MISTRAL ORDERED IN CONSPIRACY CASE

JAKE HAMON, JR. BUYS PROPERTY NEAR RANGER

Sunny Jim Lease West of Ranger Sold By Crosbie Interests.

A deal was consummated in Ranger this week, whereby Jake Hamon, Jr., purchased from J. E. Crosbie of Tulsa, president of the Sunny Jim Oil company a 200 acre lease with production and equipment, lying between Ranger and Olden.

The Sunny Jim lease is one of the oldest shallow leases in this section and it has at present nine shallow wells and one deep well. This last well, which came in in 1919, is now a gasser. The shallow wells came in at around 1,400 feet.

Sunny Jim No. 1, the original well on the lease, was the first shallow well in that section. A number of deep holes were drilled in 1919 and an old Skelley well on the same lease is still operating.

The Sunny Jim Oil company has operated under the management of E. K. Crosbie of Ranger for a number of years. This company has production in Oklahoma and Arkansas and will move some of its gasoline plants to Seminole.

J. E. Crosbie president of the company is also president of the Central National Bank of Tulsa.

The purchase price was not made public.

Ranger Rotary Launches Move To Plant Trees

The Ranger Rotary club met in regular session at noon today with Rotarian "Shep" Collier in charge of the program.

County agent J. C. Patterson was one of the guests and introduced County Agent C. F. Lockridge of Stephens county, who explained to the club the details of a tree planting campaign that is being carried on in Breckenridge.

No action was taken on the matter at present but it may come up when a committee composed of Rotarians Corlie, Boon and Newnam meet with the City Federation on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Gholson Hotel.

The Bulldog pennant which is to be presented the football team by the Rotary club was on display at today's meeting.

It was announced that district governor Ellis Boyd would appear before the Rotary club at their Nov. 16 meeting.

Visiting Rotarians were W. G. Gupton, Homer Brelsford, Sr., T. R. Lott, Luther Bean, John Curry, J. L. Whisman and of Eastland. Other visitors were J. C. Patterson of Eastland, C. F. Lockridge of Breckenridge, Harry De Lane of Breckenridge and Geo. R. Kelley of Ranger.

DEVICE TO GET GOLD FROM SEA PATENTED

LONDON.—A flying machine with flapping gas-filled wings and a process for extracting gold from sea water are two of the inventions submitted to the patent office here.

Two Germans and a Czech-Slovakian, respectively, are responsible for these creations, and according to an official, never before have so many patents been applied for.

Another German idea, it is claimed, will prevent or remove wrinkles or puckers at the side of the mouth and nose, while other applications include:

A toy bomb, provided with an explosive charge, and fuse, for discharging paper steamers.

Mechanical violin.

Transient cinematograph projection screen.

Device for discerning defective patches in furs.

Telescopic umbrella for use while wheeling a perambulator.

Means whereby an umbrella can be held in a bag or music case.

A method of pasturing hens.

A swimming appliance, consisting of blades or plates attached to the hand and forearm.

2,000 YEAR OLD COINS GIVEN TOLEDO MUSEUM

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 2.—Three 2,000 year old Roman coins, worth nothing at face value but priceless as relics, have been presented to the Toledo museum of art by Thomas Winezop.

Statutes Will Not Permit Tax Reduction Now

AUSTIN, Nov. 2.—In an opinion now being dictated, Attorney General Pollard rules against the legality of a recall of the state tax board to reduce the tax rate.

Pollard, who was at first inclined to believe such action legal, concludes his opinion by saying that he agrees with the governor that statutes prevent the action.

DEMOCRATS WOULD CUT TAXES MORE

Garner and His Followers Would Cut Corporation Tax From 13 to 10 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Republican and democrats were in agreement here today on the principle that the present corporation income tax should be reduced.

Both sides in the tax fight, the preliminary to which the present group of house ways and means committee hearings made known they favor a cut but differences have developed as to its extent.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has proposed the present 13 per cent rate to be cut to 12 per cent, but Representative Garner of Texas, ranking minority member of the committee and other democrats insist the reduction can be to 10 per cent.

The Garner proposal would cost an additional $300,000,000, or more while Mellon holds $225,000,000 should be the limit of all tax cuts.

STATE BRIEFS

BROWNWOOD.—Office girls and stenographers went to the top of desks, chairs and tables in the county clerk's office here when a dog dashed in and began chasing his tail, emitting loud yelps with each revolution.

Several male employees managed to catch the animal and carry him outside where it was discovered the dog had been sprinkled with carbon-bisulphide.

AUSTIN.—"From Euclid to Einstein" is the topic of a historical survey of mathematics which Dr. H. J. Eitinger, professor of pure mathematics at the University of Texas, will deliver today before the science seminary of Texas A. and M. college.

AUSTIN.—Squirrels are hiding so many pecans that Travis county owners of pecan orchards are inviting local hunters to help kill the game.

Governor Moody has joined the effort to save the pecans but on his single extermination trip along Onion creek he got away from his office too late and found the squirrels had retired. Old timers are predicting a long winter because of the large winter supplies the squirrels are hiding.

DALLAS.—Eighteen varieties of divorce in the United States were brought out in a debate on "Resolved that the United States should have uniform marriage and divorce laws" before Beta Forester Southern Methodist University debating society.

The fact that 13 states have no legally set marriageable age and that in half the states the feeble minded are permitted to marry was also brought out.

Lee Leamons and Frank Pippin, upholding the affirmative, declared that "a man traveling from the Atlantic to the Pacific can get married nine times enroute and when he gets there he is still technically unmarried."

The negative disputed this point quoting the constitution to show that the laws of one state shall be upheld by another.

WACO.—Men customers are as easy to please as women are hard, according to Mrs. W. E. Gaylord, who is believed to be the only woman hardware store owner in Texas.

"Men know what they want and don't look at everything in stock before buying," she explained. "Women look at everything, decide to look elsewhere and finally come back and get the thing they looked at first."

Mrs. Gaylord said the hardest thing she had found to do since she took charge of the store following her husband's death is to collect money from credit customers.

SWEETWATER.—Because many many persons from West Texas will attend the first annual convention of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce in Brownsville beginning Nov. 14, the date for the convention of the west central district of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, has been changed to Nov. 28. The previous date scheduled was Nov. 14.

The Bull Turns—And a Matador Dies!

Death coming a-hoof to Felix Merino, one of Spain's most celebrated matadors, is pictured in this extraordinary photo from the Madrid arena. It depicts the infuriated animal caught the momentarily unwary torreador on his horns and tossed him into the air. Merino was fatally trampled and gored.

TWO BILLION DOLLAR BOOST IN UTILITY RATES HINGES ON HIGH COURT DECISION

Ruling On Valuation Of Railway And Utilities Properties May Cost You $100 a Year

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON.—If we were to wake up some day and discover that the entire European war debt had been saddled upon us and that, with high interest rates, we would have to pay some $2,000,000,000 a year forever and ever—

Well, probably we would holler. Yet, with hardly a holler, the country is confronted today with a problem, the solution of which includes the possibility that we might have to pay the $2,000,000,000 in increased rates to railroads, telephone companies, gas and electric light concerns, street car lines and other public utilities.

Rates Would Soar. The fact that this tremendous sock to the family pocketbook, which would theoretically take $100 from the head of every family in the United States, would not be likely to be imposed by the utilities is some consolation. But the belief that they would be spared the full burden rests only on the likelihood that the national business structure would crack under the strain.

And if the railroads and other utilities are granted the contention which they have taken to the courts, it is assumed by experts here that they would come as near to the two billion-dollar sock as they safely could and that in any event, all regulation of public service rates would end automatically. The question is one of whether the utilities are entitled to the boost.

All this is seen by members of the interstate commerce commission and other experts as they fight out the question of valuing the railroads for purposes of rate-making. There follows an attempt to outline the principal facts of a situation which has been obscured by millions of words piled high in supreme court decisions, interstate commission hearings and reports, and various other records and proceedings.

Under the law, railroads are permitted to earn up to 6 per cent on their valuation as fixed by the I. C. C. Half of the excess above 6 per cent goes to the government for a fund to aid weak railroads and the other half goes to the railroads.

Valuation is Issue. The big question is that of fixing the valuation of the railroads for rate making purposes, and it is this question which the supreme court is expected to decide when it gets the test case involved in the appeal of the St. Louis & O'Fallon railroad from the valuation fixed by the I. C. C.

The I. C. C. has adopted a base estimated to give the railroads a return on from 10 to 20 per cent more than the estimated original investment, whereas the railroads insist on the reproduction value plus minor additions such as for "going value."

The cost valuation of the American railroads according to I. C. C. estimates, is about $23,000,000,000. It is estimated that the railroad theory would place this figure at about $33,000,000,000, although the Wall Street Journal has placed it at 55 billions.

If the railroad theory is accepted, the railroads would be permitted to increase their rates so as to receive 6 per cent on the additional 10 billion dollars.

The I. C. C.'s Basis. If the principle spread to the other utilities, as a clear supreme court decision would spread it, the extra burden would be boosted to more than $30,000,000,000, according to Commissioner J. B. Eastman, and at 6 per cent the increased cost which could be passed on to the consumer would be around $2,000,000,000. In many instances it would provide an excuse to double freight, gas or electric light rates.

In 1919 the I. C. C. was instructed by congress to make valuations of the railroads. In making them, the commission estimated original cost on the basis of 1914 prices, striking an average for the 10 years previous, as it was impossible to learn the original amount of investment in most cases. Then the commission estimated depreciation and deducted it. It estimated the value of the railroad's land holdings by studying prices of privately owned land alongside and added that. Finally it considered the condition of the road, added about 5 per cent for good measure and called that the valuation.

But because prices have gone sky-high since 1914, the railroads contend that they should benefit and be allowed earnings on what it would cost to reproduce them at present prices. This is the contention of the railroads in the O'Fallon case.

One of the supreme court decisions which the I. C. C. says must be forever borne in mind was that of Dayton-Goose Creek Railway vs. U. S., holding that:

"By an investment in a business dedicated to the public service the owner must recognize that, as compared with investment in private business, he cannot expect either high or speculative profits but that his obligation limits him to only fair or reasonable profit."

Previously, the court had held that a railroad was a public highway and that a railroad corporation is created for public purposes and performs a function of the state.

A Guessing Contest. Public utility regulations are based on this general principle which distinguishes public utilities from ordinary private enterprises. It is now easier to understand the history of the valuation issue, which has boiled down largely to the question whether utilities shall be allowed to profit from the public on billions of dollars which were never invested.

The interstate commerce commission has pointed out that application of the reproduction cost theory would require revaluation as often as price levels changed and turn valuation into a perpetual guessing contest. Commissioner Eastman has brought out the strongest of the other arguments against the reproduction cost theory, and an attempt may be made to summarize them as follows:

If the railroads win their contention, rate-making will be entirely in their hands.

Two-thirds of railroad capital is represented by bonds and preferred stock. Assuming that valuation is doubled, the roads will receive a return on $2 for every $1 invested and all the benefit will go to the one-third of the capital represented by holders of common stock, who will reap a three-fold harvest.

But if price levels should drop severely, the common stockholders would be virtually wiped out. It works both ways. Eastman says that "in all probability it would provide a feast superior to anything the bulls and bears have enjoyed since the creation of stock exchanges."

"Conflict With Justice." The railroads hold that they are made to suffer for the depreciation of the dollar if less than reproduction cost is used as valuation basis.

The commission replies that even if this were admitted the holders of bonds and preferred stock could not possibly benefit any more than holders of bonds and preferred stock in other industries are compensated for dollar depreciation. The holders of $33,000,000,000 in government and municipal bonds are not so protected.

Furthermore, if the roads collected a return artificially adjusted to the 100-cent dollar they could pay their debts in depreciated dollars and the result, according to Eastman, "would so conflict with principles of justice as to border on the ludicrous."

Summing up the commission's attitude toward the reproduction theory as expressed in the precedent-making order in the O'Fallon case, Eastman says:

"The report here gives our reasons for believing that such a rate base would be nothing short of a public calamity; that it would at the present time be grossly unjust to the public served by the railroads; that it is likely at some future time to be grossly unjust to the public served by the railroads; that it is likely at some future time to be equally unjust to those who have invested their savings in the railroads; that it is without foundation in sound reason, and that it is deficient in both stability and practicability."

Demands Bigger Return. Some students of the situation express the belief that a supreme court ruling allowing the railroads reproduction cost valuation would so increase the rates that railroads and other utilities would often be taken over by the national and municipal and state governments.

One of the loudest voices raised for the reproduction theory has been that of the Railway Age, an organ of the railroad industry, which accuses the I. C. C. of radicalism and a desire for government ownership. In referring to the O'Fallon order, the Railway Age said:

"Nowhere is there any recognition of the fact that it is just and desirable for the owners of railroads to receive relatively as large returns on their property as the owners of other kinds of property."

It is that "fact" for which the railroads now demand recognition.

No one need suppose, however, that the railroads are going broke. The national bureau of economic research has found that railroad stocks have increased 230 per cent in value in 70 years. Last year was the biggest revenue year in railroad history. Net revenues were $1,232,000,000 as against $1,139,000,000 in 1925, an increase of 8.2 per cent, while profits jumped twice as much proportionately as did total revenues.

Officers Search For Robbers Of Filling Station

Officers are still looking for the two men who, Monday night, held up and robbed the operator of the Sage filling station on the Bankhead highway just west of Cisco. The bandits rifled the cash drawer at the station and the pockets of two customers, securing about $50 in money and two watches.

An automobile said to have been used by the bandits at the time of the robbery, was later located abandoned on the Moran road about six miles north of where the robbery took place.

HOOSER HAS NEW WELL IN OLDEN AREA

Company's No. 4 Fox Estimated Good for 100 Barrels in Shallow Sand.

The John Hooser interests have another well on the W. U. Fox lease in the north extension of the Parsons shallow pool near Olden. It is the No. 4 Fox which has nine feet of pay sand topped at 1,619 feet.

Estimates are that the well is good for 100 barrels daily. It is being put on the pump now and actual production will be known within a few days.

These operators have made the location for two additional wells on the Fox, Nos. 5 and 6, one of which is located as an offset to the north of the No. 3 Fox and the other the same distance north of the No. 4 Fox.

The Gulf Production company is ready to drill in its No. 9-A Parsons which is a diagonal southwest offset to the No. 2 Fox of the Hooser interests. The No. 2 Fox well had a flush production of about 100 barrels daily and the Gulf well is expected to be equally as productive.

The Prairie Oil and Gas company is drilling at around 1,000 feet on its No. 3 Parsons in this same pool.

In the Gordon pool in the northern part of the county the No. 3 Watson of Root and Fehl of Eastland will probably be completed as a gasser, according to latest field reports. It has been drilled to the Ranger sand at 3,800 feet and last reports were that it was making about 4,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

BARNARD MADE SUCCESSOR TO BAN JOHNSON

Utmost Harmony Prevailed at Chicago Meeting of American League Officials.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—E. S. Barnard, president of the Cleveland Indians, today was elected president of the American league, succeeding Byron Bancroft Johnson.

Directors of the league met here in special session to elect Barnard.

William Harridge, for years secretary to Johnson, was elected secretary of the league. Today's session of the league presidents was in marked contrast to most of their meetings in recent years which have been marked by bitter disputes between Johnson and other officers.

Today it was evident that the utmost harmony existed. Proceedings were carried out with great formality.

Harridge said that salary figures would not be made public.

It has been widely reported that Barnard was to receive $40,000 a year.

Automobile In Houston May Be Car of Bandits

HOUSTON, Nov. 2.—A blue-black Buick sedan believed to be the automobile in which the two bandits who robbed the First National bank of Texas City of $8,500 made their escape was found early today near the Union station here.

The car was splattered with mud and the radiator had caught hundreds of insects indicating it had traveled at a high rate of speed.

The machine had been stolen here a week ago.

Armed posses of citizens and officers of a dozen towns were on the lookout for the bandits.

DETECTIVES EMPLOYED TO TRAIL JURORS

Investigation Being Conducted on Charge Of Jury Tampering

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial ended prematurely today. Justice Frederick L. Siddons announced a mistrial as a result of charges of attempted jury tampering. Meanwhile a grand jury investigated the charges in another room of the same court house.

Government lawyers said they intended to start again as soon as possible—in a few weeks or months—their tremendous and costly effort to send Harry F. Sinclair, oil millionaire and sportsman and Albert B. Fall former secretary of the interior to prison on charges of conspiring to defraud the government in making the Tea Pot Dome naval oil reserve lease.

The trial ended dramatically in its thirteenth day as the result of four affidavits submitted by government counsel that one juror boasted he expected to profit from an acquittal and that 15 or 16 Burns detectives were dogging the footsteps of jurors making contacts with their friends and investigating their financial standing. One affidavit charged that Sinclair was the real employer of the detectives.

Justice Siddons advised Edward Kidwell of the fact that two affidavits made charges involving him, which he was at liberty to examine.

Asked by reporters if he had any conversation with Don King and J. R. Akers, who made affidavits about the block long car, Kidwell only answered, "I have nothing to say."

Maverick Eagle Ticket Sale To Start Thursday

The tickets for the Abilene-Eastland game, to be played in Eastland Saturday, Nov. 5, will go on sale the first thing Thursday morning, according to Jack Williamson, who has charge of the ticket sales.

The tickets will be on sale at all the drug stores of the city and should be procured immediately in order to give the committee a correct estimate of the crowd to be present.

It is estimated that from 4,000 to 5,000 fans will attend the important game.

SUPREME COURT WILL CONSIDER BANK FUND ROW

AUSTIN, Nov. 2.—The state supreme court will take cognizance of the contest over who is entitled to the state bank guarantee fund. The court today permitted the filing of a mandamus by depositors of the state bank which closed at Longview on September 29.

They claim that they are entitled to full settlement of their $400,000 deposits instead of merely a pro-rata with depositors of eight other state banks that failed later. The total fund available is $437,169.

Farm Relief Advocates Demand Legislation

Resolution Awaiting Endorsement at St. Louis Has Big Political Significance

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 2.—A resolution with the significance of a political platform awaited the endorsement here today of 300 middle west and southern leaders in the Fight to obtain federal farm relief.

It embodies a demand for earliest possible passage of a bill embracing the general features of the McNary-Haucen bill sent to the white house by the last congress and vetoed by President Coolidge.

A committee of 20 presided over by Gov. Adam McMullen of Nebraska and ardent advocate of the vetoed bill, worked until after midnight whipping the resolution into shape.

Full significance of the document lies in the fact that membership of the committee is whole heartedly non partisan, including alike democrats and republicans of all shades and cotton and wheat growers of national prominence.

As we said once before, "we are a great politician." We are very careful who we make mad because we don't like to have it poured on us if we can avoid it.

There is an old saying to the effect that "whom the Gods would destroy they first make mad." Not being a god in the first place, nor being able to destroy anybody in the second place, it avails me nothing to make anybody mad, except sometimes we get cussed.

According to our best recollections, the bids for the city's new paving program will be opened tomorrow and the contract possibly let. Somebody is going to get some as heck about that contract and we don't mean probably. Gosh ding, we are glad we are not a city commissioner.

Just think, we couldn't step out in even a new pair of shoes for the next year without somebody accusing us of accepting gratuities from the successful bidder. Raymond Teal was figuring on buying a new hat, but if he has not done so he better not do so.

This thing of being in the public eye is fine and dandy when things are going along Okeh, but not so good when the avil chorus gets tuned up and swinging.

For instance, as late as 3 o'clock on the afternoon of October 21st Blair Cherry was unanimously rated as the smartest coach in football by the town fans. By 4 o'clock that day his selection of players was questioned by some of the experts of the sidewalks, and by 6 o'clock he was a bum coach who couldn't get anything out of his men, according to these experts.

We tore our own pants last week while griping at large and not having anybody particularly in mind, but just the same we got called on it by a person with a guilty conscience, which made us think about one time when we was at their house and they had a telephone but they didn't answer it unless it rang.

Lots of people read the big headline last week where it said that J. J. Mitchell, prominent New York banker was killed when his car ran into the ditch.

Many of them said, "Drunk again," and turned on to read something else without reading the text of the story.

We did that ourselves and then read the full story to settle a bet and found that his chauffeur ditched the car to avoid hitting some people gathered about another wreck.

"Beat Abilene." This is the cry going up from the Cisco News in a frantic appeal to the teams left in the running who have Abilene yet to play.

They would like to see the district championship stay in oil belt or Eastland county. It's up to either them or Eastland to do the trick. Abilene beat us but they treated us nice and we don't have any particular sore spot. There wasn't any rotten eggs flying when our train left town.

Saturday's game at San Angelo will be the first time the Bulldogs have taken the field in a long time without having the pep squad there to root.

Are you in a rut? Do you always do the sensible, genteel thing? If so, you have lost one of the secrets of youth and charm.

Wouldn't it be great—just this once—to "obey that impulse?" Try it—just once—and see what happens! Let 'em rustle their own breakfast and gratify your queer old desire about walking in the dawn alone—or get to the sale in time for the real bargains. Leave the dishes and the darning and go to that morning musical.

Break over! Do something different and in bad housekeeping respect. You'll come back with a deliciously devilish wriggle inside, and the old tasks won't dare to glare so ominously now that you've shown them their places.

Choose the pale gray gloves instead of the genteel practical black. Buy that exquisite point-venise handkerchief which you don't need but have always wanted. Have luncheon in that rather awesome restaurant and order pate de foie gras. (Well, neither do I, but doesn't it sound delightful?) Be a little rash and injudicious.

SOCIETY AND SOCIAL AFFAIRS

THURSDAY. Lions club luncheon at 12:15 at the Gholson. 1920 club meets at 3 o'clock.

MERRIMAN P. T. A. TO MEET ON FRIDAY NIGHT. The Merriman Parent Teachers association will hold its regular session Friday night at 7:45. At that time a short program will be given. All members are asked to be present at this meeting.

PERSONALS. Mrs. A. N. Harkrider has returned from a week end visit in Fort Worth where she attended the annual flower show at the woman's club on Monday.

Mrs. M. H. Hagaman is home again after a brief trip to Dallas, made in interest of her campaign.

DELEGATES TO CONVENTION CALLED TO MEET TONIGHT. Mrs. John Thurman, chairman of Mrs. M. H. Hagaman's campaign, requests that all delegates to the Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held in El Paso next week, meet tonight at the Gholson Hotel, on the mezzanine floor at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of completing plans for the meeting. This is a very important meeting and each delegate is expected to attend the meeting should be present.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF ME. CHURCH ENTERTAINED. The Missionary society of the First Methodist church was delightfully entertained Monday afternoon by Mrs. C. D. Woods and C. E. May, in the former's beautiful new home.

The house was lighted by floor lamps and by the sunlight shut out, and the effect furnished was very conducive to beauty and good cheer.

The Woods home, which has recently been completed is one of the prettiest in the city and doubly pretty on this occasion when baskets and vases of roses, chrysanthemums, geraniums and marigolds ran the whole gamut of colors throughout the spacious entertaining suite.

There were thirty-two guests present and to them was served a refreshment plate, tempting, appetizing and in keeping with the spirit of the party.

Mmes. A. H. Allison and Marion F. Peters did their party beautifully by singing a number of negro spiritual songs as well as other numbers. Rev. George Shearer was present and talked on the life of St. Paul, which the missionary society is studying at present.

A brief business session resulted in Mmes. A. J. Ratliff and M. K. Collie being elected as delegates to the City Federation meeting at the Gholson Hotel Friday afternoon.

HALLOWEEN PARTY AT SPURLIN HOME. A Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lowe Spurlin, at the Prairie camp, Tuesday evening, was a very delightful event. The house was beautifully decorated in the orange and black of Halloween and games, dancing and cards were enjoyed until a late hour when refreshments of cookies and cocoa topped with Marshmallows was served.

Fire Damages Water Plant On South Hodges

Fire from an unknown source damaged the Ranger Distilled Water company's plant on South Hodges street last night about 8 o'clock.

The fire department responded to the alarm and reached the burning building just as the flames were beginning to break out of the doors and were able to get the fire under control in a short time as well as to protect other nearby property, all of frame material, from becoming ignited.

The building is a sheet iron structure with frame doors and windows, which burned rapidly, however, the machinery and some of the equipment of the plant was damaged by fire, as well as by water but it is thought that the machinery was not hurt.

The owner of the plant, W. L. Nowell, carried insurance amounting to $1,500 on the stocks, machinery and building. The loss is estimated at around $500, with probably the greatest loss on the building.

Mr. Nowell and his mother were at a lodge party at the R. J. Taylor home when they were advised of the fire.

Ranger Building Program Best In Past Five Years

With two major building projects well under way, namely the West Texas Clinic and Hospital and the Walker-Smith Grocery company warehouse, office and storage, several residences underway or contemplated, are adding their figures to the year's total building permits.

Marshall, Whitley, architects for Bourdon Brothers, is going to build a beautiful stucco cottage at the corner of Walnut and Lau for the occupancy of himself and family.

On the second lot from the Whitley lot Dr. Ross Hodges is building a pretty five room, fully modern residence.

M. K. Collie, in the Gholson addition, is going to have these vast improvements and Howard Gholson has recently completed improvements of a house in the same addition, which he and his family now occupy as a home.

With November and December still to go on 1927 building permits bid fair to exceed those of any year since 1920.

DENVER, Nov. 2.—The threat of the national guard hung over southern Colorado coal fields today as striking miners prepared to resume picketing in defiance of the orders of Governor William H. Adams.

Adams ordered the return of three guard airplanes from Pueblo to Walsenburg, recommended the arrest of all picketers and announced that the guard who would be called out if it were necessary to prevent picketing.

Members of Young School Parent-Teacher association who attended its meeting Tuesday afternoon enjoyed a fine program, put on by Miss Cotton's pupils. Marie Benefield gave a reading, Hazel Mae Irwin a piano solo and Betty Jean Purden a reading.

Mrs. Christianson favored the assembly with a vocal solo and Prof. R. F. Holloway made a fine talk on education. High points stressed in this talk were the changing conceptions, new viewpoints and the necessity of having an up-to-date faculty and parent-teacher association. In defining education the speaker said: "Education is that character and quality of training of the young lives that will enable them to adapt themselves to their environment." The attendance was good.

El Paso Women Make Plans For Entertainment

El Paso club women are planning many things for the entertainment of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and the finishing touches are now being put to their elaborate entertainment feature.

A notable feature will be the Fort Bliss horse show, which will present special programs for the convention on Nov. 8, 10 and 12. El Paso women will wear Spanish hats and costumes throughout the sessions.

Mountains and Caverns. Trips to the Davis mountains and the Carlsbad caverns are scheduled. The Davis Mountain Federation of Women's Clubs will be host. The drive will be made Sunday, Nov. 13, and a barbecue dinner will be served at Fort Davis. Sunday will be observed at Skillman Grove with a religious service.

Mrs. L. C. Brite of Marfa is chairman of the committee in charge of this excursion. She is being assisted by Mmes. W. Van Sickle, H. W. Morelock, Fritz Weyerts and C. D. Wood, all of Alpine.

El Paso women and the Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring the trip to Carlsbad caverns. A special train will leave El Paso at 8 p. m., Nov. 12. Guests will breakfast in Carlsbad at 6 a. m. next morning.

The Carlsbad Women's club and the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce will supply transportation and lunch will be served in the caverns at noon. Dinner will be served in Carlsbad and the trip back to El Paso will start at 7:30 p. m., arriving Nov. 14 at 6 a. m.

Cotton Harvest Well Advanced In Most Places

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Picking and ginning made rapid progress under continuation of favorable weather in the cotton belt the government weekly weather report on cotton said today. In the more eastern states the bulk has been picked as far north as Virginia and the uplands crop is largely gathered in Tennessee.

The Texas harvest is about done except in the northwest and extreme west.

Von Prittwitz Is New Ambassador To United States

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—The United Press learned reliably today that the cabinet had approved the appointment of Baron Friedrich Von Prittwitz und Gaffron as ambassador to the United States.

It was understood President Von Hindenberg would approve the appointment tonight.

When Mexico goes to the polls, the survivors will be considered elected.

COOKING SCHOOL ECHOES

Grandmother's Old Stone Cookie Jar

ONE of the things you love to remember is your childhood visits to Grandmother's old stone cookie jar.

I don't believe you ever were disappointed, for although Grandmother had to stand and roll and cut cookies she always found time to do it.

Today we have an easier, quicker way to make cookies than Grandmother had. The cookies for which recipes are printed below call for no rolling and cutting. I am sure they will gladden the heart of any child.

I make these cookies with Crisco and not a single person who has tasted them can tell them from cookies made with expensive butter. And as Crisco itself stays sweet and fresh so long it keeps these cookies fresh a long time, too.

Nut Wafer Cookies

Grandmother's Old Fashioned Ginger Cookies

Shred instead of rolled and cut. Use Crisco and see how easy it is to cream with sugar. Crisco keeps so long you can double this recipe and keep the rolls in the ice box a long time, slicing and baking as you need them. Grease your pans with Crisco and you won't need to wash them between bakings.

Made the new easy way—no tiresome rolling or cutting. Crisco is always ready for instant use and is easy to cream with the brown sugar. Grease your pans with Crisco and drop the cookies far enough apart to keep them round. Crisco saves washing the pans between bakings, so you won't mind using a lot of them.

1 cup brown sugar 3 eggs, well beaten 1 cup white sugar 2 teaspoons soda 1 1/2 cups melted Crisco 1 teaspoon cinnamon 1 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon other spices 5 cups pastry flour 1 cup chopped nuts sifted twice (blanched almonds are best) 4 1/2 cups pastry flour

Cream Crisco with sugar. Add eggs slowly, mixing thoroughly. Add nuts. Then dry ingredients sifted together twice. Shape into roll about 2 1/2 to 3 inches in diameter. Put in Criscoed pan in ice box overnight. When ready to bake, slice and bake in hot oven (425° F.). Makes about 75 cookies.

(All measurements level)

CRISCO FOR FRYING FOR SHORTENING FOR CAKE MAKING

To test your cooking fat—taste it. Crisco's sweet flavor will astonish you.

Eastland Will Be Host To Pecan Growers Nov. 18

Development of the pecan orchard in all of its phases will be discussed by prominent state and national pecan authorities November 18th at Eastland. At this time the semi-annual meeting of the Brazos Valley Pecan Growers' association will be held. Speaking will begin at 10 a. m. registration at 9:30. D. C. Glenn of Granbury is president and L. D. Shoemaker is secretary of the organization.

Prof. S. W. Billing of the A. & M. college will discuss "Pecan Insect Pest Control." Frank J. Willman, "Developing the Native Pecan Grove." Oscar Gray, "Starting a Successful Pecan Orchard from Nursery Trees." Ross R. Wolfe, "Improved Varieties Best Adapted to Our Territory." Among others of note to appear on the program are: J. A. Evans, W. M. Peters, L. D. Romberg and J. F. Rosborough. Senator H. P. Brelsford of Eastland will deliver the welcome address.

One feature of the day will be the "Question Box" in which pecan growers are requested to place questions which they would like to have answered or discussed. Speakers will attempt to cover those points. These meetings are open to any who may be interested and owners of pecan timber are urged to attend.

The association meets twice a year and in a different county each time. The object being to make the programs available to people throughout the pecan growing areas of the Brazos valley. It is hoped that a large number of local people will make plans to attend this fall meeting at Eastland on Friday the 18th of this month.

Of added interest will be the pecan show to be held in connection. Premiums are offered on quart jars of pecans from the 1927 crop. The list covers several of the more common commercial varieties, named varieties of natives, natives unnamed, largest natives, natives showing greatest shelling percentage, with emphasis being placed on natives worthy of propagation. Many trees in this section are producing pecans of such value as to justify their use in propagating other timber and this show will help to bring prominence to such unrecognized nuts. An early start in selecting specimens for exhibit is advisable due to the limited yield this year.

Legion Post Will Elect Officers Tomorrow Night

Carl Barnes Post No. 69 of Ranger will meet tomorrow night at which time officers for the coming year will be elected.

With three nominees for post commander, as well as several nominees for the other offices the election bids fair to be a spirited one, especially as pertains to the office of post commander and it's a toss up as to who will bear that title this coming year.

Plans for the celebration of Armistice Day will also be perfected at this meeting. The Legion has planned a parade in which the presentation of the 77 German siege gun will be presented the city of Ranger and for the evening a smoker and dinner at the country club.

REV. RANDOLPH CLARK WILL PREACH SUNDAY
 Rev. Randolph Clark will preach Sunday morning at the First Christian church in Ranger at an 9:00 A.M. service. This service is being arranged especially for the old folks of Ranger and Eastland county, although the younger ones are not barred.

In addition to the special sermon and special music a handsome Testament will be given to the oldest person present.

SMALLEST WATCH BEING DISPLAYED AT PFAEFFLES

The tiny watch on display at Pfaeffles, Ranger, is attracting a great deal of attention. On Monday night Mr. Pfaeffle was busy wiping off marks placed on his windows by Halloween maskers, so that the smallest watch in the world could be seen by the throngs that passed up and down the street.

The watch, a duplicate to the one presented Queen Marie when she toured the United States, and also the one that was presented to Miss America, is as small as a silver dime yet keeps perfect time. It is outlined with diamonds and is very beautiful in design and perfect in workmanship. It will be on display all this week at Pfaeffles.

BEAT ARKANSAS IS SLOGAN NOW AT FROG CAMP

Saturday's Game Will Put One of These Teams Out of Conference Race.

Special Correspondence.
 FORT WORTH, Nov. 2.—"Beat Arkansas" is the slogan of every member of the Horned Frog squad at T. C. U. this week. The alleged weakness of the Arkansas boys is being entirely discounted here, after what they did to the Louisianians.

If the Frogs achieve any success this year in the Southwest conference the Arkansas game will have to be won, so Coaches Bell and Kubale are driving their men harder than at any time this year.

The S. M. U. game is beginning to loom in the background at T. C. U., but the Razorback hurdle is yet to be crossed before that game comes in for much attention.

T. C. U. and Arkansas are now tied for third place in the conference race. One or the other will drop out the running Saturday.

A tie game will eliminate both. The winner will have a chance to win or tie for the championship.

Until they broke loose against L. S. U. the Razorbacks gave promise of being sure bacon on the table for the Christians. Now it is all different. The raging Crimson Porkers loom as a real threat to the health, peace, happiness and high standing of the Frogs.

The Razorbacks are out for revenge too. It was the Horned Frog team of 1926 that beat Arkansas on their home field in a home-coming contest for the first time in more than 25 years. It was a bitter pill for the Hogs to swallow, and they will have their big chance Saturday to avenge their embarrassment of last fall. A victory for the Hogs will put the Frogs definitely out of the conference race so far as a position in the flag chase is concerned.

On a comparative score T. C. U. appears stronger than Arkansas, but scouts declare the latter never played any football until last Saturday.

In an early season game at Fayetteville the Porkers beat Baylor 19 to 6. At Waco last Saturday T. C. U. held the Bears 14 to 0.

A. & M. rolled the Hogs for a 40 to 6 score at College Station, and T. C. U. held the Aggies to a scoreless tie.

Also, it might be observed that T. C. U. is the only conference team that remains unscored on in conference games. With a goal line uncrossed by a conference eleven, the Frogs will have a lot to fight for out there Saturday.

Provided no further injuries develop during the week the Frog squad will be in good shape to meet Arkansas. It will be the first tilt since Oct. 1 that the Frogs haven't been handicapped by a heavy hospital list.

WILD GESE MOVING SOUTH FOR WINTER
 Going to turn cold. A large flock of wild geese passed over Ranger at noon today flying low and headed south. Many geese have passed over Ranger in the past month but this flock was so large that it looked like it was composed of all those who had delayed their flight until the eleventh hour.

The flock that went over at noon numbered about 125 and just as they got over Ranger they evidently had a falling out as to routes, as they separated, some of them circling around in one direction and others in another but finally getting together again and moving out of town in a body.

FAVING CONTRACTORS IN RANGER TO MAKE BIDS
 A number of paving contractors are gathered in Ranger today, so as to submit bids to the city commission tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the city hall, on paving work that is to be done in Ranger in the near future.

Among those noted on the streets today are W. E. Burke of Sweetwater and formerly of Ranger, Mr. Barrow of the Amesite company of Dallas and Arthur Goetz of the Thurber Brick company, Fort Worth.

SPORTSMATTER
 BY FRANK GETTY
 UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

TWO TIME TUNNEY
 Tex Rickard, the old "I Cash Couliflower" man is not particularly enthused over Gene Tunney's proposal to defend the heavyweight championship in two outdoor fights during 1928.

The promoter is of the opinion that once a year is quite often enough for heavyweight championship fights. "It takes six months to get ready for one of them affairs," said Tex the other day.

If Rickard really intends to build a suitable outdoor arena in the vicinity of New York City, it is obvious that Gene Tunney will do no fighting before September. The arena could be finished before that time.

Gene sent word to me last month that he would like two outdoor bouts in defense of his title. He suggested July 4 and the latter part of September.

Yes, anxious reader, he counts upon winning the first one—and says it won't be a long count, either.

But Tex Rickard will not permit Tunney to fight elsewhere than in the largest available arena, so it's quite likely that the champion will spend a safe and sane fourth.

It is interesting to learn that Tunney considers Tom Heeney the rugged New Zealander, best of the heavyweight contenders next to Dempsey.

Tom is a stout fellow. We will see him in action against Jack Sharkey a fortnight hence, and then we will know more about his championship qualifications.

For one reason, if for no other, we would like to see Heeney win his way through the elimination tournament and face Tunney in a battle for the heavyweight championship.

The reason is Charley Harvey, Heeney's manager, chief second, booster and pal. Charley is one of the few lovable characters in the fight racket, a man who makes associations with some of the inner workings of the business a little less unpleasant.

It would be great if Charley could come into some of the big money. He deserves it.

Some of the political candidates in Mexico don't know whether they're running for chief executive or executor.

Rich Golf Play Gets Going On Dallas Course

By United Press.
CEDAR CREST COUNTRY CLUB
 DALLAS, Nov. 2.—Second round play of the 12th annual professional golfers association tournament got under way at 9:40 o'clock this morning over Cedar Crest course under fine weather conditions.

Tommy Armour, national open champion of the congressional club at Washington, D. C., and Tom Harmon, Yonkers, N. Y., pro were the first to get away and carried a majority of the gallery.

The sky was practically clear and the slight norther which came in during the night made the air crisp and good for play.

P. G. A. officials this morning made known that this is the richest money tourney ever held, $16,000 in prize money and expenses for the players will have been distributed by Saturday night when the finals are completed.

The winner in addition to taking down the biggest sum ever given at a G. P. A. meet will reap a harvest during the winter in exhibition play.

"BABOON BOY" VERY STRONG.
 A strange story of South Africa has set London talking. About 25 years ago two of the Cape police, while hunting baboons, caught one of the laggards, only to find that it was a well grown native boy. He was unable to talk and disliked normal food. He scurried on all fours and it was difficult to teach him to use his legs as the sole means of locomotion. Today he speaks English, can run a 10-mile errand and can lift and carry enormous weights. He remembers being taken from his kral when a baby and cared for by a baboon foster-mother.

NORFLEET The Manhunter's Own True Story

As told to Gordon Hines

WHAT HAS BEEN TOLD Frank Norfleet, a Texas rancher, is swindled out of $45,000 by a young lady. He resolves to break up this gang if it takes his last cent. After some effort he lands two of his men in California and follows clues to Florida, where he has narrow escapes and is doublecrossed and handicapped by some officers who stand in with the swindlers. Another clue leads him to California where he locates the home of Furey in Glendale and the apartment of Joe Furey's mistress in San Francisco. A double-crossing San Francisco officer causes him to go to San Diego and then to Tia Juana. All broke, Norfleet replenishes his traveling funds by betting on a Texas horse. Back in Los Angeles he gets a tip that Joe Furey has scuttled away to Florida. He starts across the continent after him, stopping off at his ranch of Christmas dinner. His wife is much distressed and he finally gets her to tell him she has been forced to sell her favorite cow-horse, an animal for which he had been offered large sums. CHAPTER 29 The same neighbors who had always wanted Hornet had tried repeatedly to buy him, and Mrs. Norfleet had turned down a number of offers—good offers—at times when the money would have been a godsend. Then she received my urgent wire from California, asking for money, as much as possible, at once! There was nothing to sell, no way to raise money. She thought of Hornet. She knew it would break my heart and hers, but I had wired for money, urgently. I was far from home, perhaps broke. She sent for the neighbors who had wanted the horse, but they were indifferent now. They weren't anxious to buy. People never are when one has to sell. A phone call or two brought a purchaser. Hornet, the Hornet I had been offered $359 for, was sold for $75—in order that I might have money to hunt Furey and Spencer.

who had alighted from my train. Was she looking for me?—and why? I shaved my mustache and changed my style of dressing to a sufficient extent that I would at least be hard to recognize. It was morning, so we did not register at any of the hotels. We took a list of the four leading ones and I took two, giving the other two to Pete. We agreed on a meeting place and to report to each other every forty-five minutes to compare notes and if necessary, give assistance on a live clew. Pete had never seen Furey and could only be guided by the impression he had gained from my description and a photograph. He was sure he would know him. I cautioned him to be sure he had the right man before he ever started anything, and to be equally sure when he had once picked up a hand, not to lay it down for anyone, regardless of the circumstances. First, I went to the Seminole Hotel and Pete visited the Mason. At the Seminole, I mingled with the crowd for a time, then drifted toward the impressive entrance intending to leave, when I saw Pete coming. We stepped inside the lobby and he whispered that he was sure he had seen Furey come out of the elevator the Mason Hotel. The man was the exact image of Furey and answered every detail of the description I had given the boy. We hastened to the Mason Hotel, but could not find Furey in the lobby. We took stands at two corners of the street and waited. It was after twelve o'clock when I saw Furey pass, and motioning to Pete, I trailed in behind. He went a short distance and entered the Hilton Cafe, taking a seat at a front table in the corner opposite the door and facing it. Alertness was instinctive with him. I was not anxious to try to arrest him in such a public place. I tried to have a little regard for his own embarrassment. I would wait until Pete came in and we would eat, keeping our eyes on our man. Then we would follow him back to the hotel and arrest him there, quietly. Nearly all the tables were taken and, when I asked for one, the waiter led me straight in Furey's direction. Furey opened his napkin, glanced up and saw me. He seemed to be trying to remember me. My disguise made recognition difficult, and he was wrong when he had seen me. His nonchalant glance became a stare, then slowly it dawned on him. His fingers trembled, clinking the silver which lay on the cloth against the thin glass water goblet. Then his brain began to work. His hands gripped the edge of the table, and the blood receded from his white fingers, his face blanched and his lips quivered slightly. But his mind was working. He had been in tight place before, and his specialty was in quick thinking his way out. He was not afraid of anyone, but he wasn't afraid of any man play on his part. I walked steadily toward him. Since he knew me, it would not do to delay matters. He rose stealthily pushing the chair back and the table forward. As he would have dashed about the table, I threw my gun down on him and exclaimed, "You can't do it, Furey! You're my prisoner!" "Don't let him rob me, men! Don't let him rob me! He'll take my diamonds! Don't let him do it!" The dining room was in a panic. Men, gripped and shaken, fled. This was what I had feared and what I had tried to avoid. Why didn't Pete come? We might be able to get out our prisoner before he caused a general turmoil and possible caused some one to be hurt. People ducked under tables and jewels were stripped from slim fingers and other strange places. Men tried hastily to conceal wallets, watches and diamond pins. "Robber! Thief! Murder! Don't let him kill me, men! For God's sake!" Shrieks and cries of "Police Police!" filled the air. "Shut up, Furey!" I admonished. "I've got you this time!" But he cried out all the more frantically. Then I saw an expression of relief come over his face. My back was toward the door and I knew that help was coming to him. I kept him covered, but dared not turn my back to see who was coming. Some one lunged toward me and caught my wrist from behind, in a vise-like grip.

My arm was bent to my side and my gun was useless. Furey kicked his chair over backward and started for the door. He had to pass between me and the wall to get out. As he lunged past I made a grab for his coat collar and got it. I sunk my fingers into the heavy cloth, determined to die before I released it. CHANG TSO-LIN REJECTS OFFER UNITED STATES

Declare Regional Recognition of Chinese Parties Would Delay Harmony.

By WILLIAM R. KUHN, United Press Staff Correspondent. PEKIN, Nov. 2.—Any suggestion working toward regional recognition of Chinese parties by the United States, as was suggested by Senator Bingham of Connecticut, was rejected emphatically and unconditionally by Chang Tso-Lin in an exclusive interview with Karl A. Bickel, president of the United Press, and the writer.

Chang asserted that any such proposal would be certain to increase strife and anarchy in China and delay harmony and the creation of a unified nation.

Chang appeared to be in the best of health—alert and vigorous. He was garbed in plain black silk.

"During the Tai-Ping rebellion," he said, "certain governments made the mistake of conditional recognition. Later they saw their great mistake. The same situation exists today."

The generalissimo of the northern armies dismissed contemptuously the possibility of Chiang Kai-Shek returning to take command of the combined southern forces to which Chang is opposed.

"A teacup once broken," Chang said, "can be repaired—but it will never be strong again."

"Chiang Kai-Shek and the southern movement similarly are smashed and real repair is impossible."

"Chiang Kai-Shek is a war profiteer. He never was a patriot. He is reported to have made $200,000,000. This may be an exaggeration. But the amount he took to foreign lands and now is enjoying was enormous."

"Americans must understand that Chiang Kai-Shek is no Abraham Lincoln."

"I believe in nationalism as deeply as any man can believe in it—but nationalism for the people, not for the benefit of war profiteers."

"Many implications have been brought to me that the southern people are eager for peace, as under false leaders business has been strangled and all progress has been brought to a standstill."

"Our first duty is to restore order and eliminate communistic agitation and clashing factions."

"No man in the world more thoroughly understands the plans of the

Was Suffering Dreadfully, Just "Wasting Away." Took Cardui, and Says It Helped Her.

Arlington, Texas.—A resident of this town for many years, Mrs. J. H. Jackson, says:

"I had suffered dreadfully with an aching all over my body. At times my head would give me so much trouble I could hardly stand it. I had been in bed for weeks and it looked like I was just wasting away."

"I took 9 bottles of Cardui and my strength began to slowly return."

"Since that time I have used this medicine a good many times and it has always helped me."

"At one time I took Cardui for several months regularly. I would be afflicted with sudden spells of dizziness when I could not stand on my feet. Everything would turn black before my eyes and I would feel as if I were going to faint. At times I would be quite nauseated. I turned at once to Cardui and took it till I was safely through."

Cardui is a mild, medicinal tonic, made from purely vegetable ingredients. It has been in use for over 50 years, and in that time thousands of women have written that Cardui helped them back to good health.

Moshiah Temple Expecting Big Class On Nov. 18

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2.—Present indications are that the largest number of Nobles ever attending a ceremonial session of Moshiah Temple will be on hand for the fall ceremony Nov. 18.

Out-of-town Nobles will be registered at the Texas Hotel during the morning and they with the novices will be guests of Moshiah Temple at a dinner which will be held at the Texas Hotel at 5:30 that evening. Immediately following, the first and second sections of the ritualistic ceremonies will be staged starting at 7 o'clock at the Mosque.

The "Desert Follies" will commence at 8:15 o'clock and among other acts, will feature a double quartette of young ladies from Sweetwater known as the "Hungarian Gypsy Girls." These young ladies have made several trips representing Sweetwater at meetings of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

They will come to Fort Worth to attend the ceremonial and try to help win for Novice Al Brantley of Sweetwater the Diamond Shrine ring.

Novice Jack Robert of Breckenridge has also announced his candidacy but has not announced his platform. Both of these ring candidates will be opposed by Novice Bill Townsend of Fort Worth, and when the race is over it will take a final check to tell who has won the proud title of being the "Most popular novice in the class."

It is claimed by Chairman Clyde Penny of the Novice Committee that the class will likely run as high as 150 novices. There are spirited campaigns being waged in the Temple between the several uniformed bodies and the Novice Committee for Novices.

Visiting ladies will be registered at the Texas Hotel by the Ladies registration committee and be furnished with a program of their entertainment during the day.

The usual street parade will be held from Burnett Memorial park at 11:30 o'clock the day of the ceremonial.

Out of town Shriners are especially urged to make their plans to attend any or all of the many entertainments which are being given by Moshiah Temple for them for the fall and winter season. Dances will be held on Nov. 18, 19, 25, Dec. 16 and Jan. 6. While a stag party for Shriners only will be held on Dec. 10. All of the dances and stag party will be held at the Mosque, except the formal dance on Jan. 6, which will be held at the Texas hotel.

bolshheviks than I, as the communists M. Borodin, Karaknan and Joffe all came to me first with their proposals before going to the southern leaders. "They told me that after China they desired to penetrate the United States, which they felt to be their greatest enemy."

"I feel that America should understand that and know that I am fighting to suppress bolsheviks."

Chang Tso-Lin declared that immediately prior to the recent Shansi uprising Feng Yu-Hsiang, "Christian general" among the southern or nationalist leaders, received $5,000,000 and Yen Hsi-Shan, governor of Shansi, $2,000,000 from a Russian source for the purpose of wrecking the Pekin or northern government.

"We now can prevent the Russians from sending Feng Yu-Hsiang war material," Chang continued. "But they still smuggle through money."

He declared that recent defeats Feng Yu-Hsiang had suffered soon would eliminate him as a factor of any force in northern Chinese affairs.

When he was asked what had been America's greatest contribution toward the pacification of China, Chang Tso-Lin said:

"I am the last man to suggest intervention of foreign nations in the purely domestic affairs of China. But foreign nations must understand that the situation on the Yangtze river created by foreign agitation, is one of international concern."

Chang Tso-Lin emphatically denied the reported possibility of the extension of Japanese railroad interests over the Chinese eastern railroad from Chang Chung to Harbin or other extensions of Japanese railroads in Manchuria and outer Mongolia.

"You may hear that the Japanese control Manchuria. But I control Manchuria."

Gutzon Borglum Will Lecture At University

Special Correspondence.

AUSTIN, Nov. 2.—A series of lectures by Gutzon Borglum, world renowned sculptor and who is probably best known for his conception of the Stone Mountain idea, will be delivered at the University of Texas during the coming school year. Mr. Borglum is expected to begin work on the lectures immediately and will probably deliver the first of the series in November and thereafter will give one each month. The lectures will deal with various phases of art as related to architecture.

Mr. Borglum is expected to spend considerable time in Austin during the coming year and will execute several pieces of work here for the Corpus Christi waterfront beautification project. He will be assisted by S. C. P. Vosper of the University of Texas department of architecture on this work.

For Mr. Borglum's use a studio has been fitted up in one of the buildings of the Little campus of the university and part of his materials have already been brought here in preparation for his work.

Border Jumping Presents Very Dramatic Side

By LAMAR MIDDLETON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Immigration Series No. 11

NEW YORK.—While officials, and the nation's sociologists and editors are concerned with the ethical and abstract aspects of immigration and deportation problems, the interest of the average individual naturally turns to the more colorful and dramatic phases of the two issues.

In the one problem, that of illegal alien entry, are often found the bright stuffs of daring adventure, for it is a kind of smuggling known to the em of buccanniers and pirates. Again, however infrequently, revolting tragedy prevails.

But usually only sadness and the death of hopes are found in the records which comprise the other problem, that of deportation.

"Border jumping," mentioned in the preceding article, is an international game worthy of the higher type of ingenuity and wit. As concerns the present case, it is generally practiced, or attempted, in three different sections of the country—namely, along the Mexican border, the Canadian border, and along the barren Florida coastline.

The latter section is in favor now among prospective "border jumpers" due to the fact that the immigration authorities have increased their vigilance along the Canadian and Mexican borders, while the Coast Guard patrol base at Key West, Florida, was abandoned Nov. 1.

According to immigration officers, opportunities for aliens to slip from Cuba to the Florida coast, to land there without visa, are plentiful in Havana, despite the efforts of the Cuban government to co-operate as fully as it can with the United States.

These aliens, it is understood, pay from $100 to $500 to captains of fishing vessels to take them from Cuba to a point several miles off the Florida coastline, where they are met by motorized dories and slipped into the country under cover of night.

In the past, the Coast Guard has frustrated many of these attempts to smuggle human contraband, but the Coast Guard is handicapped by lack of sufficient boats, men and funds.

Stations are maintained at St. Petersburg, on the west coast and just north and south of which most of the aliens are landed, and at Fernandina and Fort Lauderdale on the east coast.

Pursuit between the sloops suspected of carrying aliens planning illegal entry, and the Coast Guard's cutters, which number 31, occur from time to time in the Florida Straits.

Facing capture and conviction under the international marine laws, the skippers of such vessels have been reported, from time to time, to have deliberately to drown their human cargo, and thus rid themselves of damaging evidence.

While such cases are rare, the authorities at Washington hear from time to time of such wholesale murder. Several weeks ago, 300 Italians were reported to have been drowned by the first-mate of these vessels.
