REPORTS SAY PROPERTY DAMAGE HEAVY

National Guardsmen Called Out To Aid In Vermont

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 4.—With some loss of life and some homeless, Vermont today suffered from what was probably the most disastrous floods in New England history. Meager reports from inundated regions indicated property damage would run into millions of dollars. Perfect Indian summer weather changed suddenly. Torrential rains broke dams, blocked telephones, crippled light service and caused rivers to overflow, sweeping away homes and buildings. Vermont's national guardsmen have been called out to aid firemen and police in handling the situation.

Superintendent Makes Statement About Smallpox

W. Z. Bates, superintendent of the Eastland public schools, this morning gave out a statement with reference to the report of smallpox cases in Eastland. His statement follows:

"Since there have been so many wild rumors in Eastland as well as in some of our neighbor towns concerning smallpox in the Eastland City schools, we have decided that the public ought to know the facts.

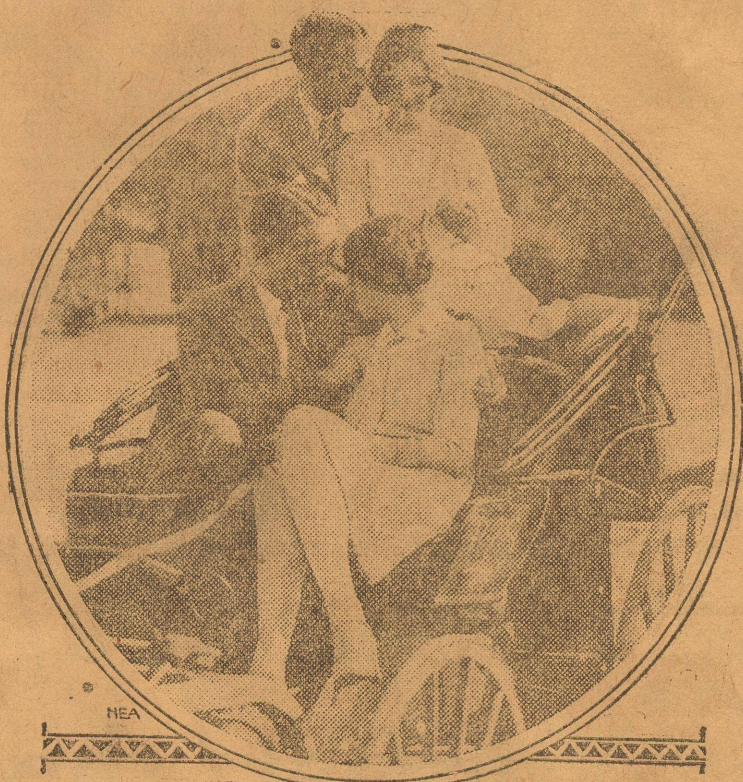

"There are only two cases in Eastland and they have been fully isolated. There have been no other cases in Eastland. All persons who have been exposed as well as a few hundred who have not been exposed have been vaccinated. No children have been sent home from any of the schools in the city because they had the disease. Furthermore, the health officers state that there will likely be no more cases in town, the health of the scholastic population is being guarded very carefully, consequently there is no need to be alarmed."

No Middies

The old middy blouse and bloomers have been thrown into the discard in Detroit. Miss Jean Kreeg is shown in the new gymnasium uniform adopted by the Detroit schools.

Students Solve Ban on Autos

Students at the University of Oklahoma at Norman lost their fight against the ruling prohibiting student automobiles, but they don't mind. Bill Jackson and Alice Mae Kistler have decided to let Dobbin do the worrying about the traffic, while Warren Hatfield and Lee Sinks are talking it over in the rumble seat.

Henry Ford and Party Take New Car From Plant

ADRIAN, Mich., Nov. 4.—Indications that quantity production of the new model Ford car has started at the River Rouge plant were seen today when it was learned Henry Ford and a party of friends had driven three of the new models to Adrian last night. The Ford party came to see F. W. Raymond, local Ford dealer, who is Henry Ford's brother-in-law. Ford was understood to have told Raymond he had taken the new cars from assembly line at the River Rouge plant. Raymond said the new car would be "similar in appearance to the Lincoln" and would include speedometer and bumpers as standard equipment.

FEDERAL JUDGE AND OTHERS ARE NAMED IN SUIT

W. B. Slaughter Asks Damages
Totaling $2,500,000, Conspiracy is alleged.

DALLAS, Nov. 4.—Suit for $2,500,000 was filed in federal court today by W. B. Slaughter, San Antonio, against Federal Judge James C. Wilson, the widow of the late Col. C. C. Slaughter and other members of the Slaughter family. The suit charges that Judge Wilson conspired with members of the Slaughter family in settling the estate of Col. Slaughter. The plaintiff asks $1,500,000 actual damages and $1,000,000 exemplary damages. Judge Wilson telegraphed from Amarillo to U. S. Marshal Sam Gross advising Gross that he (Judge Wilson) would bear the cost of the case and asking the district clerk to accept the suit. The suit is an outgrowth of an injunction filed in Judge Wilson's court during the administration of Col. Slaughter's estate.

Hogan and Espinosa Tied in Morning's Cedar Crest Round

CEDARCREST COUNTRY CLUB, DALLAS, Nov. 4.—Semi-final rounds of the National Professional Golfers' association tournament reached the halfway mark today with Walter Hogan and Al Espinosa all square. Both had medal cards of 76, which was only mediocre golf, over this comparatively easy course at Cedarcrest Country club. Hogan came to the sixteenth tee with a one up lead. They played "duffer" golf through the hole and Al squared the match with a 6. Espinosa ran down a 10-foot put at the easy par four, seventeenth hole to the one up. Walter came back with a 20-foot put and a birdie three at the home hole, to even matters as they went to lunch. Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., finished the morning round 9 up on John Golden of Paterson, N. J.

McCoy's Guess

Horace McCoy who handles sports for the Dallas Journal and who also contributes a weekly guess for the United Press on the outcome of southwest conference football games, writes this week that he has been too busy with the golf tournament at Cedar Crest to give much thought to football. However, Horace makes his usual guess. As usual he thinks that T. C. U. will be defeated again. This time he guesses that Arkansas will beat the Frogs by a score of 13 to 0. His guess on other conference games follows: S. M. U. 14, Texas A. & M. 6. Texas U. 20, Baylor 0. Centenary 21, Rice 6.

BUILDING AND LOAN MEETING POSTPONED

The board of directors meeting of the Eastland Building and Loan association planned for Thursday afternoon was postponed until this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The reason for the postponement was that other meetings for Thursday afternoon prevented some of the board members from being able to attend the loan association meeting at that time.

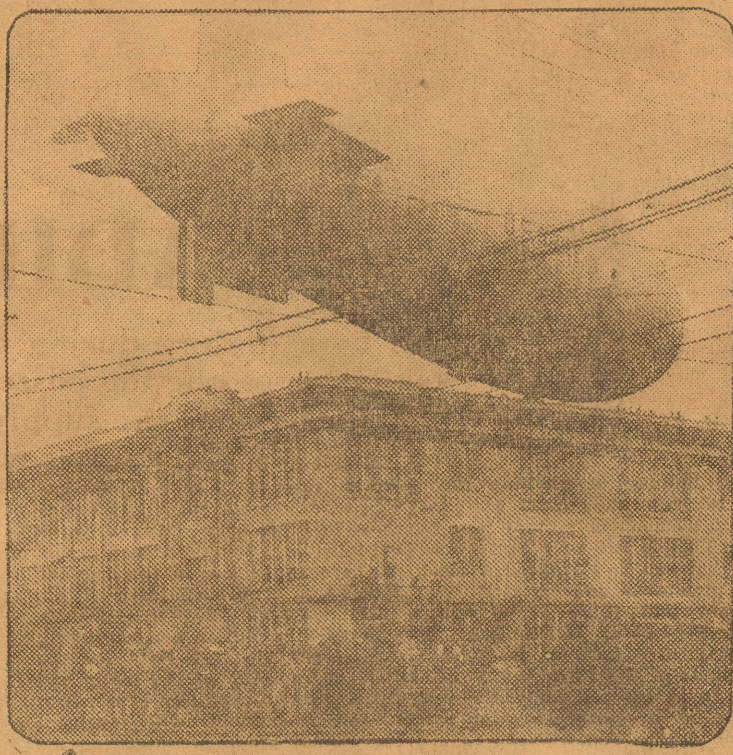

All Important Football News Sunday morning

The Sunday morning issue of this paper will specialize in giving its readers the news of important football games. In addition to the full story of the Maverick-Eagle game in Eastland, which will be the leading high school game in the district, it will carry a story of the Bulldog and Bobcat tussle at San Angelo. Then, too, the results of all games of the Southwest conference will be given, as well as those of many of the big eastern games. It will be delivered to your home hours before any other paper and you can get the football digest before you retire if you are one of the ardent fans who take their football seriously.

DR. BUCHANAN RESIGNS FROM SCHOOL BOARD

Resignation of Dr. L. C. G. Buchanan, from the board of the Ranger Independent School district, was accepted at a meeting of the school board yesterday afternoon at the city hall. Dr. Buchanan's resignation has been on file for several months but was not acted upon until yesterday. His successor has not yet been named. Financial matters occupied a good part of the board's time at this meeting as arrangements to meet the teachers' payroll was one of the important things that came up.

RANGER CITY COMMISSION AWARDS PAVING CONTRACT

Contract Let To W. E. Burke, Paving To Be Of Thurber Brick On Crushed Rock Foundation

W. E. Burke of Sweetwater but cheaper than other types, in practically every instance. The contract for paving 50 blocks of Ranger's residential district yesterday afternoon when bids from contractors submitting bids to the city commission were opened. Burke's bid was $149,095, which covers pavement with brick laid on an eight-inch base of crushed stone. The commission specifying that Thurber brick and Tiffin crushed stone be used as materials for the paving. Other bidders were West Texas Construction company of Fort Worth, who were the high bidders at $177,545; the American Asphalt company of Dallas, bidding $173,660, and the General Construction company of Fort Worth, bidding $156,592. Brick, Amiesite, concrete, bitulithic and negalithic were the types of paving bid on, with brick running

Cities in Southern California Hit By Earthquake

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—An earthquake coming in three distinct shocks visited cities along the Southern California coast early today from north of San Luis Obispo to points south of Los Angeles. Damage was reported from Santa Maria, 150 miles north of here where plate glass windows in the First National Bank were shattered and bricks were loosened and fell from several chimneys and clocks were stopped throughout the city.

EXCITEMENT RUNS HIGH OVER DOG WITH RABIES

Residents of Eastland living in the vicinity of the West Ward school were somewhat alarmed Friday morning over the report that there was a dog in that vicinity that had rabies. The dog complained of, seemed to have been locked up in a pen and so far as could be learned had not bitten anyone.

Baby Killed As Father Drives Truck Over Him

NAVASOTA, Nov. 4.—Guy Blanton Jr., 10 months old, was accidentally killed at the family home near Millican, 12 miles from here, late yesterday, when he crawled under a truck driven by his father. The baby was crushed when the wheels of the heavy machine passed over him.

DOOMED MAN HAS DEATH WARRANT READ

Twenty-Four Hour Stay Ordered By Moody Early Today

STATE PRISON, HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Nov. 4.—One hour before dawn painted the sky over this grim "city of silent men," A. V. Millikin was saved once more from the electric chair. Governor Moody granted the slayer of Mrs. Virginia Petty of San Antonio a 24-hour respite after one of Millikin's attorneys had telephoned Warden Speer to "go ahead," believing all efforts to save the doomed man had failed. Speer had been told by Moody early in the night to proceed with the electrocution as scheduled. Then as the defense began its hunt for a federal judge, Moody asked Speer to delay the execution two hours. The prison clock struck two—Defense Attorney Clarence J. Ginn phoned from Dallas that he had been unable to get Federal Judge Atwell to interfere.

He was calling Federal Judge Estes at Texarkana, however, Speer waited. At 2:30 a. m., two Houston priests were in Millikin's cell. The slayer kissed the cross of the Roman Catholic church—returning to the faith of his childhood. At 3:30 a. m., Warden Speer read the death warrant to Millikin. At 5 a. m., the law said Millikin must be electrocuted between midnight and sunrise. Speer telephoned Moody. "It's not long until daylight, Governor," Moody announced his 24-hour reprieve. At 5:10 a. m., Ginn called from Dallas. "I can do nothing, go ahead." Speer told him of Moody's clemency.

Death Toll From Ferry Crash May Reach Sixty-One

SIDNEY, Australia, Nov. 4.—Bodies of the victims of the sinking of the ferry boat Greyelliff, which was rammed in the harbor here yesterday by a steamer, have been recovered today and divers reported at least 40 more bodies still were in the sunken vessel. If the divers' reports are correct, the death toll of the catastrophe has mounted to at least 61. Reports yesterday indicated that it would not be more than 37. Ten of the recovered bodies were brought to the surface today by divers. At least 50 persons are being treated for injuries.

Justice Siddons Sets Jan. 16 For Conspiracy Case

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Expressing regrets that an even earlier date could not be fixed, Justice Siddons today set Monday, Jan. 16, as the date for starting retrial of the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy case. The retrial was rendered necessary by this week's mistrial in the case following revelations that a jury had been talking of the case and that detectives had been trailing jurors.

EQUALIZATION BOARD IN SESSION AT EASTLAND
The board of equalization for the city of Eastland kept "open house" last night at their regular meeting at the city hall. A number of citizens came before the board at that time. The board, which has been in session since the 26th of October, still has much work to be done. The personnel of the board is as follows: Hans A. Beard, Walter Hart, and C. E. Laffoon. Will Wood is assisting the members with the work.

Gripings By GUS. S. J. Dean, city secretary, thought someone had mistaken him for the leader of a revolution or a gang of bank robbers yesterday when he received a call from the railroad saying that there was a car load of artillery there, billed to him.

He later discovered that it was the artillery piece sent here to the American Legion Post. The gutter on the south side of Elm street in front of our office don't look like it has been swept for a month, and we reckon it hasn't.

If the West Texas Coaches get any bigger busses they'll have to widen the alley. As it is they have to stop and make two hitches to get turned in with these new ones with the show case rear ends.

There's a strip of land along there on Rusk street by the peanut stand that ought to have a sidewalk laid over it. It's a nice piece of property and always stays rented and we can see no excuse for its not having a full sidewalk the rest of the business district, and like we have heard the ordinance provides.

The maroon and white boys under the leadership of David Whitehall had quite a bit of fun before the game yesterday. They got a bottle of hair dye and decorated the eyebrows of every member of the squad and then proceeded to use what was left on who ever they could catch.

We was among the first upon whom they decided to take into their secret order. It was a lot of fun while it lasted, but it lasted too long. The dog gone stuff won't come off. We tried soap and water and got soap in our eye, and then tried cold cream and got it in our eye, and now we have blood in our eye trying to think of some scheme to get even with one David Whitehall.

The one consolation is that they decorated Tricky Ward and Von Roeder and Bob Norman. Mr. Whitehall was there but the boys thought as how they better let him be, which they did. They caught old "Unconscious" and fixed his eyebrows up right. Due to his having attracted the attention of some of the country's most foremost movie directors with his posing, they have decided to change his name to Sex Appeal.

Nick Galagher made a remark about the Spirit of Ranger this morning that we don't think was quite fair. We were speaking of driving it to San Angelo and he chimed in with the remark that he owned one like it once and it would always take him a week to get back with it from where it would take him in a day.

American People Not Hard-Boiled, Asserts Postmaster General

Postmaster-General New Scoffs at "Pessimists" Who Insist That Friendship and Brotherly Love Are Things of the Past.

Have the American people become "hard-boiled" and calloused, subordinating friendship, neighborliness, and the social graces and amenities characteristic of a former day to the mad scramble for the slinthy dollar?

In his message to the Greeting Card Association Postmaster General New takes exception to the plaints of those who feel that human beings in general, and Americans in particular, are less friendly and neighborly than in former days, and that men and women nowadays are too centered in their own activities to bother about friends and neighbors. He added: "The number of greeting cards sent through the mails has increased tremendously from year to year. This is the very best argument that can be advanced against those pessimists and agitators who maintain that there is no spirit of comradeship, friendship or brotherly love left in the hearts and minds of the American people."

STAGE ALL SET FOR AGGIE TILT WITH PONIES

Game Will Be Broadcast for Benefit Those Not Able to Attend.

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 4.—The stage is all set at Aggeland for the coming of the Mustangs Saturday, Nov. 5, and indications point not only to what promises to be the most thrilling struggle in the southwest conference so far this season but to one of the most colorful aggregations of spectators as well.

The Wm. Penn. A. & M. cadet corps of nearly 2400 will be at the game en masse to cheer on the Aggies and reports from Dallas, Houston, Waco and other places indicate the visiting delegations will be strong in numbers and enthusiasm. Dallas is expected to send a host of supporters with the Mustangs, reports being that possibly two special trains will be required. Special trains will bring Houston and Waco fans also.

In preparation for the coming conflict, Coach Dana Babb is sending Aggies through a daily round of intensive training behind closed gates. Work against S. M. U. formations is being given but dummy scrimmaging is being followed for the most part.

Bulldogs Leave By Special Bus For San Angelo

Aboard one of the finest busses that has yet graced the highways of Texas, the Ranger Bulldogs left at 8 o'clock this morning for San Angelo where they will play against the Bobcats Saturday afternoon.

Besides the regular traveling squad and coaches Cherry and Davis they took the two general managers of the team, James Smith and Saundito Gregg. Without the presence and assistance of these two nubbins no Ranger football game would be complete.

Byron Reeves, disabled in the Abilene game, was left behind and kept right on with his studies today. Monroe Sweeney rode the bus as far as Cisco with the boys.

There will be numbers of dyed in the wool fans who will leave Ranger this afternoon and tomorrow morning to be present and show the Bulldogs that, even if they have dropped out of the race for district championship their friends are still behind the mand every one that can possibly arrange to go will be there when the whistle blows in San Angelo Saturday afternoon.

It has been suggested that friends of the team send Coach Cherry telegrams of encouragement and support in time to reach him before the game starts.

Twelve Elected Phi Beta Kappa At University

AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—Election of twelve members from the senior class of August, 1927, at the University of Texas to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, has just been announced by officers of the organization. Besides the seniors from the August class, one senior from the June, 1927, graduating class was elected and five students from the junior class were elected to make up the "junior five." Election to Phi Beta Kappa is considered as one of the highest scholastic honors to be obtained in the university. The organization is a national one, the Alpha of Texas chapter being organized at the university of Texas in 1904. Eligibility to membership is limited to Bachelor of Arts graduates of the college of Arts and Sciences who make substantially more than a "B" average during their undergraduate course at the University. Not more than one-eighth of any graduating class may be elected to membership in the year.

The twelve August seniors winning the high honors are Linnie L. Alfred of Corpus Christi, Velma Crank of Cleburne, Aminta Gonzales of Laredo, Alice Jennings of Fort Worth, Mollie Lindenberg of England, Arkansas, Mrs. Emily Martel of Austin, Virginia Skinner of Laredo, Herbert Smith of Mount Pleasant, James Nelson Welch of Austin, Annie Laurit Winfrey of Austin, Mary Evelyn Winfrey of Austin, and Mrs. Norma R. Koch of San Antonio.

Howard C. Doolittle of Austin was elected from the June, 1927 class of seniors. The highest ranking five students from among the prospective graduates in June, 1928, who were awarded the honor are Mildred Stanley of Tyler, Oleta Mae Richey of Austin, Theodora Wins of San Antonio, Newton Alvin Kilgore of Schroeder and Frank W. McLarty of Austin.

URGES SALES TALK TO ADVERTISE HEAVEN

By United Press. WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., Nov. 3.—Ministers as high-powered realtors, selling subdivisions in heaven, is the soul-saving plan of the Rev. James M. Johnson, vicar of St. John's parish here.

Dr. Johnson advocates the elimination of the "ponderous sermon and 90-cent word" from the evangelical campaign, especially in the rural districts.

In their stead he would substitute the "sales talk," selling heaven to the people on its merits over another well known subdivision.

Dr. Johnson would conduct the revival meeting after the fashion of a Rotary club "get-together," with a formal element eliminated in favor of the informal social features of the farm home.

He declares this plan had been found highly successful in the rural districts of Kansas and Wisconsin where it had been put to the test.

Mascot Idea Spreading
Mascots, which have made such a hit as automobile ornaments, are spreading to nearly all fields of ornament in England. They are made as jewelry, as "doggie" handbags, as tops for umbrella handles and are taking their place alongside the gay or little god as decorations for the home. One of the most pleasing forms of the craze is the tiny brass knocker, not for the street door, but for the doors of rooms. They are in the forms of animals, a pixie or the Lincoln inn, and are not only attractive as decorations but because of their diminutive size give a pleas-

GOT RID OF POISON

Kentuckian Finds Black-Draught a Great Aid in Relieving Constipation, and Soon Feels O. K.

Catlettsburg, Ky.—Mr. Miles Hopkins, of 1218 Center Street, this city, says:

"There was a time when my health was not so good. I suffered a great deal from gas pains. My system was saturated with poison which was not properly eliminated. From time to time I had severe headaches, and I felt sluggish and dull. I knew of Black-Draught as a medicine for constipation, so I thought I would try it. For a while I took a small dose every night until my system was rid of the accumulated poison.

"I gained in weight and my general health was good. That experience made me realize the merits of Black-Draught. I kept it in my home and when I begin to feel lifeless and dull, I take a dose, after which I feel O. K. again.

"People generally do not realize the risk they take in allowing constipation to run on. I try to keep my system cleansed, and I find Black-Draught a great aid in doing this."

MAVERICK-EAGLE TILT IMPORTANT GAME OF WEEK IN OIL BELT

ABILENE TO RUN SPECIAL TRAIN TO EASTLAND

Winner Saturday Will Have Only Cisco Lobos Between It and Title.

The final stiff workout of the Mavericks was held Thursday afternoon when the boys worked until night-fall and everything is in order for the hardest game the Mavericks will play this year which will be with the powerful Abilene Eagles Saturday afternoon at Maverick Athletic field.

The squad, having worked this past week as they have never worked before, will go through a slight workout this afternoon and will probably receive the final "on to battle" talk by Coach Pena.

The game with Abilene will in all probability do much to clear up the standing of the three leading teams and it is being watched with interest by the football fans throughout the district.

The Eastland high pep squad will parade to the station to welcome the Abilene special Saturday afternoon and will hold a parade and pep rally on the down town streets just prior to the game.

The band uniforms and the uniforms for the boys pep squad had not been received last Thursday night but it is expected that they will arrive in time for the parade.

Additional seats have been added to the field and plans have been made to entertain the biggest crowd that has ever invaded Eastland to witness a football game.

Seats are on sale at all of the leading drug stores and the tickets call for general admission only, there being no reserved seats for the game, with the exception of the seats for the pep squads of the two teams.

Everyone was talking football the other day.

Here's Milton Gaston, who'll do his pitching assignments for Washington next season. He was traded by the St. Louis Browns a few days ago for Outfielder Earl McNeely and Pitcher Dick Coffman.

afternoon before the game and the nerves of the many fans who have fond hopes of a championship team are at the highest pitch.

Neither team has been scored on and it will be an offensive display on the one hand and a display of the best defensive combination in the district on the other. Defensively, the Mavericks play superb ball and their offensive drives, led by the star, George Johnson, is hard to re- pel.

It is estimated that Abilene will bring 1000 fans to the game and the committee in charge of the ticket sales feel assured that there will be 4000 people or more at the game.

The Abilene special will arrive sometime after 2 o'clock and the fans will parade through the business section and after that will be carried to the field by cars furnished by Eastland fans.

The game is called at 3 o'clock.

BULLDOGS AND ELIASVILLE IN SCORELESS TIE

Some of 1928 Bulldogs Display Fighting Spirit That Makes For Championship.

The Ranger Bulldogs and the Eliasville high team battled up and down the field Thursday afternoon for four full periods and neither was able to cross the other's goal line. Thus the game ended in a scoreless tie, but in favor of Referee Freshman Phillips, who "ruled his land with an iron hand" and banished all the grippers among whom were included Alfred Glenn of the Ranger pups and Holmes of the visitors.

The game was placed in Ranger's territory a good part of the time, in fact, more of the time than it was in Eliasville's and the visitors put the ball in good scoring position once. They lacked only a yard to go and the necessary punch to carry it over but the pups line held and the game was saved.

The outstanding feature of the game was the defensive work of Bull Caraway who seemed to have an uncanny way of telling where the play was going and getting in the middle of it and making the tackle. "Bull" backs up the line like a veteran and puts lots of drive into his offensive plays and you'll hear lots about him in 1928.

Floyd Hulén received much favorable comment with his line plunging and interference running. He also put up one of the nicest displays of blocking while protecting a punter that has been seen on the local field this fall. His pose was similar to a slow motion picture until his opponent "showed" then he would do the blocking trick to perfection.

"Sweet Cake" Niver played a nice game at quarter. He is light but fast and has plenty of fight. He used one good display of judgment when Smith broke through and "Sweet" cake headed for a touchdown. Sweet cake stood his ground to make the runner slow up and Bull Caraway got him from behind.

Rawls Bowden showed up good and made some nice punts but his injured leg kept him from showing up to his normal ability.

Alfred Glenn started the game but was chased by the referee in the second quarter for griping.

The ends, Mills and Monk Blackwell were right there turning them in and going down the field on punts and making occasional tackles. Lake and Cook, playing tackles, broke up several plays for the visitors and made them make costly fumbles, but the visitors seemed to have a man ready at all times to drop on the ball when it was fumbled.

"Lightning" Matlock and J. C. Day started at guard positions and showed their stuff right along through the game. Autrey Harkrider played a good game at center, making all passes perfect and showing up good on defense.

Bishop Plumley, Thomas and Belknap, going in for Cook, Matlock, Blackwell and Plumley, respectively put out the real stuff and Bailey Thomas emerged with a nicely bruised face to show that a first string football player if they'll give him a chance.

Now let's talk about the visitors a little bit. They made some nice gains on line plays. Two line plays in particular netted them 17 and 24 yards respectively. The success of these plays were not necessarily due to loafing on the pup line, for they were perfectly executed and any soundly constructed play that is executed properly will make the desired gain—that's axiomatic.

Laugh of the visitors was shifty and returned punts for as high as 20 yards. Cooney, Smith and Holms looked good as backfield men and Smith in particular carried out his assignment mighty well.

MUSTANGS ARE FAVORED TO WIN AGGIE BATTLE

Most Important Tilt In Southwest, T. C. U.-Arkansas Game Gets Attention.

By RICHARD C. WILSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
DALLAS, Nov. 4.—Before the sun sets tomorrow evening the probable winner of the 1927 Southwestern conference football championship will have been picked.

For such is the import attached to the Southern Methodist University-Texas A. and M. college game at College Station. These two teams are classed as the outstanding elevens of the southwest. The Mustangs' conference record is unblemished. Texas and Rice having fallen in defeat against them. The record of the Aggies is marred by a scoreless tie with Texas Christian University.

Incidentally, T. C. U. looms as the highest hurdle for the Mustangs to surmount after the Aggie game. Baylor meets S. M. U. next week and should be a poor test against the Dallas team.

By right of their seasonal record, S. M. U. will be a slight favorite over the Aggies. But the game will be a battle royal for the 15,000 spectators who will attend. The Aggies have preparing for the Mustangs since last Saturday, having played last week's game on Friday.

Whether the Hume, Mann and Dawson offensive combination of the Mustangs can befuddle the Aggies as quickly as it did Texas in the first period last Saturday is problematical. Joel Hunt, the Aggie quarterback, will be hard to befuddle. Reports from the Mustang camp indicate that Coach Ray Morrison's squad will rush into the game with a diversified but fast attack, hoping to upset the Aggies in the first period.

This game completely overshadows other conference games this week. Some attention will be given to the T. C. U. vs. Arkansas game by the critics since the Frogs have been gaining strength each week.

The performance of the Razorbacks last week in upsetting the dope and trimming Louisiana State, 28 to 0, attracted much notice. Texas A. and M. played T. C. U. a tie but overwhelmed Arkansas. Either the Razorbacks have gained strength or T. C. U. has a powerful defense.

Texas plays Baylor at Austin and probably will decisively trim the Bears. Rice institute, the most defeated team in the conference, will have a busy afternoon with Centenary in a nonconference affair. It was Centenary that gave S. M. U. a startling defeat earlier in the season.

Mavericks To Wear Cisco Sweaters In Saturday Game

The Red and Black of the Mavericks won't be red and black Saturday. An S. O. S. call was dispatched to Cisco for the gold and black sweaters of the Lobos. The Mavericks will lay their sweaters reverently aside and don the gold sweaters of the Cisco high school.

This was made necessary because the Abilene Eagles wear black sweaters also and it would be confusing to the stands to have 22 men, all in black, on the field at the same time.

Coach Pena decided last night to change the color of the sweaters and Chapman loaned the Lobos' sweaters for use in the game.

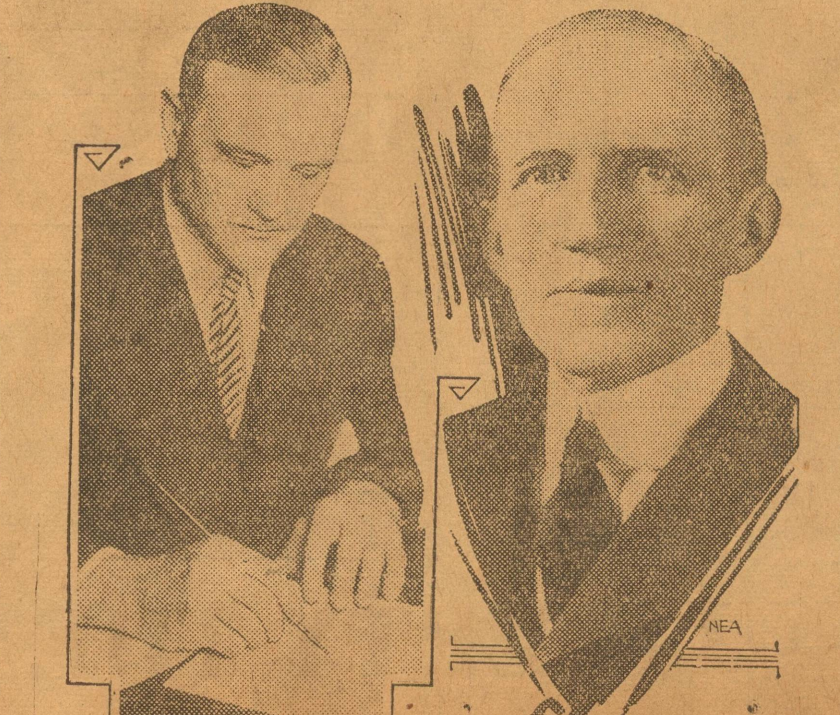

There are nine billion-dollar corporations in the United States, according to an answered question in this week's Liberty. Two of them, United States Steel and Southern Pacific Railroad, have more than two billion dollars invested. The other are the Pennsylvania Railroad, the American Telephone and Telegraph company, the New York Central railroad, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Union Pacific Railroad, the Atchison railroad and General Motors.

Channel Champ

Smiling at you here is Dr. Dorothy C. Logan, London physician, who swam the English channel from Cape Gris Nez to Folkestone in an hour and twenty minutes under Gertrude Ederle's woman's record. Dr. Logan the fourth of her sex to conquer the turbulent passage, was in the water 13 hours and 12 minutes.

Will Detroit Vote Wet or Dry?

The candidacies of these two men for mayoralty has given Detroit a wet-dry issue this fall. Mayor John W. Smith (left), seeking re-election, declares that an attempt to enforce the prohibition law in New York, Chicago, Detroit or any other large city only "makes hypocrites, grafters and window peepers out of the community." John C. Lodge (right), who opposes him, is an uncle of Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of Colonel Lindbergh. Lodge's candidacy is generally considered that of a "dry," though he is making a silent campaign.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING—

Ty Cobb in Bryan Eagle—The passing of Ban Johnson as president of the American League and Dr. Penick as president of the University of Texas athletic council have something in common. Both believed in strict interpretation of the rules, and both fought for the highest ideals. In this age of commercialism it sometimes seems that the dollar mark comes first.

Pop Boone in Fort Worth Press—See in the papers where Walter Johnson is to manage the Newark club in the International league instead of the Houston club in the Texas league. Which was a mistake on Barney's part, although he may not realize it just now. Houston is a nice town to work in—nice, friendly people who would have stuck by ol' Barney until the bovines sauntered homeward in the dusk of a soft evening. Newark is not that kind of a town, I'm reliably informed.

Ben Hill in Dallas Dispatch—While Fort Worth baseball men are looking about for material for their 1928 team, Dallas officials apparently are doing nothing. The Cats have drafted three players for next year—two infielders and a pitcher, who by the way, is said to be some sneeze as a flipper.

Andy Anderson in Houston Press—I think that better days are coming at Rice. Possibly we'll have a Southwestern conference football champion there not so long from now—but champion or no champion, I'll not have any more admiration for the team as a team than I do of the present team because I know the boys, know they are fighting no matter what mistakes they make or how it looks for the sidelines.

Harold Ratliff in Cleburne Times—Ed Beular played for Texas against S. M. U. and he was a star of the game, but he could not come close to the work of Mann of the Mustangs. Mann is one of the greatest quarterbacks to ever trot a southwestern conference gridiron and is pointed to as the greatest passer the conference ever knew.

Charley Hill in Amarillo News—It has been said there is no connection between Amarillo, Oklahoma City and Tulsa in the baseball racket, but this connection certainly exists. Dale Gear, and the other club owners link them together, and the majority have definitely said they will not consider the two teams going out unless they take amarillo along. Some day in the near future a Western league meeting may be called on the matter. Just what the attitude of the Texas league magnates will be when they find a real racket has been started is of course only a matter of conjecture.

Having seen pictures of both Madame Lupescu and Princess Helen of Rumania, most American men have long been convinced that Prince Carol wasn't quite all there.

PICKING ALL AMERICAN TEAM IS JOB

Anybody's Right But Doubtful If Any Will Attain Standing of Camp.

By BILLY EVANS. Notice where Coach Stagg of Chicago says he wouldn't pick an all-American football team for a million dollars. All of which may be true, but I would hate to have any one offer him that much money.

Stagg is perfectly correct in saying that no one man can pick an all-America. As a matter of fact, Walter Camp had built up a system whereby he had assistance from at least a score of the leading grid experts scattered all over the country.

I happen to know a prominent western sports writer whom Camp depended on for the selection of any Big Ten players, believed to be up to all-America standards.

While there probably never will be another football selection that will have quite the standing of the men named by Walter Camp, the public likes to peruse such copy and the picking of all-America football teams has become a national institution.

However, I dare any capitalist to offer any one a cool million, not excepting Mr. Stagg, for picking an all-America team and not be taken up on the proposition.

Ruth All-Star Team. Every year Babe Ruth picks an all-America baseball team. In reality this team is selected by a number of the leading baseball writers and then approved by Ruth.

That the professional ball player has his vain moments as well as the collegian is proved by the way the big league stars look forward to the naming of Ruth's team.

It seems the sports writers were unable to agree on who was the best catcher in the American league. It was all even between Mickey Cochrane of the Athletics, Muddy Ruel of Washington and Luke Sewell of Cleveland.

When the lineup finally appeared, Ruel, who had been picked for the 1926 team was again honored by being awarded the position of catcher. It is said that since the writers were unable to agree, Ruth, himself, named Ruel as the best of the trio of stars.

Too Many Curves. It was generally believed by the players that Mickey Cochrane of the Athletics, who had the best year of his career, would be given the preference. I am inclined to think that even Mickey felt that way about it.

On the Philadelphia club are two of the best left-handers in the game, "Lefty" Grove and "Rube" Walberg. Both boast a curve ball that is almost unhittable for a left-hander.

As one would expect, any time Ruth came to the bat, both Walberg and Grove fed him a curve-ball diet exclusively.

"So the Babe passed you up?" said Joe Dugan of the Yanks, in a joshing way to Cochrane, the last time the two clubs met.

"Yes, and I know why," replied Mickey. "I signaled for too many curve balls any time he came to the bat."

There may be more truth than poetry to that wise crack, for it must be admitted that Babe has a decided preference for the fast ball over the curve.

Magruder Cheers for the Navy

Right in the center of cheering for the Navy when its football team met and defeated Penn at Philadelphia was Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, the department's severest critic. You see him here between two of the midshipmen's cheer leaders.

Marek, in his work that day, was simply maintaining his standard. Knowing he would be a much sought after athlete, I spent many a moment wondering what college he would enter.

Remarkable Premise. Some months later I learned that Marek had decided on Ohio State. With a star like him to build around, I felt that that school was "in" for several big years. Likewise Marek. One afternoon four years ago, I visited the Ohio State stadium to watch Coach Wilce's athletes prepare for the game with Illin.

Scrimmage was being indulged in as I walked in the gridiron. On the first play I was startled by seeing a youngster dash through the Ohio State varsity team for a 60 yard run. That player was Elmer Marek.

One of the assistants told me that happening was almost a daily occurrence with Marek. Scribes Overdo Fraise. It was only natural of Coach John Wilce to expect great things of Marek as a sophomore. Unfortunately for Coach Wilce, Ohio State and himself, Marek failed to deliver as expected and predicted.

Naturally, Marek was the subject of much newspaper comment in which the scribes painted beautiful word pictures of what Marek would do, but seldom did any of them materialize.

I have heard it said that these many complimentary notices did not tend to shrink the size of Marek's hat. If so, that was doubly unfortunate.

Now, as the Ohio State team failed this year against Northwestern and Michigan, as did Marek, we have the word of Coach Wilce that his entire team has been overouted. Possibly so.

Publicity is a fine thing if it isn't overdone. When it is, the reaction is usually very costly.

HAS 98 ACCIDENTS IN 45 YEARS OF LIFE

By United Press.

FERGUS FALLS, Minn.—Ninety-eight accidents, some of them serious but most of them minor, have befallen E. P. Lindgren, formerly of Henning, Minn., during his life time.

Gored and tossed into a street by a large Holstein bull, whose tail he grasped, Lindgren suffered his first mishap at the age of 5. His left leg, right arm, and collar bone were broken and his body was punctured in many places.

Now, at the age of 45, he has been run over by 37 freight cars and a caboose. The automobile he was driving was struck by an express train, he drove over a 50-foot embankment with his car, he has all but chopped off his foot with a hatchet and he has jumped off the top of a barn with a large umbrella as a parachute breaking his left leg. This happened at the age of 6. He stumbled over a railroad porter's stool to rupture a joint in his spinal column, causing total paralysis from the hips down.

But despite all these mishaps, Lindgren today is representative of the Standard Extension of University of Chicago and is recognized as a sales lecturer.

Although he has but one arm, he can drive his car, operate a typewriter at a speed of 60 words a minute, and can do almost everything with one hand.

"You'll have to snoot me to keep me out of the United States," calmly announced Jack Eizikovits, 25 year old Roumanian, to immigration officers at Jacksonville, Fla., as they prepared to deport him for the second time. Then he ran a stick into his leg so he could stay awhile—in a hospital.

Fine Players Are Often Ruined By Much Publicity

By BILLIE EVANS.

Overouting has ruined many a promising big leaguer. It has considerably slowed up others because of the responsibility they felt due to the many flattering advance notices.

More recently, the press-agents of some promising football players, since publicity has become a very necessary feature of the college sport, has played havoc with the hopes of many coaches.

There is no more striking example of overouting than that of Elmer Marek, Ohio State halfback. A great prospect as a freshman, he has failed to come even close to expectations.

Marek has been only a fair player, yet as a freshman he gave promise of rivaling Red Grange.

Was High School Star. I recall well the first time I saw Marek in action. It was a game at Toledo, against one of the leading prep school teams of that city. Marek was a member of the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, high school eleven.

Literally, he ran wild that day, giving one of the most remarkable exhibitions of ground gaining ability I've ever seen a high school athlete turn in.

Marek looked a second Red Grange and in certain phases of play seemed to have greater possibilities.

At that time, I was informed that

Eastern Teams Have Met Many Grid Defeats

By BILLY EVANS. Football success in the various sections of the country seems to run in cycles.

The east is experiencing this year more than its share of failures in the leading inter-sectional clashes.

The first two big upsets handed the effete easterners were the defeats of Yale by Georgia and Harvard by Purdue.

Hardly had the gasping died away when Notre Dame ran rough-shod over the great Navy team, winning rather easily, 19-6.

Colgate, which usually boasts one of the best teams in the Atlantic sector, has twice been humiliated. First by Virginia Poly, next by Wabash. A single touchdown was the margin of victory in each instance.

Last but not least of the reverses was the victory of Chicago over the highly touted Pennsylvania team, 13-7.

To get an even break on the season the east must do some fast stepping in the inter-sectional games that remain to be played.

Pitt Team is Good. While the east has not been without its conquests in the inter-sectional clashes, most of the victories recorded have been more or less of a minor nature.

The Army holds two victories over the west, having won from both Marquette and Detroit, the latter team holding the West Pointers to a 6-0 score. The Army still has Notre Dame to reckon with.

Princeton was beaten by Washington and Lee, 13-0, while Pittsburgh swamped Drake 32-0. Pittsburgh, by the way, seems to have a team that travels the best that Pop Warner ever turned out at that institution.

Unless the west falls down badly in the big games still to be played, 1927 will simply go down in the books as a bad year for the east.

Offer Comparative Basis. It should be easy at the close of the season to draw a comparison between coast football on one side arrayed against the east and west on the other.

Southern California is booked to meet Notre Dame at Chicago. These two teams are outstanding and should provide a great battle with Notre Dame favored to win.

Pennsylvania will play California at Berkeley on Dec. 31. Stanford is angling for a game at Palo Alto on Dec. 10. Pittsburgh is a possibility, I am told. Nothing could be more fitting, since Glenn Warner coached at Pitt before going to Stanford.

And there is still the Tournament of Roses game, an annual feature staged at Pasadena. Those in charge would like either Stanford or Southern California to represent the west, but it is understood they are having trouble making such arrangements.

Looks as if these games would prolong the regular football season about four weeks with California offering the setting for the grid activities.

CHARM CHATS
with Mme. Ganette Serrec

Teeth should be brushed after each meal, and the mouth rinsed with some good antiseptic wash. If this cannot be conveniently managed at luncheon, then the morning and evening ritual should be even more vigorously followed. Choose a tooth paste which is medically correct, not only which merely gristles a crop of pearls overnight. Crooked teeth should be cared for in childhood, but if they have been neglected the work can be done in later life if one has the will.

A young woman of my acquaintance, well past 30, made the resolve and after some six months the improvement in her whole appearance was striking.

Teeth bear a vital relation to general health. Diseases of the gall bladder and the various ailments of the joints and muscles may often be traced to infected teeth. Digestion is frequently impaired by the inability to masticate food properly. And if you have indigestion or rheumatism I'll wager you won't smile as often as you should!

TICKETS TO FIREMEN'S BALL ENJOY GOOD SALE

Chief George Murphy of the Ranger fire department reported today that the tickets for the firemen's annual ball, were going fine and that he expects a very large crowd at the Colson on the evening of November 11.

Murphy sold quite a number of tickets to representatives of contracting firms who were here to put bids on the street paving.

The high score prize an ornate bonnet pillow went to Mrs. R. J. Norman, the low, a novelty tape measure to Mrs. T. N. Rice, and to the guest of honor was presented a lovely pair of silk hose.

Refreshments of chicken salad, wafers, olives, pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream and coffee were served to the honor guests and Mrs. T. M. Coombs, M. W. Fife, R. J. Norman, Bob Kendrick, Abe Shaw, Frank King, Frank Sloan, T. N. Rice, Grady Jennings, John Colquitt and Charles Myreck.

1920 CLUB BRIM FULL ENTHUSIASM OVER PROSPECTS.

The 1920 club met yesterday afternoon and the club as a whole was brimful of enthusiasm over the prospects of Mrs. M. H. Hagaman's chances for winning the presidency of the state federation of women's clubs in El Paso next week.

The club, in a business session, voted to pay its biennial pledge of $1 per member and also voted to raise its student loan fund as it has been doing heretofore.

The attendance was splendid, as was the program, led by Mrs. A. J. Duffer on Vachel Lindsay. Mrs. Davenport gave Lindsay's songs for chanting and recitation; Mrs. Chas. Moore Lindsay's poems on social and moral themes and on the spread of the ideals of beauty and Mrs. Duffer closed the program with Lindsay's lighter child's verse.

Three million dollars worth of thoroughbred horseflesh, groomed to glossy perfection and with a ribbon in its tail, will strut across the tannery of Madison Square Garden next week in the annual, ever-fascinating spectacle of the National Horse show.

Customs and fashions change; mechanical invention revolutionizes travel and transportation; the horse no longer plays a prominent part in the life of the average man and woman, and in our big cities there are little children who are as surprised at the sight of a horse as they would be at that of a polar bear.

But man still breeds the horse for profit and pleasure, and there's a fascination about this affair next week that you'll never find at an automobile show.

One thousand thoroughbreds are stable luxuriously in the basement of the New Garden. Nearly as many grooms pet and pamper them and make them ready for Monday's brilliant opening.

Monday will be "governor's day," with Governor Al Smith and Mrs. Smith doing the honors, and society at its smartest, just as it has turned out in its best bib and tucker each opening day of the National Horse show for the past 42 years.

Cavalry officers from France, Poland, Canada and our own army will compete for a cup which has been donated by Jan Clechanowski, Polish minister to Washington, for an international jumping contest.

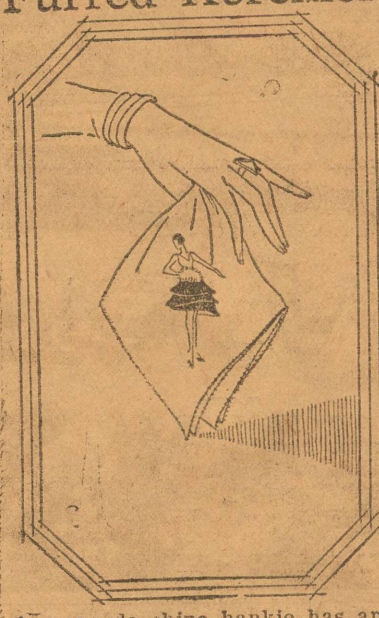

The trophy is unique. It is the original King George III silver gilt hammered cup made by leading London silversmiths more than a century ago and presented by the British king to the Montgomeryshire Yeomanry cavalry in 1716.

Those were the days before towns were guarded by speed limit signs and red and green traffic lights, and there was a kick in the "winding" horn not to be found in the raucous blare of a klaxon.

Mustangs Off To College Station For Aggie Battle

DALLAS, Nov. 4.—The Southern University Mustangs were a determined lot as they left last night for College Station where they play the Aggies Saturday.

Coach Morrison is taking his men down a day early so that they may have an opportunity of limbering up on Kyle Field on Friday. He wants them to get somewhat accustomed to the historic field which in itself has downed so many visiting elevens.

In 1923 the Mustangs were able to break this Kyle field jinx, winning from the Aggies 10 to 0 but in 1923 the jinx got them. They were heavy favorites in the betting but lost 7 to 0. This year the Mustangs have their hearts set on proving to the Aggies that the red and blue of S. M. U. can again have in victory on Kyle field.

The Mustangs are in fair physical shape, having come out of the Missouri and Texas games in good condition. Injuries are not worrying Coach Morrison but there is a slight bit of worry outlined in his face when someone asks him if he thinks the Mustangs can hold their stride for the third consecutive Saturday. A good many dope heads believe that Missouri, Texas and A. & M. all in a row, will be too much for the

The game will also bring out an individual battle between Gerald Mann and Hunt, who are the logical contenders for the quarterback position on the all-conference team. If Mann plays as he played last year, an das he has been playing so far this year, it will mean that Hunt will have to rise to super-human heights to oust him.

Million Disaster Victims Aided by Red Cross in Year of Great Calamities

NEARLY a million persons, victims of 77 disasters have received assistance from the American Red Cross during the past year.

On an average of every five days this country suffered a disaster of sufficient magnitude to bring the Red Cross into action. The amount of money the organization spent in meeting these emergencies is greater than the budgets of twenty-six states, while only six cities in the country have a population larger than the number of disaster sufferers assisted.

Floods raging over thousands of miles, fires destroying whole villages, tornadoes and hurricanes sweeping over entire states, and death dealing explosions combined to make the year one of unprecedented calamities.

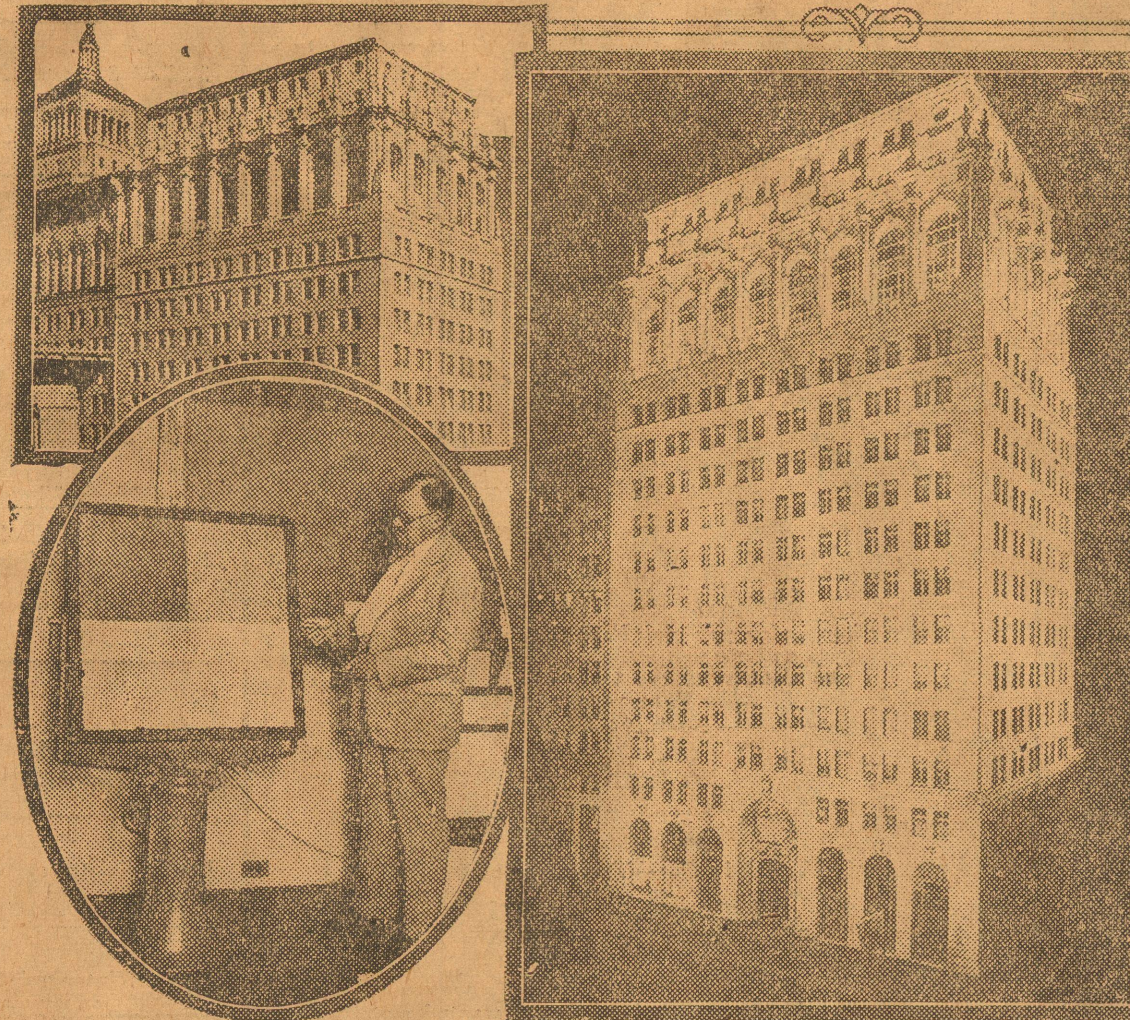

The outstanding disaster of the year was the Mississippi Valley flood, where the organization assisted more than 607,000 persons during the emergency period, and is still carrying on extensive reconstruction work. Already rehabilitation aid has been given to nearly 500,000 persons. After rescuing those in danger from levees and house tops, the refugee population was fed, clothed and sheltered in 149 refuge camps. As these people returned to their homes they

Above-Millions of garments were distributed by the Red Cross to flood sufferers in the Mississippi Valley. were supplied with live stock, seed and farm implements, while buildings damaged or destroyed by the flood were replaced. In this disaster the Red Cross is expending a relief fund in excess of $17,000,000. Red Cross leaders state that in increasing responsibilities in the field of disaster relief has necessitated a larger membership. The organization, headed by President Coolidge, has set 5,000,000 members as its goal for this year's Roll Call, which will be held throughout the nation between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving.

Buildings Planned to Look Well When Upside Down as Lighting Reverses the Effects of Decoration at Night

HOW WOULD an office building look, upside down? At least one phase of this seemingly bizarre problem must be considered by the modern architect, in most of his designs, it was indicated by General Electric Company engineers, in a discussion of "night architecture", before the National Terra Cotta Society, at Schenectady, New York.

"Floodlighting", it was shown, virtually reverses the shadows by which a great part of the decorative effect of a building is obtained. Sunlight, coming from above, casts a shadow beneath each projection. Artificial lights, generally thrown from lower points, cast their shadows above the projections.

This condition, engineers declared, must be considered by the architect, in planning a structure which will have beauty both by day and night. Where decorative effects are obtained by projections and shadows, the varying values of the colors under artificial light present new problems, and great possibilities.

Greatest visibility is obtained by the use of light colored, washable materials, with certain textures and surfaces, such as are possible in terra cotta, it was shown by experiments in the General Electric laboratories under the supervision of W. D'Arcy Ryan, director of the illuminating engineering laboratory. Almost unlimited effects are declared possible, through various combinations of form and color in the materials used, and of colors in the lights.

Contributions For Ranger Band Asked Next Week

On Tuesday morning, November 3, members of the directorate of the Ranger band will start out to raise money sufficient to bring the band list up to such a point that the funds will cover the band director's salary and take care of other incidentals. It was brought out at a meeting of the band directors yesterday afternoon at the chamber of commerce that there are a number of incidentals that come up in running a band, including repairs on musical instruments, new music, and just now a very big item is the uniforms that were bought for the band prior to the Jubilee, which yet have to be paid for.

However, regardless of other items, the bandmaster's salary always has to be paid and the list of subscribers to the band must be kept up to its full strength to meet that expense. It was stated that owing to the changing conditions in any oil field town, there were some on the list one year who were not on the next year and therefore the necessity of keeping the gaps filled is obvious.

Moths Drive Lavender Vogue
Moths' invasion of the British Isle in greater numbers this year than before has brought a vogue for lavender just when a bumper supply of the fragrant plant made the price low. A new idea is the motor mascot of lavender in many forms. A small version of the grown-up doll is made in flat tub-like sections, stuffed with lavender, and suspended from a tape. Other dolls with life-like faces, but with arms and legs of silk wire, have bodies, skirts and feet of lavender-filled georgette. Perhaps the most attractive is a miniature "kewpie" doll with Dutch cap and trousers of chiffon and filled with the lavender blossom.

Junior College Board Meets On Thursday Night

The junior college board met last night at the chamber of commerce office and attended to a number of things, the paramount matter being a review of the financial status of that institution.

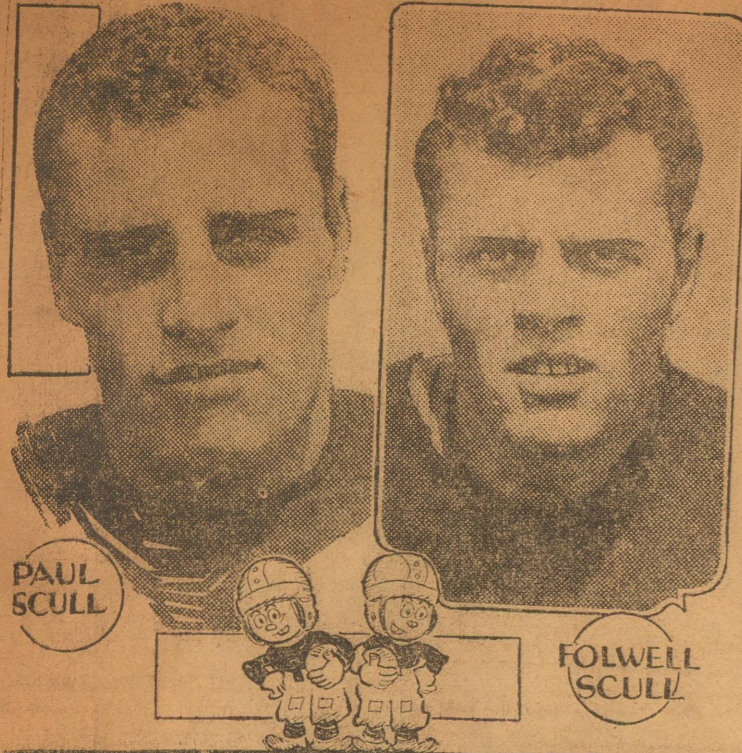

In connection with that review it was decided that a financial statement would be prepared showing how much was collected and how much disbursed and what for during 1926-27 and this statement would be sent out to college donors so that they can see where the money goes.

It was further agreed that the board would not have a regular meeting night once a month as heretofore but would be called at any time that a meeting became necessary.

U. S. Breaks All World's Records For Quality and Mileage of Roads

THE United States has far surpassed every other road building record set by other nations, from Imperial Rome to Modern France," said J. S. Helm, President of the Asphalt Association, New York, in addressing a conference of Paving Technologists on October 11th, in that city, preparatory to the Annual Paving Conference in Atlanta, during the week of November 25th. "Twenty years ago the total amount of money spent on highways in the United States was less than $75,000,000; today it is over $1,200,000,000. Then we had less than one mile of road out of every twenty miles surfaced with anything but mother earth; today we have over 500,000 miles of surfaced highways, or nearly one mile out of every five outside of municipalities. In the single year of 1926 our engineers surfaced some 44,000 miles of highway—a length almost as great as the combined length of all of the Imperial highways of Ancient Rome and 50% greater than the entire mileage of The Routes Nationales of France."

Thomas H. MacDonald, Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, who will be the principal speaker at the Sixth Annual Asphalt Paving Conference at Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 25-Dec. 2, 1927.

"One of our real problems," said Mr. Helm, "is due to the fact that automobiles have increased in number faster than our amazing road building progress. Some 22,000,000 automobiles or 85% of the world's supply are now using the highways of the United States and the overflow must move out on the secondary roads to relieve the congestion on main routes. Some of these roads have already been made dustless and smooth by an economical use of asphalt, but the work must be undertaken on a vast scale. Another of our present day tasks is to save our 400,000 miles of macadam and gravel roads from destruction and to salvage the $2,500,000,000 investment by using these roads as foundations for new and modern asphalt wearing courses. This is an economic crime to tear up these old roads and thus lose the very genuine value they have as foundations."

The conference, which is made up of state, city and county engineers and officials; paving contractors, manufacturers and producers, is the sixth of the series, the 1923 and 1926 conferences having been held in Detroit, Michigan; and Washington, D. C.; respectively.

Thomas H. MacDonald, Chief of United States Bureau of Public Roads, who since 1919 has directed the huge national road building program of the Federal Government, and who will be the principal speaker at the paving conference, will emphasize the important administrative policies of the Federal Road Bureau and the measures which are expected to prove effective in solving the problem of salvaging our existing highways and taking care of the great mileage of secondary roads. Hugh W. Skidmore, president of the Chicago Paving Laboratory and President of the Association of Asphalt Paving Technologists, will preside at the opening session on Paving Research, on November 28th. At this session distinct advances in paving technology will be brought out.

Adaptation of city types of pavement, such as are exemplified by the beautiful pavements of Fifth Avenue, New York; Michigan Boulevard, Chicago, and the famous Black Base pavements of Denver, to country highway conditions will be explained at the Engineering Session. Col. Woolsey Fennell, State Director of Highways of Alabama, is chairman of the Engineering Committee.

Horned Frogs Are All Tuned Up For Razorback Game

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4.—The T. C. U. Horned Frogs Thursday planned through their final workout in preparation for their clash Saturday with the Arkansas University Razorbacks. The Porkers are expected to arrive here today for a light workout this afternoon on the Frog gridiron. Coach Matty Bell will only give his men calisthenics today to limber them up.

With the exception of "Slim" Steadman, stellar Frog end, the Purple's squad is in the best shape it has been in this season. Captain "Blackie" Williams' bad leg seems to have completely healed and he more than likely will start the game at quarter. Orrin Thompson, also on the hospital list the past week with a lame ankle, will be able to start but it is likely that Bell will hold him out to give his bad leg a better chance to get well.

The starting backfield against the Porkers probably will be as follows: B. Williams, quarterback; Toler and Morgan, halves and Parrish, fullback. The starting line likely will be Matthews and Acker, ends; J. Williams and Felix Reynolds, tackles; Brumbelow and Fain Reynolds, guards and Palmer, center.

The Frogs are more concerned over the probable outcome of their battle with the Arkansas boys than they have been over any other game. Against Texas University and the Texas Aggies they were such underdogs that they were concerned only with battling hard against big odds. But now that they have won their way to a shot at the conference title and only the Porkers separate them from their clash with S. M. U., they are worried and realize they have a big job Saturday.

There is more money to be made in oysters than in cotton. Thousands of farmers rent cotton land, but the number who rent oyster land in Texas is negligible. Rhode Island, the smallest state in the union collects annually $135,000 for oyster rentals. One acre of oysters will produce from one to three thousand bushels. These oysters will snuck from three to five quarts to the bushel, or an average of a gallon. A gallon sells wholesale for about $2. The cost of production and canning is about $1. An average acre production of 2,000 gallons would net $1,000, according to figures taken from the Fish and Oyster Reporter. More oysters are consumed by the people of the world than any other fisheries product. The possibility of Texas production by private enterprise is yet untouched. Texas has been and still is a great beef-producing state, but with a diminishing range for its herds, there is still the great coast line with a producing area of marine food as limitless as the sea.

NORFLEET

The Manhunter's Own True Story

As told to Gordon Hines

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED - IMPERIAL PRESS - SUGAR LAND, TEXAS

WHAT HAS BEEN TOLD
Frank Norfleet, a Texas rancher, is swindled out of $45,000 by a gang headed by Joe Furey. He resolves to break up the gang. He gets two of his men in California, has disappointing experience with double-crossing officers in Florida, goes back to California and is deceived again by officers there. He gets a tip which leads him back to Florida. On the way he picks up his son Pete and the two of them find Joe Furey in a restaurant in Jacksonville. Norfleet goes to Furey's table and covers him with his gun. Furey jumps up screaming "Don't let him rob me men!" Several of Furey's friends rush to his aid and there is a near riot. After a knock-down and drag-out fight the police take Norfleet, Pete and Furey to the station where Furey, posing as Edward Leonard, is about to be released on bond when Norfleet shows the sergeant the endorsement of the Governor of Florida on his warrant. The man seems disappointed but turns Furey over to Norfleet. A deputy from the sheriff's office offers to drive the three men to the Georgia line. Norfleet wants to get his man out of the state quickly to avoid legal complications.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE
We drew up near the Union Station and were about to enter the driveway when the deputy stopped at the curb and consulted his watch. As if he hadn't thought of it before, he remembered that he had an urgent engagement and that he couldn't take us after all! He was very apologetic. I remember the time I had shown the Bockerman swindlers to the Chief at St. Augustine. He, too, had had an engagement. This man and he must have gone to the same school. "Here are lots of service cars, Dad," the deputy said, pointing in both directions. "You can get a good one anywhere along here to take you across."
I wondered why he had started with us. Perhaps he was afraid that I would raise a ruckus and compromise the police sergeant, and he was anxious to get me away from the reporters. I thought that was his ruse and almost forgave him for it, believing him to be conscientious in wanting to help a brother officer avoid unpleasant trouble.
I was slightly ruffled, however, and he volunteered to find a car for us if we would wait there in his own. He returned shortly with a big Cadillac and a black chauffeur who said he would take us to Georgia.

Our deputy friend then suggested that it might not be necessary for us to drive all the way to the state line. He said that he realized that we wished to get our man out of Jacksonville as quickly as possible, but that he knew a way we could accomplish our purpose and be on a Texas-bound train within the next two hours, with nothing to obstruct our trip back to Fort Worth. There was a little flag station about fourteen miles out of Jacksonville, called Dinmore, where the deputy asserted we could flag the limited train which would get us out of the state in less time than any other medium of travel.
This struck me as a good plan and, because we had no time to lose, I decided to get Furey on out there and send Pete back for our luggage. I wanted to avoid complications in Jacksonville, and we were soon speeding on our way.
Furey had remained silent during all these maneuvers, although I wondered that he did not seem more discouraged or resentful. His optimism was plainly shown in his manner, even though he said not a word.

He changed, however, when we left the city limits and began to brag for freedom. He said he would make good every cent I had lost through him and his confederates.
"I'll give you $20,000 of it tonight!" he cried.
For miles he kept a steady fire of pleading and promises. I told him I would certainly like to have the money, as I needed it badly, but—"I wouldn't trust you if you were dead!" I snorted.
"You don't know me," he sighed. Perhaps I didn't know him, even though I had spent $45,000 to get acquainted, but we would have a much better opportunity to get acquainted on the long trip back to Fort Worth. He winced.
"Oh, my God, man! Have mercy! Let me pay you back and go free! Don't take me back to Texas, Norfleet! Oh, for the love of—"
"I know all about 'suffering humanity' and 'rash acts' and you needn't worry about me taking a 'brain-storm' so you'd better just save your breath. You're going back to Texas!"

We neared the little flag station and I ordered the driver to stop a short distance away where I might hold Furey in the woods while Pete returned for the luggage.
A creek ran alongside the railroad, making a sharp bend away for about three hundred yards, then turning back toward the track. The road over which we came lay between the railroad and the creek. The bend left a wooded area of quite some size which was thickly covered with pines. (Continued on page four.)

People Wonder At Money Spent On Elections

By RODNEY DUTCHER
(NEA Service Writer)

WASHINGTON.—Congress will open with a great hoop-to-do over the question of whether or not Senators Frank Smith and Bill Vare are such awful persons as they are said to be and if so, they are too awful to be allowed in the Senate.

As this traffic battle approaches, the ordinary citizen, undoubtedly will be asking himself a question which long has caused considerable puzzle among the unsophisticated. That question is:

Why are wealthy citizens so interested in a candidate's success that they are willing to pour out hundreds of thousands or even millions of dollars to insure his nomination or his election?

It will be recalled that something like $4,000,000 was spent in Illinois and Pennsylvania on behalf of three candidates and that half of it was wasted on the Hon. George Wharton Pepper, who was defeated by Boss Vare, the man who cost his backers only a million.

Why those four millions? Did millionaire public utilities men, bankers, secretaries of the treasury and manufacturers chip in out of the kindness of their hearts? Or was it because they were determined that the people must have the best men, at all costs, who would represent the public's interests alone?

One suggests reluctantly that we must seek further for the answer. Samuel Insull, the multimillionaire utilities magnate, gave $125,000—or was it $300,000?—to the Smith campaign, but he also kicked in with at least $25,000 for George Brennan, Smith's Democratic opponent.

And Mellon, after announcing that the money he poured into the Pepper sieve was given in as good a cause as money to the church, swung to the support of Bill Vare along with the whole Mellon machine, despite the fact that the Mellon organization had nearly broken its neck and put up all the money in the attempt to beat Vare in the primaries.

That would make it appear that, after all, it never made much difference, from the standpoint of public interest whether Brennan beat Smith or Vare licked Pepper. And we still have the question before us why, in that case, anyone should want to shell out in such large quantities.

Attempts at answers, one observes, come more profusely from the self-alleged pure than from the so-called unclean. The candidates are all glad to explain why they needed all that money, but their angels are reticent as to why they produced.

Thus, one turns to consider the explanation of such an ancient enemy of political sowers as the Hon. Robert L. Owen, for 18 years senator from Oklahoma and now president of the National Popular Government League. It would be remembered, of course, that the Hon. Bob for all his sincerity, is not invariably dead right and that if the wealthy angels ever undertake to explain, their words should be given due consideration.

Owen explains, as he has been explaining for a long time, that we are governed by an "invisible government" of plutocrats who have usurped the ruling power supposedly held by the people. Three or four hundred men, he believes, buy elections and nominations, fill the White House and the chambers of Congress, appoint judges and control all branches of government. They control everything necessary to allow them governmental favors and a clear, unobstructed sweep, at the expense of us, the people.

Owen is one of those few who believe the American people can be made to believe all that and then get excited about it. Most practical politicians don't believe anything of the sort.

The elder-duck, goose, raven and parrot, which scientists estimate may live between 200 and 300 years, are the longest-lived birds, according to an answered question in this week's Liberty.

and palmetto shrubs. Concealed here, Furey and myself would not be seen from the road, and we would be safe, I believed, until Pete's return and the arrival of the train we expected to flag.

"Norfleet! Let's get down to business! I'll see that your son gets $20,000 as soon as he gets back to Jacksonville. I'll stay here with you—that was amusing; I felt sure he would stay—and when he comes back, you'll have that much on an account—as we say in business."

Furey was sitting on a stump, well hidden from the view of passers-by. Pete was preparing to return to the city and I was settling myself for guard duty.

"Where are you going to get the $20,000?" I inquired.

"My friends were there in the restaurant with me," he answered.

"Was Spencer there?" I cut in.

"Yes and several others," he replied. "Several of us were stopping at Mason hotel. They will be there now. Our headquarters are in Room 1000. We were just closing one of the biggest deals we ever pulled in Florida. In another hour it would have been completed and I would have had my cut of a good sum. You damned old trail hound! If it hadn't been for you butting in I'd have had my money and been out of the rotten state, instead of being here, chained to a log like an animal!" His breath was short and great beads of nervous perspiration rolled down his face.

"I'll write out an order, payable to Pete Norfleet for $20,000. Have him go back there and present it to Wentrott, the treasurer of the exchange. He'll pay it over to the boy and then you can do as you please until I can raise the balance of the $25,000. Or, if you prefer, I'll give you a deed to my apartment house on the corner of— and— streets in San Francisco. It is valued at $33,000. My agent, Mrs. Harrison, will transfer it to you. It's in her name, or, if that won't do, he was gasping for breath and perspiring at every pore as he watched my face for a sign of compromise. "I'll deed you my half interest in a 400-acre ranch near San Luis Obispo, California."

"Who owns the other half?" I asked.

"My financial agent."

"That was amusing. I'd get a green lick out of a partnership with the disheveled female of Stanford Court. I burst out laughing at the thought and Furey must have thought I was refusing to believe that he owned the property he referred to. He burst out indignantly that this was not all he owned—that he had a great deal of valuable property. I recalled a consolation in the fact that I hadn't admitted defeat, even though I was badly whipped. Since I first met Mr. Furey, I had grown so accustomed to being broke—that there was no danger that I would ever take a shot at myself.

Furey fell to muttering aloud to himself:

"I told Goldie"—I believe they called Gerber "Goldie"—"This old man would be our Waterloo. I told him I had enough when we got the first $20,000. A fool that don't know when he's broke is bound to be dangerous."

"What's the matter, Furey?" I broke into his reverie.

He shot me a quick glance, a menacing gleam in his eyes.

Two Men Go Shopping And Talk About It, Too.

Who ever said that women do all the shopping, and that men won't even buy their own shirts and collars. Lots of men shop in our store—and like to do it.

The other day a farmer met his family doctor in our shoe department. "I like to shop here," said the farmer. "I can usually find just what I want, and it always costs a little less."

"I've just bought a pair of shoes here," the doctor replied, "and saved exactly $1.22."

Which only goes to show that the men folks, too, recognize a good value—and know where to come for it.
