wheeler isn't a radical there isn't one in the senate.
But out in Montana, one learns with astonishment, Wheeler is being panned as a reactionary. Some of the voters out there are much more radical than Wheeler and if there were enough of them, as there aren't, Wheeler might be defeated in his campaign for reelection next year.
The anti-Wheeler feeling centers in Sheridan county in the extreme northeast section of Montana, along the Canadian border and North Dakota.

Experts say that you can't find a more radical section in the country than Sheridan county. The folks out there boast of it, too. And it's peculiar in more ways than that.
By electing farmer-labor county tickets each year, these radicals control the county. From all reports they do a good job of running it. They drove a small-time crooked regime out of office when they stepped in.
Sheridan is altogether a farm county and is run in the interests of the farmer. The state law prevents any change in the form of county government, but the Sheridanites don't mind that. They have just the kind of a government they want.
The dominant force in Sheridan county is the United Farmers, a secret agrarian organization which has also made headway in Washington state, Minnesota and North Dakota. This group is organized both for economic and political action. Its numbers and membership lists are kept secret and when it endorses a candidate for office the fact is kept secret so that if perchance it takes a political licking the fact remains unknown. Meanwhile, it arranges with local merchants to give all card-carrying members a discount when they come to town for purchases.
Every store in Plentywood, the county seat of Sheridan, is said to grant such a discount. In this way, members are guaranteed savings amounting to more than the membership dues. Often the council steps in and persuades a banker to hold off on a mortgage foreclosure against a farmer.

When a court ruled that a Sheridan county mortgage-holder was entitled to a portion of the debtor's crop, a crowd of the boys went right out to the debtor's farm, threshed his crop and hauled it away and sold it before the court could enforce the decree. An ex-sheriff, sent by a court with papers containing bad tidings to a straitened farmer, was seized and threatened with a noose. After a promise not to return, a phial of castor oil was poured down his throat as a "lesson." He has since been known as "Castor Oil Collins."
"They raise hell with bankers who try to foreclose on farmers," says a man who knows Sheridan county and admires its people.
The county sheriff has a splendid reputation for catching border runners, but he is hard on would-be farm-hands who don't carry the red card of the I. W. W. Incidentally, some of the big farmers in Montana prefer I. W. W. workers, insisting that although they demand reasonable hours and wages, they aren't as shiftless as the ordinary non-union hand.

One way is open to Indiana farmers to make their land profitable. They can sit on juries all winter trying public officials.

Earl Carroll has been paroled from Atlanta penitentiary, the papers say. We didn't even know he was in jail.

Diphtheria In Malignant Type Is Prevalent

The incidence of diphtheria in the United States was for the year 1923 the lowest ever recorded, but has shown an alarming increase for the first months of this year, according to Dr. J. C. Anderson, state health officer, who calls attention to the fact that health administrators in most of the large cities of this country have not only reported more cases of this disease this year, but have also a marked increase in diphtheria mortality.

"The fact that more deaths from diphtheria are reported, shows that an unusually malignant type of this disease is prevalent," Dr. Anderson stated. "In Chicago alone, statistics show that during the first seven months of this year, diphtheria deaths have been nearly double the number for the corresponding period of 1926. A similar increase in the diphtheria morbidity and mortality rates have also been reported from New York City.

Protect Child Now
"The fact that one of the most malignant types of diphtheria is prevalent throughout the country, creates a greater necessity than ever before that children be given protection from this disease by toxin-antitoxin immunization. Every child from six months to ten years should have this immunization without fail, unless found to be immune, as this is the age period at which susceptibility to diphtheria is the greatest.
"Diphtheria can be prevented, and the responsibility for a child contracting this disease, lies squarely upon the shoulders of the parents. As long as parents continue to be indifferent to the welfare of their chil-den, and refuse or neglect to afford them a simple and sure protection against this most serious of children's diseases, just so long will there be a needless sacrifice of child life. Take your child to your family physician for the administration of toxin-antitoxin, and protect him from diphtheria."
