MOHLER GUILTY, JURY SAYS, HE MUST DIE

County Judge Pritchard Replies to Strictures By Recent Grand Jury

RANGER PLANS PURCHASE OF WATERWORKS

Value of Pumping Plant and Distributing System to Be Appraised by Expert.

The Ranger city commission and the Ranger water works interests jointly contracted yesterday with Henry Exall Elrod of Dallas for an appraisal of the Ranger water work system. This action followed an offer made to the city recently by M. H. Hagaman and his sons, chief owners of the water works, to sell the system to the city of Ranger at the value determined by a competent appraiser, plus a sum which is understood to have been fixed at $10,000.

The meeting yesterday was attended by Mayor Hodges and City Commissioners Brown, Terrell and Teal, by M. H. and Leslie Hagaman, and by the water works committee of the Chamber of Commerce, President Dillingham, ex-officio chairman; W. S. Adamson, Ed. R. Maher, Dr. W. C. Palmer, C. E. May, E. E. Crawford, and Secretary B. F. Bennett.

Week to Do Work
The appraisal is to be made, according to Mr. Elrod, by Mr. Shaw, an expert in this line, connected with his firm. The work is to be begun next Tuesday and is to be completed within one week.

It is understood that Mr. Hagaman has not wished to sell the pumping plant, but agreed to do so when the city commission and water works committee of the Chamber of Commerce insisted that if the city made the purchase it must include the pumping plant. He will retain ownership of Hagaman lake, however, the source of the city's water supply, and will sell water to the city at an agreed price per 1,000 gallons. The city will not be obligated to buy water from Hagaman lake, however, if a better and larger supply may be obtained elsewhere.

Lower Water Cost.
It has been figured by some local experts that the city can buy and pay for the water works system at its estimated value, which may be more than the appraised value, buy water from Hagaman lake and sell it to the citizens at one-half the present cost and obtain sufficient revenue to pay off the entire debt within 10 or 15 years. At the same time, the improvements proposed will provide all water consumers with pure water, fit to drink, and also reduce the city's insurance key rate, all of which will effect a saving to the people. The water works committee of the Chamber of Commerce has examined the proposition carefully, as have the members of the city commission, and all have agreed that the city should buy the water works system. The question will be placed before the voters of the city, however, before being finally determined.

NEFF OFFERS RANGERS TO AID DALLAS COUNTY IN FLOGGING INQUIRY

DALLAS, Nov. 3.—Texas rangers are held in readiness at Austin to be sent here immediately upon receipt of a request from officers of Dallas county to aid in the investigation of the flogging of Joe Westbrook Thursday night, according to a letter received from Governor Neff today. It was said to be unlikely that any request for the rangers would be made.

Neff's action in offering aid is construed to mean that he is in accord with the policies of Lieutenant Governor Davidson, who, while acting governor, used rangers extensively to aid investigations by county officials.

WET WEATHER MAKES TROUBLE ON HIGHWAYS

Gravel Washed Away and Big

Surrounded by mud, washouts and big holes in the street for nearly 10 days, residents of the east side of Ranger, the biggest residential district of the city, were jubilant Saturday morning when on awaking they beheld clearer skies and felt the tang of the air to be colder.

Spring road, Young, Pearson and Foch streets on which most of the best residences of the city are located and the condition of which has been the despair of the people living on these streets, were passable Saturday morning, thanks to the wind and colder weather. Spring road is, perhaps, in the worst condition. The street is not graveled and the water pours from the intersecting streets during rains and fills Spring road until it looks like a miniature lake.

WOMAN FIGHTS FOR SEAT IN COURTROOM WINNING POSSESSION

One day of the Mohler trial that brought unprecedented crowds to the Eastland county courthouse all week, was enlivened by a heated scrimmage right in the courtroom. Mrs. Jewell White, a spectator, whipped a man who, she said, stole her seat at the trial. There was a dense throng in the courthouse every day and women made up a large part of the audience. Mrs. White and a woman companion had two chairs. One of them got up to go out and when she came back Homer Sims was in the chair.

Mason of Comanche Tries Twice for Field Goal But Both Times Football Fails to Go Between Bars.

By HOWARD BARMAN
COMANCHE, Nov. 3.—Twice, the powerful Mason, fullback of the Comanche team tried his boot for field goals and both times, the pigskin failed to go over the horizontal bar. The first time, the football sailed about one foot to the left of the upright bars and the last time, it hit the horizontal bar and bounced back. Tom Yonkers, captain of the Ranger team, found his toe more trusty and his place kick in the fourth period won the hottest game the Rampagers have been in this season. A safety by Comanche made the score 3 to 2.

It was Yonker's only try for a field goal and it went true. Yonkers, because of his long distance putting, shone for the Rangerites. His punts floated down the field occasionally for 45 and 50 yards. It renewed the hopes of the Ranger crowd on the south side of the field.

Working for Economy.

"Yes, and even some commissioner may have committed a crime by riding out of these cars while doing his duty in superintending road work instead of employing a high price superintendent as was heretofore done. One of these cars, a Dodge roadster, is being used by two men employed by the court to check quantities. It will likely be sold when this work is completed. These cars have cost Eastland county an average of $16.07 per month since the first of January, and are the same cars which cost Eastland county as high as $250 for one month before the first of January. The present commissioners' court has spent a total of $724.85 on these automobiles since the first day of January. The court which preceded this court spent $74,452.60 in addition to the original cost of the cars. The author respectfully submits these figures as facts to the fair thinking and justice loving citizens of Eastland county.

Building Good Roads

"The present commissioners' court, in addition to working out plans for completing the system of state highways through this county and maintained by the state, have actually built 165 miles of good graded roads, which are soon to be completed. They have built and repaired 44 bridges and 49 culverts, and have maintained 150 miles of graded road. These are figures and facts, study it over and see if the present commissioners' court has been extravagant.

CRITICISM OF EXPENDITURES BRINGS RETORT

Trial Presents Feature Said to Be Unique in Texas Court Proceedings.

County Judge E. S. Pritchard, in a statement given out yesterday, answers the criticism which the recent grand jury made of the county commissioners in its report to the district judge.

"That the citizens of Eastland county may know the true facts with reference to the criticism which the recent grand jury made of the county commissioners," says Judge Pritchard, the following report is submitted. In it he shows how the present court is operating more economically than the previous court, especially in the matter of automobiles paid for by the county, and then criticizes the grand jury for its failure to note extravagances in other departments of the county government. Judge Pritchard's statement follows:

"The old commissioners' court purchased 18 motor vehicles. The cost of operating alone was $74,352.60, besides the original cost of the cars. In many instances the operating expenses of one of these cars cost Eastland county as high as $250 for one month.

"The present commissioners' court have sold all of these cars except five, which are now, and were on the 1st day of January, old wrecks. Four of these cars are now being used, one in each commissioner's precinct, for taking men to work on road jobs, bringing them back, bringing tools for repairs, taking supplies to the road machinery, etc.

"Where," asks the oil man, "will the next great field be?" This much can be vouchsafed by him; he is wishing that it is far off, so that the price of crude will rise and enable him to go to wildcatting again in nearby unproven territory which he has a hunch is productive.

OKLAHOMA MOB TAKES ACCUSED NEGRO FROM JAIL AND HANGS HIM

EUFALA, Okla., Nov. 3.—Charles Sowell, a young mulatto negro, held in jail here in connection with an alleged assault upon a white woman several weeks ago, was taken from jail by a band of masked men early this morning and hanged.

The mob stormed the jail, overpowered the officers and forced them to turn the prisoner over to them. Severed telephone wires delayed pursuit, but officers following the mob found Sowell's body hanging in a barn a short distance away about 30 minutes after he had been taken from the jail.

After Sowell's arrest several weeks ago he escaped from the officers while being returned to jail following a preliminary examination, hid in the Canadian river bottom, stole an automobile and finally reached the Texas Panhandle, where he was recaptured and returned to the McIntosh county jail.

Members of the mob were not identified by any of the officers.

ADVANCE IN OIL WOULD AWAKEN THE WILD CATS

Much Nearby Unproven Territory
Likely Some Time to Prove Productive.

Oil men are watching the great Powell field with considerable interest. Probably the greatest oil producing field, not only today, but of all time, and producing a 37 gravity crude, oil men are beginning to speculate on how long it will last.

An oil lease broker of Ranger said yesterday that the potential production of the field, which last Tuesday was 400,000, according to press dispatches, could not hold up long, unless new completions were made frequently the next few days as in the past week. A news story printed last Friday said that fewer completions were being made.

"I don't think it can hold on for more than 60 days," he said. "I think it will fall off considerably."

An oil corporation executive with headquarters in Ranger is quoted as saying that he believed the Powell field would settle down to a 30,000 or 40,000-barrel flush production. He was not quoted as to when he believed it would fall to these figures.

The actual production last Tuesday was 360,000 barrels, which, according to one Ranger oil producer, is more than double the record figure for a 24-hour production in the Ranger field of four years ago.

OKLAHOMA MOB TAKES ACCUSED NEGRO FROM JAIL AND HANGS HIM

Shortly after 11 o'clock, Judge Hill took his seat and the jurors were brought in. The judge then delivered the usual instructions, telling the jurors that they must satisfy themselves beyond any reasonable doubt, before making up their minds. He told them that if they believed from the evidence that Mohler was the last person with Maples alive, that it was Maples' body that was found and that it was Robert Mohler that placed the body where it was found, they should find the defendant guilty. If, however, the jury had any doubt about the body being that of Maples, or even so, if there was any doubt that Robert Mohler was not with Maples on his last fatal trip, the defendant should be given the benefit of the doubt and acquitted.

Circumstantial Evidence.
The court dwelt at great length on the credibility of circumstantial evidence. Judge Hill likewise instructed the jury on the difference between murder and manslaughter and the various degrees of homicide. It was pointed out that the jurors had the privilege of recommending the length of punishment, should they convict Mohler. He could be sentenced to die, or given an indeterminate term in the penitentiary.

JURY DECLARES MOHLER KILLED HUGH MAPLES

Defendant Receives Verdict
Without Showing Emotion;
Attorneys Will Appeal.

Robert Mohler was found guilty of the murder of Hugh Maples, as charged in the indictment, and punishment at death was assessed by the jury at midnight. The jury at 11:30 sent word to Judge E. A. Hill that a verdict was ready.

The defendant gave the jury a stony stare during the reading of the verdict. The only movement of his body was in twirling his fingers nervously, while the court polled the jury on its findings.

Judge Hill gave attorneys for the defense until Tuesday at midnight to prepare a motion for a new trial. His court term ends at midnight Sunday, so a two-day extension was granted the defense.

The 12 jurors who returned the verdict are:

J. D. Wheat, Wm. N. McDonald, G. W. Clegg, W. M. Wood, E. M. Kyle, C. E. Hathcock, R. W. Zeibr, E. L. Amis, E. D. Myers, V. A. Martin, John Cope and D. C. Jordan.

The fate of Robert Mohler, day laborer and cotton picker, charged with slaying Hugh Maples, service car operator and rural mail carrier, last night rested with the jury.

When bedtime came to Eastland, after the usual busy Saturday night, the smoke of battle had all cleared away, the opposing lawyers had done their best, the court had breathed a sigh of relief, heartfelt, and "State of Texas vs. Robert Mohler" rested with "12 good men and true," on the knees of the gods. Surfeited with a whole day of forensic oratory, the curious crowd melted away early in the evening and, as it was considered unlikely that the jury would reach an immediate agreement, there was little interest around the courtroom last night.

A quick agreement was not indicated, but it was arranged that Judge E. A. Hill, of the Eighty-eighth district court, the various lawyers and the prisoner should be available all day Sunday, so that if the jury wanted to report, there would be no delay. The machinery of the law was prepared for any eventuality, a quick verdict either way, a long delay, or a hung jury.

It was a day of overwhelming oratory for the crowded little courtroom, that for a whole week had watched the unfolding of the grim drama of life and death. Throughout the whole afternoon lawyers "volleyed and thundered," the first trying to send Robert Mohler to the electric chair or the penitentiary, others trying to set him free to rejoin the wife and son who had stuck closely to him during the long ordeal.

Shortly after 11 o'clock, Judge Hill took his seat and the jurors were brought in. The judge then delivered the usual instructions, telling the jurors that they must satisfy themselves beyond any reasonable doubt, before making up their minds. THE LAWYER'S QUESTION:
 —Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?

JOIN THE RED CROSS.
 Urging church people throughout the country to join the Red Cross during the annual roll call, which begins on Armistice day, the commission on international justice and goodwill of the Federal Council of Churches declares that the foreign activities of the American Red Cross have been a long step towards international co-operation and friendship and for the abolition of war.

In its statement the commission points out that mankind will never reach the millenium at a bound, but only by the steady march of millions of intelligent, noble-minded and consecrated men and women who daily take the next step in the building of an orderly, friendly and co-operative world system.

The statement says in part: "The day, Nov. 11, 1918, calls to mind the hysterical joy that swept the nations when wireless and cable messages informed us that the armistice was signed and our millions of boys were no longer to be exposed to sudden death. What hopes and expectations then lit up all our horizons. The 'Great war' was ended, and millions hoped that 'war was to be no more.' "But five weary years have passed and those visions and hopes have been fading away. They are now often sneered at and preparations for war more dreadful and destructive go on apace. Armistice day has been losing its significance as the years have passed.

"Friday, Nov. 11, 1921, was significant in America as the day for the opening of the conference on limitation of armament, which day was also chosen for the memorial service to the unknown soldier, and the dedication of the national monument in his honor. Simultaneous services to the nation's unnamed heroes were held that day in all the principal cities and churches of America. By miracles of science, the voice of the president delivering the memorial address in Washington was heard by hundreds of thousands in the chief cities from coast to coast; They also joined with him in the Lord's prayer and sang together with the great throng at Washington, America's most popular hymn—"America." And throughout the land, at noon, for two full minutes the nation kept silence in memory of those who had suffered and died for us in the Great war. That was a wonderful day. And Nov. 11 bids fair to be long remembered as the Unknown Soldier's day.

"The American Red Cross is a great national institution in whose splendid activities American may take justifiable satisfaction. Its immediate response to the appeal of Japan's appalling calamity is only the most recent example of its splendid activities. This practical expression of the Christian spirit of our entire people, made possible by the Red Cross and its numerous chapters, has already produced both in Japan and here a new spirit of mutual friendship and goodwill that will not easily be forgotten. The annual roll call for members, new and old, begins this year on Armistice day. It is hoped that last year's membership of 4,123,600 may be doubled.

"The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America believes that the designation of Nov. 11, 1923, as World Court Sunday conflicts with none of the interests named above, but rather harmonizes with and enhances them. It therefore earnestly urged all pastors and Christian leaders to use the day in all its rich relationships and interests, culminating in the practical issue of doing something concrete, high and noble for the benefit of the nation and the world.

"Mankind will never reach the millenium at a bound, but only by the steady march of millions of intelligent, noble-minded and consecrated men and women who daily take the next step in the building of an orderly, friendly and co-operative world system.

fixed the hours for summing up and the state led off before the noon recess. Elzo Been, of Eastland, was the first speaker for the prosecution. He made a powerful and convincing plea, talking to the jurors in a homely, man-to-man fashion that carried weight. Been reviewed the evidence in detail, tracing the alleged movements of Robert Mohler as established both by the state and defense by reliable witnesses. He connected Mohler and Hugh Maples in the last fatal automobile trip and brought out all the strong points of the state's case.

Defense Is Heard.
 Noon recess was declared, and when court reconvened for the afternoon, T. J. Cunningham opened for the defense. He reviewed the same circumstantial evidence as did Been, but he put the defense's construction on the known facts and made a fine case for Mohler. Cunningham attempted no wild flights of bombast, but talked to the jurors in a conversational tone that made a good impression.

County Attorney W. J. Barnes, head of the state's legal forces, followed Cunningham, summing up for the prosecution. He made a powerful arraignment of Mohler and slayed the whole court room with his eloquence.

Judge B. D. Shropshire closed for the defense with a masterly address. His keen legal mind attacked the state's case from every angle and he made a convincing plea for his client. He dwelt on the straightforward story told by Robert Mohler which was corroborated by the wife and son. He called attention to the open and unafraid bearing of the defendant while under fire. He bore down heavily on the testimony involving Clyde Mohler, the brother, and carried the audience with him throughout his summing up.

Burkett Closes For State.
 The closing argument for the state was presented by Senator Joe Burkett, who acted as a special prosecutor in the case. Burkett made one of the best speeches of his career. He brought into play all the force and fire that has won his reputation both as a lawyer and an orator. He "burned up" Mohler with telling phrases and made the evidence look black for the defendant. For more than an hour Burkett moved the jury and the large throng that packed the court room and held them spell-bound.

Then it was all over. There was an audible sigh and shuffling of feet all over the room when Burkett sat down. The judge straightened up in his chair and gave final instructions for the care of the jurors during their deliberations. The twelve men filed out with the deputy sheriffs and Mohler's future was in the balance.

The defendant and his wife, who was with him in the court room throughout the long trial, showed the effects of the strain. Both relaxed with fatigue as the jurors filed out and slumped down in their chairs.

The last day of the hearing brought a motley throng to the court room. There were more women present than at any previous time. It being Saturday and a school holiday, there were more children in evidence than on other days. There were many babies with their mothers in the room and every little bit, a crying child could be heard, following quickly by a mother leaving the room. The final chapter of the trial had more the appearance of a matinee or a social function than a grim matter of life and death.

Review of Case.
 The trial of Robert Mohler for the slaying of Hugh Maples, which began last Monday morning in the eighty-eighth district court, possessed many strange and amazing features. Maples, a one-armed man, who carried a rural route out of Cisco and used his automobile as a service car between times, disappeared in August, 1922, after he had gone on a trip for hire with Mohler.

In March, 1923, the body of Maples was found in a shallow grave in Coryell county, not far from the home of Clyde Mohler, brother of Robert. On the circumstantial evidence that Maples was last seen alive in company with Robert Mohler, the latter was sought all over Texas and parts of Oklahoma for several months and he finally was arrested last August, just a year after the alleged killing.

Robert Mohler was accused because it was alleged by a witness that he was seen in company with Maples in a new Ford car belonging to the rural carrier and that Mohler afterward was seen in possession of the car.

Story of Defense

Briefly, the story of Maples, as set up by the defense, was that Mohler had become separated from his family in his long search for work and after he had obtained promise of employment at De Leon, he engaged Maples to drive him in his new car, to pick up his wife and son. Mrs. Mohler and the boy were not where Mohler thought they would be and he persuaded Maples to carry him to Comanche.

On the way, they visited the farm home of Clyde Mohler, brother of Robert, and there Robert Mohler bought the car from Maples, paying him $520 in $10 bills. According to his story, he left Maples at the Clyde Mohler farm with the understanding that Clyde would drive the rural carrier to a nearby town where he could take train for Cisco. That was the last that Robert Mohler saw of Maples he swore.

Clyde Steps In
 Afterward, he was joined by Mrs. Mohler and the boy, Archie, and they were bound for Cisco, in the new car, to arrange the sale papers for the Ford, when they were intercepted in the road by Clyde. The brother warned Robert not to go to Cisco, that Cisco was a good place to go if he wanted to get in the penitentiary. Clyde Mohler, according to the defense evidence, warned Robert that he, Clyde, had "planted" Hugh Maples "so deep he would never return to Cisco."

It was therefore the inference left by the defense, though there was no direct testimony, that Maples was killed for the $520 he got for his car, after Robert Mohler had parted with him. Also the impression was conveyed that Clyde Mohler was the last person to see Maples alive. Robert Mohler declared he knew nothing of the finding of Maples' body until he was arrested.

On the other hand, Clyde Mohler who was a witness called by the state, swore that he did not see Hugh Maples at all, that Robert Mohler was alone with the new car when he came to Clyde's home. The brother sought to create the impression that if Maples started out with Robert, he had been killed and his body disposed of before Robert got to Clyde's place. Thus the dramatic interest in the rather sordid case rested on the "brother vs. brother" feature and when Mrs. Robert Mohler and Archie corroborated their husband and father, it made the murder trial a sort of family controversy.

Slip of the Tongue.
 Robert Mohler, after a full day on the witness stand, closed his case in the shadows of dusk, late Friday, with a flat denial that he killed Hugh Maples, Cisco rural mail carrier and service car man.

It was 9:15 a. m. when Mohler, apparently cheerful and confident, with no trace of nervousness, took the witness stand in his own behalf, to face the direct examination of B. D. Shropshire, of defense counsel. With a brief respite at noon, the accused man testified steadily until 2:15 p. m. At that hour, the defense turned Mohler over to the state for cross-examination and Senator Joe Burkett, appearing as a special prosecutor, kept the witness in hand until 5:20 p. m. A bit more than eight hours the defendant was under grilling examination and cross-examination, but he kept his head through it all and never seemed to hesitate.

Only once was there any hesitation in Mohler's testimony. That was when he was telling of arriving at the home of Clyde Mohler, his brother.

"When I stopped the car—" Mohler said.

"When who stopped the car?" Judge Shropshire interrupted.

"When Maples stopped the car," Mohler amended, "Clyde was waiting for us out on the hill."

All the attorneys for the state were on their feet instantly, clamoring their objections. Mohler's amended answer, though, was allowed to stand.

State Claims Admission.
 Whatever the significance of his remark, the state tried to make it out to be an important admission, that Mohler was driving the Ford car that has played such a big part in the trial. The defense, on the other hand, viewed the statement as merely a slip of the tongue and refused to dignify it with any seriousness.

After corroborating the testimony of his wife and son, Archie, that his brother Clyde had turned them back on the road with the statement that he had "planted" Hugh Maples so that he would never return to Cisco, Mohler closed his direct testimony with the flat statement that he had nothing to do with the slaying of Maples.

His cross-examination at the hands of Burkett also concluded with a similar solemn disavowal.

"Turn and face that jury and tell them whether you did or did not kill Hugh Maples," was the final words of Judge Shropshire, conducting the examination.

"I did not, gentlemen," Mohler said earnestly and in a clear voice, rising to his feet. "I am absolutely not guilty of the crime."

"State to this jury that everything you have said here is the truth."

"Before God, I've told you the truth," was Mohler's last word of direct testimony.

Tells of Buying Car.
 The examination of the cross-questioning of the defendant carried him back and forth over a large part of Texas. He was told to tell of his movements through late July and early August, 1922, the time when Maples disappeared. He told of all the towns he visited, of the movements of his wife and son, of meeting with Clyde Mohler, of buying an automobile for $85, which was said to be a stolen car.

He was clear and accurate in all his answers and his story, up to the meeting with Maples, coincided with the evidence previously adduced by the prosecution.

He described how he bought the new Ford of Maples for $520, paying for it with $10 bills and left the inference, the backbone of the defense, that Maples was killed after Robert Mohler last saw him, for the purpose of obtaining the $520 he was known to have on him.

"When you reached that sand bed in the road from Carbon to Gorman, didn't you get out and push the car?" was the windup of Senator Burkett's cross-examination.

"Didn't you climb on the running board and knock Hugh Maples in the head? And didn't you get that wire and double up the wire and put it in the bottom of that car and cover it with that quilt?"

"Absolutely not, Judge Burkett, absolutely not," Mohler answered.

"Don't you know you have fabricated this whole story and laid this awful crime on your brother, to escape the penitentiary or death?"

"I absolutely did not."

That closed the testimony of Robert Mohler, the dramatic climax of the long drawn out trial. It was a tense moment and the crowd was visibly impressed.

After the state had introduced some minor rebuttal testimony, both sides rested and Judge Hill announced a recess until Saturday when he would instruct the jury and fix the time for arguments.

fight in regard to commissioners and their expenditures of public funds, he feels that the citizens of Eastland county are entitled to know all the facts with reference to the economical investigation which the grand jury recently made of county funds in Eastland county.

Neglect Auditor's Report
 "An auditor has just completed itemizing the total expenditure of the $4,500,000 good road bonds of Eastland county. This auditor's report was supplied to the grand jury and the auditor making the same was within four hours travel of the court house. The report lay on the desk of the grand jury at least two days. We wish to state some items which are on the front pages of this report. We feel that the public is entitled to know these facts, and since the grand jury criticized the present commissioners, the author also feels that the public is entitled to know that the grand jury was in possession of this report wherewith the writer of this article submits a few of these items, to-wit:

"The old commissioners' court paid Fleming & Stitzer Road company $36,388.49 for bond sales, legal, etc. This was in the final estimate with Fleming & Stitzer Road Building company, and is the exact amount which Fleming & Stitzer owed the county at that time. It is rather singular occurrence that the figures happened to balance to a cent. It is also interesting because the order states it is for bond sales, legal, etc., when in the original contract the Fleming & Stitzer Road Building company became the purchaser of all the bonds.

"The old commissioners' court paid the Illinois Steel and Bridge company $14,000 for steel for which to build bridges and in a later estimate they paid Fleming & Stitzer Road Building company for the same steel all over again, according to this audit report."

Discount on Bonds
 "The old commissioners' court paid an item of discount for bonds sold amounting to $64,160. This possibly was to have been deducted from the final estimates, but it never was, according to said report.

"This report shows that the Fleming & Stitzer Road Building company or Smith Brothers, still owe Eastland county $13,049.50 on the road script account.

"The old commissioners' court paid a little item in the auditor's report, which was in possession of the grand jury, but the writer cannot find anything in the grand jury report which even touched on these little measly items. They were very careful however, to reprimand the present commissioners for their extravagance.

Acceptance of Roads
 "There is another little item which the grand jury must have overlooked. The old commissioners' court before they went out of office, December 29, 1922, accepted all roads as completed in Eastland county with the exception of the Bankhead, which is a state aid project, and released the contractors and their bondsmen from further liability. The public knows full well whether these roads are properly completed.

"Three of these same members which served on the recent grand jury served on prior grand juries during the old administration. Two members of the recent grand jury served on two grand juries during the administration of the old commissioners' court, but so far as the writer has been able to learn no grand jury ever hinted any criticism of the former commissioners' court.

"The writer of this article respectfully and sincerely submits these facts and figures that the public may know the full truth.

"Respectfully submitted,
 "E. S. PRITCHARD,
 "County Judge."

Justice of Peace In Harris County Faces Indictment

HOUSTON, Nov. 3.—Alleging that a shocking condition exists in Harris county and that money deposited for bonds in justice of the peace courts is forfeited and divided among officers of the court when the defendants fail to appear for trial, a grand jury here today returned an indictment against W. M. Williams, justice of the peace, charging extortion in connection with accepting over-charges on fines. The indictment is the outgrowth of an extended investigation into alleged irregularities in the justice's office. The charge is a felony and conviction would carry penalty of from two to five years.

The grand jury also charges that in some sections of the county automobile drivers have been held up with firearms and charged with offenses they did not commit. They were then given the alternative of paying fines ranging from $15 to $50 or spending a night in jail, the report alleges.

District Attorney John B. Smith was scored by the report in connection with liquor law violations. He was accused of blinking at violations of the law which he repeatedly declared to be prevalent.

WALTON MUST STAND TRIAL ON CHARGES MADE BY HOUSE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 3.—J. C. Walton, suspended governor of Oklahoma, will face trial Nov. 8 upon the full number of indictments brought by the house of representatives. The date for the actual opening of the trial was set here last night at the completion of the balloting by the court of impeachment upon demurrers filed by the defense. All demurrers were voted down.

The defense has until 1:30 o'clock, Nov. 7, when Walton must enter his pleadings to the impeachment charges. The trial will begin one day later.

BAVARIAN GOVERNMENT THREATENS TO DIRECT ATTACK ON BERLIN

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—The Bavarian government, it has been learned authoritatively, has sent a letter to Chancellor Stresemann, demanding the creation of a dictatorship for the Reich, based on the Bavarian model. The letter says that unless such a dictatorship is established in Berlin forthwith, the Bavarian government intends to send the troops now concentrated on the frontier against the capital.

Steel Structures Shrink When Cold Contracts Metal

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Towering steel structures in New York will be approximately one and a half inches shorter this winter than they were in August. The shrinkage of the skyscrapers will not be noticeable to Gothamites, nor to the residents of other cities where the change is already taking place, but to the structural and technical engineers of steel the fact will be known in figures.

"Because of the expanding and contracting of the steel of large buildings it is important that the mass of the building be kept as near a uniform temperature as possible, to prevent the steel from contracting and expanding within minimum limits," said Mr. Coley. "The limas are probably 85 degrees on the hottest summer day and 68 degrees on a cold winter's day, where the building is adequately heated.

"Should the buildings be allowed to cool off on Sundays and holidays to a temperature of 40 or 50 degrees it can be seen that the contraction would be much more marked and the bulging of much more marked and the bulging off of plaster would be excessive. Generally it can be assumed that the temperature variation in the buildings is about 25 degrees. In a building such as the Equitable which is 600 feet from roof to sub-basement, the expansion between 60 and 85 degrees would be 1.2 inches, which variation must be followed up by brick work, plaster, verticle piping, elevator guide rails, etc."

If the buildings should ever be allowed to cool to the freezing point the contraction of the Woolworth building would be 3.2 inches; the Metropolitan building would shorten 3 inches and the Equitable building would be 2.6 inches shorter than the normal height in mid-summer, the statistics reveal.

Adjustable window shelves for flower pots have been placed on the market.

Turkey sent 34,959 pairs of slippers to the United States last August.

STARKEY'S THIRD TRIAL TO BEGIN IN BROWNWOOD, MONDAY

Monday morning, in the Brown county district court, at Brownwood, L. J. Starkey will be placed on trial for the killing of "Pet" Brown, wrestler and road contractor. Brown was killed last May, near Cisco, in an altercation with Starkey, who was a constable.

Starkey was twice tried in district court at Eastland and on each occasion a hung jury and mistrial resulted. The case was then sent to Brown county on a change of venue.

A special venire of 187 men had been summoned from which to obtain a jury and the trial will attract considerable attention. Many Eastland county people will attend as witnesses and many more will go to look on.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS HOW THEY ARE ALLOTTED

Although most everyone knows that Rhodes Scholarships exist and are used regularly by aspiring students, enough time has elapsed since they were founded, for the younger generation not to know how they operate and how they came about. The late Cecil John Rhodes, founder of Great Britain's South African empire, left at his death a fund providing for a course at Oxford university for American and other young men, in belief that this would lead to a closer understanding between Americans and Englishmen. Two scholarships are open to each state in the union and the holder of each is entitled to an income of 300 pounds sterling per year for three years.

FILIPINO FOUND GUILTY OF MURDERING NURSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Eulogia Lozado, Filipino, who has been on trial here for 10 days on a charge of murdering Blossom Martin, a nurse, on June 8, today was found guilty of murder in the first degree.

Lozado was charged with having strangled the girl and was arrested as he was about to throw her body from a ferry boat.

SEPARATISTS DRIVEN BY BELGIAN SOLDIERS FROM AIX-LA-CHAPELLE

BERIN, Nov. 3.—German separatists in Aix la Chapelle were being kept down today by the menace of Belgian bayonets. Belgian soldiers intervened after the separatists had seized the city hall yesterday, suppressed the uprising and drove many of the rebels out of town. The separatists were disarmed and the leaders conveyed to some place unknown.

Sharp fighting ensued before some of the rebels were dislodged. Two of the separatists were literally cut to death in the hand to hand struggle. Several Germans on both sides were wounded.

The populace who opposed the revolt gathered before the British consulate, giving the British credit for delivering them from the rebels. A British colonel was raised to the shoulders of some in the crowd and borne in triumph through the streets.

It was the Belgian high commissioner, however, who ordered the rebellion put down. He commanded that all rioters be disarmed and banished from the town by 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the Belgian troops went to work with a will to carry out the order.

FRANCE DISPOSED TO MODIFY RESTRICTIONS ON REPARATIONS STUDY

PARIS, Nov. 3.—"We are trying to reach an accord upon the terms of the invitation to be extended to the United States," Premier Poincare said today after a conference with the British ambassador. Poincare also conferred with the American ambassador, Myron T. Herrick, but the premier asserted this was merely a social call.

No official word has come regarding the attitude of Washington, following Poincare's speech at Nevers, wherein he announced the French refusal to change the policy towards Germany, but Poincare said today that stipulations in that address would merely limit the work of the experts within the bounds of the Versailles treaty.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, called on Premier Poincare this morning and had a long conference, regarding which the strictest secrecy has been maintained, both at the American embassy and the French foreign office.

TEXAS A. & M. AND BAYLOR PLAY A SCORELESS GAME

WACO, Nov. 3.—The annual Texas A. & M. and Baylor football game was a scoreless affair here today in a cold, chilling wind, which blew across the field. The Aggies plunged through the Baylor line near the end of the last period but it was too late and the whistle blew with a touchdown threatening.

NEW SUITS IN EASTLAND COUNTY DISTRICT COURTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—"I am terribly sorry to leave. My heart is George, former British premier, emtoo full and I cannot say any more."

With these words, David Lloyd George barked today on the White Star liner, Majestic, after one of the most remarkable tours ever made in the United States by a public man.

An expected demonstration at the pier by Sinn Feiners did not materialize. Lloyd George, unattended, walked up the gang plank, accompanied by his wife and daughter. The steamer left at 12:15 o'clock.

GERMANY VALUES MARK FOUR TIMES ITS VALUE NEW YORK APPRAISAL

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—The New York appraisal of the mark on a basis of one and two-thirds trillion to the dollar moved Chancellor Stresemann to convoke a midnight session of his cabinet, at which several emergency ordinances were proclaimed to forestall a similar collapse of the mark in Berlin. The government will permit payments to be made in foreign currency, but the official rate must be observed. The official rate has been fixed at 420 billion marks to the dollar.

The paper mark will still rank as the official currency and its acceptance as such has been made obligatory.

RANGER EQUALIZATION TAX BOARD TO MEET

Selection of a city equalization tax board will be made Tuesday at the regular meeting of the city commission, Mayor R. H. Hodges said today. This board will iron out any differences that may exist on renditions between the city and property owner.

The rate for the city will be fixed shortly, the mayor said. He didn't know what it would be, but ventured the opinion that it may not be changed. The present tax rate is $2.

KANSAS CITY BANK CLOSES DOORS, DUE TO BAD LOANS

HOUGHTON AND RAINEY SIGNED FOR RETURN GO

"Dutch" Caldwell and Abilene Fighter Will Probably Be on Lions' Fight Program.

J. H. (Shorty) Houghton and Pirtle Rainey, local boxers, will meet in a return match Armistice night at the Liberty theatre under the auspices of the Ranger Lions club. This fight and another match between two out-of-town boxers, one of the principals being "Dutch" Caldwell of Dublin, is being arranged, J. M. White, chairman of the club's athletic committee, said Saturday.

Caldwell's opponent has not been definitely decided upon, although an Abilene man in light heavyweight class is being considered. White expects to make announcement Monday of the principals in the main go. Friends of Houghton and Rainey are expressing themselves as pleased to see the two boys go to it again. Followers of both men say the result of the last meeting between the two men was not clean cut enough to give either man a nice margin. There was no referee's decision in accordance with the state boxing laws, but many believe that Rainey because of his forcing the fight had the shade.

Houghton and Rainey are working out daily for the fight. Ringside tickets will be placed on sale early this week.

Cleburne Will Play Strawn For a $900 Guarantee Nov. 12

Strawn and Cleburne will clash in an Armistice day game at Strawn. Strawn, according to a newspaper story, is paying the Cleburne High school authorities $900 for the appearance of the team in her town on Nov. 12.

Strawn Hi gridders were signed up to go to Cleburne, but the men backing the Strawn Community fair objected to having the football team away during this event. Cleburne was asked to come to Strawn instead, which she agreed to do for $1,000. This sum was finally pulled down to $900. Strawn was to get $450 for the game at Cleburne.

Four Years Ago In Ranger

Taken from the files of the Ranger Daily Times, Nov. 3, 1919: Felipe Alvarez, an 18-year-old Mexican, employed by the Prairie Oil & Gas company, met instant death about 7 o'clock Sunday morning when he came into contact with a 2,300-voltage wire. Activity in real estate has been greatly stimulated by two or three days of moderately good weather and the boom on suburban property, which was in full swing before the recent rains, appears to be under way again.

RANGER DEFEATS COMANCHE

(Continued from page 1.) and Mason engaged in a kicking duel in this period as in the second. It was in the beginning of the third period that the Ranger defense began to shine. Shell twice in succession brought first Johnson and then Stephens down behind the Comanche line. The athletes were downed before they were moving. Mason got the next call and he gained slightly and on the fourth down punted, so much was the opposition.

Collins and Wilson had an effective interference. Comanche made her two points Ford Shell shot one too high apparently for Quarterback Ted Rummage and the ball rolled 25 yards to the Ranger goal line and counted for a safety. It was all an accident that Comanche was able to escape a shut-out.

The lineup:

Ranger (3)	Comanche (2)
Collins	Woodward
Lonsdale	Moody
Gullahorn	Tate
Shell	Auson Boyd
Williams	Mahefey
Althausen	Sullivan
Wilson	Mackey
Rummage	Dillard
G. Zarafonitis	Johnson
J. Zarafonitis	Stephens
Yonkers	Mason

Score by periods:

Ranger	0003-3
Comanche	0020-2

Substitutions: Ranger, Thomas for Althausen; Comanche, Claude Boyd for Mason, Ringwald for Mackey, Clayton for Moody.

Ranger scoring: Yonkers—field goal. Comanche, safety.

Officials: Kuhn, Simmons, referee, Webb, Texas A. & M., umpire, Dykes, head linesman.

Secretary Briggs Of Eastland C. of C. Begins New Duties

George W. Briggs, the new secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, is on the job. He spent Saturday among the merchants and business men, getting acquainted. He received the appointment several weeks ago, but only last week was able to arrange his business affairs so that he could come to his new field.

The new secretary comes to Eastland from Lubbock and is thoroughly familiar with the life and needs of West Texas. Previous to obtaining the Eastland secretaryship, Briggs was manager of the Lubbock fair, but prior to taking up that work, he had considerable experience as a commercial secretary.

Briggs, for the present, is making his home in a hotel, but he will become a permanent resident of Eastland as soon as he can find a home for his wife and family, who are now in Lubbock. On his arrival here he was warmly welcomed by the members of the Chamber of commerce and given a glad hand all around.

ROY GIBSON SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR LIFE

By United Press. ORANGE, Nov. 3.—Roy Gibbons, formerly of Houston, was sentenced to life imprisonment by a jury late today, which found him guilty of murder of L. H. Moreland here on Aug. 20. The jury was out but 15 minutes. Immediately after return of the verdict, the grand jury indicted Gibbons' wife, Mrs. Ada Gibbons, for the same crime. Gibbons declared that he killed Moreland because of an alleged insult to his wife. He received the verdict calmly.

SANDE, WHO RODE ZEV TO VICTORY, "MOSTLY FEET" WHEN A BOY

DALLAS, Nov. 4.—When Earle Sande rode Zev to victory over Papyrus, the English contender, several days ago, his success was watched with satisfaction by Judge P. D. Crawford who witnessed the first contract signed by Sande.

Judge Crawford, while an attorney at Louisville, was asked by Johnnie Paul, well known racing man, to witness the signing of an agreement with a boy "mostly feet," said the judge in describing the incident. The contract called for a salary of $20 a month for the first year, $50 a month for the second year and $100 a month for the third year providing the boy showed any ability. Sande's mother was on hand as the boy was only 15.

At the end of the second year Paul sold his rights in the contract at a $5,000 profit. Judge Crawford said that bet then were placed on Sande and not on the horse that ran.

ST. RITA'S ALTAR SOCIETY PLANS DINNER.

Arrangements for the dinner to be given in the new St. Rita's parish school auditorium next Saturday evening, the first affair of any sort in the handsome structure, were practically completed last Monday when the parish altar society met at the McElroy apartments with Mrs. Tom Smith and Mrs. E. O. Nentwig. No carnival will be held as originally planned, but a dinner to be preceded by bridge and hearts, is being arranged.

The society will meet next Thursday at the home of Mrs. H. J. Mendenhall.

The spacious corridor of the McElroy apartment building was tastefully decorated last Tuesday with yellow and black festoons, which curled back and forth across the corridor. Decorative effects and symbols of the eve of Halloween were in the stairway and the front of the corridor. From a brightly colored booth, formerly used as the apartment-hotel office, drinks were served. These attended:

Mmes. C. N. Ochiltree, R. R. Steward, C. M. Fouts, H. J. Mendenhall, Anna Barman, F. G. Yonkers, J. F. Cleveland, Charles Dyar, W. W. Wood, C. A. Conley, Pat O'Neil, J. D. Sullivan, F. A. Higginbotham.

STANLEY DUDLEY WEDDING AT AMARILLO.

A marriage of interest to many friends in Ranger is that of Miss Ruth Stanley, sister of Mrs. Marvin K. Collie, to Mr. A. S. Dudley of Amarillo, which took place in that city last Wednesday.

The ceremony was performed at 4:30 in the afternoon at the First Baptist church, by Rev. A. G. Virgin, pastor of the church. Mrs. Collie was matron of honor, little M. K. Collie Jr., was pillow bearer and the bridesmaids were Miss Josephine First of Dallas, and Miss Mary Ware Nobles of Amarillo. Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Stanley, the young couple left for New Orleans on their bridal trip.

The bride has visited in Ranger and has many friends here who send every good wish for happiness.

METHODIST AUXILIARIES DISCUSS CENTENARY DRIVE

The recent convention held in the Methodist tabernacle by the presidents of the Methodist auxiliaries in the Cisco district, and called by the district secretary, Mrs. O. F. Sensabaugh, was attended by a representative gathering despite the rainy day, and chill of fall.

The Southern Methodist church is putting on a centenary drive, or "pay out campaign," to redeem the pledges made five years ago, when the southern church, pledged $35,000,000 for foreign missions, half of which approximately has been paid. December and January have been appointed the months for this campaign. The auxiliaries or mission societies of the church have been urged to take up the work, and induce the subscribers to pay up the promises of the drive of five years ago. The cultural drive also will be pushed, literature distributed, and programs for the proposed pay out campaign for the two months be advantageously placed.

Present at the meeting in Eastland were, Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Sensabaugh, Rev. Mr. Hilburn of Fort Worth, who is chairman of conference of missionary committees; Rev. and Mrs. H. L. HALLOWEEN PARTY AT STALCUP HOME

The attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stalcup, South Seaman street, was aglow with lights shining through bright lanterns and rays streaming in hospitality from the windows, the draperies touched here and there with Halloween emblems of witches and cats, and daodes of Halloween designs artistically tracing the window and door ledges, and used with flowers on the piano and mantel pieces.

The little honor guest, Miss Nell McConnell, niece of Mr. Stalcup, was a charming small hostess, assisting Mrs. Stalcup in entertaining the happy little people. Delightful music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williamson, piano and saxophone. Dancing was enjoyed after the many Halloween games, climaxed by the pinning of the "Tail on the Donkey" by the blindfolded children.

A handsome box of candy was presented the winner, Miss Virginia Neal Little, and the pumpkin candle holder

Assisting them was Miss Betty Weaver of Fort Worth, the sister of Mrs. A. W. Spears. The spacious lounge room of the club was fragrant with clusters of pink roses, and beautified with many potted plants, arranged on the wide mantel, topping the bookcases, and scattered here and there on pedestals throughout the ballroom, where sixteen tables were arranged for bridge, and several for refreshments.

At close of the delightful afternoon, individual ice cream molds of pink roses, with angel food squares, iced in pink; cocoanut macaroons, mints in the color scheme of pink and white, coffee, and salted pecans in individual guest favors of roses in the color motif, were served by the hostess, assisted by several maids.

High score favor, a luncheon cloth and napkins, was awarded Mrs. Ford Alcus of Waco. A dainty boudoir pillow, the cut favor, fell to Mrs. Tom Woods. Four individual mint dishes, second high favor, were awarded Miss Cecile Haas. Miss Mae Claire Harrison was consoled for low score by a hand-made ribbon novelty.

Faith in Old Saying

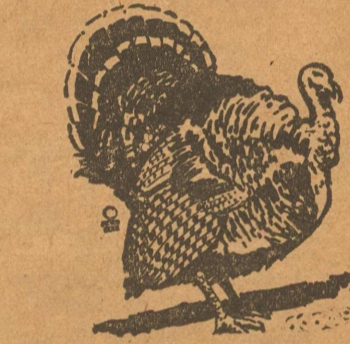

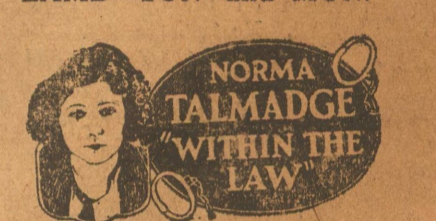

Although the cities of Holland are constantly in danger of being conquered by the sea, should a dike break and not be repaired quickly, the inhabitants still cling hopefully to the famed saying of Louis XIV: "Have no fear of Amsterdam. I firmly believe Providence will save her because of her benevolence to the poor."

LYTTON TAYLOR GATHERS LEGAL MEN TOGETHER

Entertains Members of Ranger Bar and Some Eastland Lawyers at Mexican Supper.

The Ranger Bar association together with a number of Eastland lawyers, enjoyed a unique entertainment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lytton R. Taylor on Strawn road Friday night. The entertainment lasted till well into the night and much merriment was caused by the various experiences of the different attorneys present.

Place cards bore pen-sketched Mexican sombreros. The three-course supper consisted of enchiladas, chili con-carne, frijoles, jelly, sliced pineapples, wafers and coffee. The host served as toastmaster and as all the guests were lawyers, each made a speech. Judge George L. Davenport led off by a discussion of the subject, "My Experience as a Young Lawyer." Judge Davenport stated that he was the first lawyer to come to Ranger many years ago and that there were no other lawyers here on clients. He further stated that the first time he went to the county seat in Eastland he went on a car. However, the car was a hand-car and traveled on the Texas & Pacific railroad. He told many amusing incidents of his early practice and courtroom incidents.

Has An Alibi.

Corporation Judge L. H. Flewelling then discussed the subject of "My First and Last Race for County Attorney." Judge Flewelling explained to the lawyers present why it was that he was not elected. His witty remarks caused much amusement.

Judge Funderburk of Eastland discussed "Reforms in Judicial Procedure." He paid a high tribute to the judicial procedure of Texas and especially the jury system. He explained that our procedure, while not perfect, had been built up by human experience during many centuries and that many reforms advocated today are a mirage. Judge Funderburk's address was highly appreciated by all those present.

The dean of the Ranger bar, Judge A. E. Firmin, delivered an address on "The World Court." He opened his remarks by stating that he had practiced law in Texas for a period of 33 years and heartily endorsed the stand taken by Judge Funderburk. The speaker discussed the history of the world court movement and stated that the peace of the world is not maintained by armies but by just laws administered by honest lawyers and capable judges. He further stated that in his opinion the greatest task before the American bar is the solving of this great undertaking.

Republican Speaks Up.

L. V. Dodson discussed the subject, "How It Feels to Be a Republican in the State of Texas." Mr. Owen discussed a classical question entitled "Mutt & Jeff." Other speakers were Captain Overson, Attorney Gib Calloway, Judge Adamson, City Attorney M. T. Lyman, Mr. Sam K. Wasaff and Mr. L. R. Pearson.

Place cards were laid for the following guests: Judges George L. Davenport, Funderburk, Firmin, Calloway, Chastain, Dodson, Owen, Overson, Adamson, Flewelling, Lyman, Wasaff, Pearson, Key, Jones, Dudley, Judkins, Hill, Burkett, Barnes, Conner, McRae, Hubbard, Earl Taylor and Lytton R. Taylor.

Members of the Ranger bar have decided to have similar meetings where they can congregate and discuss the various problems confronting the Eastland county bar. Resolutions were passed thanking Mr. and Mrs. Taylor for their hospitality.

COMMISSIONERS NOT AUTHORIZED TO EMPLOY SPECIAL TAX COLLECTOR

By United Press

AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—County commissioners are not authorized to employ anyone to collect delinquent taxes under the prosecution of the Bonham delinquent tax law or any other law, the attorney general's department has ruled in answer to a request for interpretation of the law from the commissioners' court of Wichita county.

The commissioners there employed a man to collect delinquent taxes due since 1883 on the commission basis. The attorney general's department ruling declared there was no law in this state which allows such procedure. The state legal department also held that certain parts of the Bonham act are unconstitutional, but this question was not gone into in the reply to the Wichita commissioners.

EASTLAND LAUNDRY ROBBERY PRESENTS MYSTIFYING FEATURE

No arrests had been made up to Saturday night in connection with the robbery of the Eastland laundry, despite the fact that men from the sheriff's office and police department were running down all clues.

There was no evidence that the laundry was broken into, Paul Brown, manager, said, and therefore the authorities were inclined to believe it was an "inside job."

This was the second time the Eastland laundry has been robbed within a few months. The robbers obtained only $10 or thereabouts in loose change and completely overlooked $200 that was in a drawer of the safe.

CAUTIOUS DRIVER DIMS HIS LIGHTS WHEN MEETING CARS

Both head and tail lights should be inspected before starting out on a drive at night. It is a good plan to carry an extra headlight bulb, tail-light bulb and a fuse, for the lights may burn out at any time. To avoid danger to yourself, as well as other machines, your lights should be focused so that they do not throw their rays above four feet from the ground at any point. The cautious driver uses his dimmers when meeting other machines for many lenses that are legal throw a blinding glare when the brights lights are on.—Automobile Digest.

MILLION AND A HALF GROSS RECEIPT TAXES COLLECTED IN QUARTER

SEPARATISTS TREATED VERY HARSHLY IN AIX LA CHAPELLE

AIX LA CHAPELLE, Nov. 3.—When separatists were ordered yesterday by the Belgians to leave the city, four of them were seen to be seen scattering a separatist proclamation from the rear platform of the train as it pulled out. SIX MEN INJURED NEAR PIONEER BY EXPLOSION OF GAS Blame or the gas accident that injured six men near Pioneer had not been determined; it was stated Saturday night. The men were at work for the Humble Pipe Line company and attempted to disconnect what they believed to be a "dead" line.

It was in use, though, and filled with gas and when the connection was opened, there was an explosion and flash of fire that seriously injured W. A. Cawley and more or less scorched five others.

The injured men are being cared for at a hospital at Pioneer. Cawley is 50 years old, lives near Rising Star.

An investigation is being conducted to ascertain how it came about that the men were directed to work on a "live" pipe line.

Mayor R. H. Hodges visited the Cotton Palace at Waco last week, but the object that held his attention the longest was a painting of a village blacksmith at work in his shop. "I spent more time looking at the canvas of the smithy, viewing it from different angles, than any other spectacle the cotton show presented," said the mayor.

He said that the painter of the canvas must have made an intimate study of his subject and that he undoubtedly worked with his easel and brush right inside a blacksmith shop. "The smith looked as if he would turn right to you if you spoke to him," the mayor said.

STETSON and SCHOBLE HATS GLOBE EDWIN CLAPP SHOES

CHINA STANDS STILL DURING LAST PIG YEAR

SHANGHAI, Nov. 3.—Business conditions in China are not so good and Chinese merchants are undecided whether to blame politics or the jinx of the pig year.

The Chinese calendar is divided into cycles of 60 years. According to their reckoning, there have been 77 of these cycles since time began, dating from 2697 B. C. during the reign of Huang Ti. The cycles are divided into 12 sections of five years each and each section is known by some special designation such as the years of the sheep, the years of the cock, the years of the monkey, the stork, the pig, etc.

This happens to be the last or fifth year of the pig. The years of the pig are always bad and the last year of the pig is especially bad. In the final year of the pig the last of the Celestial stems meets the last of the terrestrial branches, to use the terms of the sages.

Nothing could happen that would surprise the average Chinese in this year. Bad as it was the Japanese earthquake did not disturb the Chinese calm.

Influenced by this old tradition Chinese merchants are buying only what they need to keep going. One Chinese banker pointed out that exports had virtually ceased and imports of foodstuffs greatly increased. Customs revenues, records show, decreased 4,000,000 taels during the first half of 1923. No improvement is shown in the spinning industry and even the mah jong business has fallen off.

On the whole the people are glum and resigned.

Zeppelins Usher In New Era of Travel, Says Rear Admiral

Fullam Declares Problem of Safe Airplane Navigation Solved in America.

In the recent successful flights of the navy dirigible ZR-1—renamed the "Shenandoah"—and in the construction in Germany of the ZR-3 for Uncle Sam, Rear Admiral W. F. Fullam, U. S. navy, retired, sees "first evidence of the coming role of monster airships in America's transportation system."

Writing in the November issue of McClure's magazine, Admiral Fullam points out that while recent spectacular feats of the airplane may have dimmed the past triumphs of the Zeppelin, yet the future will again bring the airship to the front as a vitally necessary means of transportation for long distances over land and sea.

As proof of his statement, he cites past records in the development of dirigibles. Since 1900, he says, the Germans have built and operated 125 Zeppelins with remarkable success. During the world war a German company operating five airships carried 35,000 passengers and flew 173,000 miles without accident. In 1919, the German-built "Bodensee," a 425-foot ship, made 103 flights in 100 days, covering 32,000 miles and carried 2,400 passengers.

"The allies then put a stop to German activities in this direction," says Admiral Fullam. "Had it not been for this restriction there can be no question that the Germans today would be operating Zeppelin lines all over Europe, if not over the oceans as well."

During the war British airships flew 88,000 hours, covered a distance of 2,245,000 miles—ninety complete circuits of the earth—and lost only one ship by fire. In 1918, there were only nine days when airships did not fly in Great Britain. In the record-breaking trans-Atlantic voyage of the British R-34, in July, 1919, the trip from London to New York was made in 108 hours—two days quicker than the fastest mail steamer—and this in unfavorable weather.

"All the disasters to airships have been caused by structural weakness, or by the use of hydrogen gas," says Admiral Fullam. "But engineers are discovering how to make airships still stronger, and the substitution of helium for hydrogen will make them perfectly safe, for helium will not burn."

"Inasmuch as natural gas in any considerable quantity is found only in this country, and as helium cannot be produced economically from any other source, the United States has a practical monopoly of this valuable element. Thus the problem of safe airship navigation in this country is solved."

EASTLAND RETAIL MERCHANTS TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Tuesday night, in the Chamber of Commerce will be held the regular meeting of the Retail Merchants' association of Eastland. It will be the first meeting since the highly successful membership drive was concluded, and much business of interest is to come up. Miss Marie Stevens, secretary of the growing organization urges that all members make it a point to be there.

POULTRY SHOW OFFERS PRIZES FOR PHYSICAL DISTINCTION IN THE VARIOUS CHICKEN FAMILIES

Eastland poultry enthusiasts are making great preparations to participate in the poultry section of the Eastland County Fair, to be held this week at Cisco. The exposition will open on Thursday, Nov. 8 and continue through Friday and Saturday.

R. H. Bush, county agent, who is working hard to stimulate interest in poultry raising and egg production, is doing all he can to encourage a big exhibit at the fair.

Secretary Richardson has already received a large number of entries and each mail brings the names of additional men and women who desire to compete in the exhibition of chickens and turkeys. It is already an assured fact that there will be many coops of as fine poultry as is seen at any fair. All persons entering birds in the big show must be members of the Eastland County Poultry Raisers' association, the membership fee of which is $1. This year at least the poultry entries will not be confined to Eastland county, but will be open to the world. This was done for the purpose of attracting blooded stock from all sections of the state, thereby giving prospective Eastland county poultry raisers an opportunity to familiarize themselves with all breeds. Following are the prizes offered:

TEMPLE SINGERS ARE EXCEPTIONALLY FINE IN SPLENDID PROGRAM

Those who heard the Temple singers Saturday night, in the first concert of the Dixie lyceum course, were enthusiastic in their praise and showed their appreciation of the splendid program during the evening by their hearty applause. At the close of the concert several were heard to say, "I certainly got my money's worth," or "I don't want my money back," and many congratulated Superintendent McNew on bringing such fine musicians to Ranger.

Throughout a long program, an unusually well balanced ensemble was maintained, and the beautiful voices of the quartet, which was exceedingly well accompanied by the pianist, was equally pleasing in religious selections, the lighter folk-songs or in operatic arias and quartets.

The first group was composed entirely of sacred numbers, and was sung with a dignity and repose that well fitted each of the beautiful numbers. Their singing of "Rock of Ages," was a benediction, and the exquisite rendition of "Crossing the Bar" was equally impressive.

In a group folk-songs of different nations, the singers displayed remarkable versatility, and in the final group of operatic numbers they rose to the supreme heights of their art. The pianist, Margery, gave several solos which marked her as a pianist of decided ability. The singers were Lucille Buzzo, soprano; Louella

Wansworth, contralto; James R. Evans, tenor, and David Davies, baritone.

If this first concert is an indication of what the other entertainments are like, then every seat in the high school auditorium should be filled for all of them, for this concert was as fine as could be heard in any city. The proceeds of the concert are to be used for the high school library.
