REBEL GENERALS ARE PUT TO FLIGHT BY DEFEAT IN VERA CRUZ

REVOLUTION DECLARED BROKEN NOW

Generals Gomez And Almada Flea Leaving Troops In Sad Plight

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11.—With the revolution declared broken eight days after it began government troops today pursued fleeing rebel generals who deserted their troops in the battle that ended the revolt.

General Gomez and Almada, leaders of the revolution were reported to have fled in separate groups, each accompanied by about 50 soldiers.

General Medina and Aguilar also fled.

Pursuing federal troops were under General Escobar who commanded the government forces in the decisive battle in Vera Cruz.

Two hours after the fighting began Gomez and the other rebel leaders fled it was declared, leaving their troops behind to carry on a hopeless fight.

Texas Christian University Plans More Buildings

FORT WORTH, Oct. 11.—The annual meeting of the board of trustees of Texas Christian University, held at the opening of the 1927-28 school term, showed that all debts were liquidated for the first time in the history of the school. This makes T. C. U. eligible to receive a $166,666 endowment gift from the General Educational Board of New York City.

The need of addition buildings at the school, to care for a fast growing enrollment, was realized by the board of trustees and the erection of a new stadium, an auditorium and a science building set as the goal for the next few years.

"One great misconception that is held by many friends of T. C. U. is that the Burnett trust fund has taken care of all the needs of the school," points out Henry G. Bowden, vice-president of the school. "While 62 acres of land have been purchased, teachers' salaries raised and a new library made possible under the terms of this trust, it can not (by the specifications of the trust) be used for other much needed expansion."

Members of the executive board of the board of trustees who attended the annual meeting at Fort Worth are: D. C. Reed, Austin; L. C. Brite, Marfa; Van Zandt Jarvis, Ft. Worth; L. D. Anderson, Fort Worth; H. W. Stark, Gainesville; D. G. McFadin, Dallas; S. J. McFarland, Dallas; Dan Rogers, Dallas; Andrew Sherry, Anna; S. P. Bush, Allen; H. C. Garrison, Austin; W. S. Cooke, Fort Worth; T. E. Tomlinson, Hillsboro.

NAVY WANTS AUTHORITY TO IMPROVE

Asks Permission to Modernize Five Additional Battle Ships.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The navy department wants authority to "modernize" five more battle ships bringing the total of the modernized craft of this class to thirteen. It also intends to present the Geneva secret building program of its general board approved by Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur for budget and congress action in view of the failure of the Geneva conference.

Secretary Wilbur today revealed this much of the navy's plan for the rebuilding of the American sea forces and coupled it with an interview to the United Press in a statement to the nation that he views the navy as a great national "education asset" imbued with a "spirit of service" and rounding out educations of many youths annually for a country so enthusiastic over education as ours. The navy offers opportunities for learning which must be taken into consideration when one begins to deal with the cold figures of tonnage and costs of defense insurance, he suggested.

Kentucky Campaign Makes Issue of Derby

The fate of horse-racing in Kentucky, even the Kentucky derby, is an issue in the coming gubernatorial election. To the left is Judge Flen D. Sampson of Louisville, leader of the interests that want to keep the sport. Former Governor J. C. Beckham (right) of Louisville, is basing his campaign principally on a platform attacking the present pari-mutuel law legalizing gambling on horse races in the state. The two women, Mrs. Christine Bradley South (top) wife of the United States minister to Panama, and Mrs. John W. Langley (bottom) republican congresswoman, are actively campaigning for Judge Sampson.

"We'll go this afternoon," Capt. George Haldgman said.

Saturday Will Be Tennessee Day At Dallas Fair

Saturday, October 15th is to be Tennessee day at the state fair in Dallas, according to announcement made yesterday by Dr. Robison, pastor of the First Presbyterian church Ranger whom the general committee has appointed as local chairman to rally Ranger ex-Tennesseans to state in Dallas that morning and help whom 'em up at the Vanderbilt-Texas football game that afternoon. A special train with some 600 enthusiastic Tennesseans is billed to reach Dallas from Nashville Saturday morning, with another special train bearing the opposing Texans due to arrive from Austin about same time. It is the plan of those in charge to rally a host of former Tennesseans now living in Texas to welcome the Tennessee boys and to help make the game that afternoon an memorable one.

Saturday evening immediately following the game a banquet is to be given in the Palm Garden at the Adolphus Hotel to the football team and coaches, and in honor of visiting Tennesseans, to which banquet all former Tennesseans are invited.

According to Dr. Robison extremely low rates have been made by the railroads, going to Dallas Friday night or early Saturday morning, and returning Saturday night—a rate of something like one cent per mile—thus reducing the transportation cost to a trifle. Chairman Robison is busy lining up his local delegation, to go by train or auto as they may prefer—and indications now are a substantial bunch of old Tennessee's contribution towards our city's population will be on hand in Dallas on the 15th to help celebrate.

Inheritance Tax In Texas Should Show Good Gain

AUSTIN, Oct. 11.—Inheritance tax collections may exceed those of the past fiscal year, said State Comptroller S. H. Terrell in a statement today analyzing the work of the inheritance tax division of his office.

"The first collections from this source," he said, "were for the year 1909, totaling $7,595, although the first state law upon the subject appears to have been approved in 1907. For the next succeeding 10 year period the collections did not reach as much as $50,000 a year, with the exception of one instance.

"In 1919, during the administration of my father, the amount collected reached $254,995 and during the first year of my administration the account produced $587,546. The gross collections for the present fiscal year, which closed August 31 totaled $1,416,799.02.

"The entire cost of collecting this sum was only $21,807.96 in fees paid county officials, leaving a net revenue of $1,394,991.06 to the credit of the general revenue."

Terrell estimated that collections will approximate $1,500,000 by the close of the present fiscal year ending August 31, next.

Ranger Aviation Field Being Made Ready for Planes

Getting an aviation field in order for a visit of government planes is no easy matter. B. F. Peacock, engineer of Chestnut-Smith Corporation, who through the courtesy of Mr. Fred Yonker has been loaned to the jubilee for the purpose of making blue prints of the field, and W. C. Hickey, secretary of the Ranger chamber of commerce, spent almost the entire morning at the Ranger aviation field.

Blue prints showing location of the field, obstructions near it and all facts that would have any bearing with aviators, have to be sent to the pilots of government planes that will be here during the jubilee. In addition sets of blue prints will be sent to other aviators who are coming for that event.

It will be necessary to put up a wind cone, to prepare a white wash circle, and have the field dragged, which the city will do, and to attend to a dozen or more items to make the field meet the requirements of the government for its planes.

Southern Cross Hops Off From Tacoma After Re-Fueling

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 11.—Stopping only long enough to take aboard 250 gallons of gasoline, the trimotored Fokker monoplane, Southern Cross, arrived here from Seattle and hopped off again shortly before 9 a. m. for San Francisco.

The flight to San Francisco will be the first leg in a long journey to Honolulu and Australia.

DALLAS, Oct. 11.—The clatter of horses hoofs as the milk makes his early morning rounds will no longer be heard in Dallas if Dr. M. M. Carriek city health commissioner has his way.

Dr. Carriek has proposed an ordinance providing that milk wagons be tired with rubber instead of steel wheel rims and that horses be shod with rubber shoes.

Ambulances of the city will be supplied with musical bells instead of sirens, and Dr. Carriek proposes to have mufflers put on the fire trucks of the city.

"The city is too noisy at night," he said, explaining his action.

DALLAS HOTEL HELD LIABLE PROPERTY LOSS

Posting of Signs Denying Re- sponsibility Does Not Re- lieve Hotel's Liability.

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 11.—A decision of wide-spread interest in Dallas county court today when the court held the Adolphus hotel of Dallas, liable for damages for property stolen from a room occupied by Sam Davison, city commissioner of Houston.

The court held that hotel owner cannot avoid responsibility by posting signs that hotel will not be responsible for valuables unless they are placed in custody of the hotel.

Davison alleged that while he was sleeping in a room at the hotel, someone entered the room and stole a diamond stud valued at $650 and $65 in cash.

The case will probably be appealed.

AUTOMOBILE STOCKS FLURRY ON WALL STREET

Reports That Production of the New Ford Will Begin and Arrival of Durrant Cause.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Automobile stocks staged a brief flurry on Wall street today which for a time caused losses in prices of practically all motor stocks and gave indications of causing more excitement.

The flurry, although perhaps not caused by them, were accompanied by two developments.

One was publication by a financial service and in New York papers of a story that the Ford Motor company would begin production of its new car within a few days.

The other was arrival from Europe of W. C. Durant, who before departure had publicly promised to start excitement of his own in the motor world.

East-West Texas Fair Exhibitors To Dine Together

DALLAS, Oct. 11.—State fair exhibitors of East and West Texas will dine together in the Palm Room of the Adolphus Hotel here at 7:30 o'clock the evening of October 14. The East and West Texas chambers of commerce will be joint hosts.

The West Texas chamber of commerce has an annual banquet each year during the fair, honoring its West Texas exhibitors and planned such an entertainment this fall, but following a conference of Manager Homer D. Wade and Manager Blanton of the East Texas chamber, it was decided to hold a joint entertainment.

The purpose of the East-West Texas exhibitors banquet is to cultivate a closer relationship and friendship between the two sections, and to acquaint one another with the aims and ideals of the regional commercial organizations.

BIG DEFICIT WOULD BE NATURAL RESULT

Will Oppose Tax Cuts Proposed By U. S. Chamber Commerce

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The financial outlook of the government indicates that a tax reduction of $350,000,000 or $400,000,000 as recommended by the United States chamber of commerce would be unfeasible in the opinion of President Coolidge it was announced today at the white house.

Such a reduction would result in a deficit, Mr. Coolidge believes.

The chamber's suggested plan was for an immediate reduction and repeats in federal taxes estimated to amount to $400,000,000 in the first full year after the changes are made.

Corporation tax would be cut to 10 percent and federal estate and war excise taxes would be abolished, under the plan.

So far as payment of war taxes is concerned, the war is only half over, President Coolidge believes.

Mr. Coolidge admires the spirit in which Americans have borne the burden of war expenditures, but he is informed the present debt of the nation amounts to eighteen billion dollars it was stated.

Expenditures next year for Mississippi flood relief, increased naval budget and other contemplated projects will eat into the expected surplus in the president's opinion.

Big Fight On For Headquarters of South Texas C C

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 11.—A three fold battle of the cities, which like the jousts and contests of the olden days, will bring forth the champions of a number of south Texas towns, is to make the first convention of the South Texas chamber of commerce here Nov. 14 and 15 one of the most gatherings ever held in this section.

There will be a battle among the cities desiring the permanent headquarters of the chamber. Since the announcement of Ray Leeman, general manager, that the offices of the chamber are to be moved from San Antonio to a smaller town in this region, he has been besieged with offers from many cities seeking the headquarters. It was decided to leave the selection to the directors of the chamber when they meet at the convention.

Eight cities have already filed formal application for the headquarters. Some are offering free office space, free quarters, and in one instance even offered to erect a special building to house the chamber. The cities which have filed formal application are Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Robstown, Victoria, Cuero, Pearsall, Flatonia and Sugarland.

Another battle will be for the 1928 convention. With prospects for between 10,000 and 15,000 visitors to the convention this year, the convention is being recognized as a valuable asset.

The third contest will be for the presidency. No one has yet openly announced, but several prominent citizens are known to have their eyes on the office now occupied by R. W. Morrison of San Antonio.

Unusual interest is expected in the hand contest. Brass bands from all over the region will compete for $2,500 in prizes. William S. West, convention chairman, expects about 25 bands to enter the contest.

Then back to Ranger again to the president's home, where they enjoyed music, conversation and refreshments.
But all perfect days must end and this one did, but it ended with a forecast of many happy times to follow.
Those present were Bernadine Kribbs, Agnes Reuwer, Burla Kohn, Sug Wallace, Mildred Grant, Joe Burch and Theo Stidham.

CIRCLE TWO VISITS COUNTY FARM WITH EATS AND PROGRAM.
Circle two of the Women's Missionary union of the Central Baptist church met at the church yesterday afternoon, 20 strong, and drove out to the county farm, where they rendered a fine program. Rev. J. A. Caraway made a brief talk, some of the members sang and then fruit was given the inmates of the home, and this was topped off with a packer of Bannet ice cream. Needless to say that the 11 inmates were very happy over the refreshments and the attention shown them by the circle members. Circle one met with Mrs. Bearden with nine present. Bible study was the feature of the program and refreshments were served. Circle three met with Mrs. Pursuer with seven present and Bible study was also observed by this circle.

The attendance was good and the afternoon's program beneficial and inspirational.

JUNIOR NEW ERA CLUB HAS FIRST PROGRAM.
The Junior New Era club swung into action for the first real program of this year, last night when they met at the Gholson hotel. There were 11 present and all those absent had good and valid excuses. The program was full of pep and moved off like clockwork. It introduced a rather novel feature in the way of folk lore of Texas. Miss Gillian Buchanan read that poem and song sung by every bona fide cowboy, "The Dying Cowboy," and the club sang the chorus with her after each verse.
The first two parts of the book, "A Good Woman," by Bromsfield, were read by Miss Sue Dean. The club will study this book, reading from it at each meeting until the book is completed.
A business meeting followed the program during which Mrs. Rena B. Campbell, the club mother, was elected as a delegate to the State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in El Paso next month.
Miss Sue Dean was elected secretary and two new members came into the club, Miss Jennie Robison and Miss Lucile Buchanan.
Believing in the adage that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, the members laid aside business cares and adjourned in a body to the Liberty theatre to enjoy the program offered there.
Those present were Misses Sue Dean, Jennie Robison, Eva Long, Lucile Buchanan, Helen Howdeshell, Hortense Ross, Mittie Morris, Gillian Buchanan, Tully Evans, Edith Fletcher and Christina Schmuck.

Sell, New Houses
To Be Erected

Some more old time landmarks in Ranger are to follow the trail of other frame ranges, and be replaced by modern buildings, it was announced today.
Maddocks and Sen announce the sale by J. W. Parrish, a former resident of Ranger, of two pieces of property lying on the west side of North Oak street, between East Main and Hunt.
The first building, where an old blacksmith shop now stands, was sold to B. L. DeMoss of the City Top and Paint company, who figures on putting on the lot a modern stucco auto top shop, as near fire proof as possible, but may decide to build with brick. Mr. DeMoss hopes to get the building wrecked and the premises cleaned up before the Jubilee, realizing how much better that street would look with the old building gone.
The other piece of property was sold to J. A. Tullos, of the Snowflake Bakery, who plans to erect about the first of the year a modern brick bakery for the permanent home of his business. His property is adjacent well dotted with frame buildings.
Another real estate sale reported by the same firm is a five room modern bungalow at 1018 Pershing street from Mrs. M. M. Nanney to Glen Williams.

Eastland Senior Participates In Field Dedication

Miss Aline Williams, senior in the Eastland high school, had the honor of being the first to make an official kick of a football on the Maverick Athletic Field, Monday afternoon prior to the opening whistle of the Eastland-Breckenridge conference game.
Judge Allen D. Dabney, prominent member of the Eastland school board, in a few words told the crowd how proud Eastland was of the new field. In dedicating the field he spoke of the "fighting and unconquerable spirit of the Mavericks" and in their honor he named the field the Maverick Athletic Field.
After Judge Dabney's short talk he presented a ball to Jimmy King, captain of this year's squad and Jimmy dropped to his knees to prepare for a place kick. Miss Williams was credited with at least ten yards on her first attempt, publicly, at place kicking.

Ranger Will Have
Palace of Sweets
To Open Up Soon

For the first time since 1921 Ranger is going to have a palace of sweets, where people can buy toothsome home-made candies just as they used to in the boom days at the beautiful Palace of Sweets which was housed then in the building now occupied by E. H. & A. Davis.
Charlie Lazadinos, who with his family consisting of a wife and four children have moved to Ranger from Stamford, has rented the Georgia place, on South Kusk street, next door to the New Liberty Cafe, and is getting ready to open an up-to-date candy kitchen, where he will serve hot chocolate and all kinds of delicious home-made candies.
Mr. Lazadinos specializes in after dinner mints and candies for parties as well as fine stick candies.
He comes to Ranger from Stamford where he has lived for eighteen years and is located at 701 Cypress street. Mr. Lazadinos said that he had looked around for a good location and thought Ranger was the best, so had decided to settle here. He was especially impressed with the schooling facilities offered here.

Gripings
By GUS

Sufferin' tripe. Wouldn't you hate to be in the shoes of one Eastland Maverick and one Breckenridge Buckaroo when their respective coaches got started on them after that wonderful chance for each to score yesterday while Monroe Sweeney, referee, was holding his breath and pulling his hair for someone to put the ball out of play so he could blow the whistle that ended the game?
If you have been reading Walter Ekersall's "Breaks of the Game," you can appreciate that each team had a break that was cinch for them to win and neither took advantage of it.
The last play of the game was a punt from Eastland to Breckenridge. The final gun sounded while the ball was in mid air. The rules say that in that case the play must be completed before the referee blows the final whistle.
The Breckenridge player received the ball and stood there like a wooden Indian, when he could have trotted off and made a touchdown after seeing that none of the Eastland men were going to tackle him.
Instead of that he handed the ball to the first Eastland player who leisurely walked up to him.
The Eastland player could have walked 15 yards to a touchdown and won the game, but instead he stood there like another wooden Indian and did nothing.
The ball was still in play for it had not been grounded.
Each team lost the game right there. Each team presented the game to the other on a golden platter and each steadfastly refused to take it.
That's what we've been preaching to you all the fall about kids that are playing their first year. They will do some of the most unheard of things at some of the most inopportune times, and knowing that some of you birds will go ahead and give points.

If that ever happens to a Ranger player he sure better climb the fence and go crawl under the house and stay a week or two until Cherry starves to death looking for him.
Imagine Ranger and an opponent being hung up in a scoreless tie at the end of a game and an opportunity to win would be thrust in a player's hand like that, and imagine a Bulldog standing there gazing into the pep squad to see if his girl was still there instead of beating it with that ball under his arm.
If you can imagine that you can imagine Blair Cherry tearing his hair out like pulling Johnson grass from a cotton patch.

Some wise guy keeps sending in a name to the Jubilee headquarters and an address of Aqua Dulce, Texas. For his information be it known that the invitation has been mailed to Sweetwater and he can quit his kidding.

Penney Reports Big Increase In September Sales

Gross sales of the J. C. Penney company for September showed a gain of 29.30 percent or an increase of $3,112,839.65 over the corresponding month in 1926.

The gross volume for the past month amounted to $13,735,131.26 as compared with the figure of $10,622,291.61 reported for September last year.

For nine months of 1927 the cumulative gross sales are reported as $95,937,309.30 a gain of $22,830,168.69 or a 31.23 percent increase over the gross sales for the same period of last year which were $73,107,440.61.

All indications point to the J. C. Penney company surpassing the $150,000,000 figure set for the gross sales volume of 1927. With snow now falling in the northwestern states, a considerable increase in volume sales for this time of year is expected from the Penney stores in these sections.

The rate of increase in sales volume sales for this time of year is the increase for the corresponding period last year. This is attributed largely to the intensive sales programs put into effect this year coupled with the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the J. C. Penney company, the latter being marked by exceptional values offered to the consumers.

Recent expansion plans announced by the Penney company indicate a steady development in all sections of the country and will further insure the Penney company maintaining its lead as the second largest chain store system in volume of sales.

Mrs. McCormick Has Good Chance For Congress

By RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer WASHINGTON.—Many of us are so excited over the presidential show in the big tent that we aren't paying much attention yet to the many attractive side-shows presented by various state campaigns which will also culminate in the 1928 elections.

Not one of these senatorial, gubernatorial and congressional sideshows will be more interesting than Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick's performance in Illinois and perhaps few will be more portentous. The announcement that Mrs. McCormick would run for congressman-at-large brought the foremost woman politician of her time into her first bid for public office for herself. The wife of the late Senator Medill McCormick is a veteran of many campaigns, but now she sets forth in her own right on the same path along which she accompanied her husband.

There are four women in congress and the whole sex has a right to be proud of them. They have been a good influence insofar as any ordinary individual new legislator can be an influence. Most of them succeeded their husbands. Before that, they were not politically prominent. Mrs. McCormick is different. Her importance in the republican party has been growing ever since she substituted for her father, Mark Hanna, at the age of 16 in a rear platform speech during the McKinley campaign of 1896.

There is significance in the fact that she is the first woman to run for national office on a state-wide vote in a large industrial state. There is even more significance in the fact that Mrs. McCormick, pioneer though she is, is extremely likely to be elected. Whether she will be able to follow right along in her husband's footsteps remains to be seen, but there is more than a suspicion that Mrs. McCormick has her eye on the senatorship which Deneen took from McCormick in 1924 and which he must defend again in 1930. There is every reason to believe that Deneen will be pushed out of the picture when his present term expires, but it is even more certain that Mrs. McCormick should she run, would face a terrific battle for the seat. There are two Illinois congressmen at large, Yates and Rathbone, one of whom must go out if Mrs. McCormick wins next year. The two candidates win who receive the largest vote of those running for the office. Rathbone is the man—marked for political death. He had the hardihood to oppose Thompson in the last Chicago mayoralty campaign he is no longer popular among Illinois politicians and it is against him that Mrs. McCormick will direct her primary campaign. If she wins in the April primaries, she is virtually assured of election.

DONIE BUSH HAS BAD SITUATION AT PITTSBURGH

His Run In With Kiki Cuyler Made Him Unpopular With Fans.

By BILLY EVANS.
Winning a major league pennant is just about the last word in the managerial line.

Such a happening, as a rule, makes the pilot of the champions the outstanding figure in the community, for the time being at least.

Donie Bush, who led the Pittsburgh Pirates to a glorious triumph in the National league, under adverse conditions and after one of the toughest races in the history of baseball, is not experiencing the conditions that confront most managers.

Even with the pennant tucked safely away, there are a lot of "wolves," ball players' name for the fans, on Bush's back, literally speaking.

Bush's extraordinary situation has been created by his differences with "Kiki" Cuyler, star outfielder of the Pirates.

A Man of Courage.
Shortly prior to the start of the opening game of the world series, I sat on the Pittsburgh bench, chatting with the great little manager of the Pirates.

I have always had the greatest admiration for Bush, a former American league star. I umpired the first game he played in the American league, when he joined the Detroit Tigers late in the fall of 1908 and saved the pennant for them by his remarkable play at short.

Always aggressive, with oodles of courage, Bush was ever a man of strong opinions. An umpire might have a rumpus with him today but tomorrow the affair would be entirely forgotten, the slate wiped clean and a new day started.

Not knowing all the details, I have no desire to take sides in the matter, but an acquaintance of 20 years has convinced me that Bush is a square shooter.

Feels It Keenly.
While not overly sensitive, Bush great many Pittsburgh fans have feels keenly the adverse attitude taken in the Cuyler situation.

"Look out there in left field Bill, and read that banner," said Bush, as he pointed in that general direction.

RED-BLOODED PERSONS!

Red-blooded persons are healthy persons! Thousands of people who formerly were suffering from lack of strength, who were dull and listless and whose eyes lacked the animated sparkle that comes with good health now are praising the famous old tonic known as Waterbury's Compound. Waterbury's Compound contains all the "goodness" of cod liver oil—the Vitamins—with none of the disagreeable taste of ordinary cod liver oil. Waterbury's compound combines with vitamins A and D derived from cod liver oil by action of the pancreas and spleen, many other proven ingredients intended to help build up wasted tissues, increase the oxygen carrying powers of the blood, and impart new vigor and strength to the body. It is known all over the world, being sold not only everywhere in the United States, but in Europe, Africa, South America and the Orient as well. Such universal praise is evidence of its superior merits. If you feel dull, tired, drabby, listless, lacking in energy, or if you are suffering from the after effects of fever or "flu"—of you lack strength, go to your nearest druggist today and get a bottle of Waterbury's Compound and learn for yourself the benefits to be had from this truly fine product. Waterbury's compound is endorsed and distributed by all druggists.

Spread from one end of the bleachers to the other was a sign which read:

"We Want Cuyler."

"I doubt if they get him," said Bush. "Each club can have only one manager. Just as long as I am working for Mr. Dreyfuss I am going to be the pilot of the Pittsburgh club."

"I am going to make mistakes, but I am willing to ride along with my judgment and accept the verdict."

Bush's position is a most unusual one. He burned his bridges when he removed Cuyler from the lineup in August. He had nothing to shoot at but the winning of the pennant. After that, however, it would have taken a world championship to silence Cuyler's admirers.

BULLDOGS LOSE CLYDE PEPPERS AS INELIGIBLE

By GUS COLEMAN.
Some of the erudite sport writers of the oil belt have accused us of various things among which is that we are spreading too much gloom in regards to the Ranger Bulldogs' chances for a championship team in 1927.

For their special benefit here is another layer: Clyde Peppers, the big 210-pound tackle, has been declared ineligible to participate in conference games and will start working out this afternoon with Tricky Ward's squad of Junior college men.

This announcement will no doubt bring joy to some of their souls for they were all on the verge of getting scared of Cherry's "nubbins" and were accusing us of under-rating our team.

So, in order to ease their minds on the subject of gloom psychology, we will say that the loss of Peppers will be sorely felt, but his transfer papers from a prior school could not be made to satisfy the local committee and therefore he had to go, regardless of the fact that he was making a fair showing to fill the gap left when Garland Hinman, sensational tackle from 1926, was placed in the backfield.

The coaches will now turn their attention to the grooming up of Randall Blackmon to fill the vacant tackle position, and upon their success with him depends a great deal of the success of the Bulldogs.

Blackmon is young, only 16. But a finer looking specimen is not to be found in a Bulldog uniform this year and he weighs 180 pounds. He has been handicapped in early training by an infected knee and his utter lack of experience in football will make it hard for him to pick up the fundamentals quickly and get in there and battle the husky individuals that are sure to face him.

Whether he can succeed or not remains to be seen. He might go in there and play a wonderful game one day and then look like a dud the very next game. Then, too, his youth and inexperience makes him just a little timid in getting out and mixing it on the practice field with the older and more experienced players.

To sum it up in a word, he's got a big job laid out for him. In the first conference game of the season he will play before a larger crowd than 80 per cent of high school players have ever played, and 3,000 pair of eyes on the Ranger side of the field will be breathlessly watching how he meets the onslaught of Captain Jimmy King of the Mavericks. Even the thoughts of that is enough to give the average grown man a case of stage fright, but, realizing that it is an opportunity that is not often afforded a 16-year-old high school boy, Randall Blackmon will give a good account of himself or you can put us down as a poor guesser.

Dance, Lake Cisco, Tuesday, Oct. 11. Leonard's Coloradoans.—Adv.

MAVERICKS ARE SHORT ON PUNCH IN THE PINCHES

Crowd Of Nearly 4,000 Opening Battle For Oil Belt Champions

Before a crowd estimated at between 3500 and 4000 people, the largest crowd ever to attend a football game in Eastland, the Eastland Mavericks and the Breckenridge Buckaroos fought to a 0 to 0 battle Monday afternoon, on Maverick field, to open the 1927 conference title race.

The tie was the result of the inability of the Mavericks to give the final punch at crucial moments when the ball was in ideal scoring position. Chances to score presented themselves to the Mavericks no less than twice, once in the first few minutes of play and again in the last quarter, but the Mavericks suffered breaks and the chances to break the scoreless tie were lost.

The game, taken from both angles was rather sluggish, being filled with fumbles and lines of both teams gave way at intervals. The Mavericks outplayed the Buckaroos on both halves of the offensive. They made six first downs to the Buckaroos two and completed one pass out of six attempts.

Osborne outdistanced Wetzel Buckaroo quarter in punting by a slight margin.

The game was the first conference game to be played this year and crowds from surrounding towns were present for the game.

"Bull" Johnson, bulwark of the Maverick backfield, hit his usual stride only once or twice during the game. Early in the game he and half he was kept out of the game until late in the third quarter when he replaced G. C. Smith. Time after time the Buckaroo line broke through to stop the powerful Johnson and sometimes to throw him for a few yard loss.

The feature of the game a 74 yard punt by Osborne, Maverick back, which placed the ball in easy scoring position after Vaughn had made a spectacular block of Wetzel's punt, placing the ball on the 14 yard line.

This was in the fourth quarter. An attempt to kick the field goal failed.

At the beginning of the game Eastland chose the south goal. A rather strong wind was blowing from the south and west.

Daniels received Breckenridge's kick on the forty yard line to start the game. Early in the quarter Eastland had placed the ball in scoring position but failed to count. After penalties for off-sides had been suffered by both teams Osborne punted out of field to give the ball to Breckenridge on the 20 yard line.

The Mavericks held the Buckaroos for three downs and Wetzel punted out of bounds on 22 yard line. A run by Jones and a fake play by Johnson carrying the ball netted 10 yards and placed the ball on the 10 yard line. However, Johnson fumbled and Jones recovered after losing three yards. The remainder of the quarter was an orgy of fumbles and losses and exchange of punts between Osborne and Wetzel. The only successful pass of the game was completed in the first quarter when a short pass, Johnson to Overby was completed for 15 yards. Overby was followed by a fumble by Overby on 20 yard line, Breckenridge recovering. The quarter ended with the ball in Eastland's possession on the 50 yard line.

In the second quarter the air was bottled with exchange of punts between the two sides. A pass, Johnson to Jones was incomplete. Osborne punted to 36 yard line. Plunges by Woodward and Wesner netted six yards. Breckenridge fumbled and Foster, Eastland, recovered. Jones, Eastland, fumbled and Woodward recovered. After no gain Wetzel punted and Osborne again punted on the next play to Breckenridge's 34 yard line. Woodward fumbled and Dabney recovered. After Jones had netted six yards on end run and off tackle play, Osborne punted to Breckenridge's 20 yard line. Fumbled and King recovered for Eastland. G. C. Smith for Jones and Pruitt for Carey Breckenridge. Two plays netted nothing and a pass, Johnson to Overby was incomplete and Osborne punted to 20 yard line. Breckenridge punted to 50 yard line. The rest of the quarter was consumed with punts. The quarter ended with a brilliant tackle by King, Eastland tackle, of Wesner after Osborne had punted.

Johnson was replaced by "Red" Jones at the opening of the second half but replaced G. C. Smith towards the end of the third quarter. The feature play of the third quarter, and the longest gain made by an individual during the entire game was Osborne broken field run that netted 29 yards. Dabney and Thompson both showed excellent defensive work during the quarter when they stopped Breckenridge backs in their tracks on two fast plays. At no time during the third quarter was either goal in danger. Both sides resorted to the kicking game, although Eastland did make two first downs during the quarter. Dabney's showed their best brand of offensive football in the third quarter of the game but soon resorted to the defensive after Osborne's long run.

Towards the last of the fourth quarter the Eastland Mavericks again placed the ball in logical scoring position only to lose the remaining chance. After Osborne had booted the ball 74 yards to place it on Breckenridge's 18 yard line and Vaughn had blocked Wetzel's kick and recovered on the 14 yard line it looked as if the Mavericks would break the tie, Johnson gained four through the line but on the next play Jones lost six and the Mavericks resorted to the field goal route but the kick went wild. An exchange of punts and the game was over.

"Red" Jones played a good game in the backfield and showed up exceptionally well on defensive work, getting the powerful Woodward twice when it looked as if he was headed for a touchdown. Dabney and Vaughn and Thompson turned in excellent games at the defensive post.

Officials, referee, Sweeney; umpire, Shelton, head linesman Garrett. Substitutions: Breckenridge Pruitt for Carey, Munnerlyn for Veal, Eastland G. C. Smith for Jones, Jones for Johnson, Johnson for G. C. Smith.

City Lights Are Extended Hodges Oak Park Section

Hodges Oak Park has gotten into the bright light district at last as the street lights in that addition of Ranger, were turned on last night.

These lights start at Homer and extend to the Hodges Oak Park ward school on Cypress and Lula streets. Their installation follows the appearance of certain Hodges Oak Park residents before the city commission some time ago, when a representative of the light company was also present and the question of lights or no lights was put up to the city. The answer was lights.

Only those who have lived in Hodges Oak Park and enjoyed their way home on a dark raining night can appreciate just how much these lights mean to the citizens of that addition.

Man Suspected Of Car Theft Held By Ranger Police

A man is being held by the Ranger police for the sheriff of Brewster county. No charges have been filed but police say he answers the description of a man wanted at Alpine for automobile theft.

He was arrested, police declare, when they came upon him near the entrance to the city hall, trying to sell an automobile for $50.

According to police officers, the man admits he is the one wanted on Brewster county. Officers say he admits automobile theft and that he talked freely of the theft and exchange of automobiles at points between Alpine and Ranger. They also say he frequently mentioned the names of Kimes and Terrell, which led officers to think he might know something of the operations of these two famous Oklahoma outlaws.

According to police the man said he intended to sell the car in which he came to Ranger, buy some clothes, steal another car and make for Oklahoma and eventually for North Carolina.

The sheriff of Brewster county is said to be on his way to Ranger.

Former Athletic Stars Attend T. C. U. Texas Tech Game

FORT WORTH, Oct. 11.—Among the former athletic stars of Texas Christian University who were present at the T. C. U.-Texas Tech football game here Saturday were Blair Cherry, coach of the Ranger high school Bulldogs, and Tricky Ward, coach of the junior college eleven of Ranger.

Both of these men were star ends on T. C. U. eleven. They also were baseball stars. Cherry was one of the greatest outfielders ever developed at T. C. U. and Ward was a pitcher of ability.

NORFLEET

CHAPTER 10

WHAT HAS BEEN TOLD

Frank Norfleet, a Texas rancher swindled out of $45,000 at Dallas, by members of an international swindling ring, headed by Joe Furey and W. B. Spencer, resolves to sacrifice his last dollar if necessary to break up the ring. Feeling a peculiar hunch he goes to California where he finds two of his men in jail at San Bernardino. After considerable legal red tape his men are returned to Texas and Norfleet, following a tip from a woman traveling acquaintance, goes to Florida to search for his man. He spends several days in Jacksonville without success and goes on down the coast visiting various towns until he reaches St. Petersburg. Strolling down a residence street in this little town, he, in his friend's Texas way, makes the acquaintance of an old couple named Beckerman, who had been robbed of a life time's savings in the director's room of the bank at Clearwater, promises to try to help the old people find the swindlers and if possible to recover their money.

Before the old folks knew what had happened the three thieves had dashed through a door and bounded into a waiting automobile. Another minute and they had disappeared in a dust cloud down the highway. This is the story the broken old people told me. I have heard many like it since, but I have never heard of a case that aroused me to greater anger and determination to destroy as many of such bunco groups as I could find. It seemed dastardly to rob these two gentle old people. I have learned, however, that the weak and unprotected are choice prey for the swindling serpents. Of course they had already seen the police and the sheriff. Both had told them to go home and await whatever might turn up. It took their few remaining dollars to get back to the little rented cottage in St. Petersburg. When I found them, they had just had a letter from the sheriff's office saying that no trace could be found of the outlaws. Considering that the theft took place in a Clearwater bank and that an official of that bank seemed to be acquainted with the three crooks, this seemed to me to be a queer report. I leave the reader to draw his own conclusions. I know how these poor people felt. While their loss was not as great as mine, they merited much more sympathy, for I was younger and I had my own plans for taking care of myself. They were feeble and helpless. As I had encountered no lead toward my own men, I decided to spend a few days in the interest of the Beckermans. Remembering that birds of a feather flock together, I even hoped that the trail of their swindlers might lead to a trace of my own. I promised to go to Clearwater and see what I could do for them. The dear old folks were tearfully grateful that someone should take up their case, and the old lady's tears disappeared behind a hopeful smile. They thanked me and said that their prayers would follow me. I was glad they said that, for I felt that I might need some one's prayers. At Clearwater, I went directly to the sheriff's office. I hoped that something might have turned up since the letter had been written to the Beckermans. The officer on duty was seated on a high stool in a caged-off portion of the room which separated the executive desks and chairs from the public entrance. Before him was a high counter across which the townspeople seemed to be paying their taxes. A wicked oval opening framed his nose face as he gazed out upon me when my turn at the window came. He called, "Next!" As cheerfully as possible in the face of such gloom as he exuded, I told him that I was calling in the interest of the Beckermans. Did he know about their being robbed? Yes, he knew all about it! He was quite important about it. I tapped a friendly little tattoo on the counter. "Yes, I suppose you do," I said. Then I added significantly, as if he had not have heard of it otherwise. "The papers had quite a lot to say about it." His upper lip lifted sneeringly from his stained teeth. I thought he was going to snap at me. I continued my explanation. "I have a little time on my hands and came over to offer my services in the search for the infamous hounds who got their money." "Well," he sneered, "all I hate about it is that the thieves didn't get every damned cent they had and make them walk back to St. Petersburg!" This nearly toppled me over. It seemed unbelievable coming from an officer of the law. I looked at him dumbfounded. It was so venomous that I was sure I hadn't understood him. I asked him what he said. "I said," he repeated viciously, "that people who let men swindle them out of their money that way are worse than the swindlers and ought to lose every cent they ever had! That's what I said!" That got under my hide. I lit up like a pan of powder. "Why, you dirty blankety, blank, blank!" I yelled in his face. "I'll crack you for that!" I pulled my gun and made for the opening around the corner. He saw what I was going to do and hopped from his stool like a toad from a rock. We met at the corner of the desk. I had the drop on him. He had reached for his gun, but not quite quick enough. "Drop it!" I yelled. "You great big dirty, disreputable hyena! You—!" and I'm afraid I said a few unprintable things then—"If you aren't satisfied with this deal, I can settle you mighty quick!" He gulped and turned as white as a sheet. My back was turned to the open door which led outside and was unprotected from behind. When I realized my awkward position, I wondered how I might change it. Then I heard footsteps behind me. I was in a peach of a way to get popped in the back. I couldn't turn, so I called out: "Don't get excited! I'm not a hijacker. This dirty coward has insulted a good old woman and I'm making him eat his words." He evidently could see who was coming. He started muttering and mumbling: "You—you—misunderstood me—I didn't mean—" he spoke softly as he could, as if trying to keep the others from overhearing.

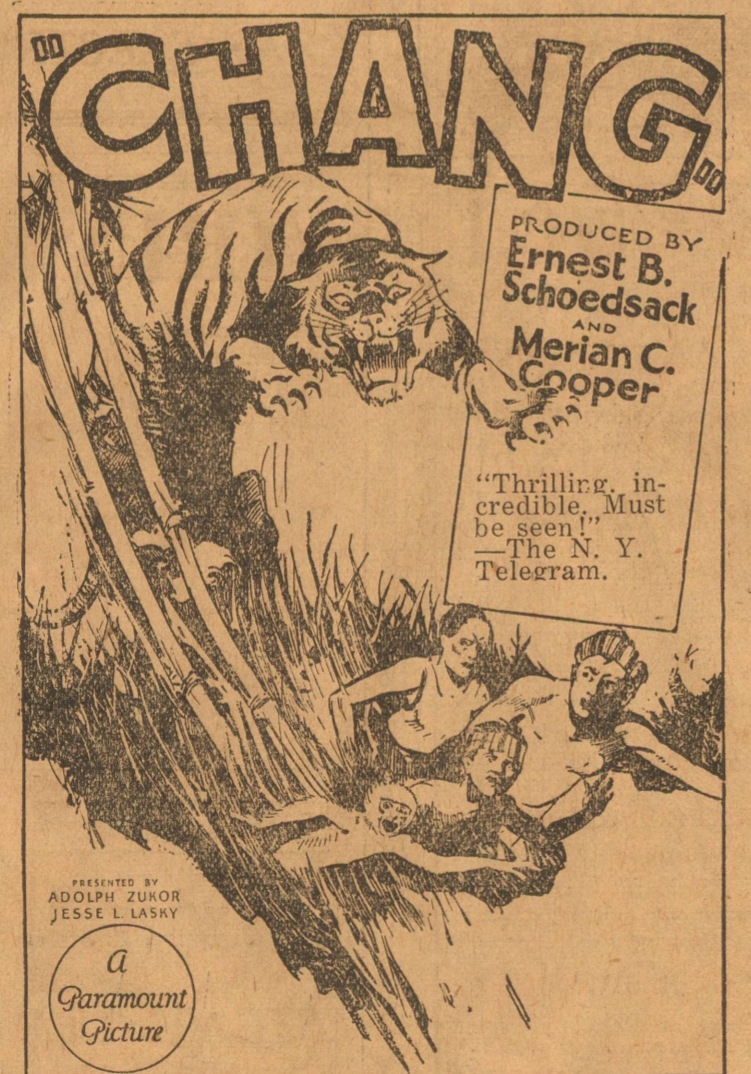

"Well, you didn't misunderstand what I said, did you?" "No! I—I got you," he mumbled nervously. I could see that there was no hope for the Beckermans from this source and that I was wasting time. I backed up against the wall to see who was behind me. "That's all right, stranger," said a friendly voice, and there stood four men grinning from ear to ear and horselaughing. I distinctly felt four silent messages of congratulation and was considerably relieved. I replaced my gun and left the office. After this experience I felt encouraged in the thought that the Beckermans probably felt safe with the local officers and, therefore, might not be far away. I would scout around a while. After several hours of snooping around, I knew no more than I had at the beginning. With no chance of getting co-operation from the officers, I decided it would not be worth while to waste time here. I hailed a passing car back to St. Petersburg and went, reluctantly to tell the old people of my fruitless effort. I was beautiful to see the faith of these people in the efficacy of prayer. They certainly placed more confidence in the Almighty's ability to recover that little brown bag than they did in the police department. They showed rare good judgment. Strangely—to me—they never failed to include the thieves in their daily prayers. I hadn't the heart to tell them of my experience in the sheriff's office or of the slight chance they had of ever finding the men who had robbed them. I simply told them that I had investigated the matter and that, so far, nothing was known of the miscreants. I assured them that I would keep their case in mind and try to help them while I was attending to my own business. They thanked me with prayers and I left them, wondering what the future might hold for them. On the way to my hotel I stopped in front of a garage and watched a red-headed young mechanic change a tire on a big touring car. I had to admire his efficient and methodical work. Quite a contrast to my clumsy struggles with flats on the hot, dusty roads of the plains country. He knew his business and interested me a great deal. When he had finished, the driver of the big car slipped a five-dollar bill into his grimy paw. The boy gave it a careless look and stuffed it into his overalls. Five dollars was apparently very little in his young life. "Some car, isn't it? I remarked to him, as the car sped down the highway. "Yeah, pretty classy bus," was his rejoinder. I remarked that tips grew to quite a healthy size in the warm climate. He grinned and, wiping away the perspiration, grew thoughtful. He was watching the departing car and wondered what he was thinking. Then he spoke, half to himself: "I'm gettin' so that whenever I see

Suit Settlement May Enable Road Work to Resume

Barriers to the completion by the state of highway 25 from Cisco across Williamson dam to Albany and other points, are believed by Cisco people to have been removed when the Eighty-eighth district court at Eastland decided a suit for damages brought by W. P. Pulley against the McClung Construction company in favor of the defendant. The Pulley suit was for $5,639 alleged damages for digging a "borrow pit" on plaintiff's land and strewing his land with boulders.
The state highway department, which a few months ago announced that it would make no further efforts to complete and maintain the road, is believed now will resume work on the road since the Pulley suit and other right of way matters have been settled.

Church of Christ Revival Closes At Eastland Tonight

Monday brought increasing interest for the meeting conducted in the Church of Christ, and Monday noon showed a larger crowd than any noon day services during the meeting.
Bro. Busy inspired great hope in the congregation in his comment upon the following passages of the scripture. "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God."
"Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth."
"For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God."
"When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory."
Last night several people were baptised, and so far including those who have placed membership, there has been added to the church during the meeting 27.
The meeting will close tonight.

MANY NEW HOMES ARE PLANNED AT EASTLAND
A number of Eastland citizens plan the erection of modern brick homes in the city in the near future. For various reasons they do not care to have their names mentioned at this time. Some of them want to sell the homes they now live in while others want to perfect titles to their lots before going to the expense of building.
Eastland real estate continues to change hands. Most purchases, however, are made by parties wanting either permanent homes or business property.

Healthy Women Get Most Pleasure

It is perfectly obvious that the women and girls who have a sufficient supply of energy and vitality to go and do like they want to do get the most out of life.
This is one of the reasons so many thousands of women and girls everywhere are now using St. Joseph's G. F. P. to build them up and strengthen them.
Mrs. Viola Fulco, who lives in Shreveport, La., at 1453 Laurel St., says, "I really owe half the pleasure I get out of life to St. Joseph's G. F. P. Before I started using this medicine my work tired me so I never felt like going out and enjoying myself. But now I have so much strength and energy. I get my work done in hardly any time, and am never too tired to go and have a good time."
In many instances St. Joseph's Antiseptic Powder used externally in connection with St. Joseph's G. F. P. will be found very soothing.

Women have used St. Joseph's G.F.P. for over 50 years!

The Dent Theatres, Inc. have acquired two prints of the film and will run it in the better towns on their circuit first, but only after having gained permission from the city officials in each respective town.—Adv.
