SIXTH EDITION
FOLK-LORE NOW
IS AVAILABLE

Wide Distribution Made, Copies Going to Indian and Also to Egypt.

AUSTIN, Oct. 7.—The sixth annual edition of "Texas and Southwestern Folk-Lore," publication of the Texas Folk-Lore society, has recently come from the press, according to J. Frank Dobie, editor of the society.

The new volume is one of the largest and most important of any heretofore published by the society. It contains nearly 260 pages and includes besides a number of legends and stories about folk lore in the state, many frontier ballads and songs mostly of the cowboy type.

The first article in the new edition is by Jovita Gonzales and is on the "Folk-Lore of the Texas-Mexican Vaquero" whom the author explains in a footnote to be "not the aristocratic, landed proprietor of the borderland, but the wandering cowboy whose only possessions are his horse, an unlimited store of legends and tradition, and the love for his Chata, by which name the Spanish-American cowboy, whether Mexican Vaquero or Argentine Gaucho, calls his sweetheart."

"Tales and Rhymes of a Texas Household," edited by Mrs. Bertha McKee, wife of the editor, is the second contribution contained in the publication. These tales and rhymes were sent to the Texas Folk-Lore society by Della L. Young and a more modern story of "Nicknames in Texas Oil Fields" by Hartman Dignowity are a few of the other contributions contained in part one of the edition.

The second section of the publication is headed by an article by Mr. Dobie on "Ballads and Songs of the Frontier Folk" and followed by a number of songs of the cowboy and early-day Texans.

About 2,000 copies of the new edition have been distributed, according to the editor. Several copies going as far away as Delhi India and another to Cairo, Egypt. The membership in the Folk-Lore society is nearly 500.

COLLECTION GREENLAND RELICS
PRESENTED TEXAS UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, Oct. 10.—A collection of Greenland relics collected by James C. Martin of Berkeley, California, while on a polar expedition with Commodore Robert Edwin Peary about 1895 has been presented to the anthropological museum of the University of Texas at Austin.

The relics were given to the University of Texas by Mr. Martin through his daughter, Mrs. F. J. Adams of Austin. Mr. Martin is at present preparator in the department of entomology in the California academy of sciences in Golden Gate park, San Francisco. It was while a student in Cornell university that he accompanied Com. Peary's party to Greenland. Mr. Martin was a student of Professor Tarr, well-known geographer and also a student assistant in the department of geology of Cornell University who also went on the polar expedition. Mr. Martin was made a member of the polar party in order that he might make a geological survey with Professor Tarr. Mr. Martin also made many pictures on their trip, being an expert photographer.

The Greenland collection is the only one of its kind in the possession of the University of Texas at present. It consists of several crude spears, a double-bladed paddle which was used for guiding the Eskimo's kayak and an Eskimo fishing tool.

Professor Pearce has several particularly interesting collections under his supervision in the anthropology department. Among the collections are numerous remains of the early people of the state. Much of this material Mr. Pearce has collected himself from kitchen middens which appear in great numbers in the vicinity of Austin. During the past summer Mr. Pearce and six advanced students of anthropology have excavated several middens on mounds at Cedar Park and taken from them many articles for the University.

The kitchen middens were the trash heaps of the primitive tribes and where these peoples threw their kitchen refuse, according to Mr. Pearce. In these mounds are to be found the kitchen implements or the food getting tools which the Indians lost or threw away. In the collection now there are about 2000 arrow heads that were excavated from a single mound near Round Rock.

Eastland Revival
To Continue Over
Tuesday Night
Large crowds gathered at the Church of Christ in Eastland Sunday and Sunday night, filling the auditorium to capacity. The meeting is creating great interest, and many people from the towns around were present.

At the close of the services 12 came forward to unite with the church. Many desired baptism Monday night.

Brother Busby with that poise and dignity so characteristic of Christian life presented the gospel of Jesus in its beauty and simplicity, urging every one to accept Christ as their Lord and Master, and be numbered with the redeemed who have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.

The meeting will continue over Tuesday night.

COOKING SCHOOL
ECHOES
My three favorite cup cake recipes
I AM sure you will find these cup cakes a dainty treat for Sunday supper desserts or when a few good friends drop in for luncheon or tea.
I make them with Crisco, the pure, snowy-white, vegetable shortening, and hardly anyone who eats them can tell they are made without expensive butter.
Cup Cakes
1/2 cup Crisco 2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt
3 eggs 1/2 cup milk
1 1/4 cups flour 1 teaspoon vanilla
Cream Crisco and sugar. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly. Pour into greased muffin or cup cake pans and bake in quick oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.
This recipe makes 15 to 20 cakes.
Filled Chocolate Cakes
1 1/2 cup Crisco 2 eggs
1 cup sugar 2 eggs
2 cups milk 3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 1/2 cups flour 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
Cream Crisco and sugar together. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Cook the milk and chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick. Cool. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the chocolate to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly.
Bake in small, greased cup cake pans in a quick oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. While hot remove a square from the top of each cake and substitute a marshmallow in place of the cake removed. Ice with Boiled Frosting.
Creamy Chocolate Frosting
1 1/2 cups milk 1 teaspoon vanilla
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 1/2 cups powdered sugar
Few grains salt
Cook milk with chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick and smooth. Add sugar and cook again until very thick, stirring constantly. Cool and add vanilla and salt.
Boiled Frosting
1 1/2 cups sugar 2 egg whites
1/2 cup water 1 teaspoon vanilla
Cook sugar and water together, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Boil without stirring until the syrup forms a soft ball when tested in cold water (238 degrees F.). Pour over the stiffly beaten egg whites and beat constantly until the mixture holds its shape. When cool add vanilla.
(All measurements level)
CRISCO was used by Mrs. Ida Chitwood in the recent Eastland Telegram cooking school.
To test your cooking fat—taste it. Crisco's sweet flavor will astonish you.

Judging from the great celebration held for Von Hindenburg on his eightieth birthday, they seem to like his "line" over there.

CHAMPIONSHIP IDEA IS MAKING FOOTBALL GOOD

Helps Interscholastic League Keep Conference Teams In Line.

By ROY B. HENDERSON Athletic Director Interscholastic LEAGUE

In the seven years of high school football, under the stimulus of a state championship, much has been learned. The league never regretted taking the step; a great deal of good has been done; high school football in Texas has improved and prospered; it is being controlled; it is being used as a means to an end; it is serving the cause of education. The league has fought for high ideals; eligibility rules have been strengthened until Texas stands shoulder to shoulder with the leaders of the country in this regard; violations of rules have brought the severest of penalties; there has been no "Senatorial courtesy;" those who would exploit the sport for commercial and selfish reasons have been disappointed and we are entering upon a new season, confident and conscious of the great power for good that lies in a football championship adequately controlled. Our experience has shown that the championship places at the command of the league a most powerful instrument for enforcing eligibility rules, more powerful even than the penalty of suspension. In order that the contests may be made to yield the most in terms of education, character, sportsmanship, loyalty, ethics, etc., a high standard of conduct is secured through the enforcement of the eligibility rules. We know that this high type of conduct could not be secured without rules and we know that the rules could not be enforced so effectively without the championship. Here is my point. First, have rules with teeth in them; rules that safeguard the educational values; rules that absolutely subordinate football in the school and then enforce them vigorously, without fear or favor. The championship affords the machinery of control. The authentic nature of the league's championship has a most wholesome effect upon that undesirable element "down town" with which all school men are familiar. The street corner cackles and the barber shop prophets. The championship appeals to them. They are interested only in the spectacular side. They care nothing for the educational values. They want to build up a team, but—there are rules in the way, rules that they know will be enforced. The increased interest that the championship brings on opens more avenues through which violations are brought to light. They can't "get away with it." They will not withdraw. Above everything else they want to stay "in" so they are forced, by the thing in which they are immediately concerned, to let the athletic affairs of the school alone and watch from the outside because the penalty of elimination from the state championship, something that they can understand and appreciate, is held over them at all times. Meanwhile, the educator is depending upon the rules and using the giant of the championship to work for him in the school. We have found that the championship has been the direct means of securing the interest of the business men in the school. It is a common thing for shops and offices to close on the afternoon of a game. In many cases this interest has been wisely guided by the superintendent and it has borne fruit in other lines; in library facilities; better laboratory equipment; play fields, etc. These are some of the reasons why we believe in the state championship. The greater the interest the greater are the possibilities for good.

Bulldogs Go To Breckenridge-Eastland Game The Ranger Bulldogs will have a complete rest from football today and will go to Eastland to see the Mavericks and the Buckaroos play their first conference game of the season. Tuesday the Bulldogs will start training for their game with Eastland which will be played the opening day of the jubilee, Friday, Oct. 21. During the training time Coaches Cherry and Davis will be working out their plan of attack on the Mavericks. The coaches are not entirely satisfied with the showing made by the tackles in the game last week with the T. C. U. freshmen. During this training period they will spend considerable time in grooming Randall Blackmon for tackle position. Blackmon is a mighty fine physical specimen, weighing 180 pounds, and fast on foot and a sure tackler. He looked mighty good early in the season but infection set in on a skinned place on his knee and he was laid up for several days and it was thought for a while that he would be out of the game for the season. The team as a whole came through the T. C. U. game without injury except the loss of a few inches of hide here and there, and will be ready to start training Tuesday for their first conference game. Coach Cherry has not decided as yet who he will start in the doubtful positions in the game against Eastland but will base his decision on the work and hustle shown by each individual in the next 10 days. There will be a game Friday at Lillard field played by the Bulldogs against an all-star team from Thurber, consisting of ex-college and high school men. This game will be under the auspices of the pep squad, and the entire proceeds above actual expenses will be used in paying for the new pep squad uniforms and other equipment.

THIS ONE BEAT THE PIRATES

Run number three for the Yanks in the second game of the world series. Here is Gehrig, New York first baseman, tallying during the Yankee rally in the third inning. This followed his two-base hit, Meusel's single and Lazzeri's sacrifice fly.

The Case of Ruth-Gehrig vs. the Waners

Here they are, the most talked about four players in the world series. From left to right they are Lloyd Waner, Babe Ruth, Paul Waner and Lou Gehrig. They lived up to all advance notices given of their ability in the opening game of the series, although it must be admitted that the Ruth-Gehrig act had more potent power to it than the brotherly act of the Waners had. The Yankees won, 5-4.

Predict Many Big Baseball Deals For This Winter

By BILLY EVANS. Looks very much as if this might be a busy winter season in major league baseball circles, the American league in particular. The runaway race made by the Yankees this year has made apparent the fact that New York must be halted, if the American league race is to be at all interesting. Recently Manager Bill Carrigan of the Boston Red Sox announced that he has ready to trade any man on his ball club, if he believed the shift would help him. "The trouble with this trade talk," says Carrigan, "is none of the other clubs want to give you anything in return." The Cleveland and St. Louis clubs must be rebuilt while Chicago must at least be rejuvenated. Detroit has trading material, also Washington. As a matter of fact, all the clubs, with the possible exception of New York and Philadelphia, could stand a bit of tinkering. That there will be a lot of trade talk is certain and I am inclined to think several rather interesting deals will be put over. Some Big Deals On. If Owner Ball of the St. Louis Browns goes through with his intention to put George Sisler on the market, there is sure to be lively bidding for his services. Sisler's very serious eye trouble has undoubtedly handicapped his play, but he is still quite a first baseman and could be used to advantage by a number of major league ball clubs. Rumors of a deal between New York and Chicago of the American league also have been floating around all summer and it wouldn't occasion any great surprise if the talk resolved itself into an actual transaction. It is a known fact that after a player has been in the same city a great many years, he very often outlives his usefulness to that particular club, yet, given a change of scenery, he takes on renewed life. There are in the American league a half dozen veterans, each with two or three more years of valuable service left, who would do much better if transferred elsewhere. A number of clubs could make exchanges of such players to the mutual advantage of everybody concerned. Cuyler May Go. Don't take it for granted that all the trade talk, as well as the actual transactions, are going to be confined to the American league. John McGraw of the New York Giants thought he had an excellent chance to win the National league pennant. So did I, as I watched the team in spring training. The Giants fell short and, in so doing, revealed several weaknesses. No one knows better than John McGraw where the club must be strengthened, if it is again to be a serious contender. The leader of the Giants isn't the kind of a manager who remains silent and sits idle when there is work to be done. It looks as if Pittsburgh would be in the market with "Kiki" Cuyler and he should be an even more interesting trade prospect than the great Sisler, since he is much younger. New players make for increased interest and it's a cinch that every club that failed to come up to expectations during the past season will at least offer new faces for fandom's consideration, stars if possible. Boy Scout Rally To Call for Duty During Jubilee If all those who are to do their bit in the Ranger Home-Coming Oil Jubilee on Oct. 21-22 responded as heartily as did the Boy Scouts at a called session Sunday afternoon at the Presbyterian church, the jubilee will move on like clock-work. Gay N. Quirk, Eastland scout executive, with W. W. Housewright and other scout heads, was present, and assigned the boys their post of duty during the jubilee. General instructions as to what constituted their duties as orderlies and information bureaus was given at this meeting and the Chamber of Commerce office in the Guaranty bank building was named as scout headquarters during the jubilee.
